SEED DEALERS MUST PAY TAX

Tallahassee, Fla. — Registered seed dealers must pay the state license tax even though they themselves produce some of the seeds they sell.

Atty. Gen. Ervin gave the ruling to Commissioner of Agriculture Mayo who had inquired if such dealers would come under the license tax exemption granted farmers who sell seeds.

Ervin said seed dealers are not farmers and must pay the tax.

County's Part In Nationwide Alert Revealed To Jaycees

Transfer Of Property Is High Here This Week

Transfer of property in Sanford and Seminole County hit a high peak this week with the sale of three parcels, two of them on French Ave. Total of the three sales, according to stamps affixed to the documents, indicates that the total value of the three transactions amounted to $64,500.

In one transaction Dr. Orville Barks and Fred Williams purchased property on French Ave. opposite the Ninth Street park. The four lots, 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Block 10, Tier 9 shown on E. R. Truford's Map, from Nettie Wilson and her husband W. R. Wilson, affixed stamps indicated the sale price was approximately $27,500.

The third recent transaction was the purchase of an east First Street site by Harry Robson near Sanford Ave. and East First St. from Carmen Benton and William Allen of a North Carolina address.

Stamps affixed indicated that the purchase price was $15,000.

Nasser, Tito Begin Series Of Talks

BEIGRADE, (AP) — Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser and President Tito today began a series of talks on a wide range of problems.

It was believed Tito would give his visitor a thorough briefing on his talks with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and premier Bulgarian during Tito's recent visit to Moscow.

Peterson Tells Of Plans

The Director of the Seminole County Civil Defense Unit told the Jaycees, the only problem which the local unit may have to solve is the call for assistance under the mutual pact existing between all of the surrounding counties.

"In order that the public may participate to the extent of Conelrad," he said, "a special red warning will be sounded five minutes prior to the time scheduled for Conelrad which is 3:10 p. m. Friday afternoon."

This will be sounded in Sanford by patrol cars which will use their sirens to advise the people that a red warning is in effect, said Peterson.

He explained that various area chairmen throughout the county will use such methods as they have at their command to notify the citizens of their community that the red warning has been sounded.

Negotiators Make New Effort To End 13-Day Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Steel negotiators today made a new effort to end a 13-day-old strike against 90 per cent of the basic steel industry.

Federal mediators, who arranged the session sat by President David J. McDonald of the striking United Steelworkers chatted with newsmen while awaiting the arrival of the industry negotiating team, headed by John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp.

Neither side had any comment. Neither did the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service team headed by Director Joseph F. Finnegan.

Negotiations were resumed yesterday in a two-hour preliminary session.

Accredited Courses Are Offered Youth At Nazarene Camp

The annual Florida Nazarene Youth Camp and Institute was held last week at Suwannee Camp Grounds, located three miles north of White Springs, Florida.

Dr. William Greathouse, Dean of the School of Religion at Trevecca Nazarene College, located in Nashville, Tennessee, was the principal speaker. Rev. and Mrs. Warren Hayes, pastor and wife of Lawndale Nazarene Church in Winter Park, were the camp music directors.

Accredited courses were offered in a wide range of subjects, supervised recreation, sight-seeing trips, amateur hours, singing, and preaching services, provided a well-rounded schedule followed by 223 campers. A counseling service was provided throughout the camp and Institute.

Rev. R. H. Spear Jr., pastor of the First Nazarene Church of Sanford, accompanied the following youth to camp: Johnny Carter, Bobby Carter, Donny Carter, Joan Weinmann, Ray Weinmann, Joyce Weinmann, Phyllis Weinmann, James Johnson, Billy Price, Ham Pittard, Glenn Williams, and Dorothy Pharr.

Sheriff's Office Ready For Alert With 'Base Station'

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is ready for the July 29 Civil Defense practice alert.

Installed and ready for use is a new radio hook-up on frequency 155.37, which is described as a "base station" only and reserved for emergency station-to-station calls.

Chief Deputy James Singletary explained that there will be no traffic or mobile units and car-to-car conversation or calls except in the Civil Defense effort.

It has been named the "Sheriff's Radio net" which the sheriff's organizations throughout the state hope, eventually, to connect with all sheriff's offices in the state.

The Seminole County Sheriff's office reported that they have already heard five or six stations on the network.

The tower, of new design, has been erected atop the Seminole County Jail where a radio operator is now stationed 24-hours a day. Bob Miller of Miller Radio and Appliance installed the tower.

The new equipment is designed and manufactured by Motorola. Cost of the equipment is shared by the county and the Civil Defense organization as that as nearly as possible a county-to-county contact can be maintained in emergencies.

The regular frequency used by the Seminole County Sheriff's department is 30.25 with the tower installed atop the county courthouse and on which the Sheriff may have as many as ten mobile units operating.

Radio communications were first installed in Seminole County and the Sheriff's office in June of 1953.

Also operated by the Sheriff's office is a hook-up with the Florida Highway Patrol for emergency use and contact.

Brunettes Exceed Blondes In Miss Universe Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Brunettes outnumbered blondes by more than 2-1 among the contestants gathering for the Miss Universe beauty contest.

Sharp-eyed observers, and this Navy base town is full of them, counted 40 brunettes, 17 blondes and 5 redheads among the entrants already on hand. A total of 74 girls will take part.

Blondes can take comfort, however, in the fact that last year the two top titles, Miss Universe and Miss United States, went to fair-haired beauties, and the year before blondes Miriam Stevenson of South Carolina won both titles.

In fact, the only brunette to become Miss Universe in the four years the contest has been held was Christiane Martel of France in 1953.

PUBLIC HEARING SET

ST. PETERSBURG, (AP) — The executive department subcommittee of the Florida Constitution Advisory Commission will hold a public hearing in Tallahassee July 27-28. The subcommittee chairman, Henry S. Baynard, said the public is invited to give its views on three major proposals before his group.

They are to establish the post of lieutenant governor, to create additional cabinet positions and to relieve the governor of some duties.

BE READY!

A mock enemy air attack designed to train Civil Defense personnel and acquaint the public with planned protective procedures is set for July 29. YOU SHOULD 1. Tune your radio to Conelrad (660 or 1300) at 3:05 p. m. July 29. 2. Listen for warning sirens in your neighborhood. 3. Thank God that this is only a simulated attack and that protection is planned, prepared and provided.

Roscoe was injured in a hunting accident eight years ago.

Herlong Report

We finally have a federal highway bill. What people are asking now is: how many roads do we in Florida get; where are they; and how much are they going to cost the average motorist in new taxes? The bill authorized a total expenditure of $32 billion over a period of 12 years. Any program as extensive as this must necessarily start slowly and build up. While it goes into operation immediately, we will not see much activity for a year or so. In the first year there is allocated for Florida $17 million for the interstate highway system. Roads in our district will include four-laning U. S. 1; four-laning a road from Lake City through Citrus County to Tampa; and four-laning U. S. 90 from Daytona Beach through Orlando to Tampa. These routes were selected by the State Road Department. They are, of course, approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads. In addition, the bill provides for slightly over $2 million in the first year to be matched with state funds on a 50-50 basis for improvements to the primary highway system, secondary or feeder roads, and urban highways. Florida would have fared better under the House version of the bill, but the Senate version prevailed in conference. Half a loaf is still better than none. Now what do we pay for this program? It has been estimated that during the first year Florida motorists will pay $18 million in new taxes. That amount will increase gradually during the 12 years the program is under construction as highway use is increased. While the first year we will actually pay in a million dollars more in new taxes than the $17 million we will get as a federal contribution to the interstate system, the second year the federal contribution is nearly $20 million, and the third year it is $34 million. We will certainly come out all right in the long run. The additional taxes which you will have to pay are: one cent additional tax per gallon on gasoline; one cent additional tax on diesel fuel; three cents per pound additional tax on tires and tubes; and three cents per pound tax on recapping rubber. Trucks will pay an additional tax of $1.50 per thousand pounds for all trucks weighing over 26,000 pounds loaded. These are big figures and do not mean too much to the average motorist. I think it best to put it this way. If you are the average motorist you will pay about $10 a year in additional taxes. These new highways may well save your life. The roads will be paid for when they are completed. I think they are a good investment.

NO UGLY GRIME

A persuasive factor is the fact that there's no soot, smoke or grease when you heat your home with gas, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. This means that walls, curtains, draperies, and upholstered furniture stay clean much longer, for there's nothing discharged into the air by the heating system to create ugly grime. GAMA points out that up-to-date gas heating systems, with automatic controls, supply dependable heat and at the same time condition the temperature and humidity in the home. Sgt. and Mrs. Earl Nettles and son Michael have moved to their new home in Apopka.

Allen Wants To Explore New Fields

NEW YORK (AP) - "I got angry just looking at a row of books, knowing there won't be time to read them all," said Steve Allen. "The biggest trouble with life is that it doesn't last long enough for you to do all the things you want to."
Steve, who quit college after six months to take a $40-a-week job as a radio announcer, at 34 has become a top figure in television. He lives on Park Ave. and is married to a beautiful actress named Jayne Meadows.
Many an entertainer might feel content at this point to rest a bit on his laurels and think he had it made. Not Allen, a man of many talents. He wants to explore new fields. Being a successful actor-composer-pianist-master of ceremonies-comedian aren't enough to keep him busy.

"I have a feeling that most of the jobs in the entertainment world really are only part-time," he said, thoughtfully. "Song writing, for example, is a part-time job—even if you're an Irving Berlin. It takes only a half hour to write a song. It's a real snafu as a profession."
Steve has written some 200 songs himself, including the lyrics for the current hit tune, "Picnic."
In the midst of these side chores he is still emceeing three "tonight" shows a week and seeking to overthrow Ed Sullivan's virtual 8-year monopoly on Sunday evenings.
How can he keep so many irons in the fire without falling apart? "I was born with a relaxed nervous system," Steve said, smiling. "I don't worry. And I get 9 hours sleep a night. Sleep is basically important to me."
"But, oddly, the thing that has done the most for me is the ability to sit in front of a camera and still feel and act like a human being."
"For some reason, very few can. Dave Garroway, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Paar, Garry Moore can, but it's hard to name more than half a dozen."
The NBC-CBS struggle for peak ratings on Sunday night doesn't seem to perturb Steve unduly.
"The two people who have the sanest attitudes toward it are Ed Sullivan and myself," he said.
"We are friends. Both he and I

Missouri Resumes Efforts To Get Strikers On Job

ST. LOUIS, Mo. - Missouri today resumed its efforts to get 2,200 St. Louis gas strikers back on the job by court order.
The strikers, out 12 days now, have defied a state law designed to prevent strikes against public utilities.
Allen P. Burgess, vice president of Laclede Gas Co. testified their absence created "a very hazardous condition." He reported escaping gas from broken mains twice had caught fire in sewers. Between 18,000 and 20,000 customers in St. Louis and St. Louis County were without gas.
Burgess testified at a hearing which continued today before Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt Jr. The state asked for an injunction which would require the strikers to resume work.
Leaders of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union said in advance their men would comply if Judge Holt issued the order.

After Tooth Is Pulled

By NERMAN N. BUCHSIS, M.D.
HAVING a tooth extracted doesn't necessarily mean the end of your dental troubles.
Don't Get Fanciful
In fact, as you will know, you're usually home before post-extraction pain, swelling or demoralizing begins. However, this is no time to get panicky.
That pain, swelling or bleeding probably is perfectly natural. And a few simple procedures will usually remedy the situation.
Gause Wadding
Generally, your dentist will give you a wadding of gauze to keep pressed firmly against the yawning extraction site to stem the flow of blood. But if you run out of gauze wads, or the bleeding resumes after you've tossed them away, here's a simple way that might help stop the bleeding.
Place a moist teabag over the site and bite down hard. Keep it there for 10 or 15 minutes, as long as necessary. This should do the trick. After the bleeding stops, don't rinse your mouth or spit excessively for the next 24 hours.
Cold Applications
Post-extraction pain usually can be relieved by frequent cold applications to the face. Use either an ice bag or cloths dipped in cold water and wrung nearly dry.
Occasionally pain won't begin until two or three days after the tooth has been pulled. This delayed pain becomes worse after the third day and may last as long as two or three weeks.
This probably is due to a disintegrating clot and inflamed adjoining tissues. So, for persistent pain, you'd better see your dentist or doctor. He can clean out the socket and give you codalgin, sulfate or some other drug to relieve your pain.
Try Ice Bags
Ice bags are helpful, too, for post-extraction swelling. Apply them to your jaw for about half an hour every hour until the swelling decreases.
In most cases, I think you'll find these remedies will work.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q: F. Can fractures occur without injury?
A: Answer: At certain times fractures occur due to bone disease in which the bone is eaten away, so that in the normal process of walking and moving, the bone may break or fracture.

Little I. Burton
Honored With Party
On Sixth Birthday

Little Ingrid F. Burton was honored recently with a party on her sixth birthday, given by her father, Ulysses W. Burton and her aunt, Mrs. Frances Griffin, assisted by her godmother, Laura F. Fulton; Mrs. Della Davila; Mrs. C. Bellemy; Mrs. Edith Wright; Helen Starke and Julia Wright.

The little guests began arriving at 4 p.m. and were entertained by story-telling, amusing themselves on the play gym, a variety of games, and dancing. The children sang "Happy Birthday" to Ingrid, after which she blew out all six of the candles. In addition to as much cake and ice cream that could be eaten, each guest received as a souvenir of the party, a hat, lei, balloon, balloon stick, blow-out horn, and a bag containing peanuts, nuts and candy. A variety of "useful" and "beautiful" gifts were received by the honoree.

Guests present were: Edna Mae Hardy, Jeanette Shaw, Sandra Spain, Nanya Belle Golden, Brenda Alexander, Barbara Gliven, Barbara Sandifer, Faye Thomas, Gail Frances, Velda Barton, Laverne Dixon, Laves Davis, Luella Brown, Squire Wright Jr., Britt Lee and David Henderson, John Gray, Ishman and Tommie Harris, Carylon and Jimmie Sheppard, Claudia and Dallas Brown, Gwendolyn and Janice Ashley, Lorraine and Julius Ringling, Edward and Cynthia Bookman.

Out of town guests were: Carmen Johnson, Eustia, Arthur and Richard London, Miami; and Nina and Ann Adams, Baltimore, Md. Adults present were: Mrs. Charles Gray and baby daughter; Mrs. Herbert Starke and baby son; Mrs. Lura Thomas, Mrs. Julius Ringling Sr., Mrs. Mattie Wallace, Mrs. Lucille Powell, Sgt. First Class George W. Burton, uncle of the honoree, Glover Johnson, Eustia, Bob Wallace and L. F. Davis.

Ike's Personal
Investments Are Handled By Friends

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Rep. Bow R. Ohio said that friends handle President Eisenhower's personal investments without telling him what securities they are buying and selling.

He said Eisenhower wants it that way so there isn't even the possibility of a subconscious bias in favor of any organization in which he had an interest.

Writing in a regular letter to constituents, Bow did not give the source of his information.

He said that among "a few trusted friends" handling Eisenhower's investments is Col. Robert L. Schulz, his military aide, and continued:

"Thus today, aside from the farm at Gettysburg, the President has no personal knowledge of stock ownership. He receives regular reports as to total gains or losses, but no details of the transactions.

Ballistic Missiles
Planned For Ships

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Navy expects within a "few years" to begin equipping ships with ballistic missiles armed with "highyield nuclear warheads" and capable of traveling at tremendous speeds.

In testimony made public by a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, Adm. John E. Clark said the missile, Jupiter, will be in operation long before the expected perfection of countermeasures against the weapon. He said it will travel "many times" faster than sound—around 700 miles per hour at sea level.

Testimony given last month by Clark, director of the Navy's guided missile program, was made public in highly censored form. He said the fleet ballistic missile, being developed jointly with the Army, will take form in a year and the Navy already is studying the types of ships that could use it.

By 1961, Clark predicted, the Navy will have 47 guided missile ships, enough to protect three carrier task groups.

Green Turtles
May Be Headed
For Extinction

GAINESVILLE, (AP) — The huge green turtles which make such delicious soup may be headed for extinction.

This is the opinion of Dr. Archie Carr, 47, prize-winning author and University of Florida biologist who is trying to save the reptile that helped keep alive explorers and sailors in the Caribbean hundreds of years ago.

The largest turtle rookery in the Americas is in Costa Rica and Dr. Carr believes they return to the beach each year to lay their eggs, no matter where they spend the rest of the year.

Under a grant from the National Science Foundation, he has undertaken—with the help of Leonardo Giovannoli, biologist and technical assistant at the university's Florida State Museum—to trace the movements of the turtles so protective measures may be taken.

Giovannoli is doing much of the foot work, so to speak, on the two-year project which began last spring. He patrols 20 miles of Costa Rican beach so isolated that he has to be flown in and out. He lives in a tiny thatch house and covers 8 to 10 miles of beach a day. Dr. Carr soon will join him to help in the patrol.

Last summer Giovannoli placed metal tags on 600 turtles as they crawled up on the beach to lay their eggs. The tags, printed in English and Spanish, promised the finder $3 for returning each to the university. After being tagged, the turtle was shoved back into the water. So far less than 100 have been returned, all found in the same general survey area.

Turtle rights are sold by the Costa Rican government each year to the highest bidder so it was felt that there might be some hesitancy in permitting the survey.

To smooth the way, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles asked Costa Rica to permit the project.

Knowledge of an assassination plot turns a trip aboard into a nightmare for James Stewart and Doris Day, starred in Alfred Hitchcock's "The Man Who Knew Too Much," opening SUNDAY at the RITZ Theatre. Filmed in VistaVision and color by Technicolor in Marrakech and Louren, the suspense tale also features two songs by Miss Day.

Commercial fishermen hire natives to catch turtles as they crawl up on the beach. Often they are caught and flipped on their backs before they have a chance to lay.

The native builds a small hut over the overturned turtle and waits for the fisherman's schooner, due every two days. But if the ship is late, the turtle may die and thus add to the depletion.

Columbus, on one of his voyages, sailed down a channel between two Caribbean islands and found thousands on the beaches. His crew had been grumbling and mutinous because of spoiled beef. The turtles replenished the ship's food supply. Columbus named the islands Las Tortugas.

Ponce de Leon, on a voyage 15 years later, thought he had landed on the same islands and named them Dry Tortugas.

There was much confusion among mapmakers some years later and the original landing place of Columbus finally was named the Cayman Islands.

Dr. Carr, a spare man with angular face and quiet, pleasant disposition, is the son of a retired Presbyterian minister who lives in Umatilla, a small Lake County town in Central Florida.

Cadillac

His Last Switch in Motor Cars!

We have no way of knowing, of course, how many different makes of motor cars this gentleman has owned through the years. But we're willing to bet that he has now made his last switch in motor cars! For this time it's a Cadillac! And it is historically true that once a motorist makes the move to the "car of cars", he is usually a Cadillac owner for life. What are the reasons for this great devotion and loyalty? Well, let us count them off. First of all, there are the things which everyone recognizes in Cadillac. There is its great beauty... its matchless luxury... and the unquestioned respect which the car commands the world over. Then there are those qualities with which anyone who has ever driven a Cadillac is familiar. There is its marvelous comfort and ease of handling... its magnificent power and performance... and its wonderful balance and agility. And, finally, there are those things which only Cadillac owners themselves can fully appreciate. There is the car's remarkable economy of operation and upkeep—its incredible longevity—and its marvelous resale value. Incidentally, you will find that we have recently made two additions to this list of things you get when you make your decision for Cadillac. We're talking about prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance! Better come in while the circumstances are so favorable—and make your last switch in motor cars!

Airport Between Sanford, Orlando Would Be Convenient, Beneficial

There seems to be some reason to believe the rumors that room for expansion of the airport now being used for various airlines coming into Central Florida is not available.

Such a condition, if it does exist, would give planners for Central Florida's future an opportunity to move the airport within reasonable reach of many of the airlines' customers.

We would like to take this opportunity to suggest that a site about half way between Sanford and Orlando be chosen and developed into an airport with facilities and area large enough to take care of the growing demand for air travel.

Hundreds of Sanford and DeLand citizens are subject to a terrible inconvenience when the necessity arises for air travel.

A move to the proposed location would place the air facilities within a reasonable distance for Orlando and Orange County users of airplane transportation and at the same time bring the distance within use of other communities.

Should such new facilities be provided for an airport, we believe that as many as four, or maybe five air services would use the facilities where now only two passenger lines and one freight line practically crowd the present space and buildings.

Sanford has, on several occasions, been promised air service by two of the nationally known passenger services when facilities are provided for their safe landing here.

One could be assured that with the suggested move, not only would the passenger travel increase for the airlines already serving the present crowded space, but freight services would be greatly increased with more and more planes coming into a modern, completely adequate field capable of taking care of the growing number of planes needed for Central Florida's traveling public.

Private plane owners are now forced to use air fields that are not equipped with adequate facilities to assure complete air safety and landing apparatus. This is something that a serious, fast working, strong committee should attack and work on with enthusiasm.

Here again is the need for the organization of a Sanford Development Commission. One committee, with authority to act and plan wisely for the proposed move could do much toward securing these facilities for Sanford and Seminole County as well as the rest of Central Florida.

Water Transportation

Agriculture, industry and commerce moved to the banks of the inland waterways at an accelerated rate during the second quarter of the current year, exceeding even the fast tempo of the first quarter—yet Sanford stood still in its efforts to bring water transportation here for the benefit of the entire Central Florida area.

A total of 147 waterway sites were picked during the second quarter for new or expanding processing or distribution projects. The number during the first quarter was 138. The total for 1955 was 470.

Fifty-eight of the waterway projects reported construction costs. These totaled $1,267,000,000. Forty-eight others were reported as costing more than two million dollars each.

Here's the score, as Sanford passes up an opportunity to bring hundreds of industries within its area: sites on the rivers and canals were acquired for thirty-one chemical plants during the three-month period. Steel companies announced twenty-five water-side expansion projects. Manufacturers picked twenty-nine sites for factories. Water-side sites were also chosen for eleven power plants, eight refineries, thirteen barge-rail-truck terminals, seven paper mills, five automobile factories, four aluminum plants, five warehouses, three grain mills, seven miscellaneous industries, and four industrial development districts.

What's more, the new edition of "Plant Location", published by the Institute for Business Planning, states, "the inherent advantage of barge transportation on the inland waterways is its ability to handle bulk shipments at low cost."

In addition, the same publication reports high-valued manufactured goods one being attracted to barge lines because of the substantial economies available.

One big manufacturer, the President of Philip Morris, Inc., had this to say, "The South, served by many navigation channels, stands on the threshold of the second industrial revolution."

To list the investors in water-side industrial sites would give a perfect picture of opportunities being missed by Sanford.

It is time for Sanford's leaders to get on their toes and stand high—nothing every effort into securing for Central Florida the docks and wharves necessary to make Sanford a member of the team now leading in on the nation's vast expansion program.

The longer we wait, the greater the millions of dollars of industrial opportunity missed will stack up.

Fashions In Heroes Change

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Fashions in heroes change, just as women's styles do.

In bad financial times the big hero is the politician who makes the most golden promises.

In war times the military leader is top dog as long as he wins.

But in boom times the hero is the industrial tycoon. He becomes an oracle consulted on all topics and it is assumed that, since he is smart enough to make a lot of money, he also must know how to cure wars and predict the weather.

At the moment the business executive is riding on a tidal wave of popularity that puts him higher in public esteem than either Lasso or Gene Autry. If an executive could be found who could also sing like Elvis Presley, nothing could keep him from the White House.

Dozens of recent plays, books and TV dramas the businessman has been built up as a rugged, resourceful, tough—fighting hero with a two-fisted mind.

He is portrayed as a kind of Roy Rogers or Hopalong Cassidy with a brief case. He is brisk, brusque and competitive. He never

Dulles Is Becoming Neutral

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—A fit of a mouth of confusion Secretary of State Dulles has become neutral about neutrality with the same ease he usually shows when what he is saying now doesn't happen to sound like what he said before.

Early last month Congress was growling about continuing American aid to neutrals. India is the world's biggest neutral. If this country can't win India as an ally, the last thing it wants is India as a Russian ally.

President Eisenhower, as if to soothe Congress, strode into his June 6 news conference and, speaking without notes, began defending neutrals.

He didn't stop there, but went on to suggest that if a nation joins a military alliance and is then attacked, other countries may say it got what was coming of it. This was startling. This country had spent time and money trying to win military allies.

It wasn't hard to imagine the effect on those Asian countries which had allied themselves with the United States while India remained aloof. It wasn't long before the White House put out a statement explaining that what Eisenhower meant to say was that some nations are justified in being neutral but they'd be safer as American allies.

Vice President Nixon defended a nation's right to be neutral in a speech the next night, June 7. He said "we must deal" with neutrals "as moral and spiritual equals."

Dulles said just the opposite in a June 9 speech, thus compounding the confusion begun by Eisenhower. Dulles said neutrality is "immoral and shortsighted."

This raised a question—just what is America's view toward neutrals—still unanswered when Nixon late in June set off on an Asian tour which did not include India.

In Manila on July 3 he said the United States can understand nations which remain neutral because they have internal problems. But it has no sympathy, Nixon said, with countries which make "no moral distinction between the Communist world and the free world."

In this speech, less tolerant than the one he gave in June, Nixon made no mention of India. But India's Prime Minister Nehru apparently thought Nixon was aiming at him. He must have already been burned up at Dulles.

In a July 3 news conference, he said the views of Nixon and Dulles "are not wise and they do little good" and they were "undemocratic" to want everyone to think as they do.

He added he didn't like the word "neutrality" and that India's position could best be described as one of "noninvolvement" because it was concentrating mainly on its own internal development.

In a July 3 news conference, he said the views of Nixon and Dulles "are not wise and they do little good" and they were "undemocratic" to want everyone to think as they do.

He added he didn't like the word "neutrality" and that India's position could best be described as one of "noninvolvement" because it was concentrating mainly on its own internal development.

Nixon had clearly said at Manila this country can understand nations which remain neutral because they have internal problems. But it has no sympathy, Nixon said, with countries which make "no moral distinction between the Communist world and the free world."

In this speech, less tolerant than the one he gave in June, Nixon made no mention of India. But India's Prime Minister Nehru apparently thought Nixon was aiming at him. He must have already been burned up at Dulles.

Aircraft Industry Is Spreading
By SAN DAWSON
SAN DIEGO (AP)—Space travel, earth satellites, rockets, missiles—all the electronic and atomic marvels of a new age—make up one of today's fastest spreading branches of the aircraft industry.

Production, employment, spending in these fields are increasing rapidly—in some instances doubling each year for the last four.

What was about one per cent of the total aircraft business six years ago is now estimated to account for 15 per cent of the industry's budget of sales and perhaps more of its spending.

One fifth of Convair's employees are engaged in work on missile, rocket or space travel projects. J. V. Walsh executive vice president of the Convair division of General Dynamics, says here. And since Convair has many suppliers of parts, uncounted others also contribute to this work.

Seventeen thousand or more employees of North American Aviation in the Los Angeles area and elsewhere in the nation, are employed in its missile development, rocketry and electronics divisions.

"Guided missiles and their cousins are now fast becoming an industry of their own" says R. A. Lambeth, vice president and treasurer of North American Aviation. "The industry is far from mature yet. It will continue to grow."

Douglas Aircraft starts production this year on Nike-type missiles in a government owned plant at Charlotte, N. C., like the missile rolling off its Santa Monica production lines the last two years. Altogether it is working on eight major missile projects.

"Missiles are an important part of our production" Donald W. Douglas says. "We helped pioneer the field 16 years ago. It would be an even faster growing part of the industry if the engineering shortage weren't a limiting factor."

In Seattle, Boeing engineers and production staff work on missile projects and prepare for the coming atomic age.

Lockheed will build a plant in Georgia to work on problems of building atomic planes. Vitro Corp. of America will study shielding and radiation problems involved in such a plant.

Officials at both Boeing and Convair are inclined to think scientists now can produce air and space machine marvels beyond the military's present ideas of how to make use of them.

Take These Precautions When You Go Swimming

By HERMAN H. ROSENBERG, M.D.

If you don't know how to swim, I suggest that you learn as quickly as possible. For swimming is not only a relaxing sport, it is a good body builder as well.

It provides mental relaxation, muscular activity and encourages body coordination. Buoyancy of the water, you see, gives your body a sensation of having greater muscular strength than you actually have.

Therapeutic Value
This is one reason why swimming and exercise in supervised pools is usually recommended for its therapeutic value in rehabilitating persons suffering such conditions as polio and arthritis.

While swimming is fun and beneficial in most instances, there are a few precautions some of you should take.

If you have a perforated eardrum or a discharging ear, don't try to swim. If you are subject to other ear difficulties, better check with your physician before taking a dip.

Keep Water Out
Even though you may be in the best of health, keep as much water as possible out of your nose and throat.

Practice in learning how to breathe in through your mouth and out through your nose is much more important than learning some fancy strokes.

Don't blow your nose violently to remove the water. Blow it gently, making sure that both nostrils are never pressed tightly. This will help keep mucus out of the eustachian tubes.

Side Water
Try to swim in clean, safe water. Water in which you bathe should be just as free from germs as water you drink.

Always shower or bathe thoroughly upon leaving the water. Then dry yourself briskly with a towel. Rub good and hard. This will help remove any parasites which may cause swimmer's itch.

For those of you swimming in the ocean, remember the sting of a jelly-fish, especially that of the Portuguese man-of-war type, can be dangerous. To allergic individuals, it might even be fatal.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
R. W.: Is a sun lamp of value in treating skin disease?
Answer: There is no evidence that a sun lamp, or ultra-violet light, as it is known medically, will help.

What Goes On In The Mind Of A Boy?

Of course, if he is a normal, healthy, growing boy, his chief thoughts are of games and play and lots of good things to eat. But beyond these simple childhood wants - tugging constantly at the heartstrings of every American boy are far deeper yearnings, and dreams and aspirations of the big man's world ahead of him.

First of all, he wants to be just like his Daddy—the all-wise King of his little universe, the man who can do everything and solve the most perplexing problems confronting the child at every turn.

In his castles of dreams that every boy sees for himself high in the noonday clouds is a home just like Dad's. All comforts and conveniences are sort of taken for granted—they're the best, or Daddy wouldn't have them.

Everything is in that home—food and light and warmth and love. And though he doesn't spell it out in any such high sounding word, it all adds up to one thing, SECURITY.

For that little boy with the fish pole and the far-away look in his eyes, the security of a home is the beginning and the end of all his dreams. He'll wander far and wide, fight great battles, perform heroic feats of bravery, set impossible records in football and baseball and swimming, be a brave policeman, a mighty hunter, admiral over ten thousand ships and planes. But always, when the hunt is over, and the battle is won he will come back to the happiness and love and SECURITY of a home just like Dad's.

'Opal 56' Official Name Of Exercise

Opal 56 is the official designation of the inter-state training exercise for Civil Defense personnel and the public in general. The name is taken from Operation Alert 1956 and will apply to a simulated air attack on this country. The "enemy strike" will take place on Friday and there will be 78 target areas specified in the alert, according to A. B. Peterson Sr., director for Seminole County.
