George Doubts Country Will Accept Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he doubts the country will be willing to accept a permanent policy anything less than equality with Russia in a long-range bombing force.

George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he does not disagree with President Eisenhower that the United States has tremendous air striking power from a chain of bases and in a highly mobile Navy.

But George said he doubts the country will accept Eisenhower's thesis—expressed last Friday at a news conference—that while it is vital to have what is needed in intercontinental bombers it isn't necessary to outbuild the Russians in this one weapon.

"The country has been taught that the long-range bomber is the core of our striking force," George said. "It will remain disturbing to the country to be constantly reminded that the Russians are building up an enormous air force but that we are not keeping pace."

George said he agrees with Eisenhower that the chain of American bases provides this country with atomic striking power through medium bombers that should be a deterrent to any Russian attack. He said he assumes U.S. bases may be supplied with atomic weapons.

George said this latter question may come up in his committee's examination of the military assistance portion of the administration's $4,000,000,000 foreign aid request.

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, said during a television interview yesterday that economic aid to foreign countries will have to continue as long as there is "military danger."

Chicago's Midway Airport Nation's Busiest In '55

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chicago's Midway Airport was the nation's busiest in 1955 for the fourth straight year, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said today.

Midway had 381,737 aircraft "movements"—takeoffs and landings. Miami International was second with 276,729 movements, and New York's Laganardia was third with 256,058. Next were Los Angeles, 263,316; and Atlanta, 246,709.

From the standpoint of "illuminant" operations—a category excluding purely local flights—the top airports ranked in this order: Chicago Midway, New York Laganardia, Washington, Los Angeles, Dallas, Atlanta and Miami.

UNHATCHED FISH COUNT

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—It's all right to count fish before they're hatched. In fact, it's the thing today, says Dr. H. C. Hardy, English marine biologist.

The Oxford university authority on fishery predictions told an international symposium: "We can count fish by counting fish eggs. This is so, not because we can predict how many eggs will become fish, but because the number of eggs is an accurate indicator of how many fish there are in the breeding stock."

The dragon tree of the Canary Islands produces a dark red resin.

He said a "big shift" is on to channel large portions of foreign aid away from Europe to the Far East but added that it "would be a great mistake" to throw too much in the direction of Asia.

"Some people seem to believe that the Far East is in a better situation as Europe slips into war," Hollister said. "They realize that to spend a great deal of money profitably as was done with the Marshall Plan you need an economic base."

Griffin Predicts Southern Demos Closer Together

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Marvin Griffin has predicted that "the Democrats of the South will be closer together this year than they have ever been because so many wolves are trying to gobble us up."

He made the statement at his news conference in commenting indirectly on Gov. Allan Shivers' loss to Sen. Lyndon Johnson in a battle for control of the Texas Democratic party.

Griffin later expanded the comment to include the recent Alabama election in which Gov. James Folsom was defeated by an ardent pro-segregationist in his bid for Democratic national committee.

"but especially on segregation." He declined to comment directly on either the Alabama or Texas situations but indicated that he was referring Shivers' bolt to Eisenhower in 1953 and Folsom's criticism of the Alabama legislature's passage of pro-segregation legislation.

Griffin said he meant principally the forces opposed to segregation. He later amended that to include "modern concept wolves." In recent speeches, Griffin has criticized the U.S. Supreme Court for decisions which he said were based on the court's idea of "the modern concept" rather than on legal grounds.

Natural Woods—A Bride's Best Buy

Choosing furniture for a first home will be a lot of fun if you keep a few basic rules in mind. Most important is to choose the best material. In this case, the best choice is natural wood. Wood is the most versatile material, as wood's many natural patterns and colors are harmonious. Just decide whether you prefer formal or informal furniture styles. You can then mix woods and furniture styles of the same general mood within a room, as the natural wood colors and grain variations will blend the various woods and styles. This is important, since most couples start out in smaller living quarters and will want to add more furniture later. To get the greatest decorative versatility, look for finishes that reveal the full depth of beauty of the wood's grain and figure, and avoid flat, "painted" look finishes. The natural tones give wood much of its blendability, and also form rich backgrounds for any fabric and accessory colors. Be sure, too, that the furniture you select is real wood, for moment-

Lake City Voters Reject Proposal

Mary Earle, Sloan Will Be In Runoff For Tax Assessor

In an unprecedented vote in Tuesday's Democratic Primary, Miss Mary E. Earle, a candidate for the office of Seminole County Assessor of Taxes, received the same number of votes as those of her opponents.

Following the canvassing of the ballots yesterday by the Canvassing Board composed of Judge Ernest Housholder and County Commission Chairman W. B. Miller, it was revealed that Miss Earle received a total of 3350 votes which included absentee ballots.

Opponents of Miss Earle received the same number of votes. Raleigh King received 777, John Melch 795, Rudy Sloan 1103, and Jack Stempfer 676.

Sloan, high man in the group of opponents, called The Sanford Herald last night and stated that he would be a candidate in the runoff primary opposing Miss Earle. He said, "I am going to be in the runoff. I feel that 51 percent of the people have not spoken in Miss Earle's behalf and that leads me not to concede this election. I feel that I would let the people down that supported me if I did."

However, tabulations of votes changed in the election of a member of the House of Representatives for the unexpired term. According to the Canvassing Board yesterday, two of the precincts failed to certify the votes cast in the special election and tabulations received in the unofficial count were thrown out. Those precincts not certifying their ballots were No. Six and No. Seven. Voters in Precinct No. 13 did not have an opportunity to vote in the special election because officials were not aware of the use of the small ballots provided.

County Commission Has Routine Meet

It was routine meeting of the Board of County Commissioners this morning with no issues coming before the board during the morning session.

Problems of routine nature concerning utility easements, road closing, and right-of-way procurement were handled as ordinary business with no opposition and complete agreement on the part of the commissioners.

The County Farm Forester presented his budget to the Board of Commissioners showing the county's part of the expense at $35. The forester said there is "more activity and interest in the planting of trees in Seminole County than ever before."

A resolution by the Board of Commissioners completed the transferring of property to the City of Sanford for use in the New York Giants Farm System training base. Property conveyed to the city is located at the corner of Mellonville Ave. and Eighth St.

A Sanlando Springs replat, approved by the Board will open 40 acres of land with roads and streets to spur building in that area. Also, by request of Garapic & Co., Palm Springs Drive will be paved with the materials furnished by the building and the county providing the labor.

A letter from Robert A. Bennett stating that he no longer could use a lease on the Lake Mary Crystal Beach area was accepted by the commission. Two representatives of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce requested that facilities at the beach be repaired.

Frank Evans of Lake Mary asked the Board of County Commissioners to repair the pavement in front of the Lake Mary Post Office, open a ditch for drainage, and pave Lake Mary Boulevard.

Salk Polio Vaccine Available At OAFB
ORLANDO AIR FORCE BASE—Initial shots of Salk polio vaccine are available at Orlando Air Force Base hospital for children of base personnel, retired members of the military service or transient military families.

The vaccine will be given between 9:30 a. m. and 10 a. m., Monday through Friday, until May 25. Children should be taken to the pediatric clinic at the base.

Hospital officials said today that no initial polio immunizations will be given after the May 25 deadline. They also warned that children allergic to penicillin could not be given the Salk vaccine.

Paralleled with a problem confronting the City of Sanford, the City of Lake City defeated a move by the city to take over municipal ownership and operation of the Florida Power and Light Company's electric service facilities.

In a hotly contested election Lake City voters rejected by a proposal by the City. The proposal, estimated to cost three to five million dollars included construction of a city-owned diesel generating plant.

Advocates of the plan, confined principally to city officials, waged an intensive campaign on the theory that a city-owned utility would pay no taxes and, therefore, provide a good money-maker.

Strong opposition was voiced by a citizens committee of some 60 business and civic leaders who opposed it as a step toward socialization.

Robert H. File, President and General Manager of Florida Power and Light Company hailed the election as a resounding endorsement of the American free enterprise system.

"Florida welcomes new industries and venture capital," File said, "and Lake City is in the forefront in this attitude. It's strategic location, abundant raw materials, transportation and friendly labor conditions make it an attractive site for new industries."

The opposition to municipal ownership, spearheaded by the Citizens Committee, centered around the uncertainty of electric rates since the advocates proposed continuing the company's present rates. Furthermore, rate regulation under municipal ownership does not exist in Florida which meant there would be no protection against rate increases.

Another objection was that a small city plant could not provide dependable service and might even become obsolete in a few years with atomic power development.

Sanford is situated in a similar position relative to the operation of a local power system. Present discussions center around a proposal to oust the City of Sanford by an engineering firm to determine the feasibility of building a city-owned power plant.

None of the discussions relative to the City's plans have been made public up to the present time.

Double-Header Is On Tap Here Tonight

A double-header baseball bill for free is on tap tonight at the Memorial Stadium starting at 7:30 p. m. and it carries all the appeal of seeing young stars making their way up the ladder of diamond ability and of viewing once more some of the popular figures seen in the local ball orchards not so many years ago.

Mayor F. D. Scott will toss out the first ball prior to the hostilities between the Rotary league's champions, the Cubs, and the circuit's All-stars. This fray packs all the rivalry that can be jammed into youthful heats in an athletic contest. The five innings should show plenty of baseball ability and be a dandy for the fans.

In the second game a team of Rotarians will tangle with the younger wizards of losses and swings who will have just finished their gains and should be red-hot to take on their challengers.

In the civic club's line-up will be such well-known men as Dr. John Morgan, Dr. A. W. Epps Jr. and his alert brother, Dr. Billy Epps, Orville Touchton, Dr. Charles Park Jr., Sonny Powell, F. D. Scott, Bob Cornall, Bill Bush and Frank Perkins, also will see if a little more baseball savvy can overcome the advantages of the loose muscles and the teen-age vigor of their adversaries. These five innings should be a delight to the on-looker.

Prior to the opening "play ball" Empire W. C. (Red) Hires and the informative announcements of WTRR's John Keeling on the public address system, there will be a presentation of gold miniature baseballs to the pennant winning Cubs. Also the Sonny Powell and Roy Hoiler trophies for most valuable player and outstanding sportsmanship will be awarded.

These latter selections gave the officials many a headache because of the closeness of the competition. Several bids were considered for each trophy—and all seemed to deserve the distinction. Finally, it simmered down to detailed consideration of many factors, it was

All civic and service clubs have been invited to hold their meetings on their regular meeting days at the Air Station where arrangements have been made by Capt. Robert W. In all probability the re-designation would mean that additional personnel would be provided to staff the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Jackson Arrives Today

The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station formally became the Sanford Naval Air Station this morning.

Notified by wire from the Secretary of the Navy, the local NAAS was redesignated as a Naval Air Station.

The notification came this morning from R. H. Foster, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and directed to the Commanding Officer of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station.

However, Captain Robert W. Jackson, the SNAAS Commanding Officer had not yet arrived in Sanford from Washington today at press time and could not be reached for comment.

The mission of the redesignation, according to the dispatch received this morning, would be to "maintain and operate facilities and provide services and material to support operations of aviation activities and units of the operating forces of the Navy and other activities and units as designated by the Chief of Naval Operations."

Word of the redesignation has added much optimism to the proponents of a permanent Naval Base here at Sanford.

The expansion program, already started, is expected to be accelerated with the news of the re-designation here at Sanford.

In all probability the re-designation would mean that additional personnel would be provided to staff the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Elisabeth Mueller Found In German Fan Magazine

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Maybe they're not finding stars on soda fountain stools any more, but here's one who was picked out of a magazine in another part of the world. She is Elisabeth Mueller, Swiss-born actress of German films. The plum role opposite Robert Taylor in "The Power and the Prize" is hers, all because her picture was in a German fan magazine. MGM had tested most of its leading ladies and several from the outside for the role, which required a beauty with a Germanic accent. Nona qualified. Director Henry Koester was thumbing through a German movie magazine when he came across a photo of the lovely Miss Mueller. Obviously she had the looks for the part, but could she act? He read the story about her and judged from the directors she had worked with that she could. One important item remained: Could she speak English? Contacting an agent here who contacted her agent in Germany, he got the phone number at her home in Basel, Switzerland. "The call came through at 3 o'clock in the morning," recalled the dark-haired beauty. "I was so excited that I scarcely said more than a sentence in English. Also, the connection was bad, so I don't see how he could have learned that I could speak English. "We continued in German and he wanted me to come over for a test right away. This frightened me because I didn't want to fly across the ocean. I am easily frightened, and I didn't know if I wanted to go to Hollywood. "But people convinced me, and I am glad they did. Fortunately I had just finished a picture and was able to postpone my next one. The studio wanted her to leave immediately, but she didn't even have a visa. When it appeared that she would be delayed, the studio manager to cut through the red tape and arrange things in Washington. She was on her way. Within five days after leaving home, she had been flown here, interviewed, tested and assigned to the Taylor picture. She is still catching her breath.

This compared with 13,699,378 bales for the 1954 crop with a value of $2,301,000,000. Both crops were grown under rigid production control programs designed to prevent accumulation of excessive supplies. # People Demonstrate Their Faith in Collins, His Ability, Leadership

We have always felt that the people of Sanford, Seminole County, and the State of Florida want—and insist upon—good government.

Their reflection toward the necessity for a better state can be seen in the turnout of voters taking part in Tuesday's Democratic Primary.

With the sweeping victory by Governor LeRoy Collins there is no doubt that the people of Florida see in our Governor a natural leader for Florida.

With every ballot cast in the Primary election here was a vote of confidence for LeRoy Collins—a vote of confidence in his record already etched in the annals of the State of Florida—a vote of confidence in his clean campaign—and a vote of confidence in his ability to lead our state into the greatness that is destined to face us in the immediate future.

And because of the problems facing Florida in the immediate years ahead the people of the state have demonstrated at the polls their unerring faith in LeRoy Collins and his ability to cope with every situation that might arise regardless of the barriers placed before him.

Certainly there are problems of segregation—reapportionment—vast industrial expansion and many others ahead.

But Sanford and Seminole County with other counties of the State have demonstrated their faith at the polls in reelecting Governor LeRoy Collins as their State's leader for the coming four years.

And so the story was around the State in Tuesday's Democratic Primary.

The Miami News said, in the editorial columns "integrity, ability and progress are paying off for Florida, and Floridians want much more of the same."

"The big question was whether Florida liked moderate, middle-of-the-road reaction to the integration decision—Governor Collins has been given solid support on this matter and on his entire program."

Another newspaper said "the election certainly demonstrates that while the voters can go on for years apparently not caring too much who wins or loses, the time does roll around occasionally when they do care. "Voters of the State showed most emphatically that they liked Collins, liked his record in office, liked the style of his campaign and liked the realism of his approach to the state's problems."

Still another newspaper said voters "proved completely satisfied with the approach to the segregation issue offered by Governor Collins. As before, the heavily populated cities provided the overtopping majority for Governor Collins. He may now proceed with the securing of a proper legislative reapportionment with the organizing of electors to defeat the proposed 67-senator amendment."

And assuring words came out in another editorial column when it was said "election day's vote said so much plainer than words that the people have faith in this man because of his imagination, his energy and courage, his integrity, his fairness and patience."

And so, the people have spoken. The reaction has been tremendous. LeRoy Collins continues as Governor of Florida for another four important years in the history of the state.

Hand in hand we shall continue our progress toward becoming a bigger, better, and greater county and city, paralleling the progress that will grow because of proven leadership, proven ability, and a proven program that will bring happiness and prosperity to every corner of the Sunshine State.

We feel that the voice of the voters reflected in the ballots cast in Seminole County last Tuesday means our community will develop and progress with all of the state in one of the most astounding eras in Florida's long and glorious history.

Industrial Districts

Industrial districts, developing in large numbers along the nation's 28,996 miles of inland waterways, are making available to hundreds of small industries the economic advantages of low-cost barge transportation.

Small industries group in these water-side industrial districts for the purpose of pooling their shipments of raw materials, semi-finished materials and products. In this manner all of them avail themselves of low barge-load freight rates. These rates certainly put them in better competitive positions.

There are great and untold possibilities on the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe at Sanford for such expansion and development.

If industries are developing and benefitting from low-cost barge transportation—in other sections of the country where the same type of inland waterways are available—then industries here could develop in the same manner.

All that is necessary is the confidence of those who can and should establish at Sanford the facilities for receiving such barge shipments.

We haven't seen growth and development in Central Florida yet that would compare with the growth and expansion made possible from the availability of water freight.

There must be vision and aggressiveness somewhere to make possible one of the greatest boosters of growth our section of the state has ever seen.

U. S. Says Reds Violating Armistice

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is almost like a small footnote on the dismal story of Korea when the United States suggests abandoning any work under the "peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

The United States has long complained that the Reds in North Korea have violated the armistice by building up their forces and not letting the truce teams get around enough to check up.

The armistice was signed July 27, 1953, after 3 years and 32 days of fighting and 2 years and 17 days of talking about an armistice. There is still an armistice. But there is no real peace. The armistice provided for calling a conference—within 90 days after the signing of the truce—to work out the "peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

That "etc." was a beaut. It could mean anything or everything. No one ever got to the point of finding out what, there were no peace conferences to arrange a conference and they broke up.

Both sides agreed in the armistice neither should build up its forces or add to its supply of weap-

Are American Children Softies?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Are American kids softies?

There is evidence they are less physically fit than European children.

In one scientific study 57.6 per cent of American youngsters failed one or more of six tests for muscular strength and flexibility. The failure rate of European children in the same tests—only 8.3 per cent.

Starting statistics such as these led President Eisenhower to launch his national physical fitness program last year.

But it wasn't a statistic that got businessman Ed Kotite interested in the subject. It was a problem in his own home.

He had a son, Richie, 12. He was a good boy and never got into trouble. But he was plump and soft, and took more than his fair share of lickings in fights with the neighborhood kids. The only fatherly advice Kotite, a fine handball player and former semi-pro baseball star, could think of to give him was:

"Don't let those guys keep beating you up. Give it back to them." Then one day Kotite realized the real trouble. Richie had the courage—but he didn't have the know-how. "It was my fault—not my boy's," said Kotite, who operates a printing and advertising company.

A member of the New York Athletic Club, Kotite immediately set out to remedy the situation. He trained the boy systematically, worked the fat off him and put on muscle, taught him how to box. Soon Richie was in shape, and confident about his ability to take care of himself. He quit coming home with black eyes.

Proud of his success with his own son, Kotite brooded over the fact there must be millions of other Richies in America—but with no one to turn to for help.

He decided to do something about it. He organized the National Sports Council to help just such youngsters. The council is made up of businessmen, sportsmen and athletes. Among them are ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis; catcher Yogi Berra; Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics basketball team; and Doak Walker, All-American football star.

Sidetracking his business temporarily, Kotite with the help of these men and other sports champions wrote a physical conditioning course designed to enable any kid to develop his body and learn self defense. The council printed and distributed thousands of low-cost pamphlets on the health secrets and hygiene habits of famous athletes.

The inspirational pamphlets now draw letters from kids all over the world. So far Kotite has poured $100,000 of his own funds into the council's program.

The conditioning course is sold at a price within a kid's reach.

PRAYER FOR MAYOR ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—It's not that Mayor William Yeager has suddenly decided all his constituents are direly in the need of salvation.

It's just that he has moved and has a new telephone number. The old number, the one still listed in the directory, is that of a new "Dial-a-Prayer" system recently installed here.

Calling that number now gets the caller a one-minute prayer instead of Mayor Yeager.

The council plans to use the profits—if any ever materialize—to open gymnasiums across the country, manned by former sport stars and dedicated solely to putting youngsters in physical shape to stand up to the strains of later life.

"If an ordinary father tells his son he ought to get more sleep, the kid doesn't pay much attention to him," explained Kotite. "But when a fighter like Joe Louis says it's important to get 10 hours sleep, when a football player like Doak Walker tells why it isn't smart for a guy to go around dressed sloppily—well, the kids sit up and listen."

"They'll take the word of a champion."

ERROR—WITH INTEREST NOWATA, Okla. (AP)—Grocer Mel Landers received through the mails an unsigned note, a $20 bill and two dollar bills. The note said:

"This is to make up for an error in change to my benefit made several years ago in your store. Also enclosed is interest on the error."

College Seniors Lucky This Year

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Expanding plants and growing industries call for a fresh supply of brains and talent. And this year's college seniors are cashing in on it.

Placement officers report that a greater proportion of men and women will be heading for jobs next month than ever before in collegiate history. The starting pay will average higher.

Graduating engineers have been snapped up. Students trained in business administration are being recruited. And even the liberal arts schools are placing more graduates in jobs this year, after trailing during much of the business boom.

The Engineers Joint Council, representing 10 engineering societies, reports that some 8,000 companies have been bidding for the 20,000 seniors being graduated from engineering schools. It finds that the 14,000 graduates from two-year technological institutes are also being sought by industry, along with specialty trained high school graduates. The Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., in its annual survey of placements, notes that "at many engineering schools the recruiting firms have outnumbered the available seniors."

At Pennsylvania State University, industrial recruiters are reported to have been contacting juniors and sophomores as well. Many companies are wooing students, and their professors, with summer jobs, expecting them to carry a good word about the firm back to the campus next fall.

The director of placement at Northwestern University estimates that hiring of graduates is up by 30 per cent this year. Starting pay for engineers is up an average $23 a month this year to just under $400, and the nontechnically trained are averaging around $350 while women with scientific training are starting at around $340.

Average costs of recruiting teams indicates that interviewing and hiring a student calls for an outlay of $1,000 or more. Industrial personnel directors and that on many jobs it may cost as much as $10,000 to train the fledglings for the more responsible positions.

Approximately 15,730 persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents last year. Hannibal lost half of his 60,000 men before he reached Italy.

CROWS GO TO TOWN ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A U.S. Fish and Wildlife official here says crows are moving into the residential areas of the city. The gravel-voiced intruders, which used to make the valley farm land their quarters, are infiltrating into the plush, clipped hedge and patio section of the city.

"They are extremely adaptable," the official said.

MRS. TOM RUSSELL SHEIBENBERGER

Impressive Ceremony Unites F. Thompson T. Sheibenberger

At an impressive, lovely ceremony Saturday afternoon May 6 at 8 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church in Moultrie, Ga., Miss Florence Patricia Thompson of Moultrie and Tom Russell Sheibenberger of Sanford were united in marriage. The Rev. Kenneth Gearhart, vicar of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hobart Thompson, and Mr. Sheibenberger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robert Sheibenberger of Dayton, Ohio.

For the ceremony, the altar was held with exquisite all-white arrangements of Fuji mums, anemones and gladioli, flanked by burning tapers on either side of the altar. Mrs. Esther Milligan, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in ivory satin fashioned with a drop-shoulder yoke of illusion silk net, outlined with a scalloped border of satin, embroidered in seed pearls. The hip-length bodice buttoned down the back and the three-quarter length sleeves were encrusted with seed pearls. The full graceful skirt swept into a court train and her full length veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of tiny seed pearls and gold beads featuring a half circle of orange blossoms across the back. Her wedding gown was loaned her by Mrs. George E. Patterson of West Palm Beach, the former Susan McCall of Moultrie. The bride's bouquet was decorated with white calla lilies with green and white calladium leaves.

Mrs. S. M. Pelton of Fitzgerald, sister of the bride and honor attendant, wore a nice green waist-length dress with a bouffant skirt and decollete neckline. She carried a cascade bouquet of majestic daisies.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his brother, George E. Sheibenberger, of Dayton, Ohio, and ushers were Ben Daniel Jr., Cecil H. Dunn, Jr., S. M. Pelton, and W. L. Mace, all of Moultrie. Assisting as acolyte was Holland H. Dunn.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Thompson chose a sheath dress of pink linen with lace trim and matching accessories. Completing her ensemble was a corsage of white, pink-throated cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a coat-me of woolswept blue peau de soie with a pink hat and matching accessories, accented by a corsage of pale pink cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained at a lovely reception at Hotel Colquitt, in Moultrie.

Decorations featured a green and white color scheme. The bride's table, spread with a beautiful white heliolum linen and lace cut work cloth, was graced with a large antique silver spergna holding snowwhite roses, anapa, carnations and gypsophilla. The three-tiered wedding cake was embossed in green and white and was encircled with white net ruffled edged in green trim.

The punch table, overlaid with a green, floor length net cloth with an overskirt of white swan-ey, was draped with a garland of

A Doctor in the Family

By ELIZABETH SEBERT

SYNOPSIS
This is a story of love and conflict, revealing of both family life and the medical profession. It is the story of a doctor, Alan, who is married, and his wife, Linda, who is a nurse. Alan is a doctor in a hospital, and Linda is a nurse in the same hospital. The story is told from the point of view of Linda, who is a nurse in the same hospital. The story is told from the point of view of Linda, who is a nurse in the same hospital.

CHAPTER TWELVE
"I would suggest that you check up on me and my hospital — our rating," Alan said to Captain Blake. "You'd feel better about my opinion I'd have after examining your wife. I think time is an element, but so is your peace of mind."

There was a little more talk, and the doctors decided to walk as far as the hospital. It was about four blocks and the rain had resolved into a mist.

"Poor devil," said Alan, as he and Ernst got on their way. "Yes, I'd say complete idiocy, wouldn't you?"

"Oh—perhaps it's that bad." "She knows nothing, feels nothing. Did you notice her hands? The collapsed thumb? She would be better off dead."

"But she is not dead," protested his superior. "And of course euthanasia . . . " "I do not practice it!" snapped Alan.

"Can you always avoid its consideration?" "In a case like this, I find myself more curious to know if Mrs. Blake might be helped."

"You would operate then?" "If there were any chance of survival and improvement—yes, certainly."

"But, look, Doctor . . . " Still a block from the hospital they had paused before crossing the highway. "In this case, I think a doctor might be excused if he would not — what are the words? — if he would not bother. The husband seems — er — reconciled. Your sister is a lovely woman. And, as you explained to me, you would like to see her happy to see her happy."

"Yes," Alan agreed, "I did say that." Then he looked at his companion, at the fine profile beneath the brim of his smartly dipped black hat. "You know," he said in the tone of discovery, "I would have said you were a doctor to give little consideration to circumstances surrounding a surgical case, while I would be the one to consider the whole picture. Yet, in this—"

Dr. Ernst shrugged. "I would only prefer to see a romantic picture over one of tragedy. It would perhaps be better for both of us."

to consider only the medical problem. "That consideration alone will keep us busy," Alan assented. "Good night, Doctor — I'll go along home."

"Home" was at the far end of this same street, a broad avenue with tall trees at the hospital end of it. Alan walked along three blocks of business establishments, the bank, the post office, the Supermarket and Penney's. He passed the Episcopal Church, smothered in ivy, with tall trees again in evidence; another block of homes, and then he was at the gates of the Green River. Fog availed white about the lamps, Alan's own frosted breath rising as if he were propelled by steam.

The mistiness reminded him of his little-boyhood, when ice still had been cut from the pond, and stored in the old icehouse, smiling, the tall dark man walked on top of the avenue, his memory letting him fairly smell the old brick building, the damp sawdust and wet straw, and see the darkly gleaming ice buried there. He and young Jacob had often been set the task of getting the ice out.

Chuckling, Alan let himself into the big house. The party had disbanded. The main rooms were dark. Only the night lamp burned in the hall. Alan hung his damp coat and his hat on the coat rack in the closet, looked down regretfully at the stains upon his fine black shoes. He went over to the console and selected a heavy-headed rose from the vase there. With the flower in his hand, he went up the stairs two at a time, his long limbs moving like pistons, and put both hand and shoulder against the white panel of the bedroom door.

Linda was seated before the fire, reading, but she rose at once and came toward him.

He gave her the rose, his eyes shining. "I always bring my wife flowers on our wedding anniversary," he told her. She laughed and returned his kiss.

Her hair was brushed loosely about her face, and she wore a quilted satin robe of the same purplish blue as her eyes. Alan held her away, and looked at her, loving his wife, and wishing, almost desperately, that he was not so damn busy, that he did not, as today, spend two-thirds of his time away from her! He wished, too, that he was not so thick-tongued. It only he had some of Ernest's poish, and could summon a few of his glossy phrases! The best Alan Thornton could do was to draw his wife somewhat roughly into his embrace, rub his cheek into her hair and kiss her again.

With the image of Fern Blake still fresh in his memory, he held her close, murmuring something about life being short, and full of hazards; he sighed. "We have to make each day count," he said wistfully.

Linda winced. The whole day behind her had been spent in realizing that she'd been married for ten years, that she had no child. And now if Alan meant that he too realized, and regretted—she looked down at the rose which he had brought her, then up into his face. "Has something happened?" she asked.

He frowned. "My life is full of happenings," he reminded her. "But in another sense, nothing has happened. We've been married ten years, of course." He moved over to the upholstered chair, sat down and would have drawn her to his knee — she was a tiny thing.

"But to my surprise and dismay, she drew free of his hand, and began to talk, hurriedly, tensely. "You're right!" she cried. "We have been married for ten years! And nothing has happened. It's been a waste for you, Alan. Your mother—" She gripped her hands pressed to her hot cheeks.

Slowly, the tall man drew himself to his feet. He wanted only to make love to Linda; and, if they talked at all, to speak of Margaret and Fred Blake.

Linda stood upon the hearthrug, confronting him, her face white with her intensity, her panicky eyes dark.

"Seeing that her dimpled chin was inclined to quiver, he laughed deeply in his throat, and would have touched her, but she drew back. "Let me say this!" she begged. "Why, yes," he said softly, "if it must be said."

"I think it must. It seems only honest, Alan. I realize as well as your mother and father that our marriage has been a waste in that I've not been able to give you a child. Don't need them to point out to me that you are the finest of the Thornton line, and should have a chance to bring fine sons and daughters into the world. Well, I'll give you that chance, Alan. I've decided that I should step out, and let you be free . . . "

His heart constricted, his face was white. Had he failed her? Did she want a way out? "But, Linda, she protested, "you're my wife."

"I have been your wife," she agreed. "Long enough to know that . . . " She choked, and tears began to fill her eyes; one nearly drop spilled upon her cheek.

She shook her head impatiently. "Tell me one thing," she implored. "Does your brother have children?"

"John?" asked Alan, his tone flat with surprise. "Why — I don't know, Linda."

"He took a step toward him, starting.

"In any case," he cried impatiently, "he wouldn't figure . . . "

"Oh, Alan."

"Look, Linda—"

"You're not crucial, Alan," she pleaded. "Not really."

"What I am doesn't signify," he said gruffly. "But I think you must know that it was John's own choice to leave here, to cut himself off."

"Yes, yes! But he, too, Oh, how did we ever get into this?" He sounded angry. He was — impatient. And disappointed.

"It seemed the time," said Linda, musingly. "You're still young — and if John has no children, it is essential that you have them." Her voice began to rise. "Your mother and father think so. And I do, too. That's why I —"

She coughed loudly, trembling. She regarded him between the hands pressed to her temples. "Oh, please don't argue with me, Alan? I only know the way this thing has come to seem to me!"

Sisler Threatening To Take Vacant No. 1 Relief Job

BOSTON — Conness under pressure must have been one of the first things young Dave Sisler learned from his famous father.

Boston's rookie pitcher has mastered it so well he's threatening to take over the No. 1 relief job vacated when Ellis Kinder was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dave is a 24-year-old Princeton graduate and youngest son of Hall of Fame first baseman George Sisler.

The bespectacled right-hander made his seventh appearance in 17 games yesterday when he was asked to preserve a two-run Red Sox lead in the eighth inning. The bases were loaded and there was only one out against Chicago.

Five pitches later the inning was over.

Veteran Nellie Fox fouled off two fast balls, then missed a swing at a changeup. Usually reserved Red Sox Manager Alvin Karpis jumped to his feet in the dugout as Fox fanned.

On the second pitch to dangerous Minnie Minoso, Sisler got his adversary to hit a high shallow fly to right.

Dave got through the ninth too to save a 7-3 verdict for Tommy Hunter.

Sisler who had only brief minor league experience with Albany of the Eastern League but learned much from two years playing in the Army has an 0.82 earned run average.

He's given up only one earned run in 11 innings and has struck out seven. He's already got two regular league victories in relief. "Control, stuff, moxie," that's the way Higgins sums up Sisler.

In his basketball comeback made late during the last National Basketball Assn. season, George Mikan averaged 19½ points a game for 17 games. He averaged slightly more than 20 minutes a game.

The Boston Red Sox own the San Francisco Seals and have working agreements with four teams in the minor leagues.

Heavyweight Title Picture Clearer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The heavyweight title picture was slightly less clouded today after Bob Baker's flashing victory over John Holman, but what will happen next appears to be anybody's guess.

Baker, the Pittsburgh giant, pounded out a unanimous decision over Holman, the slow-motion Chicago boxer, last night in a 12-round bout billed as the first in a tournament to determine the successor to the retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Later, Baker's manager Dusty Bator said he had a promise from the International Boxing Club that his fighter would be matched in the second round of the eliminations with the winner of a Floyd Patterson-Hurricane Jackson bout scheduled for June 8 in Madison Square Garden.

Reports from New York, however, indicated that the Patterson-Jackson winner might meet Archie Moore for the championship.

Moore, the ancient ruler of the light heavyweight division, is listed as the No. 1 heavy in the current Ring ratings. Jackson is ranked second, Baker third, Holman fourth and Patterson fifth.

If it accomplished nothing else, last night's fight eased the traffic jam of title contenders by eliminating Holman.

Bleeding heavily from a cut over the left eye, Holman was almost a pathetic figure as he plodded after Baker in the late rounds, trying to land a blow that could overcome Baker's mounting margin of superiority.

Baker weighed 211 pounds, Holman 208.

Michigan has won the NCAA hockey championship five times.

Rotary Team Ready To Match Champs

By BOB SMITH

Tonight at the Memorial Stadium immediately following the Cub — All star game which starts at 7:50 p. m. a team of Rotarians will match diamond prowess with that of the league champs — and the tussle ought to be well worth the spectators' time. One might say that it could be well worth the price of admittance except that the admittance to both the game is free.

Sonny Powell will captain a team of erstwhile diamond dusters of recognized ability — that is recognized when they were actively running the base paths, snapping up solid slams and banging some bingles.

Of course, the intervening years, says Sonny Powell, might, just might, have "slowed down his team, but he still thinks they will show their up and coming adversaries a thing or two about the game."

He expects the Cubs to play fairly, naturally, and says that means if they do — just happen to — hit any of Dr. Dub Epps' dippy-doodle pitches, they should be fair enough to knock them to some infielder or outfielder. After all, it would be quite unfair, he alleges, to make one of these "retired" ball hawks RUN after the ball.

With Dr. Charlie Park Jr., at first base, Powell is confident that Orville Touchton, Dr. Billy Epps or Dr. John Morgan just couldn't possibly get the ball past him — no matter where they throw it. Granted that none of them has tossed a ball across a ball diamond in 10, these many moons, the "sem-pro" club skipper believes that each one of them can do a job that will make the spectator thrill again to his artistry.

It could be debated, the master-minder continued, that Brack Perkins, Bob Cornell, Bill Bush or F. D. Scott might not be able to run — not very far, that is — after a fly ball to the outfield, but there is where Moundsman Epps' ability to make the batter hit them "where they are" and not "where they ain't" comes in. And he avers that it would be most unsportsmanlike of the Cubs to knock the apple into any other part of the orchard than where some one waits to gobble it up.

As to his own position Powell says that he can catch whatever Epps throws. He has been getting his eye on the ball by warming up as an umpire during the Rotary league season. And so far as a throw to second — "no trouble at all — if the short stop will catch my arm as the second sacker takes the ball."

But spectators need have no doubt that it will be five fast innings of baseball.

And most of the fans hereabouts who have seen these business and professional men play when they were high school and college stars will be delighted to see them in action again.

Charlie Maxwell Has Been In, Out Of Majors 3 Times

By ED CORRIGAN

The Associated Press
Charlie Maxwell, a 28-year-old nomad, has been in professional baseball since 1917 and has yet to spend as much as two complete seasons with one team.

He's been in and out of the majors three times and has played with five different minor league clubs. But it's just possible that he finally has found himself a home with the Detroit Tigers.

A muscular left-handed swinger, Maxwell was tabbed for utility duty before the season started. Jim Delving and Chick King were the left field platooners. But now King has departed, Delving hasn't produced and Maxwell is practically in full charge of left field.

His two-run homer in last night's 7-3 decision over the Washington Senators didn't hurt any. Neither did his two homers Tuesday. He has hit six all told and is batting .377, third in the American League.

The Tigers still are in the league basement, but they are beginning to show some life. Al Kaline chipped in with another two-run homer and Frank House contributed a bases-loaded triple.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Cleveland Indians finally stopped the New York Yankees 6-3; the Red Sox crushed the Chicago White Sox 7-5; and the Kansas City A's whipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-0 behind Art Ditmar's seven-hitter.

Only two games were played in the National League. Tom Poholsky whitewashed the Philadelphia Phillies for the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0, and the Cincinnati Redlegs edged the New York Giants 6-5.

If nothing else, the manner in which the A's' dropped their game to the Indians proved Casey Stengel's men are not supermen.

Golf Tourney Will Highlight Stern Tests For Favorites

ATLANTA (U)—Defending champion Charles Harrison of Atlanta played George Hamer of Columbia, Ga., former Southern and NCAA champion, today in a second round Southern Amateur golf tournament match expected to highlight a series of stern tests on tap for the favorites.

Lew Gehrig of Chattanooga battled Hillman Robbins Jr. of Memphis in an all-Tennessee contest, while Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., took on Dan Yates of Atlanta.

Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga., the 1931 Southern champion, met Eddie Merrin of Meridian, Miss., in a renewal of the 1931 Southern top 5 and 3.

But Charles Dudley of Greenville, S. C., who won medalist honors with a fine 137 in qualifying rounds, did not expect to have much trouble with Beverly Nabers of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The second round marked the first of two 18-hole tests scheduled today over the hilly par 72 Druid Hills course.

Most of the better players advanced with little trouble during the first round of match play yesterday although three of the lower qualifiers fell to underdogs.

— Just to see what a business or professional career — not the passing years, mind you — can do to a fellow's baseball ability. And undoubtedly there will be a goodly crowd in the stands at Memorial Stadium tonight because at least one of the games will keep the blood pressure at a high level.

Pittsburgh's last National batting champion was Deb Grumbea who hit .355 in 1940.

Woman Is Arrested For Attacking Car

OKLAHOMA CITY — Police arrested Fanny Stegney, 34, Tuesday night and reported she attacked her car.

The car stalled. Officers quoted by-standers as saying the woman tinkered under the hood several minutes, then lost her temper. She kicked the car, beat on it with her fists, threw rocks at it.

One witness, the officers reported, said she threw rocks at him when he offered help.

The car was heavily damaged—headlights, fenders, hood, battery cracked, hood battered. The formal charge on the docket is drunkenness.

MOTOR MAIDS

Bad Drivers Blacklisted

By Jeanne Smith,
Dodge Safety Consultant

BOYFRIENDS with bad-driving habits are up against strong feminine opposition in Livonia, a Detroit suburb of 40,000. They're being boycotted by GASAFETY.

The abbreviation stands for "Girls' Automobile Safety Assn. for Educating Youth." Members of this newest threat to unruly motorists and crazy "chicken" drivers are all between the ages of 10 and 21.

They meet once a month to discuss ways and means of curbing youthful motorists' mayhem and to learn more about how a car operates.

Safety lectures by automotive engineers and police officers teach them what good drivers should do to avoid accidents.

GASAFETY members vow always to drive in a safe, sane manner. Further, they've all agreed not to date any boy who is a notoriously wild driver, not even if he's a football hero with a sleek convertible. And they loyally stick to their pledge.

Blackballed are careless characters like "Road Hog Harry" and "Lover Boy Larry," dates who turn a corner on two wheels, go over hills in the center lane, or drive with one arm around a girl.

Girl-drivers who take unnecessary chances are labeled by GASAFETY too. These include "Anxious Annie," who guns the motor at a traffic signal and then shoots into the intersection the second the light turns. Another is "Nervous Natalie," who, while driving punctuates every word with hand-waving gestures.

But GASAFETY's main target is the "hothead man in their lives." By refusing to date bad drivers, explained one member, they no longer risk ending up in the emergency ward of a hospital.

"Leave it to the gals to find one sure way of putting the reins on careless young motorists," says

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. What is considered full-time training in a Korean GI Bill trade school course that consists largely of shop practice?

A. Full-time training consists of at least 30 hours a week for at least five days a week.

Q. I surrendered my permanent National Service Life Insurance policy for cash when I went back on active military duty. I'm about to get out and I want to know if I can reinstate my permanent policy?

A. Yes, you have the right to reinstate your permanent policy, but you must act within 120 days from discharge. It may be reinstated as of your original age and effective date, without medical examination, upon payment of the required reserve and the current premium. Any VA office can tell you how much you'll have to pay.

Q. I recently obtained a VA grant for an automobile, since I am a double leg amputee. Will VA also pay for maintenance and repairs of the car?

A. No. Under the law, VA is not authorized to pay for repairs or maintenance of the car.

Q. VA has provided me with an artificial leg, and also a prosthetic service card that I can present to a repair shop for repairs. What is the maximum cost of repairs my card will cover?

A. The maximum is $25. Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave. Orlando.

EAFB PILOTS HAVE EXTRA HOUR

FORT WALTON BEACH — Five towns along the Miracle Strip are to go on daylight saving time May 13 so Eglin Air Force Base pilots can have an extra hour of flying time in the morning.

Officials of Niceville, Valparaiso, Mary Esther, Fort Beach and Destin agreed on the change subject in Fort Walton Beach to a June 12 vote. Standard time will be resumed Sept. 2.

America has about 54 million families.

Armed Forces Day — 1956

"On this seventh Armed Forces Day we mark another year of peace. We in the United States Air Force dedicate ourselves to the preservation of freedom and to continued peace. Our Air Force is a powerful deterrent to aggression. We will never commit aggression ourselves, yet we must stand ever ready to defend it wherever it threatens free people. We salute our sister Services. The Air Force is proud of its position on the integrated defense team, for only in this manner can we best protect our heritage of freedom." — M. F. Twining, General, Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force

Every Family Needs Its Own Cinematographer

Yes, every family not only needs its own cinematographer, but every member of the family ought to be one. It is an impressive title, but really just means one who takes pictures with a movie camera.

There's no better way to keep a record of family life than in full color home movies that reproduce all the brilliance and motion of the activity or scene that caused you to want to take pictures.

We're especially excited about home movie-making for all members of the family since we heard about a new camera that came on the market just a few weeks ago. It's the movie version of the familiar fixed focus or box still camera (except that it has a better lens) and it is priced at under $30. Much under, just a little. Made by a well-known manufacturer, it's practically foolproof, it's so easy to use.

With this camera you make one simple setting of the lens, wind the motor, and shoot. And, there's a guide on the front to tell you which setting to use, according to the way the weather is.

Birthdays, weddings, graduations, holidays, and all the little every day things that are the material from which happy memories are made—will be kept fresh, colorful, and full of action in your movie films.

Some Maus Maus Are Still At Work

NAIROBI, Kenya — One dark night in the terror-ridden British colony of Kenya, a white man in black face and seven African followers melted into a marauding Mau Mau band.

The band scurried through the bush, intent on its goal, with eight British agents undetected in its midst. Finally it came to a clearing where other Mau Mau bands were milling about. The disguised British leader gave a silent signal and his pseudo Mau Mau stole away in the darkness.

At last a British man ran down the secret meeting place of Chief Kago, whose brilliant tactics had turned the Ft. Hall area of Kikuyu land into "virtually a Mau Mau republic."

Kago, his suspicions aroused when aides reported the disappearance of eight "strangers," switched the meeting place. But the British agents had it pinpointed and security forces swept down on 350 masked Mau Maus.

Kago died in the battle and the Mau Maus suffered a crushing defeat that broke their hold over the Ft. Hall area.

That was in 1953, the first time Kenya's security forces had been able to bring a major Mau Mau force into open battle. The repercussions of the feat swept through the entire Mau Mau movement. The Mau Maus never could feel secure again and life became a bit easier for the European colony. Even today the British won't tell the full story of the pseudo Mau Maus and their deeds. Some still are at work in their dangerous mission.

Others, missions accomplished, have returned to such humdrum civilian pursuits as farming, business and game warden.

But the Kenya War Council has lifted a bit of the veil of secrecy, enough to disclose that European and African intelligence agents operating as pseudo Mau Maus at great risks have played a major role in the fight against the anti-white bands.

Men like Francis Erskine and Peter Nicholas and Walter Gash have been decorated for their exploits. Gash, a young Kenya regiment officer, did much of the pioneering field work. Nicholas and his pseudo Mau Maus killed 13 real Mau Maus in a Kiambu district skirmish near Nairobi.

The Mau Maus caught on quickly to the undercover operation and tightened their security system to combat it. They changed passwords frequently. They watched for betraying mannerisms and accents. An agent was likely to have a question shot suddenly at him, with his ability to respond in pure Mau Mau dialect. Most agents avoid talking.

Two white agents have been killed, the War Council disclosed.

COW BEATS MOTORCYCLE
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Policeman J. B. Davis says the motorcycle will never replace the horse. He tried to run a cow off an outlying road with his cycle, but the cow charged and trampled the cycle. A fender, headlight and windshield were damaged.

An unidentified cowboy later roped the cow and left it tied to a tree until the owner could recover it.

Board Of Education Appoints A. Bracken As New SHS Principal

ANDREW J. BRACKEN

The principal of Seminole High School was appointed yesterday by the Board of Education following the unanimous approval of the recommendation that Andrew J. Bracken be named to the post. The decision by the board yesterday was unanimous.

Bracken, a former professor at the University of Florida for seven years in the School of Education will take over as principal at Seminole High School on July 1.

The new principal is married and has two children.

The Board yesterday postponed the appointment of an assistant principal at Seminole High School and a new principal for the Sanford Junior High School, until a later date.

Attendance areas were established by the Board of Education yesterday for the Pinecrest School. They are South of 25th St. between Sanford Ave. and Georgia Ave. (Dreamwood Area), including Highway 17-92 to Five Points, the old Orlando Highway through Elder Springs and Ginderville, Lake Jessup and South Sanford Ave., Golden Lake, Silver Lake and Lake Onor Road.

Due to the anticipated increase of children at the Lake Mary School in grades one through six, the Board voted to move the seventh and eighth grade children to Sanford.

School will start for teachers in the ensuing school year Aug. 20 and pupils, Sept. 4.

School will be out for the present year on June 4 for children and on June 8 for teachers.

SHS Students Will Experience Day In Court Monday

Three classes at Seminole High School will have their day in court next Monday when more than 80 students will spend the entire day listening and gaining experience from actual trials in the court room.

The three classes under the professorship of Roger Harris and Bob Kowitz will visit Seminole County Court Monday beginning at 9 o'clock to hear the sounding of the docket, the selection of a jury, and trials getting underway.

Members of the Commercial Law and Sociology classes under Professor Bob Kowitz and the Psychology classes under Professor Roger Harris will see "court in action" to determine "the interest and whether or not the students are impressed with the actual events in court."

Students in the group will be predominantly seniors. However, a number of juniors will be represented in the group visiting the Seminole County Court Rooms.

It is expected that when time permits, during the process of court proceedings, County Judge Ernest Housholder will explain the duties used in the courts of Florida.

Following the "day in court" students will undergo tests and participate in discussions relative to their experiences during the full day of listening and watching all that happens from beginning to end.

Cubs Defeat Rotary Team In Tilt Last Night At Stadium

In a three inning thriller at Memorial Stadium last night immediately following the Cub-Allstar tilt, the Bruins again took the field and drubbed a picked team from the Rotary club, 6 to 4. McMurray took on the pitching chores and although he wasn't beating down as hard as he did in the curtain-raiser, he opened in another capable job. He was aided and abetted by one of the Cub managers, Ben Wiggin, behind the plate.

A highlight of the game was the double play pulled by the Rotarians whose sparkling footwork still was a thing to behold!

The Cubs left off with two tallies. Bramlett singled, sauntered on around to third on a stolen base, McMurray was on base on Billy Epps' wild throw from shortstop and both these path-pioneers turned into runs.

In the next inning Morlon drew a walk and Whitten was on as Dub Epps' pitch thumped him in the ribs. They both marked on McMurray's single, and he later dashed across home on a wild pitch. Corley, walked to first and ran the rest of the way to score the fourth run of the inning and the sixth for the Cubs.

The Rotary club's first tally came on Orville Touchton's liner to put him on base and John Morgan's crash to center that Davis bobbed.

In the next inning Dub Epps brought the crowd to its feet when he poled a long ball to the left field wall—but the gasping moundsman barely made it to third. It was the hit of the evening. He scored as soon as he could catch his breath when Charlie Park doubled. Touchton, who had two for two, sent the shuffling surgeon on in with a run when he singled, following a wild pitch that put Park on third.

CUBS — 2 4 0 — 6 1
ROTARY — 1 2 1 — 4 0
McMurray and Wiggin; Dub Epps and Powell. Umpires Hutchison and Morrison.

The Seminole County Board of Education yesterday accepted preliminary plans for the addition of eight elementary class rooms, cafeteria, and administrative suite which will include clinic and storage for Lyman School.

The Seminole County Board of Education was told yesterday that a full scale countywide survey for school needs will be made in October of this year.

Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee said today, "We will have 16 elementary classrooms and 150 seventh and eighth graders at Pinecrest School for the coming school year and 715 seventh and eighth graders at Sanford Junior High School."

Mothers Exemplify Best Qualities Of Mankind

AN EDITORIAL.

A great deal of sentimental nonsense has been written about motherhood. One would think, to read the effusions of some essayists and greeting card writers, that every mother in the world is a paragon of all virtues. Experience proves that this state of affairs simply does not exist.

This may seem like a negative approach to a piece honoring motherhood on Mother's Day, but it is a true one. And it gives a solid foundation for what we really want to say, which is that, though they share human frailty with the rest of us, the great majority of mothers rise above it to heights of sacrifice and devotion rarely equalled by others.

It is the glory of mothers that they are human, and not angels of pure light. They experience joy and sorrow, happiness and pain, just as other human beings do. But in them all the infinite variations of these human feelings are sharpened and deepened by the very fact that they are mothers. The sorrow of a mother bereft of her child is beyond ordinary sorrow; a mother's joy in the happiness of her child is beyond ordinary joy.

The mothers of the race, more than any other group of human beings, exemplify the best qualities of mankind. That is not over-sweet Mother's Day sentiment. It is the plain and happy truth.
