NEW BUILDING BILL PASSES UPPER HOUSE

Administration Leaders Take Steps To Work Out Harmony Program For Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—The emergency public improvements appropriation was passed yesterday by the Senate administration leaders undertook new steps for a harmony relief program.

The Senate struck from the bill the provision giving President Hoover a free hand in the use of the fund, on motion of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader. This and other amendments, including an addition of $5,000,000 to the $110,000,000 voted by the House, require consideration of the legislation by the House.

The huge fund to be spent on a vast public improvements program throughout the nation will become available immediately upon enactment and final congressional approval is expected by early next week at the latest. Opponents of the legislation assert it will give immediate employment to hundreds.

As the Democratic storm in the Senate against Hoover's demoralization of those advocating added relief measures subsided, the Republicans went into conference to seek some manner of harmony and co-operation. Some held the view (Continued On Page Two)

World Court Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Senate members on the World Court agreed yesterday that it could not be disposed of at this session but a division developed among its friends whether to urge a special session of the Senate.

As the chief of the Senate in the impending contest considered a program, word was passed out by the court foes that a new check up led them to count at least 23 votes in opposition. This was 11 more than voted against entry five years ago and is near the one-third necessary to defeat ratification. Friends of the court said they were optimistic.

At the same time President Hoover entertained Secretary Stimson and Ellhu Root, who helped to draft the revised formula to meet the objection of other nations to the Senate's reservation adopted five years ago.

It is the intention of the court advocates to have Mr. Root, a former secretary of state, appear before the foreign relations committee to explain the modified proposal.

While many Republicans are opposed to reporting the protocol from the foreign relations committee now, less it precipitate an extra session, there are apparently enough votes to get an early report.

Chairman Borah, although an opponent of American participation, said he wants to have the protocol reported. Senator Brewster (D. Va.), a leader of the court opponents, likewise wants the committee to put the issue before the Senate at this session, he said.

Secretary Admits Huge Defalcations

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12—(AP)—Charles Whitmore, building loan commissioner, announced today defalcations totaling several million dollars from the Guaranty Building Loan Association admitted in a written confession by Gilbert Hennessey, 25, its secretary. The manager of the directors association said Hennessey's misappropriations over a five-year period might aggregate $2,000,000. They were said to have affected not only the association in which he was a 55 percent stockholder but also the North American Bond and Mortgage Company and the Guaranty Building Corporation both of Los Angeles. Hennessey was arrested today.

PORT MYERS—E. T. Henning reported Royal Palm Harbor's station on Saturday beyond Everglades.

Senator Overman Of North Carolina Dies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—A sudden illness today took from the Senate one of its oldest and most highly regarded members. Lee Slater Overman of North Carolina died of an internal hemorrhage after a short illness. He was 76 years old and spent 22 years in the Senate chamber. He will be given a state funeral at 8 o'clock. Arrangements for services will be completed at the Capital this morning. Afterwards his body will be placed aboard a train and taken to Salisbury, the senator's home, for burial tomorrow afternoon.

DRYS TOLD WHY THEY SHOULD BE IN FAVOR OF POLL

Referendum Is Seen As Means Of Adding Strength To Cause

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—An outline of the reasons why the drys should favor a prohibition referendum came last night as wet and dry advocates left the capital after agreements upon their respective plans.

Patrick H. Callahan of Louisville, secretary of the association of Catholics favoring prohibition, said in a statement a group of prohibition leaders believed a referendum would prove the country dry, and after such confirmation violators would see they would remain outside the law all their lives unless they observed it. The anti-prohibitionists had agreed upon a government liquor dispensary plan and the drys left behind them an enlarged board of strategy to work out a program for the 1932 Presidential campaign.

Prohibition Director Woodcock, meanwhile, made known plans for organizing his corps of dry agents on an efficiency rating system, comparable to that of the Army. Woodcock said he would like to see prohibition "disappear entirely" from the front pages of the newspapers.

It was his experience, he said, that sensational raids upon saloons and citizen non-commercial violators generally were productive of small results and that he favored a continuance of a steady pressure the year round. He said he contemplated no special concentration of agents during coming weeks.

Callahan said the leaders favored (Continued On Page Three)

Championship Match May Be Played Here

Sanford's diamond-ball fans may soon see games of real championship caliber if plans which are now being made by E. H. Callum, president of the local diamond-ball league, are successfully carried out.

Two of the leading teams in the state, the J. B. A. C. and the City Garage, both of Jacksonville Beach, will play a double-header on Sunday afternoon upon which hinges the championship of the Jacksonville Beach league. According to information from that city, much interest has been added to the outcome of the games because of the fact that the Sanford Association has already issued a challenge to the winners for a series of games to be played in Sanford under the newly installed floodlights.

Both teams have expressed their willingness to meet the Sanford team, it is reported, and it is quite probable that a series will be arranged. Further announcements will be made later.

LOVE AFFAIR IS HIGH LIGHT IN MAJOR'S TRIAL

Star Defense Witness Grilled Concerning Her Relation With U. S. Army Officer

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 12—(AP)—Miss Grace Brandon, star witness for the government in the murder trial of Major Charles M. Shepard today underwent a grilling by the defense attorneys in an affair with the elderly army medical officer.

Harry Glass, Denver attorney for Shepard, led off with questions about Shepard's first meeting with the girl, a San Antonio stenographer, for the love of whom the major is charged with poisoning his wife. The questioning dealt largely with the officer's and girl's relations and correspondence after he was transferred to Fort Riley, Kansas where his wife died about a year later.

Between bursts of tears, the San Antonio, Tex., girl related details of her love affair with the elderly major, and listened to the reading of ardent missives which he sent her along with a shower of gifts.

It was a story of an affair that began more than seven months before Mrs. Shepard's death and continued afterwards with an engagement and plans for a honeymoon until government agents stepped in with the arrest of Shepard at Denver last March.

Postmaster Urges 5 Per Cent Jump In Rates

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Postmaster General Tilton yesterday urged adoption of the 5 per cent increase in parcel post rates proposed by Postmaster General Brown to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He issued a statement saying the Post Office Department was helpless to deal with the deficit. Major expenditures of the postal service, he said, are almost entirely beyond control of the Post Office Department, the basis of expenditures being fixed by Congress and salaries by law.

Intensive studies in economics, he declared, had shown that "even the most drastic measures in that direction" could not overcome a major portion of the loss.

The theory of eliminating the deficit by increasing volume of business is untenable, he argued, since "it would probably necessitate an increase of 50 to 75 per cent in the volume to overcome the $18,570,000" and would be "in direct competition with other methods of transportation operated for profit."

"Any new schedule of parcel post rates," he said, "should be in the form of a scientific adjustment, based upon actual cost of the service with due consideration for what the traffic will bear."

Drastic Action May Be Taken In France In Ministerial Crisis

PARIS, Dec. 12—(AP)—France began to wonder today while they were being sought more time to form his cabinet whether President Doumergue will not eventually resort to the drastic expedient of dissolving parliament as a solution to the ministerial crisis which has dragged along more than a week.

The precedent for such action dates back to 1877 when the famous Marshal MacMahon dissolved the chamber as the third president of the republic. It hasn't been done since then but the younger generation believes a dissolution doesn't involve some of the dangers which MacMahon's action was regarded as coup d'etat. Doumergue, however, undoubtedly would hesitate to resort to drastic action.

BAPTISTS PLEAD FOR HARD DRIVE ON LAWLESSNESS

Re-Affirm Confidence In Validity Of Prohibition Amendment

TAMPA, Dec. 12—Resolutions expressing confidence in the Eighteenth Amendment as the best method yet proposed to control the liquor traffic and calling on every Baptist in Florida to "cry aloud and spare not" in combating vice and lawlessness, were adopted by the state Baptist convention at its closing session here Wednesday night.

The resolutions follow: "Whereas vice presents itself deeply entrenched in organized society, commanding much of the public press, being supported by a large aggregation of capital and sustained by a well laid organization with the avowed purpose to break down the safeguards of society for financial purposes and selfish ends;

"Therefore be it resolved that the convention call upon the churches to appeal to their people to sustain the law, to walk circumspectly, cry aloud, and spare not in defense of state, church and home.

"Whereas there is an organized attempt to defeat the Eighteenth Amendment and to make unprofitable all law for enforcement of the amendment, therefore be it resolved:

"That we reaffirm our confidence in the validity of the Eighteenth Amendment as the best method yet proposed to control the liquor traffic, and further:

"We call upon our people to give their loyal support to the enforcement and obedience to the law.

"And also we petition our political leaders to select men for public office who not only support the Eighteenth Amendment by practice but will enforce it if elected." (Continued On Page Two)

Light Demands On Santa Claus Made By Children In Letters Sent Today

Santa Claus will have an easy time disposing of five requests which were made of him today, for he will have to stop at only two homes to deliver gifts to his young friends. Four of the young members of the Steinmeyer family wrote to Santa Claus in his letter yesterday in care of The Sanford Herald, and their letters are being forwarded to the genial gentleman today.

When the Christmas editor called him on the telephone this morning, he said that he would make a special trip out on route two sometime this week to see if the youngsters really deserved the gifts they ask for. He added that if he learned that they had not even good children during the year, he might have to pass them by, but that he would give them one more chance during the few days before Christmas to be good young people. Velma K. Steinmeyer writes:

JURY IS STILL OUT IN VICKERY MURDER TRIAL

Case Goes To Jurors At 1 O'clock After 2-Day Testimony By Several Witnesses

At a late hour today the jury of 12 which had retired at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon to render a verdict in the case of the State of Florida versus John Wickery, charged with murder in the first degree, had not made its report. The case was the first of two murder cases which were on the criminal dock at the regular last term of Judge Wallace W. Witzel's 23rd Judicial Circuit court. State Attorney Millard H. Smith, of this city, handled the prosecution for the State.

Concluding the testimony of all witnesses, including that of the defendant, just before noon today, court re-convened at 1:30 this afternoon. State Attorney Smith began his argument at that time and continued for slightly less than an hour. He reviewed the testimony of each of the witnesses, reconstructed the crime and its commission as he saw it based on the evidence, and declared that in his opinion the jury could bring in no other verdict than one of guilty. He drew particular attention to the fact that it appeared hardly possible that a man weighing only 110 pounds and a cripple, as was Beal, should or would attack an armed man who was at least 25 pounds heavier than he was, and much taller, as was Vickery, and he declared (Continued On Page 2)

EXTRAVAGANCE IS SEEN AS REASON FOR DEPRESSION

Arthur Curtis James Gives Opinion Upon Return From Cruise

MIAMI, Dec. 12—(AP)—Prosperity will return to the nation only if the cause of depression has been removed, seven years ago Arthur Curtis James, New York railroad capitalist said yesterday on his arrival from a Mediterranean cruise.

"The nation went on an extravagance drunk for seven years, and it is only natural that there should be a reaction," he asserted. "Every nation of Europe, with the exception of France, is suffering from financial and business slumps, he continued.

"In France, a thrifty people has placed the nation on a precarious basis," the capitalist continued.

"The present urge to spend freely in order to stimulate the return of prosperity is futile in most instances. People who have money can not spend anything," Mr. James said.

"Business slumps and depressions always have ended, and there is no reason why the present one should not die down when it runs its course. I am in no position to say when that will be."

"Altogether," said newspaperman, "the nation has not made enough into passenger traffic revenue of railroads."

"An unworkable system of steamship operations has cut railroad freight revenues heavily," he asserted. "I am much in favor of a commission to govern and regulate steamship rates, by such a way as the Interstate Commerce Commission now operates to adjudicate rate differences for rail carriers."

Business Proceeds As Usual In Havana Under Martial Law

FIRE LAST NIGHT BURNS SOME OF CITY EQUIPMENT

Spectacular Blaze Is Put Under Control After 2-Hour Fight

As a result of the most spectacular fire here in months, the City of Sanford was last night the loser of about $500 worth of property, composed of buildings, wagons, harness, and general supplies which were located on Sixth Street and Cedar Avenue, the site of the city pound.

Flames, which were at least 50 feet high, and which had attracted many hundreds of spectators, greeted all the members of the Fire Department who answered the call in both the trucks. Most of the damage had been done before the arrival of the firemen. However, several lines of high-pressure water, which were connected to hydrants in the vicinity, and after a stubborn battle, the fire was put down and the City Inspector, immediately adjoining the burning buildings was saved.

According to Willis Dixon, caretaker of the pound, at about 1 o'clock last night a negro named Walter Clark, the regular night driver of a garbage wagon, running in the long shed which, running the length of the lot, housed six other wagons, and the old, obsolete truck which he used in his nightly work. Clark was said to have been filling the gasoline tank under the front seat of the truck, and was using the light from a lantern, when he was guided by him in pouring the gasoline into the tank. Suddenly there was a burst of flames, according to Clark, and he jumped from the wagon only a few seconds before an explosion occurred.

By the time he had reached the caretaker's house, some 50 feet away, Clark said flames were spreading rapidly. He called the Fire Department at once, and he and Dixon returned to the yard and released several head of mules which were in an adjoining stable. Because of the rapid spread of the flames, and the intensity of the heat, the two men were unable to (Continued on page Two)

Problems Of Cities Discussed At Meet Of Municipal Heads

WINTER PARK, Dec. 12—The Florida League of Municipalities was characterized at one of the most outstanding and influential organizations in Florida by Col. W. E. Kay, general solicitor of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, who presided over a banquet of the organization held in Winter Park here last night in connection with the semi-annual convention.

"The evident growth of the league since my personal acquaintance with the organization and its officials is amazing and praiseworthy," Col. Kay said. "The city of Florida," he said, "is today being directed by a new and greater future beyond the highest expectations of its citizens, through the work of the league."

Delegates heard reports in practically all lines of city government affairs, ranging from accounting to beautification and including fire fighting, taxation, and employment. Yesterday's feature address, however, was made by Judge Cary D. Landis, of Deland, who declared that "stability of cities to meet bonded indebtedness does not constitute repudiation."

The session opened with John H. Jones, Pensacola, president of the league, presiding. Mayor F. W. Cady of Winter Park made a brief address of welcome, and Mayor H. J. Lehman of Sanford replied for the league.

Chicago's Gangland Warfare Is Renewed

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—(AP)—A fusillade of shots and the roar of an automobile motor signaled the apparent resumption today of gangland warfare, prevalent for a month or more. Two well dressed victims, both shot to death, were identified by police as Rudolph Mareno, 21 and John Thomsen, twenty-eight.

A lonely highway in the Evergreen Park district was the scene of their assassination. A woman guest of a truck farmer nearby heard the shots and the roar of an automobile engine. A few minutes later, a resident of Evergreen Park, on his way home, found the bodies.

FLYVER FLIERS AT MIAMI MIAMI, Dec. 12—(A.P.)—Edward Wingerter and Joseph Jones, attempting a New Youth-South America flight in a two-engine airplane, arrived here from Vera Beach yesterday. They plan to leave a day or so for Havana.

Many Rumors Buzzing That Machado Will Resign Presidency; Disorders Increase

HAVANA, Dec. 12—(AP)—Cuba went about its business today with no outward signs that the constitution had been suspended. Police remained in charge and there has been no necessity for calling out troops although the country is virtually under martial law. Street gatherings are forbidden largely as a result of yesterday's disturbances at which many arrests were made and one man was killed.

Today police arrested the editor and Art Director Karikato of a weekly publication on charges growing out of a cartoon in its current issue. As serious as the political situation is to all Cubans, the country is anxious for a speedy return to peace in view of the approach of the tourist season.

Amid rumormongering that the city that he soon would resign, President Machado yesterday suspended constitutional guarantees throughout the whole of Cuba.

This is tantamount to martial law and is similar to the suspension decreed in Havana and (Continued On Page Six)

Bronze Wreath Is Carried In Plane To Town In Colombia

MIAMI, Dec. 12—(AP)—A bronze wreath, presented in New York Wednesday to President Juan T. Triunfo, of Pan-American Airways, will be carried by airplane from Miami to Santa Marta, Colombia, to honor Simon Bolivar, liberator of Colombia.

Pan-American officials said the wreath will be carried by passenger plane from Miami to Cristobal, and from there to Santa Marta by another plane. The presentation ceremony was made by a committee whose membership included the United States general in the United States of Colombia, Venezuela, Bolivia, Panama and Peru, and officials of the Pan-American Society.

A gold and attached by the offering sent from one republic to another, bears the following inscription:

"From North to South, across the clear skies of free America, a group of citizens of the United States, Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Panama, send this homage of respect to memory of the Liberator, Simon Bolivar, New York in San Pedro Alejandrino 1800-Dec. 17, 1830."

Representatives of the City of Miami will participate in the transfer Saturday of the wreath from the train bearing it here from New York to the airplane.

President Olaya Herrera of Colombia will receive the wreath and place it on the nose where Bolivar died, using company officials said.

ROCKNE AND HIS TEAM ARE GIVEN RECORD OVATION

Thousands Battle In Chicago Station To View Aggregation

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Knute Rockne and his famous Notre Dame troupe of footballers came back to their home stadium grounds again Wednesday to receive probably the noisiest double-barreled ovation ever bestowed on an athletic team.

Thousands of people fought and jostled to get a glimpse of the national football champions as they paraded through Chicago streets; the entire citizenry of South Bend and the entire student body of Notre Dame crowded the station at they entered the city.

It was as the tired Rockne remarked when it was all over: "We thought we had been through some great lines on the football field this year, but the lines we and the police had to break today had 'em all beat."

It took the players, coaches and others connected with the Notre Dame party fully 20 minutes to fight through the large crowd that jammed the concourse of the La Salle street station.

The crowd overwhelmed the victory procession. Frank Carroll, the ingenious Notre Dame field general, got lost in the crush and escaped to safety only by pulling his sweater over his head and playing possum.

The South Bend station was packed around for a radius of six blocks.

Father Charles I. O'Donnell, S. C., president of the university; Capt. Adam Walsh, of the famous Notre Dame "four horsemen" crew of 1924; Johnny Law, captain of the undefeated 1929 eleven; and Rockne himself gave rousing speeches in the packed gymnasium.

"We're so proud of you boys we find it hard to express our happiness and gratitude," Father O'Donnell said. "We've had great football teams here at Notre Dame and great men, but we all take our hats off to you—probably the greatest team in our school's glorious history."

Rockne, worn out and almost on the verge of collapse, gave one of his witty talks as the large gymnasium rocked to its steel girders with applause.

SPORT BRIEFS

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Bullfighters of the south's gridiron machines will assemble here Thursday to discuss affairs of common interest.

Preceding the annual meeting of the Southern conference at Chapel Hill Friday and Saturday, the coaches will hold their yearly meeting. Reservations for 45 members had been booked yesterday, representing 30 institutions.

Some of the coaches will come from Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association schools, others from the conference, and still others from non-affiliated institutions. On Thursday's list of reservations, Alabama, V. P. L. Washington and Lee, Auburn, South Carolina, Sewanee, Mississippi A. and M., and Louisiana State, all of the conference were missing.

Conference coaches will gather at Chapel Hill Friday for the annual meeting of the Southern conference. H. A. A. officials will assemble at Memphis Monday and Tuesday.

Thursday night Chuck Collins, University of North Carolina head coach, will welcome the coaches, while President W. J. Hatfield, of V. M. L., will preside.

Other speakers will include W. A. Alexander, president of the American Football Coaches' Association; W. J. Stegeman, A. B. Hutchens, and Dan McQuiggin of Vanderbilt, dean of southern gridiron mentors.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Believing their coaches' pessimistic outlook, the Navy regulars fore off consistent gains against the "B" squad equipped with Army formations Wednesday in the final hard scrimmage session in preparation for the charity meeting with the Cadets in New York on Saturday.

Bill Ingram, the Navy coach, professed to hold little hope for a Middle victory.

Navy backs had success with several new plays designed to piece the Cadet defense formations, but the "B" squad had its turn when, using Army attack methods, they plunged for gains through the regular line.

Ingram fears the light weight of his backs will be the deciding factor. Only one man on the backfield he proposes to use weights over 105.

WEST POINT, Dec. 11.—(AP)—With the entire corps of Cadets, officers of the post and their wives massed around the practice field, the Army football team ran through another snappy drill Wednesday in preparation for the charity game with the Navy in New York Saturday.

King and Messinger, capable ends who have been on the injured list, were back in the lineup and Major Ralph L. Nassar, head coach, appeared encouraged at the condition of his squad.

The Army team again put on its version of the Navy attack, scrimmage at full speed with Nassar's three varsity teams. Its secondary defense of the Army regulars was kept busy and had considerable difficulty in stopping the Middle aerial attack. A long pass defense drill for the varsity backs followed the scrimmage.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Blocking and tackling were stressed here Thursday as Alabama went through another practice in preparation for the Rose Bowl game New Year's day with Washington State.

LIVELY BALL AND SHORT FENCES IS ASSURED SPORT

Baseball Parley Now In Session Considers Angles Of Game

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Activity among players reached a new high yesterday in the major league meetings, a promise of peace appeared in the complicated draft controversy with the minors, and the era of prosperity, brought in by the lively ball and short fences, was guaranteed a future as rosy as its past.

For hours the magnates of the National and American Leagues sat in conference, first in a committee meeting with nine representatives of the International and Pacific Coast Leagues and the American Association to discuss the draft, then in regular business sessions of the leagues. Down in the lobby of the hotel, players and managers talked with managers about jobs and accomplished more in an hour than the magnates did all day.

Wally Schang and Cy Perkins, veteran catchers, added to the unemployment situation by Connie Mack of the Athletics, talked into jobs. Wally with the Detroit Tigers and Perkins with the New York Yankees. Joe Dugan, once the third base ace of baseball and the Yankees, came to a tentative agreement with the Tigers as a utility man.

John McGraw of the New York Giants reached back into the past and found old Chief Bender, once a pitching star on Connie Mack's great teams, at another end. He offered him a job as a scout. At the same time McGraw reached an agreement with George Burns, once a Giant outfielder, to replace "Irish" Meusel as a coach here. Jack Quinn, one of the last of the spitballers, was around seeking pitching work with the Brooklyn Robins but accomplished little.

Two first basemen, George Siler of the Boston Braves, and Lou Blue of the Browns, were reported to have been given opportunities by their management to better themselves if possible. Siler discussed a coaching job with the Tigers but Blue wound up the day talking salary differences with his own club.

The trade wind failed to stir but there were rumors aplenty. The Red Sox were reported to have offered First Baseman Phil Tait to Cleveland for Johnny Hodapp and Billy Evans laughed and laughed. The Washington Senators would like outfielder Reynolds from the White Sox and give them a choice of two of the following players: Joe Kubel, rookie first baseman; Buddy Meyer, infielder, and Rump Hadley, rookie pitcher. Hadley and an outfielder were pointed to the White Sox First Baseman Foushee for Third Baseman Willie Kamm but, no deals were closed.

Immediate Payment Of Cash To Veterans Of World War Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Immediate cash payment to World War veterans of one-fourth the face value of their compensation certificates was urged yesterday by Representative Fish (R-N.Y.), in a letter to Secretary Mellon.

Fish estimated one-fourth the value of the certificates at $800,000,000. Mellon has opposed payment of the certificates in full as a doubtful benefit to veterans.

The New Yorker asked if the treasury would not have a reserve fund of $750,000,000 on Jan. 1, to retire the certificates which he said was an "ample" amount to pay one-fourth the face value.

Fish said he believed there was hardship and suffering among unemployed veterans and that an average cash payment of $250 would be helpful.

In addition, he said, the placing in immediate circulation of between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000 would tend to stimulate business.

His plan, Fish said, would leave 75 per cent of the policies for insurance of the wives and children.

Prisoner Makes Good His Threat To Escape

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A. J. Dennison, federal prisoner, who was alleged to have boasted to jailers recently he would escape after they found him taping a hole in his cell ceiling, made good his threat yesterday. F. A. Copp, United States deputy marshal reported.

Officers said Dennison had escaped from jail in West Virginia, Louisiana and Texas. When he got away from the deputy marshal yesterday afternoon, he took another prisoner with him.

Both men, Dennison and W. R. Craner, appeared in federal court where they faced charges of violation of the national motor vehicle theft laws. Handcuffed together, Copp was taking them back to the county jail when both jumped from the officer's auto and escaped the report.

2 Injured Watching Jacksonville Blaze

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Two women spectators were injured here yesterday while watching a spectacular fire which damaged the Peninsular Casualty company's five-story building in the heart of the business district.

High pressure in a water pipe was said by firemen to have blown the cap off the hydrant. A Mrs. Flarber suffered a broken arm as the water sent scores of persons scurrying to shelter. The stream hurled Mrs. C. H. Sandall into the air and she was cut and bruised as she fell.

It was the second time this year the building has been damaged by fire. Last June the interior was badly burned.

The blaze yesterday started in the basement and smoke spread to all floors, sending occupants down fire escapes. Hundreds gathered to watch the fire.

Youth Held For Trying To Obtain Money Falsely

(Continued from Page One) of Earl Van Horn, Wednesday morning he reappeared at the office and asked if the money had arrived. He was told that it had but that he would have to identify himself. The youth then, according to Mr. Thapp, answered several questions concerning himself and appeared, according to information contained in the telegram sent with the money, to answer the description of the person whose identity he was assuming.

However, the usual Western Union test questions were put to him with disastrous effect, for he failed to answer any of them correctly. Seeing that the boy was no impostor, Mr. Thapp asked him to stay for a short time while he could wire to Martinsburg, W. Va., and have the identification cables waived. Mr. Thapp then quickly called Constable Bob Wilcox, who, together with Chief of Police Roy G. Williams came to the station office and made the arrest.

At the police station, the boy told several conflicting stories. His record was checked and it was found that he used the name of a friend of his in Palm Beach when he was on the way to visit. He said that his home was in New York City, but that he had just come to Sanford from Miami. Questioned further he admitted that in 1922 he had been sentenced to a reform school in Virginia because he failed to attend school, and that he served a 22-month term there. He also said that he had spent one year at the Arizona State Penitentiary at Phoenix, Ariz., on charges of the larceny of a car. He gave his real name as Jacob Donald Shely, his age as 23, and his occupation as plumber.

Officials at the police station made photographs of him, and also secured fingerprints which will be sent to various places in the North to establish his identity. He is now in the County Jail being held on charges of suspicion, pending the outcome of a further investigation by the constable's office.

STRIBLING, TUFFY GRIFFITH READY FOR FIGHT FRIDAY

Complete Their Intensive Training For Battle In Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(AP)—W. L. Y. Z. Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, and Tuffy Griffith, Iowa scrapper, finished their intensive training yesterday for their 10-round bout here Friday night. They plan to take light workouts today.

Stribling went through a fast session with his sparring partners after a two-day rest. He dropped a little weight last week-end and is in a fine condition. Seal Harlin, a 235 pounder, and Ad Wallace, who weighs about 180, furnished the Georgian with several swift rounds of punching yesterday.

Griffith, who preceded his training here with ten days of outdoor work in the country, also put on the final pounds yesterday. His trainers announced he was in top shape.

Although Griffith is well known here and popular, the Georgia contender is ranked as a 1 to 1 and 2 to 1 favorite. Stribling's quick knockout of Otto Von Point here several months ago seemed the principal factor in making the odds so high on him.

Promoter Nate Lewis looks for a much larger crowd than that which saw Stribling beat Von Point. The earlier Stribling bout drew an $85,000 gallery, but Lewis expects the gate Friday night to swell over the $100,000 mark.

NEGRO ACTOR KILLED

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Wesley Hill, 35, negro actor who portrayed the angel Gabriel in Marc Connelly's Biblical fable "The Green Pastures," was killed yesterday by a taxi cab in Harlem. An understudy portrayed Gabriel at a matinee performance.

that in his opinion there was no doubt in his mind that Sam Beal was acting in defense of his life.

Mr. Vickery's attorney spoke for nearly an hour, declaring that he thought the state had failed to prove its case in any way, and that the evidence as presented clearly indicated that his client was, if he had fired the fatal shot, acting in the act. He asserted his belief that Mr. Vickery was attacked by Beal, and that Mr. Vickery did all in his power to protect Beal's wife and the child from the attack.

He concluded by stating that he would request the jury to acquit his client on a verdict of not guilty to the charge as recited in the indictment.

Judge Wright made a lengthy charge to the jury in which he defined the various degrees of murder, and stated that Mr. Vickery could be found guilty, and he advised that they take the case for their consideration.

In the case before the jury, testimony of the state of Florida, presented only Mr. Vickery. Practically all of the testimony heard during the trial was a repetition of the testimony each witness gave at the preliminary hearing the day after the crime.

The admitted facts were that there was a party in progress in a cigar factory on the corner of Sanford Avenue and Eighth Street, and that it began near midnight on Armistice Day. Vickery, Henry Graper and Sam Beal lived at the factory. At the party were, in addition to the three named, Mrs. W. D. Lemons, Olivia Lemons, her grand-daughter, Othella Boyd, Bill Fryer, and Walter Russell. While the evidence was conflicting, it is believed that several in the group had been drinking liquor.

According to Vickery, who said that he had been for some time trying to persuade Sam Beal, his eye-in-law, from going with other women in the town, he became incensed at the sight of Beal and one of the girls "loving" each other under a table in the back room of the first-room factory. Vickery said he was sitting on a table and saw into the back room at the time when Beal was with the girl.

that Hoover should have consulted him of cooperation by the party in keeping relief legislation within bounds but also asking him to cooperate with the party on tactics to be pursued in advocating the relief program.

After the conference, Watson called the president and assured him of cooperation by the party in keeping relief legislation within bounds but also asking him to cooperate with the party on tactics to be pursued in advocating the relief program.

Meanwhile, the Senate agriculture committee appointed a subcommittee to study and report on the Capper resolution to amend the distribution to the needy of 40,000,000 bushels of wheat held by the grain stabilization corporation. Chairman Legge of the farm board in appearing before the committee said the board would have to repurchase the wheat in the open market in order to maintain the present price level.

The Senate also adopted the public improvements appropriation measure an amendment by Senator Cousins, Republican, Michigan, requiring that contractors using the funds employ only local labor and maintain a wage scale equal to the highest paid in the locality.

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, in a speech criticizing the attitude of the Hoover administration toward relief demanded that the administration permit final action on his bills to set up an employment planning commission and to provide for collection of more accurate employment statistics.

About this time, Director Stewart of the census bureau, announced that a supplementary census of the past few years he has operated a pressing club and "more recently a cigar factory."

The jury was composed of J. J. Carver, Sanford, chairman; F. W. Ball, Sanford, alternate; B. P. Ward, Oviedo (farmer); J. E. Munger, Longwood (farmer); A. U. Haines, Altamonte, farmer; A. H. Stone, Sanford, civil engineer; J. E. Chorpensing Jr., Sanford, rafter owner; R. R. Murphy, Oviedo, garage owner; V. H. Oyle, Oviedo, packing house manager; A. E. Morgan, Oviedo, farmer; G. E. Parker, Gabriella, farmer; G. E. Parker, Gabriella, orange grower; and W. H. Pope, Gabriella, orange grower.

mains the chief detractor from revenue of railroads, both from a freight and passenger standpoint. Mr. James said he believed.

During the course of his conversation, the capitalist proclaimed the abolition of the prohibition laws of the nation to avert what he termed "a grave financial and moral danger."

"It would be fine if we could get some sort of law to control the dispensing of liquors, instead of having the present situation where bars and saloons are the only places where liquor is sold."

Mr. James will leave here for New York Saturday night, returning to his winter home in Coconut Grove later in the winter, he said.

The resolutions were submitted by C. C. Long, of Leesburg, and given approval of the resolutions committee before submission to the convention. They were approved without a dissenting voice amid a murmur of "amens."

The resolution committee was composed of the Rev. D. F. Sebastian, of Plant City, chairman, the Rev. Stralder Campbell, the Rev. George H. Moore and the Rev. S. B. Cole.

The closing address Wednesday night was given by Dr. A. T. Robinson, of Louisville, Ky., who as head of the Greek department of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary has formerly been instructor to 6000 preachers including a majority of all Baptist pastors in the south.

Preceding his address there were reports on Christian education and seminaries, in charge of the Rev. G. H. Crutcher, of Tampa University, in charge of President Lincoln Hulley with the report read by the Rev. B. F. Ezell, of DeLand.

Appeals for Baptist pastors to make greater efforts for a return of the old time religion through evangelistic services occupied a large portion of the time at both the morning and afternoon meetings. A petition to organize a state evangelistic department was referred to the state mission board as the conclusion of nearly a full hour of discussion late in the afternoon.

Evangelists E. H. Andrews and W. L. Head, both of Tampa, took important parts in the discussion. "We must win our people before we can teach them," Mr. Andrews said. "Set evangelism ahead of other things, or at least include it in a well rounded program, and the results will solve all our problems."

"It is unfortunate," said Mr. Head, "that there is a growing record for the year. The best portions of the buildings were saved, the Chief added, most of the property destroyed being old and of unsound construction."

This morning at about 11:30 o'clock, a grass fire at the corner of Second Street and Cedar Avenue brought one of the trucks. No serious damage resulted however, and the fire was quickly extinguished.

save any of the wagons or harness, but they did manage to carry several bags of feed from a store room before the flames reached it. No one was injured although some of the spectators, Clark declared that he was unable to account for his not having been burned to some extent, for the flames seemed to surround him.

According to information from the City Hall this morning, none of the articles destroyed or the buildings was covered by insurance. No serious delay in the collection of garbage is expected, however, and work was begun this morning upon the erection of sheds to house the mules.

Fire Chief Mike Cleveland said this morning that his men were in the scene for over two hours and that 3500 feet of hose were laid.

Dryers Don't Why They Should Be In Favor Of Poll

(Continued From Page One) ing a referendum believed an education campaign resulting from such a move would aid the younger generation, and finally that if the country does not want the law it should be shown.

Dry leaders remaining in the capital after three days and nights of meetings assembled yesterday in a final brief session of the National Conference of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment.

It was agreed, leaders said, to have the conference, representing 35 dry organizations, meet again in the capital on February 27 to receive the strategy board's report, consider a plan for united action in the coming Presidential campaign, and probably recommend the formation of a new and final committee on strategy.

The present board was enlarged yesterday from 12 to 10 members. Meanwhile the "National Constitutional Convention for the Solution of the Prohibition Question," came to an agreement upon resolutions proposing government controlled dispensaries to handle liquor. The plan also would provide for amendment of the Volstead act "to permit the manufacture, transportation and sale of wines and beers of an alcoholic extent not intoxicating in fact."

Leaders said the resolution was intended as an answer to the demand by prohibitionists that some one plan be offered as an alternative to prohibition before attacks upon its laws were continued. Neither the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment nor the Crusaders were represented at the convention.

CIOTRO AND ATROPOS
 White wheels spin;
 White wheels turn;
 Birth of a child—
 The vague years yearn,
 Spin quickly, sisters,
 Wheels are gold;
 Love in a young heart,
 Passion is bold.
 Spin, spin, sister;
 Blue wheels whirr;
 Life beats steadily,
 Far shadows blur.
 Sister, spin slowly;
 Gray wheels are dead;
 What is a mortal?
 Snap the thread.

Buy Christmas seals!
 Well, it begins to look as if Sanford may live through its troubles after all.

Folks who talk about the "good old days" seem to forget that a thousand dollars a year used to be considered an enormous income.

Mayor Lehman and Judge Landis attended, and were speakers at, the meeting of the Florida
 League of Municipalities in Winter Park.

Only in respect for constituted authority lies the safety of the people," said Governor Carlton at the Baptist convention in Tampa the other night. If constituted authority always deserved respect, it would get it.

You are not alone in this world.
 New York society girl, flew from Wichita; Kansas, to New York the other day in faster time than Col. Lindbergh made it over the same route!

You have to pay your personal property tax to the state before buying your license tag. Now suppose your car has passed the state where it is any longer considered property? Will the state
 give you a rebate?

J. B. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati, are advertising for sale $10,000 worth of City of Sanford 4 percent street improvement bonds, dated January 1, 1922 and due January 1, 1932 and 1933 at a price
 of fifty-two flat.

Brisbane advises that something is done to give work, or at least food, to men willing to work.
 "Empty stomachs are dangerous," he says. So are empty minds. Give people something constructive to think about, and you are likely to have little trouble with them. Give them nothing and there is no telling what may happen.

It may have been "All Quiet in the Western Front" but we'll bet it was a noisy half hour in that Berlin theater where that picture was showing, following the discovery of a large number of real live snakes among the audience. Considerable opposition has been evidenced in Germany against the showing of "All Quiet" and turning the snakes loose in the audience was just one way of showing the disapproval.

The troubles of the Society Editors were appropriately summed up the other day by the Kissinames Yuley Gazette in the following words: "The troubles of a society editor in a small city are collected in the following society item:
 Miss Genevieve Smithers entertained a bridge and dancing yesterday afternoon. The first prize was won by—(conceded because she sang in the choir); second prize was captured by Miss (lost out because she teaches in the public schools); consolation prize was taken by Miss (kept out of school request, as her mother wrote to cards). Among those present were Miss—(kept out because of death in the family recently); Miss—(conceded because her employer objects to dancing);
 Miss—(has a Sunday school class);
 Mrs.—(has had objects in her eyes); Miss—(has a blacked under cover of darkness and is blind now).

A Hopeful Situation

From what meager information we have been able to gather concerning the City Commission's executive session with the bondholders' committee Wednesday afternoon, we believe that the groundwork has been laid for constructive work and that a definite step has at last been taken in the direction of a final solution of Sanford's financial difficulties. We have been of the opinion for some time that if the Commissioners would sit down quietly around a table and talk the matter over deliberately, as business men talking to business men, they might get somewhere.

We do not know, of course, just how quietly those present at Wednesday's meeting talked, but the fact that negotiations for a settlement were not immediately terminated is encouraging to say the least. There must have been some spirit of conciliation on the part of the Commission, some attitude of compromise among the bondholders, else there would be no expectation of further meetings. A thirty day extension for compliance with the writ of mandamus, which orders a tax levy of over a hundred mills against all Sanford property, was agreed upon. An offer was made by the City to set the millage at twenty-five and the bondholders withheld their answer to give them time to confer with other members of their committee. It seems very probable that within the next thirty days some agreement on a reasonable millage will be reached.

Mayor Lehman told us late yesterday that in his opinion the meeting was the most encouraging and progressive step which has been taken in the City in several years. He pointed out that compliance with the Supreme Court's mandamus and the levying of a millage in excess of one hundred would doubtless result in the confiscation of a large majority of the property in Sanford, but he added that the bondholders' committee showed no disposition to insist upon this exorbitant levy and gave every indication of being willing to compromise the matter in such a way as would be reasonably satisfactory to a majority of local property owners.

Mr. Keefer's statement to the press shortly after the meeting shows a willingness on the bondholders' part to take into consideration the misfortunes which have befallen this City during the past few years and to ask for nothing which would place an unendurable burden on the shoulders of Sanford taxpayers. He undoubtedly realizes that a tax rate commensurate with property income is essential if any sort of progress maintained. And he says: "We would like to see this City live, grow, and prosper, and the bondholders' committee is ready to assist in any way."

What the final outcome of these negotiations will be, must of necessity remain in doubt for several weeks but we feel decidedly hopeful that a reasonable answer to this puzzling question will soon be found.

New Factory Design

Something new in factory buildings is seen in the decision of Simonds Industries, of Fitchburg, Massachusetts, to construct a huge building, entirely without windows, within which all their employees and machinery will work. Uncertain sunlight which often deserts the factory worker on cloudy days will no longer bother him. Uniform illumination will henceforth be secured entirely by electricity, and ventilation will be obtained through the latest scientific devices.

"Award of a contract for industry's first windowless factory building, a $1,500,000 plant, entirely without daylight, and embodying radically advanced ideas for scientific creation of artificial lighting, ventilation and other working conditions, was announced in Cleveland recently by the Austin Company, engineers and builders. The structure will be built for the Simonds Industries, at Fitchburg, Massachusetts. It will contain five acres and will be one story in height.

"A. T. Simonds, president of the saw company, advised the engineers the decision to build at this time was based upon the confidence of the firm's officials that business recovery was near, and their belief that present construction costs are favorable for immediate expansion against future needs.

"The building will have solid, sound-absorbing walls. Its roof will have neither windows nor skylights. Illumination will come from hundreds of 1,000-watt electric lights, arranged to provide uniform light intensity, which is rarely possible in daylight factories dependent upon the cleanliness of windows or upon the weather. One of the many innovations will be the painting of machines in orange color to increase their visibility and help reduce accidents. Walls and ceiling will be blue, green, and white.

"The ventilation system will bring fresh air to all parts of the structure after purification and temperature regulation. Cork pads will be used under heavy machinery, and other efforts will be made to keep noise at a minimum. Production of three of the Simonds factories, one in Chicago and the others in Fitchburg, will be concentrated in the new plant. Construction is now under way."

WHAT'S WHICH IN LITERATURE
 Literature is slowly being pounded into red pepper and powerful snuff by the editorial exar. There is no demand for beautiful short stories unless the heroine winds up in a drive and the moral is, "Girls, watch your step."

Once upon a time a prominent writer only had to dress up Cinderella in modern clothes, and he sold his stuff as fast as he could whack it out. Then the literature business switched to true confession work. To keep the wolf off the rubber doormat, fiction writers had to flop back to their private lives.

This year there won't be any "Ten Best Short Stories of 1936." There won't be ten short stories published. The market is for confessions and the low-down on your life.

Here are samples of correspondence showing why authors suffer from malnutrition:
 "My dear Miss Sizzlebaum: We are sending back your short story entitled 'Judith and Her Little White Mice.' This rejection does not necessarily imply a lack of merit. It is only that our editorial requirements have altered and this won't do."
 "How about writing us 8,000 words on that time the traveling salesman allowed admission to your children's school? I've never heard of any little incident like this. What we want, and we are paying big prices for these manuscripts at the rate of $1.75 a pound. Yours respectfully,

 "GRINDEM-OUT PUBLISHING COMPANY."
 "Dear Mr. Blutz: We are sorry we cannot use your short story called 'Out in the Broad Open Air.' We think it would be better if you entitled it 'The Broad With the Golden Hair.' So far as the story itself goes, both Boccaro and Elinor Glyn have used the same plot, and we feel it does not contain enough zip."
 "If you would care to rewrite it we would suggest that you have your heroine wear rolled down stockings and flimsy clothes instead of a cowboy hat and leather chaps. Also have a city villain trick her with a glass of loaded wine in Chapter VI. Yours sincerely, DRIPP & BLAII,
 Publishers of Hot Tamale Week-ly."
 "My dear Mr. Hoolick: We are afraid to publish the inclosed short story as it is a little too humorous for our readers. People do not want to laugh; they want to sigh. Your story is deliciously comic and no doubt you can sell it to one of the old-fashioned magazines."
 "But for our purposes it would have to be rewritten thoroughly. For instance, in your story you have a scene of a man and a woman in a car, instead of having your heroine tip over an apple cart, why not have her

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Seeing the great interest the reading public displayed for all the glorious details of the coronation of the Negus of Abyssinia, some journalists decided to linger a little while in Addis Ababa in order to study the customs and habits of the Ethiopians in normal days. One of these gentlemen explains in one of his dispatches what the Abyssinians understand by a forequara. A forequara, it appears, is neither the name of a dance nor that of some strange marine monster. It is an ancient custom which goes off something like this: Once a year the Negus calls all his subjects together and they gather in a huge valley near the capital. When they are lined up in two long rows, his majesty, the emperor, slowly walks along the lines. Tradition will have it that the king of kings shall be accompanied at this moment. And that nobody stands on ceremony, he may say by every subject has the right to say whatever he wants. If he feels like calling the emperor a tyrant and an oppressor, he is at liberty to do so without risk of consequences. The new Negus had his forequara a few days after the august foreign guests who attended his coronation had departed. As he moved along the lines his subjects began to reproach him with his extravagance at the recent coronation. "Tafari," cried one fellow boldly, "thou art a thief and a liar." "How so?" inquired the emperor. "Thou spendest the money of the people in vain and foolish pomp. Thou sayest thy land is free, and there are 50,000 slaves here!" This was but one of the remarks flung at the head of the king of kings. Or, rather, according to the French journalist who attended the show, it was only the beginning of a general clamor in which the most insulting words in the very expressive Abyssinian language were thrown at the monarch's head. After the ordeal the emperor gave a big dinner and then withdrew to pray and meditate upon the popular charges. A few days later he issued a few decrees which will bring an end to certain abuses mentioned at the forequara. "Having heard the voice of the people," begins the preamble of the new decrees. It must be said that those journalists who stayed over in Abyssinia did a good work. Perhaps we in the West may learn something yet from Ethiopia. How would a little forequara go in New York, for instance? A million Manhattanites lined up along Broadway and his honor passing along the lines? "Now, Walker, thou art!"

But let's not anticipate a wave of indignation sweeping through Paris. It is Hitler who has incensed the Parisians with one of his warlike speeches, or Signor Mussolini? Nothing of the sort. It's the prefect of police, who is in for it. But what has he done to merit the condemnation of his fellow citizens? Simply this: He has ordered the Bois de Boulogne closed after midnight. "Does he imagine he is a king?" asks one newspaper. "To whom does the Bois belong if not to the people of Paris," says another journal. "Odious," "scandalous," "ridiculous," "dictatorial," "undemocratic," "intolerable," these are the words expressing the sentiment with which the prefects new decree about the Bois have been received. The prohibition to "promenade" in the Bois after midnight is not the only restriction. There are others. It will be forbidden henceforth "to sing together" in the immense park. This means that the school children who migrate in vast masses to the Bois on Thursdays, school holidays, cannot sing the songs they learn at school. No musical instruments may be played after this. Not even the mouth organ or the bagpipe or the flute. No longer will the boys and girls of the populous quarters who came to breathe a bit of fresh air on the old fortifications along the edges of the forest be permitted to bring along their accordions on summer nights.

fall through a manhole and find herself in a hot joint, dazed and disgraced? We hope you get the idea. Faithfully yours,
 "THE SPICE MFG. COMPANY."
 "Dear Mrs. Wilkus: The market for bulic stories has fallen off, we are sorry to report. Consequently we are returning your manuscript entitled 'Little Beatrice in Fairyland.' If you could make Beatrice about nineteen years old and send her through a circuit of night clubs and roadhouses, we are sure we would purchase your story at top prices."
 "However, in the latter part of the yarn she would have to be drugged with a needle or opium pipe instead of being waffled to slumberland by butterfly dreams as in your original draft. In rewriting we would also suggest that you retitled the story 'How I Went From Bad to Worse,' or 'Confessions of a Lingerie Buyer,' or something like that. Very truly yours, PAFRIKA PUBLISHING COM-pany."

Mrs. Moye Is Honored At Party Last Night

Developing a color scheme of red and green in keeping with the Christmas spirit were the decorations and party appointments used last night when the Misses Edith Walker, Thelma Walker and Mattie Mae Branan entertained with a miscellaneous shower and bridge party in honor of Mrs. J. Morris Moye Jr., a recent bride. A large lighted and decorated Christmas tree was placed in the living room where other decorations consisted of red gladioli and ferns.

Throughout the evening, bridge and other card games were played and high scores were recorded. Mrs. J. A. Blount Jr. and Mrs. H. B. Wright, Mrs. Blount was given a towel set while Mrs. Wright received a box of candy. Miss Katherine Bannan was lucky in ruffling and was presented with a bath salts set.

At a late hour, a small boy, dressed in the costume of Santa Claus, appeared with a red wagon which was laden with gifts for Mrs. Moye. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, molded in the form of Santa Claus, and cake iced in green and topped with a tiny Christmas tree, were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. P. I. Branan.

Complimenting a number of the younger set, Capt. Earle T. Loucks entertained with a bridge party on Thursday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Loucks, Magnolia Avenue. Adorning the rooms where the guests were entertained was a profusion of red roses, red gladioli and ferns, accentuating a color scheme of red and green.

During the evening, several progressions of bridge were enjoyed after which scores were added and prizes awarded. High score prize for the ladies, a pair of silk hose, went to Miss Margaret Peters, while high score prize for the men, a silk tie, was awarded to H. Glenn Lingle. ## Johnny Mack Brown Has Leading Role In Picture At Milane

"Billy the Kid," King Vidor's Metro-Goldwyn Mayer picture, which will open tonight at the Milane Theatre, is a "western" story, but not a fictional one. Although the story is based on Walter Noble Burns' "The Saga of Billy the Kid," the plot is not a figment of someone's imagination, but the recreation of an historical character, the notorious William Bonney, or "Billy the Kid" who, though only twenty-one, gained repute as the most dangerous man of the West.

Vidor does not attempt to give all of the melodramatic career of this young man. All of the high lights, however, are retained, the story opening with his escape from the English ranch owned by Tunstun, and his partner, Mc-

Sween. Claire, Tunstun's fiancee, comes from England to marry him, but the Donovan group of cattlemen waylay Tunstun and kill him in cold blood on his wedding day. "The Kid" swears to get every member of the posse who killed his friend. A fight in the Donovan saloon precedes the biggest event of the story, the historic three-day siege of the McSween home by the Donovan gang. This ends in the burning of the house and the tumultuous exit through rifle fire of the defenders.

The pretentious cast includes Johnny Mack Brown in the title role, Wallace Beery as Sheriff Garrett, Kay Johnson as Claire, Karl Danu as a comic cowboy and Wyndham Standing, Russell Simpson, Blanche Fredrick, Roscoe Arl, Warner P. Richmond, James Martyle, John Beck, Margaretta Pucus, Nelson McDowell, Jack Cardula and Aggie Herring as historical characters.

Minges Continues His Services At Church

The Thursday night sermon of Evangelist Minges proved to be one of the most interesting of the many powerful sermons he has preached during the revival. Jesus was pictured as in the midst of all things from the beginning of time until now. He declared Jesus to be in the midst of the New Testament, in the midst of the suffering down through the ages, in the midst of the joys of the world, and in the midst of the business world.

He called to attention the present buying and sending of Christmas presents, the wonderful attitude of good will that is found everywhere, the smiles of happiness, all because Jesus is in the midst of all things. Mrs. A. M. Phillips sang, accompanied by Mrs. Minges on the harp, "Why Does He Care For Me." At the close of the service Mrs. Minges sang, "Lead Kindly Light" which was illustrated by a number of colored pictures. Rev. Minges announced that his subject for tonight would be, "Will We Know Our Loved Ones In Heaven?" The illustrated song for tonight will be, by request, "The Ninety and Nine."

NOTICE

 Havana, Dec. 11.—Business which ended last month, both authorized by congress after much debate, but whereas the first decree was confined to the capital and for only 30 days, the suspension invoked yesterday will run for 60 days over the entire island.

Student activities not only continued but increased, meanwhile, and the sound of firing was heard in the streets as police attempted to break up demonstrations. Numbers of business and professional men, graduates of the National university, pledged their support to the rioting undergraduates.

The president's action followed a secret meeting of the cabinet, at which the American ambassador, Harry F. Guggenheim, was reported to be present, and it was known that important developments were expected.

Havana at the same time was swimming in a flood of rumors. There were numerous reports that the president would resign, another that he already had placed his resignation in the hands of the supreme court, and still another that Ambassador Guggenheim had summoned two American consuls from the United States naval base at Guantanamo. All were denied. Complicating the situation, and adding to several other changes during the week, was the resignation of Miguel Angel Campa as attorney general.

The latest developments climax a summer of unrest in Cuba, with disorders and demonstrations growing since the congressional elections of last month. Hundreds of students, who are prime movers in all the disturbances, have been arrested in various parts of the island.

In the last two days one youth was killed in Sagua la Grande during a fight with police and six others were wounded; Havana students battled against police in Havana; the rural guard and youths enrolled at the Camaguey normal school clashed with the result that the school was closed yesterday; at Matanzas there was a bomb explosion; three bombs were discovered in the provincial institute at Santa Clara; at Guantanamo students bombarded the Catholic school with tomatoes when its faculty refused to close the institution, and numerous minor squabbles were reported.

Six students were reported injured in the clashes of yesterday. As before, the declaration of suspension of guarantees seemed to produce an immediate pacifying effect, and the disturbances were reported afterward.

But although the military was not ordered out, some of the most vital rights enjoyed by Cubans under their constitution were taken away.

The privilege of free speech, free press, assembly, and habeas corpus are among those which Cuba is destined not to enjoy again until after Feb. 8, 1931. Censorship was not invoked.

The president last night made a direct reply to the rumors which said he would quit.

"I have not resigned," he declared, "and I am not thinking of resigning. I see no reason for giving consideration to such a

Concerning the lifting of guarantees, Dr. Ricardo Herrera, minister plenipotentiary and personal secretary to Machado, explained: "It is merely a means to insure peace in Cuba during these weeks when trouble seems to have increased. The president is determined that order shall prevail."

The decree ordering the suspension was signed by the president and by the new secretary of the interior, Jose C. Vivanco. It was the latter's first official act since taking over his new post, formerly held by Manuel Delgado.

Palm Beach building activity totaled near $3,000,000 mark at close of first ten-month period, when October permits reached $280,885.

EINSTEIN SHOWS NEW SIDE OF HIS NATURE TO PRESS

Reveals Bubbling Humor in Face of Barrage Of Questions

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Albert Einstein arrived in New York yesterday, and in his greeting the great mathematician showed a new side of his character, courage of an unusual order.

For nearly two hours he maintained a frequent smile, perfect poise and sallies of bubbling good humor in the face of a barrage of publicity so painful that once he whispered to a friend:

"It seems like wolves biting into my flesh."

The random questions of 100 press and cameramen he parried with up-to-date American "wise-crackers" as keen as their own. Time after time they laughed aloud with him, yet a moment later his grave, round, brown eyes seemed to be gazing far past the packed circle of auditors as if hunting for escape.

In messages intended for a wider audience, he dropped the jesting pose, talked over the radio about suppression of militarism and hitting unemployment in a statement prepared for the press.

He told the United States, "You can not destroy militarism whenever you get your hand to it." Einstein was going to California, wishing to avoid all publicity, just to rest—and think mathematically.

And so, in a gray dawn a revenue cutter and tug took newsmen and women, cameramen, sound picture men and representatives of nation-wide broadcasting chains down the bay. Into the Beigenland they climbed and parked on an upper deck in a salon at the end of a long corridor.

Down that corridor near the opposite end was Einstein in his suite. About him were his wife, Dr. Walter Mayer, his scientific assistant, Hendrik William van Loon and a few other friends who cheerily counseled him not to hesitate.

In the interview he avoided re-litativity. Only three questions about it were asked, and he replied with jests.

Frau Einstein was always at his side except when she was a little ahead as he lagged.

Modish, with charming smile and ready answer to questions, she was half the party. More than half, said some of those in the throng, who came bearing gifts.

There was, for example, the national broadcasting man's idea. After Einstein had done so well over the radio as the boat docked he went to Mrs. Einstein with a suggestion that Dr. Einstein talk again Sunday night.

"No, no," replied Mrs. Einstein,

"that would not do at all. He cannot go out nights."

To representatives of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency in a private interview, he talked wholly about Einstein.

"There is something indefinite," he said, "which holds the Jews together. Race does not make much solidarity. Here in America you have many races, and yet you have the solidarity."

Physically, Einstein seemed to stand the greeting well. As 1 o'clock in the afternoon approached and others kept sending in cards, he remarked:

"Don't we have to eat?"

The verdict was returned after six hours and 15 minutes of deliberation. Under orders of the judge, there was no demonstration in the court room.
