Wheel Dippers

Seminole Libraries Top Orlando Book Circulation

Seminole County's two libraries and bookmobile circulated 7,256 more volumes in the 1983-84 year than the main public library in Orlando.

Jean Rhein, county librarian, told the county commission in work session Wednesday that over the 12 month period the Seminole facilities circulated 823,685 volumes compared to Orlando's 816,429.

"That's amazing," she said, considering that the Orlando public library is open seven days a week and five nights while the Sanford branch is open only on six days weekly with no evening hours and the Casselberry branch is open six days and only three evenings.

During that same period, Ms. Rhein said, library employees had 1.05 million contacts with persons either coming into the library or calling in for information. This compares with 500,000 contacts when the county library began independent operations in fiscal 1978-79.

In addition, she said the county library system has grown over the past seven years from 25 books per capita to 67 even with the high rate of population growth. The goal is to have 1.5 books per county resident.

Ms. Rhein's report to the commission was a prelude to budget hearings for fiscal 1985-86 to begin some time next month.

She recommended the commissioners consider allocating funds to the library system based on a per capita expenditure formula, a practice, she said, which is consistent with state standards.

The system has 140,000 books in its collection.

Meanwhile, she said, the library construction program is continuing on schedule.

The schedule calls for the new libraries in Sanford and Forest City to open January 1987, Oviedo by October 1987 and the ones in Casselberry by May 1988 and in Lake Mary by October 1988.

Joint City, County Panel To Study 25th Street Woes

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

During what Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith called a "history making" joint meeting of the Sanford City Commission and the Seminole County Commission Monday to form a committee to study west 25th Street to see what alterations are needed to detour major traffic problems before they occur.

The agreement to form the committee was one of several topics ranging from water to parks that the two governmental bodies discussed at the meeting.

Called the 25th Street Corridor Study Committee, the 15-member panel is to be formed by July 1. The representatives — five from each body — from the county, Sanford and Lake Mary — would study the conditions of the road and make recommendations to the three governments, such as widening it or adding more traffic signals. It would be up to each of the city or county commissions to take action.

Sanford Commissioner David Farr, who brought up the idea last month, predicted several housing developments now under construction near the road would create serious traffic problems on the already busy highway.

Also called state Road 46A, runs from U.S. 17-92 west along the city of Lake Mary to state Road 431 in Paola. It is maintained by Seminole County One of the largest developments near the highway, the Hills of Lake Mary, is slated to contain about 700 homes, according to Lake Mary Commissioner Colin Keogh.

Drainage on the highway is also a problem, according to County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff. He said the intersection of 25th Street and Airport

County Commission Chairman Robert Sturm said 25th Street was the next "logical" road needing attention and that the committee was long overdue.

"We probably should have done it five years ago," he said.

Farr compared the panel to the Lake Mary Boulevard Corridor Study Committee which studied that road for a year and then recommended widening and extending it east to

End Hydrant Feud, Kaiser Asks Sanford

Seminole County Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser asked the Sanford City Commission Monday to end feuding between city and county firefighters over the use of city fire hydrants.

Kaiser said at a joint meeting of the Sanford and Seminole County commissions that the county firefighters' practice of drawing water from other cities' hydrants to fill the tanks of its booster trucks is acceptable in all Seminole cities except Sanford.

"The only area we've had the problem is Sanford," he said, adding that there have been "heated debates" among firefighters in the past over the issue.

Kaiser said county firefighters need to have access to the hydrants to replenish their 500-gallon booster trucks after they fight fires near the city.

But Sanford Commissioner David Farr said the practice seriously diminishes the city's water pressure. And City Manager Frank Falson said even Sanford's own fire department doesn't tap the hydrants unless it contacts the city water department first.

Falson said, however, that a "prior notice" agreement was possible — the city agreeing to allow the county to tap the hydrants if the county notifies the water department first.

Sanford Fire Chief Thomas Hickson said today, "There's no feud among firefighters. It just has to go through the channels."

Falson and County Administrator Ken Hooper are expected to draw up an agreement for the two commissions on Wednesday.

On another proposal, Kaiser tried to "sell" the Sanford commissioners on the idea of a first response agreement, whereby a fire or rescue unit from either the county or city would respond to a call regardless of the area's jurisdiction.

Kaiser said the county already has such agreements with the Altamonte Springs and the Casselberry City Council voted 5-0 to accept a similar arrangement Monday night.

The city of Altamonte Springs has saved $500,000 through the agreement Kaiser said, primarily by relocating fire stations out of areas that had a county fire station nearby.

He said the city of Sanford, which is expected to build a new station in the west end of the city within next two years, would save money by letting firefighters from county station 34 answer calls in that part of town.

Ex-Navy Corpsman Rescues Woman

'For Once I Was In The Right Place At The Right Time'

A woman with a broken leg trapped in a smoke-filled Jeep following a head-on collision was rescued by a Sanford man who had to knock out one of the vehicle's windows and drag her out as flames began to creep around the vehicle.

The Jeep and the second vehicle, a Cadillac, were engulfed in flames by the time rescue workers and firefighters arrived on the scene.

The collision occurred Monday on state Road 46 west of Sanford.

In serious condition today in the intensive care unit of Central Florida Regional Hospital is Teresa Torres, 26, of Sanford. Driver of the Cadillac, Paul Roush, 23, of Sanford was in fair condition.

Ms. Torres was rescued by David Eells, 38, of Sanford.

Eells said he was late on his way to work to Rush Hampton in Lake Mary around 6:40 a.m. when he drove up on the accident. He said there were several cars stopped but apparently no one had noticed the woman in the Jeep, which was filled with smoke as flames began to lick the outside of the vehicle.

Eells said he drove along side the Jeep to help the woman who he thought could not undo her seat belt.

Eells, a corpsman in the Navy, said once he got a good look at the woman he could tell she was dazed and had multiple injuries including at least one broken leg and severe lacerations to the other. He said she probably struck the steering wheel hard and had chest injuries as well.

"When I drove up I could hear her screaming for help," he said.

Both doors of the Jeep were crushed shut so he said he finished breaking out the rear passenger window behind the driver. He then reacted in and pulled her out of the Jeep.

Eells, who also drove an ambulance in the Navy, then carried her a short distance from the vehicles as they began to burn. Afraid that a gas tank would explode — which one later did — he carried her further from the vehicles, he said.

He said there were several people attending the other driver so he tried to comfort the woman who he said was in great pain and confused.

"For once, I was at the right place at the right time," he said.

Unscheduled Intermission

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — As fighting raged in Beirut, Muslim gunmen raided a theater showing a sex film and forced the all-male audience to fill sandbags on the city's front lines.

A witness said the militia stormed a theater in West Beirut, forcing the young and old men who were watching the X-rated movie into trucks, and driving them to the city's Green Line where they were ordered to fill sandbags.

The militia men chastised the film fans for "wasting time watching depraved movies."

Life Springs From Boy's Tragic Death

Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A man is alive in Georgia, two people will be able to see in Gainesville, and a Central Florida man and a Miami woman will probably live near normal lives because of organs received from a fatally injured Sanford youth.

With parental permission, several organs were taken early Sunday from Herbert Raymond Squires III, 16, of 623 Groveswood Ave. The athletic boy died Saturday afternoon following a vehicle-pedestrian accident Friday.

Squires was fatally injured when he was struck by a car about 11:55 p.m. as he crossed Lake Mary Boulevard near West Ridge Drive, according to a Sanford police report. No charges have been filed against the driver and probably won't be, Assistant Police Chief Herb Shea said, because the driver was not at fault. Squires was the 14th traffic fatality in Seminole County this year.

Squires' parents said the donations were one way the family felt some good could come out of the tragedy.

"Organ donation is a valuable thing," said the boy's father, Herbert Squires Jr. He said once the family made the decision, there was no second thought about it.

He said the donation seemed like the right thing to do.

Though family members said it had no influence on their decision, the boy's grandmother, Bernice M. Squires of Casselberry, was a nurse and has designated herself an organ donor.

The recipient of the boy's heart was in critical but stable condition today at the Medical College of Georgia in Augusta, according to Beth Fetter of the East Central Florida Regional Transplant Program which oversees organ donations in this area.

The recipient, a 42-year-old auto mechanic with two children, was in critical condition prior to the transplant and was given only a week to live, Ms. Fetter said.

He had been waiting for a transplant for quite a while, she said

A man who received one of Squires' kidneys was doing well at Florida Hospital-Orlando and was scheduled to be moved out of intensive care today to a private room, Ms. Fetter said.

Ms. Fetter said four Floridians as well as the Georgia man were recipients, but she didn't have the latest information on the fate of the others.

Removed for transplantation were the heart, kidneys, corneas and pancreas. The spleen was also removed for medical uses.

Schroeder Suffers Brain Hemorrhage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Doctors say more tests are needed to determine if bleeding has stopped in Bill Schroeder's brain after hemorrhaging forced the world's longest-surviving artificial heart recipient back into the hospital.

Schroeder was readmitted to Humana Hospital Audubon Monday.

Chief artificial heart surgeon William DeVries believed the bleeding had stopped but more tests were ordered to make sure, Humana spokeswoman Donna Hazle said.

Schroeder was listed in critical but stable condition in the hospital's coronary care unit, Hazle said.

When asked whether the condition was life threatening, Hazle said, "Dr. DeVries doesn't want to make a commitment one way or the other as to that."

Hazle also said doctors did not know whether Schroeder suffered any brain damage from the bleeding. Schroeder remained hooked to his 323-pound drive unit for his plastic-and-metal heart, but was connected to no other machines other than monitoring devices normally found in an intensive care unit, she said.

Budget Hanging Fire Awaiting Reagan's Return

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Slowed to a snail's pace in its attempt to cut the deficit, the Senate is engaging in some speculative horse trading — and the budget it hopes to produce may have to wait until President Reagan returns from Europe.

In a day dominated mostly by private conferences and a virtually empty chamber, the Senate gained little ground in its 2-week-old budget floor battle Monday, approving only a single minor adjustment to Reagan's spending plan, which has already been dealt several major defeats.

Behind the scenes, lawmakers from both parties tried to map out their strategy for the rest of the week, with considerable attention being focused on what parts of which budget plans could be joined to fashion a compromise capable of winning approval.

Leaders of both parties say their goal is still to cut about $52 billion from the more than $200 billion deficit, although they seem willing to make minor adjustments on that score.

U.S. Considers Retaliation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — French President Francois Mitterrand's refusal to set a starting date for global trade talks has brought an indirect threat of trade retaliation from Agriculture Secretary John Block.

Block, expressing "deep disappointment and extreme frustration," Monday said American farmers are upset by European Community production and export subsidies that have tightened competition.

"I think it's stubbornness, selfishness, political game-playing," on the French president's part.

"This is only going to intensify their unhappiness," said Block in reaction to Mitterrand's balking at President Reagan's attempt at the Bonn Economic Summit to set trade talks early next year.

Block raised the possibility of targeted subsidies to compete with the Europeans in trading wheat flour, poultry or dairy products.

Policeman Saved By Badge

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — A policeman whose badge deflected a bullet aimed at his heart was hospitalized in guarded condition today, and officials credited a waitress and a cab driver with help in capturing the alleged assailants.

Officer Joseph Drews, 36, was shot early Monday with a .357 Magnum pistol at a range of 12 feet after stopping a blue MG Midget driving without lights. The force of the bullet tore the badge from his chest and hurled it 86 feet.

But the cab driver who delivered the alleged gunmen — an escaped prisoner and his accomplice — into the arms of the law, said he was never frightened.

Police credited the driver and an alert waitress at an all-night restaurant with aiding in the capture less than 90 minutes after Drews was shot. Because the badge deflected the bullet, only fragments entered the officer's shoulder.

Hot Car

Sanford firefighters douse a 1972 Chevrolet Malibu that caught fire Monday afternoon on Hickory Avenue. The car belongs to Daniel Webster Calhoun of 610 Hickory Ave. There were no injuries and the amount of damage was not recorded on a fire report. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Brawl Between Women Lands One In Jail

A brawl between two women sent a 29-year-old woman to jail and a 22-year-old Casselberry woman to the hospital for treatment of a punch in the mouth.

Casselberry policeman Brady Myers said the fight began at about 1:30 a.m. today when the 29-year-old, in an argument with 22-year-old Kim Sue McWilliams of 185 Overbrook Drive, allegedly broke into Ms. McWilliams' home and attacked her.

According to a police report, the suspect called the victim at about 1 a.m. and said she was coming to the house to fight. Her intended victim wouldn't let her in, the report said, and she allegedly broke glass from a door and entered the house.

Once inside she began fighting with Ms. McWilliams and refused orders to leave, the report said. Another occupant called police. When police arrived, Ms. McWilliams and the suspect were wrestling on the floor and had to be forced apart, police said.

Police told the suspect to leave, but she refused and punched Ms. McWilliams in the mouth.

Ms. McWilliams was transported to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs where she was treated for mouth injuries.

Bellinda Joy Humphrey, of Oxford, Fla., has been charged with battery, trespassing and criminal mischief. She was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

The man's car was stopped at 12:30 p.m. Sunday on state Road 434, Longwood, and the officer cited the man for careless driving and speeding. The man refused to sign the citation and a charged related to that was added, a police report said.

As the man was being handcuffed he stiffened his arms and then hit the officer in the face, cutting his lip, the report said.

Steven Michael Pytel, of 860 Cedar Run, has been released on $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to appear in court May 20.

PUNCH & THREAT

A female passenger in a car stopped by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy has been charged with disorderly intoxication, resisting arrest with violence and battery to an officer after allegedly slugging and scratching a deputy, threatening to kill him and trying to take his gun.

The woman was arrested at 7:17 p.m. Saturday on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of Sanford. She was arrested with assistance from another deputy after her alleged attack on the first deputy, a sheriff's report said.

Reagan Tells Spanish: 'Hurrah For Democracy!'

MADRID (UPI) — President Reagan today hailed the spread of democracy to nations such as Spain and said the number of dictatorships left in Latin America can be "counted on the fingers of one hand."

Reagan, on the second leg of his 10-day European swing, also said those who oppose his policies toward one of those dictatorships — Nicaragua — "are the victims of a disinformation campaign."

The president also met for 90 minutes with Socialist Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez at the presidential palace today for what the president described as "very fine" talks on Central America.

"We have discussed the situation there," Reagan said. "We understand each other."

"There must be an effort for peace and for pluralism," said Gonzalez, who will meet with Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega Saturday to brief him on his talks with Reagan.

Earlier today, Reagan said of opposition at home and abroad to his policy of supporting Nicaraguan rebels.

"I think there are some people who are having second thoughts and discovering they are the victims of a disinformation campaign — as perhaps even some of you present have been," referring to the reporters.

Reagan got no allied support during last week's seven-nation economic summit for his total trade embargo on Nicaragua and the action was even more coolly received in Spain, one of the mother countries of Latin America.

"When I first became president a little over four years ago, the map of our hemisphere was shadowed by dictatorships. But in country after country, the dictatorships had given way to the democratic aspirations of their people."

"Today for the first time ever," he said, "the exceptions to the democratic tide in Spanish-speaking America can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

"They number four. Two, Paraguay and Chile, have entrenched military rules; and two others, Cuba and Nicaragua, are communist tyrannies."

car, Dayborne George Armitage, 54, of 726 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, was charged with driving under the influence.

BROKER ARREST

A Sanford man, allegedly part of a group spotted by a policeman sharing a marijuana cigarette in the parking lot of an Altamonte Springs club, has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

The policeman reported the cigarette had disappeared by the time he approached the group at about 3:35 a.m. Saturday at the Hotline Bottle Club, state Road 436. But the officer reported finding a packet of pot in the suspect's pants and additional pot in his car, a police report said.

Lino Francisco Vivas, 23, of 3202 S. Orlando Drive #208, has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court May 20.

DOG TRACKED

A suspected burglar tracked down by police dogs after police saw a suspect leave a Casselberry business has been charged with burglary, burglary to an auto and resisting arrest.

Casselberry police officers reported seeing a suspect run from Western Auto Sales, Casselberry, at about 2 a.m. Saturday. The man was chased from the scene and police dogs were brought in and tracked the suspect down behind 64 N. Griffin St., Casselberry, a police report said.

A car and a trailer at Western Auto Sales had been burglarized, the report said.

Alexander Caramella, 27, of 231 Mockingbird Lane,

Casselberry, has been charged in the case. He was released on $1,500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court May 20.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Margaret Johns Ouellette, 42, of 536 Notre Dame, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 8:59 p.m. Friday after her car was clocked traveling 65 mph and seen weaving on state Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

—Rollan Wayne Webb, 38, of P.O. Box 46, Geneva, at 12:30 a.m. Monday after his car ran a red light at Butler Plaza, state Road 436, Casselberry.

—Dimuro Gerald, 37, of Deltona, at 10:08 p.m. Friday after his car was seen weaving on Interstate 4 at the state Road 46-A overpass, west of Sanford.

—Patrick Joseph Mascalino, 33, of St. Petersburg, at 7:42 p.m. Friday after his car, with a flat right rear tire, exited from Interstate 4 onto Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary.

—Stephen Joseph Brincash Jr., 34, of Atlanta, at 12:35 p.m. Saturday on Palm Springs Boulevard, Altamonte Springs, after his car turned onto state Road 436 and traveled north in the southbound lane.

—Dayborne George Armitage, 54, of 726 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, at 7:13 p.m. Saturday on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of Sanford after his vehicle was seen weaving between lanes of traffic.

Third Nicaraguan Neighbor Gets U.S. Military Help

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — With the arrival of U.S. military advisers in Costa Rica this week, all three countries bordering Nicaragua will be receiving training from American soldiers, officials say.

About 20 U.S. advisers are to come to Costa Rica within days, beginning the first large-scale U.S. military training program in the country. Security Minister Benjamin Piza said Monday.

They will be joining four U.S. advisers who are already stationed at a ranch in the country directing the construction of shooting ranges, obstacle courses and barracks, the official said.

The Reagan administration, which alleges the Sandinista government is exporting leftist revolution, began training the armies of its Central American allies in 1983.

The United States already has military advisers in El Salvador and Honduras, Nicaragua's northern neighbors. Costa Rica borders Nicaragua to the south.

Rabin: 'Jews Won't Forget'

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Shimon Peres told Parliament President Reagan's visit to a military cemetery in West Germany was a "terrible error," and Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin vowed Jews would never forget it.

But some newspapers and politicians accused the Peres government Monday of giving a muted response to Sunday's visit to the Bitburg cemetery, which includes the graves of 49 Waffen SS troopers.

Trade Minister Ariel Sharon said the government had "stuttered" in its response to Reagan's visit.

Former Prime Minister Menachem Begin "would have spoken to the Americans firmly and clearly on this matter," Sharon said. "Here, people are bending over, retreating. God forbid, not to upset the non-Jews. They don't know how to stand up to the Gentiles."

"The historic mistake of President Reagan was in equating murderers with their victims," Rabin said. "For this he will not be forgiven either by enlightened humanity or the Jewish people."

24 Shuttle Rats Meet Their Fate

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Shuttle Challenger and its seven-man crew completed a "fantastic" science mission in good shape, bringing home 24 rats condemned to die in studies on the effects of zero gravity, officials say.

The rats and two frisky squirrel monkeys that made up Challenger's space zoo arrived back at the Kennedy Space Center about 10 p.m. aboard a jet that was standing by at Edwards.

A NASA spokeswoman said scientists in the "Hangar L" life sciences laboratory at the Florida spaceport worked through the night dissecting the rats for long-range medical studies to determine the impact of prolonged weightlessness on body organs and tissues.

The small monkeys, both qualified for a future Spacelab mission, will not be sacrificed but their conditions will be closely monitored to find out how fast they readapt to gravity.

Hundreds Flee Moslem, Christian Shelling

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Hundreds of civilians fled their homes today as rival Christian and Moslem militiamen shelled residential sections of Beirut with rockets and mortars. At least six people were reported killed.

The shelling, which was so intense that ambulances were unable to reach some wounded, followed a nine-hour barrage Monday along the Green Line dividing Christian east Beirut from the mostly Moslem western sector of the capital.

During a lull after the clashes Monday, hundreds of residents living near the Green Line packed their belongings and moved to safer parts of the city. Shop owners piled sandbags in front of stores and residents stocked up on canned food.

"The fighters are cowards," said an accountant sitting with his family in a basement shelter after their apartment building was hit. "They are firing the big guns into areas where they know they will meet no resistance — our homes."

At least six people were killed and 31 were wounded in the artillery, tank, mortar and rocket-propelled grenade assaults, and Moslem gunmen attacked a Lebanese army unit on the Christian side of the 3-mile-long front line.

An army spokesman said the unit repelled the attack, but at least 12 soldiers were wounded in the firefight, the first involving the army in 10 days of fighting. Moslem militia sources confirmed they clashed with the army in one of a series of attacks along the Green Line and said they later withdrew under heavy fire.

The Sunni Moslem Voice of the Nation radio reported that Shiite Amal militia leader Nabih Berri and Druze Moslem militia chief Walid Jumblatt wanted the army to withdraw all tanks on the eastern side of the Green Line.

President Amin Gemayel met with army commanders to discuss ways to end the fighting, which has escalated despite repeated cease-fire calls.

Beirut television said Gemayel was working on a plan under which soldiers approved by the militias would take over the Green Line. But political sources said the plan would need the backing of Syria before it could be implemented.

Sturm Seeks Local Authority To Plan, Tax For Roads

With seven different compromises for traffic solutions in Central Florida on the burners in Tallahassee, Seminole County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm is urging his colleagues to step in and provide leadership for yet another proposal for the Seminole-Orange-Osceola area.

Sturm is recommending Seminole lead the way by adopting a resolution seeking legislation to give counties authority to levy 4-cents per gallon gasoline tax with the revenues to be used as deemed necessary by each county commission to improve major roads, and to create a regional expressway authority to build expressways in the area.

Sturm's proposal calls for the state to provide a 1-cent sales tax for a minimum of two years and an additional 2 cents-per-gallon of gasoline tax for the regional expressway authority. He is recommending that a new Seminole-Orange Expressway Authority be created with two members of each existing authority, plus an elected member of the Orlando City Council and a member at large selected by the other members.

If Osceola wishes to join, that county should also have two members, Sturm says.

He estimates that a 1-cent gasoline tax would return $4.5 million in revenue from the tri-county area and a 1-cent sales tax would provide $94 million.

A 4-cent per gallon gas tax would bring Seminole County about $3.2 million in revenue annually.

The total of Sturm's tax package for transportation is 6 cents-per-gallon in new gasoline taxes and 1-cent sales tax increase. He is asking for the sales tax to be levied for a minimum of three years but he is not asking for a definite time limitation on the new gasoline taxes.

Sturm is asking his colleagues to adopt a resolution and forward it to the legislative delegations of Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties.

"My great concern is that if the House and Senate do not provide us with a bill this session that allows us a good start toward a solution of our transportation needs, then it could be another three years before the matter is again given serious consideration," he said.

Sturm is also recommending that property taxes and impact fees not be included as funding sources for either the county roads or the expressway authorities. "These should be left up to and determined by our local elected officials in the cities and the counties," he said.

Although Commissioner Barbara Christensen said she has not seen the Sturm proposal, she said it may have merit.

Screenings For Cancer Offered At Hospital

A free cancer screening day will be held at Central Florida Regional Hospital May 18.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., screenings will be conducted by health professionals for breast, colorectal, prostate, oral, skin, testicular and uterine cancer.

The hospital is located on U.S. Highway 17-92 facing Lake Monroe in Sanford.

Dr. Peter Selassie, an oncologist at CFRH and medical coordinator for the event, indicated that the screenings will be conducted by community physicians, dentists, nurses, allied health professionals, Cancer Society and hospital volunteers.

The hospital Auxiliary will handle registration and serve as tour guides along with hospital personnel. As co-sponsors, the American Cancer Society, Sanford/Lake Mary Unit, will provide free educational materials, exhibits and demonstrations.

Nancy Edwards, RN, public education chairman for the Society, said, "We strongly encourage pre-registration. Some screenings will be limited, while others will be readily available."

Pre-registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 6 through May 10 in the lobby of the hospital.

Also, registration forms can be obtained from local Chambers of Commerce, some churches and local doctors' offices.

In Epcot Poll

Seat Belt Use Gets Wide Support

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — Americans may grumble about wearing seat belts, but a recent survey of 7,000 visitors to Walt Disney World indicated broad support for both seat belts' capability to prevent injury and for laws that require them to be worn.

In a poll taken at Epcot Center recently, nearly two-thirds of the respondents said they thought seat belts were more effective than air bags and that they approved of mandatory seat belt laws in their home state.

Women tended to feel more strongly about the value of seat belts than men, registering an approval rating of 69 percent compared to 61 percent for men. Women were also more prone to approve of seat belt legislation.

Only 14 percent of all respondents felt air bags were more effective in an accident, while 13 percent said it didn't matter one way or the other.

Intersection Improvements Underway

CASSELBERRY—Construction has begun to improve the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 with Griffin and Bulton Roads in Casselberry.

Martin Paving Co. of Daytona Beach will be paid $167,780 for the work, which includes constructing north and southbound left turn lanes and installing traffic signals.

More than 42,000 vehicles use this intersection daily, according to C.A. Benedict, District Engineer for the Florida Department of Transportation.

"These improvements should reduce traffic congestion and delays and make this intersection safer for motorists."

The 1980's Bank ShakeUp: How's It Going To Shake Out?

In five years of deregulation, we've seen more changes in the American financial system than in all the other years put together.

Today, banks offer discounts on commissions when you trade stocks and bonds. Stock brokers offer services that seem like bank accounts.

S&L's no longer have their legal 1/4% edge in interest rates. On the other hand, they can offer more kinds of loans.

Even department stores and insurance companies can get in the act. Now, most places are going to "wait and see" before they make a move; but, at NCNB, we're not.

We'll keep working to deliver the best possible service. It may not always mean the lowest price, but we'll work to see that it means the best value. For example:

More For Less.

Lots of places offer you money market rates, but only one offers them along with other bank services at special rates or no charge.

We call it Deluxe Banking® and we've made it easier to get. Now you can qualify by depositing just $1000; keep a $15,000 balance and there's no charge.

High Rates For More People.

Maybe you've thought about investing in Certificates, but you haven't wanted to commit a $2500 lump sum. Now you can invest in any certificate we offer with a minimum deposit of only $1000.

Until this year, you've had to deposit $2500 in an account to earn money market rates. Now, on personal accounts, we've cut our minimum deposit to just $1000.

More IRA Flexibility.

A lot of people like the IRA idea, but would like more control over their investment situation.

That's what our new Investor Option IRA is all about. It lets you combine fixed-rate certificates, a money market account, stocks, and bonds—whatever works for you. So come in and let's talk it over.

More Retirement Benefits.

If you're retired with pension and/or Social Security payments, have them deposited direct with us. We'll give you free regular checking, free personalized wallet checks, a free 24-hour banking card and a free 2x5 safe deposit box for a year.

NCNB Extra Checking®—some places offer some of these things, some offer others, but no place that we know of offers all of them.

A Changing Neighborhood.

What you see here is just the beginning. We'll keep working on better ways to handle your money.

So, if you're not sure where your bank, broker or S&L is shaking out, come see us.

This year, next year, and long after the dust has settled in the shakeup of 1985, we'll still be here working harder than ever to be the best bank in the neighborhood.

Mob-Run Union Backed Reagan

A presidential crime commission asked Jackie Presser if he was the president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Yes, Jackie Presser answered.

Then the commission asked Presser if he sanctioned force to control union members; what he meant when he said the Teamsters controlled the Interstate Commerce Commission; if he received payments from a mob leader.

"I respectfully decline to answer ... on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment," Presser answered.

Taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment is a long tradition with Teamster presidents. Previous Teamster presidents Roy L. Williams, James Hoffa and Dave Beck all took the Fifth and were all convicted of crimes.

The staff of the presidential commission says the Teamsters is one of four national unions controlled by the Mafia. The other three are the Laborers International Union, the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union and the International Longshoremen's Association.

It is disturbing that President Reagan in 1980 and Vice President George Bush in 1984 personally sought political support from the Teamsters. Presser served on Reagan's official 1980 transition team and was named to a committee planning the second inaugural this year. In 1984, the Teamsters was the only union to endorse President Reagan.

Teamster endorsements have not stopped the presidential commission's investigation. But never should a candidate for president or vice president seek endorsements from a union controlled by the mob.

Not So Essential

Remember the claims that the personal computer would be an essential home appliance in tomorrow's society? Remember the predictions that the computer would have as great an impact on the home as it had on the office?

Well, the future hasn't yet turned out like some high-tech gurus said.

In fact, the personal computer may be oversold. A number of Americans have decided they can get along with their own bits and bytes.

The problems in the personal computer market were dramatized by IBM's recent decision to stop production of some of its smaller machines. Other less-known manufacturers have pulled the plug on personal computers and abandoned the home market.

The personal computer, of course, is here to stay. Some people enjoy the machines as a hobby or have found them indispensable as word processors and financial recordkeepers. Some use them as educational tools for their children.

But many people who bought personal computers now find that their machines are little more than electronic dust-collectors. Computer buffs may like spending hours with their machines, but some other owners say the equipment is too complicated to use and has too few uses.

Many cooks have decided that recipes are easier kept on index cards than in a computer memory bank. Predictions that newspapers would be delivered via the computer have not been borne out. And plans for vast numbers of consumers to use computers for shopping and banking have not been realized.

The personal computer gives a lot of people access to computing power undreamed of a decade ago. But the market has confounded predictions that the personal computer would turn the average home into an "electronic cottage."

The failure, so far, of the personal computer to live up to expectations may be reassuring to some people. It shows that even in the computer age, the experts might be wrong.

Vietnam Quagmire Predicted In 1949 Book

As seen during the recent anniversary commentary, almost everyone now agrees that the U.S. war in Vietnam was a dreadful mistake.

Fewer know the historical circumstances that doomed our course.

In early 1965, as a junior senator, I privately expressed to President Johnson my fear over his Vietnam policy. He seemed willing to listen until I referred to the early history of our involvement in Indochina.

"Don't give me a history lesson, George," he said. "I've already got history lessons from Fulbright and Mansfield. I don't have time for 'history when I've got American boys on the line.'"

I appreciated the pressures on the president, but I left the White House that day convinced that we were on a perilous course. I wished he had read a book that came into my hands as a graduate student at Northwestern University in 1949 — Owen Lattimore's The Situation in Asia. That book, by one of our greatest Asian scholars, opened with these words:

"Asia is out of control. From Suez to the Western Pacific we face one problem after another ... which we cannot settle ... by an American decision. ... The old forms of ascendancy, protectorate, or rule cannot be reasserted by military action. ... The more modern and highly equipped is the military force that is used, the more expensive is the failure eventually inflicted on it by cheap methods of guerrilla warfare."

The ill-fated defiance of such warnings began with the Truman administration. Franklin Roosevelt believed that a century of French colonialism in Southeast Asia should not be resumed after World War II. "The French have milked that area for a hundred years. The people of Indochina deserve something better," he said. But Truman, suddenly confronted with the burdens of the presidency, knew little of Southeast Asian history. His concern was possible Soviet penetration of Western Europe. To get France on board the Western Alliance, he was willing to help Paris restore its war-shattered empire in Indochina.

This policy put us on a collision course with Ho Chi Minh, who had been trying since World War I to enlist American sympathy for the Vietnamese struggle against the French. As a young man he pursued Woodrow Wilson at the Versailles peace conference on behalf of "self-determination" for Vietnam. During and after World War II, he cultivated American support. Some of my fellow pilots shot down over Japanese-occupied Indochina were safely escorted back to their bases by Ho's underground. Ho literally copied the familiar lines of the American Declaration of Independence in proclaiming the independence of Vietnam. He also sent numerous messages to Washington in 1945 and 1946 asking for American cooperation to break the French yoke. None of those messages was answered. Why?

Because, as Secretary of State Dean Acheson put it, Ho was an "outright commie" and therefore, presumably, undeserving of American notice. The prevalent view was that he was simply an Asian agent of Moscow and later of Peking. These assumptions ignored the fact that Ho had made his own way for many years, that China and Vietnam had a thousand-year history of mutual distrust, that Ho — although guilty of many sins — was, like Yugoslavia's Tito, a nationalist first and a communist second.

He was a pragmatist — not a rigid ideologue. At one point, in 1946, when he was criticized by pro-Chinese elements in Vietnam for agreeing to a short-term French military presence, he replied, "You fools ... I prefer to smell French dung for five years rather than Chinese dung for the rest of my life."

It was legitimate American policy to check

Soviet or Chinese penetration of Indochina, but the most effective to do that was to cooperate with Ho rather than fight him. Instead, we not only sided with a doomed French colonialism, we then underwrote a series of South Vietnamese client rulers — none of whom ever approached the popular nationalistic base and leadership skills enjoyed by Ho. Indeed, in the mid-1950s, President Eisenhower frankly conceded that in a legitimate election, Ho would have won 80 percent of the vote in both North and South Vietnam.

If Eisenhower's assessment was correct, it explains why Secretary of State John Foster Dulles moved to block the 1956 election in Vietnam agreed to at Geneva in 1954 following Ho's defeat of the French. If that election had been held, Vietnam might now be an Asian Yugoslavia on reasonably good terms with the United States. Beyond this, the terrible bombardment that shattered not only Vietnam but also Laos and Cambodia would have been averted — a devastation that helped topple Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk, thus opening the way for the genocidal Pol Pot, who killed 2 million of his fellow Cambodians before the slaughter was largely halted by the Vietnamese occupation.

One can only mourn that an indiscriminate anti-communism took precedence over an older, more positive American value — the principle of self-determination — or an even older value — common sense.

Perhaps we can yet benefit from the tragedy of Vietnam if we learn its lessons. One lesson is: Don't attempt to chart the future of another people — say Nicaragua — in defiance of history and local realities. Grandiose geopolitical strategy and rigid ideological commitment are not enough to carry the day — to say nothing of the future.

EDWARD J. WALSH

Big Oil Not To Blame

A mid-sized middle-American newspaper, not known for its fondness for business recently published an editorial entitled: "Big Oil's Greed Still Showing." Commenting on the recent rise in gasoline pump prices, the editorial ventured darkly that "About the only conclusion the average motorist can reach is that the big oil companies are out to make all the profit they can during the vacation season."

The only plausible conclusion one can reach about that statement is that the average motorist is manifestly more intelligent than the average editorial writer — at least at that particular paper. The motorist knows that the more he drives, the more gas he consumes — thus the more he will spend on it. And demand for gasoline in the United States, though 15 percent lower than in 1979, is 5 percent higher now than in 1983.

Contrary to the hallucinating of the editorialist, the price of oil products has nothing to do with the "greed" of the oil industry.

The truth is more the opposite. In January 1985, retail prices for gasoline were lower than they were four years ago prior to the lifting of federal price controls by President Reagan on January 29, 1981. That is, a gallon of unleaded regular, which accounts for more than 80 percent of all gasoline sales, cost an average of $1.15 in January of this year, down from $1.30 in January 1981 under federal controls. During that four-year period, state and federal gasoline taxes increased an average of 6.6 cents per gallon. Without the tax, and after adjusting for inflation, the retail price of unleaded regular declined by nearly a third in four years of the free market.

The recent rise in gasoline prices is the result of complex economic and political events. Although there is plenty of oil on the world markets, suppliers received a jolt last winter when producers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and certain non-OPEC members failed to deliver expected quantities. On the demand side, the British coal strike, which lasted 11 months, forced Britain to consume an extra 500,000 barrels of heating oil each day, through a harsh winter, to compensate for the lost coal.

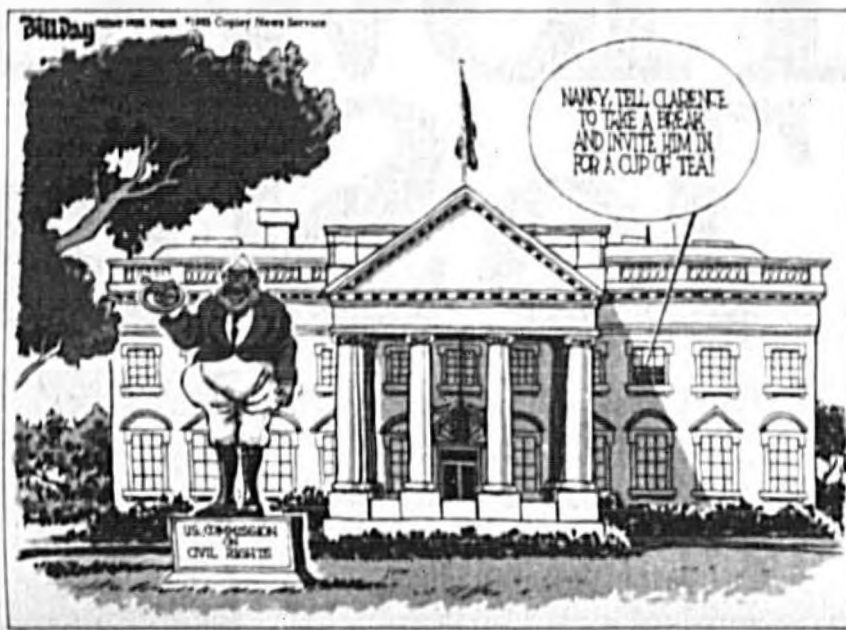

Meanwhile, the oil industry is the most heavily taxed in America.

Missing Kids' Parents No Longer Go It Alone

WASHINGTON — Hundreds of thousands of American parents know the heartbreak that comes when their child is kidnapped, murdered or simply disappears. Until recently, these parents faced their anguish pretty much alone, but that situation has changed dramatically as public awareness grows.

The scope of the problem was made depressingly clear when the National Center for Missing and

JEFFREY HART

In Over His Head

It seems, regrettably, that some of the brothers in the conservative movement are a little short on culture, and particularly on literary sophistication. This is a personal misfortune, of course, since it cuts them off from a good deal of pleasure, but it is a political misfortune, too, since it renders the conservatives vulnerable to the old joke that they are "the stupid party."

"Thus," writes Mr. John Lofton, "it is a sign of growing decadence when those who should know better — such as Dartmouth English professor and columnist Jeffrey Hart — praise what is, by any standard, obviously trash. In a review of Allen Ginsberg's Collected Poems 1947-1980, Mr. Hart says that Mr. G. is a 'great writer,' that his poem 'Kaddish' is one of the greatest pieces of writing in American literature."

Mr. Lofton makes no serious attempt to refute the judgment of Kaddish. Indeed, in his tirade, he does not mention it again. Rather, Mr. Lofton seems merely to disapprove of Mr. Ginsberg personally. Ginsberg, he thinks, is a "24-carat flake, and has never tried to hide this fact ... A 1983 UPI wire story quotes Mr. G. as saying his vulnerabilities are cowardice and homosexuality." On the evidence of Mr. Lofton's article, his acquaintance with Ginsberg's poetry is second-hand, and drawn from articles by hostile critics, talk shows and the like, and he is willing to condemn the poetry because he dislikes Ginsberg's political views and his personal life. Ginsberg takes drugs!

But, of course, if we exclude a poet's work on those grounds we will be excluding a great deal.

Pablo Neruda, for example, was a long-time member of the Communist Party, served as Salvador Allende's ambassador in Paris, and wrote a Ode to Stalin. Awful. The trouble is, the fellow could write, and it would be idiotic to claim otherwise.

Erza Pound is one of the greatest of modern poets in English. His technical virtuosity exerts an influence on practicing poets beyond that of any poet writing in this century. He won the Bollingen Prize awarded by the Library of Congress for his Pisan Cantos. But he would not get by John Lofton. The Pisan Cantos, among other things, celebrate Benito Mussolini. Out goes Pound.

Now one of the achievements of civilization has been to recognize the excellence of expression as something apart from the opinions expressed, or even the content. You can write great poetry about behavior ordinarily viewed as depraved. Baudelaire did so in Flowers of Evil. But Baudelaire, of course, also took drugs, so he strikes out completely according to the critical standards deployed by Mr. Lofton.

While we are on the subject of drugs, we are going to have to do without quite a few writers. Coleridge was an opium addict. Strike the Rime of the Ancient Mariner and Kubla Kahn from the lists. And out with Edgar Allan Poe who not only took drugs but liked very young girls. Now Mr. Lofton strenuously objects to the homosexuality of Allen Ginsberg, but we run into big problems here. Walt Whitman was a homosexual. Hart Crane was too. Most people who care about poetry consider them to have been supreme poets, but not, I suppose, Mr. Lofton.

The New Candy Man

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Murphy, if remembered at all by the general public, is recalled mostly as a solid song-and-dance performer from another era of the arts.

A better kept secret is that Murphy served in the U.S. Senate from 1965 until 1971, holding California's roulette-wheel seat that has been occupied by three others since.

Even admirers would be hard put to claim that Murphy's one-term in the Senate entitles him to even a footnote in history.

But now Sen. Slade Gorton, a Republican from Washington, has revealed a secret kept from the public two decades, one apparently known only to his colleagues and very probably many blue-suited page boys and girls.

George Murphy, it has been now told, is the Senate's original "Candy Man," a generous dispenser of sweets to his colleagues from both parties.

For 20 years no one mentioned that desk No. 75 in the Senate, the one from which the generous Murphy dispensed his goodies, was a mother lode of candy for sweet-toothed senators.

The desk, fortunately, is well-situated — on the aisle, back row just as you enter and leave the Senate.

The secret of the "Candy Desk" was well kept until Gorton issued a release, noting that he was now the occupant of this desk and would carry on the rich traditions started by Murphy.

The tradition could well have died with the departure of Murphy in 1971 but did not, thanks, in turn to Sens. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., and Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, and Steve Symms, R-Idaho who, in order, were assigned the desk.

Murphy, Fannin, Schmitt and Jepsen were candy specialists, loading the drawers of the desk with hard candy only. Symms served what Gorton described as a "fine assortment of sweets" provided by candy and chocolate associations.

In accepting his new responsibilities, Gorton said he would provide "ample quantities" of candies made in his home state and said, "I hope this will provide the Senate with the energy and stamina to seek us through the difficult problems we face."

SAC Will Give Oviedo Chance To Gain Respect

OVIEDO — Rodney Dangerfield never attended Oviedo High School. He never went one-on-one with Ronnie Murphy or tasted one of Fayetta Robinson's spikes.

Just the same, Oviedo High Principal Charlie Webb says when it comes to respect, the Lions rank somewhere just above or below the man who yanks on his tie and makes jokes about himself.

"We just don't get the recognition we should," said Webb the other day. "I don't know what it is. Maybe it's where we're located. Or, maybe it's the conference (Orange Belt) we're in."

"For some reason, we just haven't been able to establish our identity."

Webb hopes all that will change now. With the formation of the Seminole Athletic Conference (SAC) last week, Webb says Oviedo — one of the SAC's six members along with Seminole, Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley — will finally get the chance to earn the respect it deserves.

"The SAC should be great for Oviedo High School," says Webb. "It will help us in attendance and travel. Competitively, it will make a lot of difference recognition-wise."

Webb went on to illustrate his problem. He said sometimes when the Lions would whip up on a Leesburg or St. Cloud, the reaction was one of apathy. "People would say, 'Leesburg Who?'" said Webb.

Triumphant returns from Leesburg, St. Cloud or Eustis just didn't set the fandom's heart a flutter. "Even when we had that great football team (12-1 and a final four appearance)," points out Webb. "We weren't packing the stands like an undefeated team should."

"Now, that we're playing our natural rivals, we'll get much more recognition when we beat one of them."

There were other reasons. Some county coaches knew enough about the Lions to know when they would be good and when they would be poor. They would schedule accordingly.

Some went further than that. It wasn't considered too shrewd to play Oviedo. It was the old 4A vs. 3A theory. "We can't win," one coach confessed. "If we beat Oviedo, that's the way it's supposed to be. If Oviedo beats us, we look foolish, losing to a 3A school."

There were also some coaches who shied away from playing the Lions when the aforementioned Murphy wore the Orange and White. Murphy, now playing at Jacksonville University, was the greatest basketball player to ever come out of Seminole County. The presence of his 6-5 all-around skills, no doubt, left a few unreturned phone calls for coach Dale Phillips.

When Murphy was a senior, the Lions were the only team to be Kissimmee Osceola's state champions. The Kowboys' only loss was later erased when it was found Murphy was playing illegally due to an incomplete.

Whether the Lions are 3A or not, they have always been competitive in most sports. Phillips can put his basketball record up against just anybody in Central Florida. The same for baseball coach Howard Mable. Oviedo's tennis and track programs usually send some to state each year.

A couple of years ago, Fayetta Robinson was as good as any girl three-sport (volleyball, basketball, softball) standout in the county before a knee injury cut down her mobility.

In softball and volleyball, the Lady Lions are a powerhouse and probably will be for years to come since both squads have a wealth of good, young performers. Coach Jackie Miller's softballers were the conference, district and region champions while coach Anita Carlson's netters won the conference, district and region.

Phillips, Oviedo's athletic director, shares the same opinion as his boss and looks forward to the challenge. "It might take a couple years for us to be competitive," he says. "But we're really growing (projected 2,200 next year). That will help."

Phillips says recognition-wise, the SAC will be a plus, too. "We're in there with a bunch of pretty good teams and schools," he says. "Even in Central Florida, we'll get better press coverage. It will be a challenge. We're looking forward to it. We're going to be right around town."

Yes, the Lions have good coaches and good fans. Winning and tradition have been there throughout the years. With a little help from the SAC, Oviedo should be able to get the respect it deserves.

Now, if only Charlie Webb would quit yanking on his tie...

Fran Gordon's nickname is "Flash," but she's definitely no flash in the pan.

For the fourth straight year, Gordon, a Lake Mary High School senior who will be 18 on May 29, has qualified for the State Track and Field Championships. You can't be any more consistent than that. And this year she wants to cap a brilliant high school career with a state title.

But there's more to this young lady's makeup than sports, sports and more sports. Granted, she's a natural, an accomplished performer on any athletic field. She was Lake Mary's Female Athletic of the Year last year. "Flash" has taken on cross country, soccer and track in consecutive seasons and mastered them all.

But athletics constitutes just one-half of this attractive senior. She was Lake Mary's first homecoming queen this fall. And the beauty is more than skin deep. She has a bubbling personality with the intelligence to match.

To hear this particular young lady talk, you wouldn't be surprised to one day hear her being paged as Dr. Gordon or working as an engineer on one of the Space Shuttle missions.

While Gordon is looking forward to running track in college, she definitely has her priorities in order. Gordon, who holds down a 3.8 grade point average, said she is planning to go into pre-med and her second choice is engineering, two very demanding college majors.

Gordon, daughter of Sanford's George and Catherine Gordon, knows her capabilities and there's no limit to what she can do once she puts her mind to it.

She is one of three Lake Mary Lady Rams who qualified for Saturday's 4A State Meet at Showalter Field in Winter Park. Also qualifying are senior Jill Buddenhagen and sophomore Tonya Lawson.

This is the first year that Gordon will compete in just one event at the state meet so she has the whole week to prepare for the 440 dash.

"I think I have a good chance of winning," Gordon said. "I've had a lot of injuries this year, hamstring pulls and groin pulls, but they're all gone now. Feel strong."

Gordon showed how strong she is in the quarter at last Thursday's regional meet as she put on a sudden burst at the finish to outlean West Orange's Terry Reed for first place with a time of 57.9.

The versatile senior, who holds Lake Mary school records in seven individual events, was runnerup in the 440 dash at last year's state meet when she ran a career best 56.8. The leader in the 440 this season, Fort Lauderdale Dillard's Jennifer Dooley has run a season's best 56.1. Other top competition in the 440 will come from West Orange's Reed and a pair of Seminole High seniors, Trina Walker and Glenda Bass.

"She (Dooley) is one of the ones that died in the race last year at state," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "She ended up finishing fifth. Fran has to run her own race, not Dooley's. I've been telling her that all season long."

Along with her school record 56.8 in the open quarter, "Flash" also holds the records in the 110 hurdles (16.3), 100 dash (11.2), 330 hurdles (47.5), 880 run (2:23.0), 220 dash (25.9) and long jump (18.3 1/2). She also ran on the school record mile medley and 440 relay teams.

As a freshman, Gordon went to the 2A State Meet in the 110 in the long jump, where she took third and the 220 (fifth). As a sophomore she competed in the 3A State Meet in the 440 and long jump (didn't place in top six). Last season, as a junior Gordon took second in the 440 and ran the anchor leg on the mile medley relay team which took fourth.

After the track season is over, Gordon will compete in the State Heptathlon competition where she took 12th last year.

One of the biggest influences in Gordon's high school career has been Gibson, her coach for all four years.

"I love coach Gibson, he's been so nice to me," Gordon said. "He's helped me so much these last four years and we've had some great times. He's the one that started me in the quarter. He got me to run cross country in 11th grade and that has really helped a lot."

Sparrow Chirps Again As D.A.V. Wins

Baseball

"Famous" Amos Sparrow had lost his voice after his D.A.V. (Disabled American Veteran) team got off to a miserable start. But Sparrow chirped back into the spotlight Monday when he scattered seven hits and slugged a solo home run to lead D.A.V. to a 7-4 victory over the Railroaders in Sanford Little National League action at Fort Mellon Park.

Sparrow's pitching and hitting performance also knocked the Railroaders out of sole possession of second place. The Railroaders now stand at 6-3, three and a half games behind league-leading First Federal, while D.A.V. improved to 2-7.

The Railroaders had taken an early 2-1 lead, but D.A.V. scored three times in the bottom of the second for a 4-2 lead. Singles by Bernard Sparrow and Elliot Brownly, along with three errors, paved the way for D.A.V. in the second.

D.A.V. took a 5-3 lead into the fifth inning when Scott Sestack hammered a solo homer off Sparrow to bring the Railroaders within 5-4. With two out in the inning, Richard Washington tripled to put the tying run on third. But Sparrow reached back and struck out Terrance Jones to end the inning.

D.A.V. then added two runs in the bottom of the fifth. Philip King led off with a triple and scored on a wild pitch and, with two outs, Sparrow sewed up the win by slamming a home run.

"Famous" gave up a two-out single in the top of the sixth but struck out the next hitter to end the game.

In other Little National League action Monday, First Federal ran its record to 8-0 with a 16-3 rout of Cardinal Industries.

Joe Wiggins continued his torrid hitting streak for First Federal as he was 4 for 4 with two triples, a double, a single and two RBIs. Wiggins also scored four times and combined with Alonzo Brundidge to toss a one-hitter at Cardinal.

Brundidge added three doubles and two RBIs to the First Federal attack. Scooter Dunn broke up the combined no-hitter when he stroked a two-out double in the bottom of the fifth, and final inning.

POPPA JAY'S ROUTS RINKER

In one other game, Poppa Jay's rapped out 17 hits en route to a 15-9 victory over Rinker. Poppa Jay's moved into second place with the win.

Demetrius Presley, Demetry Beamon and Maurice Fisher had four hits each to lead the Poppa Jay's offensive outburst while Kevin Mitchell was 3 for 4. Presley scored four times and smacked a pair of doubles and a two-run homer.

Darrell Canada was 3 for 3 with two triples and a double to lead Rinker at the plate. Corey Bennett and Bryan Grayson added two hits each.

Merthie's Hit Drives Moose Past Elks, 7-5

Anthony "Boon" Merthie's two-run triple in the top of the eighth inning propelled Moose to a 7-5 victory over Elks in Sanford Junior League action Monday night at Chase Park.

It was the first game of the second half of the season for both teams. Moose tied Kiwanis for the first half title while Elks finished second.

Moose jumped out to an early 3-0 lead in the top of the first. Scooter Leonard's RBI single drove in the first run while two more scored on a double off the bat of Jimmy Murphy.

Moose upped its lead to 5-0 in the top of the third on an error and an RBI single by Richard Mobley.

Meanwhile, Murphy pitched shutout ball until the bottom of the sixth when Elks rallied for two runs. The first scored on a balk while the second, Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud, stole home.

Elks came back to tie it at 5-5 in the bottom of the seventh when one run scored on a wild pitch and two more crossed via errors.

With one out in the top of the eighth, Jeff Derr reached on an error and Mike Merthie followed with a double to put runners on second and third. Anthony Merthie then stepped up and smacked a triple to snap the tie and provide the winning margin.

Mike Merthie, who went on in relief of Murphy, retired the side in order in the eighth.

In Monday night's first game, Dewight Brinson was 4 for 5 with four triples, including the game winner in the bottom of the seventh, as Knights of Columbus outslugged Rotary, 17-16.

The Knights improved to 5-6 overall with the win while Rotary dropped its 11th straight.

Behind Brinson for KOC, Ray Williams slugged three doubles while Bobby Coffield added a single and double. Henry Williams was 4 for 5 to lead Rotary while Tim Hampton had three hits and drove in three runs and Gerald Morris also had three hits.

In games Wednesday at Chase Park, Ball Motor Line plays Kiwanis at 5 p.m. and the Elks takes on the Rotary at 7:15 p.m.

IN BRIEF

Kelly's 4-TD Air Raid Leaves Breakers Without Shelter, 45-7

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — When the air raid hit, the Portland Breakers could find no shelter.

In what coach Jack Pardee dubbed his team's best performance of the season, Houston dealt Portland a 45-7 defeat Monday night, the Breakers' fourth straight, lifting the Gamblers into sole possession of first place in the USFL's Western Conference with an 8-3 record.

The Gamblers, leading passing team in the league connected for 405 yards through the air. Houston quarterback Jim Kelly threw four touchdown passes and scored on an 11-yard run.

"They just beat us in every way possible," Portland Coach Dick Coury said. "It was baffling."

Kelly, second rated passer in the USFL, passed for 348 yards before he left the game in the fourth quarter. Todd Dillon came on to throw a for a touchdown with 2:30 remaining.

Kelly said much of the credit goes to Richard Johnson, who caught all four of his touchdown passes and was credited with 137 yards receiving.

"You can't be a good quarterback if you don't have the receivers behind you," Kelly said. "It makes me feel good that I threw four touchdowns. I threw one interception which was stupid. I just didn't read the coverage on that play."

Steyn Gives Lendl Tough Test

NEW YORK (UPI) — Aside from being cold and wet, Ivan Lendl felt a certain sense of relief. Even he was surprised at the tough competition he received Monday night from unheralded Christo Steyn, and was simply satisfied to walk away with a victory under difficult conditions.

Not only was it their first meeting since the Junior Fenen some eight years ago, but Lendl hadn't even seen the blond South African since.

"It was difficult, no doubt about it," Lendl said following his rain-interrupted 7-5, 6-3 victory. "I didn't know what to expect him or what would happen."

"When we had the (rain) break, I had a chance to think about what was happening, and to think of some strategy."

Tenth seed Tim Wilkison, despite service problems in the opening set, defeated Dan Cassidy 7-5, 6-2. No. 12 Mark Dickson beat Jay Lapidus 6-3, 6-2, and Martin Jaffe, the 13th seed from Argentina, ousted South African Derek Tarr 6-4, 7-6 (7-2).

In other opening-round matches of note Monday, Lewison Duncan, 1984 NCAA singles runner-up, swept the final four games to overcome Israeli Shlomo Glickstein 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, and Nigerian Ndaka Odizor, three-time All-America at the University of Houston, was a first-round victim at Forest Hills for the third year in a row, bowing to Bud Schultz, 6-3, 6-2.

Small Crowd Didn't Hurt Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Although attendance at the 1985 Kentucky Derby was the lowest since records have been kept, the president of Churchill Downs said Monday the smaller crowd did not hurt the track.

"From a financial standpoint, it hasn't hurt our revenue," said track President Thomas Meeker.

Saturday's crowd of 108,772 was nearly 18,000 below last year's 126,453 and the lowest since figures were first recorded in 1971.

The track had doubled the prices of both box seats and admission to the infield — from $10 to $20 — but Meeker noted three wagering records were set at the race won by Spend A Buck.

The day's total handle was $12,330,650, up from the record $11,851,527 wagered in 1983. The Derby race total was $5,770,074, which exceeded the former record of $5,546,977, also set in 1983.

Meeker said most dramatic was the increase in per capita daily wagering on Derby Day — $113.57 — which was $22.72 above last year's record of $90.85 per patron.

Machnik Directs Kiwanis' Clinic

A free goalkeepers clinic will be held Saturday, May 18 from 9-11:30 a.m. at Lake Mary High School. Goalkeepers of all ages are welcome to attend while a coaches clinic will be held from 1-3 p.m.

The Number One Goalkeeper's Clinic is directed by Dr. Joseph A. Machnik, known as the premier instructor of goalkeepers in the United States. Machnik is a coaching staff member of the United States Soccer Federation, former Director of Operations and Referee-in-Chief of the Major Indoor Soccer League as well as head coach of the New York Arrows.

Those interested are asked to bring one soccer ball and appropriate attire to play soccer.

Seminole Soccer Sets Signups

The Seminole Soccer School is now registering players for its summer soccer camp. Four sessions are available as follows:

June 17-21 for under eight years of age; June 24-28 for 10 and under; July 8-12 for eight and under and 10 and under; and July 15-19 for under 10s and under 16s. Camps are open to boys and girls.

The sessions cost $65 each and include both indoor and outdoor training. The site is Lake Mary High School. For more information, call 339-4075 or 331-5209 or call camp director Larry McCorkle at Lake Mary High (323-2110, ext. 221).

Mitchell's 4 Hits Rout Rotary

Tracey Mitchell banged out four hits Monday to pave the way for Kiwanis' 19-4 rout of Rotary in Sanford Junior League softball action at Fort Mellon Field.

Adding two hits each to the 15 hits offensive attack for Kiwanis were Phyllis Moore, Showanda Walker, Tewanna Chisolm, Quetta Prealey, Christine McNeil and Lilla Dellafield.

Chisolm was also the winning pitcher for Kiwanis. Rotary had 13 hits in the game but Chisolm's control pitching was the difference as she walked just two compared to 10 for Rotary pitching.

Dolphins Acquire Bryan Clark

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins acquired Bryan Clark from the Cincinnati Bengals Monday for a future conditional draft choice to bolster questionable quarterback corps.

The Dolphins are facing the opening of minicamp with Dan Marino as the only quarterback available. Both of Marino's backups, veteran Don Struck and utility player Jim Jensen, have indicated they won't report if they negotiate new contracts.

King George: Winning Cures All

Billy Martin doesn't have a worry in the world. George Steinbrenner has his future all mapped out.

"I'm gonna see if we can't get him a jockey's license," says the Yankees boss, obviously much more excited over them winning their last four in a row than Eternal Prince's next-to-last-place finish in the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

Steinbrenner, who owns a bigger piece of the Yankees than he does the horse, was at Churchill Downs for the Derby, where more people talked to him about his ballclub than about the colt.

The majority of his friends told Steinbrenner they thought he had made a good move in bringing back Martin to manage the Yankees still a fourth time. Nothing unexpected there. What are his friends going to tell him? He made a bad move? Of course not.

But the media in general hasn't been so approving or applauding of his decision to fire Yogi Berra only 16 games into the season. Especially since Steinbrenner had gone on record saying that no matter what happened, Berra would finish out the year.

Most of the papers and the majority of TV and radio commentators roughed up Steinbrenner real good for what he did in a manner not seen or heard since the days of Charlie Finley. By the way, what ever happened to ol' Charlie. Someone told me he was thinking of starting his own league in Tahiti. Using an orange baseball.

Personally, I had trouble understanding why some of the attacks on Steinbrenner got so personal, they were actually vicious. Same with Martin.

I saw one particular column about Martin I thought went way out of the baseline. The writer probably thought he was showing how fearless he was. That's a laugh. You should show how tough you are much better in private than in public.

With regard to the quick switch Steinbrenner made, no one denies Yogi Berra was an outstanding ballplayer and is as nice a guy as you'll ever meet. Similarly, no one denies Martin wasn't as good a ballplayer as Berra but is a better manager.

Milton Richman
UPI EDITOR
SPORTS

Facts speak for themselves. The change Steinbrenner made, the one he was so roundly criticized for, wasn't a popular one, but it certainly was for the better.

The Yankees look like an entirely different ballclub. They're more aggressive, for one thing. They've got the fans excited, for another. They drew 50,209 for Sunday's ballgame with the Kansas City Royals at Yankee Stadium, and I can't believe that was all due to them giving out free umbrellas as part of a promotion.

I have to think Martin's presence was directly responsible for at least part of the crowd. Even if you argue that, I think you'll have to admit some of the people who attended were drawn by the way the Yankees are now playing. Who's responsible for that? Martin, of course. And don't forget the man who brought him back.

Steinbrenner hollers out once in awhile when he's hit, but he has shown me he can take the heat. I think he even thrives on it, and right there he reminds me of Harry Truman more than anyone else. He gets things done. And so did Give 'Em Hell Harry.

I asked Steinbrenner Monday how much he is bothered by all the criticism he receives. He said it doesn't bother him at all, which I don't believe for a minute. But having watched him operate, I know it won't keep him from making another unpopular move in the future if he feels it's dictated.

"You do what your gut reaction tells you to do," he said. "It doesn't bother me taking the criticism. I'm gonna do what I think is right. They (the players) want to have discipline. They wanna see the manager run the team."

"Look at guys like Earl Weaver and Dick Williams. They didn't care if they were unpopular, but they won. You think Vince Lombardi worried over being popular? His players said he treated 'em all like dogs, didn't they? And what about Paul Brown? They were winners, weren't they?"

"You think everyone loves Sparky Anderson? Kirk Gibson said it wasn't the greatest pleasure to play for him. But the important thing is he maintains discipline and they win for him."

Steinbrenner doesn't think he fired Berra too quickly. That's because of the nature of competition in the Eastern Division, the one the Yankees are in. Had he waited much longer, Steinbrenner feels, it would've been too late.

Berra liked to keep the players happy. Martin doesn't concern himself with that too much.

"He's gonna make the changes he feels he has to make, and not worry," Steinbrenner says. "He shouldn't either is it that important for a team to be happy? I don't think so. Remember the 1978 Red Sox. They were 14 1-2 games in front and I kept reading about how happy they were and how much dissentation there was on our team. But we closed in and finally caught them. Then I remember George Scott yelling how Boston was full of discontent. Lemme tell you, only one thing makes players happy, and that's winning. Winning cures all."

Should the Yankees catch fire and go on to win, Martin very likely will finish the entire season managing them and handle them again next year. For a while, anyway. That's if they win.

Where does that leave the Yankees' "next" manager, Lou Piniella? It leaves him on hold. In as good a position as he ever was, maybe even better.

Coleman Makes Fans Forget McGee

United Press International

With St. Louis rookie Vince Coleman creating such havoc on the basepaths these days, the opposition must be glad to face Willie McGee — because he's so slow.

Of course, McGee remains one of the game's swiftest runners, but even he is no match for Coleman, who swiped two more bases Monday night to increase his major league-leading total to 19. McGee, however, remains a dangerous threat who cannot be ignored.

The St. Louis center fielder went 4-for-4, stole two bases and scored twice Monday night to spark the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the San Diego Padres. McGee has hit in seven of the last eight games with six stolen bases and six runs scored.

St. Louis, which stole five bases in the game, combined speed and power in the sixth inning against Eric Show, 3-2, to score four runs and put away the game.

"Four extra-base hits in an inning is amazing for us," Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog said.

Coleman singled, stole second and scored on Andy Van Slyke's triple. Tommy Herr doubled home Van Slyke to tie the score 2-2, and McGee doubled home Herr and scored on Terry Pendleton's double for a 4-2 lead.

"Speed does it for you everytime," San Diego manager Dick Williams said. "They're a speedy club. Coleman is an outstanding kid. He's exciting, very exciting."

He gets on, and our pitcher worries about him, and he steals a couple bases. It's still 2-1, but they get four extra-base hits. Coleman set it up."

Dodgers 5, Cubs 4

At Chicago, Candy Maldonado singled and scored the tie-breaking run to ignite a two-run 10th inning that carried the Dodgers. Maldonado singled off Ray Fontenot, 0-1, went to third on Ken Landreaux's single and scored when shortstop Shawn Dunston booted Pedro Guerrero's sharp grounder. Ken Howell, 2-1, was the winner in relief.

Giants 7, Pirates 5

At Pittsburgh, pinch-hitter Scot Thompson highlighted a four-run sixth with a two-run single to lift San Francisco. Bill Lasky, 1-3, earned the victory while Jose DeLeon, 0-5, struck out nine but walked six in 5 1-3 innings and took the loss. The Giants, who entered with the league's lowest batting average of .207, had 10 hits.

Graham Selects 5 Countians For State Leader Conference

Five Seminole County student-athletes were among 150 chosen to participate in the 1985 Florida Athlete-Leader Conference in Tampa.

Gov. Bob Graham announced last week those athletes that would participate in the conference, sponsored by the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

The values clarification/leadership conference will be held July 10-12 in conjunction with the Sunshine State Games. Tampa is the host city of the 1985 games.

Two of the five county athletes selected are from Seminole High, including Billy Penick and Louis Brown, both juniors.

Penick was one of the top cross country runners in the state in 1984 and is currently vying for the 4A State Championship in the mile run. Brown missed much of the track season with an injury but has returned to solidify Seminole in the relay races.

Lake Brantley High also had two selections including juniors Joe Pledger and Sherry "Ice" Asplen.

Pledger was one of the top defenders in the county in the 1984-85 soccer season in which the Patriots advanced to the 4A State finals before bowing out in the championship game. Asplen, the only girl selected for the conference from Seminole County, was a standout point guard on the Lady Patriot basketball team, which had its best season ever, and played first base for the softball team.

Also selected from Seminole County is Lake Howell junior Mark Schnittker, a fullback on the football team and forward on the basketball squad.

The athletes, 150 throughout the state, were selected from nominations submitted by high school principals, athletic directors and sport governing bodies including the Sunshine State Games. The group of participants were chosen based on their athletic achievements, scholastic record, demonstrated leadership potential and extra-curricular activities.

"Florida's Athlete-Leader Conference was organized to help outstanding athletes realize the significant role they have in society and to help them establish realistic and positive self-expectations," Graham said. "We feel confident the program will be extremely beneficial in assisting these exceptional individuals to learn more about a variety of positive life alternatives."

The athlete-leader conference is held annually in conjunction with the Sunshine State Games. Sports personalities and Olympic Athletes from the state of Florida have agreed to visit the conference and speak to the athlete-leaders. — Chris Flister

Commonwealth Gives Challenge

Softball

Fern Park 1 Commonwealth Insurance is beginning to serve notice that it is ready to challenge for the lead in the Eagles Division of the Seminole Softball Club.

Commonwealth Insurance knocked off first-half winner Forest City 1 Frey Insurance, 7-5, and also defeated Oviedo Wington Sprinklers, 7-4.

In the win over Forest City, Commonwealth Insurance backed the four-hit pitching of Stormi Littrell with an 11-hit offensive attack. Brooke Burns led the way with three singles while Littrell helped her own cause with two singles and two RBIs. Aretha Riggins supplied most of the offensive punch for Frey Insurance as she went 3 for 3 with a pair of doubles and drove in two runs.

Defensively, Brooke Burns and Valerie Monico kept Fern Park 1 out of trouble as they combined to turn two double plays, one in the fourth, and a key one in the sixth.

Littrell also drove in two runs as did Robin Whitehead. Susan Hayden and Amy Houston added two hits each. Bridgette Jenerette had two hits and drove in two runs for Oviedo.

Wington Sprinklers also handed Forest City 1 Frey Insurance another loss, 6-1. This time, the score was tied at 1-1 going in the eighth inning when switch hitting Jodie Switzer pounded a three-run double from the left side of the plate to drive in the winning runs. Switzer, a freshman who pitched Oviedo High to the district and region titles, usually hits from the right side.

Karrie Share, Anna Hollis and Marlee Green added two hits each for Oviedo while Erin Higgins rapped three singles for Forest City.

In other Eagles Division play, the Forest City Angels claimed a pair of victories, 11-6 over Rinker Material and 15-10 over Forest City Goodings.

In the win over Rinker, Trina Shuler slammed a single and a double and drove in four runs while Leticia Strickland had three singles and knocked in two runs. Tonya Colvin and Denise Burke contributed two hits and two RBIs each while Dawn Gebhart scattered seven hits for the pitching victory.

Against Goodings, Sherry McDonald clubbed a home run to lead the 13-hit Angels assault. Schuler added a double and triple while Gina Quinn and Tiffany Rinehart had two singles each. Sharon Bonaventure stroked a single and a triple.

In Hawks Division action, Carrie Leva drove in the winning run in the top of the eighth inning as Forest City 1 Burger King upended the Altamonte Renegades, 9-8.

Kelly Hartman and Tanja Diaz led the 17-hit Burger King attack with four hits each. Jennifer Kruger and Mandy Renteria had three hits apiece for the 'Gades.

In another Hawks Division game, the Adams connection paved the way as Casselberry Pools by Max blanked Burger King, 4-0. Sherry Adams and Sandy Adams had two hits each while Missy Martinez and Stacie Thomas scored two runs apiece to lead the way for Pools by Max. Pitcher Kristy York turned in an outstanding performance and also snagged a number of line drives to keep Burger King off the bases.

Sherry McDonald clubbed a home run for the Forest City Angels in Seminole Softball Club action.

Nuggets Top Jazz; Go Up 3-1

United Press International
Denver rookie Willie White, perhaps forgetting his coach's advice, seemed to unravel a bit Sunday night.

"I thought we'd get him over his nervousness early," coach Doug Moe said before the game. "I'm going to tell him, 'Willie you're starting. If you have to go to the bathroom, you'd better go now.'"

White, filling in for injured guard Lafayette "Fat" Lever, turned over the ball with 2:44 left Sunday night, giving the Jazz a chance to cut their deficit to 1 point. The Nuggets, however, held on to win, 125-118, and take a 3-1 advantage in the Western Conference semifinal series.

White had 8 points, 4 rebounds and 2 steals, and knows exactly what he would like to do would when the series resumes Tuesday night in McNichols Arena.

"I'm going to try to set the tempo that Fat had," White said Monday.

The Nuggets have won 24 of their last 26 home games — including two playoff victories against the Jazz last week.

Lever, one of the top playmakers in the NBA this season, was scheduled to undergo arthroscopic surgery Monday night after he hyperextended his left knee in the last seconds of Denver's loss to Utah Saturday.

NBA/NHL

Team officials say Lever will likely miss the rest of the season. The 6-foot-3 guard played all 82 contests of the regular season and averaged 12.8 points, 7.48 assists and 5 rebounds per game.

The Nuggets lead their series with the Jazz 3-1. The winner of the series meets the victor of the Lakers Trail Blazers matchup for a berth in the NBA Championship series. The Lakers lead the best-of-five series 3-1 and continue their series Tuesday night in the Forum.

In other playoff action, the Philadelphia 76ers, who swept the Milwaukee Bucks in four straight games, await the outcome of the Celtics-Pistons series which is tied 2-2 heading into Wednesday night's game at Boston Garden.

Trailing 71-63 in the third quarter in Sunday's fourth game, Philadelphia exploded for a 24-6 run in a span bridging the third and fourth quarters to put away the Bucks.

In Detroit, the Pistons managed to tie their series 2-2 and are trying to derail the Celtics' efforts to become the first team to repeat as NBA Champions since Boston in 1968-69.

BRUINS HIRE GORING
BOSTON (UPI) — When the Boston Bruins claimed Butch Goring on waivers Jan. 8, they got more than a veteran hockey player. They got their next coach.

Goring, who helped the New York Islanders to four Stanley Cups, Monday was named Bruins head coach, allowing general manager Harry Sinden to step back into the front office from the bench. Sinden took over as coach when he fired Gerry Cheevers Feb. 13.

"As coach, I could see, hear and observe Butch Goring, and the more I was around him, the more I was convinced he was the leading candidate to be the new coach," Sinden said. "By season's end, there was no doubt he was the person we ought to have here."

Goring, 35-year-old, 10-year veteran, will hang up his hockey sweater in favor of the shirt-and-tie job. Under NHL rules, a player cannot also be a headcoach.

"I guess I'll get the itch (to play) from time to time, but this is a tremendous opportunity for me and one I can't afford to pass up," Goring said.

Bruins defenseman Mike Milbury, appointed assistant coach in a surprise move, will retire after 10 years in the league. Jean Ratelle, a Bruins assistant coach for four years, will be retained as a special assignment scout.

Goring, who played for 10 years with the Los Angeles Kings and five with the Islanders was a Bruin for 39 games. He said no immediate changes are planned on the Boston team which has lost in the first round of the playoffs the past two years and finished fourth this season in the Adams Division.

"We will play the same aggressive style which is synonymous with Boston Bruins' hockey," he said. "This organization is committed to winning and the right talent is there."

In his 16 years in the NHL, Goring scored 377 goals and 513 assists.

Knock On Wood For Winner Of Spring Fling 100

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Gutsy second-generation race driver Ricky Wood of Orlando won the Second Annual "Spring Fling 100 Thundercar Championship on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Sponsored by Buchanan Fuel Oil, Wood, his chassis expertly set up at RaceCo, and with a potent Bob Clark-built small block Chevy engine under the hood, was strongly challenging early leader Mike Fitch, when Fitch's engine exploded between thru 3 and 4 on lap 44.

Often coming out of the turns sideways, wide open, Wood led the rest of the way, holding off a super effort by young Richard Proulx whose clutch faded early.

Late in the race, runner-up Proulx was driving with a nearly flat left rear tire, and at the finish line, he really had to get it all together to beat

Gordon's track career won't end Saturday. Next season, she will be running for Florida State University.

"Coach (Terry) Long told me Thursday night I'm going to Florida State win, lose or draw," she said.

One of the new assistant coaches who will most likely be working with Gordon next year is former Olympian and one of Florida's greatest track athletes ever, Chandra Cheeseborough.

"I thought that was great when I heard," Gordon said of Cheeseborough being named an assistant. "I know I'll learn a lot from her."

But, the academics will come first, she said. "I'm going to hit the books very hard," she said. "My first choice right now is pre-med. But I know engineering won't be as bad. I really want to be a doctor, but it wouldn't be too shabby to be an engineer either. My ambition is to make the dean's list my first semester. That's what I want to do first."

Spolski No-Hits Dodgers

Andy Spolski fired a no-hitter and Mark Plecones clubbed three singles as the Astros claimed the first half title in the Altamonte Little League Major National Division with a 12-2 rout of the Dodgers.

Chris Plecones added a triple for the Astros while Spolski, David Robinson and Alfred Corneil had one single each.

In its first game of the second half, the Astros pulled out an 8-7 win over the Cardinals. Spolski's three singles led the offense while Chris Plecones added a pair of singles and also picked up the pitching victory.

In Major American Division action, Kevin Scott, Sam Evans and Charlie Curley roped two singles each as the Indians clubbed the Yankees, 14-2. T.J. Giuffrida hurled the first four innings for the win and was backed by a defense that played errorless ball. Eddie Howard had two hits to lead the Yankees.

In Minor League play, Todd Martin was 3 for 3 and drove in three runs as the Tigers bombed the Astros, 11-3. Chris Bennett added two hits and two RBIs and was also the winning pitcher for the Tigers.

The Tigers went on to win the first half championship with a 8-1 victory over the Braves. Bennett was also the winning pitcher in that game.

In T-Ball play, Jason Leva's three-run homer highlighted a six-run seventh inning that propelled the Angels to a 28-23 victory over the Astros.

Jason Varitek drove in six runs to lead the way for the Angels while Leva and Tracey Wistrom knocked in three runs each. The Angels sewed up the win in the bottom of the seventh when Varitek snagged a line drive and threw to Wistrom at first for a double play.

IN BRIEF

Fisherman Drowns; Four Saved From Capsized Boat

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Five fishermen who set out to catch kingfish were knocked into the sea by a large wave that capsized their boat, and one of the men drowned while the four others were at sea nine hours before being rescued.

Alfredo Hernandez, 28; Lazaro Alonso, 26; Pedro Alpena, 31; and Fidel Fortin, 35, who are all from Palm Beach County, survived the nine-hour ordeal that began Sunday night off the coast of Juno Beach, the Coast Guard said.

The name of the fisherman who drowned was not disclosed.

The survivors clung by their fingertips to the vessel and watched a Coast Guard helicopter fly over them in the pre-dawn hours until they were rescued later Monday morning.

The survivors were tired and shaken when rescued, but none required medical attention, a Coast Guard official said.

One of the survivors says he is not returning to the sea.

Officials Throwing Medfly Orgy

MIAMI (UPI) — U.S. and Florida agriculture officials are initiating a Mediterranean fruit fly orgy today to end a fruit fly infestation in northeast Dade County that poses a threat to the state's $1 billion citrus industry.

The first airdrop is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. and should take about two hours, said Anita McGrady, spokeswoman for the Medfly Eradication Project.

Millions of flies will be dropped over an 88-square-mile area for about 10 weeks. The flies will be able to mate and lay eggs, but unable to fertilize them.

About 240 million medflies produced and sterilized by radiation in a Honolulu laboratory will be spread in the north Miami target zone. If successful, the infertile flies will mate with fertile partners until the normal 30-to-60-day natural end of the lifespan for the medfly.

The U.S. and Florida agriculture departments also are attacking the problem in Dade County with weekly aerial sprayings of a malathion insect poison mixed with a syrupy high-protein bait.

Escaped Killer Still On The Loose

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — A convicted killer who broke out of jail with three other men by using a hacksaw and bedsheet was still at large, and police were combing Palm Beach County to find him.

Police said "numerous units" were searching Monday night for Joseph Daniel Bivins, 25, of Boynton Beach. Bivins was convicted a few weeks ago of the October 1984 shooting death of Ronald Shanker, 59, a convenience store clerk in West Palm Beach. On Friday, a jury recommended Bivins be given life in prison, but he has not been sentenced.

Authorities believe Bivins is still in Palm Beach County. The other three men, who escaped from the county jail Sunday night, had been recaptured by Monday afternoon.

Growth Management

Senate Takes Up Coastal Protection Bills

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — With its financial problems put aside just briefly, the Florida Legislature this week is turning its attention to the other big issue of the 1985 legislative session — growth management.

The Senate scheduled debate today on a coastal protection bill, the first item to reach the floor in a series of growth management and environmental protection bills on the House and Senate calendars this year. The pending proposal (SbA 84, 85 and 122) would forbid use of state funds for building of bridges, roads, sewer lines and other "infrastructure" on coastal barrier islands.

The bill would also mandate tougher coastal construction standards for the fragile ocean edge, including a provision for 30-year erosion projections in coastal zone protection plans. The cumulative effect of the changes is to sharply discourage, if not make impossible, continued construction on the islands.

Later this week, the Senate takes up its version of the Comprehensive State Plan — a 10-year growth masterplan that sets goals for channeling Florida's population growth to areas that can absorb it with comparatively less environmental impact than some already crowded areas.

The House Natural Resources Committee Monday approved its version of the plan, but stripped out key provisions that would give citizens greater standing in court to make local government enforce city and county planning acts and zoning provisions.

Under the committee's version of the bill, only citizens who are affected by developments to a larger degree than other members of the community could sue to stop the development in most cases. However, the committee agreed to allow citizens broad standing when the development involves roads and other transportation items.

Environmentalists assailed the committee version, saying it leaves citizens powerless to seek review of bad planning decisions.

"We expected that the bill would take some amendments, but the depth of the removal of standing from the bill means that if there's any hope for growth management it's going to come from the Senate this year," said Charles Lee of the Audubon Society. "It may be that 1985 is not the year for growth management."

But Steve Metz, general counsel for the Florida Chamber of Commerce, said the committee gave the state a "big stick" to force local governments to adequately plan for growth — or risk losing all state money.

"That is significant," Metz said. "That has historically been bitterly opposed by the business community."

Later this week, appropriations committees of both chambers will set to work on their versions of Gov. Bob Graham's $13.7 billion state budget. The State Revenue Estimating Conference made a revised projection of state tax expectations Monday — telling lawmakers they had an additional $34.9 million to work with in the year starting July 1.

Police Unable To Shoot Man Who Killed Ex-Wife's Lover

FORT MYERS (UPI) — Police said they "didn't have a clear shot" at a man who ended a barrage of gunfire in his ex-wife's mobile home with a fatal bullet for her 63-year-old lover.

Held without bond on a first-degree murder charge in the death of Reuben Cohen was Russell Cook, 37, a Fort Myers sewer plant worker.

Cohen was wounded at least three times before the final shot, as Cook allegedly filled the mobile home with gunfire shortly after midnight Monday.

Also injured were Laura Cook, the suspect's 37-year-old ex-wife, and Angella Caudill, Laura Cook's 20-year-old daughter.

Capt. John MacDougall of the Lee County sheriff's department said deputies arrived at the scene in time to witness the last of the shooting.

They saw two white males and the white female fighting on the floor of the trailer," he said.

"(One) deputy ordered the suspect to drop the weapon. Instead, he pointed the gun at the other white male (Cohen) and shot him at point-blank range."

MacDougall said deputies could not fire without endangering Cohen or Laura Cook.

"They just didn't have a clear shot at the guy," he said.

After shooting Cohen, Cook turned the gun to his own head, but inflicted only a glancing wound before being overpowered by deputies, MacDougall said.

According to MacDougall's account of the incident, Cook entered the mobile home park shortly after midnight, dressed in army fatigues and carrying a .45-caliber pistol.

Park security officers saw Cook run across a field, and called for deputies.

Cook allegedly cut the phone lines to the mobile home, then broke in through the back door, finding Cohen and Laura Cook in bed.

Cook immediately shot and wounded Cohen, but the victim was able to fight back.

Laura Cook joined the battle, which moved from the bedroom to the living room floor, as more shots were fired. At least one hit Cohen. Another shot grazed Laura Cook's skull.

Caudill was hit in the leg when she stepped out of her bedroom in the middle of the fray.

Kittinger Does It Again, Takes Balloon Race Win

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Orlando's Joe Kittinger, who made the second longest balloon flight in history last year, won the Gordon Bennett International Cup race with a slightly less spectacular effort — a 256-mile jaunt that ended in the Nevada desert.

The balloonist's yellow and white, helium-filled Rosie O'Grady, touched down Monday morning near Gunderson, Nev., about 100 miles northwest of Las Vegas after 49 hours in the air. Last year, Kittinger stayed aloft 47 hours and drifted to Hobart, Okla., more than 1,000 miles from the launch site.

The winner of the Gordon Bennett is determined by total number of miles covered in a straight line from the takeoff point. This year's race was hampered by a lack of wind.

"Everyone is okay," race spokeswoman Debbie Fawcett said Monday.

Kittinger's victory marked the third consecutive time he has won the race, making him the first person since before

Joe Kittinger

World War II to retire the Gordon Bennett's bronze trophy.

Kittinger, who last September crossed the Atlantic alone from Maine to Italy in 84 hours covering 3,544 miles, was flying with co-pilot Sherry Reed. Both are from Orlando where Kittinger operates an airborne performing group called the Rosie O'Grady Flying Circus.

The Squires case involved the largest number of organs donated by one patient at Sanford's Central Florida Regional Hospital, according to a hospital spokesman.

A team of doctors flew from the Medical College of Georgia to Sanford to remove the heart. That operation was finished at 1:17 a.m. Sunday and the transplant in Georgia was completed within two hours. While the team was enroute to CFRRH the specialists were in contact with attending physicians and later said it was the smoothest transplant they had ever performed.

CFRRH arranged for the doctors to have a police escort to and from the Sanford Airport.

Other organs were removed by 4 a.m.

A kidney was transplanted later Sunday in the 44-year-old man at Florida Hospital Orlando and a 41-year-old woman in Miami received the other kidney Monday morning, Ms. Fetter said.

Two people in Gainesville underwent successful operations to have Squires' corneas transplanted. The University of Gainesville also took some bone tissue to be used in transplant operations, Ms. Fetter said.

She said insulin-producing cells will be removed from the pancreas by specialists at Washington University, St. Louis, and will be injected into a diabetic's pancreas that is not producing insulin.

Tissue from the spleen will be used in processes that helps match up potential donors and people who need a kidney transplant, Ms. Fetter said.

A suitable recipient was located for a liver transplant but he was not well enough to undergo the operation.

Ms. Fetter said the usual procedure in a case such as Squires' begins with the attending physician telling a patient's family that the injuries are probably fatal and would they consider donating certain organs should the person die.

Once family permission is granted and the person legally dies — no sign of brain activity — a series of tests are run to determine which organs are suitable for transplant, that is, in good condition and compatible with recipient.

After a determination is made about what organs are available, the Organ Donor Center is notified and, through a computer network with 150 organ donation centers across the county, matches are made between the donor's blood type and size and recipients' needs. Once the person is legally dead arrangements are made for the transplants.

Only one patient out of 100 admitted to a hospital with injuries meets the criteria for donation, Ms. Fetter said. She said they have to be patients who have been legally declared brain dead but whose organs can be kept viable by life-support systems.

If there's no suitable heart or liver recipient, then the kidneys are removed as soon as can be arranged by doctors from Florida Hospital Orlando, which is the designated hospital in Central Florida for kidney transplants, Ms. Fetter said.

Ms. Fetter said the number of organ donors is increasing because of the public awareness of the procedure.

Even so, it's "not nearly enough," she said.

Last year, the East Central Florida Transplant Program matched 40 donated kidneys with recipients, seven hearts and two livers, she said. So far this year, 20 kidneys, five hearts and two livers have been donated.

She praised the Squires family for its willingness not only to agree to the donations but their willingness to publicly discuss the matter.

...Panel

Sanford Avenue and beyond.

But unlike that committee Farr said the 25th Street panel should not hire private engineering consultants to study the road. He said the two cities and the county could save money by doing the work themselves.

"I think we have enough talent in both of our shops to pull off a corridor study committee," Farr said.

The decision to form the committee was one of several agreements the two commissions made during what Mayor Smith termed a "history making meeting."

She said to her knowledge there had been no such joint meetings in the past.

Sturm called the meeting "a giant step forward."

After discussing topics of mutual concern, the commissioners and top staffers from both governments continued their talks informally over refreshments.

Other developments from the meeting: ● The two commissions agreed to put their two top administrators, City Manager Frank Faison and County Administrator Ken Hooper, to work on an agreement concerning the $20,000 the city is charging the county for hook up to Sanford's utility system at the county jail.

Kirchhoff requested that the city of Sanford reduce the fees to a "reasonable amount." Hooper said that it was the city's method of formulating utility costs that made the figure so high. If the county were charging for the hookups, he said, it would only cost about $6,000 or $7,000.

Faison said the fee formula is set by ordinance and it would be up to the city commission to change it. He suggested that an alternative might be for the two governments to "trade off" certain fees, such as the county's landfill dumping fees for the city's utility hookups. But he warned such a practice could breed hard feelings in the future if one party does not feel it has gotten a fair shake by such deals.

Faison and Hooper are scheduled to meet Wednesday and hammer out a proposal for the commissioners to consider.

● Hooper asked the Sanford commissioners to consider making an agreement with the county to tie up into its water lines so the two entities could "trade water back and forth" during emergencies. He said the city's and county's water lines run close together at Country Club Road and state Road 427 and suggested that location as a possible link up. He also said the county already has such agreements with the cities of Lake Mary and Casselberry.

Farr said the agreement would have to depend on the reserve capacities of both the city and county water supplies.

Hooper and Faison will discuss the matter further at their Wednesday meeting.

● The county commission agreed to develop a plan to put a sidewalk on the north side of 25th Street from French Avenue west to Ridgewood Road.

Farr, citing the growing number of elderly pedestrians in that area, asked the county commissioners to consider helping to pay for sidewalks down both sides of the road.

But County Engineer Bill Bush said the south side of the road has a ditch and not enough right-of-way to build a standard 5-foot-wide sidewalk. That would mean a sidewalk would be butting up against the curb very close to the highway. And in a 45 mph, that's unsafe, Bush said.

The north side, however, has enough right-of-way to allow for a 4-foot-wide grass strip between the sidewalk and the road, Bush said.

Kirchhoff said the county commission to ask its staff to develop a plan for the project and then it would present the plan to the Sanford commission.

● Seminole Commissioner Sandra Glenn said she is studying how the county's parks and the parks within the county's seven cities can be consolidated to save money. She said since park lands are very expensive, the county and cities should see how they can save money by jointly providing land and services for parks in the future.

As an example, she said city land that is adjacent to county land could be turned into a park with one entity providing staff and the other equipment.

She said the county is not trying to "take over" city parks. "We're trying to find better service at a lesser cost," she said.

She said her findings will be ready in two to three months.

AREA DEATHS

RUTH BUCHANAN

Mrs. Ruth Buchanan, 78, of 102 Silver Cluster Court, Longwood, died Monday at the Longwood Health Care Center. Born June 30, 1906 in Pennsylvania, she moved to Longwood from Indiana, Pa. in 1963. She was a retired licensed practical nurse.

She is survived by a sister, Lois Holms, Sun City, Ariz. Baldwin-Fairchild Funeral Home, Altamonte Springs, is in charge of arrangements.

MARIAN J. CHRISTY

Mrs. Marian J. "Mary" Christy, 40, of 504 George St., Winter Springs, died Sunday at Florida Hospital-Orlando. Born Oct. 20, 1944 in Stanley, N.D., she moved to Winter Springs in 1977 from Columbia, S.C. She was a computer operator for Sun Bank and a Lutheran. She was an Army veteran of the Vietnam War, a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5405, Winter Springs, Vietnam Veterans of Central Florida and past chairman of Boy Scout Troop 198.

Survivors include her husband, Lyle M.; mother, Mrs. Pauline Walker, Palermo, N.D.; two sons, Lyle Jr., Elkhart, Ind., Robert P., Winter Springs; four daughters, Paula L. Christy, Tammy E. Armstrong, Colleen M. Christy, all of Edwardsburg, Mich., and Agatha M. Christy, Winter Springs; four brothers, Melvin J., Walker, Edward J., Walker, Bernard J., Walker, all of Palermo, and Arnold J. ## ...Fire

He said the county's station in Midway could help with calls on the east side of the city and county station 35, already in the city limits at the Five Points area, could answer calls on the south end.

The arrangement would be particularly helpful when the city was out on one of its numerous rescue calls and needed a back-up unit to answer another call elsewhere.

Kaiser said the agreement might lower Sanford's fire insurance rating and thus save money on its premiums. Insurance companies rate fire departments from 1 to 10 with higher rates meaning higher risk and therefore higher premiums.

But Sanford Assistant Chief Ron Neel, also at the meeting, said the city's fire rating is a 5 and with additional firefighters the city has budgeted for next year, the rating could go to 4 and the city's premiums would be reduced anyway. The county's present rating is a 6, Kaiser said.

Citizens in the county and city would also benefit from such an agreement because the response time to the scene of a fire or emergency would be shortened, Kaiser said.

"The response time has been fantastic" in Altamonte Springs, County Commissioner Sandra Glenn said.

Sanford's average response time is about 4 minutes, Neel said. The county's is 3 to 3.5 minutes near the Sanford area.

Kaiser said.

As an added feature to the package, Kaiser said the county would pay for the conversion of Sanford's radio equipment so the two departments could communicate with each other. County Commission Chairman Robert Sturm invited Sanford commissioners to inspect the county's $500,000 "state of the art" radio system the city would be hooking into.

Kaiser said today the benefit to the county would be that Sanford could cover "pocket areas" that are near the city and difficult for the county to reach. However, he did not identify the areas.

He also said the savings to the county would be substantial but he said he couldn't estimate how much at this point.

The Sanford commissioners were cautious, saying they would want to talk with the city's insurance company first before considering the proposal further. Commissioner John Mercer said he "would like to see some dollars and cents" savings before agreeing to the arrangement but he said he was open to the idea if it would benefit the citizens.

Sanford Fire Chief Thomas Hickson would not comment on the proposal today until he could meet with Neel to hear more about the matter.

Basically, You Know, Vocabulary Is Limited

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Basically, this letter is about people who basically overuse a particular word, or groups of words. Basically, the worst offenders are people who say "you know" four and five times in one sentence — basically speaking you know.

You know how overworked these basic words can seem after basically a short period of time. You know, I find such repetitions basically nauseating.

Based on my aversion, you know, I'm considering taking drastic action to basically draw attention to this basic speech fault by taping the offenders' mouths shut, you know.

I'm basically a fan of yours, you know, so would you see if there are many others out there who, you know, have basically the same reaction?

GAIL H., SHOREWOOD, WIS.

DEAR GAIL: You know basically I can understand your irritation because I do know that such sloppy speech habits are formed by people with basically limited vocabularies.

But don't go away, here's a companion piece to your letter from Scottsdale, Ariz.

DEAR ABBY: One of the most annoying habits I find among people, especially teenagers and young adults, is ending every sentence with "OK."

The sentence can be a simple statement, such as, "I went to the store," but there's that superfluous "OK?" tacked onto it as if it were a question.

The "OK" habit is a sign of insecurity, and is used by people who need constant approval for everything they say.

It makes one wonder how people can go through school with such an irritating habit without having it corrected by teachers or associates.

TIRED OF "OK" IN ARIZONA

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about an old high school classmate who has been after me to resume our friendship after 18 years? We no longer have anything in common, and to make matters worse, she has just given birth to her first baby! (My children are in their teens.)

She is eager for me to see her baby, and I dread it. I certainly don't intend to buy a baby gift for someone that I have no intention of seeing again.

I can't stall her any longer. What should I tell her that won't crush her?

TOO OLD FOR BABY TALK

DEAR TOO OLD: You certainly can't tell her the brutal truth — that you have nothing in common and don't care to see her baby. You're exerting far more energy ducking her and feeling guilty than it would take to buy her a little gift and see her baby. Sometimes the easiest way "around" something is right through it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 years old and planning my wedding. I picked out a beautiful satin and lace wedding gown, but here's the problem. My mother wants me to wear the wedding gown she wore when she got married.

I hate to hurt her feelings, Abby, but I tried it on, and I don't care for it at all. Maybe it just doesn't look good on me, but I really hate to think of wearing it on my wedding day. It looked good on my mother in her day, but there is no way I could feel beautiful in that wedding gown.

Please, please help me get out of wearing it. Abby, or should I wear it and keep my mouth shut? My fiancé saw the gown I want to buy (we picked it out together), and he says I should ask you. I would be paying for it with my own money.

SEPTEMBER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Be honest with your mother. It's your day, and I know she wants you to feel beautiful. Tell her that you have found the wedding dress of your dreams, and go for it!

Christo's Classics Offers It All: Deli To Fine Dining

Christo's Classics at 110 W. First Street in downtown Sanford is the latest eating establishment to be opened by the Cranius family. A unique place to dine, it is not only a fine restaurant for breakfast, lunch or dinner, but also has a bakery, deli and ice cream specialty shop.

A convenient luncheon spot for the noontime soup, salad and sandwich crowd, but from 4:30 p.m. the mood completely changed. Christo's has fresh cut steaks to order, prime rib, and fresh seafood on the menu for dinner and with dining by candlelight and piano bar entertainment Tuesday through Saturday nights.

The family also operates Christo's Family Restaurant in Driftwood Village on Lake Mary Boulevard, and Theodore's Restaurant on East Colonial Drive in Orlando.

Soups are made fresh daily and their house specialties are chicken noodle and French onion with melted cheese.

On Sunday Christo's Classics closes at 3 p.m. and on Monday at 5 p.m. On weekends breakfasts are served from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The whole family is involved in the restaurant business started in Michigan by the father, Chris Cranius and his wife, Amanda.

Sons John and Chris are co-managers of the Sanford restaurant while Terry, Calli, Van and Ted are working with the other family restaurants.

Some of the classic sandwiches on the menu reflect the classic auto theme of the restaurant with names such as Running Board, Fender Bender, Jump Seat, Triple Decker Bus, Model T, Spark Plug and Three-on-the-Floor. You'll also find traditional Greek favorites such the gyro (pronounced "yee-ro"), Greek salad, baklava and thepies.

Let Christo's Classics cater your next party or reception. They can cater on premises or take it to you and have outside banquet facilities for up to 500 persons.

You can order food to go or Christo's now offers free delivery in a three mile radius for orders of $10 or more as a convenience to local businesses and their employees. Call 322-3443.

A very popular feature of Christo's is the buy one ice cream cone to go and get one free offer. "I do it to promote the renovated business district," said John, "so that people will walk down First Street and look around while they are eating their ice cream cone."

"I really like Sanford," John said. "It is an up and coming town and I expect it to develop into a downtown area like Winter Park's Park Avenue some day."

Official Says Rail Accidents Down, Deaths Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal railroad administrator John Riley said Monday there had been a "truly remarkable" improvement in railway safety over the past five years even though fatalities increased in 1984.

Testifying at Senate hearings, Riley said train accidents decreased about 1 percent to 3,739 from 3,776 in 1983.

"Unfortunately, despite the improvement in overall accidents and employee fatalities, total rail-related fatalities appear to have increased 16.3 percent from 1,073 in 1983 to 1,248 in 1984 — an increase of 175," he said.

Most fatalities, he said, were due to grade crossing accidents.

Riley also defended an administration plan to end federal grants to states with their own railroad inspectors, even though spokesmen for the states warned rail safety could be weakened.

"Although preliminary numbers for 1984 indicate a leveling off, the improvement in the railroad industry safety record over the past five years has been truly remarkable," Riley told a Senate Commerce subcommittee headed by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore.

Riley credited the claimed increase in safety to deregulation, saying this had freed resources for improved track and equipment maintenance.

In defending the proposal to end federal subsidies for state safety inspectors, Riley said the shift would cost the states an average of only $109,000 a year.

"Not a very great burden," he said. But George Hardy, an Oregon railroad safety official testifying for the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners, said he was "baffled" by the administration's effort to seek the "demise" of the grant program.

Hardy said 32 states with 111 inspectors take part in the program and cited a survey indicating a loss of 12 states and 36 inspectors if funds are cut.

William Druban, appearing for the National Conference on State Railway Officials, said the program was "quite a bargain" for the Federal Railroad Administration in helping it meet its safety responsibilities.

To end the grant program, he said, would be "a calculated risk."
