Swearingen Testifies Concerning His Vast Interests At Morgan Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(A.P.)—One million dollars was all the cash that O. P. Van Swearingen, his brother and associates originally put into acquiring the railroad interests which now has expanded into one of the most vast in the country.

This fact was divulged by O. P. Van Swearingen in testimony before the Senate investigation of the Morgan firm's part in building up the vast Van Swearingen rail domain.

He had been asked the question by Pecora yesterday and said he could not then comply. Today he said "I have read over your question and am pleased to say I can answer frankly. The amount of dollars was 1,000,000 with which my brother and associates started back in 1916. A moment before the investigators had agreed unanimously on the terms of a resolution to be presented to the Senate later in the day seeking wider powers to go into the income tax returns of the Morgan partners and their stock transactions bearing on payments made.

"You may say that is starting on a shoe-string," Van Swearingen was asked referring to the cash start in the rail business. "I agree that is so but we made what we have today out of that shoe-string," Van Swearingen replied.

Relief Of Growers Of State In Form Of Loans Revealed

TAMPA, June 7.—Relief to Florida growers in the form of federal loans and increased appraisal values was announced yesterday by Senator Trammell after a conference at Washington with officials of the federal land bank of Columbia, S. C.

Loans to Florida citrus and celery growers hereafter will be made on a maximum appraisal value of $500 an acre, he said, and the land bank will lend $250 on an acre on that valuation on first mortgage notes. In addition, Senator Trammell said, growers may obtain additional loans of 25 percent of the appraisal value of the property on second mortgage from the federal farm loans up to a maximum of $500.

In a telegram to the Florida Citrus exchange Senator Trammell said he had been told by land bank officials that if the new policy did not fill requirements, further provisions would be made.

Trammell, it was said, Florida was appraised only for its soil value for loan purposes, about $100 an acre, and the more liberal valuation of $500 an acre taken into consideration trees and other improvements.

The broader policy on federal loan marks an important achievement by Florida's senators and representatives," said C. S. Combs, general manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange.

"It means that Florida growers now may borrow $250 an acre on appraisals of $500 an acre," he said, "and additional bank loans from the farm loan commission. This will give Florida growers much needed federal relief which has been given to agricultural interests elsewhere. It gives the citrus industry a large working capital at a low rate of interest."

Legislation On Bank Reforms Is In Mixup

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today called in congressional banking leaders in another effort to iron out differences in banking reform legislation. Conferees of the Senate and House have been seeking vainly for a week to find an understanding on the influence of deposits in the Glass-Steagall bill. An entire new plan is reported under consideration. The administration has refused to approve the Senate proposal allowing the immediate withdrawal of deposits up to $2500.

Army Gets Challenge To Prove It Can Duplicate Kits For $1.40 A Piece

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(A.P.)—Richard B. Bevier, president of Bevier and Company, Inc., of New York, before the Senate military committee today challenged the army to prove it could duplicate the toilet kits for reforestation workers for less than $1.10, the figure for which his company supplies them.

He suggested that a committee of three including himself, a representative of the quartermaster corps, and of the committee be set up to check all figures and look into the matter.

Bevier told the committee that the statement presented yesterday by Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, explaining his part in the purchase is "true and accurate so far as he and I are concerned."

Howe, before the committee for the second time and under oath, gave a money yesterday of "the very small part I took in the whole matter."

"I never directly nor indirectly attempted to influence any decision in this matter," he said, referring to the ordering of the kits by Robert Fechner, conservation corps director. The order was given a few hours after Bevier called at Howe's office with a letter from Basil O'Connor, a former law partner of President Roosevelt.

Committee members indicated in their questioning of Howe yesterday that they might propose a bill to designate an agency to buy supplies for the conservation corps or suggest to President Roosevelt that he do so by executive order.

"A recommendation from this committee as to the nature of this executive order would be very helpful," Howe said, agreeing with committee members that if Fechner was going to spend the money, he was the full responsible party, that he should be aware of it and pass on bids and claims before awarding orders.

SENATE G. O. P.'S DECIDE TO PRESS FOR SALES TAX

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(A.P.)—Senate Republicans today decided to press for a sales tax of one and one-half percent as a substitute for proposed corporation levies to finance the $1,300,000,000 public work program in the industrial recovery bill.

Some Democratic chiefs were quick to predict defeat of the sales tax and of the (minority) minimum present anti-trust barriers.

Republicans laid plans for a party conference today before the Senate convenes to map out their line of attack on the entire subject, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, prepared to have substitution of the sales tax himself, regardless of his party's position, in place of the Harrison $3,300,000,000 public works program.

Meanwhile, Democratic Senators Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Byrd, of Virginia, were considering offering a sales tax in place of the House provision extending for another year the existing excise, so-called "nuisance" taxes, which bring in more than $300,000,000 in revenue.

While Chairman Harrison was forecasting defeat of all sales tax proposals, a flood of proposed amendments poured into the hopper. They included one by Byrd to strike out the provision authorizing relaxation of anti-trust laws to allow industries to adopt codes of fair competition regarding wages, production and hours of work.

In a statement urging approval of the legislation, Senator Walsh said:

"I am prepared, and I believe Congress and the American people are prepared, to acquiesce in the extraordinary proposals embodied in this bill. Success or failure, good or harm, will not depend upon administration of this extraordinary grant of power."

He made this statement as he issued a reminder that tomorrow is Guest Day at the Club, meaning that all facilities are free to the public except the cost of refreshments, and a cafeteria, supper which will be available for those who wish to stay and play at bridge until a late hour.

It will be the fourth course this Thursday that the Club's facilities are made available without charge to the people of this section. A tournament between the Farmers and Business Men's teams will be arranged and all golfers are asked to participate.

Fires In Everglades Muck Lands Spread

FORT LAUDERDALE, June 7.—(A.P.)—Fanned by brisk winds for the past two days, much land fire in the Everglades spread over a 25-mile front from Hialeah north to New River canal. Smaller fires started in other sections. New appeals have been made to state officials for funds to obtain men and equipment to fight the fires.

Dame Nature Carries Extremes Of Climate To West, East, Midwest And South

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—(A.P.)—The far, wide West has the fitters, the mid-West and South are jumpy and the East life-smared eyebrows—all on account of one Dame Nature.

She acts like chills and fever, takes things up here and blows them down there—gives California a spring dance that's a "frost" and beams on Florida with her warmest smile.

From Canada in Mexico and even way up in Alaska old timers look baffled and proclaim 1933 thus far, about the "normal" year ever. Just out-and-out freakish, that's all.

Right down to 66 below zero, a new record for the United States, plunged the mercury at Riverside, Yellowstone National Park in February, while in Ohio every month since New Year's has been warmer than 60-year normal average.

Thundershowers cutting up (far down) almost everywhere and such spots as snow-fluttering on Pacific coast orchard blossoms were disturbing enough without the earthquakes and tornadoes and other antics.

Quakes, the worst in years, rattled California, western Nevada and southern Alaska, the most disastrous being in the Los Angeles area Mar. 10, with 500 feet of 121 dead at Long Beach and nearby communities and property damage estimated at $75,000,000. Montana and Kentucky had little ones, just "jugglers."

Tornadoes raged in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, West Texas, Montana and New Mexico were surprised by tornado winds. More than 150 dead and unestimated property damage were left behind.

Bellingham, Wash., smothered as "straw hat day" (June 1) was greeted by old nature with a severe frost. The Pacific coast generally felt much the same. May in Portland, Ore., was the coolest in 25 years. Southern California, traditional summerland, while shaking off a drenching which at Santa Monica was the heaviest in 50 years, could find hardly any signs of summer.

MARTIN COUNTY TAKES STEPS ON BOND PROBLEMS

STUART, June 7.—(A.P.)—Confronted with an expert appraisal of Martin county, showing actual values overvalued by bond values, the county commission here yesterday ordered the appraisal printed for distribution to creditors.

The commission also adopted a resolution authorizing the state board of administration to return any available Martin county bonds at 15, out of the county's share of the gasoline tax.

By and ordering copies of the appraisal printed for distribution to interested persons, the commissioners took no action upon it.

The appraisal said, among other things, that "it is very evident Martin county is greatly overvalued, with the present outstanding amount of bonds in the county and towns showing the overlapping bond debt of 111 percent of the present-day value of the property."

"This staggering amount of debt, coupled with the decreased prices of products which are produced in the county has resulted in approximately 100 percent of the average of the property over the state under tax certificate cases, and under present-day values approximately 50 percent of the property, including improvements, has reverted to the state."

Approximately $789,000 worth of improved property has been (Continued On Page Four)

Golfers Are Invited To Free Day At Club

"Once again we invite you golfers, bridge friends, and persons wishing an afternoon of restful enjoyment to come out to the Sanford Country Club sometime tomorrow," said Andrew M. Carrasav, manager of the club this afternoon.

He made this statement as he issued a reminder that tomorrow is Guest Day at the Club, meaning that all facilities are free to the public except the cost of refreshments, and a cafeteria, supper which will be available for those who wish to stay and play at bridge until a late hour.

It will be the fourth course this Thursday that the Club's facilities are made available without charge to the people of this section. A tournament between the Farmers and Business Men's teams will be arranged and all golfers are asked to participate.

HEARINGS DENIED

TALLAHASSEE, June 7.—(A.P.)—The Florida Pardon Board today denied J. W. Buchanan, condemned slayer of two federal agents, any further clemency hearings and the Governor said he would set the execution for the week of June 19.

ONE MAN DIES, ANOTHER NEAR DEATH IN FIRE

Bill Williams Is Victim Of Fatal Blaze In Fisherman's Hut On Shores Of Lake

L. L. "Bill" Williams, young white man, who with R. C. Lamps had been living in a poorly constructed fisherman's shack on the south shore of Lake Jessup for the past several months, died at the Forch-Loughlin Memorial Hospital this morning at about 11:30 o'clock of burns he received when the shack caught fire and burned to the ground at about 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Lamps' condition is serious and he is painfully burned, but it is believed that he will recover.

The body of the young man, who had been engaged with Mr. Lamps as a laborer for some months, was at the Erickson Funeral Home early this afternoon awaiting advice from a brother who resides in North Carolina. Among his survivors are his former wife, Mrs. W. O. Stansell, of the Paola section, and four small children.

According to Constable W. A. Johnston who with Officer C. H. Shaffer investigated the scene early today, the shack caught fire from an undetermined source. "We have not been able to find out just what caused the fire," Constable Johnston said early this afternoon, "and until Mr. Lamps is able to tell us just what happened we can only guess at the cause. It is possible that a cigarette might have fallen from one of the men's mouths just as they slumped to sleep."

Constable Johnston, who describes the shack as being "about 12 by 14, with a palmetto leaf roof and burlap sides," is at a loss to understand how the men could have been a terribly burned in such a structure. "I don't see why in the world that these men couldn't have torn their way through the burlap walls out of the shack and have escaped the flames," he said.

Continuing his story of the fire, Constable Johnston said that Mr. Williams, "in some inebriated manner," was able to make his way for nearly a quarter of a mile to the house-hold home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilkinson where he collapsed after crying (Continued On Page Three)

Trade Body Decides To Stage Huge Labor Day Celebration In Sanford

A Labor Day celebration that will have for one of its features short addresses by prominent and nationally known speakers is the most really large undertaking planned by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Decision to stage such a celebration came during the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the trade body in the City Hall last night. As a result of discussions which arose, president H. M. Papworth appointed the following persons on the general committee for arrangements:

This group is expected to confer with the Celebrations Committee of the trade body, G. E. Adams, chairman, and make immediate arrangements so that statewide publicity may be given the proposed celebration.

S. D. Highleyman, chairman of the committee in charge of securing prizes for the regatta to be held here next Thursday afternoon, stated that all prizes have been secured. Fifteen merchants were solicited, he said, and 11 of them contributed prizes.

Those attending the meeting were: H. M. Papworth, Linton E. Allen, Mrs. Louise Hills, of Geneva; George E. Balmer, Mrs. E. L. Curlett, of Geneva; Hawkins Connelly, F. P. Dorner, J. E. Fox, H. P. Hayes, W. M. Hayes, R. D. Highleyman, E. H. Loney, J. A. Logan, George W. McElroy, F. T. Williams, Nick Zernovcan, and Karl Lehmann.

Seminole Is One Of Few Counties In State Able To Pay Teachers In Full

It was with the greatest of satisfaction that Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton this afternoon telephoned a Herald reporter to say "I thought that you might like to tell the people that Seminole County today became one of the few counties in Florida which was able to pay its teachers' salaries for the full eight months' term."

Superintendent Lawton reminded the reporter that only a few weeks ago he had written a story to the effect that all of the county's 103 teachers and principals, able for their checks to be paid, advised that they might have to wait for possibly two months before their checks could be paid for the eighth month of the school year.

He signed agreements to wait that long or longer, and continue teaching through the end of the year.

"Well," said Superintendent Lawton over the telephone, "because of an unexpected tax collection, reported to us by Mr. Johnston, we today mailed checks totaling almost $19,000 to all of the teachers and principals whose salaries for the eighth month were due and payable today."

Continuing, he said, "It seems to me that our teachers are due considerable credit for their offer to co-operate with us in keeping our schools open. I know that they will receive their checks with the greatest of pleasure, and that they appreciate the co-operation of the persons who by their having paid their taxes, made it possible for their checks to be mailed."

Superintendent Lawton also said that the only teachers' salaries remaining to be paid are those which will be paid teachers in Seminole High School which does not close until Friday of this week. "I am sure that checks for their salaries will be sent them within a few days after the closing of the schools," he said. The checks will cover salaries for the final two weeks of school.

GOVERNOR SIGNS 20 BILLS MAKING THEM INTO LAW

Outline Is Given Of Measure Acted Upon By Dave Sholtz

TALLAHASSEE, June 7.—(A.P.)—Governor Sholtz yesterday formally added more than 20 general laws to the statute books of Florida with his signature on a stack of acts passed by the Legislature.

The measures included the following:

Acts levying half a mill state ad valorem tax for tick eradication work of the livestock sanitary board and a similar tax for support of the state board of health.

Acts making kidnapping for ransom a capital offense, punishable by death unless the jury recommends mercy in which case the sentence would be life imprisonment, under the same conditions, to throw bombs or discharge machine guns across highways or in public places.

An act prohibiting hunting and discharge of firearms on or within half a mile of the Tamiami Trail between Fort Myers and Coral Gables.

Acts authorizing liquidators of closed state banks to pledge assets of the banks in borrowing money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, ratifying the state banking holiday of last March and authorizing state banks to purchase stock in any federal agency set up by Congress in guarantee bank deposits.

Stage Is All Set For Concert To Be Given On Thursday

Everything is in readiness for the staging tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock from a platform on the lawn of the Court House, the first of a series of weekly musical and entertainment programs featuring the Sanford Concert Orchestra, and sponsored by various merchants.

City crews today were placing benches in position on the site of the old miniature golf course, while other workmen were putting the finishing touches to the platform, erected next to the Court House, and were wiring it for illumination.

Reminiscence again was made by George C. Fellows, director of the orchestra, that all persons who can play, sing, or dance, or have any other talent which may prove of interest to the public, should communicate with Miss Mallopp Mallopp, program director at once, so that they may be included on future program, as-suggested talent.

The program will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock. Police will be on hand to direct persons to suitable parking spaces, and to maintain order and quiet during the rendition of the program.

GLOBE GIRDLER IS UNREPORTED OVER SIBERIA

Delays In Communication Keep Moscow Ignorant Concerning Flier's Progress

OMSK, Siberia, June 7.—(A.P.)—Jimmie Mattern, a little behind the Post-Gatty round the world record, zoomed across Siberia today confident of ultimate success. He was sighted at 4:10 A. M. Moscow time at Novosibirsk, 600 miles due east of here.

Fifteen hours after he passed Novosibirsk Mattern was unreported so far as Moscow knew but unless he encountered difficulties with his plane he should have reached Chita, Siberia, the next stop on his schedule.

Delays in communication which increased the farther east Mattern flew left Moscow without word of his whereabouts. Strong headwinds and cloudy weather were reported over part of the route.

MOSCOW, June 7.—(A.P.)—So confident of establishing a new record, Jimmie Mattern, Texas globe flier, selected Chita, Siberia, 1700 miles distant, for his next stop beyond Omsk, he closed in a telephone interview last night across 1100 miles of Russian and Siberian plains.

"I am all right and am getting off within two hours," Mattern shouted hoarsely over the uncertain wires from the city in far Siberia.

"I hit bad headwinds almost all the way to Omsk and my right landing strut cracked when I came down here but otherwise everything is fine."

The American asked about his time record and was told that he was only a few hours behind the schedule set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in their round-the-world tour in 1931.

"That's great! I'll bet 'em yet," Mattern said with determination.

"I'm fine," he yelled in answer to a question as to his own physical condition.

"Everything's all right," he added. "That wing strut's been fixed here. I've had three hours sleep and I am taking off in a couple of hours."

"They have been awfully good to me here. They had more food than I've ever seen in one place waiting for me when I pulled in."

Vacation Church School Again To Be Held In City

Because their 1932 Daily Vacation Church School was such a success, members of the Sanford Protestant Ministers' Association today announced that a similar school will be held starting on June 12 and continuing through June 23.

The school is open to all boys and girls between the ages of four and 14 years. Classes will be held every week-day morning except Saturday from 9:00 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock. Four departments of instruction have been created: "The Beginners," the "Primary," the "Junior," and the "Intermediate."

Parents who wish to have their children avail themselves of the opportunity to increase the religious education of their children, are urged to send the children in the Baptist Church Friday morning between 10:00 o'clock and 11:00 o'clock where they may register and be assigned to a class. A registration fee of 10 cents will be payable this year.

Classes will be staged in the various churches of the city.

The "Beginners" class, with Mrs. Fred Myers as superintendent, will meet in the First Baptist Church.

The "Primary" class, Miss Anna Lenora Brown as superintendent, will meet in the Methodist Church annex.

The "Junior" class, Mrs. C. R. Mason as superintendent, will meet at the Holy Cross Parish House.

The superintendent of the "Intermediate" class had not been named early today, but members of the class are expected to meet in the Baptist Church annex.

REFINANCE BILL OF WILCOX GETS STARTED ON WAY

Measure Would Give Broad Extension Of Bankruptcy Laws

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(A.P.)—Final House judiciary committee approval yesterday started a municipal refinancing bill on a legislative course that if completed would round out what is perhaps the broadest extension ever undertaken of the country's bankruptcy laws.

The measure was ordered reported by a 13 to 9 vote.

Chairman Summers, (D., Tex.), said the bill would be submitted with the formal report today. A rule will be sought with a view to getting it before the House this week in an effort to send it along with a companion measure passed Monday, extending financial reorganization law to corporations.

To expedite progress of the municipal legislation, it was understood a bill probably also would be introduced in the Senate in order that both branches might act on the question and have any differences ironed out in conference.

The bill finally approved provides that municipalities and other local taxing bodies may, with the consent of 30 per cent of the bondholders, petition a federal court for permission to work out refinancing plans. To become effective, the plan also must be approved by the court, as well as by two-thirds of the creditors of each class and, in states having such a body, of the fiscal regulatory agency of the commonwealth.

Wets Continue To Lead In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7.—(A.P.)—Wets continued to maintain their advantage in Indiana today as returns came in from scattered precincts on the vote yesterday on the question of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. On the basis of incomplete unofficial returns, the wets appear definitely to have won 257 of the 329 delegates to the convention which will be held here June 26. A total of 79 delegates were in the dry column. The popular vote reported was nearly two to one for repeal.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE HOPE OF YOUTH: For thou art my hope, O Lord God; thou art my trust from my youth.—Psalm 71:5.

Gold boarders' names will make good newspaper copy.

Jim Matern flies from Moscow to Omsk, much and all.

The sales tax may not be the fairest tax, but it's the surest tax.

The honeymoon is over. Congress and the President are pulling hairs over the veterans' appropriations.

They say that Mr. Morgan had no intention of organizing another holding company when that circus might jump into his lap.

America's fifty million dollar loan to China seems to be a case of "heads I win, tails you lose." And in China there's nothing but tails.

In Morgan & Co. some of the partners got salaries of a hundred thousand a year. Just little chicken feed money to supplement the unearned increment!

Some folks are blaming Dave Sholtz for the failure of the Legislature. They probably figure he should have used a pickaxe instead of a club.

The new White House swimming pool for President Roosevelt has just been completed at a cost of $27,000. And one time the people of Sanford voted a hundred thousand dollar bond issue to build a swimming pool in Sanford. Doggone! We had money in those days.

An exchange quotes from a speech of Senator Carter Glass, who stated in the Democratic convention a year ago, with reference to the guarantee of bank deposits: "The guarantee of bank deposits has been tried in a number of states and resulted invariably in confusion and disaster to the financial structure of those states, and if our party, when returned to power, should incorporate such a scheme in the Federal organization, we would drive the strongest member banks from the Federal reserve system. Those strong banks should not be assessed to pay a premium for mismanagement." But Senator Glass, in spite of his better judgment, had to include the guarantee of bank deposits in his banking bill in order to secure the enactment of the bill as a whole.

Will Rogers says you can alibi the failure of the U. S. government to pay its debts in gold as agreed, but it's repudiation, right on. And of course it is. In England and France, for instance, the repudiation is immediately and materially felt by holders of American bonds. A thousand dollar gold bond, paid in gold, would buy a thousand dollars' worth of commodities, but, paid in currency, as they now are, will only buy about $850 worth of commodities. Later on this repudiation may make itself felt in the same way in America by American holders of American bonds. And by the way, if it is legally and morally right, for the U. S. government, as a matter of public policy, to repudiate the gold clause, why wouldn't it be all right for Sanford, under the circumstances, to repudiate its bonds?

What They're Saying

Editorial comment in Florida is almost unanimous in lamenting the failure of the Legislature to accomplish any material relief for the taxpayers, and in some cases is indicative of rather bitter sentiment against members who apparently were unable to subordinate selfish interests to the common good. Our rather brief survey of the exchanges convinces us that we are not alone in deploring the lack of constructive legislation.

The Fort Myers News-Press believes that the newspapers of the state should inaugurate a campaign for the final and complete abolition of the State Legislature and "substitute a system that will, in fact, return the government to the people." Commiserating with Governor Sholtz, and urging him not to call a special session, the News-Press further states, "We don't know yet how much of a mess the Legislature has left him in. It probably is pretty bad. But it certainly could be worse and no one doubts that the Legislature would make it so if given half a chance. The Governor had better let bad enough alone. There is no telling what those public nuisances may do if he gives them another opportunity for mischief."

The Miami Herald admits the improbability that the Legislature will be abolished, but recommends "a state convention to frame a new constitution in which something more modern in the way of Legislative bodies might be devised." "Among the things which the Legislature left undone," the Miami paper declares, "was a decrease in expenditures and the lowering of state taxes; it did not redistrict the congressional districts of the state; it did not pass bills in aid of the citrus industry; it did not pass a severance tax on timber lands; it did not pass a workman's compensation act."

Contrasting the State Legislature with Congress the Titusville Star-Advocate points out that the American people as a whole have a clearer idea of what is being done in Congress than the people of Florida have of what has been going on in Tallahassee. "The State Legislature," says the Titusville paper, "lacked definiteness and therefore the conclusion must be drawn that to a large extent the State Legislature is made up of ordinary, if not below-the-average, men. There are clear thinking men in the Legislature, but results indicate that they are greatly outnumbered by the other kind."

The Ocala Star views the record of the Legislature as a fruitless effort toward economy. "One Legislature is very much like another," that paper says. "Usually they get all tangled up over one or two controversial issues and as a result the whole program is thrown out of perspective. This one was no exception to the rule. The session which adjourned Saturday spent its first 21 days wrangling over the legalization of beer and the apportioning of the expected revenue therefrom, and then devoted the remaining 89 days to bickering over what price auto license tags."

The Tampa Tribune produces a "balance sheet" in which the attempt is made to balance pledges with performances. But like balancing the budget, balancing the record is not easy to accomplish. Typical of the Tribune's remarks, is the following: "Under this heading ('Unfinished Business') comes a definite procedure for adjustment of bonded indebtedness, a practical plan for collecting old and new taxes, some more satisfactory and economical scheme of school financing. The word 'economy' may be 'written off' for two years. Primarily this Legislature was to be an 'economy' and 'tax relief' Legislature. Its achievements in those lines are next to nil."

The St. Petersburg Independent captions its editorial "The Same Old Story," and that seems to be a fairly general opinion. "The battered old ship of state, tossed by the storms, has come into port, and another legislative voyage is over," comments the Independent. "As a last desperate gesture, the sailors stopped their clocks, frantically ran up the torn sails, propped up their broken masts and shot off a cannon—all this at the last minute to impress the crowd. . . . We had hoped that this year would be an exception, that the legislators would somehow rise to the emergency in spite of obstacles. They did not, and the bent taxpayer will go on carrying his load, his nose a little closer to the ground."

The Tampa Times calls it a "Disappointing Legislature." "Regarding the most important thing before it—relief for bond burdened cities, counties and special districts—the Legislature," the Times explains, "fretted, fought, and did nothing." This is perhaps the greatest disappointment of the session. . . . Blame for its lack of accomplishment is at the door of the Legislature itself. Governor Sholtz has several times pointed out what was needed, but the Legislature would not follow him. It can be said that the Governor has made an honest, sincere effort to carry out his campaign pledges, but the Legislature would not let him do it."

And so it goes!

Out-Talking An Enemy

Potentially one of the most effective weapons from the point of view of destructive force, the airplane as used by British Royal fliers is accomplishing the subjection of revolting Kurdish tribesmen without the dropping of a single bomb or the firing of a single shot.

The method being practiced in the restoration of peace in the mountainous outposts avoids all casualties and requires nothing more than an airplane equipped with a loud speaker, which amplifies the human voice 1,600,000 times, and someone to deliver a warning in the native tongue.

Recently the inhabitants of some villages in Kurdistan, a land where everyone thinks he has the right to rule, were amazed and terrified to hear a stentorian voice, apparently coming from the heavens, telling the people to surrender at a certain point within three days, on pain of punishment.

Possibly because of the super-natural sound of the warning, but probably more because of a previous taste of bombing activities, the Kurdish tribesmen gave themselves up on the appointed date.

In the airplane, which concealed the speaker, were the pilot, an electrician, who handled the amplifying equipment, a political officer and a native policeman to do the interpreting. It is pointed out that in case it is impossible to obtain someone who can speak the Kurdish dialect, phonograph records can be made of messages to be used.

All this is quite in contrast with the usual method of employing airplanes for military purposes—no rat-tat-tat of machine guns, no terrific explosions from detonating bombs, no dead and dying, only a voice making a demand. One would hardly think that the spoken word could have such a far-reaching effect.

This is an excellent system which the British are using against the Kurds but we doubt very much that if these same airplanes flew over France or Germany and made the same demands that they would be attended with much success. We suspect that the answer would come back in the form of bursting shrapnel and diving combat planes.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The wedding of Leon Mills Wright, a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Wright, of Penn Yan, N. Y., and Miss Ruth A. Sauls, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sauls, of Enterprise, took place Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at All Saints Church among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Rosetter, Mrs. A. K. Rosetter, and Mrs. J. C. Ensminger, of this city.

W. W. Dressor, of Cameron City, has rented a wheel so that he may come home at evening while canvassing in Sanford and other outlying districts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellsworth accompanied the St. Petersburg excursionists that left Sanford on Tuesday and will visit C. C. Worthington and family at Tampa. Mr. Ellsworth expects to remain with the Worthingtons for a visit of some length.

On Monday evening, June 2nd, at Ebenezer Church, Miss Lillie Lord and Mr. Edward Bowman were united in marriage by the bride's eldest brother, the Rev. M. M. Lord. The bride was born and reared near Sanford, is one of our most attractive and popular young girls. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lord and is respected and loved by all who know her. The groom is an industrious and deserving young man, very popular with a large circle of friends and in every way is worthy of the prize he has won. They will make their home in Lakeland for the present as the groom is employed by the Electric Light Company there.

The many showers of the past week have been most helpful in growing gardens and yards and in cooling the atmosphere.

WILL THEY PAY?

BY DORSEY RICHARDSON

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth installment of a simple explanation of the problem which may be believed to be an important factor preventing recovery from the depression. It will tell you in first recondite language how the war debts affect you personally, the value of your Liberty Bonds, the prices of your farm products, your business and your job. It will answer many of the questions that the most perplexing of all economic problems has given rise to.

The present crisis in the collection of the war debts has arisen from the fact that our European debtors inform us that no more gold can be shipped to us to create dollar credits, we will not lend them any more money at present, and we are not willing to buy from them more goods and services than they buy from us—and thus give them a surplus of dollars with which to pay the installments due on their debts.

But this is only the economic side of the question, and relations among governments cannot be adequately understood if viewed merely as business relations. Political factors are present which are equally as important, and may prove to be controlling. Hence, to comprehend and appraise calmly the situation with which the United States is confronted to-day, it is necessary to review very briefly the history of the war debts, of reparations, the position of the two principal debtor countries, and then to examine the considerations that should influence the American government in deciding in what direction its best interests lie.

Shortly after the beginning of the World War it became quickly evident that the Allied nations were unable to supply from their own resources all the required food and war materials to their civilian populations and to their armies in the field. It was therefore necessary for the Allies to purchase an increasing amount of food and war supplies in non-belligerent countries, principally in the United States. The financing of these purchases or, to revert to our previous example, the acquisition of the dollars with which to pay for American goods, presented a serious problem to both France and Great Britain. The commercial credits of these countries in New York were quickly exhausted and it became necessary to find new means of raising dollars. The need was met partly by the shipment of gold, and partly by the sale in the United States of American securities owned by private investors in Great Britain

Families In Dixie Area Sent Checks From Forest Army

ATLANTA, Ga., June 7.—Saturday's mail carried approximately 25,000 checks to dependent families throughout the Fourth Corps Area, from the earnings of boys now in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

For the families whose boys have been in the Civilian Conservation Corps for one month, these checks will amount to $25.00, other checks will be for proportional part of the $25, depending on the length of time the worker has been enrolled. The average check that went to dependent families was $18.00.

The total amount being distributed to dependent families in this Corps Area this month will total around $300,000. Checks have been mailed direct to dependent families, the Army Finance officers to states as follows:

To families: Georgia, $39,000; Florida, $16,000; Alabama, $45,000; Mississippi, $23,000; Louisiana, $41,000; Tennessee, $58,000; North Carolina, $23,000; South Carolina, $57,000.

Major General Edward L. King, 4th Corps Area Commander, in speaking of the money being distributed in the Corps Area as a result of the wages of Civilian Conservation Corps boys, pointed out that while the work camps may be grouped in a few areas, the wages paid would cover the entire 4th Corps Area since the worker receives but five dollars of the $30.00 he earns, whereas $25.00 is sent direct to his family by the Army finance officer.

BANKER SAYS HE REBOUGHT STOCK TO AID HIS WIFE

Mitchell Reviews Embarrassing Plight Due To Morgan Loan

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—Because "it was a nightmare to think of the way this stock was eating into her estate," Charles E. Mitchell testified yesterday, he turned over insurance premiums and securities to his wife and later repurchased the stock he claims he sold to her.

Continuing the testimony he started Monday at his trial on charges of evading $850,000 income taxes in 1929 and 1930, the former National City Bank chairman disclosed that pending gift tax legislation also figured in his decision to buy back the 18,300 shares of bank stock he conveyed to Mrs. Mitchell in 1929 to record an income loss.

United States Attorney George Z. Medaris has argued that Mitchell's action in taking back the stock bolsters the government's allegation that the transaction was a sham and not a real sale.

Mitchell outlined in detail the "embarrassing position" in which he said he found himself as the result of the $6,000,000 outstanding on a loan he obtained from J. P. Morgan & Co., and the decline in the market price of the bank stock he had posted as collateral.

"In October, 1931, do you recall whether you had delivered to J. P. Morgan & Co., as collateral, all the stocks you had?" asked Max D. Steur, defense attorney.

"I wouldn't say all, Mr. Steur," the defendant replied. "I still had some odds and ends in my box—stock that wasn't worth putting up."

"Did you execute mortgages on your real estate in favor of J. P. Morgan & Co.?"

"Yes, in March, 1931."

"So by March, 1931, you had deposited behind that loan practically everything you had?"

"Yes sir."

"Did you ever get anything back on any of that stock?"

"No sir."

By the fall of 1931 the loan became under-collateralized, as Mitchell put it, by the decline of the stock, and Mitchell discussed the situation with his associates in the bank.

"I told them that I was under great embarrassment as head of the National City Bank with having an under-margin loan with J. P. Morgan & Co.," he recounted.

"I told them that considering the circumstances under which the loan was obtained I thought the company owed me some obligation in the matter and asked them to give it their consideration."

The circumstances he referred to were that he borrowed the money to try to hold the stock at $40 a share for the purpose of a proposed merger with the Corn Exchange Bank, which did not go through.

Mitchell felt he could not meet his claim against the National City Company, however, "because I had given myself so freely to them that it would be like making a claim against one's own assets."

At the suggestion of Guy Carey of counsel for the bank, whom Mitchell quoted as saying his "affairs are very complicated," the banker retained private counsel in the matter.

"While this claim was under consideration," Steur asked, "did you have any talk with Mr. Carey concerning a gift tax law which was then under consideration?"

"Yes," Mitchell answered. "Sometime in March, 1932, he told me lawyers and trust companies were greatly exercised over the possibility of such a law. He said he had been thinking about the law and that, if the law were passed and I ever decided to forgive the debt Mrs. Mitchell owed me, my affairs would be further complicated."

"Later Mr. Swaine (Robert T. Swaine, his attorney) advised me that my best course would be to repurchase the stock from Mrs. Mitchell and he sent to my office drafts of the letters to be exchanged between Mrs. Mitchell and myself."

The annual Junior-Senior banquet, one of the most interesting events of the school year for the Junior and Senior Classes of Seminole High School, was given last night by the Junior Class for the members of the Senior Class in the cafeteria of the high school with about 250 persons in attendance.

Invitations were issued last week by the Juniors to Superintendent T. W. Lawton, the members of the School Board, Professor G. E. McKay, the faculty of Seminole High School, and the members of the graduating class asking them to attend the launching of the "Good Ship 1933" in the form of a banquet. All decorations, programs, and the menu were designed to develop the nautical idea.

As the guests arrived at 6:30 P. M. they were escorted from a gang plank to the banquet table titled "The Good Ship 1933" by Sam Bradford and Melvin Taylor, representing skippers. As they arrived at the table they were ushered to their places by the Misses Martha Bishop, Kathleen Laney, Lorraine Yarborough, Carolyn Vining, Sadie Gardner, Thomas Benson, Alice Kasperman, and Betty Wheelhouse, hostesses for the evening.

Marking the places of the guests were miniature log books bearing pictures of the guests instead of names. The books were made by the Misses Laura Mae Brown, Betty Colbert, Evelyn Nipper, Blanche Cunningham, Virginia Gillon, Eloise Winn, Gladys Kinlaw, Elizabeth McVinn, Doris Batten, and James Henry Dixon, and Jack Russell.

The cafeteria was decorated for the occasion with a background made to resemble a azure blue waves, above which were gold and silver stars representing the sky. The windows were transformed into portables while anchors, life-savers, and oars played in various places about the room made the guests feel that they were really aboard the "Good Ship 1933." Min-

Among the items on the menu were mermaid's delight, creamed shark, potato boat, sea weeds, torpedoes, ice floes, sea foam, and life-savers. The banquet was served by girls of the Sophomore class who were dressed as sailors.

St. Clair Cameron, president of the Junior Class acted as pilot (master) and introduced each speaker, first calling on Charles Palmer who responded with "Ship Ahoy," a welcome to the Seniors. Theodore Wade, president of the Senior Class, answered with "All Aboard!"

To the Admiral and his Aides, Superintendent T. W. Lawton, and the School Board, Miss Dorothy Marshall spoke a few words in which she said: "The Admiral and his Aides have kept the entire Seminole Fleet afloat while other County Fleets have been found to sink." Superintendent Lawton then gave a short talk to the guests.

Jack Russell gave a short address in which he compared Professor G. E. McKay and the faculty to a Captain and his crew who loved their ship (Seminole High School) and would do everything possible for the good of the passengers aboard (students). Professor McKay responded by telling how he had watched the class since it had first set sail 12 years ago and wished the members success in the sea of life.

Miss Marjorie Tillis read an original poem to the members of the Senior Class and their sponsors. Mrs. James A. Wright and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, who responded with poems which they had written. Miss Carolyn Coghburn then addressed Mrs. J. M. Stinecuber and Rodman Lehman, sponsors of the Junior Class, after which they answered with a few words.

The banquet was brought to a close by a toast, "Bon Voyage," presented by Miss Eloise Winn.

enable Florida to take part in the Federal reforestation program.

An act shortening from two years to one year the time required for residence in Florida before divorce proceedings may be started.

Acts authorizing use of state convicts to grow sugar cane on state-owned land in the Everglades, granting disabled war veterans exemption up to $25 on occupational licenses, giving aviation companies right to eminent domain to obtain airports and seaplane bases.

Acts making it unlawful to counterfeit license tags for automobiles and modifying present libel laws affecting newspapers.

While he is not required to act on proposed constitutional amendments, Governor Sholtz also signed two resolutions calling for changes in the state constitution. Both will be submitted to the voters at the general election in November of next year.

One proposed reduction in the number of judicial circuits from 28 to 15. There now are 42 circuit judges and the proposed amendment would provide for one in each circuit with additional judges for each 50,000 unit of population.

"The other proposal is for a uniform code of laws for county and city governments, the Legislature being given power to classify according to population and exact laws applicable to each class. The amendment was said to be directed at "the local bill evil" which requires so much of the Legislature's time.

The Governor also signed an order granting a franchise to construct a toll bridge and tunnel across Tampa Bay from Pinellas Point to Piney Point.

Mitchell and he sent to my office drafts of the letters to be exchanged between Mrs. Mitchell and myself."

OPEN REBELLION FLARES AMONG ROLLINS GROUPS

2 Of Most Active Members On Campus Sever Connections

ORLANDO, June 7.—Open rebellion in the student body of Rollins College flared yesterday close upon the heels of election of a number of professors when Nathaniel S. French, president of the student body and George R. Barber, editor of the Rollins Sandspur, two of the most active members of the campus, severed their relations with the institution.

In announcing that they had decided to leave Rollins and resume their education in schools practicing more liberal policy in scholastic fields, they both voiced their complete dissatisfaction with a number of the administration in dismissing certain professors.

President Hamilton Holt would issue no statement in regard to the charges.

French, Rollins student from Boston and Barber who lives in Swarthmore, Pa., declared that their decision to leave the institution was reached during the final week of the college year after actively participating in events of the past three months which witnessed an explosion of resignations and dismissals among the faculty.

Barber and French each issued statements regarding the reasons for their leaving and their composition a joint statement.

In the statement by Barber he said: "I have decided to sever my connections with the college since I am unable to reconcile myself with recent action taken by the administration regarding dismissal of professors and of college policies."

"My ideas of a liberal and progressive institution are not realized in Rollins."

The statement of French read as follows: "I feel that the recent dismissal of liberal professors from the Rollins faculty is not in accordance with the advertised liberalism of the college and therefore have decided to go elsewhere."

Barber and French stated that since the recent investigation of Rollins College by the American Association of College Professors there has been an obvious drive to eliminate many of the liberal students and faculty who have been on masse, out of accord with the interpretation that Dr. Holt places upon liberalism and progressive education. The recent dismissal of Prof. Rice has been followed by the resignation of Prof. Cecil Oldham, Oxford, and by the dismissal of Prof. Alan P. Tory, assistant professor of psychology and philosophy, also an Oxford man.

French read as follows: "I feel that the recent dismissal of liberal professors from the Rollins faculty is not in accordance with the advertised liberalism of the college and therefore have decided to go elsewhere."

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DOGS
As required by law, all dogs in the City of Sanford, Florida, except those that are kept on the premises of the owners or are muzzled while at large, must be vaccinated for rabies each year. Dr. C. W. Baker, Veterinarian, will be at the rear of the City Hall from 10:00 A. M. to Noon, each day during the week commencing Monday, June 5th, 1933, to do this work. After that time, any dogs found running at large, unmuzzled and not vaccinated for rabies, will be picked up by the police and killed. The cost of vaccination will be borne by the City from the annual license tax of $1.25 per dog.
F. S. LAMSON, City Clerk.
