Low Welfare Checks Promote Immorality

TALLHASSEE (UPI) — The state Welfare Board says the ceiling of $81 monthly payments to dependent families is promoting immorality and illegitimacy. And the board wants the Legislature to do something about it. The board argues that 76 per cent of the families receiving aid payments don't have money for clothes, lunches and other things needed to keep their children in school—even with the payments. If the parents are separated and the children are living with their mother—which is usually the case—she will often take a man into the home to help buy groceries and pay the rent, according to welfare workers. This contributes to illegitimacy, and also runs the mother afoul of the "suitable homes" law, adopted in 1959 in hopes of cutting the welfare rolls by discouraging immorality. At present, Florida law limits payments to the needy at $32 a month for a parent and one child, $35 for a parent and two children, $78 for a parent and three children, and $81 for a parent with four "or more" children. "Starving children and denying them the basic needs perpetuates generations of individuals who are ill-equipped to become self-supporting adults," according to one board official. The board says it will take an additional $25,398,954 to pay the full needs of each family if its plan is carried out. But the federal government would pay two-thirds of the $23.3 million, leaving the Florida treasury responsible for $8,786,000 for the coming biennium. Welfare leaders say they will plug hardest in the upcoming Legislature for a big boost in allocation in order "to at least adequately take care of this pressing — and growing problem."

Siamese Twins Under Knife

HOUSTON (UPI) — Doctors Tuesday were attempting to separate Kimberly and Karen Webber, 9-week-old Siamese twins joined at the front from collarbone to navel. A team of 14 were performing the delicate operation on the twin girls. The twins were born Dec. 8 by Caesarian section to Mrs. John Webber Jr., of Bay City, Tex. Tests showed that the babies have two hearts and do not share any vital organs. They do share some liver tissue and some tissue around the heart. The girls weighed 13 pounds, 13 ounces when they were a day old, lost a little weight soon after birth, but have steadily gained weight since then.

Water Storage Needs Outlined

TALLHASSEE (UPI) — State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey called today for an expanded information program to sell Florida citizens on the need for additional water storage land. Conservation Director Randolph Hodges asked the State Budget Commission, of which Bailey is a member, to okay funds necessary to buy lands to store water in flood control districts and water management projects.

Computer Writes Of Seminole Economy For Sanford Herald

WASHINGTON (Sp1) — Electronic computers at the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census are extracting retail trade data about each county in the United States from tabulations of the 1963 census of business, inserting the figures in news stories, typing out the stories at eye-blinking speed, and addressing a story to each one of 16,000 news outlets in the Nation's 3,000 counties.

Three elements are used to produce these "machine-

made" news stories:

1. Statistics for 1958 and 1963 on number of establishments, their kind of business and location, their sales volume, employment, etc. This information is stored in machine "memory" and is part of the process of preparing the 1963 census of business reports.
2. The names and addresses of the newspapers and broadcasting stations, coded county-by-county.
3. A set of instructions which cause the computer to select statistics concerning each county, print the statistics at the proper points in a news story, and address the story to each newspaper or broadcasting station in a county.

The news stories, accordingly, emerge as by-products of the process of preparing the census of business. Although the series will total more than 6,000 stories before it is completed it will require no additional personnel. The stories about retail trade will be followed by a series of stories about service trades in each county.

The Census Bureau pioneered in the use of electronic equipment to tabulate data and to prepare statistical tables, beginning in 1951, but this is the first time such devices have been used to prepare news stories.

From this point in this article, the information came from the computer at the Bureau of Census.

"This local news item was prepared by a Census Bureau electronic computer and typed at 10 lines per second especially for City Editor, Sanford Herald, 204 West First Street, Sanford, Florida.

"U. S. Census Bureau reports county's '63 retail trade.

"Seminole County's 464 retail establishments had $47.6 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 82 per cent from 1958, the U. S. Bureau of the Census has just reported after tabulating data gathered from all firms in the 1963 census of business. The last previous business census conducted by the Census Bureau, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, was in 1958.

"Retail trade in the county meant jobs (exclusive of proprietors) for 1,551 men and women and a yearly payroll of $4.2 million.

"In volume of business the county's food stores had sales of $16.3 million an increase of 57 per cent from 1958. In other retail business—the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $3.1 million, and gasoline service stations had sales of $5.2 million. Auto-dealers and related retail trade establishments had sales of $8.3 million; general merchandise group stores had sales of $2.5 million; and lumber, building materials, hardware and farm equipment dealers had sales of $3.3 million.

"For the state as a whole, the Census Bureau reported 53,293 retail establishments with sales of $7,699.7 million, up 30 per cent from 1958.

"Census reports to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

"Figures on number of establishments and sales volume for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report: 1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Florida, available at $55 from Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20402, and at U. S. Department of Commerce field offices."

'Agribusiness' $16.2 Million

A concerted effort to improve and expand the Central Florida Experiment Station will be the first undertaking of the newly-formed Agricultural Committee of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce.

Committee members held their initial meeting

Wednesday afternoon at Jim Spencer's Restaurant and Gen. J. C. Hutchison, chairman, listed the station's future as having top priority.

The overall goal of the group will be to see that agribusiness remains around in the community and to let the public know more about it.

The committee will meet soon with Dr. John W. Wilson, entomologist in charge of the station, to compare notes on the future of the installation.

Dr. Wilson is preparing his budget request for presentation to the State Legislature in April and the Chamber's committee will offer full support to it.

In a letter to the committee, Dr. Wilson outlined his needs for additional space and workers so the station can expand

Red Offensive Falls Apart In Face Of Force

SAIGON (UPI) — A guerrilla offensive southwest of Saigon fell apart today in the face of a strong show of force by Vietnamese troops.

The successful government operation was reported amid charges by Communist North Viet Nam that U. S. and South Vietnamese warships attacked a North Vietnamese coastal installation early this morning.

The Hanoi regime called the alleged raid a new, extremely serious act of provocation by the United States and "stooges."

A Hanoi broadcast heard in Tokyo said two of the ships were damaged when they were intercepted by North Vietnamese patrol boats.

Although the North Vietnamese protest was belittled, it made no threats of retaliation.

Hanoi said the International Control Commission was informed of the incident in a note which called it "a gross encroachment" and an "impudent violation" of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

The Viet Cong offensive which crumbled today began Wednesday in the Mekong River Delta 35 miles southwest of Saigon when a guerrilla battalion attacked a government outpost near My Tho.

Military reports today said the guerrillas apparently elected not to stand and fight when the government struck back with a large-scale helicopter airlift of Vietnamese reinforcements.

Businessmen Ask: Is Administration Killing The Goose?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today asked businessmen for help in chopping the nation's balance of payments deficit in return for the $700 million tax break he gave them Wednesday.

Johnson was expected to make the plea when he meets with 350 leading industrialists and bankers to explain why he wants them to reduce their foreign investments and loans until the dollar outflow can be stopped.

The administration is determined to cut more than $1 billion from the payments deficit this year and expects "voluntary cooperation" on the part of corporations and banks to make up the lion's share of the reduction.

Businessmen are beginning to ask if, in hearing down on overseas investments, the administration isn't killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

U. S. Must Halt Red Expansion — McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the United States must continue its struggle to halt Red expansion in Asia and has little choice but to make its stand in South Viet Nam.

In a statement before the House armed services committee, he described the situation in Viet Nam as "grave but by no means hopeless."

McNamara's strong stand on Viet Nam highlighted a wide-ranging review of world affairs which also spelled out American conditions for a NATO nuclear force and concluded that Red China "in time" could produce ballistic missiles with hydrogen warheads.

But for the near future, McNamara said, he doubted that the Red Chinese would start overt aggression against their neighbors because they had shown "great caution when confronted with a determined display of military power."

McNamara also said that nearly 80 million Americans would be killed in an all-out nuclear attack on U. S. cities even if $25 billion were spent during the next five years on shelters and anti-missile weapons.

In the absence of such a shelter and anti-missile program—so far not even proposed—he said the death toll would be close to 150 million persons.

Spacecraft Heads To Sea Of Tranquility

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Ranger 8, the U. S. spacecraft headed for a picture-taking rendezvous with the moon, today executed an apparently successful mid-course maneuver to put it on a collision course with the lunar body.

A "go" signal for the vital maneuver was flashed from the Goldstone (Calif.) tracking station to activate commands previously stored in the spacecraft's computer.

At that time, Ranger 8, launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, was 99,281 miles from earth, traveling toward the moon at a velocity of 4,100 miles an hour.

The scientists said that it would take a rather lengthy study of telemetry data to confirm the apparent success of the maneuver.

The radioed "go" signal activated a small rocket motor in the spacecraft's stern to supply power for the mid-course maneuver.

Ranger 8 executed two types of turns, a roll and a pitch. Without the maneuver it would have missed the moon by 1,136 miles. The rocket motor burned as planned for 59 seconds.

During the maneuver, Ranger 8 lost its fix on the sun and its communications equipment ran on battery power. Sensors on the front end had to reacquire the sun so that its solar panel could soak up energy and convert it to electrical power for sending televised photographs back to earth Saturday.

Specific target of the television probe was the moon's Sea of Tranquility—an arid area considered a likely spot for a landing by U. S. astronauts.

Ranger 8 was blasted from earth at Cape Kennedy Wednesday atop an Atlas-Agena rocket.

If it hits the moon, it will be the fifth man-made object to reach that destination. The United States has hit the moon with Ranger 4 in 1962 and with Ranger 6 and Ranger 7 later. Russia performed the feat with Lunik 2 in 1959.

Harrowing Sea Saga Told In Australia

DARWIN, Australia (UPI)—A harrowing saga of survival was told by two sailors who rowed a leaking dinghy through shark-infested waters to get help for six comrades shipwrecked for nearly a month.

The group, including a woman and her eight-month-old baby, were marooned on a tiny uninhabited island off Australia's northern coast. They lived on a diet of oysters and mussels until finally rescued a week ago.

Details of the dramatic rescue were revealed today. The drama began last month when Robert Casey, 31, bought a 32-ton fishing boat named "Dana Marie" and set out from Darwin for Brisbane to put the vessel into prawn waters.

Traveling with Casey were Ian James, 35, his wife Dawn, 28, and their infant daughter, Tom Spradrov, 27, and William Pitt, 22, signed on as crewmen-passengers.

Four days out of Darwin off the West coast in the Arafura Sea, the ship was caught in heavy seas and near hurricane-force winds. It wallowed for more than a day.

The ship finally struck a reef and was abandoned. Pitt rowed Mrs. James and the baby 800 yards toward shore in the dinghy and the others swam.

"The dinghy had almost reached shore when it was swamped," Spradrov said. "Mrs. James, with the baby, managed to scramble ashore but Pitt was knocked unconscious. Casey dragged him ashore."

Once on land the party salvaged canvas for shelter and some water-logged flour, tea and potatoes from the ship stores. They also recovered a small supply of water and fishing tackle.

Spradrov said it rained constantly for the first three days and when the rain stopped intense heat, sandflies and mosquitoes proved even worse. "Snakes on the island, Spradrov said, "acted like they'd never seen people before. They came within a few feet of the camp."

The food supply was exhausted after four days. A few fish were caught with handlines. Spradrov said the baby thrived on a diet of mashed oysters.

About 10 days later—Spradrov said he lost track of time—he and Pitt decided to set out in the damaged dinghy to get help.

"We had lost all our fish-hooks on the rocks and the diet was getting monotonous," Spradrov said. "I had a gun and managed to shoot a couple of birds but we could have been stranded there for months."

Pitt and Spradrov patched a hole in the 13-foot rowboat and pushed off, carrying three bottles of water and a sack of uncooked flour dough.

The two seamen said sharks were so thick and voracious that they nipped at the oars. One man rowed, and the other stood guard with Spradrov's 22-caliber rifle.

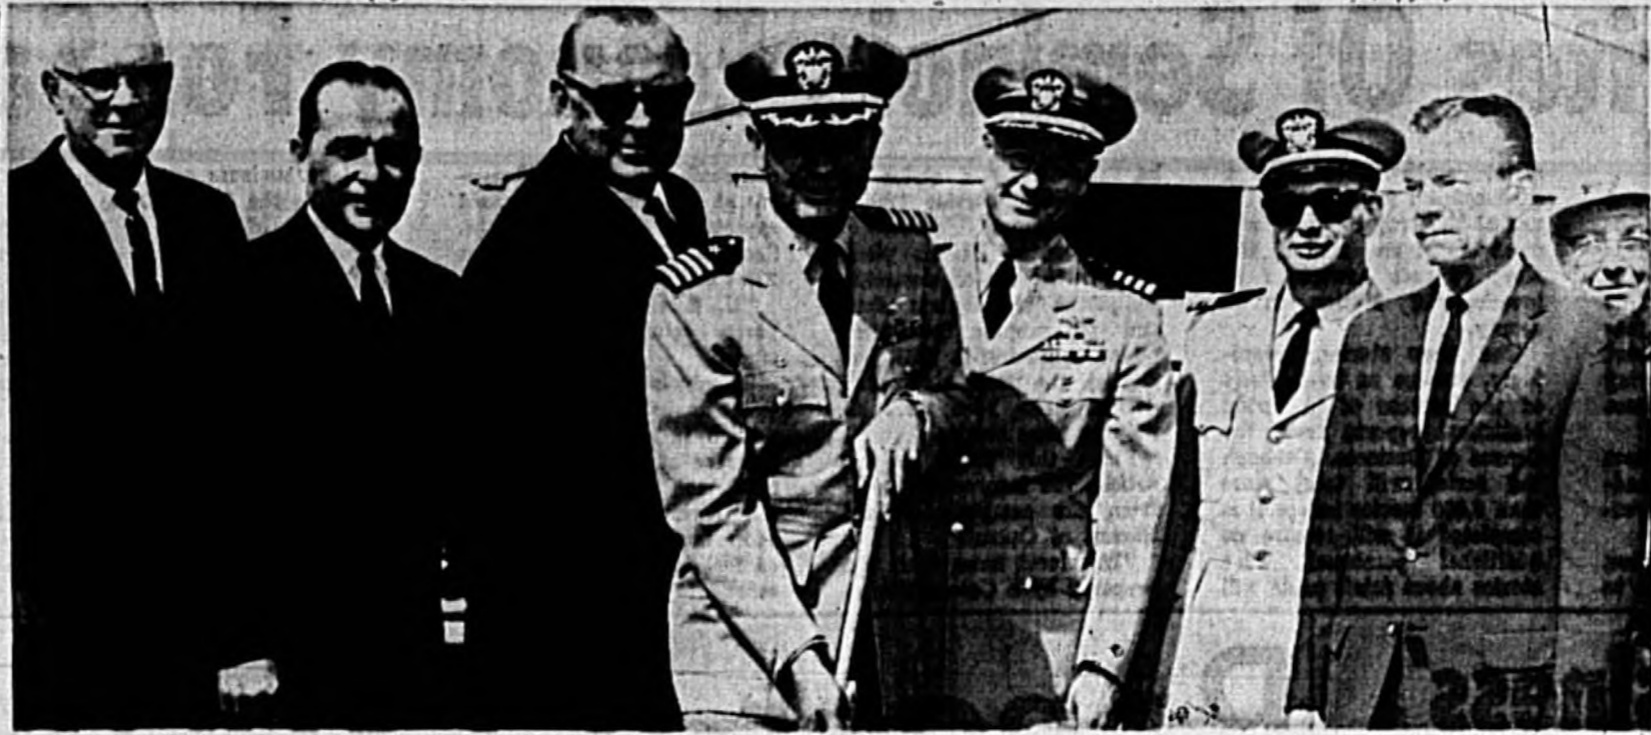

Pitt and Spradrov reached Elcho Island 3 1/2 days later, then walked 35 miles to a Methodist mission station. A boat from the mission picked up the six survivors. Casey said he plans to organize a group to go back to make repairs on the "Dana Marie."

Baby Abandoned After Operation

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Authorities continued to search today for the mother of an infant who was left at a hospital a week ago suffering from a serious eye ailment which can result in permanent blindness.

Officials said "Kim Carson" was ready to be discharged following an operation they believed restored about 25 percent of her vision.

However, the mother of the two and a half month old infant cannot be found. The hospital said the mother gave a name of "Mary Carson" and a Richmond address, and they have reason to believe she gave birth to the child in Miami.

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY—Capt. J. O. Mayo, commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, breaks the ground for a $32,700 shop addition to Building 255 at Sanford Naval Air Station. This is the third of five construction projects to be launched in the base's $2 million building program for 1965.

Soldier Wounded

ADEN (UPI)—A British soldier was wounded seriously in a terrorist bomb attack on a British patrol.

Space Team To 'Go' Next Month

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—America's first two Gemini astronauts will steer themselves along three trails through space and "fly" their ship to an ocean landing in a pioneering five-hour voyage this spring.

For good measure, Specimen Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young will try to do a slight left turn by guiding their 6,900-pound Gemini capsule to the right.

This is all part of what amounts to the most complicated—and yet perhaps the safest—"space roadmap" ever devised for man.

It was revealed by Christopher C. Kraft, the Federal Space Agency's assistant director for flight operations.

The "roadmap" is the agency's guide for the inaugural manned flight for the $1.85 billion Gemini program—a three-orbit excursion ranging up to 180 miles above earth. It is scheduled for late March or early April.

The Cape Kennedy blast-off point and the Eastern Atlantic Ocean landing spot for Grissom and Young are virtually the same as those for the first U. S. orbiting astronaut, John H. Glenn Jr., who soared three times around the globe three years ago this Saturday.

Even the duration will be about the same. Glenn took a little more than four hours. If all goes well, Grissom and Young will span four hours, 54 minutes, between lift-off and landing.

But, in between, the proposed two-man trip is as much like Glenn's journey as a twisting highway through the Rocky Mountains is like a curveless road through Central Texas.

The flight plan unveiled by Kraft noted several maneuvers never tried by American astronauts or, for that matter, Soviet cosmonauts:

—About five minutes after blast-off, Grissom and Young will be installed in an orbit ranging from 100 miles to 180 miles above earth.

—One hour, 23 minutes later, as the bell-shaped capsule swings over Texas at the end of its first orbit, the astronauts will fire control rockets to slow themselves by about 60 feet per second. This will drop the orbit to a "low" of 100 miles and a "high" of 107 miles.

—Two hours, 20 minutes after blast-off, over the Indian Ocean, they will aim the capsule to the south and turn on the engine. This should result in a shift of their eventual landing spot to about 80 miles north of where they normally would land on the other side of the world.

—About 4 1/2 hours into the flight, near the end of the third orbit, Grissom and Young will slow themselves by another 83 feet per second. This will drop the capsule to within 52 miles of earth.

Warns Of War

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI warned again of the dangers of war. He said any conflict "would have incalculable and frightful results for all mankind." The pontiff made his feelings known in a telegram to Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.

Nat King Cole Eulogized By Benny, Jessel

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Jack Benny today eulogized singer Nat King Cole as a "nice man who knew how to live—and knew how to make others glad they were living."

Benny's moving tribute to his friend and fellow entertainer was delivered in St. James Episcopal Church, where Cole's family and 600 friends and newsmen were gathered to pay their final respects to the singer.

He also was eulogized by George Jessel.

Cole, who was born the son of an Alabama sharecropper-preacher and who became one of the world's highest-paid and best-loved entertainers, was a frequent visitor to the White House as the guest of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Cole, 45, died of cancer last Monday morning in St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica. His widow, Maria, successfully spared him from learning that he was doomed man.

More than four dozen honorary pall bearers included the cream of America's political and entertainment world.

Sleep is more vital to man than food since he can survive longer without food.

'Sitting Ducks' Low-Flying Choppers Are Used As Decoys

By Col. Ray Crumley
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The men in the two low-flying lead helicopters head leisurely over Viet Cong hamlets. They're "sitting ducks," tempting targets for Red guerrilla fire.

They're meant to be. A short way behind are several helicopters loaded with specially trained troops. If a gullible Viet Cong unit fires at the decoys, the spot is noted and the helicopter-borne troops land and attack.

This type of decoy-ambush is as old as scout and cavalry. But it's also a symbol of how far the military helicopter has come since its awkward combat area trials in Korea, when some experts predicted it couldn't possibly live in battle zones.

There have been hairy accounts of helicopter tragedies and of massive but ineffective helicopter-borne military sweeps against Viet Cong who couldn't be found.

But Army analysts and their computers will turn out calculations which show that on the average you would have to go out on 6,800 chopper sorties these days before being shot down by enemy ground fire.

These men say that between Jan. 1, 1962, and Nov. 1, 1964, U.S. helicopters flew more than 416,000 sorties in South Viet Nam. They were hit 1,100 times. Sixty-five were shot down by ground fire. Thirty-seven of these have been retrieved, repaired and returned to duty. That's a net loss of 28 choppers from enemy action for 416,000 sorties.

Fifty-eight other helicopters were lost in accidents. Make no mistake about it. There have been some boobies. There was the helicopter with the weak tail (since corrected). There are the reported foul-up in communications resulting in helicopters arriving after the Viet Cong have vanished. As the Viet Cong get better anti-aircraft weapons, flying gets rougher for the choppers.

But as a result of experience in South Viet Nam and the two-year-long tests with the experimental Air Assault Division, it is now probable that the Army will organize a permanent Air Assault Brigade, which will move into battle largely transported by helicopters.

After experience is gained with this brigade, it is expected that a number of additional helicopter-borne infantry brigades will be organized and be attached, as occasion demands, to one or another of the Army's 16 divisions.

How such brigades will operate can best be told by describing a helicopter-borne troop sortie in South Viet Nam. These are becoming highly specialized operations.

The main body, of course, is composed of troop-carrying helicopters. These are guarded front, rear and on the close flanks by a unit of armed choppers whose job is to take out the ground fire immediately below and on the close right and left.

Over and around all this is "air cover" provided by a fistful of regular-fixed-wing Air Force airplanes. These take on strong fire ahead and farther out on the flanks. Scout helicopters go ahead to act as a "point" to draw fire.

This is the general type of organization that Army men expect in future wars where U.S. troops are carried into battle by helicopter over or near enemy-held territory. (However, an Air Force officer comments, "This will work only where we have absolute air superiority.")

Plans are afoot to eliminate several helicopter weaknesses exposed in the Viet Nam operations. Now being experimented with is a helicopter with short, stubby wings and a small auxiliary motor, which in tests has flown at 242 nautical miles an hour. Industry men have proposed developing 400-mile-an-hour choppers. These higher speeds would make the helicopters less vulnerable in flight. They would also make possible much greater speeds during take-off and landing—when helicopters are most easily shot down.

Because American helicopters in Viet Nam have been outgunned on occasion by Red ground fire, many of the new choppers will be armed with 50-caliber machine guns.

Future Teachers In Trial Run

Many Seminole County teachers are receiving extra help this week from teacher-aides of the Future Teachers Association at Seminole High School.

All this week, 38 junior and senior SHS students have been reporting to elementary and junior high school classes in six county schools where they are observing various classroom techniques, learning how to work with children, learning how to make lesson plans, grade papers and actually teach classes part time each day.

"This is a valuable experience for these future teachers and they look forward to it each year," said Miss Grace Marie Stimpf, faculty advisor.

"In order to have this week of experience, the FTA students must have their teachers' permission and make up all their own school work. They are required to write an evaluation of their week of internship and to share their experiences with the entire club at the next meeting after their return," added Herman Rozolski, also a faculty advisor.

Working at the Pinecrest Elementary School are Sharon Booth, Elizabeth Evans, Sally Green, Jeanette Herman, Linda Jarnigan, Kathy Trout, Lu Jalliet, Sue Jalliet, Vicki McArdle and Glenda Gombel.

Teacher aide at South Side Elementary is Faye Hayes and at Westside-Grammer, Elaine Echols and Fran Pyle. At Lake Mary Elementary are Linda Webb, Marcia Lipincott, Linda Gizen, Donn Collins and Cheryl Jones.

Two students, Linda Mitchell and Michele Jones, are working at South Seminole Junior High School and at Sanford Junior High are Helen Mann, Sherry Marazita, Betty Odham, Pam Patterson, Cherie Pennington, Susan Perkins, Crill Harden, Steve Clark, Ken Hopkins, Frank Murray, Herbert Nazy, Joe Flardy, Jeff Whiting, Dick Wilkink, Wynn Picklraimes, Buddy Burton and Terry Rabun.

Burns Receives Resignations But Accepts None

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Haydon Burns has received resignations from most members of the state boards and agencies under his office, but so far hasn't accepted a one.

At an impromptu news conference, the governor failed to say just which officials had not submitted resignations — as he asked them to when he took office — or whether he planned to do anything about it.

He said of those who have given him resignations, all but two have accepted his invitation to remain on with the new administration.

He said the exceptions are a member each on the Inter-American Center Authority in Miami and the Florida Inland Navigation District Board. He did not name them.

Covering a variety of subjects, Burns made these points:

He intends to make no secret of his use of patronage, but will never use it if it will cost the taxpayers more money, he will not use the Jacksonville law firm of which former Gov. Farris Bryant is a member in bond dealings, and he believes another $50 million higher education bond issue is feasible.

Burns looked much improved from his recent bouts with flu. He told newsmen he plans to make use of accepted patronage prerogatives in handling insurance, attorneys' fees and other such plums which come under the authority of his office.

He emphasized, however, he will not cancel an existing contract at a penalty cost to the state in order to give business to a friend.

On the matter of appointees of the Bryant administration he has asked to keep serving on state boards, Burns said that "just because an official was a friend of Governor Bryant does not necessarily mean he is not also a friend of mine."

There is a 7,000-volume library aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Enterprise.

PTA To Repeat Hootenanny

By Jane Casselberry
The South Seminole Junior High School PTA has scheduled a "Hootenanny" featuring area talent for 8 p. m. Friday, March 26, in the school cafeteria.

This fund raising affair proved so successful last year, attracting a standing room only audience, that the PTA is repeating the event.

Mrs. C. L. Cooper will again be in charge of recruiting the performers and setting up the program. Some of the talent already lined up includes "The Esquires," an instrumental group composed of students from the junior high and Lyman High School; folk singing groups from South Seminole Elementary and the junior high, and local folk singer, Mrs. Colleen Wiggins, who sang for last year's program.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Delfona Corp. Reports Record Sales, Earnings

Delfona Corporation, Florida construction and community development firm, today reported record sales and earnings for the year ended Dec. 31.

Sales of homes and homesites at the company's Florida properties totaled $17,709,505, a 68 per cent increase from the $10,529,917 reported for 1963.

Net income after taxes in 1964 amounted to $1,342,410 or $1.04 per share on 1,296,295 average outstanding shares listed on the American Stock Exchange. In 1963, comparable income was $847,804, and the company also reported a special tax credit of 11 cents per share — for a total of 75 cents per share on 1,308,749 average outstanding shares.

Frank E. Mackle Jr., president, told shareholders in a letter that 1965 operations "have made a very good start" and "we have every reason to believe that our sales and earnings will be substantially above those of 1964."

He based his prediction on the continuing expansion of the company's sales network, with resulting increases in real estate sales at Delfona, 15,000-acre planned retirement community across Lake Monroe, and on the company's sales and development work at Marco Island, new 10,000-acre "resort and leisure-living" community on Southwest Florida's Gulf Coast.

Harry's Here, OB's General Duel Tonight

Tonight's featured 10th race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club shapes up as a duel between Harry's Here and O. B.'s General.

Although O. B.'s General has only one victory this season and Harry's Here has none, the two pups have been competing against better opposition than the pups who make up the remainder of the feature race field.

Harry's Here, owned by Dr. C. E. Miller, has finished third in his last three starts. The Oswald Brothers' greyhound has a record of one win, two seconds and four thirds.

Massive Greens Stymie Golfers

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Massive greens are the biggest obstacles facing pro golfers in today's start of the $46,000 Tucson Open which appears tailor-made for putting master Billy Casper.

A total of 144 pros and 10 amateurs tees off in the first round over the 7,200-yard par 72 Tucson National Golf Club course.

Tricky winds and undulating, fast greens averaging 11,000 square feet pose the biggest problems over the 72 hole tournament.

"There's going to be a lot of three-putting on these greens," said last week's Phoenix Open winner Rod Funseth of Spokane.

Coach Dick Copeland's Lyman Greyhounds, after compiling a 9-3 conference record during regular-season play, will be pitted against the Wildwood Wildcats in the opening round of the Orange Belt tournament tonight at Winter Garden.

The Hounds defeated the Cats twice during the course of the current schedule, 66-60 and 85-69, and are favored to register another decisive victory again this evening.

Copeland's charges, along with the Apopka Blue Darters and the DeLand Bulldogs are the favorites in the post-season meet.

The hopes for Lyman, as usual, depend on the performance of high-scoring Joe Asher. Joe has been sparing his shots of late, although he has still maintained his position as scoring leader in the OBC, but it is thought that he will not spare himself tonight against the high-scoring, offense-minded Wildwood team.

Also out for a big night will be Eddie Long, who has emerged in recent contest as part of a 1-2 scoring punch with Asher.

In the last meeting of this evening's opponents, Asher and Long combined for 54 points, tallying 30 and 24 markers, respectively.

Big Dave Matia has been playing fine during recent affairs, bringing down numerous rebounds and upping his scoring average.

In last week's Kissimmee game, he totaled 16 points, his personal high for the season. Mike Sterling, Copeland's playmaker and brilliant outside shooter, will play a vital role in the Greyhound effort against Wildwood, as will "clutch player" Gene Winkleman. Other boys likely to see action for Lyman are Richard Moore, Kenny Ament, John Birkheimer, Don Patrick, and Ricky Miller.

Starters for Wildwood probably will be 6-5 Tommy Thompson at center, Lester Lucas and Randy Jones at the forwards, and Buddy Lucas and Danny Jones at the guards.

Other performers for Coach Byrd Whigham's Wildwood team are Archie Lowry and Hamp Johnson.

Thompson has been particularly dangerous in conflicts with Lyman, scoring 22 points each time out.

Buddy Lucas chalked up 27 points for the Cats in the most recent meeting of the two teams.

Joe Asher has good prospects for a 400-point season. He has scored 367 points for 18.4 point scoring average thus far, with at least two games remaining on the slate.

Tennessee - Alabama TV Game Of Week

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fans throughout the Southeast will get a chance Saturday to try to figure out the intricate defense of 10th-ranked Tennessee — something opposing coaches have been trying to do all season without success.

The Volunteers, tied with eighth-ranked Vanderbilt for the Southeastern Conference basketball lead, will be the featured half of the day against Alabama at Tuscaloosa.

One rival coach reported he sat up most of one night going over Tennessee films without finding the key to the many defensive patterns with which the Vols have held their foes to an average of only 55.2 points per game in a 17-2 season.

Co-leading Vanderbilt and Tennessee both walk a treacherous path this weekend.

The Commodores, 17-3 for the season, will be host to tall Florida Saturday night and to Georgia Monday night. Tennessee returns home to face third-place Auburn after that game with Alabama.

Vanderbilt and Tennessee are both 9-1 in the SEC race. Auburn is 9-3. The Commodores and the Vols each have six conference games to play and there's no leeway for slips.

Vandy has the edge in that the Commodores play five of their remaining games at home while Tennessee plays three on the road.

If neither loses another regular season contest, the two will meet in a playoff at Lexington, Ky., to determine the SEC champion and league representative in the NCAA playoffs.

Nostalgia Brings On International Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — A boy becomes homesick and before you know it you have a full-fledged international crisis.

The boy is 20-year-old south-paw pitcher Masanori Murakami, who unwittingly has caused all the trouble because he loves his native Japan and happens to like the San Francisco Giants, too.

Murakami was one of three Japanese players sent over to train with San Francisco last spring. The understanding was the Giants had the right to select any one of the three for $10,000.

They chose Murakami, sent him to their Fresno farm club in the California League where he won 11 games, saved 15 others in relief and lost seven.

Along with that, he also became homesick, so the Giants recalled him near the end of the season and he won one game for them.

Now they'd like him back. But so would the Nankai club in Japan, which signed him originally. A tug-of-war has resulted, and the Japanese have taken their case to Commissioner Ford Frick.

They also have sent two emissaries, ex-White Sox pitcher Joe Stanka, who won 26 games in Japan last season, and Nankai coach Carl Hants, to plead the Japanese cause.

"We feel Murakami belongs to us," Stanka says.

"There's a clause in his contract that says if the boy becomes homesick, the Giants will grant him his unconditional release. Murakami already has said he became homesick. We have a signed document which says that and which also says he wants to play in Japan this year.

"The Nankai club originally sent him over here with the understanding he would be in the United States only three months," Stanka went on. Both Stanka and Hants

Any golfer who hopes to shoot well, knows that the arms must be sufficiently strong. This is the purpose of the curl.

It is a very simple exercise beginning with the arms at the side, and then lifting the dumbbells to shoulder length.

You should do between eight and 10 repetitions at the beginning and when you have mastered this, go on to 12 or 15 repetitions.

For proper breathing, inhale on the up motion and exhale on the down motion.

Boating Council Reverses Stand

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Boating Council has withdrawn support for a proposal to request state registration fees for all motor boats, regardless of size.

The council did an about-face on its decision of earlier this year after deciding the proposal was an "unpopular" one. It agreed to leave the matter to lawmakers.

Under current law only motor boats exceeding 10 horsepower are required to register and pay fees to the state.

A gubernatorial representative on the council, which has added new faces since the initial support, said the proposal "would be very unpopular. I think the governor would veto it."

The group decided it should propose some sort of registration, however, if for no other reason than safety and identification.

Fight Date
PARIS (UPI) — Rubin Hurricane Carter, of Clifton, N.J., will fight Milo Calhoun, of Jamaica, B.W.I., in a 10-rounder at the Palle des Sports Feb. 22.

Saris, Snow Don't Mix

New York Triggers Cultural Shock For Some UN Delegates

By Ted Morello

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (NEA) — "Home was never like this." That's the nostalgic cry of hundreds of UN families uprooted from distant lands and dumped into the complexities of New York living.

It doesn't take much to trigger cultural shock. Dry cleaners are hard on African kente. Supermarkets don't stock banh-tran for Vietnamese nor basmati for Pakistanis. Wearing galoshes offends the sensibilities of Indian ladies in smart saris.

Only a few attached to the UN's 114 New York foreign delegations are bothered by the large-scale clashes of which international incidents are made: mugging attacks on diplomats, police discourtesy, racial discrimination. Private conversations with UN people from Upper Volta to Paraguay, from Copenhagen to Taipei show that the biggest gripes echo those of resident Americans. They range from the cost of living and housing shortages to hot deneked cross-town traffic and sari bus drivers.

However, alien living is complicated by old-country customs that don't always travel well to New York.

Ambassador Liu Chieh of China, for instance, admits that the city's fast pace "does not leave me time for my shadow boxing." He is a devotee of tai chi, an ancient form of calisthenics designed to keep the muscles toned.

The spelling, pronunciation and arrangement of foreign names is a source of mystification to Americans and of frustration to the aliens concerned. Some of the visitors heroically try to educate their hosts.

Venezuela's Carlo Sosa Rodriguez, former General Assembly president, has inserted the hyphen as a gentle hint that proper Latin American usage on triple-decker names is the middle or the middle and last name (he is Mr. Sosa or Mr. Sosa Rodriguez, not Mr. Rodriguez).

Nissai Vejjajiva of the Thailand delegation has simply adopted the usage. "Mr. Nissai." His 3 1/2-year-old son, Suranand Vejjajiva, has inherited the problem and a related solution: at his nursery school he's known among his playmates and teachers as "Poom."

Delegates acclaim New York as unique among the world's cities in offering foods for any palate, however exotic. Referring to the main street of the local tourism community's Yorkville, Dr. Edgar Gerwin of West Germany's delegation says:

"On 86th Street we can get anything we need for our kitchen."

West Africans say that the food stalls and bodegas of Spanish Harlem are a suitable substitute for the open air markets of Nigeria or Cameroon. An African dietary staple found in both, for instance, is plantain—the outsize green banana also favored by Latin Americans as a starchy cooking vegetable.

Southeast Asians, as well as Chinese, find familiar culinary items in Chinatown, but there are occasional gaps. Attache To Naoe Thach of South Viet Nam's UN mission hasn't been able to locate any banh tran. Paper-thin and pizza-sized, banh tran is a rice-flour staff-of-life to Vietnamese. Housewives wrap it around chopped pork, mushrooms, shrimp or other fillings and deep fry it into cha gio, a kind of Vietnamese eggroll.

Pakistan's Ambassador Syed Amjad Ali brought a brace of cooks from home with him to guarantee the authenticity of dishes served at his table. Ali says that New York specialty stores provide nearly all the necessary cooking ingredients.

"But we have to import our own basmati and silver paper," he adds. The former is a Pakistani rice highly regarded for its subtle flavor. The latter is an Arabian Nights version of Reynolds Wrap: pure silver beaten into cobweb-thin sheets and folded around sweets. Such candies are eaten as is—silver wrapping and all.

On the sartorial side, local winters are deadly to fashionable Indian wares from India and Pakistan: many of whom wear exquisite silk saris ornamented with gold stitching. The wraparound dress was designed for delicate slippers or sandals—not for American winter footwear. As one newcomer facing her first winter lamented:

"How can I look like in sari and galoshes?"

Space Program In State Yields $142 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — California again led the nation in procurement spending by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), an annual report showed today.

NASA's annual procurement report for fiscal 1964 said that the space agency spent $1,663 billion with California firms during the last fiscal year. The national total was $3.49 billion.

"The large proportion placed in California," the report said, "reflects the heavy concentration in that state of firms in the aerospace and electronics industries."

Next was Louisiana with $286 million. Rounding out the top 10 were Missouri, $272 million; New York, $251 million; Texas, $149 million; Alabama, $146 million; Florida, $142 million; Massachusetts, $79 million; Maryland, $70 million; New Jersey, $63 million.

On a regional basis, the Far West was again the leader in fiscal 1964 with a total of $1,632 billion in NASA procurement contracts.

More $$ Needed For Education

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Floridians, according to several top educators, can afford to spend a lot more than they do on higher education—and they ought to let lawmakers and other officials know about it.

This basic message was hammered out three times at an educators luncheon designed to help win public support for a record $413.3 million general revenue appropriation for higher education for the next two years.

"Although Florida is at the bottom of the list of 12 South-eastern states in support of higher education, we head the list in per capita income," observed Dr. J. Broward Cullpepper, executive director of the Board of Regents.

Florida A&M University president George W. Gore Jr. concurred, adding that "nationally our ranking among the 50 states is almost as bad."

Dr. Marshall W. Hamilton, president of North Florida Junior College at Madison, injected a similar observation.

He said the higher education bond issue program approved by the 1963 Legislature has not begun to solve the college building program or freed the general revenue fund from educational demands.

This synthetic product threatens to blow up Florida's great citrus industry.

Discover how this danger is affecting our State's economy, Florida agriculture and you.

Up North, where they can't grow orange trees, chemists have figured out a way to make synthetic fruit flavors and sell them against natural Florida Citrus products. Fake citrus flavors don't depend on Florida Citrus growers. Fake citrus products are made cheaply . . . sell at low prices . . . and advertise big. They pump in synthetic Vitamin C and tell people all over the country that these inexpensive chemicals are just as good as real citrus products.

In less than eight short months, one synthetic product took advantage of our freeze-induced citrus shortage and as a result has inherited and swept away over 12% of our total frozen orange concentrate market. This success, mind you, comes in face of the fact that frozen orange concentrate never has been used regularly by more than 30% of America's families.

Big national promotions on synthetic orange products are hurting our Florida Citrus business badly. And people will continue to believe that these cheap substitutes are as good as the real thing if they hear it often enough and if nobody tells them otherwise.

Florida will suffer even further if this trend is allowed to continue. Employment, wages, property values, purchasing power, our entire economy stands in jeopardy . . . at this very moment.

Agribusiness, 3-billion dollars worth of it, is Florida's biggest industry. We cannot afford to have Citrus, its major economic factor, relegated to the fate of the buggywhip. As we all know, there are no substitutes for real citrus products containing the natural flavor of the Florida sun.

We need support now from everyone . . . everyone who believes that Florida's Citrus industry should combat this competitive threat vigorously and actively.

For additional information on how you can help solve this critical problem write to: Mr. R. W. Rutledge, Executive Vice President, Florida Citrus Mutual, Lakeland, Florida.

Medical Exams Reveal Virginity Among Married

Hundreds of wives between the ages of 17 and 47, married from periods of from one to 21 years, proved upon medical examination to be virgins. They told psychologist, Dr. John Blazer who was doing a study of virginity in married women, that they had refrained from having relations with their husbands for a variety of reasons: fear of pain, belief that the sex act is "naughty" or "wicked," fear of pregnancy, dislike of contraceptives.

After studying the replies, Dr. Blazer, who was formerly with the Mental Health Clinic, Bristol, Virginia, concluded that the one thing the women have in common is ignorance. None of the reasons given would be enough to account for the continuing failure to consummate a marriage. The doctor concludes that if the woman and her husband can obtain adequate scientific knowledge and guidance from a qualified doctor, nurse, or psychologist, at least some of the women might be helped to overcome their blocks and have a normal married life.

Camellia Circle Conducts Workshop Preceding Flower Show

A group of interested flower arrangers met Tuesday at the Pinecrest Baptist Fellowship Hall to practice their skills at a workshop sponsored by Camellia Circle.

Instructing was Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff III, an accredited amateur flower show judge and skilled designer. She emphasized in her opening lecture the importance of planning the shape of the design before beginning the placing of materials.

MRS. L. A. BATEMAN, left, a guest at the Camellia Workshop, and Mrs. Metta Starke of the Jacaranda Circle, are holding unique miniature arrangements which Mrs. Starke created as she showed examples and demonstrated ideas and methods to obtain the most effective results in miniature designs.

In flower show work, design is of primary importance, although the arranger's interpretation of a theme, the condition of the materials used, and the degree of her originality of thought and perfection of technique are also given consideration.

Mrs. Woodruff gave many hints to help with the mechanical aspect of arranging, such as the use of wire to group several stems together before inserting them in a holder, ways of placing flowers of the same size so that they appear to be of varied sizes and lengthening stems by placing them in the hollow stalks of gladiolus.

In reference to the miniature display instructed by Mrs. Metta Starke, Mrs. Woodruff pointed out that in reality a miniature is the reproduction of a large arrangement on a small scale. It is necessary that every part of a miniature have the proper size relationship. She mentioned that if a photograph were made of a miniature, the viewer should not be able to determine its actual size.

Mrs. Starke showed the group a number of appropriate containers and accessories suitable for use in arranging miniature designs in addition to small scale foliage and flowers. For home use, she indicated that permanent flowers might be used but said these materials were forbidden in all flower shows.

Following the discussion of design principles, each person attending designed one or more arrangements which were shown individually to the group. Each design was analyzed by the instructor who pointed out the merits and faults, giving concrete ways in which they might be improved or made more distinctive.

Proceeds from the workshop will be presented by Camellia Circle to the building fund of the Garden Club of Sanford.

A Wife's Worth? The Little Woman Being Gypped

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dear Bank: Just what do you have in mind?

When you tell a housewife she is worth $159.34 a week are you trying to woo her, coddle her, or stir her to bloodless coup?

One of the most relentlessly altruistic institutions on the national scene, a bank, has this day erected notices aimed at assessing the total gross job worth of one of the most charmingly positive — the American housewife.

After consulting with economists, accountants, and other thinking machines, a New York bank announced that if the country's housewives got paid for just 12 of their household occupations at the going rate paid other folks for these jobs, their yearly worth would be more than $250 billion.

This is figured on the basis of 30 million housewives, each working 99.6 hours a week.

At $159.34 a week the yearly wage would be $8,285.68.

The housewife was called "a powerful, though neglected, force in the economy . . . but not even included in our statistics!"

If her contribution were counted, the Gross National Product "would shoot up more than 35 per cent to around $900 billion."

A branch of a bank named Chase Manhattan put up illustrated placards to this effect in its windows. Each was titled: "What a Wife Worth?"

One said a newspaper help-wanted ad for the little woman would have to read: "Requirements — intelligence, energy, and skill at 12 different occupations; hours, 99.6 per week; salary, none."

Another told husbands to consider themselves great bargain hunters — and lucky too — and advised wives to pat their own backs but not to ask for cash because the old man probably couldn't afford it.

Here's the bank's breakdown of the average housewife's tasks, with columns showing the number of hours she spends on each per week, the going rate per hour on the labor market, and the value per week:

Job	Hours	Rate	Value
Nursemaid	44.5	$1.25	$55.63
Dietitian	1.2	2.50	3.00
Food Buyer	3.3	1.50	4.95
Cook	13.1	2.30	32.78
Dishwasher	6.2	1.50	9.30
Housekeeper	17.5	1.50	26.25
Laundress	5.9	1.90	11.21
Seamstress	1.3	2.50	3.25
Nurse	.8	2.00	1.20
Maintenance
Man	1.7	2.25	3.83
Gardener	2.3	1.55	3.57
Chauffeur	2.0	2.20	4.40
Total	99.6		$159.34

Two housewives, picked somewhat at random from New York City and a little New York town, tended to somewhat belittle both husbands and banks and somewhat further upgrade housewifery worth.

Mrs. Irving M. Peck of Monticello, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait . . . I'd jack it up to $200 a week. When I start to think of all these scores around here! . . . And quite a few women don't have a car—have to carry the

Deltona Civic Association Has Gala Valentine Party

The Deltona Civic Association held their Valentine party and dance at the Civic Center on Saturday evening, Feb. 13th. Almost 200 Deltona residents had a real ball.

The Deltona Combo furnished the music and refreshments consisting of cake, ice cream and coffee were served during intermission.

Combo leader, Zerald Mallard, introduced Harold Jenkins and Sally Gerrity who conduct the Saturday Square Dances at the Center. Mr. Mallard also introduced his wife, Mary, who was born on St. Valentine's Day. The gay crowd sang "Happy Birthday" to Mary.

Two beautiful plants were given away as door prizes. Several sets of square dances were interspersed during the evening.

Chairwoman, Florence Porter, recited some complimentary poetry dedicated to all those who took part in the arrangements, winding up with a Valentine tribute.

Second Vice President Herman Pate was his usual efficient self in a talk he gave thanking the ladies of the auxiliary who worked so hard to make the party a success and in handling the door prize drawings.

Visitors from as far away as Orlando and Daytona Beach attended and stayed until the end.

The Association Ladies Auxiliary anticipates another party and dance to be held during the Easter holidays. Details will be given later.

Allow two to three days to thaw a large whole frozen turkey in the refrigerator, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Water house plants plentifully every few days, rather than with a small amount every day.

Mrs. John Talbelle of Manhattan: "Will I comment? Yeah. Most husbands are too dumb to know this. Most housewives figured it out long ago. The husbands, if they haven't figured it by now, are too dumb to figure it out ever. Why is the bank doing this? I don't know—I guess to butter up women; they're the ones who take care of the money."

Dress of many colors . . . all lovely. A rainbow of shades in soft stripes run across the overblouse, the knife pleated skirt takes them vertically. The fabric is Sinihue's no iron Dacron® polyester and Avron rayon blend . . . really beautiful. Pink or blue predominating. 3 to 13.

Inasmuch as camellias and azaleas are now in bloom, it is best to give them extra water. Soak them well as the blooms take so much moisture out of the plant.

Azalea petal blight is a hazard that must be considered at this time of the year. The trouble maker is a fungus disease spread from flower to flower by wind currents—even by gardeners themselves by using contaminated garden tool on healthy plants. The effect of the trouble can easily be simulated by throwing a pall of boiling water over a choice plant while it is in bloom.

Established camellias should receive a feeding around the middle of February. Use a reliable halanced camellia and azalea fertilizer for best results.

An interesting sidelight on the camellias is how it got its name. It was discovered in China by a Jesuit priest named Kamil in the late 1800's. He brought the plant to England and from there it was introduced to the United States. It received its name, camellia, in honor of Kamil.

Both azaleas and camellias should be well mulched. Now is a good time to plant or transplant both, but they should be planted shallow. When fertilizing or mulching around azaleas or camellias remember not to dig as you may damage the root system.

I had a short note from a reader, Gertrude Fox, the other day. She says that she enjoys reading the column and has tried quite a few of the recipes. That is wonderful and I am so glad that she wrote to me. She sends several recipes for making Vinegar Pie. So let's try one of them.

OLD FASHIONED VINEGAR PIE

3 eggs
3 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. vinegar
1 1/2 cups hot water
Baked pie shell
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
pinch of salt
1/2 cup chopped toasted nut-meats

Beat eggs until light, then add with butter, vinegar and hot water to the combined sugar, flour and salt; blend smoothly. Cook over hot water in double boiler, stirring constantly until thick. Add 1/2 cup nutmeats, turn into pie shell and sprinkle remaining nut over the surface to make one of the most delicious pies you ever tasted.

SPANISH FRANKS

8 frankfurters
1/2 cup fat
1/2 green pepper, diced
1 medium onion, chopped
1 pkg. (1 1/2 cups) precooked rice
1 1/2 cups hot water
2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
1 tsp. salt
Brown franks in 10 inch skillet over medium heat. Remove franks. Melt fat in skillet. Add green pepper, onion and rice. Cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. GERMS IN WASH WASHINGTON (UPI)—It may surprise the fastidious housewife to know it may be her own wash that helps to spread the cold germs. Even though her laundry seems fresher than springtime when she takes it out of the washing machine, it still can be playing host to an army of unpleasant germs. This is the conclusion reached in tests of home laundry methods by the Department of Agriculture's Clothing and Textile Laboratory. As many as 30 kinds of bacteria can survive the usual washing process despite the vast selection of suds and detergents, the government researchers reported. As a result of the tests, the researchers recommended that housewives use disinfectants in their wash.

Hemerocallis Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Moss

Mrs. Carl Moss was hostess at her Lake Mary home to the February meeting of the Hemerocallis Garden Club. Assisting Mrs. Moss as co-hostess was Mrs. Watson Reel.

The meeting was opened with a devotional by Mrs. M. B. Smith. Mrs. Robert Zitrower presided over the business session.

The club members agreed to change the meeting to the third Friday night of the month.

Mrs. Ralph Jarvis, Mrs. M. B. Smith and Mrs. Robert Martin were appointed a committee to study the setting up of by-laws for the club to be presented at the March meeting. A nominating committee was also appointed.

Mr. Copeland of Mona's Flower and Gift Shop gave a demonstration on flower arranging and valuable tips for creative designs. He created a beautiful triangular arrangement of yellow daffodils and used lavender fugl mums in a pyramid shape. He stressed the combination of streamers and bows in adding distinction to an ordinary arrangement for weddings and other occasions.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting to the 14 members and three guests present.

Donna Howland 'Belle Of The Ball'

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
The students lounge of Seminole High School was the scene Saturday night for the annual Glee Club Ball.

The students lounge of Seminole High School was the scene Saturday night for the annual Glee Club Ball. The Glee Club officers along with their director, Miss Ollie Reese Whittle, created a lovely setting which at ten o'clock saw the new "belle of the ball" being seated on her throne and crowned by last year's belle, Miss Sherry Thrasher.

The setting was a small stage with steps which led up to an ornamental white loveseat. A white archway entwined with red camellias and greenery was placed over the loveseat throne. On each side of the throne were placed ornamental white chairs for the runners-up to the belle. Small palms were placed at different parts of the lounge.

The tables were decorated with glass star candle holders holding white candles. Around the candles were red camellias and greenery. Each place card and date card were decorated with small red hearts and red pencils.

Chosen by the judges as the "Belle of the Ball" was Miss Donna Howland, with Miss Karen Thornell as first runner-up and Miss Michele Jones as second place.

Miss Howland's escort was David Lanier. Jack Beckwith escorted Miss Thornell and Ricky Waistrom was Miss Jones' escort. Buddy Burton, president of the Glee Club, and his date led in the grand march.

Dainty and talented Miss Jeri Wheatland entertained the group during the evening with one of her famous selections. The Ice-men of Orlando furnished the music for dancing.

Judges were Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mrs. Marian Lawson, Mrs. Walter Fessler, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Miss Ethel Riser and Miss Dorothy Morrison.

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: We have three sons, 12, 12 and 10. I am worried about our oldest boy. He is about the same size as his 12-year-old brother. In fact, they are often taken for twins. The two younger boys gang up on the older one, who just stands there and lets them beat him up. He doesn't cry or hit back or even ask for help. This doesn't seem normal to me. I know all child behavior problems, and take the boy there. Something is wrong with a boy who will not defend himself, or retaliate when attacked. P. S. And while you are about it, find out what is making unprovoked aggressors out of the other two boys.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is divorced, has two small children and receives no help from her former husband. (He has remarried and left the state.) I have been taking care of her children days while she works. She makes very good money, but I have a small pension and don't take anything for helping her. My daughter is very quarrelsome. She curses me and the children and treats me like a hired hand. She has been getting me so nervous and upset lately that I can't eat or sleep right, and my health is beginning to fail.

Jacoby On Bridge

At eight tables in the world championship team trials South opened with a weak two bid or passed his nine high card points and good spade suit. It did not do any harm since each of the eight wound up playing four spades against a king of clubs opening lead and had no trouble making the hand by ruffing two low clubs in dummy to give him eight trump tricks and two minor suit aces.

At the ninth table South elected to open one spade and reached game in accordance with the bidding shown in the box. West made the inspired opening of a small trump and from this point on perfect defense would have doomed South to defeat.

South did not know this right away. He was pretty sure that the ace of hearts was repeating angrily in the West hand, but he could set the diamond suit if it would only break 3-2 so South led the ace of diamonds and ruffed a second diamond only to get the bad news there. Still, while there's life there's hope. South led a club to dummy's ace and ruffed a third diamond. Then he ruffed a second club with dummy's last trump and expert West who apparently had become exhausted by the strain of making that brilliant trump lead was careful to conserve both his king and queen of clubs.

Now South ruffed a fourth diamond and played out his two remaining trumps. West discarded a heart on the last trump lead but South was in control. He simply led a third club. West took his king and queen of clubs and then had to lead hearts and give South a trick with the king on the second lead.

Welcome Wagon Board Approves Year's Project

Executive board members of the South Seminole Welcome Wagon Club set their annual project and fund raising campaign for the year at a luncheon meeting held Monday at the home of Mrs. Jenie Fritter in Briarwood.

The club will direct its work for the year to the Lutheran Children's Home and the Home for the Aged in Slavia, visiting and providing outings for both each month.

The main fund raising event will be the sale of greeting cards.

Following the luncheon, those attending surprised Mrs. Bernard Willoughby, the former Mrs. Sue Gates, with a linen shower during which a mock wedding ceremony was conducted with Mrs. Clare Paulsen as the bride, Mrs. Gilda Pettinati as the groom, and Mrs. Maryann Miles as the minister.

The next board meeting is scheduled for 11:30 a.m., March 15, at the home of Mrs. Bea Baggett in Winter Park.

General membership meeting of the club will be held at 11:30 a.m., next Thursday, at the House of Beel in Maitland. The film, "Why a Heart Association?" will be shown by Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas.

South Seminole heart education chairman, it also is hoped that Dr. Maria Perez will be able to attend the meeting to speak to the group.

Songwriter, Wife Shot By Son, 22

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Songwriter Jerry Livingston's son was under psychiatric observation today, following the shooting of his parents because they "were bugging him," police reported.

Gary Livingston, 22, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder and then was taken to Los Angeles County General Hospital for observation, police said.

The elder Livingston, 53, who wrote such hit songs as "Mairzy Doots," "Talk of the Town" and "Close to You," and his wife, Ruth, 51, were shot Wednesday in the family's fashionable home here.

Both were taken to UCLA Medical Center, where attendants said they were in "satisfactory condition."

Livingston had a bullet wound in his left arm and his wife was shot in the chest.

Leaning Minaret Straightened Up

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Russians have straightened the Leaning Minaret of Samarkand.

And, they said, they might be able to help Italians straighten the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

The top of the 15th century, 970-ton tower in the ancient city of Asiatu Russia has leaned by five feet for the past 30 years and has been supported by cables.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the lofty tower was jacked upright at the end of a two-month operation.

Backyard Cooks Gain Support

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—The Reno City Council decided that a man has the inalienable right to barbecue a steak in his backyard whenever he pleased, smog or no smog.

Councilman William Graville pointed out that a proposed section of the city's smog-control ordinance indicated there could be no barbecuing if the "inversion base" is less than 1,500 feet.

"How are you going to know what the inversion base is," he asked. "Most people don't even know what it means."

Mounted Police Stumped In Hunt For Tail Lights

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wanted: A tail light for horses that doesn't make the animal nervous and won't irritate his rump.

That's the problem facing San Francisco's mounted police as the result of the discovery that state law requires such lights on any caravan.

Since the mounted detail of ten travels in a group, police figure their horses qualify.

"The area on a horse where you need them is an odd place to put lights," said Sgt. Joe Galk, in charge of the detail, who noted that the animals have thus far thwarted all attempts.

"The next thing you know, we'll need directional signals," he sighed.

'65 Year Of Decision For N. Atlantic Pact

By Joseph W. Grigg
PARIS (UPI)—The year 1965 may be the year of decision for the North Atlantic alliance.

It may see a showdown between French President Charles de Gaulle and the rest of the alliance over the West's nuclear defense set-up.

At the worst, 1965 could even see France pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the breakup of the defense alignment created by the free West in 1949.

NATO, an alliance of 15 independent states, each with its own national ax to grind, has moved from crisis to crisis from year to year throughout its 15 years' existence. Yet, when the chips were down, as in the Cuban crisis of 1962, it has frayed its differences and stood solidly together.

But today it faces what may prove its most dangerous crisis of all over the American sponsored project for an allied multi-lateral force of surface ships (MLF) armed with Polaris missiles and manned by crews of mixed nationalities.

The project was devised by the United States in an effort to give its European allies a greater share in the West's nuclear defense. In particular, it was designed to give West Germany a shared nuclear role in the hope it would discourage her from attempting to create an independent nuclear force of her own.

But the plan met with little general success among America's European allies. Only the West Germans accepted it without question.

Water No. 1 Problem Of U. S.

Financial Gossip

NEW YORK (UPI)—When Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare, called for industry to help in solving the nation's problems in air and water pollution, he was touching upon a subject which occupies a substantial share of the attention of thousands of businessmen.

The days when most American rivers ran free and clean, when ground water could be tapped with little effort and water virtually could be had for the asking, are long gone from the national scene. Perhaps the average citizen is not so conscious as he should be of the nation's water problems, or not so acutely aware of them as may be the operator of a big manufacturing plant; the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) has been urging that he keep himself informed better than in the past.

Celebrezze, addressing a National Industrial Conference Board gathering in Washington, said that leaders in industry can help by supporting effective pollution control measures at the state and local levels.

NAM reports, in a review of a new book surveying water use in industry; notes that "most pollution control measures are embodied in state legislation or in interstate regional compacts, although federal legislation passed in 1956 and amended in 1961 gives the national government some powers to intervene in situations involving interstate or navigable waters affecting interstate conditions.

Most major rivers pass through several states, each of which may have its own ideas on anti-pollution measures, the NAM review noted. It said that one of the most extensive and successful efforts to solve the conflicts in standards has been in the work of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission, formed by eight states in 1948.

The commission's job, the NAM noted, "was to reverse the trend of a half-century of indifference to river abuse."

"Through co-operative efforts and a program to spread understanding, it succeeded dramatically. Treatments plants now serve 90 per cent of the sewerage population of the Ohio Valley, and four-fifths of the industrial establishments are operating water control and treatment facilities rated adequate by the regulatory states."

This "drainage basin concept," the NAM suggested, seemed to be the "only practical approach to water pollution control within the current framework of this nation's political structure."

New Approach To Disarm

Two scientists, one American and the other Russian, have proposed making a start on disarmament in Alaska and Siberia.

It's possibly the first fruitful thought on this crucial issue in the year and a half since the partial nuclear test ban treaty was signed to end above-ground tests.

The same holds true for the whole question of disarmament—meetings, discussions, but nothing to report.

The stumbling block in both cases has been and remains: Inspection.

While nuclear explosions in the open air are easily monitored from great distances, this is not so with those set off inside the earth, which they can be muffled, or confused with natural earthquakes.

Only on-the-spot inspection would guarantee adherence to a comprehensive test ban treaty. Only inspection would insure that no secret factories were turning out nuclear weapons or missiles or other war material.

But inspection is the one thing the Soviet Union has not been able to accept.

Now the two scientists—one American, one Russian—propose that we attack the disarmament impasse in small stages from the top—top of the world, that is. Their plan, reports Scientific American, is the first joint proposal of its kind by a U.S. and Soviet scientist.

Biophysicist Alexander Rich of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and geochemist Aleksandr P. Vinogradov of the Vernadsky Institute in Moscow point out that the Arctic is the only region of the world where the territories of the United States and U.S.S.R. adjoin.

They suggest that all or part of Alaska and a corresponding part of Siberia—equivalent in military value—be placed within an inspection zone. Although each country has military installations in these areas, they are not absolutely vital to security.

Nuclear weapons, long-range bombers and missiles would be banned from these areas. Some airfields and bases might be allowed to remain, as would purely defensive installations such as radar tracking stations.

An Alaska-Siberia inspection zone would require only the agreement of the two countries. Later, the zone might be extended into Greenland and expanded in Siberia, with Denmark (which owns Greenland) joining in a treaty.

Eventually, an even broader agreement could include Canada, Norway, Sweden and Finland and extend disarmament to the entire Arctic region. A buffer zone embracing the entire northern part of the world would then separate the offensive forces of East and West—yet leave the bulk of their military establishments intact.

Moreover, the development of inspection procedures and the habit of using them would provide "a considerable measure of reassurance and could contribute materially to fostering the kind of mutual trust that is a necessary prologue to additional disarmament measures."

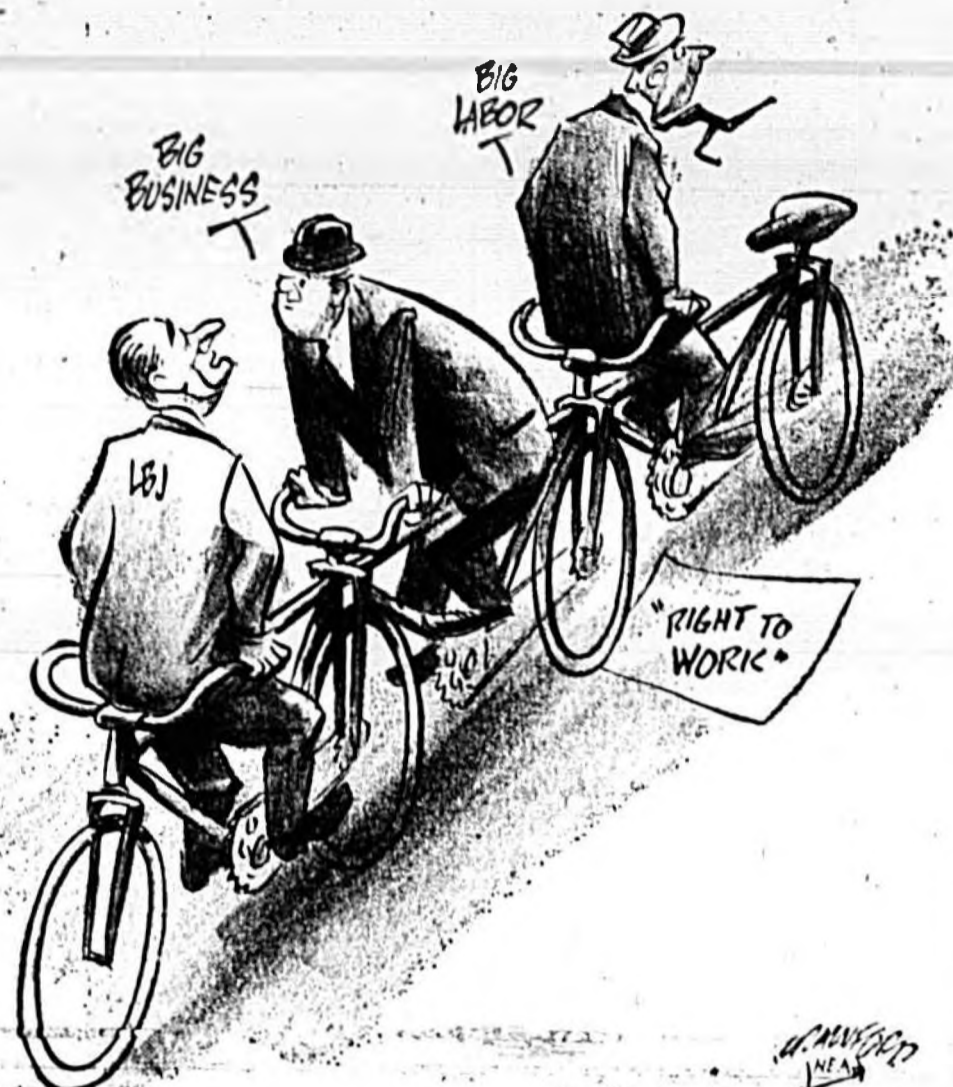

So say these two scientists. What say their governments?

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Johnson's 1966 budget does not give a true picture of what he proposes to spend.

On the surface, the budget would raise federal expenditures only $2 billion. But actual federal spending likely will increase by nearly $7 billion during the next year, counting supplemental dollar requests Johnson is sending Congress.

Some of this spending shows up in payments from special government funds. Many spending boosts are hidden by gimmicks and by fake decreases.

Some $80 million of one Veterans Administration budget "decrease" is a paper figure achieved by changing the dates on which checks are sent out, so that fewer than usual will be mailed this fiscal year. That doesn't save anything, of course, it merely causes spending in another fiscal year.

Fact of the decline in the Department of Agriculture's estimated 1966 farm income stabilization expenditures to $2.8 billion from a change in the timing of feed-grain acreage diversion payments.

In another place, the budget sets an expenditure by estimating a major decline in the loss of government-owned and government-insured mortgages and by predicting the sale of $600 million of so-called government-held mortgages to private investors but with the government still holding the bag if the homeowners default.

The budget also estimates a strong decline in subsidy payments to farmers. Last year the President underestimated these payments by more than one billion dollars and is now before Congress for $1.4 billion to correct his mistake. (He's asking the new Congress for a total of $6 billion in supplemental 1966 funds.)

The 1966 Johnson budget also has a whole series of ingenious projects that by their very nature will automatically push spending up in future years. These are what budget men technically call "built-in" increases. To accomplish this, the President is asking Congress to increase his authority to obligate funds by more than $17 billion above what it was in the last Kennedy budget.

Example:

President Johnson is asking for a $600 million obligation authority for a kickoff nest egg for his proposed hospital insurance trust fund for the aged, while he lists only $20 million for spending the first year. Payments will rise to more than $12 billion a year.

He's also asking for starting authority to obligate $400 million for his area re-development program, but lists only $40 million expenditures for 1966.

He's asking for authority to spend $150 million in grants for basic community facilities in needy cities, but sets aside only $15 million as 1966 expenditures.

The authority to obligate these large amounts for the future would mean greatly swelling the 1966 deficit.

Even after the $12 billion cut in excess taxes the President is proposing, taxes over all will go up by almost $7.5 billion in fiscal 1966 of his program, go through largely by increases in social security, hospitalization for the aged, highway and air transportation taxes.

Despite their positions of a booming economy, with rapid growth in gross national product and in tax collections, the men who put the President's budgets together now look forward to having their first balanced budget in the year he runs for reelection.

In the meantime, the presidential advisers expect he will ask Congress for a $5 billion increase in the federal debt limit in fiscal 1966.

Dick West's The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Smithsonian Institution, which is the chief U. S. repository for the artifacts of our civilization, enticed its collection this week with what may be the most significant item of all.

It accepted for preservation an original model of the world's first mimeograph machine.

The primitive fluted duplicator, which is credited with starting the paperwork revolution in this country, was presented to the museum by the A. B. Dick Co. of Chicago.

It was Albert Blake Dick, founder of the company, who conceived the idea in 1883. He and Thomas A. Edison put together the machine that is now known as the "Edison No. 3."

Dick, who was then in the lumber business, knew a good thing when he saw it. He quickly switched from lumber to mimeographs, and the rest is history.

Where would our republic be today without the mimeograph? The mind boggles at the thought of where our republic is today with the mimeograph.

Pardon me if I report that the federal government alone uses enough mimeograph paper each year to make a stack 1,500 times higher than the Washington Monument.

If that doesn't boggle your mind, nothing will.

Old "No. 3" could turn out about 300 copies an hour in good weather on a fast track. Current models can produce about 9,000 copies an hour without even heating band.

Considering the advanced stage that mimeographing has reached, I was a little amazed to learn that the process was only invented about 80 years ago.

This means that Hannibal crossed the Alps, Columbus discovered America and Grant took Richmond without mimeographing anything. Which is almost incredible. I somehow had the impression that even the Egyptian hieroglyphics were mimeographed.

When Samuel F. B. Morse tapped out history's first telegraph, he wrote "What hath God wrought?" Nobody knows what A. B. Dick wrote on the first mimeograph, but the assumption is that it was nothing more dramatic than a price list for lumber.

In some ways, however, the mimeograph has given us more to be wrought up about than the telegraph. In fact much of the vast amount of mimeographed material that crosses my desk is over wrought.

In accepting "Edison No. 3" for the Smithsonian, Jacob Kainen, curator of graphic arts, commented that "our paperwork as much as our guns and ships helped win the war." Ah, yes.

Everyone knows that the modern army travels on its stencil.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Dolly is actually being hampered by the over indulgence of her grandparents. For it is the unsatisfied desire of childhood that often serve as the goads to hard work and college education in later years. Don't surfeit your children with too many luxuries. And beware lest you employ your youngsters as outlets for your own repressed childhood!

CASE V-416: Dolly B., aged 4, is a smart youngster. "But she is very spoiled," her mother protested, "for she is the first grandchild on both sides of the family. So her grandparents shower her with gifts. As a result, she grows bored with her playthings for she has too many of them. Although I urge her grandparents to slow up with their gifts, they never come to see us without bringing her a new present. "Dr. Crane, what can I do in this situation?"

To avoid surfeiting your child with too many toys, ration them.

Hide away most of the dolls or auto trucks and other toys, for children usually prefer only one or two things at a time.

So keep the rest stored out of sight. Then, in a day or two, give the youngster a couple of the other toys and hide those that have been in use.

Thus, the child's interest is whetted by the new attractions that appear from day to day.

And when a child has nine dolls, it would be wise to pass most of them along to the Salvation Army or other worthy charitable bodies.

Or bequeath them to your Sunday School for use with the toddlers.

And don't lavish too many playthings on your youngsters as an indirect but belated way of gratifying your own repressed childhood!

For example, many people crave a Shetland pony when they are youngsters, but never get one.

At intervals they may indulge their desire to ride a pony by paying 10 cents to 25 cents for a short jaunt around the circle on the back of one of those commercial ponies for rent.

But the unsatisfied desire to actually OWN a pony, still persists.

So such parents may finally purchase a pony for their darling daughter (or son). And what happens?

After a couple of weeks, the novelty wears off and the pony is no longer a primary attraction for the child.

Except when guests arrive, the pony may then be ignored.

Meanwhile, the parents of the child must care for the pony, as they usually must do for the puppy or kitten that may also be given to their young hopeful.

So it is often smarter to let your youngsters carry some unsatisfied urges all through childhood.

For it is such hungers that serve as a wholesome goad to frugality and hard work and further schooling.

Actually, you will find that unsatisfied childish desires are often best left unfulfilled, for then they become spurts to greater attainment.

Children who become surfeited with too many amusements and who have their every wish overly gratified, often lack initiative in college.

They come bored with life. Like Alexander who shed tears because there were no more worlds to conquer, they may then become demoralized or even commit suicide!

(Always write in Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Letters

Editor, Herald:

It was with considerable care and forethought that I tried to inform the public of our plans to close. Despite my effort, because of misinformation, there has resulted undue anxiety and confusion in many areas.

I wish, here, to repeat my original statement:

"Our license as a Home for the Aged expired Dec. 31, 1964. Because of continuing and increased demands of facilities related to the care of the aged, we are unable to continue in our present facility. We, therefore, have not and do not intend to apply for re-licensing."

It is hoped that with the full cooperation of the state and county welfare agencies, none of our residents will be moved on or about Feb. 1. Movements of further moves and future plans will be made at a later date.

Two of our residents were moved on Feb. 1 to the nursing home in Sanford. Four will be moved on the 15th to Daytona Beach, one on the 15th to Deland. The balance of the time will be moved as soon as suitable places are found.

The second phase of our closing will take place on or about April 1, as seems required by the State.

At this time, I am not closing myself to a final closing date. We anticipate considerable difficulty in placing some of our residents and do not intend to create chaos as we go because of outside influences.

It is our full intention to consider the needs of each in detail and accomplish our final act of service with compassion and understanding.

It is my fervent request that anyone desiring further information either about the closing or about any one in individual now in our care would contact me directly, please.

Roundhead

Roundhead was a term, applied to the adherents of the parliamentary party in England during the great Civil War. Some of the Puritans wore the hair closely cropped around the head. The word was first used in 1644 by a disbanded officer, David Hide, who drew his sword during a riot and said he would "cut the throats of those round-headed dogs that howled against bishops."

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Others can be inspired by your charm and courtesy now, so don't be stingy with it. Entertaining those to whom you have a debt of gratitude fine. Otherwise, cruise about with ecst.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to enjoy that personal ambition now to the utmost if you think leaving practical affairs warrants it. Be kind to someone who deserves it. Store up blessing for yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be more altruistic, especially with good friends who have done so much for you. Get about socially more. Note what others need and do your best to give it to them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Doing your civic duty wisely today stamps you as a number one citizen. Be sure that you do something to better your credit rating. Then you find business is better for you, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be alert to some new methods of operating that will make your future brighter and more affluent. Welcome new contacts. They give the right slant and shed light where there is now darkness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Precision that is wed with thought is what counts with your partners now, so be on the proverbial ball. Be kind with loved one in PM. Buy some little thoughtful gift—or a big one.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those remarkable people who intuitively knows just what to say and do for others that will ingratiate him or her closer. There is also an innate sense of what is right where color and tone are concerned, and the life is best spent where there is true luxury, even if only working for the so-called rich. But a fortune could be in this chart. The stars impel, they do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Industry Waits For Deeds

Generals Stage Coup

Uninterested In 'Planning,' Engineers Say

By Harry I. Johnson
Industrial leaders are seldom interested in what a community "plans" to do; but all are interested in what a community has done.

This is the gist of a survey made of such industrial figures who would be interested in a barge terminal near Sanford.

The report was made by Lockwood Greene Engineers, Inc. of Spartanburg, S. C. and filed with the Port Authority Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

"While in the course of the study for this report," the engineers said, "many industries in the United States have been contacted in regard to their using the facilities in Sanford when such facilities are constructed."

"Few have indicated a real interest at this time. There are reasons for this: 'One is that so many areas approach them for the same information. Many of these areas they found are not really serious about plans for such facilities and it would cost them many dollars to evaluate traffic patterns, rates and the like at this time when they would have to do the same thing when the facility was constructed.'"

"All said, however, they would certainly like to know when such a facility actually existed and at such time could probably re-evaluate their transportation policies. This is a common attitude in industry in general today."

"Almost all industries are not so much interested in what a community is going to do for them or what utilities or other facilities they intend to construct for them, but they are interested in what the community has done and what has been constructed and what utilities are in place for them."

"We feel certain," the engineers concluded in this phase of the report, "that at such time as the facility is constructed, industries, barge operators, shipping companies and anyone interested in traffic on the inland waterways will be more receptive to talking with the operations people from the port facility."

As the local situation stands now, the committee headed by Francis Roumillat is reviewing the exhaustive engineering and feasibility report and is putting the finishing touches on legislation which would permit a port authority to come into existence.

A rough draft of the legislative act has been approved and, when completed, will be presented to the State Legislature in April.

The port site is declared one of the most advantageous in the state since it is near existing railroads, the Interstate highway and other transportation facilities.

World Peace Through Law Is Only Way

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chief Justice Earl Warren told a three-day international conference of intellectuals today that lasting peace can only be achieved through a rule of law.

Governments and religions should make accomplishment of this goal their preoccupation, Warren said. The chief justice spoke at the privately sponsored peace conference of nearly 2,000 intellectuals from 14 countries.

Another American, former U. S. Ambassador George F. Kennan, issued a plea to both East and West that they accept on faith the ultimate humanity of the other.

Kennan, formerly ambassador to Russia and Yugoslavia and now a professor at the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N. J., said there is no hope at all in present Western assumptions that Soviet leaders are totally inhumane.

He also urged a basic revision in Western assumptions of Soviet military intentions.

Warren said domestic law has made great progress since ancient times but the same cannot be said of international law.

"If we really want peace on earth, if we believe that order is achieved through law, then we should make world peace through law our preoccupation," Warren said.

"First we must agree upon the principles that are essential to peace in our 20th Century civilization."

"Then we must advocate and promulgate laws that will make those principles the guiding force in the lives of nations and people everywhere. Lastly we must have forums for their interpretation and enforcement."

Ranger Heads For Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The Ranger 8 U. S. spacecraft was heading on dead aim today to collide with the moon and send back to earth television pictures of the lunar surface.

The 208-pound space vehicle was launched from Cape Kennedy Wednesday and all subsequent operations were carried out smoothly.

There was a possibility a terminal maneuver would be required to position the spacecraft's television cameras for proper picture-taking.

But this would not be decided until late this afternoon after study of telemetry data by scientists at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL).

After a 12-hour study Thursday of telemetry data relayed to earth tracking stations by Ranger 8, project manager Harris M. Schurmeier said everything appeared normal.

FLYING CAMERA — If successful, the Ranger-8 will follow this maneuvering plan in its flight to the moon for pictures of the Sea of Tranquility to be flashed back to earth at about 11 a.m. Saturday. (NEA Telephoto)

$1.085 Billion State Budget Provides Employee Pay Hike

Bulletin
TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Budget Commission approved a proposed appropriation today that would permit new state universities at Pensacola and Orlando to open on schedule.

The asking budgets were heard during January at a week-long public session, which also was attended by members of the legislative appropriations committees.

In addition to the recommended funds, said Burns, $13,744,239 in unallocated monies was put into the budget which could be used by the Legislature to provide new or expanded services.

The 866 pages of budget recommendations provided $142 million in excess of current spending of $918 million.

Burns said the increase was 15.6 per cent, and it gave every agency more money than was available in present budgets.

He said provisions were made for population increases in agencies such as mental hospitals, prisons, public schools and universities.

Lawmakers Converge On Sanford Base

The state's lawmakers converged on Sanford Naval Air Station this afternoon where they heard briefings by top Naval officers in the state and witnessed a demonstration of the Navy's air power.

The Navy presentation was one of several defense briefings being conducted in Sanford and Orlando today and Saturday for members of the State Legislature, a state Chamber of Commerce military affairs committee and special guests.

Addressing the distinguished group of about 150 were Vice Adm. A. S. Heyward Jr., chief of Naval Air Training, Pensacola; Rear Adm. Robert Goldswaite, commander of Fleet Air, Jacksonville, and Rear Adm. T. A. Christopher, commander of Key West Force.

The admirals explained the missions of their respective commands and what their economic impacts are in the state. Some suggestions were made as to how the state can make Florida a better place for the Navy to carry out its mission.

After the briefings the group witnessed one of the largest air demonstrations seen at the station in some time.

For many of the visitors it was their first close look at the modern RA-5C Vigilante reconnaissance bomber.

Sanford, home of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, is the global headquarters for the twin-engine jet aircraft.

The demonstration consisted of a simulated carrier landing practice and a overhead flyover.

In addition to Sanford Vigilantes, Skywarriors and Cougars were fighter aircraft from Cecil Field near Jacksonville. They included F4 Crusaders, A4 Skyhawks and F4 Phantoms.

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese marine and army units marched into Saigon today and announced the overthrow of military strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Troops announced the coup was in favor of Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, currently Vietnamese ambassador in Washington.

First indications were that the troops were led by the so-called "young turk" group of generals who first showed their power last September when they saved Khanh from a coup attempt by older generals.

Troops and tanks poured into the city and surrounded Khanh's house and the official prime minister's residence. The coup forces also seized control of the radio station and the central telephone office, cutting off all internal communications.

Streets leading to Khanh's home were blocked off by the troops and civilian police. There was no immediate indication of the fate of Khanh who, himself, first showed power in a coup on Jan. 31, 1964.

Many Changes
About 2 p.m. (1 a.m. EST) the coup units began broadcasting a series of statements and communiqués.

They said the coup stemmed from the fact that Khanh was changing the government every two weeks.

The new government will be the sixth that has ruled embattled South Viet Nam in the period since President Ngo Dinh Diem was ousted and assassinated on Nov. 1, 1963.

Friction between the government and the powerful, militant Buddhists has led to the fall of at least three of those governments, including the one which Diem headed.

Some leaders of the coup were identified as Roman Catholics, giving rise to fears that the revolt would stir up new political-religious strife with militant Buddhist elements.

RANGERS FIGHT GUERRILLAS
SAIGON (UPI)—Vietnamese rangers fought Communist guerrillas early today in a continuing battle south of the U.S. air base at Da Nang—the jumping off point for retaliatory air strikes against North Viet Nam.

Military authorities said a Viet Cong force moved into the area from strongholds in the coastal plains in an attempt to launch an attack similar to the raid against a U.S. helicopter base at Pleiku on Feb. 7.

Fighting near Da Nang broke out Thursday. Initial reports said Vietnamese forces lost 20 killed, 18 wounded and 28 missing.

Guerrilla casualties were not known.

Da Nang is 400 miles north of Saigon.

State Official Visits Sanford

J. Willard Peables, of Wildwood, newly appointed Fifth District member of the State Road Board, was in the Sanford area Thursday afternoon on an informal get-acquainted tour of this county.

He conferred with local officials on road problems. Today he is in Orlando as he continues his tour. He will attend an SRD-County conference March 6 at DeLand.

We knew it! We knew it! That "Clock" mention of Sanford, Fla., Sanford, N. C., and Sanford, Ariz., brought this note:

The Post Office directory does not list Sanford, Ariz., but it is a suburb of Phoenix. However, it does list Sanford, thustly:

Alabama, a station in Los Angeles, Colorado, Florida, Maine, Michigan, a station in Seminary, Miss., North Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

But, R. E. Porter opines: There may be 11 Sanfords all told but there is only ONE Sanford.

Postmaster Cecile Heard announced today that post office services will be on a holiday schedule Monday, in celebration of Washington's Birthday.

There will be no regular mail delivery and the post office will be closed. However, there will be delivery of special mail and perishables and regular box pickups.

All other governmental offices, including state, county and city offices, business firms and schools will be on regular schedules.

A play, "Stars and Stripes," the history of the making of the first American flag, was presented at Southside School by students of Mrs. Nancy Brock's fourth grade. Starring as Hetsy Ross was Kim Hart and as Gen. George Washington was Steve Wheelchel.

Jim Hunt, president of the Retarded Children's Association, says 20 of the grocery carts given to the school for resale are ready to be picked up. Recently a supermarket donated 100 of the carts to the school. They have been worked over and painted and will make fine laundry, household or garden cars. We can't quote the price, but it is very, very low. Call Jim and order one — you'll benefit and so will the Little Red Schoolhouse.

Nine Sanford Junior High students made the all "A" honor roll during the last six weeks grading period. They were ninth graders Brenda Carter, Pam Pigott and Brent Armstrong; eighth graders Linda Bradbury, Anabelle Moore and Van Robbins, and seventh graders Katherine Bishop, Judy Tanner and Judy Youngblade.

Miss Jo Ann Zeigler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Zeigler of 2312 Palmetto-Avenue, was named to the Dean's List at the University of Florida for the fall trimester, with an average of 3.8. Miss Zeigler, a graduate of Seminole High School, is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.
