THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN DISSOLVED

TALK ABOUT GRAFTING IN GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS— POOR ADV.—MERIDITH

New Sec. of Agriculture Wants Optimism

COUNTRY ALL RIGHT

ALL WE NEED IS MORE MEN AND MORE WORK TO TAKE CARE OF FARMS

New York, March 13.—In terms of the advertising manager, Secretary Meredith today told the Merchants association of New York of his ambition to increase the output of the department of agriculture's chief product service.

It was the first address made by Mr. Meredith since his appointment and summarized the work done by men in his department, while at the same time urging the advisability of increasing rather than cutting, the appropriations for carrying on the work.

Paying tribute to the loyalty displayed by the employees in the department, he deplored a tendency to discuss "waste, graft and soft snags."

"I think it is poor advertising to be talking all the time about the waste graft and soft snags. I heard a lady say the other day that there were things they did not discuss in her family before the children because they were too young to understand; and that she thought it was all wrong for us in America to be complaining about the government, to be saying that this man is inefficient, or that one is grafting. There are some people who might believe you mean it; there are some foreigners who are not acquainted with our ways over here, and he hears you and goes out and repeats your statement to others. How many of us simply fall into the habit of complaining and criticizing. It is poor advertising. Don't do it."

The department was pictured as saving an invested capital of $70,000,000,000, the amount invested in agriculture. The product and livestock cost last year was $25,000,000,000. In 1919 there were 13,900,000 farm workers compared with 3,190,000 in 1910. He said that in the five years, 1915 to 1920, the average production of cereals per farm worker was 418 bushels.

"These figures are interesting," he said, and particularly so in connection with the high cost of living. If there are more men on the farm farming more acres, each acre producing more per acre, and each man producing more per man, giving each and every one of us today more of the six leading cereals per capita than we have had before, it seems to me the farmer is doing his part pretty well." Farmers increased during the war their planted acreage 33,000,000,000 bushels, adding that this was in response to the department's request.

Secretary Meredith emphasized the necessity for appropriations for fighting crop pests.

"Taking the cotton boll weevil," he said "you know the fight there has been on this pest for years and years. We have been spending money and you men have paid some of it in taxes to fight the insect. It has been discouraging work, but the experts of the department did not give up, and now the tide has turned. They poison the weevil's drinking water. His drink is the dew on cotton leaves early in the morning; so they poison the dew and that is the end of the boll weevil."

"Last year this method was tested out on abandoned farms, where the farmer had said 'I give it up' and had moved."

PEACE TREATY FIGHT

NOT EVEN SENATE LEADERS CAN TELL WHERE IT WILL END

Washington, March 13. (By Associated Press) No body to day could tell what is likely to happen in the treaty fight. So many cross currents in the negotiations for a compromise on Article Ten that even the senate leaders are at loss to understand where the pact is drifting. The vote on article Ten is not expected before Saturday.

DAIRYING GREAT ASSET TO SEMINOLE COUNTY WITH MODERN METHODS

Pinehurst Dairy Among The New Enterprises

GREATER OPPORTUNITY NEVER PRESENTED

TAMPA TIMES GIVES SOME SALIENT FACTS ABOUT FLORIDA DAIRYING

The Pinehurst Dairy Farm recently established here now has a beautiful white enameled delivery car going the rounds with a driver and delivery man all spick and span, the new dairy is as clean as one's home almost and every thing is done by electricity. Paul Keely is the presiding genius of the new dairy and Paul has ideas of his own about how an up to the minute dairy should be operated. Dairies nowadays must be clean or the State and local boards of health will get them but the man who really wants to operate a real dairy does not need official action to keep his dairy clean. He knows that he will gain business by sanitary methods and realizes that clean milk is essential to the health of the cow. Sanford is fortunate in this respect and the dairies large and small that are operating now are making an honest endeavor to give the people the best of milk under sanitary conditions. Dairying should be one of the principal assets of Seminole county and the following from the Tampa Times is strictly to the point:

Yesterday we called attention to the wealth developed by Denmark from the production of eggs and butter, mentioning the fact that Denmark, naturally a bleak and infertile country a land of long winters and foggy and cheerless summers, still managed to supply the markets of London and Paris with 260,000,000 pounds of butter yearly, and that the Danish butter bore an excellent reputation in the market and was enriching its markets.

We have states in this union which might compete with Denmark in butter making, not only as to quality, but also to quantity, but Florida is not one of them as yet. With all the advantages for stock raising possessed by any state, and more than most of them we are content to get our beef from the prairies of the west, our butter from the creameries of Illinois and Wisconsin and our eggs from Tennessee

Wisconsin is perhaps a typical state for dairying. It has a state dairying commissioner who tells us that the number of cows in Wisconsin exceeds 2,000,000, that there are 180,000 milk producing farms, which return to their owners the sum of $215,000,000 yearly. Part of that great sum, too much goes from Florida, for we import many tons of Wisconsin butter and numberless cans of condensed milk.

And it goes without saying that in its natural advantages for carrying on the dairy industry, Wisconsin cannot compete with Florida. The Wisconsin dairyman must provide warm and comfortable quarters for his cows for at least six months in the year, a tax from which the Florida farmer is exempt. The stabled cows must be fed and cared for at considerable expense for those six months. Labor and feed are not small items in the expense bills of the western dairyman, but they can be largely eliminated by the Florida dairyman. His herds have a longer season on grass, as well as a greater variety of nutritious grasses to choose from. Then there is a great variety of valuable forage plants, which can be grown successfully in Florida and reduce the amount of grain required to keep the animals healthy and productive. Again the lands of Florida are much cheaper than the highly developed lands with the expensive buildings in Wisconsin. The first outlay would not need to be as great.

Here is where Florida is neglecting a great opportunity. The 180,000 milk farms of Wisconsin should be matched by 200,000 similar farms in Florida. This state has more than 2,000 square miles more than Wisconsin has; a better and longer grazing season, and an abundance of pure and wholesome water. Droughts are rarely long-continued or serious with us. In fact, from every possible point of view we are as well situated for carrying on a successful dairy business as any state in the union, and some day the farmer of Florida will find it out.

SOUTH IS PLANNING FOR PORT EXPANSION HOLDING CONFERENCE

So. Ports Want Share of New Business

TRADE CONFERENCE

AT GREENSBORO NORTH CAROLINA THIS WEEK TAKING UP IMPORTANT DETAILS

Greensboro, N. C., March 13.—Manufacturers, bankers, shippers, freight rate experts and foreign specialists of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, gathered here today for the opening of the foreign trade conference called to devise plans for the expansion of the export trade of the South Atlantic states through their ports in general and Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, Tampa and Jacksonville in particular. Thirty cities are represented by delegations here.

Tentative plans for discussion today called for the adoption of measures to overcome proposed cancellation of the new export rates to South Atlantic ports established a few months ago but the railroad administration, which rates placed these ports on a parity with New York and other eastern seaboard points. The sponsors for the conference fear the big trunk railroad lines will make an effort to re-establish the old alleged discriminatory rates, and the chief reason for calling today's meeting was the desire to plan how to defeat freight rate cancellation.

The conference will endeavor to get together on a plan to fight the proposed sale of the American merchant marine, leaders here making an effort to have the government retain control of the ships in the hands of the shipping board for ten years at least.

The formation of a South Atlantic general trade association composed of the chambers of commerce of the cities of the four states, is another project that will receive attention today. Development of trade with Latin America was one of the objects of the meeting here. There will be two sessions of the conference today, ending with a banquet tonight. Govt. Bickett, of North Carolina, Sen. Smith of South Carolina and Matthews Hale, president of the South Atlantic Export Co., are among the speakers. Members of the Southern Traffic League and specialists in freight rates and foreign commerce also will address the meeting.

The Department of Justice announced today that it intends to begin within a few weeks an intensive educational campaign designed to lower the consumer's meat bill materially.

The plan to be used has been tested by the Department in several places in order that its economic soundness might be demonstrated. It is expected that the efforts of the Department will have the co-operation of retail meat dealers throughout the country as well as the co-operation of the whole packing industry including several hundred different companies.

DOCK STRIKE IN NEW YORK WANT MONEY

LONGSHOREMEN AND DOCK WORKERS STOP COASTWISE SHIPPING

New York, March 13. (By Associated Press) Longshoremen, checkers and dock workers struck today to enforce the demands for higher wages. Between seven and eight thousand are out. The coastwise steamship lines are principally affected.

COMMISSION ON COAL CAN'T AGREE

SPLIT ON WAGE SCALE AND NUMBER OF HOURS OF WORK

Washington, March 13. (By Associated Press) The effort to compose the differences between the majority and the minority of the Bituminous Coal Strike Commission will be made by the president. Neither the minority or the majority report will be made public if there is any possibility of bringing the members of the commission to an agreement on the principal differences of amount of wage advances and the ours of work. It is understood that John P. White for the miners held out for thirty-five per cent wage increase and a seven hour day. The majority recommended twenty-five per cent increase and unchanged hours.

Weather And Crop Conditions In Florida For The Week Ending March 9 1920.

Temperature. Including the second, this is the coldest week of the season, and probably the coldest of record for March, temperatures having occurred.—heaviest over the extreme north where not needed to any extent, and deficient in south, where moisture needed on the coast. No rain occurred in some portions of the section.

Condition of Crops. A week of untoward conditions. The unusually low temperature, freezing practically throughout the mainland, wet soil in poor germination, and general stagnation of farm work mark the week as possibly unprecedented for March. The bulk of the truck crops, such as tomatoes, Irish potatoes, beans, peppers, and other tender truck killed, except where favorably located or instances where given protection. In such cases there was much saved; or, at least, the damage was materially lessened. Early corn in the peninsula counties was badly damaged—probably most of it killed. Much of the crop, however, is yet to be planted.

Hundreds of acres of melons killed, and, unfortunately, recent seedings have germinated poorly. Some acreage in the south on which truck was killed, and probably too late to replant, will be seeded to corn and other staple crops. Strawberry bloom suffered much damage. Tender citrus growth and bloom, especially exposed parts of groves damaged, locally, but prospective crop probably not be materially affected.

DISREGARDED RECOMMEND SAYS SIMS

TOLD THEM HOW TO WIN THE WAR BY THE CONVOY SYSTEM

Washington, March 13. (By Associated Press) Disregard by the Navy Department of his recommendations in regard to the adoption of the convoy system was described by Admiral Sims as "infinitely more serious" in its bearing on the war than other cases of alleged inefficiency cited in previous testimony before the senate investigating committee. He said the Navy Department had failed to adopt the convoy system until late in July 1917 despite his urging.

Chameleon Food.
The proper diet of chameleons and lizards consists of flies and other insects; also small worms, but the common idea that small fish will serve for their food is incorrect. A good many of these animals refuse food in the winter months and all of them need warmth and sun light, as well as water. They are difficult to keep in health, and if not given their natural food will starve to death in time, though their ability to fast for long periods, is well known.

Getting Gold Out of Australia.
Australia forbids the export of gold without authority, but the Chinese who go back to their own land on a visit show considerable ingenuity in taking away the coveted sovereign. Recently customs inspectors made a rich haul in a rain jar, the back of a shaving mirror, an alarm clock and the leather band of a hat. The Chinese cheerfully paid the fines imposed on them and were delighted when the confiscated gold was returned to them.

MAYHEM, NOT ASSULT

The assault on Editor Harris, of the Kissimmee Valley Gazette, appears to us to deserve special attention at the hands of the Florida Press Association. The "Ebel laws" of this state make it almost possible for any miflin to hale a publisher or an editor into court who mentions his name against his will. There is nothing that gives more pleasure to men of a certain class than to demand a written or an oral public apology for something they declare to have injured, or insulted, them, even though it be absolute truth that has been said. And if the public apology is not forthcoming they slap a paper into the courts for damages, or possible imprisonment.

But there is no law in this land where by any man can put his hands on an editor or publisher who refuses to retract, or to apologize, or to give free publicity to any man, and escape unpunished.

Inasmuch as it was not assault, but Mayhem which was inflicted on Editor Harris, we believe it the duty and the privilege of the Florida press to see that counsel is secured to assure that the punishment for mayhem be the punishment inflicted on the man who may be convicted of the injuring of Mr. Harris.

Willfully gouging out a man's eye, constitutes no common assault that can be pleaded guilty to and paid for with "thirty days or 400." It is Mayhem.

"Mayhem," a common law, is defined by Blackstone as the violently depriving another of the use of such of his members as may render him less able, in fighting, either to defend himself or to annoy his adversary. 4 Bl. 204. The first general comprehensive statute on the subject in England was the statute of Charles the Second, which enacted that "any person who should on purpose, and with malice affethought, unlawfully cut out or disable the tongue, put out an eye, slit the nose or lip, or cut off or disable any limb or member, or disfigure him in any of the manners with intent to maim or disfigure him, shall be guilty of felony." Since this statute the crime of mayhem includes those injuries only which are therein enumerated.

Mayhem, at ancient common law, was a violent and unlawful depriving another of the use of a member proper for his use in defending himself, and was punished by a forfeiture of member for member, and was deemed a felony.

SANFORD, FLA.

Commonwealth vs. Newell, Mass. 245, 247.

Mayhem, at common law, is such a bodily hurt as renders a man less able, in fighting, of defending himself or annoying his adversary; but if the injury be such as disfigures him only, without diminishing his corporal abilities, it does not fall within the crime of mayhem. Mayhem is defined in the statutes of Florida. See 3220, general statutes, as follows:

"Mayhem: Whoever, with malicious intent to maim or disfigure, cuts out or maims the tongue, puts out or destroys an eye, cuts or tears off an ear, cuts, slits or mutilates the nose or lip, or cuts off or disables a limb or member of any other person, and whoeever is privy to such intent, or present, aiding or abetting in the commission of such offense, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding twenty years or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars."—Tampa Tribune

THE EDITOR'S PRAYER

A few days ago the St. Augustine Record published on its editorial page "The Editor's Prayer". It has been reproduced by a number of papers outside the state, and by one Washington (D. C.) Journal, although the "prayer" is less than a month old. Because it first appeared in a decorated border and not as the original editorials are printed in the St. Augustine Record, many editors in the state are assuming, as the St. Petersburg Times said, that it is "probably one of those gems of thought which tour the country forom one editorial page to another".

Knowing the editorial writer of the Record so well, The Tribune rather felt that the "prayer" was original with him, and asked the direct question. As expected we received an affirmative reply.

Editorial Writer Herbert Felkel, who is also managing editor for the St. Augustine Record, prescribes daily a supposedly funny dose of "bromides" for his patients, the readers of his paper. Because of the waggishness and keen wit of many of them, he is believed by many readers to be undoubtedly "a very wicked, hard-drinking, evil-minded fellow"—just as the writer of the "column" on The Tribune is known by those who have not seen him to be of the pomerosa tomato build and texture, whereas he has to stand several times in the same spot in the winter, where the sunshine is weak, to make a shadow.

Felkel, who is in reality a religious sort of a fellow, writes the "heavies" appearing in the next column to his "Bromides", also, and a glance at them is all that is necessary to convince one of his seriousness, earnestness and wisdom. Sunshine and shadow alternately fleck the average "small paper" editor, and he must be serious this minute and comic the next, while in a short time his pathos will be bringing the tear of sympathy to every eye.

Clean humor cannot be bad; nothing which brings a hearty, clean laugh can be vulgar, and that is the theory of the man who wrote "The Editor's Prayer", which we consider worth presenting to our readers, as follows:

The Editor's Prayer

"Almighty and everlasting God, who dost govern all things in heaven and earth, mercifully hear the supplication of Thy servant. Watch over us in the long hours of each work day and impress us with the thought that all labor ought to be in Thy service of Thy people. Help us to forget self and remember humanity, the whole public and the good of the state.

"Guide our pen with righteous thoughts and fill us, Heavenly Father, at all times with mercy and love and forgiveness. Keep hate out of our heart and show us how to take the sting out of what we write. Strengthen us with wisdom and faithfulness.

"Forgive us for the grief that any word we wrote may have caused our fellowmen, and make us big enough to admit error, to right wrong, and to "do good unto them that persecute us", so that in all earnestness and sincerity we may ask that our trespasses be forgiven "as we forgive those who trespass against us."

"But at the same time fortify us, O God, to speak our convictions, to stand out strongly for what conscience tells us to stand out for, and to help put down those things that we know ought to be put down.

"We pray Thee leave us not alone in the midst of multitudinous journalistic temptations which must always test us; but deliver us, Our Father, from everything that is evil. Remind us constantly of the wide influence of the printed page and teach us to say these things and to do those deeds that will help than hinder the hosts who watch our living and read our writing and of necessity take color from them.

"Give us physical strength and moral courage, increase our energy and quicken our conception, and, above all, O Lord, keep our great responsibilities ever well before us, for Christ's sake, and do to the honor and glory of Thy Holy Name."—Tampa Tribune

NOTICE

To Our Customers and Friends:

Income tax blanks for computing returns for the year 1919 are now being distributed, and before March 15th, every unmarried person with an income of $1,000.00, or if married, $2,000.00, must make a return even though deductions allowed may reduce taxable income to the point where there is no liability for payment.

The officers of the First National Bank have taken some time and trouble to inform themselves as fully as possible regarding the law and rulings bearing on the matter, and will be glad to render assistance to all who may desire it in making out their returns.

Come in and bring all information and figures for the year's business and let us help you.

T. N. T. Sewing Club

Among the pleasant events of the week was numbered the meeting of the T. N. T. Sewing Club, with Mrs. Geo. Fox hostess, Thursday afternoon. All members of the jolly little club were present and a good time was enjoyed. Tea and sandwiches were served by the hostess. The meeting next Thursday will be with Mrs. Archie Betts.

Book Lovers Club

The members of the Book Lovers Club were charmingly entertained by Miss Annie Hawkins Friday afternoon at her home on Celery Avenue, with Miss Thelma Harber a guest of the club, and a good attendance of members.

A delicious refreshment course was served consisting of chicken salad, hot rolls, celery, coffee, cake and straw berries. The Book Lovers is one of the most congenial clubs in the city and the members enjoy the gracious hospitality and informal gatherings arranged by each with due appreciation.

When these two men say that they are going to lend all the support they possibly can to the Base Ball proposition this year that means a whole lot because both these men cover a lot of territory.

SO — DO — WE

cover a lot of territory when we say that you can look a long, long time, and then look some more before you will find anything nicer than the new Spring Clothes coming into our place every day at the same price we are asking for them. But we mean to cover a lot of territory in saying this because its a fact.

We played in luck by purchasing several dozen suits a good while back, and got them bought at the right price and we are going to pass this good luck along to you. This particular lot won't last long. Better come early

Curtain At 8:15. No one Seated During The Prologue

An Epoch-making event in the annals of American amusements is the presentation by Richard Walter Tully of the white-compelling accomplished American actor, Guy Bates Post, in the iridescent bubble of modern humanity, "The Masquerader." This dramatic masterpiece by John Luntz Booth, taken from the widely read novel of Katherine Cecil Thurston, intimately illustrates the lives of two men who met in the fog and traded identities and living quarters.

The dual characterization offers Mr. Post a wonderful opportunity and the contrasted characters are impersonated by him with all the art of a genius mind. His drug fiend is a pitiful wretch; his Loder, the "man," the mental and moral antithesis of the other.

More intensely and artistically interesting than Jeckyl and Hyde—more massive in presentation than any modern play, and yet, so deftly done, its ponderous scenes move with the smooth rapidity of an uninterrupted panorama, and that is what this wonderful play is—A LIVING MOVING, TALKING PANORAMIC REFLEX OF THE WARP AND WOOF OF HUMANITY.

The most Ponderous of all Modern Plays pulsating with the element that comprises "Life" presented in
