NATIONAL CONVENTION OF FARMERS

WILL BE HELD AT PALATKA NEXT MONTH—BIG AFFAIR

Palatka, Fla., Oct. 10.—Arrangements are being completed for the national convention of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, which is to be held Nov. 21, 22, 23 and 24, at Palatka, Fla. The fact that the convention is to be held in Florida has stimulated interest in organization and cooperation among the growers of the Peninsula state.

For some time a movement has been well under way to make Florida a real factor in the Union, one of its strongholds in the state being in Putnam county, of which Palatka is the county seat. When the national organization learned of the activity in Putnam county, Palatka was decided upon as the logical place to hold the coming convention.

The Palatka Board of Trade, one of the most progressive civic bodies in Florida, extended an invitation to the Union, promising its aid in every way to make the convention the most successful ever held by that organization. At least one other Florida city made an effort to get the big meeting, but Palatka won the prize.

National President C. S. Barrett, of Union City, Ga., and State President J. L. Shepard of Greensboro, tender 30, to meet with the committee of the Board of Trade and the committee of the Putnam County Union for the purpose of officially passing on the program. On this day there will also be held a mass meeting of all members of the Union in this section of the state, the call having been issued by F. F. Tenny, president of the county organization. A reception will also be given to Messrs. Barrett and Shepard at which the public is invited to be present. Mr. Barrett is a splendid and forceful speaker, influential in affairs of the nation, and his discussion of the educational and cooperative movement of the Union will be most interesting and beneficial, especially to the farmers.

Concluding these meetings will be held a banquet at which Messrs. Barrett and Shepard will be the guests of honor. This affair will be given under the auspices of the Palatka Board of Trade and the Farmers' Union of Putnam county. It is proposed to make the banquet thoroughly representative of the city and county and in this way bring about the spirit of cooperation between the city and county for which the Union stands.

The program of the convention will be made public as soon after the 31st as possible.

Palatka is an ideal convention city and Putnam county is one of the best agricultural and fruit sections of the state. In the Palatka district, Hastings and East Palatka, there are cultivated annually from 8,000 to 9,000 acres of Irish potatoes, the planting beginning the latter part of December and continuing up until April. The potato crop is followed by a crop of corn and the latter by a forage or hay crop—three crops from the same land in one year. In addition throughout the district there are grown other vegetables and general farm crops. Putnam county also has the only producing safflower farm in the United States.

Palatka is 55 miles south of Jacksonville and is connected by two railroads and the St. Johns river. In all there are four distinct railroads entering the city, with 28 daily passenger trains. Six steamer lines furnish water transportation, and the city enjoys an all water route to New York. Palatka has splendid hotel accommodations, one of the hotels being able to accommodate 300 guests. It is expected that 500 delegates will attend the convention, coming from 38 states in the Union. The Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America has a membership of close to 3,000,000; and the order is growing rapidly.

Miss Abbie Doudney is attending the Pell-Clark School in Orlando this winter.

COMMITTEE DECISIVE MEETING

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IS MADE FOR THE NOMINEE

The meeting of the state Democratic executive committee in Jacksonville Saturday was one of the most important held in many years. The Times-Union account is presented in part as follows:

S. J. Catts, indendent candidate for governor was yesterday morning read out of the Democratic party in Florida by the state committee. His friends on the committee put up a desperate battle but were unable to win a single point. As soon as the meeting was called to order in the Seminole hotel at 10:20 o'clock by Chairman Geo. P. Raney of Tampa, Hal W. Adams of Lafayette county introduced a resolution which started the fireworks and brought about the first test of strength. The resolution proposed that the names of both Mr. Knott and Mr. Catts go on the tickets. The point of order was made that the resolution could not be voted upon until after a credentials committee had been named and the proxies had been passed upon. The point was sustained by the chair.

L. W. Duval, H. H. Wells and A. B. Brown were named by the chairman to examine the proxies. All were reported in due form, save that of N. L. Pender. Mr. Pender held a proxy from Monroe county and he is a registered voter in Duval county. All were seated save Mr. Pender, and Monroe county went unrepresented. As soon as this matter had been attended to the resolution of Mr. Adams was again read. There was a wonderful flow of oratory from both factions in the committee. Catts' supporters talked themselves hoarse.

The point of order was made that the committee could not say whose name should appear on the ballots, as the nominee of the party, as that was not within the province of the committee. The point was sustained and Mr. Adams appealed from the chair.

Upon roll call the chair was sustained by a vote of 31 to 10. Mr. Adams' resolution was a as follows:

Whereas, W. V. Knott and S. J. Catts each hold a certificate of nomination as the Democratic nominee for Governor of Florida, and

Whereas great political unrest has been produced in Florida by the contest relative to the nomination for Governor and

Whereas, there are hundreds of loyal Democrats who believe W. V. Knott to be the rightful nominee and hundreds of just as loyal Democrats who believe S. J. Catts to be the rightful nominee,

Whereas, in order to settle the controversy in a truly Democratic manner and in order that the people may for themselves settle at the ballot box the question as to whom they will choose as Governor, and in order that strife and discord may not continue in the ranks of Florida Democracy, therefore be it

Resolved by the state Democratic executive committee, That it is the sense of this committee, that both the names of W. V. Knott and S. J. Catts be printed on the ballots for the November election and by that means let the people settle for all time the question as to which of these aspirants for the Governor's office is the choice of the Democracy of Florida.

Following the defeat of the Adams resolution H. R. Hodges introduced a resolution which he asked the committee to adopt pledging that body to do nothing in the matter of endorsing a candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket or the ground that the contest was still pending in the supreme court of the state. Speaking in support of the resolution he made a heated argument in favor of S. J. Catts and urged the committee to adopt the resolution.

E. W. Davis offered a substitute a resolution endorsing President Wilson, Chief Justice Taylor, Frank Clark and W. V. Knott. He stated that he felt chagrined to find it necessary to ask the state committee to adopt resolutions to support the Democratic nominees. However, he declared there were Democrats who had declared their intention of bolting and that S. J. Catts was leading the independents after failing to secure nomination of the party. Mr. Davis said that Mr. Catts had circulated the petitions to have his name placed on the ballot long before the contest had been decided by the courts and that he was therefore a bolter and independent who was leading many good Democrats from the party fold.

Several of the Catts committeemen began to call for a statement from the chair as to why the meeting was called. Mr. Raney called Mr. Duval to the chair and took the floor. In explaining why the meeting was called and why he had stated that the Democratic party was in danger he said:

"I did not come to Jacksonville to make a speech nor for the purpose of making explanations. I am not given to making explanations. Our duty is plain and our duty is to perform it to the best of our ability. Getting back to answer Mr. Bowden's question and the questions propounded by Mr. Hodges. When the chair issued that call it did state that the Democratic party for the first time in probably thirty or thirty six years was in danger. Perhaps not very serious danger, but in danger nevertheless. Some of these people have taken occasion to say whom they voted for. I am willing to say whom I voted for. I voted for Mr. Hudson first choice and Mr. Knott second choice, and when I cast that vote I knew that I was absolutely bound by the oath to abide by the result of that primary election.

"These gentlemen who are speaking in behalf of Mr. Catts attempted to split hairs. I would like to ask them one question. When individuals, when municipalities, when any

GERMAN SUBS OPERATING ON U. S. SHORES

IN TRACK OF VESSELS AND SPREADS DESTRUCTION

Boston, Oct. 10.—German submarine warfare brought to this side of the Atlantic Sunday was pursued relentlessly throughout the night. With the dawn came the reports of more vessels torpedoed and sunk.

The captain of the Nantucket lightship reported that three German submarines were operating south and southeast of Nantucket and that nine vessels had been destroyed. Rushing to give battle to the submarines, three British cruisers were off Nantucket shoals at 2:40 o'clock this morning. This was the first appearance of any warships of the patrolling fleet in that vicinity since the submarines began their attacks early yesterday morning.

Shipping at points along the New England coast had been held up to a greater extent today and vessels at sea were reported making for the nearest harbor. The sudden onslaught of undersea craft had thoroughly terrified shipping interests engaged in the carrying on of munitions of war and other shipping not flying the American flag.

The richest prize bagged was the passenger liner Stephano. The vessel, British owned, was on her regular trip from St. Johns, N. F., to New York, via Halifax, and carried 83 passengers, including 30 Americans. Twenty-six of the latter were making the round trip from New York. The Stephano was valued at $400,000 when launched three years ago. She carried also a cargo of cod fish, cod fish oil and seal oil consigned to parties in the United States and South America and valued at $150,000. She had been sold to the Russian government for an ice breaker.

Submarine activities began at day light Sunday, three miles east of Nantucket lightship, when the American steamer Kansan was sighted and signalled to stop. When the submarine commander was satisfied was an American vessel he allowed her to proceed.

HOSPITAL FOR SANFORD IS NOW ASSURED

CITY COUNCIL TO APPROVE THE PLAN OF PETER MILLER

The long looked for and greatly needed hospital for Sanford is assured.

So says Dr. Oliver J. Miller who has worked unceasingly for this institution that has been one of the greatest needs in this city. Dr. Miller is now busily engaged in getting hundreds of property owners and other citizens to sign a petition that will be presented to the city council to demonstrate to them that the majority of the people here are in favor of a city hospital.

The new building will be of brick and although the plans have not been made as yet Dr. Miller assures us that the hospital will be of brick and will be ample for the needs of the city and county for many years to come.

The new building will be erected on the lots dedicated for that purpose several years ago on Magnolia and Thirteenth street and after the proposition receives the official sanction of the city council the work will proceed and in the next twelve months a fine hospital building will be added to the long list of buildings that mean a greater and better Sanford.

Who Controls the Death Rate of Sanford?

Taking the above as a subject for his Sunday evening discourse Dr. Hyman of the Baptist church delivered a very instructive and impressive sermon at the temple last Sunday evening. His text was one of the commandments, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." This text, which was made more forcible by the addition of the other commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," gave the Doctor an abundance of food for thought, and he in turn gave it out to his audience in his own manner and to the entire satisfaction of those present. The pastor of the Baptist church is delivering a number of common sense sermons and each and every one are lessons of every day life and as in this one he shows the people that they are the ones that control their own destinies. Following this line, it was shown that the people themselves control their own death rate—but the point that was made more impressive was the fact that for the "man in Christ" there was no death. That to this man the "Grave had lost its victory" and that a Christian could freely say, "O Death, where is thy sting?"

After the sermon, the doors of the church were opened for the reception of members and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Copeland came forward and asked to be received into the church on letters, showing a membership in other Baptist churches, and Mrs. E. Taylor came confessing Christ as her Savior and asked that she be received as a member of the church.

Next Sunday will be the thirty-second anniversary of the church and the third anniversary of the present pastor, and these in charge of affairs at the church intend to make this Sunday one of an all day service. In the early morning there will be sunrise prayer meeting; at 9:30 in the morning the Sunday school expects to show its appreciation by having more people in attendance than ever before, and at 11:00 the pastor will deliver a sermon; at 3:30 in the afternoon baptismal services will be held at Brison's pool; at 6:30 the three Unions will meet and at 7:30 the pastor will deliver the anniversary sermon.

Rake up, clean up, paint up. Whether it shines or rains. Plant bulbs that will grow. And lots of seed sow. For 'tis the week of the Clean-Up Campaign.

A charming group of matrons visiting Mrs. W. J. Thigpen are Mrs. W. M. Moore, Mrs. Dale Williams and Mrs. Roscoe Skipper, all of Lakeland.

AMONG THE THEATRES

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

"Anton the Terrible" Coming on Monday.

Theodore Roberts and Anita King in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "Anton the Terrible," will be the attraction at the Star Monday.

The story of this thrilling drama of Russian political intrigue was written by Jules Eckert Goodman from Thomas H. Uzell's story, and prepared for the screen by Marian Fairfax and Charles Sarver. It is a Paramount picture.

Theodore Roberts has the supreme distinction of being America's leading character actor. In his years on the stage and screen, he has been seen in many different roles, in all of which he has been ideal, but it is said that as the cruel head of the Russian secret police, "Anton the Terrible," he excels anything he has done heretofore.

The versatile and beautiful Anita King, the Paramount Girl, who recently scored such a success in her play, "The Race," founded upon her famous transcontinental automobile trip, plays the part of the young girl upon whom Anton wishes to revenge himself for her father's crime. The role is exactly suited to Miss King's appealing personality, and the Lasky Company feels that they have made a most excellent selection in co-starring these two artists.

The story which created such a sensation when it was published in the Saturday Evening Post has to do with the intrigues in the Russian General's staff shortly after the outbreak of the present European war.

Anton, although Chief of the Russian "Secret" Police, is in reality a German spy. How a clever woman, to save her lover, succeeds in trapping Anton and confronting him with his own guilt is presented in an unusual and startling manner. The scenes of the picture are laid in Petrograd and on the steppes of Siberia with more than the usual Lasky excellence.

"The Dividend"

This story revolves about the activities of a money grubbing multi-millionaire who with one hand takes from the poor and with the other gives, and whose whole motive in life is the acquisition of money and dividends for his investors.

At a stockholders' meeting he promises unprecedented dividends at the end of the fiscal year. This promise he makes good, but only through the reduction of wages and an increase in rentals on the company's tenement property.

This capitalist reaps another dividend upon which he has not counted. His son, whom he had neglected in the mad pursuit of profits, had become an opium fiend and sinks to the lowest depths of degeneracy. There are other dividends that this capitalist and his coterie of financiers had not bargained for and which could not be totaled in dollars and cents, but had totaled countless thousands of human wrecks and untold misery.

The conclusion of the story follows out the natural laws of retribution.

Celebrated Dancers Tonight at the Star Theatre

Having danced their way to fame in the European capitals and in South America, the internationally celebrated Maurice and Florence Walton are now making their motion picture debut in the Famous Players-Paramount picture "The Quest of Life," which is the attraction at the Star tonight. Ashley Miller who directed the production adapted the story from the English play "Ellen Young."

Maurice and Florence Walton have probably done more to bring the dance to its present high state of perfection and to spread its popularity than any other two people in the world. It was Maurice who introduced the Argentine tango to Europe and America after he had studied it in South America. The celebrated Apache dance, which is performed in "The Quest of Life," was also created by Maurice after he had seen the crude performance in the Apache dens of Paris. Having danced these and many other steps at the exclusive Biltmore Hotel in New York and on the stages of the leading theatres in practically all of the principal cities, this popular star can truthfully be said to have spread the gospel of metric grace all over the country.

Many are the delightful experiences which Maurice and Miss Walton have had while dancing before royalty in the European courts but perhaps their most unique and gratifying achievement was that which they accomplished in the case of Queen Mary of England.

After seeing the tango performed by several dancers of indifferent merit, Her Majesty placed an absolute ban on the dance at court and it accordingly became tabooed in London society. At a great ball given by one of the Russian dukes, Maurice and Miss Walton were invited to dance. After they had won the applause of the Queen her permission was granted to allow them to give their version of the tango.

At the completion of the dance, her majesty applauded the pair and promptly lifted the ban on the tango with the remark that she had no idea it could be performed so gracefully.

"The Quest of Life," however, is not merely a dancing picture. It is a very dramatic story of a girl of lowly parentage who is ambitious for her future. Just as she seems about to realize her dreams, the doctor declares that she has but one more year to live. In des air she determines to see as much of life as she can in that year. She is chosen to do the dance of Death with Maurice Bretton, a celebrated dancer, at a big social function and makes a hit.

John Steele.....Wm. H. Thompson
Frank Steele.....Charles Ray
Betty Brice.....Ethel Ullman
Maizie.....Margaret Thompson

John Steele is president of the Atlas Manufacturing & Realty Corporation, a huge concern which operates several factories, and owns many tenements. He promises his board of directors that the coming fiscal year will bring them the biggest dividend in the history of the business; and he at once sets to work to lower wages of factory operatives and to raise the rents of the tenements.

For his son Frank, who is anxious to enter business and be of some assistance to him, he has no time. He just gives him a generous allowance, and bids him to get into the social world and enjoy himself. Frank takes the advice, and promptly begins a fast life.

First of all, he finds a mistress in the person of Betty Brice, a victim of Steele's methods because she was a factory operative, and also a resident in one of the corporation's tenements. Frank and Betty sink from had to worse, and through a natural course of events become slaves of a drug habit.

One morning Steele finds his son smoking opium at home and drives him out. The circumstance disturbs Steele, of course; but he is so intent upon making his dividend that he throws it off with comparative ease. Frank, meanwhile, has fallen to the point where he is ready to beg, borrow or steal in order to buy enough of the drug to keep him in a continuous state of stupor. Betty has gone to ply her trade elsewhere.

Then the great day arrives when the dividend is declared. The books show an increase of $1,500,000 in the net earnings. The directors present Steele with a golden loving cup as token of their appreciation. While Steele sits thinking it all over, his door bell is rung, and some men carry in Frank, mortally wounded in a street brawl. It is the real dividend.

Feminine picture goers will find the picture a regular fashion bazaar and undoubtedly will follow it with interest.

METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Dr. Siebert Preaches Morning and Evening

The services at the Methodist church next Sunday will be conducted by the presiding elder of the Miami District. This will be the last visit of Dr. Siebert this year, this being the occasion of the fourth quarterly conference.

Reports from all the departments of the church will be given and the officers for the next year will be elected. This year is proving to be the best of the three years of the present pastorate. Two months yet remain before the annual conference, yet in many respects the report is better than was made at the end of last year.

Each week shows a great improvement in the new building. The finishing touches are being given the

GREAT CATCH BY HOY

Performed Marvelous Stunt While With Washington.

With Two Out and Two on Bases "Dummy" Ran Back and Made Miraculous Play on Ball That Had Earmarks of Safe Hit.

A baseball fan doesn't have to be very old to recall an agile outfielder named Dummy Hoy, who turned triples and home-runs into outs for a number of years while wearing the livery of the Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville teams of the National league.

At the start of the American league he was with the White Sox a short time, but he was then old, as baseball ages go, and he soon vanished from the sport page altogether.

What became of the deaf mute, who had to have the umpire's decisions on balls and strikes relayed to him by sign language by a coacher on first base?

The Times-Star of Cincinnati answers the question in an editorial, which is well worth reprinting:

"Much has been written how encountering a faded flower in an old volume calls forth youthful recollections, how a forgotten perfume will conjure up a vision of someone of years ago, how a strain of music vibrates with a memory deep in the recesses of the mind. But things other than flowers, perfumes and music can resuscitate other days. The name of an almost forgotten ball player will do it.

"The other day we read of William Hoy, a farmer near Mount Healthy, attending funeral services and translating a hymn for his fellow deaf mutes. It was 'Dummy' Hoy, former National league ball player. The mention of his name brought back the memory of probably the greatest catch ever made at the Cincinnati park, years ago, when the wooden grandstand was situated in the present position of the right-field bleachers. Hoy was playing center field for Washington. It was the final inning of a tie game that had been dragged on into twilight. With two out and two on bases a Red batsman hit the ball far over Hoy's head. Somehow in the gathering dusk Hoy accomplished the miraculous. With his exceedingly alert eyes he had divined the course of the ball, and with a whirling somersault succeeded in getting one hand on it.

"The catch was a tradition of the Cincinnati park for years, and was the cause of Hoy's release being purchased the next season from Washington. But now the park has been turned about, and new faces and new traditions have succeeded those good old days. And Hoy, the man, who never "kicked" himself out of a game, for obvious reasons, had about passed from local recollection. But it was a great catch. And even at this remote day it serves to bring back some of the youthful enthusiasm of one of its beholders."

BATTING SLUMP OF M'INNIS

For First Time in Year Average of Athletics' First Baseman is Way Below .300 Mark.

One of the baseball mysteries of the season has been the batting slump of Stuffey McInnis. For five seasons the Athletics' best baseman has been a paragon for consistent hitting. Season in and season out he has batted above the .300 mark, always around the same figures. He batted .301 in 1910, .321 in 1911, .321 in 1912, .321 in 1913, .314 in 1914 and .314 in 1915—a remarkable record for a player who will be only twenty-six years old next September. This year Stuffey has been in a fearful slump, his average being below the .200 mark.

They are saying that Danny Shay, who once played short for the Cardinals, is liable to get let out as manager of Kansas City.

THREE BALLS IN PLAY

Each Infielder Has Pill and Chases a Base Runner.

One of Most Humorous Situations Ever Witnessed on Baseball Field—Umpire Finally Straightened Things Out.

The following humorous story of the baseball field is related by Bill Speas, outfielder of the Portland team of the Pacific Coast league, and probably is one of the most humorous things witnessed on a baseball field. Incidentally, the story has been told and retold by prominent players in the two major leagues.

"You might not believe this," says Speas, "but I've got several clippings to prove it. It happened in 1906 in the Pennsylvania and Ohio league. I was playing with Mansfield, and Doc Bailey, the old-time Columbus pitcher, was doing the pitching for us. Our opponents had us beaten, about 40 to 0 when one of them hit a ball and slammed it down the right field foul line. The umpire threw in another ball, and he knocked it foul again. Then he hit one at me in left, and after breaking my neck to keep it from rolling into the next state, I got it and threw it in to the plate, only it hit the grandstand instead.

"Well, in the meantime, the fielders had recovered the foul balls and the shortstop had one running a man down between second and third, and the second baseman had the other trying to catch a man between first and second. The catcher was chasing the ball I threw in. It looked like a fire in a Chinese laundry the way everybody was running around. I was almost sick from laughing out there in left field.

"The umpire eventually ruled the foul balls out of play and held that the ball I threw at the grandstand was the right one. But that does not change the fact that there were three balls in play all at one time."

Why Multiplied Thousands. Choose the Chandler

NOTHING has been added to the price and nothing taken from the car to compensate for the higher production costs of the Chandler Six.

Before the prices asked for other cars were marked up, Chandler was the first choice of thousands of careful buyers. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that with distinct price advantage added to distinct mechanical superiority, the Chandler is first choice today of multiplied thousands.

Chandler sales for the year 1916 are setting a new big record for high grade sixes.

In the midst of extravagant claims for new and uncertain theories, the Chandler Motor, refined and perfected through three years of development, remains free from any hint of experimentation. And Chandler bodies are the most beautiful of the year.

Attractive Model for College Wear

BRANDS NO. 11514

6864

A pretty princess costume for the college girl's wardrobe, carried out in blue serge trimmed with soutache braid in the modish shades of blue and red.

The girl who is planning things pretty and practical for her academic color. Made of blue crepe Georgette, however, the underblouse will give splendid wear. The skirt is cut in two pieces and gathered at the sides. It is the slightly circular peplum adjusted at the sides in raised effect that is trimmed with braid put on in fancy design. The two bands at the lower edge of the skirt are stitched on in plain effect and may be omitted, if desired.

In medium size the costume requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch serge, 1 1/2 yard 30-inch crepe Georgette and 7 yards of braid. The lining requires 7/8 yard of material.

There are no long or tedious seams in the dress, as the cutting guide shows. The front and back gore and the back and back gore are laid on a lengthwise fold of the serge, eliminating seams here. Both styles of cuffs are shown to the left of section "F", placed on a lengthwise thread. Above these are placed the side front of the waist and the piecing. To the right of section "F" and in the space intervening between sections "F" and "G" are laid the sleeve, peplum and side back, on a lengthwise thread. The collar is placed on a lengthwise fold of the serge.

Of course, if the sleeves and collar are made of contrasting material, the same directions are used to place the pattern into proper position. The material for the lining is folded in half, the back being laid on a lengthwise fold and the front on a lengthwise thread.

As gabardine shares favor with serge for suits that are practical and dressy, it may be used for this model. Taffeta or satin instead of braid may ornament the lower edge of the skirt.

Sleeves, so far as may be gleaned at this date, are less formidable than had been feared. Where the material wardrobe has designed especially for her this princess costume of blue serge trimmed with blue and red-silk braid. The dress easily can be worn all seasons by changing the under-blouse, if it is in white or a delicate

Among the New Blouse Models.

A blouse that will appeal to both summer matron and maid is this design in canary color crepe Georgette and lace. The tab fronts may be outlined with satin.

Blouses are prettier than usual this season, as well as more numerous. One of the smartest of the new designs is pictured here, fashioned of crepe Georgette trimmed with lace and shirring. The waist may be either tucked or gathered at the shoulders, while overlooking the V-shaped neck is a flare collar of silk gauze. Anything daintier than the shirred sleeves would be hard to find.

In medium size the blouse requires 4 yards 30-inch crepe with 1/2 yard 30-inch lining and 1 1/2 yards lace 8 inches wide to trim.

Before attempting to do any thing with the waist, study the guide carefully. Then take the underbody and make it so that it can be fitted to avoid trouble with the waist proper. Trim the front and back of the underbody to crosslines of small "o" perforations. Face the front, from front edge to about 5 inches back, to form vest effect. Plait front and back at lower edge, placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations. Close under-arm and shoulder seam as notched. Turn hem at front edge of front, at notches. Center-front indicated by large "o" perforations. Adjust 2-inch belting to position underneath lower edge for a stay. Sew standing collar to neck edge as notched; large "O" perforation in collar indicates center-front.

Then tuck the front of the outer blouse, creating an slot perforations, and stitch 1/2 inch from edges; or, gather the spare, if this treatment is preferred to tucks.

Underface front edge of front, and tab end. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Gather lower edge of front and back between double "T" perforations, and 2 inches above. Bring single "T" perforation in tab to small "o" perforation and tack.

Sew collar to neck edge, notches and center-backs even.

Arrange outside on lining, center-backs and under-arm seams even; stitch gathers to position bringing large "O" perforation in tab end over large "O" perforation in lining front.

Peplum - Close center-back seam from large "O" perforation to lower edge, finish edges above for an opening. Gather upper edge between double "T" perforations. Sew to lower edge of waist, center-fronts and center-backs even, small "o" perforation at under-arm seam.

Short Sleeve - Close seam as notched. Turn hem at lower edge on small "o" perforations. From shirred tucks, creasing on crosslines of slot perforations; gather 1/2 inch from folded edges and draw to the required size. Sew in armhole as notched, small "o" perforation at shoulder-seam casing in any fullness.

As the season advances, designers come out more and more boldly in favor of open collars—that is collars rolling up against the neck in the back, but moderately low in the front. Wide, plaited trills, one or two dropping away from the deep collar, or attached to the sides in fichu effect, have returned to favor.

SCHULTE HAS UNIQUE RECORD

Veteran Chicago Outfielder Has Been Banned From Game but Once in Ten Years.

Frank Schulte, the veteran Chicago outfielder, has a unique record in baseball. He has only been put out of the game by an umpire once in ten years. Schulte would not have been banned then except for the fact that Umpire Finneran misunderstood him. The incident occurred in 1912.

Schulte was at bat, facing a situation where he was supposed to hit at any ball that came within reach. He fouled off two and was in the hole.

Frank Schulte.

The pitcher then served up a sharp breaking curve, and he let it go by for the third strike.

Frank was so mad at himself that he pounded on the plate with his bat, breaking it in two. Umpire Finneran thought Schulte was trying to indicate that he had called a bad third strike, and put him out of the game.

Trees and Plants Must Have Phosphates It's Not in the Soil, It's in NATURSOWN

Each tree in every grove and each plant in garden or field must have a certain amount of phosphorus. Citrus and vegetable growers know this statement to be a fact. Most soils are deficient in phosphorus, therefore, this plant food must be supplied. The question is which is the most efficient and economical method.

NATURSOWN Supplies All Needs

A few years ago the grower or farmer had but one recourse—the commercial product known as acid phosphate. Today, however, persistent enterprise and improved machinery have brought about the reduction of raw phosphate to particles so fine that the farmer can do his own acidulating in the soil.

NATURSOWN is a high grade phosphate, which, because of its thorough pulverization and its 32 per cent phosphoric acid content, provides trees and plants with all the phosphorus required.

Growers Have Obtained Results

In experiments made at the Maryland experiment station, it was found that raw phosphate produced higher total acreage yields than acid phosphate, and at less than half the cost.

A progressive farmer near Orlando plowed in NATURSOWN with his cover crop and made the best yield in sixteen years. Many others have secured big results with NATURSOWN.

MAXWELL Motor Cars are now equipped with a new and improved windshield, still longer and more flexible springs, wider seats, deeper and softer cushions, dashlight, gasoline gauge, and other equally important refinements.

To the generous value heretofore present in the Maxwell product, these extra improvements have now been added.

This is in line with the Maxwell policy—so widely advertised—not to change the Maxwell in any essential detail, but to continue improving it so that it will always be a standard, recognized product, constantly abreast of the best practices of the industry.

Notwithstanding the superlative and sometimes confusing claims that are made in behalf of various automobiles, we restate our sincere conviction that Maxwell Motor Cars offer more real value per dollar than any other car in the world.

This too, is the belief of the thousands and thousands of Maxwell owners. And these beliefs are supported by actual and tangible facts. We actually know that within the entire history of the automobile business, no motor car—in any class or at any price—has equalled the Maxwell in honest dollar-for-dollar value.

And if you will examine a Maxwell, ride in it, compare it with other cars, consider its splendid record, reputation and past performances, you too, will know it.

While many papers are tearing their paper shirts over the various candidates we are not losing any sleep over any of them.

Here's hoping the Central Florida Interurban Railway Co. can get the right of way and all other franchises needed for the building of the traction line through central and south Florida.

SCARED CAT

Soon after landing in Florida a prominent Tallahassee citizen informed us of much political crookedness in the state, and invited us to watch a certain state office.

If you know so much, why in the summer breeze don't you tell it and not keep us in suspense so long.

LOYAL BUT WITHOUT PRIDE

While we think enough of our word as a Democrat to go to the polls and vote for the nominee for governor, whether it be Mr. Knott or Mr. Catts, we shall not be proud to vote for the man who used the 'fighting epithet' on the public platform.

It is also not a matter of pride for the state that a man who can contend for the highest office in the land either with success or great nearness, so conducts himself in public that his own attorney feels called upon to apologize for him to the supreme court of the same state.

PSEUDO DEMOCRATS

There are many so called Democrats here in Sanford who take a great interest in the Democratic Primary election, attempting to dictate the policy of the party to us and then in the general election voting for a Republican presidential nominee and mayhap for the Republican state officers.

people. They butt in every time a primary is held and do all the talking, and then go back on their solemn oath to support the Democratic nominee and vote the Republican ticket.

We grant every man a perfect right to his own opinions and his political preference, but we have no patience with the traitors to the party, be they Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists or what not.

THE GEORGIA WAY

The democracy of Florida may learn a lesson from the primary system in vogue in our sister state of Georgia.

On Tuesday there was an enthusiastic, old-time Democratic convention held at Macon, Ga.

This convention nominated a ticket and enunciated a platform. The candidates nominated were those who had already been selected in a primary by the people; the platform simply defined Democratic principles and policies.

There was enthusiasm of the old time Democratic sort and when the delegates returned to their various homes they carried great waves of this enthusiasm with them.

The convention unifies; it heals sore spots; it binds up the wounds inflicted in the primary skirmish; it makes the pathway to political duty smooth.

It would do the same thing in Florida were we to adopt the Georgia system of primary nominations.

Here the Democratic cohorts have not been together in convention in over sixteen years. We are becoming strangers to each other and in our intercourse as strangers are becoming suspicious one of the other.

Why not have the primary and convention, both? Why not seek out a method that will give coherency to our estranged Democratic parties?

There is widespread dissatisfaction with the workings of our present primary law and the next legislature is sure to repeal it altogether for a simpler form or tear it to pieces so that its parents will never recognize it.

In that state, as we understand the law, the Democratic electors vote for their several candidates for particular offices, and each county has a certain number of delegates who at a later date attend a state convention and carry out the wishes of the voter as expressed in the primary.

There is no use longer to disguise the fact that the democracy of Florida is torn and bleeding. There is no well defined system of party work, principles of democracy are being forgotten through neglect of their repeated enunciation.

Frequent conventions made up of the best brains of the party and the frequent threshing out of state questions, would bring Democrats who are now estranged together as one body so that they could join in the old Methodist hymn and apply it to Democratic politics.

We are all united, All one body we, One in faith and doctrine, One in charity.

The News commends the Georgia plan to the next legislature of Florida as worthy of careful consideration.—Palatka News.

A number of unprincipled, pope owned papers are harping upon the story that Cyclone Mitchell was drowned out in his speech by Catts followers at Sanford, when he tried to speak there.

FARMERS' DAY

Governor's Proclamation Calls Attention to the Day

Acting under authority granted by the last state legislature, Governor Park Trammell has set aside one day as "Farmers' Day" in Florida, the proclamation designating Friday, October 13, as such day.

Whereas, the Florida legislature at its last session recognizing the great importance of agriculture and its inestimable value to the very life and permanency of our state and the nation, and as a well merited and deserving tribute to our farmers, set aside and designated a certain day in each year as a legal holiday to be known as Farmers' Day, and;

Whereas, it is proper that all citizens imbued with public spirit and with regard for the future advancement of our state and our country, as well as for the material interest of the particular section in which they live, should be zealous and untiring in the promotion of all movements to benefit our varied agricultural, horticultural and trucking industries, and;

Whereas, it is desirable that Farmers' Day become generally observed and celebrated throughout the state, and that appropriate public assemblages be planned at which proper recognition shall be extended to our farmers, and encouragement offered to these of our citizens who form the basic strength of the nation's economic greatness, its progress and power, and who are potent factors in the political and social life of our republic;

Now, therefore, I, Park Trammell, governor of the state of Florida, do hereby publish and proclaim and respectfully call upon and urge the people of Florida to arrange for the celebration of said day in a manner appropriate to and commensurate with the importance of such day.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1916

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Florida to be affixed at Tallahassee, the capital, this 30th day of September, A. D. 1916.

PARK TRAMMELL, Governor.

By the Governor attest: H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of State.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as mayor, I hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 9 as Clean Up Week and admonish all of our citizens to cooperate in endeavoring to bring about better conditions.

Progress in Southeast

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 4.—The Industrial Index says in its issue for this week:

"September exports from the port of Savannah, Ga., amounted to approximately $7,000,000, which was the heaviest for many months.

"A gain of $34,217,608 was made in the September clearings of banks of Atlanta, Ga., as compared with the total of September of last year.

"Clearings of banks of Columbia, S. C., for September reached a new high figure, and there was a gain of 100 per cent in the September clearings of banks of Augusta, Ga., as compared with last September.

The construction of more buildings was begun in September in Miami, Fla., than ever before in a month, extensive building operations having been in progress in Miami for some time.

"A large amount of timber near Jasper, Ala., has been purchased and will be manufactured into lumber.

"Sixteen corporations were formed in the week with minimum capital stocks aggregating $989,500.

These are some of the items of news for the week that reflect the widespread activity and the great volume of business in the southeast. A large amount of construction work is in progress and many contracts of importance are being awarded.

A BANK'S VALUE
To the community is measured, not by the amount of money owed to its depositors, but by the manner in which their funds are used.
If hoarded up under plea of conservatism and used only to pile up profits for its stockholders, it is as useless to the community as any miser.
If loaned to its customers, upon approved security, and to all the taxpayers through purchase of the communities' bonds, it is doing its duty and exemplifying its right to be called a "financial" institution.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Woman's Club "Power is the great goal of ambition, and it is only through a noble character that one can arrive at a personality strong enough to move men."

Club Calendar Tuesday, Oct. 10 Social department. Mrs. Roy Symes, hostess. Bridge and Five Hundred.

Wednesday, Oct. 11—Literature department. Map Study. All members, conducted by Mrs. A. D. Kelly.

Business Meeting The first meeting of the Woman's Club was large attended and was marked by an enthusiastic interest.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring president, Mrs. J. W. Dickins. Mrs. Dickins has served the club faithfully and loyally for three years, winning for herself a warm place in the hearts of her co-workers. With gracious and appropriate remarks she gave the reins of government into the hands of the new presiding officer, Mrs. Ernest Galloway. Gracefully the trust was accepted and amid the applause of the assembled company Mrs. Galloway took the chair, presiding throughout the meeting with ease and dignity. If the plans outlined for the coming year are successfully developed, the club will have one of the busiest years of its short existence and the start off is most encouraging. Reports from the officers of the club were submitted, the department chairmen stating briefly the aim of their respective department. In response to a request from the board of education, through Mr. S. Runge, made several months ago, a school committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the board on matters pertaining to the welfare of the schools. The committee are Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, Mrs. R. J. Holly and Miss Annie Hawkins. The president announced that the slogan for the year would be "pay off the club house debt" and to this end a recommendation was made to divide the club membership into six teams, the purpose of each team being to raise one hundred dollars or more on the debt. The recommendation was adopted to be referred to each department. The four departments will each represent a team; the young unmarried members, the sixth team and the first team will be the executive board of the club. The president's address follows, that members who lost the privilege of this first meeting may enjoy in part the pleasure and interest of those who attended.

President's Address "Your new presiding officer comes to her work with fear and trembling but if the year's work is to be carried with success and glory it will be due to the splendid foundation laid by our beloved retiring president. Under many trying circumstances and conditions and a busy life outside of clubdom she has brought the club to this splendid working basis. It would take much time to tell of all the work she and her board have accomplished. May the new board and members do half as well. We are fortunate in having a constitution that gives us a few officers from the old board to work with the new.

Our first vice president, Mrs. Deane Turner needs no introduction, as her work in the past has been so efficient that we all know what to expect this year. Your new president is counting largely on her aid. Mrs. May Dickins, while new in this present position of second vice president and chairman of membership is not new to club work, as she was third vice president at one time and ever an enthusiastic, faithful club member and this very diplomatic position is occupied by a diplomatic, capable person.

We now come to our third vice president, who was re-elected to her position and is chairman of the program committee. The new year book that you have with you today is the work of Mrs. Symes and her committee. This very busy person is ever ready to serve in any way she can. We regret the absence today of our efficient secretary but word comes from her she is enjoying her vacation and will return to us by the November meeting.

We are told that people of greatness who have occupied positions of note, are not belittling themselves by occupying places not quite so much in the limelight. Our new corresponding secretary is such a person and has shown her greatness by accepting this work in order to give of her experience to this new board. It gives me pleasure to present our beloved past president and new corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Dickins.

Mrs. Geo. Fox, our capable treasurer is also absent and we shall anticipate her early return. The Literature department derived so much pleasure and benefit last year from their chairman, who is also their leader this year that I feel little I could say would half tell of the capabilities of Mrs. Phillips.

The Music department is indeed fortunate in having such a capable person as Mrs. Tolar for its leader. In her work as secretary of the club at large, the first year of its organization we found her ever ready, ever faithful, ever efficient. In addition to these qualities, her ability as a musician peculiarly fits her for this new work of chairman of music and we are looking forward to renewed life and interest in this department.

The pleasure side of our club life, the Social department has for its chairman a new worker but as she has all the qualities that go to make up what a social leader needs, we shall look for a splendid year's work in that department under Mrs. C. E. Henry's management.

"We come now to the "last but not least," our Welfare officer. This department is the real vital force of our club and through it we leave our imprint on the things for our town. By this department is our club known and our influence felt. In Mrs. W. E. Watson we have no stranger in person or club work as she has filled and is capable of filling any position to which she is called.

Your president feels with this able corps of officers and a splendid working membership the year's work will be one of success for the town, the club and the home."

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Birthday Party The home of Mrs. R. L. Griffin was the scene of much merriment and festivity on occasion of the eighth birthday of her daughter, Emily.

A bevy of daintily dressed little friends, bearing beautiful gifts for their little hostess arrived at 3 p. m. and not with standing the inclemency of the weather which made it necessary for the little folks to play indoors they had a royal good time.

Many games were thoroughly enjoyed and amid much happy laughter the donkey's tail was finally pinned in place by Frances King. The prize awarded for this feat, a box of delicious chocolates was happily received.

After this the little ones were ushered into the dining room, most beautifully decorated with pink vine and asparagus plumosa. In the center of the snowy damask table cover was placed a large cut glass bowl of peachblossom hibiscus. At each end of the table was a large cake and in pink surrounded by ferns and love vine. Around the table were placed little pink and white baskets tied with ribbon bows and heaped with home made candies. Ice cream with chocolate dainties and Pric Heart cake was then served by Lillian Shinholser and Olive Newman, after which the birthday cake was cut, the dime becoming the property of Joseph O'Connor. With best wishes for a happy birthday the little guests departed with the candy filled favors, having thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon.

Those present were Frances King, Olive Reston, Irma Smith, Margaret Peters, Sara Evelyn Williams, Olive Newman, Emily Bailey, Vera West, Margaret Sholley, Lillian Shinholser, Theodora Miller, Corinne and Beryl Steinmeyer, Margaret Miller, Mary Fields, Mary Elizabeth Moyer, Maria Moyer, Lucille Pope, Emily Griffin, R. E. Griffin, Beatrice O'Connor, Billie Gillen, Claude Robson, William Gillen, Kermit Hurley, James Hayes, Brinson Hoolehan, Frederick Williams, Forest McAllister, Pierce Griffin, Paul O'Connor and Joseph O'Connor. Assisting Mrs. Griffin was Mrs. T. L. O'Connor.

Priscilla Club

The Priscillas were pleasantly entertained with several other friends at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. E. Pace yesterday afternoon. Fancy work and pleasant conversation whiled away a delightful two hours. A delicious salad course was served at the refreshment hour. Enjoying the charming hospitality of Mrs. Pace were Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. W. W. Long, Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. Henry McLaughlin, Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, Mrs. Richard Pattin, Mrs. Geo. Speer, Mrs. A. L. Speer, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff and Mrs. Terheun.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pattin celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary with a charming dinner party at the Hotel Carnes on Saturday last. Guests of the happy young bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams and Mrs. A. E. Hill.

Death of Mrs. C. H. Lefler

The many friends of Mrs. C. H. Lefler were shocked last Friday to learn of her death which occurred at

MRS. GRACE E. WILLIAMS Is Receiving every week New Goods—Latest Styles in MILLINERY NOVELTIES AND TRIMMINGS 106 East First Street Next to McCullers

Dallas, Texas on that date. Mrs. Lefler had been ill for the past year and it was thought that by going to Dallas and being under the treatment of her brother who was a physician a change for the better would take place, but the disease had made such inroads upon her health that she could not withstand the trip and died shortly after her arrival. Mr. Lefler accompanied her to Dallas and afterward to her old home at Marion, Kentucky where the funeral occurred last Monday.

Mrs. Lefler had been a resident of this city for the past twelve years, coming here from Kentucky as the bride of Mr. C. H. Lefler and in the true Kentucky manner made friends by the score. Mrs. Lefler never turned a deaf ear to the afflicted and needy and her charitable spirit found her ever ready to assist in every good work. She was a devout Christian and active member of the Presbyterian church and was beloved by everyone. The sympathy of the Sanford people goes out to the husband and relatives of the deceased.

Saw Homestead Robbers

Norman Bauman, the popular travelling representative of the Goodrich Tire Co., of Akron, Ohio, is in the city today and in conversation said he was in Homestead the day the bank robbery occurred. He knew nothing of the robbery until he was across the street from the bank and saw the cashier shooting at the robbers as they made a hurried exit from the town in an auto. The cashier fired several shots at the fleeing robbers and hit the car several times. The car probably had Goodrich tires on it, which accounts for the fact that none of the shots took effect on the tires. Mr. Bauman is thinking seriously of making Sanford his headquarters and Sanford will be glad to have him and Mrs. Bauman as future citizens. He is an old school mate of the editor of The Herald, which is one of the reasons why he would like to live here. The other reason is that Sanford is well located and appeals to him from a commercial standpoint.

B. Y. P. U. Party

The members of the Flake Union, with a number of their friends, enjoyed a real "old fashioned" social in the parlors of the Baptist Temple Friday evening. The hostesses, Misses Lucille Rines and Marion Gove had arranged the rooms in an unusually attractive manner, using quantities of variegated caladium leaves effectively. Not one dull moment was experienced, while such lively, laughable games as "spin the platter" and "musical chairs" passed the hours away. Everybody was happy sure enough when the doors to the dining room were thrown open, and beneath rose tinted lights were beheld beautifully decorated tables, laden with delicious ice cream and many, many tempting pieces of cake.

At a late hour, when the table was bare and the president, Mrs. Kennedy had called time, adieux were said, each one wishing that B. Y. P. U. parties came more often, and that Miss Rines and Miss Gove were always the hostesses.
