President Lyndon Johnson to the new $22,500 a year job as director of the service is still subject to Senate confirmation.

Meanwhile, working out of the commerce department, the three former southern governors (Hodges was once governor of North Carolina) have visited seven southern governors and the governors of Oklahoma and Indiana since Tuesday.

Hodges said the visit to Florida wound up the current tour, but added that ultimately, the governor of all 50 states will be visited.

Governor Bryant, a segregationist who has said he will take no special steps to enforce the civil rights law, smiled very little during the meeting. He and Collins are old political foes of long-standing. Collins was all smiles.

In the letter, ACL explained that the building had been sold to Railway Express in 1959 and had been in operation until late last year. It stated that as soon as permission can be obtained from the state commission to permanently close the office, the building will be sold and removed.

Under terms of the agreement Seminole will pay $1,500, Sanford Junior High $750 and Croombs High $750. The City will convert the park from baseball to football use and will maintain the park and the lighting system.

R. T. Milwee, superintendent of the schools, said that the $1,500 Seminole High will pay is due to the fact that two of the school's teams will utilize the facility — the varsity and the junior varsity elevens.

In other action, the board opened bids for industrial arts supplies for the forthcoming school year. The bids were referred to the board's administrative assistant, Walter Teague, for an analysis and recommendation. Apparent low bidder for plumbing supplies was Wall Supply Company.

Support From Business Men Is Revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today presented elaborate statistics and testimonials from the business world to challenge charges by Sen. Barry Goldwater that the administration is fiscally irresponsible.

Johnson made known his facts and figures about the economy at an impromptu press conference in the White House cabinet room. This followed a crowded ceremony in which he awarded the Distinguished Service Medal to Adm. Harry D. Felt, former commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in the Pacific.

The Chief Executive said that in about a week he hopes to announce final figures on fiscal 1964 which ended June 30. He said he expects to be able to give the country some "good news."

Johnson made this predilection on the basis of preliminary figures which he had seen involving the federal deficit, employment and other favorable economic indicators.

As for Goldwater's charge of fiscal irresponsibility against his administration, the President said he was not entirely familiar with all of what the probable Republican presidential nominee had said, but Johnson said he was more interested in recent appraisals of the economy by experts in a position to determine the wisdom of current policies.

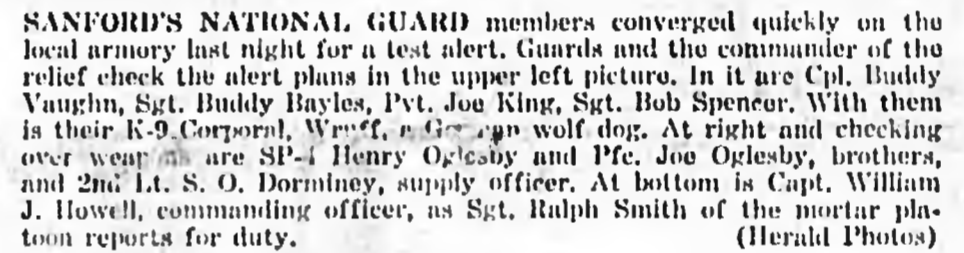

The President then proceeded to tick off a number of authorities who have been quite optimistic about current economic conditions.

These ranged from the American Bankers Association which according to the Chief Executive, said the unusual length of the current economic upswing could be partly attributed to the recent tax reduction and the stability of Henry Ford Jr. that the economy was stronger than it had been in years.

Bryant Talks To Boys Staters

Christianity Spooky?

One of my members told me about an interesting and amusing experience with his little daughter which I shall try to recall with a fair degree of accuracy.

One night he had gone into her room to talk with her before she went to sleep. He turned the lights out and as the room darkened it took on a rather "spooky" look. The moonlight shimmered through the curtains and shadows formed as objects partially blashed the rays of golden beams. The quiet was broken by some slight noise. The little daughter whispered to her father to be still because she could hear the Holy Ghost.

One wonders just what she had in mind, but we get the general idea that the Apostles' Creed and Alfred Hitchcock had become confused in her mind.

We do seem very adept at forming organizations, programs and pressures these days. We wonder if big business or government could do much better in this realm than the Church, yet many of us are drastically concerned about real spiritual accomplishment.

When we search the Scriptures we find that organization, programs, education, money, buildings, and many other material things can be used and are extremely important in the work of God's Kingdom, but we also find that they are not first on the list of needs.

Above all other needs for our spiritual life today is the need for the Holy Spirit (Spirit is a better word than Ghost for our day) to come into our lives and activities.

We do not hear much about the Holy Spirit except in our creeds but this is not a condition of our day alone. In Acts 19:3 we find that the early Christians at Ephesus "had not so much as heard whether there is a Holy Spirit." If we have not been aware of Him we should awaken to the fact that the forward march of the Church depends not on our generating power but on becoming channels of God's power which means submission to His Spirit.

Do not wait to be His servant until you understand the doctrine of the Holy Spirit completely. Accept Him. He is the Spirit of God active in human life and our world today.

We become almost frantic as we read of the increase in crime, the threats of war, immorality, the confusion of modern life, and many other frightening things. Remember that when men trust God, realize that He does work in their lives, and submit in obedience, things begin to happen which are worthwhile.

I am convinced that history proves that without belief in and acceptance of the Holy Spirit our churches can never have meaningful development, our Bibles will not be alive, our creeds will seem as discarded antiques, our fellowship will be divided, our hearts will be cold, and our lives miserable.

Natural man's plight is seen clearly in Galatians 5: 19-21 which says, "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditious, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like . . . they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God."

Now let us go on to the next verse to see what happens to one who lets the Spirit of God work through him. Galatians 5:22, 23 informs us, "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance . . ."

Let us thank God that He does not leave us without an answer to life's problems. Accept the Holy Spirit of God and find life's meaning!

Outstanding accompaniment was provided by Connie Grove at both the piano and organ.

Mormon Elders Serve Mission In Sanford

Two young Mormon elders, Richard W. Christenson of Gunnison, Utah and Larry L. Carr of Ogden, Utah, are currently in Sanford to serve the local ward by aiding in distribution of church literature and providing information about the religion to interested persons.

They are here under a program which calls for young men of the church to go on voluntary missions at their own time and expense for a period of two years. It is reported that some 100 elders are serving in Florida today and some 18,000 young men and women of the church are currently on missions throughout the world except in Communist countries.

Records show that an estimated 200 people in Florida join the church each month and that last year, the church gained a total of 115,000 converts.

The Sanford ward, presided over by Bishop Freeman E. Baggett, meets at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Sundays at 2315 Park Avenue.

Church Blamed For Exploiting

Two Sides To 'Extravagance', Says Church Leader

By Louis Cassel

United Press International There are two sides to the story of "extravagance" in church buildings, says the Rev. Dr. Bryant M. Kirkland, pastor of New York's famed Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Kirkland speaks with some feeling on this subject. His church, which is spending $800,000 on an architectural face-lifting, was cited in an article published recently by the Christian Century magazine as a horrible example of "prodigal and irresponsible expenditures by churches." The Christian Century article was written by Dr. Clyde H. Reid, professor of practical theology at Union Theological Seminary, New York. He said that heavy outlays by churches for statues, stones, carpets and organs is "a sin against hungering humanity" and "alien to the spirit of Christ, who was concerned not with the paraphernalia of religion but with true faith."

Dr. Kirkland told UPI he agrees with Prof. Reid that "in the strict moral sense, there has been too much spent" on houses of worship in recent years.

But he said urban churches such as Fifth Avenue Presbyterian are "caught on the horns of a dilemma" for which the Christian Century article "offers no solution."

In order to attract worshippers in this day and age, he said, a big downtown church must keep itself looking spruce and satisfy at least some of the public's demand for such material comfort as air conditioning, pew cushions, and expensive amplification systems.

He acknowledged that there are some deeply committed Christians in every congregation who would gladly worship in the simplest and most austere surroundings in order to spare every possible dollar for the church's mission.

But, he pointed out, that mission is not only to the "heathen" of distant lands but also to the millions right here in America who have never had a real encounter with the Saving Person whose love the church proclaims.

"Would anyone seriously suggest that healthy downtown churches be closed, sold out, stripped down and rebuilt as simple Quaker meeting houses?" he asked. "Does anyone really wish to see an inner-city church slowly succumb to the pigeons and the bats, as its once-grand old sanctuary decays like a human derelict?"

Dr. Kirkland concluded that the moral judgment voiced by Prof. Reid applies not only to ministers and church boards but to "all of us" who live in an increasingly complex urban environment, talking wistfully of simplicity but clinging jealously to our creature comforts.

Committee Chairman Plans Turnpike Bond Investigation

Pierce's Aim Only To Save Public Money

TALLHASSEE (UPI) — The chairman of the legislative Bond Investigating Committee said he plans an investigation to determine whether governmental officials were involved in the profitable redemption of $63 million of Florida Turnpike bonds.

The chairman, Sen. B. C. Pearce of East Palatka, said "We're not interested in putting anyone in the penitentiary, but only in finding ways to save the public money in future handling of state bonds."

Pearce also said he'd appoint a subcommittee to investigate whether the Turnpike Authority should be required to let its insurance on bids.

The Bond Committee, charged with looking into the state's entire bond-issuing authority and all agencies with bonding authority concentrated on the Turnpike Authority at Thursday's meeting.

Senate President Wilson Caraway said the committee was interested in knowing "whether anyone connected with the Turnpike Authority or state government speculated" in the refinanced Turnpike bonds.

The authority sold $157 million in bonds during December of 1961. It used $63 million of the money to redeem bonds that built the first leg of the state turnpike from Miami to Fort Pierce. The rest was used to extend the highway to Wildwood.

The bonds were redeemed at a price that assured the bondholders a profit, the committee said.

Turnpike Authority Chairman John Phillips was called back from a vacation in Minnesota to meet with the committee Thursday. He said all of the spending practices and other criticisms made of the authority in a special state audit had been corrected.

The audit was ordered following a series of articles in the St. Petersburg Times. Phillips replaced Chairman John Hammer as chairman after Hammer resigned in the midst of an investigation that followed the articles in the spring of 1953.

The committee took Phillips to task for renewing the authority's negotiated insurance policies last year without calling for bids.

The committee said the insurance cost the authority more than $122,000 and state law requires bids on contracts in excess of $1,500. Rep. Julian Bennett of Bay said he felt the authority was in violation of the law.

Phillips said he felt the authority saved money by handling the insurance through a negotiated deal. Pearce then said he would appoint a committee to investigate the method the authority used in handling its insurance.

Planning And Zoning Board Approved In North Orlando

Ordinance 39 providing for creation and operation of a five-member planning and zoning commission for the Village of North Orlando was passed Tuesday night by the Village Council after second and third readings.

It was explained that once the board is appointed, should it undertake to set up a comprehensive zoning plan for the village, rules and regulations provided in such a plan would not supersede those of present existing ordinances.

It also was pointed out that any action taken by the new board cannot put into effect without approval of council and that in actuality, the five members will be working only as an advisory group for council.

In other business a request again was heard from Chief Bill Hahn that the volunteer firemen be given permission to reorganize as a group completely independent from council except for financial support. Hahn was advised, as on previous occasions, to prepare an outline of proposed steps for the organization and a budget of estimated funds which the group would expect to be supplied annually.

A brief summary of a four page typewritten report on recommendations for organizing a standing Village Police Department was given by Henry Ward who compiled the material upon council request. According to the plan, a police administrator would be appointed to serve as general supervisor of the department which would consist of a traffic safety officer, a school safety officer (woman) and an investigative officer. Services would be on a voluntary basis for 90 days after which some form of hourly payment plan would be provided.

Ward stressed the fact that there should be "no mixing in politics" by any member of the department. Council agreed to take the recommendations under advisement for thorough study. In the meantime, a volunteer department was reinstated on temporary basis with Ward, Bob Stephenson, Harvey Greanya and Donald Wilcox as patrolmen.

Flaming Plane Crash Kills 39 In Tennessee

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UPI)— A four-engine United Airlines Viscount apparently erupted into flames in flight Thursday night and plunged its 39 occupants to their deaths in the rugged foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains.

National Guardsmen cordoned off the area while FBI agents and a 12-man team from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) investigated the possibility of "any federal violation" — including a bombing in the crash.

There was no immediate indication of a bomb aboard the airliner, the FBI said, but noted there was no apparent reason for the crash of the plane, United Flight 823 from Philadelphia to Huntsville, Ala.

Eyewitnesses gave conflicting reports, some said they saw the plane apparently explode in the air, tumbling bodies through the sky while others said they saw the plane, its bottom afire, crash into a hillside and burst into flames.

FRIDAY

7:30-8:30 p. m. NBC International Showtime. "European Holiday On Ice." (rerun) If you enjoy ice shows and don't find them repetitive, this is one of the better ones. The hour of variety includes a couple of comedy numbers, a waltz production number on skates, a South American spectacle, plus some nimble acrobatics.

7:30-8:30 p. m. ABC. "Go Away, Little Sheba." (rerun) This episode casts Miz-Like Joyce Bullivant in a delicious little comedy role of a girl so anxious to protect the man she really loves from her father's ire, she puts poor Dewey on the spot. The plot is silly, but Miss Bullivant sings every time she opens her mouth, and even when she sleeps it closed.

8:30-9:30 p. m. CBS. "There I Am..." There I Always Am." (rerun) Joanna Moore guest stars as a glamor girl who surprises her by suddenly popping out of the ocean at our hero's beach location, garbed in an evening gown and carrying a bottle of champagne. During the shooting of this scene, Miss Moore stepped into the ocean, hit a hidden dropoff and disappeared into the sea. The same might be said of the story. George Maharis and Martin Milner are starred.

8:30-9:30 p. m. NBC. Bob Hope presents "The Square Peg." (color) (rerun) The notion behind this comedy plot line is a nutty one, a psychologist being hired by an up-to-date crime czar to give his mob syndicate tests so that they'll do the work they're best suited for. A good cast helps, with Burgess Meredith particularly well cast as an odd-ball actor. Robert Cummings plays the psychologist. Stanley Adams is the boss and Joanna Moore, Sue Ann Langdon, Allyson Jolly and Lee Gordon are several of his associates.

8:30-9:30 p. m. ABC. "Who Killed Eleanor Davis?" (rerun). If they're not particularly pretty, be assured that tonight's suspect mob is as nasty as ever. The guests in this case about the murder of a young lady who modeled for calendars include Elsa Lanchester, Edward Everett Horton, and Jane Darwell, Dean Jones, Nick Adams and helpfully Terry Moore and Debra Paget.

9:30-10 p. m. NBC. "Twilight Zone." "Uncle Simon." (rerun) A novel thriller with a surprise Macabre finish. Constance Ford portrays a bitter niece who enjoys telling her inventor-uncle (Sir Cedric Hardwicke) she hates him and wishes him dead. She makes that wish come true by helping him fall. She's the heir to his fortune on the condition that she take care of his latest invention, a robot. 11:11 p. m. CBS. The Alfred Hitchcock Hour "How To Get Rid Of Your Wife." (rerun) Two offbeat performances color this overdone plot: comedian Bob Newhart plays a straight as a meek husband with murder on his mind, and former child star Jane Withers plays the nagging wife he wants to get rid of. Strangely, he thinks, he sets the stage for his murder by having the neighbors think it's his life that is in danger.

10-11 p. m. NBC The Jack Paar Show. (color) (rerun) Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy discusses the late President with Paar and shows some humorous film clips from JFK's press conferences which, in perspective, make his death all the more poignant. There are also some scenes of the late president's reception in West Berlin. Compared to this part of the program, the contributions of the other guests seem negligible. But let it be noted that Helen O'Connell sings two numbers and George Gobel has a routine on how he built his own TV set.

SATURDAY

7:30-8:30 p. m. CBS. Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour. "Lucy Wins A Racehorse." (rerun) Lucy enters a breakfast cereal contest and wins a love-starved trotting horse, which is a good reason to bring Betty to a Grable and Harry James into the plot. Though the laughs are plenty the highlight of the show is a musical number, "Bayamo," danced by Annas and Miss Grable to the trumpet music of Mr. James. As usual, Vivian Vance and William Frawley support the stars.

7:30-8:30 p. m. NBC. The Lieutenant. "Between Music and Laughter." (rerun) Very little action in this plot. 7:30-8 p. m. ABC. "Republican Women in Politics." (rerun) Case you hadn't heard, there's going to be a Republican convention next week. This half hour takes a quick look at the major women on the republican scene, wives of candidates and officeholders. It's as good an excuse as any for a "special."

8-8:30 p. m. ABC San Francisco: The Convention City. This half hour examines the struggle to formulate a Republican platform and discusses the opposing forces.

8:30-9:30 p. m. CBS. The Defenders. "Grandma TNT." (rerun). A pleasant hour highlighted by the outstanding performance of Lillian Gish, one of the great ladies of show business.

9-11 p. m. NBC. Saturday Night Movie. "Edge Of The City." (rerun) This film was one of the first TV plays to be turned into a movie. On the TV screen it was called "A Man Is Ten Feet Tall." This time it stars John Cassavetes, Sidney Poitier, Jack Warden and Ruby Dee.

9:30-10:30 p. m. NBC. The Hollywood Palace. (rerun) Not one of the more inspired collections of talent, this should have some appeal to almost everyone. Singers Jane Morgan and Vir Damone offer the most in the way of entertainment and Red Buttons returns to comedy. Host Dale Robertson takes a crack at singing and shows why he's best known as a western star. Also on are the Half Brothers, Zony and Claire, the Four Amigos (last seen on the Bill Dana Show) and the Harrison Family, all of whom fall into the category of "opening acts."

10-11 p. m. CBS. Gunsmoke. (rerun) A trite overly done plot that isn't helped by too little action and too much talk.

SUNDAY

GOP Convention Preview—5:30-7:30 NBC; 6:30-7:30 CBS; 7:30-8:30 ABC. It's no secret that with the opening of the republican convention in San Francisco tomorrow, viewers will experience an almost week-long relief from reruns. If you can't wait until tomorrow, all three networks are offering their major news analysts in convention previews. Take your pick of any or all of the shows and you'll get a chance to look at events from past conventions, examine this year's candidates, see the hall and learn how each network will cover the big show. Huntley, Brinkley, Cronkite, Seaver, Smith and Morgan are all knowledgeable men, so you won't go wrong with any of the shows.

6-6:30 p. m. CBS. The Twentieth Century. "The Plots Against Hitler." Part I. (rerun) A fascinating documentary detailing the various comings, real and faked, against the life of Hitler. 7-7:30 p. m. CBS. Lassie. (rerun) A far-fetched plot that only kiddie viewers will swallow. Timmy's (Jon Provost's) kite snaps a power line which breaks at the same time a neighbor's barn starts burning. The barn owner (Stuart Randall) blames Timmy for the damage, but leave it to Lassie to turn up evidence that proves a bolt of lightning, ignited the barn.

7:30-8 p. m. CBS. My favorite Martian. (rerun) Ray Walston, as the Martian, is delightfully indignant here as an unknown junkman cleans out Tim O'Hara's (Bill Bixby's) garage and takes away his spaceship as junk. Realizing they can't advertise for a missing spaceship without inviting a psychiatric probe, Tim and the Martian canvass all the junkyards till they find the right one. Then the fun really begins. Quite a colorful character as the spattering junkyard manager is Vito Scotti.

8-9 p. m. CBS. The Ed Sullivan Show. (rerun) This repeat has a truly international flavor. The Beatles are back to sing one song and be interviewed. From the world's fair Ed presents a film sequence of Michelangelo's Pieta. The famed Lipizzaner stallions go through their paces in films taken at their Spanish riding school in Austria. From France comes singing star Jean Paul Vignon. England's Professor Backwards makes an appearance and the U. S. offers singer Liz Minnelli. The Duke Ellington Orchestra and Mexican-soprano Shirle Verrett.

10-11 p. m. NBC The DuPont Show of the Week. "The last Hangman." (color) (rerun) Starring Ed Begley, Finlay Currie, Clive Revill and Noel Purcell, this is a chilling drama taken from the pages of the Irish Rebellion.

Freeze Steak Now For Use Later On

Why not take advantage of the favorable retail prices on beef now by freezing some for this summer's cookout?

Steak prices are traditionally higher in the summer, food specialists with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, point out.

Freezing does not improve quality, so when choosing steaks for freezing, select only high quality meat. If you follow these suggestions when packaging meat for freezing, you can store it for as long as 8 to 12 months at zero degrees Fahrenheit. Package your steaks in quantities to be cooked at one time. If you wrap two steaks together, use a double thickness of freezer paper between them to make separation easy.

Use moisture and vapor-resistant materials to protect all foods you freeze. Properly packed, foods will not dry out and air will not enter the package, causing oxidation. Write date, kind and type of product, weight or number of servings and pieces on package.

Freeze the most quickly at zero degrees Fahrenheit or lower. Limit the amount of food frozen at one time in a home freezer to two pounds per cubic foot of total storage space.

Fire Department To Have Outing In Longwood

By Donna Estes

A swim party and covered dish supper for members of the Longwood Volunteer Fire Department and Auxiliary, and their families, were planned at the regular monthly meeting of the auxiliary held Tuesday evening at the Fire Hall.

The outing will take place Saturday, beginning at 4 p. m. with supper to be served at 6:30 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lommerler on 14th Street.

Those planning to attend are reminded to bring a covered dish, meat of their choice and dessert in sufficient quantity for members of their individual group.

In other business, Mrs. Jean Willis, president, who conducted the meeting, appointed Mrs. Sue Brabison as liaison officer to the fire department during the month of July. Mrs. Brabison's duties will include explaining and seeing permission of the department for proposed projects of the auxiliary.

Seven changes in the constitution, as recommended by the department, were unanimously approved.

Mrs. Eloise Lommerler, assisting for Mrs. Brenetta Morris, gave an inspiring devotional.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Jennie Fox served refreshments of lemonade and cookies.

The next regular meeting will be Aug. 4 with Mrs. Brabison and Mrs. Mildred Eaclyon serving as hostesses.

Fair Exhibit To Drop Charge

TAMPA (UPI) — The 25-cent admission charge at Florida's financially faltering world's fair exhibit will be dropped, the state chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

But a new admission charge of 25 cents will be added for a Seminole Indian display outside the main Florida area, the chamber reported.

It was also decided at a New York meeting between Gov. Farris Bryant, Florida exhibitors and world's fair officials that fences around the Florida exhibit would be torn down.

Bryant went to New York to discuss ways of improving attendance at the Florida exhibit, which has been losing money almost since the fair opened.

The 25-cent admission charge at the Florida pavilion was started two weeks ago in an effort to boost income. The fences which will be torn down forced visitors to the Florida exhibit to make a long detour to get inside.

Goldwater Appears Certain Of First-Ballot Nomination

The Sanford Herald Fri. July 10, '64—Page 5

58 Favorite Son Votes Of Ohio Released

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, his first ballot presidential nomination apparently assured, sought to chart common ground today for feuding elements of the Republican Committee.

The senator received a tremendous boost Thursday night in the release of Ohio's 58-member favorite son delegation.

The platform hearings have served as the principal forum for stop-Goldwater forces in pre-convention maneuvers here, and his appearance exposed Goldwater to some of his outspoken critics.

Goldwater made it clear at a news conference Thursday, however, that he was not anxious to provoke a fight over the platform.

Moreover, this was before Gov. James A. Rhodes released the Ohio delegation from its commitment to him as a favorite son — an action expected to give Goldwater a majority of the state's 58 votes.

At the news conference Goldwater had expressed hope that he would pick up 20 to 30 more delegates in the next few days and thus be assured of the necessary "pad" to guarantee a first ballot nomination. That hope appeared to have been quickly fulfilled.

Under the circumstances, there appeared to be little or no likelihood that Goldwater would go to the mat with the Scranton partisans who have been attacking him in the platform committee. He said Thursday that he has great confidence in the committee, which is generally friendly to his candidacy.

Goldwater said he would not accept just any platform plank drafted by the committee and he would "do the honest thing" and withdraw if he thought the platform unacceptable. He said, however, that he would like to see the platform committee left alone and believed it would do a good job.

On civil rights, one of the controversial platform issues, Goldwater said the recently enacted measure is the "law of the land" and that he was quite willing to abide by the decision of the congressional majority.

As for another main platform issue, Goldwater said it was up to the platform committee and the convention itself whether to draft a plank criticizing such groups as the John Birch Society. His remarks suggested that there might be some difficulty in drafting such a plank.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Barry Appeals For Unity In GOP Sessions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, who says he would abandon his drive for the Republican presidential nomination if the GOP platform is unacceptable to him, had a unity appeal today for the platform committee.

The Arizona senator, who apparently has wrapped up the nomination five days ahead of convention balloting, was in a conciliatory mood toward the badly outnumbered forces working to reject his beliefs.

He brushed aside a series of challenges hurled by Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton Thursday night and aides indicated he would not oppose concessions to the minority of "moderates" on the 100-member committee.

Goldwater's appearance was to climax the final day of hearings before the committee goes into closed session to pound out controversial items in the 1964 campaign document.

Goldwater supporters stayed alert, however, to last-minute moves that might slow down their candidate's bandwagon.

The anti-Goldwater group threatened a convention floor fight if necessary to gain its platform objectives. But some members of the pro-Scranton alliance conceded it had slight chance of achieving any of its goals within the Goldwater-dominated committee.

The lopsided support for the front-running contender was dramatically illustrated Thursday when the anti-Goldwater forces suffered a smashing defeat on the first test of strength in the committee's deliberations.

CONVENTION HEADLINERS — Sen. Thurston B. Morton, of Kentucky, left, was appointed permanent chairman of the 1964 Republican national convention. Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, of Oregon, right, will be the temporary chairman and key-noter. The convention is now being held in San Francisco.

KO Punch From Neighbor

United Press International
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Supporters of Gov. William W. Scranton tried desperately today to rally from a shattering blow dealt the Pennsylvania's hopes for the Republican presidential nomination by his neighbor state, Ohio.

Scranton's top advisers and aides showed shocked disbelief when the 58-member Ohio delegation was released from voting for Gov. James A. Rhodes, a favorite-son candidate, on the first ballot at the GOP convention next week.

The Ohio delegation is reported to be overwhelmingly in favor of Sen. Barry Goldwater. Release of the delegation was a blow to Scranton forces because the Pennsylvania had counted heavily on states with favorite-son candidates to hold to that position on the initial ballot.

Ohio particularly was rated highly important in Scranton's stop-Goldwater strategy aimed at preventing the front-running Arizona senator from sweeping to the nomination on the first ballot.

Scranton had no immediate comment on the Ohio delegation's release but his press secretary, Jack Conny, said the governor would hold a news conference today, presumably to discuss the development. No time was set. Scranton remained sequestered Thursday night in his 10th floor suite at the Mark Hopkins Hotel and conferred privately with Rhodes. But Rhodes said the release of the Ohio delegation was not discussed.

The two governors met for an hour and 40 minutes. Rhodes told an impromptu news conference in the hotel lobby shortly before midnight that it was a "congenial visit."

The Ohio governor said Scranton invited him to his suite and he accepted because he always was available for such meetings. He pointed out he was friendly with many governors and planned to play golf today with California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat. Rhodes said neither he nor Ohio state GOP Chairman Ray Bliss would recommend any candidate to the Ohio delegation. He said he gave up the favorite-son status because there was "nothing in the law that says these people have to vote for me on the first ballot... I am not a candidate."

Old Birds

MIAMI (UPI) — A biologist says studies indicate that sooty terns nesting in the Dry Tortugas off Florida's coast have a surprising life span of about 30 years.

Stassen Reveals His Strategy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There is good news today for the stop-Stassen forces. They don't have anything to worry about until the fifth ballot.

Harold Stassen unveiled the strategy of his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination Thursday, and a subtle, cunning thing it turned out to be. He plans to lull the Goldwater people into a sense of false security by acting like he is out of the race.

"I have told my supporters," Stassen said at a news conference, "that on the first four ballots they can choose for themselves whether they vote for Scranton, Lodge, Nixon or Romney. Goldwater must be stopped. Once that is done, my delegates will return to me on the fifth ballot. This is going to be a long convention."

Dies In Plunge

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — A St. Petersburg man, Willie J. Hardy, 50, plunged from the high span of the Sunshine Skyway into Tampa Bay today, the Coast Guard said.

No Segregation Talks Allowed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House reemphasized administration policy Thursday that it did not expect government officials to address segregated audiences.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy, responding to a question, said "the whole policy of this government is against racial discrimination, and it has been stated so many times by the President and high officials of the cabinet that there is no doubt of it now."

Drive-In: 'Rhino'

The first Sanford showing of "Rhino" is slated at the MovieLand Drive-In Theatre starting Sunday and running for three days.

The unusual movie was made on location in South Africa and was possible through modern science and discovery and experiments made with tranquilizing drugs.

The thrilling wildlife drama is an Ivan Tors production and stars Harry Guardino, British actress Shirley Eaton and Robert Culp.

Also billed for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the drive-in is "Four For Texas" in color and starring Frank Sinatra.

Wednesday and Thursday the menu calls for "a Tickle-Affair" with Shirley Jones as star and the co-feature, "Rampage," starring Robert Mitchum.

A triple feature will round out the week. On tap are "Law Of The Lawless" in color and starring Dale Robertson, "Dr. Strangelove" with Peter Sellers; and "Under The Yum Yum Tree" featuring Jack Lemmon.

ROBERT CULP and Harry Guardino have immobilized a wild zebra with a drug dart in one of the remarkable scenes of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's thrilling wild life drama, "Rhino", filmed in color entirely on locations in South Africa. British actress Shirley Eaton provides the love interest in the unusual and exciting story of an American scientist's effort to save the wild life of Africa from extinction through the use of tranquilizer bullets and other scientific discoveries.

'Chalk Garden' At Ritz

Film star Hayley Mills' hair went to the hospital for a scene in her newest Technicolor movie, "The Chalk Garden," which opens at the Ritz Theatre Sunday and runs through Wednesday.

But only to the famed Doll's Hospital in England. It was necessary for key sequences of the Ross Hunter production for a doll to be made with the exact hair color and style as Hayley, who stars in the Universal release with Deborah Kerr, John Mills and Edith Evans.

Samples of the glamorous teenager's hair and photographs of her new grown-up hair-style were sent to Mrs. Ruth Jaycott, who, with her husband operates one of the three doll's hospitals in England, and in 24 hours the movie doll was back on the set appearing before the cameras with its real-life counterpart.

"I've never done any doll-work for motion pictures before," explains Mrs. Jaycott, "and I've been operating the 'hospital' here since 1947. It was an unusual experience working on dolls for grown-ups."

Secret of Mrs. Jaycott's success in operating her doll hospital is due to the unusual treatment she gives to the hair, she feels.

Unlike other workers, she doesn't use real human hair, preferring instead a formula of her own, utilizing a nylon mixture which is washable and can be combed, that she roots on to the head in a small rubber cap.

DEBORAH KERR'S concern for Hayley Mills, who seems to be emulating the older woman's tragic past, makes for tense drama in the Ross Hunter Production in Technicolor, "The Chalk Garden," a Universal release. Film also co-stars John Mills and Edith Evans.

'Robin And 7 Hoods' At Cinema

Fun recipe: Move Robin Hood and his merry men and maids from Sherwood Forest in 14th Century Merrie England to Chicago during the "Roaring Twenties." Supply a laugh-filled story and a batch of lively new songs. Add Technicolor, Panavision and top with a dazzling array of talent, including Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Bing Crosby, Peter Falk, Barbara Rush and Victor Buono. The dish: a rollicking Warner Bros. musical comedy film, "Robin and the 7 Hoods." It's now playing at the Cinema in Seminole Plaza.

Sinatra, who also was the producer, portrays Robbo, a goodhearted hoodlum who takes from the rich and gives to the poor, aided and abetted by his trio of faithful henchmen, Dean Martin as Little John, Sammy Davis, Jr., as Will Scarlet and Bing Crosby as Allen A. Dale. Peter Falk is a villainous Guy Gisborne, Victor Buono is a venal sheriff who headquarters at the Nottingham Hotel and Barbara Rush is Maid Marian.

Sinatra sings again. The satire, directed by Gordon Douglas, adds to Sinatra's string of performances in a variety of musical, dramatic and comic roles. Sinatra also sings in "Robin."

Dean Martin comes to "Robin" following comedy roles in "4 for Texas" and "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed?" In "Robin and the 7 Hoods," Dean also sings in his role of a small-time gambler and pool-hustler who joins Sinatra's gang.

The singing, dancing and acting talents of Sammy Davis, Jr., are on display in "Robin." Sammy appeared previously with Frank and Dean in "Ocean's 11" and "Sergeant's 3."

TABLE HOPPING

By Dottie Austin

Big news of the week, for table hoppers is the opening of the new Gaielight Lounge at Freddie's Steak House, on 17-92 in Fern Park.

Fran and Steve Larson were host Wednesday night to cocktails and one of the most beautiful buffets we have ever seen.

The new lounge follows the Colonial atmosphere of the Gaielight Lounge, with carriage lamps on the walls, wrought iron railings, red leather upholstered colonial chairs and a leather covered bar.

Behind the bar is a tiny stage, just big enough for a grand piano, where you'll hear Vicky Blair tickling the ivories. (Question? How in the world did they get that piano in there? Have to ponder that one).

For a special treat plan to dine this weekend on the superb food at Freddie's in the new Gaielight room.

If you want to kick up your heels and dance a bit, the Mar Lou now has a live dance band, the "Holidays" on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, after 9:30 p.m.

It's newly decorated and they are serving prime beef charcoal steaks. They also have facilities for all sizes of parties, banquets and other special occasions.

Something different to do this weekend is square dancing. It's the specialty of McGregor Ranch every Saturday night, beginning at 8 p.m., South of Deland on the McGregor Road.

The urge to dine out seems even stronger in the summer than any other time—get out of that "hot kitchen."

The Trade Winds Cafeteria in Seminole Plaza at Hwy. 17-92 and SR 436 is just the spot. Wonderful for the entire family.

You can choose from the wonderful display laid out for you, or order a juicy steak, done to your taste.

Remember, free desserts for the entire family on Thursdays and steak for just one dollar on Saturdays.

Right down town in the heart of Sanford is the luxurious Caribbe Lounge, serving your favorite beverages for lunch, dinner or late evening relaxing.

Misses Diane, Elizabeth and Sharon Lipsey were co-hostesses last Friday night to an after school party in honor of their cousin, Fred H. Cumbie Jr. of Orlando, who will be a senior at Hoone High School this year.

music of the juke box. One wall of the dining room was covered with white paper, which each guest autographed with a magic marker, as a gift memento to Fred for a memorable evening in Sanford.

The buffet table was laden with an attractive array of tempting party fare.

Others enjoying the delightful evening of fun and frolic were the Misses Peggy Bowler, Claudia Duzgarden, Miriam Hearn, Linda Green, Janie White, Nikki Morgan, Angella Hurt, Bettina Vale, Linda Robson, Suzanne Orseno, Helen Mann and Kristie Schilke.

Miss Rhodes Bride Of Mr. Wainright

By Evelyn Lundy Miss Patsy Eugenia Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rhodes of Cuba, Kentucky, and Bessie Griffin Wainright of Oviedo, were married Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, June 21, at the Cuba Church of Christ, Cuba, Kentucky.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald Hall, Pastor of the church, before an altar decorated with a wrought iron arch, entwined with wisteria and fern. It was centered with white wedding bells and satin bows, and placed on either side were lighted tapers in cathedral candelabras interspersed with baskets of white gladiolas and potted palms forming the background. Pew markers were of white satin bows.

Miss Paula Goodwin of Dukedom, Tennessee sang the 'Lord's Prayer'. The Youth Choir softly hummed the wedding march as the bride came down the aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie, designed by her mother, featuring a round neckline with a fitted bodice. The calla lily pointed sleeves and bodice back were fastened with tiny self-covered buttons. The straight skirt formed a short train, and back interest was created by a wide cummerbund forming a large bow with long streamers. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion cascaded from a tress of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white lace covered Bible topped with a white Cattelyan orchid with a purple throat to which was encircled by stephanotis and long satin streamers tied with love knots and a runner of ivory.

Miss Joy Wainright, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. She wore a street length dress similar to the brides of light blue polished cotton and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations encircled with matching tulle and long streamers. Her headpiece was a cluster of blue daisies with matching short veil. Miss Sandra Simon, the bridesmaid and Mrs. Billie Barham, a bridal attendant, both of Dukedom, Tennessee, wore dresses identical to the maid of honor.

Little Glenna Hall of Muncie, Indiana, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a white basket of rose petals. On either side of the basket were daisies matching the maid of honor's headpiece. She wore a pink dress similar to that of the maid of honor.

The groom's brother, Roy Wainwright, served as best man. The ushers were Mickey Wiley and Charles Rickman of Wingo, Kentucky.

Mrs. Gene Rhodes, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding, a pure silk apricot sheath dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Ben Wainright, mother of the groom, wore a dress of green brocade taffeta and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Cuba, Kentucky.

MR. AND MRS. BENNE GRIFFIN WAINRIGHT JR.

Alan Edwards Reaffirm Vows Of Ten Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Edwards of Coloma Rd., DeBary resopke their wedding vows July 3, at the tenth anniversary dinner party held at the DeBary Restaurant, with Rev. A. C. Summers officiating.

The guests which included their attendants ten years ago at their marriage held at the Congregational Church in Orange City were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Long; Mrs. E. Henshoren; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Edwards; Miss Linda Long, and Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Summers.

The tables were decorated in the wedding theme, and a wedding cake was cut once again by the happy couple.

Mr. Edwards presented the entire group with white orchids for the ladies, and a white carnation for the men.

New canned goods flavors for small fry are chicken soup and applesauce with pineapple. Both come in strained style for infants and junior style for slightly older children.

The first regular meeting is scheduled for September 1 and there is already a list of 23 prospective members, and they hope to recruit many others.

Those interested in joining the club are cordially invited to attend a tea for prospective members planned for Thursday, Aug. 13, at the home of Mrs. Mount at 538 Queen's Mirror Circle, Casselberry.

Other charter members attending the organizational meeting not mentioned above are Mrs. David G. McCoy and Mrs. C. W. Miller.

Miss Evelyn Morris has returned home from a recent vacation in Nassau, Bahamas and points in Alabama where she visited relatives and friends.

The Pioneer Club Hosts To Deltona Holiday Picnic

By Mildred Haney The residents of Deltona and their friends and guests enjoyed the picnic on the Fourth of July given by the Pioneer Club.

The weather was co-operative, the food delicious and the music excellent.

A square dance exhibition by the Deltona Square Dance Club was followed by popular dancing by the residents. Live music made the dancing exceedingly enjoyable.

The celebration ended with the awarding of door prizes donated by merchants of Deltona, Sanford and DeLand.

We hope this picnic is a forerunner of many more Fourth of July picnics in Deltona.

Deltona Personals

All of the friends of Mrs. Ernest (Billie) Baer were very sorry to learn that she has returned to Chicago, her former home. She has sold her home on Normandy Boulevard.

Young Woman's Club Formed By Ladies Of Casselberry

By Jane Casselberry Casselberry social life, in the midst of the usual summer doldrums, received a shot of adrenalin today with the announcement of the organization of the Young Woman's Club of Casselberry for community-minded women under the age of 45.

A nucleus of ten of the community's most active young matrons met Tuesday night to make plans for forming the new group.

Mrs. D. E. Mount was elected general chairman and Mrs. Robert E. March was elected acting secretary. Chosen to head committees were Mrs. J. P. Mitchell, membership; Mrs. Knowlton W. Harrell, way and means; Mrs. J. W. Huggins, and Mrs. John D. Lockhart, entertainment; and Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. Victor Brandes, project.

The group discussed a large local civic project for the club's major endeavor.

Those interested in joining the club are cordially invited to attend a tea for prospective members planned for Thursday, Aug. 13, at the home of Mrs. Mount at 538 Queen's Mirror Circle, Casselberry.

If It Has Stripes Wear It

By Jerry Sheehan
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — It should come as no surprise that stripes have landed in a big way on men's summer sports jackets.

The present trend toward stripes has been germinating for years. Now they are seen vertically, or criss-crossed to form wide squares or gien plaids.

By themselves stripes are not big news. What is, however, is the colors that are going into them and the material on which they are presented.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I look my four-year-old son and five-month-old daughter downtown to pay some bills. I parked on the street in a shady spot and rolled down the window to keep fresh air in the car. Then I placed the baby on the seat so she couldn't roll off and hurt herself. I left the car unlocked, expecting to be gone only five minutes. I got back, I saw a woman standing beside my car.

power? I know I can't stay on a diet because I've tried. I get as hungry as a bear an hour after I eat a meal. If I walk down the street and want to catch the smell of something cooking somewhere, I go crazy until I stop and buy a candy bar or a bag of peanuts. If I see something to eat advertised on TV I can't forget it until I go buy some. Today I was real good and didn't eat any sweets or bread, but on my way home I saw a dog chewing on a bone, and I had a terrible urge to take it away from him!

start out with bare rooms and buy good pieces of furniture one at a time as we could afford them. Our relatives won't let us. I don't want to sound ungrateful, but we have the worst looking collection of unmatched furniture you ever saw. Rugs, lamps, chairs, tables and even pictures relatives offered when they gave us these things, but we would rather be without anything than a home cluttered with cast-off monstrosities. How can we tell them?

The Mature Parent

Remember The Witch Tales

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Though my husband's sister is devoted to our little boy, she is very critical of our 8-year-old girl. It makes the child nervous and awkward with her. Last night when her aunt and uncle were here, she offered to play them her new piano etude and was told by her aunt to "stop trying to show off."

of "showing off." Instead of begging the witch for kindness, give your child the talisman against the witch's spell—the truth or fier offer of entertainment.

can begin to learn how to hold on to herself around her aunt instead of losing it to the witch's transforming spell. Why do you think fairy tales make witches into the fearsome enemies of children? They represent an old, old knowledge of hostility's power to make you child appear to be what he is not. In symbolic terms, fairy tales inform us about the existence of hostility like your sister-in-law's and warn us that it can only be handled by teaching children to resist misjudgment by holding fast to the original shape of their meanings.

The Clothes Pool

Shopping A La Milanise

By Helen Hennessy
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
MILAN, Italy (NEA) — Turn a gal loose in a European city she hasn't visited before and the first sights she takes in with interest are other women and the shops. Ancient cathedrals and points of local fame take second place. How the women dress, how they wear their hair and where they buy their clothes are avidly looked into first.

thing we know best as "Italian imports." Ranging in price from $65 to about $125 were beautiful silk and knit fashions. They are less expensive here, of course, than at home, but still too costly for the average working girl. So my next stop was La Rinascente, Milan's leading department store.

of dozens of the same dress, all bearing the Cardin label. How's that for lack of snob appeal? Sizes are different. I was amazed to discover that just because I had crossed the Atlantic I wore a 48 blouse and a 37 shoe. I'd hate to shop there for a bra.

should have won the first trick with the ace of spades. Then he could have over-taken the king of clubs with dummy's ace and set up the rest of dummy's club suit. Late on he would be able to get to dummy with either the queen or jack of spades and would have wound up with five clubs, two spades and two hearts.

Polly's Pointers

Tape Your Table Top Tight

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — My joy was short-lived in the possession of a new black wrought iron dining table with a glass top. Crumbs began to accumulate in the cracks between the iron and the edges of the glass. This was unappetizing to see and required taking the large glass completely out to properly remove all the crumbs. Our solution was to place 1/2-inch wide black masking tape around the table top. About 1/2-inch is on the top sealing in the glass and the other inch is smoothed down neatly along the iron sides. Cleaning the table top is now a pleasure, the crumb problem is solved and the table really looks better. Thanks for the hints which make housework interesting and a challenge. — MRS. S. T. M.

done? Perhaps my "Arithmetic of Ironing" method will help. Count the number of articles that each person in the family will need to wear in one day. Multiply this by the number in the family. Add four articles of household linen (more for a large family) and iron this amount each day. This method of division really works. Soon your joy will be multiplied for you will have subtracted from your biggest household problem. — DOROTHEA

DEAR POLLY — I don't believe you give away all those silver dollars like you say you do but here's an idea: When feeding vegetable soup to a tiny youngster who doesn't want to eat the vegetables, take a toothpick and pretend you are fishing. Pick up the vegetables with the toothpick and feed them to him. Never give the toothpick to the child as it could be dangerous. — KAY

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"When you have just moved into a new town and neighbors whom you have met on the street or at church casually say, 'Why don't you drop by sometime?'" do they really mean it?" a reader asks.

"If they do — then we'd like to call. But we don't want to seem to be trying to push our way in where we may not be wanted."

Yet we don't really expect the invitation to be accepted. The person who receives it at least suspects we may not mean it to be taken seriously.

School and You

Driver Training -- Boon, Bane?

By Susan Light,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: Our son will be 16 this summer and he is pressuring us to take driver's training. Our local high school offers the course for a fee as part of its summer program. Most of his friends have already enrolled.

Your son is going to learn to drive whether he takes driver's training or not. It's something like sex. Since he's going to learn about it anyway, better it should be from the right source.

driver's seat. Set up your rules and don't weaken! It may be better to worry about his riding with someone else who hasn't had driver's training. When it comes to driving to school, however, I'm against it. Any healthy high school student can — and should — walk or ride the school bus. Statistics indicate that students who own their cars and drive to school generally make lower grades than their non-motorized classmates.

The Doctor Says: Pregnancy Tests Near Perfect

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Because there is no such thing as being a little bit pregnant, scientists have long searched for tests that would accurately determine whether or not a woman is pregnant. Tests that used frogs, rabbits and other animals were fairly accurate, but were expensive and required several days to perform.

course of a pregnancy. Results were improved when at least 30 days had elapsed since the skipped period. Another entirely different type of test, which is said to be 99 per cent accurate, has been devised. When a woman suspects she might be pregnant, she takes one tablet of medroxyprogesterone, a hormone derived from the ovaries, every day for five days. If she is not pregnant and there is no other cause for her skipped period, the normal menstrual cycle will be resumed within two to seven days after this treatment. Although the results cannot be judged as quickly with the test as with the serologic tests described, this test has the advantage of correcting many minor conditions that cause temporary cessation of menstruation.

different tests vary only in minor details. In some cases, the test indicates pregnancy as early as four days after the skipped menstrual period. The tests are performed with controls that compare the reaction of the suspect's urine with that of urine from known pregnant and non-pregnant women. The results are said to be 95 to 100 per cent accurate.

Twist To Stay, Says Chubby

By John Crosby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — What happens to the Twist King when the twist is refined into such delicacies as the mashed potato, the frog and the hully gully? He goes right on believing in the twist, that's what.

"When I was 13 I was five feet tall — and just as wide — and I was too big to play with boys my own age. I played with older boys and I learned from them guys — boy, did I learn. They called me an overgrown kid. I didn't answer back. I just listened. I watched other people's mistakes. And I learned. 'I'm psychic. I feel things. When I was 18-and-a-half I owned two homes in Philadelphia and I rented them out. My mother kept telling me I was too young, but I said 'The homes are occupied, aren't they? The people are paying rent, aren't they? I don't have to be 21, do I?'" cotheque" (Decca), the first album to pay heed to the Jet Set's newest craze for dancing all night to canned music. Slim Hyatt, the disquaire at Sheppard's, the New York "in" spot for the craze, programmed the music. It plays continuously from fox trot to bossa nova to cha-cha-franc, hully-gully, mashed potato and back to fox trot before exhaustion sets in. Hullo up the carpet before playing. SOMETHING FOR THE TEENS — Lesley Gore sings about "Boys, Boys, Boys" (Mercury) and Bobby Rydell advises "Forget Him" (Cameo). Rydell's album consists of songs that have been hits for him in England, Italy, Germany, France and Japan. FOR JAZZOPHILES — Columbia has released "Jazz Odyssey, Volume II, The Sound of Chicago, 1923-1940." This is a foot-tapper, a fine chronology of the history of jazz, and contains some wonderful ricky-tick sounds. SINGLE-OHS — "R Is For Ringo" (Jemlight) features 8-year-old Tina Ferris singing about her favorite Beatle. It should be a big hit with 10-year-olds. Other releases: "Sweet Potato" (The Colony Singers, ABC - Paramount), "Such A Night" (Conway Twitty, ABC - Paramount), and "Royal Telephone" (Jimmy Little, Bigtop) a pseudo-religious song in bad taste.

Memorial With A Heart

Sometimes a piece of sculpture is erected. Sometimes trees are planted. There are memorials and memorials. But Mrs. Virginia Scoville, a widow who died recently in Cleveland Ohio, left a legacy that touches the heart. She had been a teacher. When her husband died, she returned to her profession. Her fourth grade class was close to her heart. It disturbed her that with so many instructive places to visit in her community and so many books to read and movies to view, her pupils could not take advantage of them. The school just didn't have the money. Mrs. Scoville remedied that. In her will she left $10,000 to the fourth grade of Lincoln School. The principal is the executor and fourth grade teachers in the future will decide how the interest is to be spent for the benefit of the youngsters. Taking wisdom from the ages, this dedicated teacher climaxed her life by doing something practical in her own immediate surroundings as repayment for having lived a rewarding life. Quite a memorial.

Minnows For A Whale

Premier Khrushchev has paid a stiff price for his vacation along the Nile. The Russians are investing another $277 million in the future of Egypt, on top of $1 billion already advanced in military aid and $400 million for the Aswan High Dam. It seems to have been another instance of, "If you don't give it to us, we know someone who will"—an argument the United States is only too familiar with. It's nice for a change to see the Russians scurrying to shell out before the U.S. taxpayer can be called upon to do the same. If the Arabs are as shrewd traders as they are reputed to be, Mr. Khrushchev has been sold another minnow of Egyptian friendship for a whale of a lot of money. Thought For Today Go, gather all the Jews to be found in Susa, and hold a fast on my behalf, and neither eat nor drink for three days, night or day. I and my maids will also fast as you do. Then I will go to the king, though it is against the law; and if I perish, I perish. — Esther 4:16. Christ has no way to reach His imperial place at the heart of mankind save as you and I open up a path for His sovereign feet.—Paul Morrison.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE T-417: Lonnie D., aged 9, lost his mother recently due to leukemia. So Lonnie's gracious grandmother moved into the home to help rear Lonnie and keep house for her son, who was Lonnie's daddy. "Dr. Crane," one of the neighbors later informed me, "Lonnie's grandmother is a wonderful woman. "But I think you better mail her a copy of your newspaper "Test for Good Mothers." "For she is too indulgent of Lonnie. She lets him get away with murder, in a figurative sense, for she spoils him terribly. "She lets him get sass and impolite. Why do grandmothers give children more privileges than the youngsters' own mothers do?" Grandmothers need to be very careful if they are the constant supervisor of children. For it is quite true that grandparents are usually more lenient than are the parents of those same youngsters. And such undue leniency is thrilling to the children for a brief vacation period. But when grandparents assume the steady job of rearing young grandchildren, then they must take care! Part of the task of being a good mother (or grandmother, too) consists of training a child to become a self-reliant, morally upright member of adult society. This means that a child must not be allowed to shirk his proper household chores. He should thus brush his teeth regularly and make his own bed and help with the dishes, etc. "Yes, Dr. Crane," you may reply, "but why is it typical of grandmothers to show more leniency? "They are more experienced than parents, so they should be more careful to make sure their grandchildren grow to the line." Well, grandparents subconsciously sense the fact that the Grim Reaper is not too far away. When people grow mellow and philosophical about death, they are contemplating such major events that they tend to dismiss childhood faults as too petty to fret about. Thus, whether a child eats candy before his meals or has an extra ice cream soda, is too petty to disturb a grandmother who may permanently say farewell to this earth within a few years. This broader philosophical outlook tends to dwarf many minor but very essential rules regarding child rearing. So grandparents, such as Lonnie's grandmother, should by all means send for the 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c. For they need practical, everyday yardsticks to test themselves lest they unintentionally rear spoiled brats and juvenile delinquents. You grandparents may "spoil" a child without great harm if you have him for only a few days. But if you are his permanent guardian, then follow the rules of good parents and curb your undue leniency. For you seldom will realize your own faults unless you have a "Parents' Test" to use as a convenient yardstick.

First Test For LBJ, Barry

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sargent Shriver's Peace Corps volunteers have made a fine contribution in foreign countries precisely because they went there to serve and not to agitate. But the young civil rights volunteers who are invading Mississippi are the kind of troublemaking tourists which Hitler and Stalin used to dispatch into neighboring nations for the purpose of subversion and revolution. That this sort of guerrilla warfare should be permitted against a sovereign American state is a danger and a disgrace to our Republic. The foolish youths, who have joined the Negro revolutionaries, would never be tolerated in the Peace Corps. Shriver, whose experience and maturity should teach him better, made a rabble-rousing speech here the other day to Negro demonstrators, whipping up hatred against Mississippi and deriding Senator Goldwater, who is an innocent absentee in all this commotion. Let all Americans, white and Negro, face the fact. We are on the precipice of a racial war at the very time when Congress has endeavored to give us racial peace or, at least, racial cease-fire. There is in process a movement, which all men of good will should join and welcome, to observe the Civil Rights Act now that it has become the law of the land. I expect, from conversations with him, that Barry Goldwater will make a statement that will put him in the van of those opponents of the law who want it to have a fair chance. Others of us, with reasons sufficient to ourselves for believing the law to be unwise, now have equal reasons to speak out for compliance with its requirements. There are legitimate and necessary ways to test its validity and constitutionality, and even to work for its eventual repeal, but the immediate concern should be for our country which, in all solemnity, is teetering on the verge of insurrection and suicide. What leadership the American press should take in a compliance movement will be up to individual newspapers, but the best leadership will come from those papers which, disliking the law, call for its acceptance. "The Wall Street Journal," which is our only truly national daily, has admirably taken this position. Editorially, "The Journal" has bent its stately head to the inevitable, and has used its news columns to report home-town efforts at conciliation and preparation. Here in Washington The Potomac Institute, Inc., which is a non-profit organization formed for the purpose, is continuing its missionary work to convince Southern businessmen that accommodation of Negroes in stores, restaurants and lodging places won't be financially ruinous. The Chambers of Commerce in at least a dozen Southern cities have already set out to show the communities how to make the best of the irksome armistice term which the heavy majority in Congress has imposed in its decree of racial coexistence. Numerous social and religious groups have organized for the same work. How different, and how much more decent and wiser, are all these activities and possibilities within the local communities to the raiding parties of headless horsemen which are being turned loose on Mississippi and other natural centers of resistance! Where is the patriotic responsibility that a man of Shriver's stature ought to show? And, for that matter, are we not now about to witness a pre-election test of national leadership between Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater? Let us hope that both these contestants for the highest office, both these captains of public opinion, will scorn political profit or loss and speak for the peace of the nation. But if either the President or the senator falls in this duty, let it be remembered in the days of reckoning ahead.

Phil Newsom Says

Medicine Is Strong

An audible cheer went up from Washington last April 1 when the Brazilian military rose up against the government of left-wing Joao Goulart. President Johnson sent his "warmest good wishes" to the new government. Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced he hoped to work "very closely" with the new regime. Two and a half months after the overthrow of Goulart, the cheers still were audible, if slightly muted. To the credit of Brazil's armed forces, they moved quickly to restore constitutional processes once the revolution was secure and the new administration has shown a determination to remove the evils which all but wrecked the Brazilian economy and led to galloping inflation which last year amounted to more than 85 per cent. Nor could there be any quarrel with the new regime's determination to sweep Communists and their sympathizers from government posts. But what did cause concern was the fear that the generalissimo who engineered former army chief of staff Humberto Castelo Branco into office to succeed Goulart, also intended to extend their purge to all critics of the new regime. Along with some 50 others deprived of their political rights for terms of up to 10 years, the purge already had hit two former Brazilian presidents—Goulart and Janio Quadros, upon whose resignation in September, 1961, Goulart had succeeded. At the beginning of the second week of this month, the axe fell upon a third—Juscelino Kubitschek, an avowed candidate for another term in office in elections scheduled for 1965 and one of the most popular politicians in Brazil. Kubitschek's Social-Democratic party is the country's largest and his chances for election were considered good. The charge against him was that he had tolerated government corruption while in office from 1955 to 1961, and had collaborated with Goulart and with Communists. His administration had been one of spectacular growth for Brazil. It was Kubitschek who had conceived and pushed through the building of Brazil's new capital, Brasilia, 600 miles from Rio de Janeiro deep in the undeveloped interior, and started Brazil on its headlong rush toward industrialization. The two projects plunged Brazil deeply into debt and started the disastrous inflationary wave. But Kubitschek had seized the imagination of Brazilians and he boasted he had "awakened the giant." In the fall of Goulart and in the government drive to press its reforms, Kubitschek has remained ostensibly neutral. But it was not forgotten that Goulart had served as his vice president and that he had assisted Goulart on his own rise to power. There was a suspicion that by his silence he hoped to gain political advantage that a an eventually could lead to Goulart's return. Whatever the reasons, the government had re-expressed its determination to take whatever steps it deems necessary to restore Brazil's political and economic stability. The medicine is strong but Brazil's ailment is serious.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A back-room power struggle is going on within the Communist party in Laos. It now appears that Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Red Pathet Lao for years, has been quietly shunted aside. Information arriving here is that the Lao hard-line professional Communists became concerned that for all his Communist ways, Souphanouvong was too much of a nationalist and therefore more interested in Laos than in instant obedience to Red Hoi Chi Minh in North Viet Nam. Souphanouvong was allowed to keep his title as chairman of the central committee of the Neo Lao Hlak Xat, the Lao Communist party. But if the sketchy reports are correct, Kaysone Phoumvihan, commander of the Red Pathet Lao armed forces, and Nouhak Phoumasavan, a member of the party's standing committee, have taken over actual leadership of the Lao Reds. This move puts Red Laos completely under North Vietnamese control. Kaysone Phoumvihan and Nouhak Phoumasavan take their orders directly from North Viet Nam's Ho Chi Minh. Both are believed to have been early members of Ho's World War II Communist party of Indochina. This control move is believed to be a step in Ho's plan to eventually unite all of old Indochina (North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia) under his rule, perhaps as a single country.

Kaysone, Nouhak and their followers apparently have entrenched themselves slowly, carefully and quietly. There's been no publicity. Kaysone Phoumvihan never appears in public. Nouhak Phoumasavan is reported taciturn and reserved. They have the backing of the 6,000 to 10,000 North Vietnamese troops in Laos. There is, consequently, no sign of revolt from their leadership. Both are said to be able and hard-working. Both have a long history of Communist party membership and revolutionary activity. Nouhak, born about 1910 in southern Laos, is the son of a farmer. He began as a truck driver, later became a merchant in pre-World War II Indochina. When the Pathet Lao Resistance government was formed, he became minister of economics and finance in the Red areas of Laos. In the 1950s he traveled extensively in the Communist bloc countries. Kaysone was born in 1920, joining the Communist party about 1946 or 1947. In 1949, he became commander of all Pathet Lao guerrilla forces. Later he was named minister of defense in the Pathet Lao Resistance government and held that post until 1957. He is believed to have fled to North Viet Nam and worked with Ho there until sometime between 1946 and 1948.

CHURCH

John is thinking about "what he wants to be." No, he doesn't want to be a jet pilot, nor a nuclear physicist, nor a lawyer, nor an actor, nor a doctor, nor yet a banker, baker, or chemist. John has decided. He wants to be a MINISTER.

I wondered if his father or his uncle or anyone else in the family is a minister? Strangely enough, no! He won't make a lot of money, and knowing John, he certainly won't particularly like the idea of getting up to "preach" to people. Definitely he won't have a big shiny car to make his calls. I wondered why John had decided to devote a lifetime to service in the Church.

I asked John for a frank answer and he told me many small accumulative experiences which boiled down to this: A strong Christian influence from family, friends, and church kindled a spirit of awareness and devotion which seems to be latent in every human heart. Of course, we can't all be like John. Few of us have received the stimulus to devote our entire life to the Church. But some of John's spirit does dwell in all of us. Too often we are unaware that we possess this miraculous gift from God. Rekindle your spirit by going to church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Clock stopped late last week. Did you notice? The big time-temperature clock at the Sanford Atlantic National Bank developed internal trouble. And a team of clock consultants were summoned to fix it. They did and we're back in business Around The Clock.

Complaint: Why do our bills have to have so much advertising in them. Haven't finished paying the current account and we're being lured into more and more. Quite a cycle.

People looked a lot calmer this morning than they did last Monday, what with the Fourth of July celebrations and such. The haggard looks were infrequent. Nice to have a quiet weekend for a change, eh?

Mrs. Ida B. Wilson, publicist for the Seminole Swim Association reminds parents of the association members that the organization's monthly business meeting will be held at 8 tonight at the Civic Center.

Speaker for Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Sanford Lions Club will be The Herald's sports editor, Julian Stenstrom. He'll talk about sports in the early day of Sanford.

Mike Thomas, a former AT1 in the Navy, is on the unemployed list — since last Thursday. Mike retired after putting 20 years in the Navy during ceremonies at the Sanford Naval Air Station. He's been a legal resident of Sanford for the past 11 years. Mike's a native of Pittsburgh but he plans to make his home here.

When interested parties appear before the County Commission and most of the council of most of the towns in Seminole County, the presiding officer asks these individuals to state their names. We wish those who preside at the meetings of the County School Board would do the same.

Mrs. Harriet Boyd, 317 West Third, reports that her little dog, 12-year-old "Sonny Boy" was missing for three days before he was found on Country Club Road. But "Sonny Boy" was in a critical condition. Apparently somebody hit him across the back with a heavy object and the little dog's hindquarters are now paralyzed. It's believed some boys struck "Sonny Boy" with a board, picked him up and dumped him alongside the road.

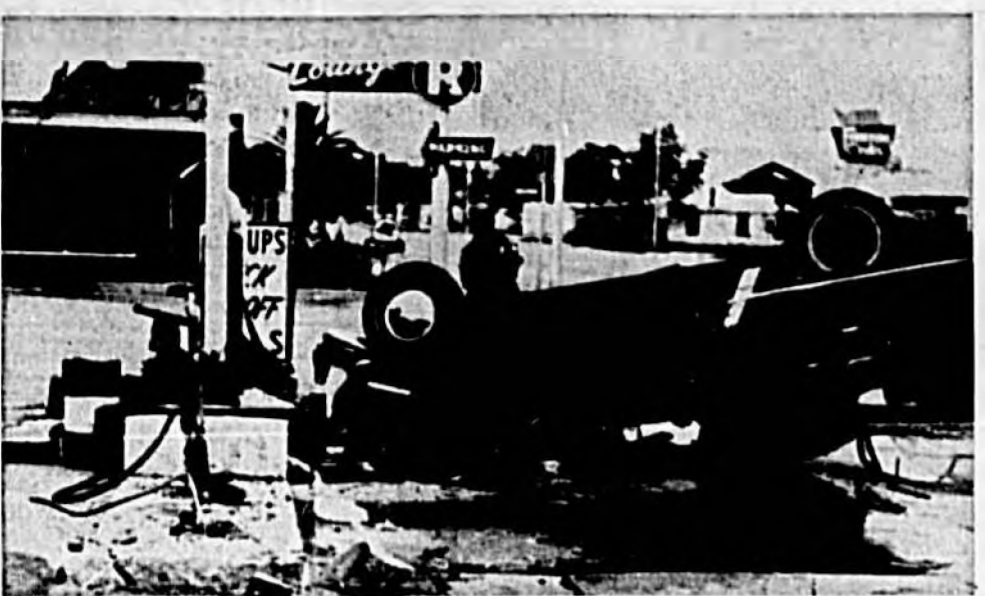

Miss Carol Luderhaus of DeBary has received a tuition scholarship at the University of Florida and a student assistantship in the psychology department. In her junior year, she is a dean's list student and was winner of the DeBary Business and Professional Woman's Club award for high scholastic ability while a student at DeLand High School.

Some of the most outstanding "art work" we've seen around here is the work of several local medical men's wives who have a great deal of talent. They have used that talent to make the new pediatric wing at the hospital as charming and delightful as a hospital could be. More about this later.

Council To Meet
The Board of Alderman of the Town of Casselberry will convene at 7:30 p. m. today at the Town Hall for the council's monthly meeting.

Local Doctor's Home Vandalized

Hearing For 8 Youngsters Set Tomorrow

The alertness of Sanford Policeman Lt. Ben Butler paid off in the quick apprehension of eight youngsters aged eight to 16 years old, Sunday, for vandalizing the home of Dr. Leonard Munson at 120 Scott Ave. over the weekend. The family is on an extended vacation.

Hearing has been set by Judge C. Vernon Mize for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Juvenile Court.

Three of the five boys who were lodged in detention were released in their parents' custody with two boys to remain in jail until the hearing. Judge Mize told the Herald at noon today that the case is "complicated" since one of the children is a deaf-mute and one a retarded child who is awaiting admission to Sunland Training Center.

Lt. Butler spotted three of the youngsters carrying bundles of their bicycles, stopped them and questioned them. They subsequently confessed and implicated three other boys and two girls, aged nine and 11 in the breaking and entering, vandalism and theft. All are white.

The youngsters gained entry by removing glass jalousies from the kitchen door, entered the house and went on a wild spree of breaking, smashing and defacing everything they could lay their hands on, police reported.

Bottles of catsup, fruit juices, sauces, smashed and strewn all over the kitchen drawers were pulled out and their contents flung out, creating a mess that City Police estimated will result in "an enormous cleaning job."

Total damages of the contents of the house, plus theft of many articles, which the youngsters made several trips to carry away, are estimated at "$3,000 or $4,000."

Friends of the Munsons told The Herald today that Dr. and Mrs. Munson are taking an extended vacation this summer and are at the present time in Mexico. They said they did not plan to notify the "Munsons of the vandalism of their home as it would upset them and spoil their vacation." They are not expected home until about Labor Day, friends said.
