

THE JUNIOR RED CROSS BAZAAR FRIDAY NIGHT WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

Young Workers Gained Nice Sum For Red Cross

The first venture for raising funds of the Junior Red Cross of Sanford was a wonderful success from every standpoint, financial, co-operation and socially.

The booths were attractively decorated. The produce booth with its lovely flowers, fresh vegetables and fruits did a rushing business while the ice cream, candy and soft drinks "sold out" in short order.

Mr. A. D. Parrish, the able and successful business man, just naturally participated in the bazaar.

The committee cordially thank the merchants for their generous contributions, the Sanford Public Service Company, the farmers for products of the soil, Robert Hilby, Jr., and Mrs. Hilby, the only Junior Red Cross boys who assisted in building the bazaar.

Surgical Dressings Workers Wanted

Mrs. David Speer, director of Woman's Work is sending out 500 calls for more workers in the surgical dressings department in order to complete the allotments assigned to this chapter.

Executive Committee Meeting

The regular business meeting of the executive committee of Seminole County Chapter will be held on Thursday evening at the Woman's Club at 7:30. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. R. A. Terheun, Secy. Seminole Co. Chapter A. R. C.

Junior Red Cross

There will be a meeting of the Junior Red Cross at the home of Mrs. J. N. Whitner, 418 Magnolia Avenue, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All girls and boys who signed the pledge at school are urged to attend.

Julia Laing, Secretary.

Membership Renewals for June

The secretary of Seminole County Chapter, A. R. C., has sent out explanation notices for June to every member in the county.

son in question will promptly notify the secretary to that effect.

To date, of more than two hundred members notified of expiration only ONE HAS REFUSED TO RENEW. This is undoubtedly a fine record for Seminole county but the marvel is that even ONE person is unwilling to give a dollar a year for the benefit of the boys who have pledged and are giving their lives for humanity and a worldwide peace.

There are a few April and May members who have not paid their dues, or notified the secretary to drop their names from the roll. A prompt response from these will be appreciated.

THANKS FOR ALL

Who Assisted in the Great Red Cross Drive

The officers and members of the Seminole County Chapter of Red Cross, take this means to express their sincere appreciation to the many workers who co-operated in the War Fund Drive just completed.

The Chapter is particularly indebted to those two untiring workers, Mrs. Deane Turner and Mrs. R. A. Terheun, our War Fund treasurer and secretary respectively, for their sixteen hour day work for the entire week at a desk and who spurred the suggestion that they receive some compensation for their labors.

We appreciate the column upon column of free space that The Herald management gave to the cause and our local plans and thank Capt. Paxton, chief of the Sanford fire department for his day and night free work in getting our various signs and banners painted.

We also want the colored people of Seminole to know and to feel that their work and donations were felt and appreciated and take pleasure in commending Rev. Brewer, Prof. Crooms and others for their loyal aid.

Our net results exceed ten thousand dollars or two thousand above our quota. This means that every man, woman and child in Seminole county averaged more than one dollar in donations.

We wish to further request that all who have made out pledge cards, that they watch these cards and send their payments direct to Mrs. Deane Turner, War Fund Treasurer, Sanford, Fla.

Respectfully, D. C. Marlowe, Chairman, Seminole County Chapter.

CATTLEMEN TO ORGANIZE SALVATION FOR GROWERS

To Discuss Ways And Means For Building Vats

Recognizing the predicament that our cattlemen are in regarding quarantine line which has been proclaimed around Lake and Orange counties, due to those counties having taken up systematic tick eradication work, representatives of the federal and state government will meet with interested Seminole county live stock owners at court house in Sanford at three o'clock on June 15th, to talk the matter over.

Among those who will be present are Dr. W. F. Blackman, president of the Florida State Live Stock Association; Dr. E. M. Nighbert, inspector in charge of tick eradication work in Florida, and R. W. Storms, members of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board.

The meeting will be open to the public, and after a few brief talks by the visiting officials every one will be given an opportunity to ask questions on how to get the tick eradication work started at once in this county.

The quarantine embargo against ticky cattle moving into Lake and Orange counties is not limited to this season, but will be maintained until this county is cleaned up and released from quarantine, if it takes two or three years.

The most important matter just now is to find some way to finance building of all the dipping vats required in this county, at once, and get them in so the cattle owners can voluntarily dip their cattle regularly under state supervision, until systematic work can be started.

BEWARE THE FOURTH

Stringent Government Regulations Concerning Fireworks

Clarence E. Woods, U. S. Inspector of explosives, Eustis, Fla., has just received the following stringent regulations from the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., governing the sale of fireworks of immediate interest to dealers and purchasers of fireworks everywhere:

This will acknowledge receipt of your wire of May 18th requesting information whether old stock Roman candles and sky rockets retailing above ten cents can be purchased by minors through their parents' explosive license. This cannot be done. Parents with the proper license may purchase fireworks and issue them to their children, assuming the same position as the fireman issuing explosives to unlicensed persons under his supervision.

Cotton Gin for DeLand

W. A. Stringfellow and associates are to erect a cotton gin on the West side of Volusia county at an early date, everything to be complete by August 1. This will be a three-story plant and modern in every way—two saw, gin for short staple and two long staple gins; scales, conveyors and all labor saving devices.

Jackonville is playing in big luck so far as securing government enterprises is concerned. The latest thing to come her way is one of the big concrete shipbuilding plants to be established there.

A $50,000 crate factory is to be established at Daytona. Application for a charter is already pending. This will be the first plant of the kind to be established in Volusia county. The plant will manufacture crates for citrus fruit and vegetables.

Respectfully, D. C. Marlowe, Chairman, Seminole County Chapter.

TO ORGANIZE GERMANS LAUNCHING ANOTHER BIG ATTACK BUT NOTHING DOING

Prominent East Coast Grower Writes About It

The Florida farmer and especially the vegetable growers are realizing that in organization is the salvation of their future prosperity. They have tried all other means and find that they fail year after year or if they do not fail at least they do not make what they should make.

They find out that in this organized effort the grower gets a square deal and knows exactly where his product was shipped and the condition of same and what it brought and they know in a few days time.

The Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., recently organized also offers the growers the chance to get together and take advantage of the many benefits to be gained by close cooperation. It is the salvation of this section and every other section of the state.

With Florida's unexampled climate for growing Irish potatoes for early markets in the north, it is the interest of every one, whether engaged in the work or not, to foster the industry—since this small area capable of production preser, and supply the wants of the larger area of the north craving for this food in early spring.

Naturally this industry is divided into two departments: First, production; second, distribution. The latter the most important.

The growers are wide-spread, divided, detached, isolated, congested, busy in labors of field, and forget their harvest is sold, so as to leave them a margin, their labor is lost.

The selling or distributing end, as now practiced is most wasteful, inefficient, demoralizing and will annihilate the grower.

We see the phenomenon of the consumer in the north paying 5 to 6 cents per pound for the very same potatoes, the growers have not received even the price of the package in which they were shipped.

We see the grower, the seller, exacts his pound of flesh, whether he sells them or gives them away; his commission is demanded at same rate per barrel, whether there has been enough returned to the grower to pay it or not. The consumer pays a price that warrants a legitimate return to the grower.

When we see $35 returned to the grower for 220 barrels of potatoes, for which the barrels alone cost $164, to say nothing of the cost of harvest, seed, fertilizer and labor, and see the same potatoes sold to consumer for 6 to 8 cents per pound, there is something rotten in distribution and a crying need for attention.

The growers of the state must organize, not only to produce better crops at less cost, with better methods, but to compel sellers to organize to adopt methods for selling that are equitable, that will be lived to. Each seller should give bonds to carry out the rules for selling; that they shall be uniform and agreed on by the association.

The growers have the power in their hands, if they have the intelligence and courage to execute. Let them refuse to consign any settler, who does not join the Settlers' Association, and are bound by rules laid down for the disposing of products.

The conditions of markets can be considered and prices agreed on to fit circumstances, methods of packing, grading and shipping outlined. Get some order and system into marketing like the California Association of Fruit Growers Association. We must make the price and terms for our products. We cannot

LIBERTY MOTORS GOING OVER

The one thousandth Liberty airplane produced by the Packard company was shipped from the factory this week, just a year to a day from the sending to Washington of blue prints and parts which formed the start of the Liberty motor design.

The dispatching of the one-thousandth engine was celebrated quietly but none the less exultantly by the men who within a year have had the successive responsibilities of producing the first Liberty engine by hand, the first Liberty engine to fly, the first Liberty engine made from tools designed for quality output, and now their first thousand perfected engines.

Among those who witnessed the crating of the motor for shipment was the young engineer who on May 29, 1918, took down to Washington a trunk, checked as personal baggage, which contained complete blue prints and an all steel cylinder of an aviation engine. It was the design of this engine, representing at that time more than two years of development work, from which J. G. Vincent, the Packard chief engineer, and E. J. Hall evolved the design of the Liberty motor.

When Liberty engine No. 1000 was completed a telegram was sent by the two Liberty engine builders who are now in production to President Wilson and Secretary Baker, announcing with solemn thankfulness the completion of the first thousand. In reply, Secretary Baker wrote his congratulations, praising the "most commendable zeal and spirit with which this task has been accomplished."

Production of the Liberty engine is going forward with accelerating speed. The Packard company, first to get into production is turning out 25 a day. The Lincoln Motors is completing ten a day, with much larger output immediately in sight. The Ford Motor Company, which in the meantime has made thousands of the cylinders for both Packard and Lincoln is at the eve of producing motors in quantity. The Marmon Company also is about to enter production.

As a result of action taken by the East Coast Chamber of Commerce a committee is now in Washington conferring with the Federal authorities and calling their attention to what, in all fairness, seems to have been to say the least, a poor lack of appreciation of the earnest endeavor of the farmers to back up the government, the crops which undoubtedly should have been taken over by the government, having already or are now rotting in the fields.

Information from Broward county is to the effect that one farmer in that county is getting ready to build a 75-ton silo. The farmers in that section are waking up to the fact that to succeed in farming one must adopt progressive plans and ideas. Old methods of farming are things of the past in the majority of Florida communities.

live unless we do.

Do not depend upon one man to do this work. Rise every man, fight for your life. Every one of you get together, to reform wasteful methods. Buy your seed, your fertilizer, your packages cheaper and prepare to get a living price for your products.

You can do it if you will, when price goes beyond cost stop digging. Make rules for selling. Cut out promiscuous assignments. Sell to arrive or for spot cash; don't auction your products through a hungry pack waiting to devour you by devious methods long practiced. Now you are simply at the mercy of the wolves that have no mercy. You have the product that is wanted, that is needed, get it to the consumer by cheapest, most direct methods and leave a moiety for yourself and family.

Gain Some Ground And Pay Dearly For Same

The new German attack on the front between Montdidier and Noyon continued last night with undiminished violence, the war office reports. On the French left wing furious German attacks, made time after time were broken up by the French fire.

In the center the enemy, bringing up reinforcements, made further progress, reaching the southern part of Cuvilly wood and Ressens-Sur-Matz.

French and American troops, continuing their attacks in the region of Brassarea, on the Marne front, gained more ground and took prisoners.

On the French right wing along the front of the new attack, bitter fighting continues. The French took more than 500 prisoners in various engagements. Prisoners report unambiguously that the losses of the Germans thus far in the battle which began yesterday morning have been extremely heavy.

The war office statement follows: "The German push was continued yesterday evening and last night with the same ferocity.

"On the French left wing, violent attacks were renewed on several occasions, but they were broken by the French fire and by counter attacks by our troops. The town of Courcelles was captured and recaptured and finally remained in our hands.

"On the right the French forces maintained their positions to the southeast of Ville. Here there was bitter fighting. The French took more than 500 prisoners in the course of these various engagements. On the center the enemy endeavored, by bringing in fresh troops, to continue his progress. He was successful in reaching the south horn edge of Cuvilly wood and Ressens-Sur-Matz on the plateau of Bellingesse. Further to the east the fighting was continued in Thiescourt wood.

"According to the unanimous reports of prisoners the battle has cost the enemy enormous losses.

"To the north of Rheims there has been fairly spirited aerial fighting. French forces completed the operation on which they embarked yesterday to the east of Hautchaize and took 150 prisoners.

"Between the rivers Ourek and Marne French forces repulsed several German attacks east of Vinly. Continuing their progress in the region of Brassaires, French and American troops gained ground; brought up to 250, the number of prisoners taken, and captured thirty machine guns.

Home Burned

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tilden Jacobs have the sympathy of their many friends in this section in the loss of their beautiful home which occurred at Chulusta last week. The Jacobs home was in one of the finest locations in the county and has been described in this paper several times. It was a large dwelling and at various times was used to entertain guests and many from this and adjoining counties have spent a pleasant day at this home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs wish to thank their friends who responded so nobly with deeds of kindness at the time of the fire and afterward, and while they have not planned for the future will probably rebuild their home on the same location.

A Surprise Party

Thursday was Commencement Day at Rollins College and Rev. Mr. Brower attended the exercises. Returning by the evening train he was met by friends who asked if he had had supper. The question took a new meaning when on arrival at the parsonage he found the rooms filled with church folks, old and young—a party delightfully planned for the pastor and Mrs. Brower. The "supper" was entirely satisfactory, shared in by all. Among those present was Ensign Harry Carbon, home from Pensacola on a furlough.

Dolly Does Her Bit

"Baby" Marie Osborne, the charming little Pathe star is more captivating than ever in "Dolly Does Her Bit," a timely story with a Red Cross slant, which will be shown at the Star Theatre tonight.

"Baby" Marie is ideally suited for the role of "Dolly," which she plays in this attractive and youthful drama. Her supporting cast is in thorough harmony with the little star and the result achieved is exceptionally good from every standpoint.

The story deals with the adventures of Dolly and a mechanical doll, which is to be auctioned as a Red Cross benefit. The doll comes to grief, through no fault of Dolly's, who decides to take its place to keep the Red Cross from missing through the doll tragedy. Her subsequent adventures are delightfully startling.

The picture is full of childish ingenuity, thrills, comedy, with an undercurrent of sterling patriotism which gives it an added appeal.

The little colored actor George Washington Jefferson, Lincoln Lee also appears.

VITAGRAPH ADVENTURE STAR

In Gripping Scene Filmed on Island in Middle of Wild River at Foot of Rapids

Carol Holloway, and an outlaw leader engage in a life or death struggle on the very brink of a waterfall, in the thirteenth episode of "Vengeance and the Woman," Greater Vitagraph's wonderful melodrama serial, which will be seen in the Star Theatre on Saturday. This hand to hand fight is on an island and on either shore of the river are friends of the girl with rifles ready, but not daring to shoot in fear of hitting her.

This highly dramatic situation is splendidly screened, the photographs having been taken under direction of William Duncan, who takes the leading male part in the serial, that of Henry Blake, while Miss Holloway is seen as Bessie, his wife. Bessie by a desperate effort draws away from her adversary for the fraction of a minute, and it is long enough for Blake to put a bullet into the outlaw who is seen to slip down into the shallow water and still struggling be drawn over the brink into the whirlpool below.

PRIMARY ELECTION WAS QUIET

Local Men Furnished Only Excitement

One of the most quiet elections of the primary sort ever held in Sanford was that of Tuesday. One could not even get up an argument over the candidates and the clerks and inspectors had a hard time trying to keep awake from the time the polls opened until the close. There was positively no enthusiasm and interest if there was any centered upon the local race for representative, the candidates being F. L. Woodruff and J. J. Dickinson. The balance of the ticket being in the district and state and the voters in many instances knowing none of the candidates and caring less about voting paid but little attention to the ticket or the voting.

The counting of the two city precincts was done in record time and before ten o'clock the votes had been tabulated indicating a very light vote.

Precinct No. 1 showed 93 votes for Dickinson and 72 for Woodruff. Precinct No. 3 gave Dickinson 116 and Woodruff 158, giving in the two precincts Dickinson a majority of 51 votes. It looked for a time as though Dickinson had a lead that could not be overcome but Wednesday morning brought in the country votes and with a few here and there the vote was tied for a time and then showed Woodruff the winner by 12 votes, which was close enough to suit the people who were looking for excitement.

Sears for congress carried the county almost 3 to 1 against Farris and had it not been for many who thought that Sears did not vote with the President it is certain that Sears would have swept the county.

In the state Sears won by a large vote, even beating Farris in his home precincts of Jacksonville by over a thousand votes.

Swearing in for attorney general is winner. Whitfield wins for Justice of the Supreme Court. It looks like Brown will be the winner for tax commissioner for the full term and W. M. Holloway for the short term. J. Will Yon won over Lancaster for state auditor.

In the Second Congressional district Frank Clark is returned to congress over Charles Davis his opponent. In the Third it looks like Smithwick will defeat Kehoe who is now the congressman for that district.

And if there is no more interest in the election two years from now it will hardly be necessary to hold an election until the war is over for it seems that people have weightier subjects to engross their attention and they do not want to talk about politics or hear about it.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

The Food Administration is making a careful survey of the national ice situation, in order that it may be prepared to meet any sudden shortages in particular communities. The destruction of ice plants by fire, break down of machinery or the exigency of the weather may at any time cause a serious shortage.

With these possibilities in mind the Food Administration is advising Federal Food Administrators in all states to make a careful survey of ice available for shipment. With this information in hand it will be comparatively easy to rush quick relief to any community that may be threatened by an ice famine.

Reports from the administrators' surveys will be studied in an effort to formulate plans for building up and maintaining a sufficient amount of stored ice to assure the community a proper supply during the period of hot weather and to insure against suffering the event of an accident. The Food Administration will also study them with a view to having records of the nearest ice available in case of unexpected shortages.

Ice is frequently shipped from one state to another and the Food Administration is anxious to arrange for exchange of information between administrators of neighboring states. However, administrators are being instructed to report to Washington any marked shortage or surplus.

Red Cross Committees

Every member of the Red Cross, man or woman, who is willing to serve on committees are requested to file their names with the secretary. The work of the local chapter is growing rapidly. In a membership of 1286 there are less than 200 members at work. Your membership dollar is worth a great deal but service is required too. The few faithful, loyal members are overburdened but still find time to add more and more to their duties. In the big humanitarian Red Cross it is not only a duty but a privilege to serve. There are other branches of work besides hospital garments and surgical dressings as badly as these are needed too. The attendance at the meetings is small, so that the majority can only be reached through The Herald. Attention to the above notice will be appreciated by the chapter officials.

There are several motorists that are making speedways of our principal streets and they had better be careful for they will come to grief.
I do not know whether they think they are immune to the city ordinances or not but evidently they are unmindful of the laws in this respect for they run their cars day and night on Park avenue at full speed and this matter has been called to my attention by several residents of that street in the past few weeks.

This is a beautiful custom that Mayor Davison has inaugurated here now having Mrs. Robt. Herndon blow the bugle at six o'clock on First street. It fits in with the custom of honoring our boys and our flag in standing with uncovered head for one minute and as the sweet notes of the bugle ring out the martial spirit and the great wave of patriotism sweeps over every one of us and we are halted with the sense of our duty to country and flag. Sanford is probably the only city in the country that goes in for this custom in such an able manner and there is nothing slow about our brand of patriotism.

I do not like the general air of apathy that seems to permeate our business life here and unless we get together and live things up a bit we will all feel the depression this summer. The business men of this city could get up tours Thursday afternoon and take in, the neighboring towns and get a better feeling scattered of coming to Sanford. We are too prone to lay down on the job and let business come to us when the real business never goes anywhere unless it is coaxed. Suppose we try a little coaxing this summer.

I understand that a stranger in the city was arrested by the mayor because he would not take off his hat when the whistles blew at six.
If the stranger did not know about the ordinance he should have been told about it in a nice way and if he was told he should have complied with the ordinance and raised his hat to the American flag and army.
We do not wish to cause any trouble over this ordinance but neither should we make any trouble over it.
You cannot make patriots out of people by force and this is not the intent of the ordinance but all of us feel a deep reverence to the flag on these trying times and are apt to get hot headed before we think.

A certain little boy who is no being controlled in any way, shape or form by his parents took a paint brush and a pot of black paint and daubed the paint over the stone copying of the new postoffice building and the chances are that the black stain cannot be eradicated from the stone, causing no end of trouble and expense. There is nothing that can be done to this boy except to fine his parents and this is nothing to be boasted of. He is too young to send to the reform school and yet he seems to be old enough to take care of himself and is left to his own devices.
There is a lot of this destruction of property reported every week in this city and that something should be done to stop these children roaming the streets is apparent to everyone. Parents should certainly exercise a more vigilant care over their children or the city will have to establish a whipping post and give the children what their parents seem short on—a good dose of strap oil well applied and allowed to soak in.

At the beginning of the war I published the rules on flag etiquette but so many of my friends have asked for it since that I give it again for it is well to know them:
The proper time for putting out the flag is sunrise or after, never before.

The flag should never be lowered until sunset.

A flag should never be allowed to trail or lie on the ground and should always be taken in during stormy weather.

When a flag is raised at ceremonies everyone present should stand, face the flag and salute with the right hand raised to the forehead.

When the flag passes in parade, spectators should stand, men and boys with hats removed.

When any other flag is displayed with our national colors, Old Glory must always be on the right or above.

As a sign of mourning the flag should first be hoisted to the top of the mast for a moment, then lowered halfway and left at half-mast. At sunset the flag should be hoisted to the top of the mast before lowering to the ground.

The flag should never be used for a cover or in any position where other objects are placed on it.

Flags should always be treated with reverence and always put carefully away when not in use.

In draping the flag against the side of a room or building, the blue field should always be toward the north or towards the east.

When the "Star Spangled Banner," recognized as our national anthem is played or sung all should rise and stand until the song is finished. It is proper to face the musicians or those singing during this ceremony.

When red, white and blue bunting is used for decorating the red should be at the top.

It is against the law to put any printing or advertising of any kind on the United States flag.

It seems that some of the local men who went to Sanford the other day to help chase the negro who attempted assault upon a white girl are peevish at the Sanford Herald and the Sanford people who deplore and snuff at the efforts of Orange county people to assist them. After this it is unlikely that Orlando men will guard a swamp and take the initiative in bringing to justice a Seminole county criminal.—Orlando Sentinel.

You're another sniffer. We appreciate the efforts of all those who hunted for the assailant and said so at the time, although they did not take the initiative for Seminole did, that, but Sanford people do not appreciate the efforts of Orlando or any other seaport coming down here trying to mess up our perfectly good town by lynching the wrong negro.
It was not altogether what they attempted but the manner in which they spoke of it that night and some of them can thank their lucky stars that they did not rile the Guards and some others for these could have been trouble. If we went to Orlando some night and killed the wrong person and gave your town the credit for it you would be the first to let out a yelp and say it hurt your town and yet there was a bunch here that night that would not listen to reason and there was almost a riot before they would let the negro be returned to Kissimmee jail. Again thanking you for past favors and wishing you many happy returns of the eclipse I beg to remain yours truly
THE SAUNTERER.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

NEW RULES of the Food Administration

"There is no use trying to dodge the facts in regard to the wheat flour in this country," says Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator, Florida.
"Statements from Washington based on a thorough investigation of the wheat supply of this country, shows that we have about twenty-six million bushels of wheat to do what eighty million bushels formerly did. The proposition is simply this:
The people of Florida have got to accept this shortage of wheat flour with what has been termed as a 'sacrificial conscience.' In other words they have got to become imbued with the spirit of sacrifice from a 'win the war' standpoint. The present accrued shortage did not reach us without warning. Food Administrator Hoover saw it approaching months ago, perhaps a year ago, and he has been continually urging further and greater conservation of our wheat flour.

I am happy to say that Florida has responded notably to this call.
I am proud of the people I am honored in representing. I firmly believe that we have been observing all the rules and regulations fully as well as any state in the Union, and I have been loath to place any greater restrictions on the people of this state than were necessary to bring about the ultimate results expected of us.

But I want to impress upon every consumer and every merchant in the state of Florida that we must be absolutely inflexible in carrying out the further conservation of our wheat flour. This must not be taken as a reason for any argument on the part of the people, consumers or merchants. We must accept it as a fact and as a condition over which we have no control, and in facing it, we must not lose sight of the end to be accomplished by a calm, determined acceptance of conditions, and a determination to meet these conditions with the strength that is necessary to overcome them.

My office has been flooded with requests for special permissions, which I am authorized to grant, and which enable merchants and others to perhaps defend themselves against the present shortage to some extent.
In this connection, I wish to say to the people that I shall give no special permissions of any kind, for transactions in wheat flour. I have suggested to all merchants that they sell their wheat flour when they sell their substitutes and I cannot undertake to give permission for some merchants to sell flour against another man's stock of wheat flour substitutes. There is sufficient demand today for all the flour that can be placed on the market, and those who have overstocks of substitutes should increase their efforts to sell those substitutes rather than to attempt to get flour as a medium for disposing of other stocks.

We will be taught a most valuable lesson by this war, and I know of no chapter in the pages of the book that are being unfolded, as important to us, and as valuable to us as this lesson of sacrifice that we are learning. It will do us no harm. It will teach us to be more thrifty.
It will teach us to adapt ourselves netter to any conditions of life that may be forced upon us. And when we have won this war, which we surely will, the lessons that we have learned will stand us in good stead for certain recuperation of our business strength and our individual ways of living. We will come out with a better knowledge how to live and how to live more economically; so that the surplus of our gains may be devoted to better conditions of living. The prize is worth the effort, and he who strives most at the present time will certainly win most in the future."

To All County Food Administrators: It has come to our attention that certain unscrupulous millers and others are placing on the market as food for human consumption, laundry starch under various brand names such as corn flour, corn starch flour, corn starch, etc.
This commodity which is technically known as pearl starch, is used in laundries and it was determined by the Department of Agriculture some time ago that it is unfit for human consumption and deleterious to health.
Will you kindly bring this matter to the attention of your merchants marketing of pearl or powdered starch, under any designation as food for human consumption is stopped.

Under recent rulings no starch of any kind may be sold in the United States for domestic or export use, branded as corn flour or with any other name in which the words corn and flour appear.
This does not refer to edible corn starch produced and marketed as such by reputable starch manufacturers.

Important to Growers Word has been received from New York to the effect that a great congestion of perishable food commodities has resulted at terminals in New York, and hundreds of cars are now in the yards at Jersey City waiting for final disposition.
The labor situation is described as very bad, and it is difficult to find places for unloading and clearing of accumulation. The shippers of this state should for the next several days at least look some other points for future shipments. Other means should be sought to avoid delays, which will mean a loss of perishables. An embargo has been placed against shipments of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway and this will be lifted just as quickly as congestion is relieved.

Shippers can do much to aid the situation by routing their produce to markets other than New York for the next week or ten days.
Another thing that is important, Don't mix other vegetables with potatoes in order to attempt forced delivery, such efforts will result in confusion and loss. Mixed loading is contrary to reasonable methods of shipping.

Braxton Beacham,
Federal Food Administrator
Florida.

Volusia now has thirteen dipping vats. Government experts at first estimated that seventy vats would be necessary to thoroughly eradicate the tick from Volusia, but if the work is pushed and cattle are driven to the vats in the early morning and late in the afternoon, this number can probably be cut to twenty-five or thirty. Cattle on Volusia county ranges look unusually fat and sleek this spring; dipping may have had something to do with this.

A force of forty-one convicts is now grading the road between Arcadia and the aviation camps and an order for one million brick has been placed, so it appears that the government's demand for a good highway to the camps will soon be met.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with Liberty and justice to all."

Orlando was one of the few cities of America where the eclipse of the sun was visible in town and Orlando can now place this bit of advertising on their folders:

"Come to Orlando, the only place in Florida where you can see the eclipse. Buy a home and build an eclipse porch with smoked windows. Have a smoke house for smoked hams. Smoke Lucerne Circle cigars and enjoy life. Smoke in Orlando and you will not have to smoke hereafter. Special rates at the Eclipse House. Next total eclipse 300 years from now. Come to Orlando and wait for it!"

This is respectfully submitted to the Orlando Sentinel and the Reporter-Star, W. E. Branch and C. E. Wade.

The newspapers are giving thousands of dollars worth of space to the war funds and there is no reason why the express companies and the railroad companies should not make special rates for the soldiers. If a soldier wants to send something home he should get a special rate. The Red Cross Campers should not be paying exorbitant sums for cloth to make the U. S. soldiers comfortable. The manufacturers of this cloth should be made to pay the price for the Red Cross. Everything that enters into the war should be reduced and every individual and every firm should be made to see that winning the war is a business—is OUR BUSINESS—and be governed accordingly. The newspapers have given more to this war than any other business in the country today and their efforts should at least be appreciated to the extent that every other business should be made to do likewise.

THE MENACE OF THE BEAST

Professor Thomas, head of the department of Germanic languages in the biggest university in America has been an admirer of Germany. But the revelations of this war have made him see a great light.

"It is no time now," he says, "for us, who are professors of German, who have lived in Germany, who have loved many things in German life, and who sincerely wish well to the German people—it is no time for us to sentimentalize in an elegiac strain and urge that the Germans are fond of flowers and Christmas trees and folksongs. They have given themselves over to the Beast, and we have got to fight the beast until he is no longer dangerous."

"Prussianism is now unmasked; it stands for conquest, domination and swag. It matters not that German statesmen now and then take the trouble to deny that this is so; Germany is not ruled by statesmen but by soldiers. We cannot trust a single word its statesmen say, but we can trust what its soldiers do. And it has become as plain as a pikestaff that there will be no good life possible on this planet for those who love liberty, justice and fair play until the menace of the Beast is done away with."

That is a pretty clear statement of the reason why we have got to kill Germans, much as we dislike the task. Those Germans have not only given themselves over to the Beast," as Professor Thomas says. They have so identified themselves with the Beast in all his characteristics of brutality, greed, cruelty and hatred, that we cannot distinguish between them and their ugly idol; we are driven to believe, in spite of ourselves, that they ARE the Beast—that the Beast has become incarnate in the German nation today.—Daytona Journal.

IMPROVING INLAND WATERWAYS

Recently there has been a pronounced movement on foot by the government and the various states toward improvement of the inland waterways of the country and considerable interest has been taken by government officials and state officers and many prominent citizens in this movement which will mean so much in a commercial way and for the protection they will offer during the war.

Monday, it is announced that the governors of sixteen states and a number of prominent government officials will arrive at Folkston, Ga., and proceed to the St. Mary's river, where the inland waterway leading north from Jacksonville to points along the Atlantic Ocean will be inspected with the view to having this waterway improved so it can be used for war purposes and also for shipping and passenger traffic, as traveling by sea will be dangerous, now that the submarines will be active along the coast.

Florida will come in for its share of this inland waterway improvement as the various canals are now being improved and it is proposed that the government take over the entire East Coast waterway from Jacksonville to Key West and maintain it at such a depth that passenger boats can be operated without difficulty. The various rivers, lakes and sounds are already in possession of the government but the canal portions are still under the ownership of a private corporation and are being neglected to a point of where they are of little use even to light draft boats. A canal nearly 500 miles long, maintaining a depth of six feet uniformly would hide a superb waterway that would prove invaluable in either war or peace times.

The cross state waterway, which is nearing completion is another valuable acquisition to the state. From either Palm Beach or Fort Lauderdale the boats can now pass through the state canals to Lake Okechobee and as soon as the canal is deepened between the lake and the Caloosahatchee river, work on which is now proceeding satisfactorily, a waterway will be provided to Fort Myers and the gulf, thus completing the channel from the East to the West Coast. During the past two years this waterway has been operated to a limited extent and thousands have crossed the state that way, anxious to see the celebrated inland lake and the wonderful Everglades section. One of the results of this travel has been the remarkable development of Moore Haven, which is located on the west shore of the lake at the mouth of the cross state canal and on the direct line of the intracoastal travel. The small hotels built less than two years ago have been more than doubled in capacity and now one of 117 rooms is under course of construction, making the room capacity of the young city about 250, which is more than many cities of ten thousand can boast.

It is evident that great numbers of the winter visitors are anxious to see interior points of the state, which have been inaccessible until recently and with the development of the various waterways and the improvement of the boat service, there will be a great quantity of travel through these attractive inland waterways, which will add to the general interest of the state as time goes on.—Times-Union.

Fourteen Recruiting Stations for Army in Florida

To accommodate the large number of volunteers for the different branches of the Army, "Uncle Sam" has established recruiting stations at the following named places: Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Palatka, Fort Pierce, Miami, Orlando, Ocala, Gainesville, Tampa, Arcadia, Live Oak, Tallahassee, Marianna and Pensacola, Florida. Much interest is manifested in the new Tank Service Corps, which is calling for physically qualified men who are familiar with automobiles, motorcycles, tractor drivers, and all forms of gas engines. For this branch, both volunteers and selective service men are eligible for enlistment or induction. The United States Guards are now calling for men who have had experience as policemen, firemen, well organized National Guardsmen, and former members of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. Aside from the above branches the Coast Artillery Corps, Engineers Corps, Medical Department, Cavalry, Infantry, Field Artillery and Stevedores (white), Quartermaster Corps, also different detachments of the Quartermaster Corps are still open to men of the volunteer age, between 18 and 21 and 31 to 40 years of age.

OPEN WARFARE NOW

Troops Get Out of The Trenches At Last

Paris, June 10.—Warfare on the western front has returned to the open methods of the American Civil war and the Napoleonic wars.

After three and a half years in the trenches the contending armies are fighting once more in the open. Cavalry charges, maneuvering of large bodies of infantry and the employment of mobile field artillery are seen again as in other battles famous in history.

For this the Hindenburg tactics of wresting territory from the allies regardless of human lives is responsible. But it comes as a welcome change to the allied soldiers, who are thoroughly sick of life in the trenches.

The March offensive on the Picardy and Flanders fronts was the first big battle on the west front since 1914 that was in the open. British and German cavalry detachments took part in that engagement and the furious hand to hand fighting in streets and open fields by the opposing infantries has been described and re-described.

The present German drive on Paris saw the open warfare methods amplified. Ever since the start of the Hun's push on May 27, when the British and French were driven from their trenches along the Aisne, the fighting has been in the open.

Patrols of cavalry have been employed to a greater extent than at any time since 1914. Correspondents at the front tell of furious cavalry charges by the Germans against the French infantry. The Germans have had to leave their heavy artillery behind, owing to the rapidity of their advance, but their field artillery and machine guns follow the stream of projectiles into the French lines.

Allied cavalry patrols which have not seen active service for a long time are now dashing with reckless courage here and there along the front, making reconnaissances in the style of 1861. Frequently they meet enemy patrols, and then a hot battle with lances or carbines ensues.

Occasionally the allied horsemen run into regiments of advancing German infantrymen. Then their task is to get back into the French lines and warn the officers in command. In this way also some furious encounters have taken place, which will not be told in detail until the actors in them get war crosses for their bravery.

For the first week of the battle the French infantry was in retreat, but it fought the Germans desperately nearly every step of the way. Rifles and bayonets took the place of machine guns and hand grenades. Hand to hand fighting supplanted trench warfare. Every inch of ground gained by the Germans was bitterly contested.

Now that the drive has been checked along the Noyon Chateau Thierry line, the French infantry, re-enforced by thousands of Gen. Foch's reserves is counter attacking and fighting furiously to prevent the enemy from advancing any further toward Paris.

Death of W. D. Grow

W. D. Grow, son of L. Grow died at the state sanitarium at River Junction last Tuesday after a short illness. He had been at this institution for several months, having been afflicted with absent mindedness and nervous trouble and being in a weakened condition was unable to combat a spell of fever that attacked him.

Deceased was born at Wilkesbarre, Pa., and came to this city with his parents many years ago virtually growing up here. He had a position as baggage master on the A. C. L. for many years on the run between Jacksonville and Port Tampa and had the respect and esteem of his employers and his fellow employees. He leaves parents, a wife and baby and brother and sister to mourn his loss.

The funeral occurred from the Grow residence last Friday, Dr. Hillburn officiating, interment being made in Lakeview.

Card of Thanks

To the many friends who were so kind during the recent bereavement of our son and brother and husband, for those floral offerings we offer our heartfelt thanks. Especially to Supt. Dumas of the A. C. L. who

Men Wanted

In the window of L. R. Phillips & Co.'s drug store on First street there is displayed a double page advertisement from a recent issue of a dissemination from a current issue of a great national weekly that brings the war on the sea directly home to this section, and to the store where the advertisement appears. The proprietor of the store has a personal interest in the advertisement also, for it relates to war work that he is doing for the government. Furthermore, he helped pay for it—and the cost of the "ad" for the single issue was $10,000.

The advertisement calls for 50,000 men, between 21 and 30, for service in the new Merchant Marine. In the language of its headline, it offers "50,000 jobs at sea" to clean-cut young Americans. It states that the U. S. Shipping Board will give them special training before putting them into actual sea service, carrying supplies to our armies and Allies in the fighting fields of Europe. So much importance is attached to this work that men accepted for it are exempted from a call to military duty.

Early Saturday Night Closing

All the leading stores of Sanford have agreed to close on Saturday night at ten o'clock until further notice. This is in line with the policy of the government in conserving lights and also means much to the clerks and delivery boys.

All those merchants who have agreed to close are to be commended for their action and the public can be governed accordingly. 843p

May Commandeer Cotton

Washington, June 4.—An order virtually commandeering the entire cotton output of the country is momentarily expected by men in the cotton industry, it was learned here today.

Members of the War Industries Board refused to deny such a step was contemplated, and it was evident the extensive cotton needs of this government and the Allies had produced a situation that was acute and which could be relieved only by a drastic move.

The formal announcement that John Scott of Chicago has been appointed textile administrator of cotton fabric was announced last Saturday and with this the first step toward a commandeering order was taken, it was believed.

It was said to be probable the same procedure that attended the taking over of the wool supply would be followed and that after the commandeering, when the government needs have been determined, the less essential industries will then be taken care of.

Scott assumed his duties Monday. He will assist in all matters pertaining to textiles, such as arranging for co-operation with government bureaus in furnishing their supplies of textiles and textile products, in establishing and maintaining relations between the board and the industry, and in determining with the industry the procedure to be followed in meeting civilian requirements and in safeguarding civilian interests.

It is stated by the Mout Dora Topic that the Lake county school board has accorded the teachers of that county an increase that will mean about $4,000 added to the payroll for the next school term.

Sub Gets 18 Vessels

Washington, D. C., June 10.—German submarines, whose operations off the Atlantic coast became known a week ago today have added another small craft to their list of victims. Navy department despatches published today announce the sinking Saturday morning of the American steamer Finar Del Rio of 2,504 tons, engaged in West Indian trade, about 70 miles off the coast of Maryland.

Dispatches to the navy department failed to reveal whether the steamer was torpedoed or sunk by shell fire, but press dispatches from Norfolk quote the survivors who landed south of that point as saying she was torpedoed.

The loss of the Finar Del Rio brings the total known list of vessels sunk by German raiders to 18, eight steamers and ten ships of other types.

A methodical survey of the entire Atlantic coast from the Mexican line to Halifax has failed to bring to light any evidence that German submarines have employed a short base or have had touch with the shores at any point, Secretary Daniels said today. This was taken as an official denial of reports that strange lights had been seen at night from several sections of the coast.

Rear Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, inspector of naval districts has just made a report on the steps taken by commanders of the district to protect coastal shipping and locate the raiding forces. Secretary Daniels said he was without information tending to confirm the report that seven U-boats were known to have departed from their base for the raid.

PROTECTIVE LEAGUE FORMED

Will Instill Patriotism and Keep the Home Fires Burning

The Home Protective League met in the court house last night and the large crowd filled the room. The temporary organization was made permanent and the officers were elected at the meeting last night. The executive committee had drawn up a program and every war slogan and every war slogan was repeated. The League is formed with the idea of keeping alive the patriotism of the people at home and looking after the disloyal citizens. All overt acts in the way of disloyal remarks and speeches will be investigated and brought to the attention of the local officials and the government agents. With this large body of real Americans working together the home fires will be kept burning and disloyal citizens will go slow about disloyal acts for they will be watched more closely and the League will be on the job every minute.

The following officers were elected: H. R. Stevens, president, Forrest Luke, vice president, A. D. Parrish, secretary, Executive committee, E. P. Forster, C. E. Henry, J. C. Hall or Sanford, O. P. Swepe of Ocala, Howard Lyman of Altamonte, E.ador Curlet of Geneva.

Never before in the history of Taylor county have hogs, chickens and home gardens come in for the share of consideration they are receiving at the present time. The citizens of that county are preparing to live at home and board at the same place.

The Bordeaux-McDonald Company, the big pickle firm who have recently established a branch in Chipley are just completing the erection of four large salting vats and a convenient receiving shed on their lot near the B. C. & St. A. depot. The vats are of sufficient size to care for an immense quantity of cucumbers, for which the grower receives cash at the shed.

Scrawny Calves

What makes a calf scrawny of its feed? Germs—parasites in the intestines. Why not free them of this trouble? If you will visit us call some B. A. Thomas Stock Feedery in its feed, within a week you will see it brighten up and in four or five weeks you won't know the calf. Costs you but a few cents and we will refund that if it doesn't do us we say.
