the street from the current Capitol and on the lot where the new legislative building will pots Morrell discovered two brass and two glass candlesticks, a couple of China trays in an old root cellar or trash pit. Tentative datings place the pots and crockery in the 1833-40 period when the Planter's Hotel was located there. Other diggings have uncovered outhouses, a turn-of-thecentury basement and the root cellar. The privies and root cellar also have produced bottles, buttons and other objects dating from the early 1920s. Morrell's project was started in an effort to verify reports the foundations of one of three buildings that have served as Florida's Capitol were located in the block. So far he has found no indication of an old
