Roundup Of This Week's Good, Bad News On International Sheet

By CHARLES W. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news of the international balance sheet:

President Eisenhower laid before Soviet Russia this week a detailed plan aimed at reducing world tension.
As part of his plan, the President offered to attend a "summit" conference on cold war issues provided that Soviet leaders could convince him they were ready to negotiate in good faith.

Eisenhower made his proposals in reply to a letter which Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin had sent him last Dec. 10.
He called on Russia to help restore confidence by carrying out the promise it made at the 1955 "summit" meeting, in July, 1955, that Germany should be reunified through free elections.

As regards the new "summit" meeting which Russia has long sought, the President said it would be useful only if careful preparation gave promise of its success.
First, he said, there must be exchanges through diplomatic channels. Then negotiations could be taken to the level of the foreign ministers of the countries concerned. Finally, if these negotiations proved fruitful, there would be the "summit" meeting.

To strengthen the position of the United States either as a cold war opponent of Russia or in negotiations with it, Eisenhower submitted to Congress a budget of $13,900,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Of this, $38,779,000,000 was earmarked for defense. Defense estimates called for big increases in spending in the nuclear missile field and for reductions in troop strength and conventional weapons.

French Premier Felix Gaillard, who took office last Nov. 8 as his country's 24th post-war premier, faced a series of votes of confidence in the National Assembly, the controlling house of parliament, at the new session.

The 1958 budget, a plan for home rule for Algeria and a proposal for constitutional reform which would make it harder for the Assembly to overthrow a government, were the chief issues. A defeat on any of them would mean Gaillard's resignation.
A government report issued in Washington estimated that coun-tries of the Soviet bloc had promised loans and grants to free countries totaling $1,900,000,000 in the last 24 years.

The aid program, part of the attempt to infiltrate free coun-tries, was extended to 11 countries — Afghanistan, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, India, Indone-sia, Nepal, Egypt, Syria, Iceland and Yugoslavia.
The Soviet Russian defense min-istry announced the appointment of Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov as chief of the "main political ad-ministration" of the armed forces. Golikov succeeds Col. Gen. Alexei S. Zheltov. Zheltov's apparent dismissal, and Golikov's appoint-ment, were not explained. But ap-parently they marked a new step in the campaign of Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev to strengthen party control over the armed forces.

Damage Toll High But No Injuries In Two Accidents

Two accidents in Sanford took a terrific toll in property damage. However, there were no injuries in either collision. One accident involved running a red light and the other leaving the scene of an accident.

At First St. and French Ave. Marlin Stevenson, 18, a 1954 high school student, skidded 80 feet attempting to stop as he ran a red light. A car driven by Miss Mary George collided with Steven-son's car in the center of the stop-light intersection.

Damage to Miss George's car was estimated at $450 and the 1950 Ford driven by Stevenson was a total loss. The accident occurred shortly after 7 o'clock.

A 1947 Oldsmobile, driven by Zak Pin and parked on Southwest Road near 13th St. was a total loss when it was struck from the rear by a car driven by Robert Dixon, 22-year-old Negro of 10th St. and Jessamine Ave.

Damage to the Negro girl's car was estimated at $350.
Captain Arnold Williams of the Sanford Police Department, in-vestigating both accidents, said that 1 Hubby Dixon would be charged with reckless driving, no drivers license, and leaving the scene of an accident.

He said that charges against Marlin Stevenson would be running a red light.
Property damage in the two accidents totaled $1,350.

PROPERTY DAMAGE RAN high in collisions last night. Car at top was declared a total loss by Captain Arnold Williams of the Sanford Police Department. Bottom car damage was estimated at $450. Marlin Stevenson, 18, was charged with running a red light; Ruby Dixon was charged with reckless driving, no drivers license, and leaving the scene of an accident. (Staff Photo)

Navy Elects Queen For High Fever Follies Contest

By VIRGINIA CONN
741 votes were cast by Navy men and their wives Wednesday when the Sanford Naval Air Station elected a Navy Queen to participate in the High Fever Follies. The Follies will be presented by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Seminoles Memorial Hospital Feb. 13, 14, and 15 at Seminole High School.

Name of the Navy Queen will be revealed Jan. 27 at the Talent Party which will be held at the Mayfair Inn. The Navy Queen, who was required to be the wife of a Navy man, will take her place with contestants from out-lying towns and Sanford Civic Clubs.
Voting will be done by putting names in a jar on a voting board which will be placed on the corner of Park and First St. in front of Roumillat and Anderson's Drug Store.

Working on the Navy Queen contest Wednesday were Mrs. Norman McNulty, Mrs. Jack Landford and Mrs. Ray Fernandez. The Navy men and their wives were required to register first (Continued on Page Seven)

Benson Urges Prompt Approval Of Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today asked Congress for prompt approval of the administration's plans to reduce the farmer's dependence on government.
He said he must be given "administrative discretion" to reduce price supports on basic crops.

Benson urged action "in the first months of this session" on the farm program submitted to Congress Thursday by President Eisenhower.

The secretary launched his fight for the program before the Senate Agriculture Committee, the committee's chairman, Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), already has said the program has "absolutely no chance" of congressional approval.

Old Biscuits
Congressional farm leaders have attacked the one-day-old program variously as "old biscuits hardly warmed up" and "the same old polsion."

DR. C. R. DECKER

Dr. C. R. Decker To Speak Monday At Rotary Club

"The Second Liberation, dealing with the new awakening economy of Venezuela in the past 20 years and its effect on all aspects of Venezuelan life, will be the subject of a talk at the regular meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club next Monday noon, at the Yacht Club, by a man who is thoroughly conversant with conditions in the country which has been so much in the news lately.
Dr. Clarence R. Decker, Vice-President of Fairleigh Dickinson University, and Educational Consultant to the Creole Petroleum Corporation, was formerly President of the University of Kansas City (1938-1952). He received his Ph. D. in literature from the University of Chicago (1928) at the age of 23, and his A. B. in philosophy and economics from Carleton College (1925).
Dr. Decker has taught at the University of North Dakota, Northwestern, De Paul, Illinois Wesleyan, Western Illinois State College, and the University of Kansas City. He has travelled throughout Europe, the Near East, and free Asia. He is the author or co-author of four books: Wings of the Prophet (1936), The Victorian Conscience (1952), South-east Asia in the Coming World (1953), and A Place of Light (1954). Founder and editor of the University of Kansas City Review, he has also published widely. (Continued On Page Seven)

Demos Seek Speed Up In Nuclear Development

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democ-rats today shipped hard at the administration to get moving on a nuclear-powered space ship en-try in the race to the moon and planets.

They also slammed an apparent case by President Eisenhower and defense officials toward a reorganization of the Pentagon.
At the same time presidential science adviser Dr. Eric A. Walker warned free nations would become Soviet "colonies" eventually unless "drastic" technological advances were made in the next 10 years.

The move was led by Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-N.C.), committee chairman, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) as two Convair officials said the Air Force was considering a long-range outer space program. They said it was designed to put a manned satellite in orbit in five or six years and later send an atomic-powered rocket to Mars.

Proposed Moon Landing
They told the Senate preparedness subcommittee Thursday the program also called for a landing on the moon. They said the decli-sion on a "go-ahead" was expected this month if the administra-tion decided to okay it.

The program was unveiled by Thomas G. Lanphier Jr., vice president of the Convair division of General Dynamics Corp., and Kraft Ehrlich, a German-born rocket expert and now Convair's chief planner for space and satellite vehicles.
Holifield opened the Democrat's drive with a House speech charging that the administration was "standing pat" in the face of Russia's space challenges. He said the Defense Department had "nothing startling" on its drawing boards.
He proposed that Adm. Hyman C. Rickover, "father" of the atomic submarine, be named head of a crash program to develop a space ship.

Mystery, Money To Be Featured At Event Monday

Mystery and money will feature the program to be presented at the meeting Monday night at the DeBarry Civic Center when mem-bers of the Woman's Club enter-tain their men-folks. A pot roast supper with all the "accessories" will be served at 7:30 o'clock, to be followed by a program of en-tertainment staged by Charlie Morrison, well-known Sanford "good-will ambassador".

Ernest Southard of the South-ward Fruit Co. will give a demon-stration of extra sensory percep-tion during which, while blind-folded, he will endeavor to iden-tify items held in the hands of members of the audience. South-ward guarantees that he employs no confederates or "stages" or assistants of any kind. According to many who have witnessed his performance at the Sanford Junior High School and the Congrega-tional Christian Church, it is most mystifying, since he claims no supernatural powers.

Community singing, always a popular feature with DeBarry folks, will be led by Morrison to be fol-lowed by a silver dollar quiz, dur-ing which shiny silver dollars offered by the Florida State Bank will be awarded to the prize-winning contestants. Robert "Bob" Carnie, owner of the Sanford Furniture Co. will act as piano accompanist for the occasion.

Jaycee Week To Be Observed Jan. 19-26

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday announced its plans to celebrate Jaycee Week Jan. 19-26.
Mason Wharton, chairman of the Jaycee Week Committee said "It is an opportunity for us to let people know what we are doing and what we are for."

A proclamation was signed today by Mayor Starb Warner setting aside the coming week as Jay-cee Week in Sanford and calling on the people of the city to take a close look at what the Jaycees are doing in their community.
An "open board meeting" will be held Tuesday night to which "all who are interested may at-tend," said Wharton, as he de-scribed plans for the entire week.
Plans now, said Wharton, in-clude a banquet and entertainment at the Shrine Club building next Friday night beginning at 7:30.

National Director Tommy Rly-the of Melbourne has been invited to attend the banquet, said Whar-ton, to present the local Jaycee "Distinguished Service Award."
In addition, he said, "we will have an orchestra playing for dancing and entertainment from 8 to 1."

Statewide, the week of Jan. 19-26 will be observed as Jaycee Week according to Florida Jaycee President Robert M. Silver of Coral Gables. In setting aside this one week out of their annual sched-ule Jaycees through the State to take the time now to observe the found-ing of the Jaycee movement Jan. 19-22, 1920 in St. Louis, Mo.
"The occasion of our thirty eighth birthday," observed Presi-dent Silver, "should be one for us to look back over our fine civic record, not to bask in glory, but to push on with renewed spirit and vigor towards still higher goals in our efforts to improve ourselves as citizens and the communities, State, and nation in which we live."
In response to his call Junior

Chamber of Commerce clubs throughout the State will be hold-ing special programs throughout the week to honor distinguished citizens, out-standing young farm-ers, and out-standing young men from their own ranks. Most clubs will kick off the week with "Go To Church Sunday" followed by special banquets and projects such as com-munity improvements, safety programs, youth activities, and public health projects.
This nationwide birthday of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce commences with the Ten Outstanding Young Men Con-gress, being held this year on Jan. 17-18 in Phoenix, Ariz.

Director Urges Full Attendance At Chorus Practice

The Male Chorus will hold its regular weekly rehearsal Monday night at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of Sanford Elks Lodge, 1006 East Second St.
Director Harry M. Weir urges a full attendance to plan the program to be presented at the First Methodist Church Sunday night, Jan. 26.

Courtesy Week Termed Successful

"We had a most successful Florida Courtesy Week," Howard McNulty, chairman of the Cour-tesy Week Committee, reported to the Jaycees yesterday at the noon luncheon meeting.
"Everybody was Courteous Week conscious," he said,

"through the efforts of those who assisted in distributing streamers to the merchants throughout the city, distributing the badges displayed on lapels, and in distribut-ing bumper strips."
John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, told the Jaycees "I personally want to express our appreciation for the wonderful co-operation your organization has given us in staging Courtesy Week."
He said "for the first year it was most successful and we be-lieve that it will now be an annual affair with us."
Courtesy Week was sponsored locally by both the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.
Winners of the Courtesy Week contest were presented $25 U. S. Savings Bonds at yesterday's Jay-cee meeting.
Each of the winners was intro-duced to the Jaycees as Howard McNulty presented the bond. Those attending the meeting and receiving the award were: Mrs. Stella Smith, Most Courteous Saleslady; of McCrory's material department; E. C. Harper Jr., Most Courteous Salesman, of Sanford Electric Co.; Mrs. Jeas Far-ney, Most Courteous Waitress, of Touchton Drug Store; and Ser-geant Ben Butler, Most Courteous Policeman, of the Sanford Police Department.
M. L. Rabora Jr., president of the Jaycees, congratulated Howard McNulty for the excellent pro-gram for Courtesy Week and told Krider "who are always happy to cooperate with the Seminole Coun-ty Chamber of Commerce in ef-forts such as this one."

Tri-Hi-Y To Aid March Of Dimes

The Seminole High School Tri-Hi-Y Club will be doing its part to make the 1958 March of Dimes a success.
Wight Kirtley, co-chairman of the Seminole County drive, said that the group of girls will be sell-ing orange juice and potato chips Saturday to benefit the local cam-paign.
The girls will be in three dif-ferent stations in downtown San-ford tomorrow morning as they urge local citizens to buy their products to benefit the March of Dimes.

WORRY

It is worse than many a disease.
It can make you old before your time.
It can even kill you.
And before it does, it can destroy all your happiness.
We know all that... why then, do we worry?
We worry because we have too many fears for our shallow supply of faith.
A man or woman needs faith enough to brush aside his fears.
God is ready to give you all the faith you need.
But you'll never get it worrying all week...
In Church next Sunday, you can renew and strengthen your faith. In so doing, you will be able to face life unafraid.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Audience Applauds President's Talk

By FRANK ELAZER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON—It's true President Eisenhower blew some of his lines. By one count he goofed a word or so on 23 separate occasions.
 But the consensus of those who heard his State-of-the-Union address was that this wasn't so bad for a 5,000 word speech and in any event no worse than he would have done one, two, or five years ago.
 If everybody hadn't known Eisenhower had suffered a mild stroke Nov. 25, with a temporary impairment of speech, nobody would have thought a thing of such slips as Thursday's "citillians" for "citilians," or his backup-and-start-again on such tongue-twisters as "among our assets, let us first briefly glance."
 Better orators than Eisenhower have stumbled in public on phrases like that. After all, Eisenhower was hardly a novice even back in 1952 when he was wowing audiences from New York to California with his grin, his charm and his manifest sincerity.

WE WANNA' CASH A CHECK wailed three boot chiefs promoted just yesterday and attempting to cash a check for 10c as a part of their initiation. Spokesman for the group is the hairless one (with mop provided) in the center. The Chiefs, all of VAA-7, are: B. J. Massey, P. W. Simpson, and B. B. Marshall. (Photo by Bergstrom)

Some of those same qualities showed through Thursday, more than five years and three major illnesses later. For this or, some other reason his jampacked audience in the big House chamber loved him right from the start.
 They not only stood and applauded. They cheered and roared, more maybe from the Republican than the Democratic side but enough from both to warm
 the old soldier's heart.
 He grinned and beamed. When the first ovation finally was quieted he touched off a couple more by tossing verbal bouquets toward his wife in the gallery, she wanted to join in best wishes for the new year, he said, and to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Richard M. Nixon behind him, they both were celebrating birthdays this week, their 76th and 48th, respectively.

 Then he settled down to the business at hand. He fished his plastic-rimmed glasses out of his outer breast pocket, pulled a clip from his manuscript and slipped a sheet at a time off to the left, gradually unstacking one pile of paper and neatly building another.
 The speech was a long one, intended to run about 55 minutes.
 With 39 interruptions for ap-pleases it ran 45 minutes.

Florida Ends '57 With 1,041 Highway Deaths

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—Florida ended 1957 with 1,041 highway deaths which state patrol officials hailed as a "potential betterment trend which can be repeated this year."
 The patrol appealed for a 100 per cent effort by motorists to "back the attack" and continue the death rate reduction trend this year.

 Patrol Commander H. N. Kirkman said the saving of lives on the highway was "an easy objective to accomplish if folks would only give a little instead of demanding and taking what they call their right-of-way rights."
 But the patrol said the 1957
 final delayed death reports are tabulated.

New Highway Regulations Can Control Out-Of-Hand Traffic

Whether or not it has been noticed by most people is hard to say. But there has been a large number of automobile accidents in Sanford and Seminole County lately.

Failure to stop at stop signs and intersections, fast driving, failure to yield the right of way are some of the reasons why these accidents have occurred.

Not only has there been a heavy property damage loss, but there have been injuries and suffering.

Frankly, there is no reason whatsoever for many of the accidents that have been reported recently. Some accidents are understandable and unavoidable — and are recognized as such.

As cold weather increases its frequency, drivers should be more alert to all of the conditions existing about them as they travel to and from work or in the normal discharge of duties from one day to the next.

It is a shame that such a heavy toll in property damage and human suffering must be exacted because of the lax way in which our automobiles are handled on the roads and highways of our city and county.

No wonder insurance premiums climb—no wonder fines and costs are so high in traffic courtrooms—no wonder hospital costs soar.

The time has come when motorists must take a closer look at themselves and their methods of operating automobiles.

Only one avenue is left for law enforcement agencies—and that is to slow traffic down to such an extent speeding would be impossible.

Frankly—it would be ridiculous to see highway speed signs set at 25 miles per hour with stringent regulations governing any speeds above that mark. It would be equally ridiculous to see street speed zones at 15 and 20 miles per hour with patrolmen citing all who move above that mark.

All of that is possible—and even more! Unless all motorists — and that means ALL—take advantage of the opportunity to obey highway and street speed regulations, then restrictions that will hurt will sooner or later be necessary.

Seemingly that will be the only way possible for the survival of folks who drive.

Energetic Action Is Needed Now

There is a difference between energetic action and energetic public relations. In connection with foreign policy as in other matters, the administration has had energetic public relations. However, important goals, especially those of foreign policy, have not been pushed energetically.

Now, more than three months after Sputnik, the world is still not being given an adequate example of American energy. The impression still remains that America is going to do something rather than that something is being done. We know that we are now in a crisis which involves security and survival. Enough has been printed and said so that every American should know this. Under these circumstances, it is hard to understand why the demand for action is not louder and stronger.

The time should be past when it is necessary to convince the people that there is a crisis and that this involves foreign policy. The Russians have broken out of the containment established during the Truman administration. America's position of leadership has been damaged and weakened. NATO remains in crisis and could disintegrate under serious threat. The American position in the Middle East and Southeast Asia has deteriorated. Day after day the news has made such facts clear.

But what are we doing to reverse a situation which is so unfavorable to us? What are we going to do? What do the people feel, think and want? And, especially now with congress in session, will the people make their wishes, thoughts and feelings clear to our legislators and other leaders?

A new energy from top to bottom of American society must be made manifest if the decline of confidence in America, now being felt around the world, is to be halted and reversed.

There Are Three Choices

There are three ways to meet pending increases in defense spending — increases which are likely to run into the billions.

One way is to increase taxes. Then everyone will have less money to buy the goods and services that keep America's enterprises running and the American workers busy at good jobs.

The second way is to take the lid off the national debt limit, and let the government operate on a deficit basis—that is, by spending more than it takes in and making up the gap by borrowing. Then we will see a new and major wave of inflation that could end in economic disaster.

The third way is for the government to rigorously pare non-defense spending in every way possible. Top authorities say that $5 billion or more a year could be saved in this fashion.

The third way is the only tolerable choice even though it means curtailment of Federal spending in "untouchable" areas of benefits and projects dear to a lot of people.

The faculty of a Midwestern university has arranged a program to make sure every student can write English properly before graduating. This is the most radical educational change we've heard of lately.

The Federal Trade Commission was created in 1914 by Congress to safeguard free and fair competition in the nation's multi-billion dollar annual sale of goods and services.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"For Miss eyes are used all their ways."

THE "SOVEREIGN" STATES?

My New York

BY MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—Mr. Charles Gullick, a Briton by habit and an obvious monologist by avocation, hereby is warned: stay out of New York. You may get your teeth kicked in.

The other afternoon Gullick leaned back and with a shameless smile announced he had organized a "Conversing Travelers' association" because he thought it terrible that passengers on railroad and subway trains have to sit in silence during the long journeys from the suburbs. He saw no reason why commuters should stand on ceremony and disregard each other.

"It's an old-age habit that must be broken," Gullick said brashly. "Really, lots of people like to talk. I know I do." So he has formed the C. T. A. and the members will wear little white buttons on their jacket lapels indicating the traveler is willing to indulge in topical conversation with strangers of either sex so as to relieve the boredom of travel.

NOW, THE ENGLISH are a bizarre people and I make no attempt to explain them or their modes. If there are others like Gullick who want to chatter away in the subways, let 'em. There's no accounting for tastes in a country where they put vermouth in the martini.

But I have been contemplating in horror what would happen in Manhattan if someone with one of those white buttons turned to the man sitting on his left and said "Well, Jack, what do you think of the Sputnik? Take either side." The carnage would be frightening.

The New Yorker rides the subway for two reasons: (1) He has to, and (2) it may be the only time of the day when he can be silent. Even when he doesn't get a seat, which is most of the time, he stands there, away thoughtfully as he clings to his strap, and basks in glory of quiet. It is in its small way, a universal quiet. No one talks in subway trains. I am generalizing, of course—once in a while there is a hoarse cry of "Get offa my foot" or "I'll break every bone in ya body"—but I do so acutely.

YOU SEE, for one thing, the New Yorker considers all his fellow subway passengers below him. He feels it is only circumstance and bad breaks that keep him riding the subways. He should be rights he going to work in a fishtail Caddie. But he looks around him with a sneer and says of the others "Poor white trash." To converse with them is unthinkable.

For another thing—he doesn't want to talk with them; what he really wants to do is read their papers over their shoulders. And he does. When he puts his 15-cent token into the turnstile, he feels smugly he has bought the right to read his neighbor's paper and breathe onion fumes in his face. Even when he has a paper of his own, unread, on his lap.

Only once in a blue moon does the New Yorker feel like talking to a fellow passenger. And then it's because the fellow passenger has good ankles, a tidy waist and a face of more than passing prettiness. Can one honestly imagine him fingering his white button confidently and beginning a conversation with one of those? He'd be in the hands of the subway police inside of ten seconds, on his way to the station house on charges of mopey.

GULLICK, OF COURSE, doesn't really want to converse. He just wants to talk to himself. An obvious monologist, as noted earlier. Can't you just see Gullick's opening gambit? "You'd never think it to look at me," he'll start out, "but six months ago a doctor gave me a month to live. Well, sir, a Gullick never gives up, so that night I . . . And he's off to the races.

The New Yorker does not want to listen to the story of Gullick's operation. Nor does he care in the least what Gullick thinks of Eisenhower, the I. C. B. M. or how to make gingerbread with one egg. The New Yorker wants to ride his subway in solitary, silent splendor, brooding on the darkness of the world around him and wondering what'll win the fifth at Tropical Park.

Gullick surely is another of those lost souls, who, just as you've settled into the easy chair with a glass of beer and the latest Mickey Spillane book, telephones you and says "Hey, Joe? I'm all alone. C'mon over and we'll have a party." There may be a place for Gullicks of the world, but it is not in the subways, talking their fool heads off.

The fish known as the climbing perch of India can travel long distances over land and, on occasions, has been known to climb trees.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

President Eisenhower has proposed to Soviet Russia a practical and logical solution of all Cold War differences between East and West.

It is simply that the Soviet government, after more than 12 years, start to make its obligations under the United Nations charter the basis of its foreign policy.

There has been some complaint, both in foreign countries and in the United States, that there was nothing dramatic—or even new—in the letter the President has sent to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

There is considerable feeling in allied as well as in neutral countries that Bulganin, in the letters with which he has bombarded countries all over the world, has won the diplomatic initiative.

Made Some New Proposals—Eisenhower, in his replies to the two letters Bulganin sent to him, did make some important proposals of his own.

One of them was that nuclear-powered missiles be launched only for peaceful purposes.

Another was that "summit" meetings on Cold War issues might be held if secret diplomatic exchanges, then a meeting of foreign ministers, showed that there was real hope of agreement.

But the President put his greatest emphasis on the fact that the U. N. charter, if Russia started to observe it, would make a summit meeting unnecessary.

Eisenhower cited the charter on six specific points in his letter.

—He said that the charter provides for the collective security which Russia says it wants, and makes the U. N. Security Council primarily responsible for maintaining it. But he pointed out that Russia has used its veto power 26 times in the council.

—He reminded Russia that the charter authorizes regional treaties for self-defense such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which the Soviet government denounces as aggressive.

—Charter Renounces Force—In reply to Bulganin's proposal that the big powers respect the independence of Middle Eastern countries, and renounce the use of force in settling issues there, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter covers that situation like a blanket.

—As to Bulganin's proposal for a non-aggression pact, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter contains a pledge against aggression.

—On Bulganin's proposal for a pledge that the United States, Great Britain and Russia promise not to use nuclear weapons, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter pledges U. N. members not to use any weapons at all against the territory or independence of any state.

New Face—Newest Florida to come to Capitol Hill is Bill McFalls, of Miami, who has been appointed press secretary to Senator George Smathers. McFalls was formerly a member of the editorial staff of the Miami Daily News and more recently was connected with the firm of Gilbert and Torrey, Miami public relations new duties the first of January consultants. He assumed probably continue.

Society Note—The annual reception for members of the Florida Delegation went off smoothly last Friday night in the Caucus Room of the Senate Office Building. This year, three groups teamed together to sponsor this gala affair—the Florida State Society, Congressman Dante Fascell, president; the University of Florida Washington Alumni Club, Robert L. Weadock, Palm Beach, president; and the University of Miami Alumni Club of Washington, I. Rick Richman, Miami, president.

Honored Again—For the second straight year, Senator and Mrs. Holland have been placed on the honor roll of Washington society. Spessard and Mary Holland were again named by one of Washington's leading society writers.

J. Foxx Earned Over $250,000 In Diamond Career

MIAMI (AP)—Jimmy Foxx, one of baseball's all-time greats, probably earned over $250,000 in his colorful diamond career. But except for a surprise $400 gift from a friend, this week the 50-year-old hall of famer didn't have a penny.

"Until that check... I didn't have a dime," Foxx said in his South Miami home. "Now I can hold my head up... a little."

The check came from Jimmy Sloan of Boston, Foxx's personal manager of bygone years, who heard of the former slugger's plight when the Boston chapter of Baseball Writers Assn. was trying to find him to invite him to their annual dinner Jan. 22.

"I don't feel badly for myself," the former Philadelphia Athletic and Boston Red Sox star said. "The money I lost—and blew—was my own fault, 99 per cent of it."

"But I'd like to give the children something." Foxx lives with his three children, John, 18; Nancy, 16; and Jim, 13. He and his wife are part of John, who works for Eastern Airlines, has provided the family its only income for the past six months.

During his heyday, Foxx was chosen as the American League's most valuable player three times. He hit 534 home runs in his 20-year career, second only to Babe Ruth's 714 roundtrippers, and his over-all batting average was a sturdy .323.

He estimated that he earned more than $250,000. "Then I was something," he said. "Now, I'm here, broke, five months behind in my rent, allowed to stay only because my landlord was good enough to give me ten more days of grace."

D. Powell Tourney Enters 4th Round

By VIRGINIA CONN
Going into the fourth round of the Dot Powell tournament at the Mayfair Country Club are these members of the Sanford Women's Golf Association, Blanche Nicely, who won the third 4 and 3, Peg Butts, default, Marge Baccash, 3 and 2, Katherine Park, 18th hole, Mildred Smith, 4 and 2, Ruth Tully, 3 and 2, Helen Carraway, 4 and 3, Jean Chandler, 5 and 3, Jeanne Foulk, 3 and 2, Blanche Coleman, 18th hole, Lee Cunningham, 7th hole, Shirley Perkins, 18th hole, Fanchon McRoberts, 6 and 5, Carlie Stribling, 7 and 6, Reba Mahan, default, Ruth Herron, default.

Dot Powell presents two trophies at the annual Sanford Women's Golf Association banquet. Winner and runner-up will receive their prizes then. The yearly tournament is the result of interest, but no time on Dot's part.

During the winter months her duties at Powell's Office and Supply keep her from participating in the weekly tournaments. Her desire to stimulate interest in a major tournament has made these few weeks of play one of the highlights of winter golf. Although Dot herself is unable to play, she has spurred her summer partners to do their best during the winter.

Dot, herself, is one of the most powerful women golfers in Sanford. There are few who can surpass her long drives and eagle-eyed putts. And while her prowess on the golf course puts fear in the hearts of her less qualified opponents, her friendly spirit puts them at their ease—and they don't mind losing nearly as much.

Shad In Water Again

After a week of sub-normal temperatures in Florida the shad are again "churning the water" in the St. Johns River. Shad fishing has been so good for the past four days that some of the "new comers" are wondering how long the run will last.

The most surprising thing about the sport shad fishery this past week was the number of large hickory roe shad appearing in the catch. This species of shad is very similar to the American or white hickory. They both belong to the herring family and both enter the river at this time of year for the purpose of spawning.

The hickory shad is easily recognized by its extended long black-tipped lower jaw and peculiar black shiny dots running parallel along the sides of the fish. They usually run smaller than the American shad; however, some hickory roe were checked in this past week that tipped the scales at three and one-half pounds.

The American shad has a shorter white-tipped lower jaw and silvery sides. They usually have a blue-steel cast, especially when they first enter freshwater. After this shad has been in freshwater for a few days they lose a lot of this blue shiny appearance and take on a dull brownish cast resembling a freshwater carp in color. This change in color pattern has led many fishermen to believe that there are different runs or different sub-populations of shad in the same river. However, in so far as known, all American shad entering the St. Johns River are natives of this river and it is a matter of entering the river at different times.

This species is the largest of the shad with the bucks running about two and one-quarter pounds and the roes, sometimes called does by local fishermen, averaging about three and one-quarter pounds.

Racing Boat Drivers Will Arrive Tomorrow

Sunday afternoon Sanford will be in the national spotlight of speedboat racing as the Second Annual Sanford Outboard Regatta gets underway at 1 p. m., sponsored by the Sanford Boat and Ski Club, and bringing to Sanford the world's finest drivers and boats in hydroplane outboard racing.

From millionaires to daredevils, racing boat drivers will begin flocking into Sanford tomorrow and testing the daring waters of Lake Monroe.

The unusual event will be entirely free to an anticipated crowd of 10,000 spectators, and the racing site will be just south of the St. Johns River Bridge, north of Sanford.

Officials of the American Power Boat Association will move to the site early Sunday morning, setting up the judges' platform, installing the starting canno, and measuring off the course.

Bud Wiget, the early favorite to again cop top honors in the local event, has been challenged by the nation's top hydroplane drivers, including multi-millionaire Wild Bill Tenney and daredevil speedster Hubert Entrop, who has taken his "Flying Chip" to speeds beyond 89 MPH drawing less than three inches of water.

Wiget's stiffest competition last year will also be returning to Sanford this year. G. W. Taylor, hailed from Orlando, was second man to Wiget last year and is not planning on taking that dubious honor again this year.

"It all shapes up as a great day of racing," Club commodore, Dr. A. W. Woodall said. "We're proud to have these top drivers in Sanford."

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—You don't need muscles like a blacksmith to be a world champion and proof of this is pretty, streamlined Nancie Rideout.
Nancie is a sun-kissed, 19-year-old Floridian with all the right things in the right places. What the boys in my day called a "looker", she is an accomplished cook and likes music which she can accompany on a torrid trumpet.

But she also holds the world record in water ski jumping—a 50-mile-an-hour leap of 77 feet.
Nancie is the overall national water skiing champion, a crown she captured at Florida's famed Cypress Gardens by topping all comers at jumping, slalom and trick skiing. She also, incidentally, is the only woman who can water ski in her bare feet.

"And it isn't because I have big feet either," she smiled. "I only wear a six and one-half shoe."
Nancie began water skiing in 1951 because her father was a fisherman.

Cost Pop Money
It seems that pop always went fishing alone and finally the family—ma, Nancie and her two brothers and sister—demanded to be taken along. It set pop back $30 and he decided that rather than continue paying that kind of money he'd better buy a boat.

The salesman talked him into taking a set of water skis as well. "Poor dad hasn't been fishing since," she said. "He's been too busy piloting the boat for the rest of us while we water-ski."

Nancie soon shot to the top, literally and figuratively. The "top" in this case was the five-foot high water ski jump. The men's jump is six feet high with a top two foot speed of 50 miles an hour. Women are limited to a 28-mile-per-hour boat speed.

Cracks The Whip
"But we hit the jump at about 50 miles an hour by cracking the whip and cutting across the wake of the boat," she explained.

blonde who was the Florida State diving champion at 13 and also is a boat test pilot, can do more tricks on water skis than most folks can do standing on dry land. One of her best is the backward swan, which consists of skiing backwards on one foot with the other hooked in the swivel handle. The toughest, she says, is the 360-swallow over the wake.
This one consists of the backward swan while making like an egg beater.
Her final skiing ambition is to win the overall world championship when the event is held at Milan, Italy, next year.
All she wants to do then, boys, is get married.

In 1949 the government of Mexico conferred its highest honor, the Order of the Aztec Eagle, on Dr. Decker for "his outstanding contribution to the diffusion of knowledge of Mexican Art and Culture in the Middle West." That same year Dr. Decker represented the American Association for the United Nations on America's Town Meeting of the Air around - the world broadcasting seminar - the first trip of its kind in history. The 30 members of the group visited 14 world capitals, participated in world broadcasts, and conferred with leaders of the countries visited, including off-the-record session with the late Prime Minister Ali Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Navy

Patron tickets for the Polaris went on sale Wednesday. The first one was bought by Captain Lionel Arthur, who has pledged his support of the Auxiliary endeavor. Selling tickets during the day were members of the Patron Ticket Committee and Mrs. Don Brubaker, general chairman of the High Fever Folles. Mrs. Brubaker is also a Navy wife, whose husband is with the HAWing Staff. Several amusing incidents occurred at the Naval Air Station Wednesday, when a rush of voting was caused by two commanding officers who refused to let the men have their pay checks until they had voted.

Cdr. Thomas Deans, public information officer at the Naval Air Station stated today, "Interest in the selection of the candidate of the High Fever Folles Queen is certainly at very high level and Navy participation in and support of the High Fever Folles promises to be even greater than last year."

New Highway Will Link East, West Coasts Of Taiwan

THWALIEN, Taiwan—In mountains almost impassable on foot 11,000 workers are building a highway by hand on this island fortress of Free China (Formosa).

No machinery can be brought into the rugged vastnesses, where peaks ascend beyond 10,000 feet and ranges are criss-crossed with gorges and ravines thousands of feet deep.

The goal is to link for the first time the east and west coasts of the island, thus opening a vast central section—now inhabited only by non-Chinese aborigines—to development and settlement. So wild is the locale and so primitive are the hand tools—hammer, mallet, spade, and shovel—that the job calls for a high degree of technical engineering planning plus non-technological human nature. Chinese patience and manual dexterity, traditional for thousands of years, are even more necessary than blueprints.

140 Lives Lost

Men dangle by rope over dangerous precipices to plant dynamite charges. They carefully smooth out the walls of tunnels blasted through solid limestone and marble rock. Noting the prevalence of landslides, they must laboriously set up rock supports and diversions.

Every ounce of supplies, including food and medicine, can be trucked only so far; thereafter they must be carried by hand. To complete the highway by mid-1958 according to schedule, work must go on in fair weather and foul. Since March, 1956, when work began, 40 men have lost their lives.

Taiwan is only 12,800 square miles in area, but it must support 10 million persons whose birth rate is 2.6 per cent per year, one of the highest on earth. Health and sanitation improvements since the end of World War II have sharply lessened the death rate. Thus Taiwan is one of the most densely populated lands.

The new road will open up thousands of acres of new farm and forest land, make possible the exploitation of water power and mineral resources, principally gold. It will provide breathing room for many thousands who now crowd the teeming west coast of the island. And it will open up one of the world's most beautiful mountain areas to the new and important business of tourism.

Ching-kuo, in charge of the program to find suitable civilian jobs for these ex-servicemen—and the East-West Highway has been able to utilize their skills and disciplines to the fullest.

The Generalissimo and Mme. Ching recently visited the construction area and were cheered by the workers.

Longevity Subject Of New Booklet

By PATRICIA GRAY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Life no longer begins at 40. It starts at 65.

The increased longevity of today is discussed in a booklet recently published by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It concludes that the 50-year-old has an even chance of living to 76. Another 13 years, it says, may be expected for the person 65. Those already 75 have good reason to expect another eight years of life.

The department reports that even these life expectancy rates are on the rise.

The booklet, entitled "The Older Person in the Home," states that increased longevity creates certain unique situations in the "three-generation family."

It notes that there now are over 14 million people in the United States who are 65 or more and at least 3 million over 75. Approximately three million of these older people live with married children or close relatives.

The booklet points out that these older people can "play an active and constructive role in the life of their families and community. We need their judgement, their experience, their stability."

Three Sections

The booklet is divided into three sections. Part I deals with the general pattern of three-generation living. It discusses room arrangements, accident prevention, clothing, meal planning and ways to capitalize the older person with a hobby or by membership in one of the clubs which cater to older people.

Part II discusses special methods of caring for the seriously handicapped, with excellent suggestions for sickroom facilities and entertainment. Even the "difficult" patient is covered, with a commentary from the director of one of the nation's "most successful" private homes for the aged. His answer to dealing with the "difficult" patient was "understanding and respect, and a real interest in each one as an individual."

Part III deals with the situation which often arises of having to place the older person in a home for the aged. What to look for in such an establishment and how to find the one most suitable for the individual are discussed.

Finally, it is up to each member of the family to make the home a happy one for the old folks. This can "spoil the difference between loneliness and fulfillment—between frustration and independence" for the elderly.

American College Assn. Urges Tax Credits Be Given

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The Association of American Colleges urges that tax credits be given to those who make cash gifts to schools of higher learning. But it insisted the federal government should not attempt to interfere with academic freedom in exchange for the tax benefits.

The educational group, which represents 95 per cent of the accredited colleges in the country, passed the resolution at the closing sessions of its annual convention here.

The 100 delegates debated the resolution at length and reworded it several times. It was finally agreed that higher education is being held back seriously by a shortage of funds, particularly in the private colleges.

Colleges and universities should be free to set their own standards and goals, the group said, and congress should avoid any attempt to influence students in their choice of studies or schools.

Another resolution affirmed the association's belief that "the freest possible exchange of knowledge and ideas is essential to both the welfare of our nation and to that international understanding without which there can be no lasting peace."

In the election that closed the convention Dr. William M. Whitehouse, president of Albion College, Albion, Mich., was named president, succeeding J. Ollie Edmunds, president of Stetson University of DeLand, Fla. The new vice president is Dr. G. D. Humphrey, president of the University of Wyoming.

Optimism Seen For 1958 Home Furnishing Sales

By EVERETT E. IRWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO—Home furnishings manufacturers expressed cautious optimism today toward the industry's overall sales outlook for 1958 but they agreed there'll be a real scramble among themselves for the home-maker's dollar.

Seven prominent manufacturers, who were here for the International Home Furnishings Market, generally agreed that business will be as good or better in 1958 as it was in 1957 and that it will be improving at year's end.

However, they told a news conference at the American Furniture Mart that buying will be more selective this year and that manufacturers who fail to keep pace style-wise and quality-wise are likely to feel the pinch of the current business recession.

Jack Hubbel, sales vice-president of the Simmons Company, New York City, said 1958 will be a year for fighting—for more aggressive merchandising.

Nathan Ancell, president of Baumritter Co., Inc., New York, said any "pessimism and negativism" that exists in the furniture industry today is "largely due to the realization that we have to work for a living again."

Paul Brohill, president of Brohill Furniture Factories, Lehigh, N. C., said furniture sales in the first half of this year probably will be "alightly behind" the same period a year ago but that the last six months of the year should find business "progressively better."

"I'd rather be going into this year than last year," he said.

Ancell said 1958 volume should maybe better. And he said 1957 was the best profit year in his company's history.

The United States does not produce any precious stones, but imports a substantial quantity of gems.

President Warns Leaders To Go Slow On Price, Wage Increases

DAYTON MOORE
Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower couched a generally optimistic report on the nation's economy today with a new warning to business and labor leaders to go slow on price and wage increases.

"As we look ahead in 1958", he said, "there are grounds for expecting that the decline in business activity need not be prolonged and that economic growth can be resumed without extended interruption."

The President, in his annual economic report, said that stable prices are essential to a sound, prosperous economy.

Business leaders must hold price increases to amounts warranted by increased production costs, the President said. And labor must limit its demands for higher wages to gains in productivity per man-hour, he said.

Otherwise, he said, recovery from the present business slump could be slowed down.

The new call for self-restraint on prices and wages highlighted the annual economic report to Congress. He had sounded such warnings previously when administration economic policies were directed to combating inflationary pressures. This was the first time he had spoken out along this line since inflationary pressures lessened with the decline in business activity.

It came only a few weeks before start of negotiations on some major new wage contracts, including those for the aircraft and auto industries.

The overall tone of the President's report was optimistic about the economic outlook, both for the near future and the long run.

He reported record overall prosperity for 1957 despite the economic decline in the latter part of the year. But he said about four-fifths of the year's business gains in dollars was eaten up by inflationary price rises. And some segments of the national economy didn't do quite as well as in 1956.

Looking to the future, the President stressed the importance of an expected business pickup being based on a sound dollar and reasonably stable prices.

The President noted several factors favorable for a business pickup later this year. They included high personal income and consumer spending, low inventories, increased defense spending, easier credit with lower interest rates, higher expenditures for research and development. He also cited the outlook for increased home building and larger expenditures by state and local governments for public services, such as highway construction.

Increased defense spending to meet Russia's space challenge was a large factor in the President's confidence in an economic upswing this year.

He said the present increased rate of awarding defense production contracts may cause business activity generally to "rise earlier and more strongly than the prospective increase in the national security expenditures."

He was sure that the Russian challenge could be met "without distorting our economy or destroying the freedoms that we cherish."

"Whatever our national security requires, our economy can provide and we can afford to pay," he said.

"There are good grounds for confidence not only that economic growth can be resumed without prolonged delay, but also that a vigorous expansion of our economy can be sustained over the years," the President said.

However, he warned that inflationary dangers will reappear with a business pickup. The government, he said, will do its utmost to combat them.

Ike To Make 'Fighting Speech' To GOP Tonight

Andrew Duda Sr. Dies Last Night

Andrew Duda Sr., 84, came to Florida 36 years ago and because of his belief in providing for the betterment of his fellowman, his celery, citrus and cattle interests spread from Slavia to the Everglades.

Mr. Duda was born Nov. 9, 1873 in Velices, Slovakia where he married the former Miss Katherine Zalko, June 11, 1899.

When Mr. Duda first came to the United States he settled in Cleveland, O. where he was employed as a woodworker.

In 1917, he came to Slavia where he founded the Slavia Colony. He was also the founder of St. Luke's Lutheran Church on March 17, 1912.

His philanthropic work continued throughout the years and in Jan-

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower was reported ready to make a "fighting speech" tonight telling Republicans they will have to hustle this year if they hope to achieve their program and win back Congress in November.

He was expected to slap hard at political opponents who picture the nation in dire peril from Russian advances because of the Republican administration's policies.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, was scheduled to leave by plane for Chicago where he will keynote the GOP's kickoff of its 1958 campaign to recapture Congress from the Democrats and prepare for the 1960 presidential election.

The Chief Executive will speak during a 30-minute broadcast and telecast program at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner this evening.

Other GOP leaders including

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will join in the program from their places at dinners in other cities. A total of 40,000 diners were expected to participate in 44 $10 to $100-a-plate dinners in 27 states and the District of Columbia.

The half-hour program will be aired by NBC radio and television starting at 9:30 p. m. e.s.t.

The dinners celebrated the fifth anniversary of Eisenhower's assumption to the presidency five years ago. The theme, as stated by the Republican National Committee was a "tribute to five years of achievement and salute to Republican Congress."

Tenney Regatta Champ; Wins Six Out Of 12 Heats

By Jerry Covington

"Wild" Bill Tenney of Crystal Bar, Minn. literally stole the show here yesterday in the second Annual Sanford Regatta by winning 6 out of twelve heats. Tenney had boats and motors to "waste" and stayed so far in front that it was no race when he cracked up. Tenney is World Champion in the Class "B" Hydroplane with a speed of better than 67 miles per hour.

"Old Man Weather" finally gave the ten thousand on-lookers a break and the big event proved a success in every way. Lake Monroe was calm and beautiful and made for ideal boating. Folks came from every point in the United States to see these national "champs" as they made their regular "Grapefruit Season" stop here in Sanford.

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club did a very outstanding job of preparing for the event and should be commended by the city. They provided concessions, P.A. system, and helped police the large crowd. Commodore W. W. Woodall termed the event a big success and is planning for an even larger one next year.

These little "speedsters" somewhat resembled a "flying saucer" as they ripped over the water at speeds of 60 miles an hour and better. Most of these well-known helmsmen used Swift boats, manufactured in Mt. Dora and there was a mixture of custom built Johnsons, Evinrudes and Mercury kickers. They use a special fuel mixture of alcohol, benzol and castor oil to attain these great speeds with the relatively small engines.

This fast-rising sport of boat racing has been termed as "millionaires" sport because of the high cost of the equipment.

Eleven Transfers Last AJ-1; Now Using All A3D's

An era has passed for Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11). The squadron yesterday transferred its last North American AJ-1 "Savage" bomber to NAF Litchfield Park, Ariz. All Eleven aircraft are now the newer and faster Douglas A3D "Sky Warriors".

Many VAH-11 "old-timers" were on hand to watch Lt. William Warwick, USN, taxi the venerable war bird past the Eleven line. Its huge propellers laboriously pulling the aircraft forward, and then flying over the field in a dramatic low pass.

Crew members with Lt. Warwick, the pilot, were Eugene Kronjager, AD2, navigator; Robert Prater, AD1, third crewman; and Floyd Stage, AM2, plane captain.

The final destination of Eleven's AJ-1, NAF Litchfield Park, is a storage depot for Naval aircraft that are being phased out, obsolete, or being scrapped. Here the aircraft are stripped of all useable parts, and then melted down in huge "pots" for salvage. In some cases the planes are "mothballed" for possible future use or training.

Eleven has flown its AJ-1 aircraft north of the Arctic circle, on three continents, and onto various islands from the sunny Caribbean to the cold snows of Newfoundland. The maintenance and supply personnel toiled and struggled to keep these obsolete planes in the air, and despite often insurmountable odds, managed to keep the bombers ready to fly against any enemy.

Seminole Gun Club Joins NRA

The Seminole Gun Club, Inc. has joined the ranks of National Rifle Association affiliated organizations. It was announced in Washington, D. C. The officers of the newly chartered club are: president, W. Henry White; vice-president, Police Chief Roy G. Williams; executive officer, W. A. Adams; secretary and treasurer, William Bush Jr.

The new shooting club joins the 4,000 other rifle and pistol organizations from coast-to-coast now affiliated with the NRA, national sponsor of all organized smallbore rifle, high-power rifle and pistol shooting in the United States. The new local club will help promote competitive shooting in its area with its members firing in local, regional and national registered matches and championships.

DANGEROUS MISSION

WARWICK, R. I.—(UP)—Patrolman Frank Gage and Sgt. Vincent J. McCabe were called to an Apponaug garage because a skunk with his head jammed into a car was hanging around in the building. McCabe managed to get a garden rake into position to pry off the car. As the tin came off, the animal streaked off in one direction, the officers took off in another. No casualties.

Krider Receives Copies Of Corps Canal Report

Copies of the Army Corps of Engineers report on the Sanford-Titusville Canal were received this morning by John Krider, chairman of the Florida Waterways Committee and Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Conferring with Krider this morning was Dr. Robert W. Bradbury, Professor of Economics at the University of Florida who was employed by the Army Corps of Engineers to develop the economic portion of the report.

Bradbury told Krider this morning that "I will attend the meeting here when it is called and will do anything I can to further the waterways development of the state."

"We have mailed copies of the report to all of the interested parties in the state," Krider said this morning.

"Our plans are to meet here if at all possible, just as soon as Col. Herbert Gee, employed by waterways organizations to complete technical data on the Sanford-Titusville Canal, completes necessary data," he said.

Col. Gee's conclusions will be important," said Krider, "since our meeting here will be to map strategy."

"I believe that it will be necessary to ask for additional time before the hearing now slated for Feb. 10," he said, "but we can't come to any definite conclusions until all of our information is sufficiently gathered on which we will base the extension."

"Many of the groups who have said they will help in our fight for the Canal before the Rivers and Harbors Board," said Krider, "have offered financial assistance as well as their time and efforts."

"Right now we must have time to study the report completely in order to develop information and come up with specific data that will enable us to put our case successfully before the board," said Krider.

Gibbons Funeral Service Is Held This Morning

Funeral services for Albert H. Gibbons, 66, who passed away Friday morning at Seminole Memorial Hospital, were held this morning at 11 o'clock at All Souls' Catholic Church with Father Richard Lyons officiating.

Mr. Gibbons made his residence in DeBary at 6 Smyrna Dr. where he came nine years ago from Mt. Clemens, Mich. He was a World War I veteran and spent the major part of his life as a baker but had followed the painting trade since coming to Florida.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Christine B. Gibbons, DeBary; three sons, William Gibbons, James Gibbons, and Raymond Gibbons, all of Mt. Clemens, Mich.; one daughter Mrs. Harry Llivinood, Chicago, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Ann Priest and Mrs. Emma Miles of Hereford, England; and six grandchildren.

Mayor Proclaims Jaycee Week Here

Mayor Merle Warner today issued a proclamation calling on the citizens of Sanford to join with the Sanford-Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce in celebrating "Jaycee Week."

The event is staged during the anniversary week of the Jaycee organization and is for the purpose of acquainting the public with the Jaycees, what they do and what the organization means to the community.

Pointed out as top events of 1957, which were fostered and staged by the local Jaycees were the Navy Appreciation Day, a Safety Campaign to remove shrubbery from streets and roads of Sanford, the annual Christmas Parade, annual fishing rolc for children, and the participation in practically every worthwhile event for the betterment of the Sanford community.

Heading the organization in Sanford is M. L. Raborn Jr., the Jaycee president.

$10,000 March Of Dimes Goal

"Everything has been completed to make this year's March of Dimes, the most successful we've ever had in Seminole County," said John Sauls, chairman of the annual event.

"This is the 20th Anniversary of the March of Dimes," Sauls revealed, "and because of the anniversary we've planned many things to point up the importance of the campaign."

Canteens have been distributed throughout Sanford by George Kenia, Bill Holman, C. E. Johnson, Bob Sturdivant, and Hardy Patterson.

Convenient cards for March of Dimes contributions have been mailed to 11,000 citizens throughout the county "and all are urged to return them," said Sauls.

The Ritz Theatre will feature a Lone Ranger Horse Saturday with the 10c ride fee going to the March of Dimes.

All dimes going into Lions Club gum machines will be contributed to the March of Dimes.

"Our goal is $10,000," the Seminole County March of Dimes Chairman said "so that we can help take care of six old and six new polio victims right here in our own community."

Fifty per cent of all that is collected stays right here in the community, Sauls explained. The balance goes to the National Foundation for research and chapter emergency of which Seminole County has received three grants during 1957 totaling $2,900.

Mrs. Robert Bradford is South Seminole County Chairman, said Sauls, with Mrs. Millard Rice heading up the drive in Lake Mary, Mrs. Sam Gardner in Lake Monroe and Mrs. Margaret Golt in Geneva.

School cards has been distributed throughout Seminole County, he said, with Mrs. Margaret Golt, School Supervisor in charge of the white schools; and Alma Hurston, School Supervisor in charge of colored schools.
