Two Teams Meet At Harris Field In Gainesville Tonight In Fourth Tilt Of Crucial Playoff

VENETIAN PARK, Leesburg, Sept. 12.—The fighting Gainesville G-Men under the guiding hand of Manager Don McShane bunched only four hits off the veteran Jake Bunch yesterday afternoon but came through with a 4 to 1 win over the 1938 champions, the Leesburg Condors.

The G-Men, former University of Florida backfield also shared in the pitching pot fight by scattering six good hits.

The victory gave the Gainesville crew a 2 to 1 lead in the four-out-of-seven game series for the right to meet the winners of the Georgia Florida League champions for the Southeastern Class "D" title.

Team	W	L	Draw	Runs	Hits	Errors
Gainesville	4	1	0	28	38	1
Leesburg	1	4	0	12	22	3

The G-Men scored first in the third when sparking Bucky Rodgers singled through second and advanced to second and third by safes hits by Willie and Rogues. Willie McMullen flied out to deep center to score Rodgers and Willie scored on Steve Risk's error in handling Jack deVenezzi's hot grounder.

In the seventh, the G-men counted their lone tally when Duddy Grant lifted a Texas leaguer over short and galloped to second on Jake Bunch's single over third. Mel Arnold singled to deep center field to send Grant across the plate.

The McShane boys put the game on ice in the ninth when Jack deVenezzi worked Bunch for a walk and scored when Bucky Brey tripled to deep center field.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Coach Leonard L. McLauch was quite worried about his charges before the initial practice session last Tuesday afternoon. . . . In fact the first statement he issued was that he was afraid to leave the athletic gym and take a look at the men on the field. . . . However, things are getting lighter every day and a good season is expected by everyone. . . . The 1938 machine should win more than four games compared to last year's edition. . . . Charlie Bradshaw, proxy of the Sanford Lookouts, stated the other night that he had offers of $3,500 for Sidney Hudson, flashy Lookout right-hander. "Bud," and Mr. Bradshaw, "before I take less than $5,000 for him I'll make him an orange foreman". . . . Congratulations go to Coach McLauch for inaugurating the "B" Squad system this season. . . . With those 100 pound freshmen, there should be some good material when they enroll as Juniors and Seniors several years yet to come. . . . Noticed "Little Joe Ruggiero, of the Orlando Senators, galloping around the city the past several days. . . . Tennis is still a popular sport in Sanford and the courts are still getting a lot of wear and tear. . . . Little Al McMullen wants to think the fans for the last night donation offered him on September 2. . . . Fred Ganas, center recruit shifted to the backfield, might return to the line before the opening tilt. . . . By the way, the Feds lost a lot of talent last year but you must consider that the other schools had the same thing. . . . What has Fustus got without the Peterson gang. . . . Harold Madden, 175 pound freshman, will be the real thing in that Fed line in a couple of years. . . . Robert Stumland gets the nod for being the toughest man on the squad. . . . However, he's got plenty of opposition in Tiger Howell. . . . Red Williams looks better every day in that Fed backfield. . . . We understand that double-wingback formations will dominate Fed plays this season. . . . That was a fine thing last

Czechs Take Stern Measures To Curb Border Outbreaks

Several Die In Riots As Martial Law Is Imposed In Eight Sudeten Districts

Peace Disturbers Get Death Penalty

France Accelerates Preparations, Bans Certain Exports

The Associated Press. Czechoslovakia today took drastic measures to curb disorders which intensified Europe's war fears. Martial law was imposed in eight Sudeten German districts where Nazis hailed Adolf Hitler's Nurnberg speech. Tanks were sent in'o Eger, less than ten miles from the German border.

In Berlin a Nazi spokesman termed the action "outright provocation" and newspapers condemned the move.

In the face of the Chancellor's warning that he would not "look idly on the continuance of the oppression of German nationals in Czechoslovakia," three men were reported to be Sudeten Germans, who were killed in rioting last night.

The disorders brought stern measures from the Czech government. The death penalty was ordered for disturbers of peace.

France, pledged to defend Czechoslovakia against invasion, accelerated her border preparations and placed a ban on the exportation of iron, cotton and many other products valuable for national defense.

The British cabinet was summoned to meet at 11:00 A. M. tomorrow in the second emergency session of the week after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain met key ministers had pondered the text of Hitler's speech.

After the British cabinet was summoned, Chamberlain suddenly called Britains four defense ministers into a conference this afternoon. It was considered virtually certain they had been called to confer on extraordinary military measures.

German Nazis, looking beyond Hitler's speech, say only one inevitable end, German absorption of the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia.

The Czech crisis overshadowed all questions before the League of Nations assembly at Geneva. Wars in China and Spain continued with bitter fighting but few changes.

Hitler's speech yesterday failed to start armies marching only because Hitler, probably purposely was ambiguous when he referred to his own—and Germany's—intentions toward Czechoslovakia.

The hope of peace seemed to (Continued on Page Three)

While on the National Guard, Mr. Hyatt was also a member of the local National Guard Headquarters Company.

Tydings Leads New Dealer In Maryland Vote

Democrats Lose Fight To Unseat Republican Officials In Election In Maine

Dr. Black's Tests Reveal Supply Is Well Within Safety Zone

The Associated Press. Democrats lost their fight to unseat four Republican officials in Maine and the Roosevelt Administration apparently was being beaten in an attempt to defeat Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland.

In the year's first election, Maine voters gave clearest support to Gov. Lewis O. Brown and Representatives James C. Oliver, Clyde H. Smith and Ralph O. Brewster. They had done the same thing in 1936, when the state was one of two which President Roosevelt lost.

Senator Tydings, whom Mr. Roosevelt had denounced as a "betrayed" of the New Deal, was running ahead of Rep. David I. Lewis in most of the state.

Late returns gave Tydings 109,308 and Lewis 78,116, more than half of the state's precincts.

In Maine, returns from 679 of 829 precincts gave Brown, 150,511 to 139,518 for former Louis J. Brann, Democratic nominee.

Interest was centered today on the Georgia Democratic Senatorial primary in which Senator Walter George, criticized by the President, is opposed in tomorrow's balloting by Lawrence Camp, endorsed by Mr. Roosevelt, and Eugene Talbot, former governor.

William G. McRae, Townsdenite candidate, withdrew from the race last night and threw his support to the New Deal candidate.

Voters in Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont and Washington picked senatorial candidates today but none had New Deal as an issue.

French Avenue Is Opened To Traffic Today

Contract Awarded For Re-Roofing Reservoir By Commission

After being closed for nearly five months, French Avenue was opened to traffic this afternoon, about 1:00 o'clock, City Engineer Fred T. Williams reported today.

The project was idle for some time awaiting arrival of necessary lumber for the base but since the arrival of the materials last week, local WPA officials have rushed the work to completion.

Traffic will be allowed over the road for about two weeks, Mr. Williams explained to the City Commission at their meeting last night, in order to give the base proper time to cure before the hard surface of slag or rock and asphalt is laid.

Having to purchase five cars of materials for use on the street over what was set out in the project, the work has cost the City considerably more than the amount in the application to the WPA for funds.

Scaled bids for the re-roofing of the reservoir at the Municipal pumping station were opened and the commissioners decided to award the contract to S. H. English whose bid of $1,575 for the work was low. The contract also provides for some minor repairs to the pumping station.

The Commissioners passed a resolution approving changes in the County Club Road project which the City is co-sponsoring with the County Commission.

Mayor Higgins announced that the Commission would begin its work on the budget at an adjourned meeting on Friday night.

Mather Completes Remodeling Of Arcade Building

The Mather Furniture Company announces the completion of its extensive new store in the remodeled Arcade building on East First Street, marking another milestone in Sanford's building program. The Arcade, purchased by Mr. Mather, was built during the boom at a cost of $150,000.

It is substantial and in fine state of preservation. Sixteen men were employed for a period of thirty days to complete the remodeling.

Expansive, airy and well lighted, the large Arcade has been turned into one huge display room with the elimination of all maze rooms and partitions in the building. Upon entering the store one looks down an avenue of furniture extending from the First Street entrance to Commercial Avenue. The floor area is large enough that whole sales may be displayed together.

The interior of the building is finished in ivory and cream, and the store front is ivory with a black tile base. Venetian blinds covering the large windows facing the harbor lend a modern touch to the structure.

Growers State Opposition To Rate Increase

Railroad Commission Told Group Cannot Stand Hike Under Present Conditions

Offering that the present financial condition of the railroads could not stand any increase in freight rates, growers from various sections took the stand in opposition to the proposed increase in freight rates on fertilizer materials at the hearing of the Florida Railroad Commission at the Mayfair Hotel today, according to J. H. Ferris, secretary of the Board.

The meeting presided over by Jerry W. Carter, railroad commissioner, the growers said that their reason why they should not be granted the proposed increase on fertilizer materials is that fertilizer is down 4 to 5 cents a ton in charge of the rate development at Miami, presented a fact that the proposed increase would mean an increase on a carload shipment from Jacksonville to Miami, a distance of 274 miles, the increase in freight charges would be $192.

The present charge, he pointed out is $7.47 per car of 22,000 pounds and under the scale for fertilizer which the carriers desire to apply to the materials, the shipping charges would be $127.20.

Mr. Ferris also pointed out the values per ton of fertilizer in Florida and in Alabama. Commodity prices in Florida retail at an average of $25.20 cents per ton while in Alabama the cost is only $10.83 cents per ton. An average for 10 southern states is $21.00.

Submission Of Power Plant Project Gets Okey Of Commission

Municipal Plant And Transmission System To Cost Approximately $390,000

Voters To Decide On Proposed Plan

Notes Against Earnings To Be Given As Loan Collateral

The City Commission unanimously passed a resolution authorizing presentation of a project to the Public Works Administration for construction of a municipal electric power plant and transmission system in Sanford estimated by Mayor Edward Higgins to cost $390,000.

The action of the Commission followed an extensive survey by the Burns and McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City, Mo. which the Commission employed as consulting engineers. The project will be assembled as soon as an analysis of the survey is completed.

If the project is approved by the federal agency and by the residents of Sanford in a referendum, an outright grant of 40 percent, or $153,000 will be made by the federal government. The City's share would be $237,000 loaned by the government on revenue certificates issued against the earnings of the plant. The loan would be amortized over a period of 20 years and would bear an interest rate of 4 percent.

Mayor Higgins stated today that the survey reveals the City with its own plant would be able to effect a substantial reduction in the present power rates. In the present situation as well as set up the necessary fund for repayment of the government loan and maintain a substantial cash reserve. This is based on the City's acquisition of 60 percent of the available business, the Mayor said.

The engineering firm, at a special meeting of the Commission on Aug. 20 was authorized to begin the survey which is now being completed. The firm agreed to conduct all necessary surveys and assemble all engineering data required for preparation of a PWA power project. The cost of the survey will not exceed $10,000, according to City officials.

Mayor Higgins also said a detailed report on the survey probably would be completed by the latter part of this week and that additional information necessary to avoid confusion in the application of the federal act.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that we could not have dual sets of standards of living."

The federal law applies to interstate but not purely intrastate industry.

Plans To Advertise Citrus Are Okeyed By Citrus Group

Committee Named To Plan Minimum Wage For Textiles

LAKELAND, Sept. 13. —An unopposed check was placed yesterday on the plans of Arthur Kuebler, Inc. to spend over $250,000 of growers' money in advertising Florida citrus this season. Details will be worked out later.

The Florida Citrus Commission, with five of the original shareholders "Honest Men" retaining their places in the committee of war despite the fact that their terms expired last Saturday night, approved the Kuebler plan which was presented by Mr. Kuebler himself.

There was no word of changes on the commission. Even William DulFrey, lawyer for the commission and as chief of Governor Fred Phillips' citrus advisory committee in the State, couldn't say when the new commitments would be made.

In fact, the story around Lakeland yesterday had it that Mr. DulFrey went to Tallahassee last Friday with a slate of new members for the Governor to approve, but Dr. Dan Cone, the Governor's cousin and physician, wouldn't allow DulFrey to do more than say hello to the sick man in the mansion.

But the commission went right ahead with its work. Early in the afternoon of yesterday it served notice on growers who assented oranges and tangerines that the law against such practices would be strictly enforced.

Yesterday it voted thru a resolution requesting Mayo to remember the action taken last Spring, again offering full cooperation and asking that Mr. Mayo inform the commission's attorneys of the details of his present time investigation of arsenic spraying of oranges and tangerines. The commission also asked Mr. Mayo to tell it how he intended to enforce the anti-arsenic statute.

There were few details of the advertising budget revealed but L. W. Marvin, advertising manager for the commission, did reveal that the agency recommended the expenditure of $25,000 for medical research during the coming year. Last year it spent about $3,000 on this work although $25,000 had been appropriated.

Members of the Men's Bible Class of the Riverside Baptist Church acted as pallbearers.

Committee Named To Plan Minimum Wage For Textiles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. —(AP)—Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the federal wage-hour law, today named a committee of 21 members, the first under the Wage Hour Act to recommend minimum wages for the nation's 1,300,000 textile workers.

The committee, headed by Donald Nelson of Chicago, vice president of Sears Roebuck and Company, consists of seven representatives each of the public, textile employers and textile workers.

A number of federal and state labor officials, who held an informal conference on wage-hour problems yesterday, were reported in agreement last night on the need for state legislation to supplement the federal wage-hour law.

Vernon A. Zimmer, chief of the labor department's division of labor standards, said that state wage-hour laws were considered necessary to avoid confusion in the application of the federal act.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that we could not have dual sets of standards of living."

The federal law applies to interstate but not purely intrastate industry.

James H. Hines Wins Mistrial On Lottery

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. —(AP)—James J. Hines, white-haired Tammany chieftain, won a mistrial yesterday on an error by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who had charged him with protecting the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket operated by the late Dutch Schultz.

Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand C. Pecora declared the mistrial as the trim young prosecutor was at the peak of his racket-smashing career, with prospects of winning the Republican gubernatorial nomination. There even was talk that he might be the Republican party's presidential nominee for 1940.

Committee Named To Plan Minimum Wage For Textiles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. —(AP)—Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the federal wage-hour law, today named a committee of 21 members, the first under the Wage Hour Act to recommend minimum wages for the nation's 1,300,000 textile workers.

The committee, headed by Donald Nelson of Chicago, vice president of Sears Roebuck and Company, consists of seven representatives each of the public, textile employers and textile workers.

A number of federal and state labor officials, who held an informal conference on wage-hour problems yesterday, were reported in agreement last night on the need for state legislation to supplement the federal wage-hour law.

Vernon A. Zimmer, chief of the labor department's division of labor standards, said that state wage-hour laws were considered necessary to avoid confusion in the application of the federal act.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that we could not have dual sets of standards of living."

The federal law applies to interstate but not purely intrastate industry.

Building Means Growth

The construction of a new hospital here is but the necessary passing of another milestone in the march of progress and prosperity. If it is assumed that Seminole County will grow and develop, it must be assumed that a new hospital will have to be built. A growing community could no more tolerate a hospital designed for a quarter of a century ago than it could be satisfied with the sand roads and horse troughs which once predominated throughout this area.

Sanford and Seminole County are offering every conceivable inducement to new residents to come here and make their homes. We have awakened at last to the importance of the tourist industry. We have seen other Florida cities double and triple in population on the basis of tourist appeal alone and we have come to realize that only through winter visitors, many of whom soon become permanent residents, can we hope to bring about the growth and prosperity which everyone so earnestly desires.

Foremost among the considerations which induce people to locate in any community are its hospital facilities.
A winter visitor naturally wants to know something about the schools. He is tremendously interested in the churches, particularly the church of his own denomination. It tends to what sort of recreational facilities and places of amusement are available. But perhaps more than anything else, he wants to know where and in what manner he will be taken care of in the event he becomes sick.

Particularly as this time of Florida's winter visitors we venture to say that ninety percent of the people who come to Florida during the winter months are not here because of their health, or to be with some member of their family who is here for his health. A remarkably high percentage of them are elderly people who inevitably are concerned about their health and who want to be sure that if they are taken with a sudden illness, they will be conveniently and where they can have every advantage of modern treatment and care.

We want to be able to say to these winter visitors that Seminole County has a hospital on a par with any in the state. We do not want the largest hospital, nor the most expensive. But we want one in which the individual patient can be made as comfortable, can be surrounded with as pleasant and cheerful an environment, and through facilities for modern scientific treatment and care can be assured of the same opportunities for speedy recovery as he would have in any other hospital in the state.

A beautiful up-to-date hospital is a community asset of immeasurable proportions. It is something of which every one of us would be as proud as we are of our high school building, our City Hall, our churches, or our finest homes and office buildings. Civic pride alone should prove sufficient to induce us to support the hospital. But if another reason is needed, let it be that only as we build will we grow. And only as we grow can we hope to eliminate poverty and unemployment and bring back happy prosperous business conditions.

Is Hitler Crazy?

While the diplomats of Europe continue to study interpretations of Adolf Hitler's Nuremberg speech in the hope of finding there the key to Europe's future, they know full well that the real key was in his voice as he sought to arouse his followers into a warlike fervor and as he fanned the flames of hatred which already existed among the Sudeten Germans who sat by their radios just across the border in Czechoslovakia.

All the subtiles, all the devices, all the tricks of rabble-rousing oratory were used by the Nazi dictator as he boasted of his achievement's since coming into power, as he tried to soothe the troubled nerves of German housewives with assurances of impregnable fortifications, military prowess, and German invincibility before the world, and as he defied the democracies, which he linked together with communism, to prevent him from coming to the aid of the Sudetens.

Hitler talked like a crazy man. He bellowed and ranted and raved. He fairly screamed his hatred of Czech offensiveness and Czechoslovakia, of Russia and the communists. His voice reached a fever pitch of excitement as he spoke of President Benes' "lie", of "infamous swindles", of "terrorist blackmailing", and of the "oppression, humiliation, and torture" to which the Sudetens were being subjected.

Hitler reiterated again and again that his country wants peace with the rest of the world and enumerated at great lengths the sacrifices which the Germans have made in order to assure its peaceful relationships with all its neighbors, but at the same time he warned the whole world that Germany would march if disturbances broke out in the Sudeten area and he inflamed the Sudetens with his hymns of hate to make sure such disturbances are created.

The only hope he held out for peace was the complete submission on the part of the Czechs to German demands, and the German demands were broadened in his speech from local autonomy to complete annexation to the German reich. If the Czechs are willing to abandon the Sudeten area to Germany immediately, and submit eventually to the complete dismemberment of their country, Hitler will be satisfied.

Short of this, there is not the slightest doubt but that Hitler will find some excuse for sending his troops into Czechoslovakia just as he did into Austria with the possible exception that they will be met with a much warmer reception.

"God Bless You, Walter"
FLORENCE (ALABAMA) HERALD

"God bless you, Walter. Let's always be friends."

Thus spoke President Roosevelt to Senator Walter F.
George of Georgia a few days ago at Marietta, Ga., just after making an address in which the President had demanded political death for the great Southern senator and Democrat.
If the President had been entirely right, he would have elaborated a little on his plea for Senator George's continued friendship. In the interest of truth and justice he might have said:

"Walter George, you have been an able, loyal and conscientious representative of your state and of the South. You also have served the interests of the people of this whole country."

Benefits Of PWA To Nation Are Cited By Ickes

5,000 Projects Already Given Okey By Administration

By HAROLD L. ICKES
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—

The 1938 WPA program is rolling along at unprecedented speed. The WPA is allotting an average of about $25,000,000 daily for building worthwhile public improvements, which means extensive stimulation for business and industry. The fact, we have approved something more than 5,000 projects with a total construction value of $1,250,000,000. Although the 1938 program is only two months old, we have been impressed with the widespread popularity of what PWA has to offer the country as evidenced by the concerted rush to obtain PWA projects. I authorized taking applications for new projects last in May and the first were received about June 1. The PWA Act was signed by President Roosevelt June 21 and applications then began to flow at a constantly accelerated speed.

Industry in general has realized that this type of program actual-ly does "prime the pump," although that term has been subjected to a notorious amount of abuse and free interpretation. The "priming" that comes to American industry from the WPA program, however, comes in measurable amounts of specific orders for materials and supplies orders that careful computation by a disinterested agency has shown have kept the wheels of many of our corporations turning during lean days.

A concrete followed by PWA is reviewed, two important facts stand out. One is that, almost paradoxically, while the nation was in the throes of a great depression, it made its greatest progress in improving its real estate plant and increasing its real wealth in the form of new schools, new municipal buildings, new bridges, streets, libraries, hospitals, sidewalks, tunnels, harbors and terminal facilities and the like. As a method of battling the depression and diverting its destructive forces, we launched what probably has been the greatest single program of public improvement in our history. The result is that because of a depression our educational facilities have been amplified many times, the national system of highways has been extended and improved, disease-ridden slums have been torn out and good housing put in their place, and in general our physical municipal plant have been refurbished and rebuilt. All this certainly meant the conversion of an ill wind into one form of general good. The second fact of importance is that we have learned to gauge and direct the multiple economic forces which come into play in a public works program, so that in the future we can guide a public works program in the direction in which it will do the most good.

The bureau of labor statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor undertook with the co-operation of the PWA to measure these quantities in exact proportion. As a result, that agency was able to determine that for every hour of employment created at the site of PWA construction, two and a half times as much work was generated in regular industrial employment—furnishing, creating, transporting and distributing supplies and materials. It determined how much employment was created, directly and indirectly, in the construction of a public building or a reclamation project, or a water or sewage project. It found out what types of project would "take up the slack" in the lumber industry and lumber areas, in the machinery business, the stone, clay and glass industry, or the chemical business.

Never again will we have to strike out at as we did once, blindly but hopefully as we have.

TOMATO JUICE

The Perfect Complement To Any Meal

By Dorothy Greig

A FRIEND of mine once told me that he had a day as the "tomato juice" man. She was not so far off at all. Only children, but all of us love it. To our great benefit. Tomato juice, for instance, is a source of Vitamin C. One glass a day supplies our needs along the line. It is a good idea always to have several cans of tomato juice chilling in the refrigerator.

But I surmise the real reason most of us drink tomato juice is for breakfast, just as it comes to the can. It is a fast and stimulating beginning to the day.

For noontime and evening I like to dress it up a bit. Maybe I like to leaven it with lemon juice or lemon juice to a cup. Tomato juice, or perhaps 2 tablespoons of cold condensed milk, is a cup of the juice.

Two of my very most favorite ways are these:

Tomato Juice with Cream
1 can of tomato juice
1/2 cup of cream
1/2 cup of sugar
1/2 cup of lemon juice
1/2 cup of milk
1/2 cup of vanilla
1/2 cup of nutmeg
1/2 cup of cinnamon
1/2 cup of cloves
1/2 cup of allspice
1/2 cup of ginger
1/2 cup of cardamom
1/2 cup of anise
1/2 cup of fennel
1/2 cup of licorice
1/2 cup of mace
1/2 cup of nutmeg
1/2 cup of pepper
1/2 cup of saffron
1/2 cup of turmeric
1/2 cup of vanilla
1/2 cup of almond
1/2 cup of apricot
1/2 cup of cherry
1/2 cup of coconut
1/2 cup of currant
1/2 cup of date
1/2 cup of fig
1/2 cup of grape
1/2 cup of guava
1/2 cup of huckleberry
1/2 cup of kiwifruit
1/2 cup of loquat
1/2 cup of lychee
1/2 cup of mango
1/2 cup of nectarine
1/2 cup of orange
1/2 cup of peach
1/2 cup of plum
1/2 cup of raspberry
1/2 cup of rhubarb
1/2 cup of strawberry
1/2 cup of tangerine
1/2 cup of watermelon
1/2 cup of yam

Tomato juice is a great picker up when energies lag in mid-morning or mid-afternoon.

BY CHARLES MICHELSON
Democratic National Committee

"Cotton Ed" Smith's success in the South Carolina primaries is hailed by the Republicans as demonstrating the sunset of President Roosevelt's influence with his party, and a vast encouragement of the G. O. P. followers in and out of corn fields. Just why the return to the Senate of a Democratic Senator in a state in which a Republican is a biological curiosity should be a happy augury for the minority party I leave it to Dr. Glenn Frank to explain.

Actually the result of the primary merely showed that the South Carolinian preferred the steady performance of their picturesque old reactionary to the arguments of Governor Johnston. There were, of course, such complicating elements as the feud between Edgley Brown, who had many followers, and the Governor. Brown's withdrawal from the race undoubtedly brought Senator Smith a lot more votes than he would have received otherwise. That a majority of the voters of the state did not concur in the President's desires was as significant in the total of national affairs, as if he had pronounced against corn-bread for breakfast, and the people continued on their usual diet. He never attempted to dictate how they should vote but merely expressed his own preference, and gave his reasons for not wishing so pronounced a foe of his policies to be in the National Legislature. Unquestionably Governor Johnston received more votes than if the President had remained aloof even though they were not enough to break the habit of voting for Cotton Ed.

In these contests the advantage lies always with the incumbent. This was demonstrated on the liberal side by the return of Senator Pepper of Florida and Alben Barkley from Kentucky, despite the circumstances that these two had formidable opposition by popular candidates. It was shown on the other side by the renomination of Senator Gillette of Iowa, whom the anti-administration people claimed as one of their own though Gillette as well as his competitor both insisted that they were real New Dealers. The defeat of Senator Pope in Idaho was a different story, for under the peculiar laws of that state Republicans could come in on a Democratic primary—which they did, and naturally voted enthusiastically for the anti-administration Senator.

The mischance that beset Senator McAdoo in California was likewise a different story. There was no question in the McAdoo-Downey primary of New Deal and anti-New Deal. The incumbent Senator was caught in one of those pension tidal waves so prevalent out there. His adversary invoked a modification of the Townsend plan with sales tax stamp trimmings. Under its provisions everybody over fifty who is neither an employer nor is employed is to get a permanent income of thirty dollars a week. According to the California Chamber of Commerce there are 811,000 in the state eligible for such a pension. In vain was adduced the argument that the project, if adopted, would bankrupt the state. The lure of thirty dollars a week overcame even the influence of the Roosevelt backing for the Senator.

By and large, the complexion of the next Congress does not appear as likely to be materially changed by the primary results so far or those in prospect. Presumably the anti-New Deal Senators who will be re-elected will continue to operate as they did during the last session. The majority friendly to the administration will go on as usual. There will be a new face here and there, but in no case so far has a liberal Democratic Senator given place in the primaries to a declared conservative. Indeed in nearly every instance the contender in the nomination fight has protested against being classed as a foe of the New Deal.

In the House of Representatives the situation will not be conspicuously different. About ninety-nine percent of the old Democratic members who sought renomination have been successful. Among the Republican members who have declined to accept the chances of the coming election Pettengill of Indiana and Snell of New York, the minority leader, are conspicuous. The case of Snell is of special significance as indicating the actual view of the G. O. P. as to the future prospects of that party. He has during his whole political life cherished the ambition to become Speaker in a Republican House of Representatives. That he has abandoned that goal at this stage of events tells the story of his idea of what the immediate future—which means not only 1938, but 1940—holds in store for his party.

Ordinarily at the season of a campaign the spokesmen of the two big parties are enouncing their claims, and presenting their recital of events that give validity to their claims. I have looked in vain amid the huge junk heap of Republican propaganda, statements by leaders and that sort of thing, for any expression of delight at the auguries of the election. They present cheers at the substitution of one Democrat for another in the majority party primaries, as if those primaries represented Republican victories. That, in itself, is an entertaining feature in an otherwise featureless campaign.

They cannot vaunt the registration figures, for those everywhere show great gains for Democrats and usually recessions for the other fellow.

In short they have adopted the defeatist attitude. They are not striving to elect their own people generally, but are content to play the part usually taken by extra-party groups of striving to be a balance of power in the affairs of the dominant party. The participation of Republicans in Democratic primaries, whenever it was possible for them to jimmy their way in, illustrates the process.

TAKES CORN TOLL

LITTLE BUSINESS MEETING

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Representatives of "little business" in Indiana are to meet here Wednesday to organize against levying of future license fees and "burdensome taxes" on small establishments. James Slane, former secretary of the Republican State Committee, said yesterday.

There are now 14,000,000 horses and mules in harness on American farms in addition to about 4,500 race horses, 7,500 trotting horses and 500,000 riding horses.

Celery Fed Linesmen Hold Unscheduled Scrimmage Session

Darrell Ferguson Continues To Shine In Fed Backfield

Warren Odham Reports For His First Drill This Season But Waits, Veteran End, Is Still Out

A hard scrimmage held by the linesmen of the Sanford High School Celery Fed, featured an unscheduled added attraction at the high school yesterday afternoon as the Fed opened their second week of practice sessions under Coach Leonard Melanus. Russ M. Cracken and Woody River.

Under Coach River and M. Cracken, new blocking assignments were taught to the line candidates and it apparently was so interesting that blocking drills were started and it ended up in a regular scrimmage session. Extra linemen acted as the offensive backfield.

Head Coach Melanus, however, did not allow his backs to enter the affair and instead taught them new formations and drilled them on passing, blocking and kicking. Darrell Ferguson as usual sparkled in the backfield work along with Pete Echols, Bock Ferguson and Red Williams.

Warren Odham reported to the Fed mentors yesterday and was ready for work. He entered the scrimmage session and did a bit of fine blocking and tackle work. Odham hits the scales at 220 and is working for a tackle berth.

Son "Killer" Warts failed to report for the session along with Odham but it is expected that Warts will enter training this afternoon at the daily practice. The Fed line proved its worth during the scrimmage and such as the first game is only two weeks away.

Rev. Bram Believes Night Baseball Will Enter Major Leagues

Rev. Martin Bram yesterday announced that he believed that night baseball would be played in all major league parks. Rev. Bram has just returned from a trip north where he visited Washington and watched the Boston Red Sox play Washington at Griffith Stadium.

Rev. Bram explained that in later days 21,000 Washington fans saw the 6th while on the following Tuesday only 100 paid patrons were present. He explained that the people could not leave their business enterprises to see the games during the day.

G-Men Crush Gons By Score Of 4 To 0 For Third Victory

Joe Sparkman Allows Condachers Only 7 Scattered Bingles; Rogino Hits Homer

BASEBALL. The G-Men of the Sanford High School Celery Fed, defeated the Gons by a score of 4 to 0 in a game played yesterday afternoon at the high school. The G-Men were led by Joe Sparkman, who allowed only seven scattered bingles to the Gons. Rogino hit a home run in the fourth inning.

The G-Men's pitching was excellent throughout the game. Sparkman pitched a complete game, allowing only seven hits and no runs. The Gons' offense was limited to a single home run by Rogino in the fourth inning.

The game was a defensive effort for the G-Men, who were looking to improve their record. The Gons, on the other hand, were looking to break through the G-Men's pitching.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

The attraction of the football season held yesterday was an unscheduled scrimmage held by the linesmen. After the affair was over the hokies announced that they next wanted some of that backfield "meat". The Sanford Lookouts have a real reason for their diamond next season. Charlie Read-law, if he continues to operate the club house next season will bring back such hokies as Big Jim Foyler, Suhey Hinds, Joe Pinder, and possibly Cleo Jeter.

Mayo Langston, who by the way, is still in Sanford, will roam the rightfield gardens next season and will be a class man.

Coach Melanus addressed Darrell Ferguson in one of the new uniforms yesterday afternoon and if you fans wish to see something that's real pretty, drop around to see the boys in action on the evening of Oct. 10.

George McClelland is being doped as the star back in the Florida "Little Four" this coming season. The tour is made up of Rollins, Tam-

Florida Stadium Ready For First Night Grid Clash

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 12. A lot of the new planning of the new stadium at Florida State University is complete. The night football game is one of the fact that the University of Florida will be the first to play night football in the state.

Coach Bill Ferraro at St. Augustine is slated to produce a swell eleven this season. He did all right last year. Warren Odham did well in his first practice session yesterday. "Killer" Warts didn't even show up. The reason, we don't know.

Those Gainesville G-Men are tearing right along and this series with the Gons is getting better every day. Tiger Howell put in his "two cents worth" yesterday as the line held their scrimmage and did some new blocking as well as tackling.

Charlie Leavitt got his pants "trade marked" when somebody dug out several corners of his new "Red Walter" of Florida was held as one of the outstanding sophomore players in America in a guide released several days ago.

Maintain Peace Is Business Of American Nations

Countries Keep Peace Through Arbitration Of Troubles

By DR. I. S. ROWE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Western Hemisphere, the business of every government in North and South America.

That principle was embodied in a few words spoken by the United States and France at the Paris Peace Conference, and it has since been the guiding principle of the League of Nations.

A glance at the recent history of the world explains the importance of this principle. The American front in the war, the clash of nations, the world of progress.

A little more than a century ago, in 1825, Simon Bolivar, the Great Liberator, called a conference of nations which resulted in Panama. Although the delegates arrived before the meeting adjourned, several Latin American representatives spent the time in time for a friendly discussion.

In 1890 the First Pan American Conference met in Washington, D. C. It was so far as to establish a commercial bureau to foster trade relations between the American republics.

Since that meeting half a century ago seven Pan American conferences have dealt with an increasing variety of subjects like commerce and finance, communications and transportation, intellectual and cultural relations, public health and social welfare, arbitration, consultation, and codification of international law to name a few.

Most important was the Buenos Aires gathering in December, 1936, to consider ways of strengthening the peace machinery. Out of it grew the promise of joint governments for the Western Hemisphere.

With these international confederations of American governments has grown the Pan American Union, as a permanent headquarters for inter-American affairs.

From its start as a commercial bureau it has broadened its activities to keep up with international developments and now handles the agenda of the general Pan American conferences and of some of the special gatherings.

Already the governing board of the Union has drafted the program for the coming Pan conference, after consultation with the governments which will attend.

The program will cover economic questions, the political and civil rights of women, the extent of peace, international law, intellectual cooperation and moral disarmament.

Also likely to attract attention is the proposal of the governments of Colombia and the Dominican Republic for the creation of an association of American nations with increased power to preserve the peace of the Western Hemisphere.

One of the criticisms leveled at the conference and at the Pan American Union itself is the lack of enforcement weapons like the sanctions which can be invoked by the League of Nations.

The Union of course is largely an administrative body without political functions or opinions. The conferences, on the other hand, have shown that they can settle disputes without the threat of force.
