Autotrain to roll again

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Rail service will be returning to normal within a few days. The Amtrack Autotrain is scheduled to resume operations beginning tomorrow.

Autotrack manager John Lombardi said this morning, "While Amtrack originally anticipated that we will be out of operation for only Wednesday and Thursday, today's trip was cancelled yesterday afternoon, before Congress stopped the strike." He added, "It wouldn't have been possible to get everything moving and crews called in as early as today."

Lombardi's staff has continued efforts to contact persons with Autotrain bookings. After contacting several hundred prospective passengers for the past two days, work started yesterday on today's list. "There were about 300 passengers scheduled for today," Lombardi said, "and I hope some of them realized we still won't be able to run, so they won't be stranded."

The Amtrack passenger trains are also expected to return to service beginning tomorrow. Amtrack spokesman Cliff Black observed, "We can't start rolling until the tracks have been inspected, which is required by the Government." He explained, "CSX, which owns the tracks, has probably already sent their inspection patrols out, and all we are waiting for is word from them that everything is approved, and we can start rolling again."

Black said, "When the passenger trains return to operation, they will be starting from the point where they have been housed during the strike." Two passenger trains pass through Sanford on regular schedule. The Silver Meteor and the Silver Star are presently housed in South Florida.

Black commented, "We have established a toll free phone number for information on other rail services." He said it would be advisable for people planning trips up north from the Sanford area to call for information. The number is 1-800-451-7272. See Trains, Page 5A

Controversial lakefront palm tree dead, removed

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A palm tree, planted six years ago on the lakefront near the Monroe Harbour Marina, has died. City crews removed the remains this past week.

The tree, said to have cost over $3,000, was planted in late 1986 through efforts of the Scenic Improvement Board. Because of the expense, the tree became the focal point of a controversy and a political campaign.

A.A. McClanahan, then seeking his first term on the Sanford City Commission, commented, "I based my whole campaign on that tree. I considered it a waste of money."

The night before the 1986 city election, a candidate forum was held by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. In discussing the tree, McClanahan commented, "Although I like beautification, I'm not in favor of $3,250 trees bought for the Scenic Improvement Board, to be installed on the lakefront."

Arguments continued over the cost of the tree and the source of the money. Even today, it is unclear. Connie Williams recalled, "The S.I.B. sent letters out asking for donations, and they got $3,500 from businesses and

Naval station reunion begins

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — This is reunion weekend at Fleet Reserve Branch 147. Former service personnel stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station will be gathering to meet with old friends.

According to Horace Paul, Fleet Reserve spokesman, "This is a time when people who were stationed at the Sanford base and their families, can get together and renew old acquaintances and recall their time spent together."

"This will be a fun event," Paul commented. "We will start with a golf tournament on Friday, and through Saturday and Sunday, it's the people themselves who will be making this a great time."

The Reunion Golf Classic will be held at the Mayfair Golf and Country Club. It will begin with a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. The price is $30 per participant, which includes greens fees, cart, prizes and food.

The Fleet Reserve Club, at 3040 W. State Road 46 in Sanford, will be open beginning at 10 a.m. Friday morning, for registration of visiting former service personnel.

Saturday, all of the events will be held at the Club, which will be open at 8 a.m. Paul explained, "This part of the reunion is always the one that people say they enjoy the most. They check the registration list, find an old friend whom they haven't seen in years, and sit around talking about old times for hours."

Lunches, dinners, and light food will be available at the Fleet Reserve throughout the entire reunion period.

"Our main guest this year," Paul said, "is retired Master Chief John Fehr, who left the Navy in 1968 after 28 years of service, joined the Fleet Reserve here in Sanford, and immediately started working on establishing these reunions."

The military base, where the Central Florida Regional Airport is located, opened in 1942 as a

City's first shopping center is up for sale

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford's first major shopping center outside of downtown is up for sale.

$1.25 million will purchase the Sanford Plaza, offered for sale as a package deal.

The Sanford Plaza, built in 1968 near the intersection of Highway 17-92 and Airport Blvd., was the first major shopping center to be located outside the downtown area. J.C. Penney was the first major tenant, moving in that year from its E. First Street location.

GMH Realty of Florida, in Altamonte Springs, is handling the sale for the owners. According to agent Wendy Supino, "Only two stores are presently being used. The J.C. Penney Company, and Hair-A-Rangers." She explained, "The Penney Company store recently signed an extended lease to continue using the building through 1996." She added, "They are eventually scheduled to move to the Seminole Towne Center Mall when that's built."

"The Hair-A-Rangers lease by the month," Supino said, "so a continuation of their operation if the plaza is sold would depend on what the new owner might want."

Supino admitted that the original threat that the expressway might cause the plaza to be eliminated, caused many businesses to leave. "Actually," she said, "the way the exit ramps are now to be constructed at this intersection, the expressway is going to prove beneficial to anyone who buys the plaza, because it will be an easy access from the south."

Supino would not identify the present owner of the property. "It's a mortgage company," she explained, "which obtained the property on a foreclosure from the owner. They don't want to be in the plaza business, and want to sell it to someone who will give it the rehabilitation it needs."

The property is located on 14.92 acres of land. "Only one small corner of the property will be used for the expressway construction."

City eases way for affordable homes

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The City has taken the first step in helping reduce the cost of affordable housing. On a 4-1 vote, it has eliminated a number of charges associated with building the homes.

The action is expected to lower the cost of a new home in Monroe Meadows, by a total of $2,923 for qualified buyers.

Monroe Meadows, is to be located in the 3600 block of Sanford Avenue, near the Lake Mary Boulevard intersection. Several adjacent parcels of land will be utilized for the development.

A total of 108 residential lots are planned for the property, but the initial plans call for construction of approximately one third of the development, or 36 units.

The single family residences are planned for 900 to 1,000 square feet of living area. The estimated price per home has been established at $59,000.

The City Commission On Monday night approved a waiver that eliminate the cost of building permits and review fees normally

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Betting-bill compromise fails

By GUY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The near future of pari-mutuel gambling in Florida was thrown into doubt when a compromise bill stumbled in the House.

Just when sponsors believed Thursday they'd engineered a hard-fought agreement over racing dates among three South Florida thoroughbred tracks, opposition to legalization of video lottery machines derailed the bill at least temporarily.

"There ain't nothing dead until you leave," said House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach. "But I'd say it's pretty close to dead."

If no pari-mutuel rewrite bill is passed by

July 1, state officials say betting on horses, greyhounds and jai-alai matches will be illegal. Some lawmakers believe the games can continue but under little state regulation.

The vote was 52-49 for an amendment removing the video lottery authorization from the bill (CS-HB247) despite the tantalizing prospect of its raising $40 million for education when fully implemented.

Wetherell then had the bill referred to committee, which puts it on the shelf indefinitely. But he said the issue will probably return before the special session ends.

The Senate sent the House another pari-mutuel bill with the horse track compromise, but Wetherell also referred that version to a committee. It does not contain the video lottery authorization.

Video lottery machines, which are opposed by Gov. Lawton Chiles and the Senate, would operate games of chance where a person could win money. They would be legal only at existing pari-mutuel facilities and would be run by the Lottery Department.

"We ought to allow people to do what they want to do," said Rep. Ron Silver, D-North Miami Beach. "We've got gambling all over this state."

Under the racetrack compromise, Hialeah Park would get a permanent spring 58-day racing season and a break on handle taxes to make up for loss of profitable winter racing dates.

Federal court next stop for Senate map

TALLAHASSEE — A panel of three federal judges is the next stop for a new state Senate redistricting map drawn by a divided Florida Supreme Court to create a Tampa Bay minority district.

The judges scheduled a hearing today on the proposal, approved in a 4-3 ruling Thursday by the state court.

Attorney General Bob Butterworth filed a motion Thursday asking the federal judges to let the state court's ruling be the final word. The justices themselves said their power is final on legislative maps.

"They (federal judges) need to step aside and let that plan take effect," said Richard Doran, assistant deputy attorney general.

The state court, reacting to a Voting Rights Act objection from the U.S. Justice Department, reluctantly accepted a map that draws a 45-percent black voting-age population Senate district through minority neighborhoods in Pinellas, Hillsborough, Manatee and Polk counties. It is similar to maps previously advocated by some black lawmakers and supported by the Republican Party.

Lead problem discovered in Tampa

TALLAHASSEE — Too much lead has been found in the air near a Tampa recycling plant and greater protections may need to be taken in the area, a state agency has said.

A regional official with the federal Environmental Protection Agency recommended the state designate the area around Gulf Coast Recycling Co. a problem, reported the state Department of Environmental Regulation.

This is the first time EPA has taken such a step because of elevated lead, according to John Gunn of DER's Division of Air Resource Management.

Gunn said, however, that problems with ozone in the air in Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Duval, Pinellas and Hillsborough counties led to designations — and car inspections — in those areas.

Onlookers pull baby from burning car

LARGO — Accident onlookers who failed to save a driver from his burning car discovered a baby hidden in the wreckage and pulled the infant girl to safety.

The unconscious baby's car seat was covered by debris, said one of the rescuers after the Wednesday accident.

"We didn't know anyone else was in the car," Dave Pemas said. Then, he said, "we looked over and saw a baby in the passenger seat."

The baby was critically injured and revived by the volunteers at the scene. But the girl's father, Kenneth Edward Jones, 26, of Largo, remained trapped and died.

The mid-morning accident occurred on rain-slick U.S. Highway 19. Jones had stopped for a traffic light and when the light turned green, he accelerated, spun around in a circle and crossed the median. Florida Highway Patrol Trooper James Kirby said.

Prisoners may build houses

AVON PARK — The Florida Department of Corrections is reviewing a proposal that would match the pool of available labor at the Avon Park Correctional Institute with the need for inexpensive housing.

Vocational instructor Charles Burkhardt and inmate Edwin F. Blackwelder drew up the proposal for Project Liberty, which would use vocationally-trained inmates to build modular homes at the prison.

The men figure a single two-bedroom, two-bath home can be built for approximately $9,000.

Volunteers Gladys Lambert, left and Corina Burkhardt bag and distribute food for the needy yesterday for the Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program at Zagar Plaza. The packages contain flour, tomatoes, peanut butter, canned pork and butter. Food is available monthly to anyone who can show they are currently receiving government assistance, such as food stamps.

House delays any action on budget

By BILL BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — House leaders say the chamber will uphold Gov. Lawton Chiles' expected veto of a Senate-passed $30.9 billion budget so they can argue for more spending in areas like schools and social services.

"What I want to do is continue the dialogue," House Speaker-designate Boileau "Bo" Johnson, D-Milton, said after a huddle with Senate leaders in the upper chamber Thursday night.

Johnson said he and Appropriations Chairman Ron Saunders, D-Key West, visited the Senate after some senators proposed adjourning and going home.

That would force the House to take or leave the Senate's no-new-tax budget for the fiscal year that starts Wednesday.

Johnson said he told senators if they'd agree to return today, the House would send the Senate bill unchanged to the governor, who said he'd veto it.

The Senate would vote to override the veto, sending the bill to the House.

"They have the votes to sustain a veto until there's a supplemental budget," said Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach. "That will put the House in a negotiating posture."

"I think everybody wants to do that," said House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach.

Chiles said lawmakers still have time to come up with an acceptable budget for the fiscal year that starts in five days.

"Every day that we go, it becomes more improbable that we will be able to finish (on time)," he said Thursday night on a television call-in show broadcast on public TV. "But at this stage, it's still possible."

Chiles OKs permit bill for sale of cigarettes and would lose it for selling to anyone under 18 under a bill signed into law Thursday by Gov. Lawton Chiles.

Retail tobacco dealers will have to pay up to $50 for the annual permits, and the money will go to enforce Florida's law barring sale of tobacco products to children.

"Now there are some teeth in the law and we are going to follow it," Chiles said as he signed the measure (SB 152H).

Present were Senate and House lawmakers who backed the legislation, including Rep. Lois Frankel, D-West Palm Beach, who fought for it before legislative panels and on the floor as tobacco company lobbyists tried to water it down.

"This is an example of when Republicans and Democrats get together and can really do something for this state," Frankel said. "We bucked a lot of special interest money in doing this."

An estimated 19 million packs of cigarettes are illegally sold to children in Florida each year, Frankel said.

In addition to stepped-up enforcement of the underage sales law, 10 percent of the annual permit money would go for educational efforts to prevent or cut down on smoking among children.

Poverty

Miami fourth worst of 200, rivals Third World; Orlando 98th

Associated Press

MIAMI — Miami had the nation's fourth-worst poverty rate among 200 U.S. cities of 100,000 residents or more, according to the 1980 census.

The city, now populated largely by immigrants and blacks, ranked behind only Laredo, Texas — which is on the Mexican border — Detroit and New Orleans.

Miami far outdistances other Florida metropolitan areas on the poverty scale.

The next closest is Tampa — No. 51 nationally — at 19.44 percent. It is followed by No. 67 Hialeah, 18.20 percent; No. 83 Fort Lauderdale, 17.11 percent; No. 98 Orlando, 15.76 percent; No. 121 St. Petersburg, 13.55 percent; No. 126 Jacksonville, 12.97 percent; No. 149

Hollywood, 11.01 percent and No. 156 Tallahassee at 10.17 percent.

While the current ranking is one notch below Miami's third-place finish in the 1980 census, all other indicators point to a decline in the city's quality of life over the past decade.

"We have about one-third of the black population that is locked in poverty with no realistic hope of escape," Florida International University sociologist Marvin Dunn said. "What that suggests is that if and when we have an explosive situation, police abuse, for instance, there is a large reservoir of people who are likely to participate in civil disturbances."

Dunn has written extensively about Miami's racial problems. He is currently completing a book on the history of blacks in Dade County.

Proof of the economic slide of the city's poor came in the census figures, which also show that Miami's actual poverty rate climbed from 24.5 to 31.2 percent over the past decade.

Sixty-eight percent of all families in the predominantly black Liberty City district live in poverty. And in an adjoining neighborhood, the median household income plummeted to $6,221 in 1980, nearly half the 1980 median of $11,500.

"There's nothing left there but people in absolute, stark poverty — grinding poverty," said Charles Blowers, head of the research division with Metro-Dade's planning department. "These are Third World numbers."

Three arrested inside auto dealership

Three Sanford men were arrested inside the fenced compound of Ken Rummel Chevrolet early Thursday morning. Jock F. Singleton, 18, 1017-B Pine Ave.; Terrance B. Hillery, 19, 2380 Church St., and Danny J. Lawson, 19, 108 Pecan Ave., were each charged with burglary and resisting arrest by Sanford police.

Sanford Capt. Ralph Russell said a patrolman discovered the three men inside the compound at 2:30 a.m. The three men ran, but were apprehended in a nearby wooded area. Russell said Hillery was bitten by a police K-9. He was treated at the scene.

Sanford Lt. Mike Rotundo said investigators are uncertain if the three men were involved with two prior incidents at the Orlando Drive dealership. On June 16, someone broke into the dealership and opened a safe and took the undisclosed contents.

This week, sometime between 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday, someone entered the compound and stole a $24,000 truck belonging to a Sanford man, according to reports.

Shooting incident brings arrests

Three Seminole County residents were arrested by Longwood police following a shooting early Wednesday morning. One youth was struck by two shotgun pellets in the incident.

According to police reports, several youths went to a home in the Coventry subdivision looking for a 17-year-old suspect to discuss a fight. The youths left, but were followed by the three suspects to another home, before returning to the neighborhood without a confrontation. The three suspects then joined the youths and chased them, one bearing a baseball bat.

As the youths attempted to drive away, they reported hearing a loud noise and one reported feeling a "sting" in his cheek. He was treated at South Seminole Community Hospital where he was found to have two wounds over his eye. The three suspects were found at a Wentworth Court home in Longwood.

Thomas Joseph Henning, 20, 886 Siverado Court, Lake Mary, was charged with being a first-degree principal to aggravated battery with a firearm. The 17-year-old Longwood youth was charged with aggravated battery with a firearm, shooting into an occupied vehicle, possession of a short-barreled shotgun and possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

A 15-year-old Altamonte Springs youth was charged with aggravated assault and battery. Henning was taken to the Seminole County jail. The two youths were taken to the Juvenile Justice Center.

Multiple charges filed

Marty Lee Rasmussen, 35, 374 Amethyst Ct., Lake Mary, was arrested by Longwood police Wednesday.

Rasmussen was charged with offenses against a computer, grand theft, forgery and uttering a forged instrument. Police say Rasmussen cashed a forged $26,289 check at an NCNB bank on East State Road 434 on Jan. 14 this year. After he was taken to the Seminole County jail, Rasmussen was served with two Orange County arrest warrants charging him with obtaining property with worthless checks.

Shoplifting charged

John Peter Fitzpatrick, 36, 410 S. Magnolia Ave., Apt. 11, Sanford, was charged with shoplifting by Altamonte Springs police Wednesday.

A security employee at Burdine's department store at Altamonte Mall reported seeing Fitzpatrick leave the store without paying for a $25 pair of shorts he found he had hidden in his clothing.

Marijuana possession charged

Keith Leonard Myera, 19, 1506 W. 15th St., Sanford, was charged with possession of marijuana by Sanford police Wednesday night.

Police report seeing him throw a bag later found to contain marijuana when they approached him in front of a West 15th Street business.

Man charged with domestic violence

Richard Lee Darlin Sr., 45, 415 Springview, Sanford, was charged with domestic violence by Sanford police Wednesday.

Darlin's wife reported he punched her in the stomach and punched holes in the walls of their home.

Warrant arrests made

The following wanted persons have been taken into custody:
 • Tammy Gable Richards, 30, 2380 Clay Ct., Longwood, was arrested at her home Wednesday morning. Richards was wanted for failing to appear at a hearing in Orange County to answer to a charge of obtaining property with a worthless check.

• Judith Carol DeLawder, 42, 180 Wilbur Ave., Lake Mary, was arrested at her Longwood-Lake Mary Road business Wednesday morning. ## Expressway project manager: Osprey were not smoked out

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The project manager for a section of the Seminole County expressway said he never intended for smoke to disturb the nesting tree of federally-protected osprey Saturday.

"Quite frankly, there was no effort to smoke them out," said Mark Riordan, expressway project manager for White Construction Co. "It would do us no good. The young have fledged and left the nest. We're just waiting for official verification so we can take it down."

Saturday, county Natural Resources Officer Tim Clabaugh reported seeing smoking piles of debris within 100 feet of a tree bearing an osprey nest. It is the same nest tree that stands in the middle of path of the expressway being built by White. Clabaugh said the smoke was blowing in the direction of the tree and could disturb the birds.

Clabaugh said he contacted White foreman

John Conner and warned him the smouldering piles may violate federal wildlife protection laws. Clabaugh said he urged Conner to extinguish the smoke.

Clabaugh said he saw the smoke at about "midday," but said Wednesday he saw the smoke shortly before he contacted White and Florida Game and Fresh Water officials. Wildlife officer Jeff Ardelean said he was contacted of the complaint between 3 and 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Ardelean said when he arrived at the construction site near County Road 427 and Lake Mary Boulevard, a bulldozer was pushing burning sections of the debris from the piles, apparently to extinguish them.

"White responded real quickly," Clabaugh said.

Ardelean said no citation was issued. White has received permission from state and federal wildlife protection agencies to move the nest to a pole outside the road path and remove the tree once the young had "fledged" — flown away.

School seeks electronics grant

By VICKI BOBROWER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board has applied for a grant from the United States Department of Education that would allow electronics students from Lyman High School in Longwood to do some on-the-job training at Siemens Stomberg-Carlson.

Siemens Stomberg-Carlson is a telecommunications manufacturer based in Lake Mary.

The school district has requested $366,102 for the first year of the four-year grant and decreasing amounts for each successive year. The second year they would like $365,398; the next year they want $270,588; and the request for the final year was for $150,398.

Betty Hogle, director of vocational and technical education for the school district, said that only four grants will be given out nationwide, so she said that chances are slim that it will come through.

"But you never know," she said. "And we need a program like this so we had to apply."

Hogle said that Lyman was chosen over Sanford's Seminole High to act as the pilot school for this project only because they already have an electronics program in place.

"If we get the grant and get the program going," Hogle said, "we hope to expand it to other schools."

She added that other high tech businesses would be recruited later to work with specialized technology students from other schools as well.

The program would allow juniors and seniors who have shown they have the technical skills necessary to work in the electronics field part time while they are still in school and to be paid a minimum wage stipend.

The grant would also pay transportation costs to and from the work site.

If successful at their work, Hogle said, students might expect to be hired on at Siemens and might be able to go on to Seminole Community College to earn an associates degree at the company's expense.

"This is all very tentative," she said. "It's really just in the planning stages."

Hogle said that she does not expect to receive a response to the grant application until September.

Clarke withdraws candidacy

By VICKI BOBROWER

APOPKA — Carol Clarke, who had only recently announced her candidacy for the Seminole County School Board, has withdrawn from the race.

Clarke, who had been seeking the District 3 seat of incumbent Nancy Warren, announced Thursday morning, that she had decided not to run for the office at this time.

"I have got to make a living first and the school board would not be a living for me," she said.

Clarke said that a meeting with her family on Wednesday, convinced her that this was not the right time for her to make a commitment to the school board.

She said that several members of her family had convinced her that she had too many other activities in which she was involved and that it would not be fair to either herself or to the school board to seek that office.

"They said they did not want to influence my decision, but that they believed that I had my fingers in too many pies as it was," she said. "And they were right."

Clarke, 44, a cost accountant with Martin-Marietta, had said she was seeking the school board seat in order to help

Ugly picture

The 1990 census, a 10-year snapshot of America, is just now coming into focus. The picture is not reassuring. Compared to 10 years ago, poverty is more widespread and the cost of housing, a major element in the increase in poverty rates is dramatically higher. The sharp rise in rents and mortgages has far outstripped modest gains in incomes. Both the poor and the middle classes are being squeezed.

At the same time, there has been a rise in affluence. The number of well-paid professionals — doctors, engineers, lawyers, accountants, dentists and architects — soared during the decade. Those earning between $75,000 and $100,000 increased by 403 percent; the number of $100,000 to $150,000 earners grew by 386 percent. And so the chasm between rich and poor widened ominously.

A report quietly released recently by the Census Bureau provides further evidence of the deteriorating economic condition of working-class Americans. Titled "Workers with low earnings: 1984 to 1990," the report found that in 1979, 12.1 percent of full-time American workers earned below $12,195 a year, which is the poverty line for a family of four (1990 dollars).

Ten years later the figure had grown to 18 percent. Men and women, whites and minorities, those with or without a high school education were all likely to be among the low-wage earners. The increase in the working poor occurred even among people with one year or more of college.

Social scientists studying the Los Angeles riots point to the frustrations of a rising underclass with limited opportunity and expectations. The census provides the stark numbers that tell us just how large that underclass of working poor, those struggling mightily to keep ahead of poverty, is. The numbers also tell us a lot about what has happened to American expectations.

It is a picture of inequality, of welfare mothers living in substandard housing in dangerous neighborhoods and sending their children to inadequate schools while the affluent reside in gated communities, patrolled by private security guards, their children sheltered. It is not the America most of us grew up in. It is not the America we want our children to inherit.

The American dream

The perversity of the human animal continues to make life difficult for social engineers. Planners, for example, have been trying for years to break Americans of the notion that the way to live is in a separate house on a quarter-acre lot in the suburbs. But that's how most Americans still want to live — and will live if they possibly can.

More efficient and compact kinds of housing — town houses, manor homes, condos, apartments — may be more efficient, economical and less wasteful of resources. But according to a survey taken for the Federal National Mortgage Association, four Americans out of five continue to identify the "traditional single-family detached home with a yard as the idea place to live."

What's more, survey respondents said they would rather own such a home far from work than rent within easy commuting distance. Two-thirds would even take a second job to be a homeowner.

Indeed, the survey indicates that the major reason for a decline in home ownership the past decade was that fewer families could afford it. But pricing people out of the single-family home market is hardly the same thing as changing their minds about the advantages of renting.

Planners face similar resistance to their good ideas for moving people between home and work. Try as they may to get commuters out of their cars and into transit, usage keeps dropping while automobile usage keeps climbing. Again, the solution might be to make the drive unaffordable. But even the sharp gasoline price hikes of the 1970s ultimately had little effect on commuting habits. People prefer to drive their own cars.

This doesn't mean that efforts to increase transit ridership or make urban development more compact are doomed or misguided. It does mean that old habits die hard. And that the American dream of a home and a yard and two cars in every garage, dies even harder.

Can we talk of race? Probably not

Those two peas in the campaign pod, Dan Quayle and Bill Clinton, have one thing in common. Both defined a whole of an emotion-bruising issue in this duller-than-wallpaper presidential campaign.

And both made cowardly use of a woman as a scapegoat to make their point.

The media are now busy warmly commending Clinton for making rap singer Sister Souljah the object of our disaffections after she was quoted in The Washington Post as saying, "If black people kill black people every day, why not have a week and kill white people?"

The Clinton-Souljah imbroglio raises several points of contention where most blacks and whites part company.

First, if Clinton felt so strongly about Souljah's caricatured, but frightening call-to-racial arms, he should have condemned it on the day (May 15) when The Washington Post published it, instead of waiting for a month to hustle Jesse Jackson's convention with his phony indignation. And if he had a problem with appearing at a convention with Sister Souljah, he simply should have declined Jackson's invitation.

Second, Souljah's expressions of anger have widespread support among blacks. That's why several black ministers have spoken out in support of her. One of them, the Rev. Calvin Butts, the distinguished minister of New York City's Abyssinian Baptist Church, has invited Souljah to his church.

Third, Clinton is wise to try to keep a politically discreet distance from Jackson — although it was foolish to deliberately offend him. Jackson whom I have always considered a liturgical superfly has a history of jerking candidates around if they don't kiss his egomaniacal ring. But Jackson still comes the closest of any single black national leader to articulating what Alex Haley called "the core experience" of black people.

Editorials in the mainstream media have lamented the silence of black leaders in condemning Souljah. But suppose they did condemn her. Who would listen?

According to a recent study sponsored by the Robert Wood Foundation, inner-city blacks aren't listening to black leaders or black role models. They're listening to rap singers. When black elected officials, clergypersons and civic leaders do speak out against what they believe is antithetical to black community interests (for example Clarence Thomas' nomination to the Supreme Court) and their point of view is rejected, white media moguls in places such as The Wall Street Journal gleefully lean at the mouth.

Several black ministers have spoken out in support of her.

Historically, the white media have always coddled "pastorized" black leaders who tell white America what it wants to hear, but have shunned tell-it-like-it-is blacks. But when young blacks violently revolt, a traumatized America admonishes its pastorized black colleagues. "Why didn't you tell us this was going to happen?"

Many blacks in positions of dual responsibility have always spoken out on black-on-black crime, the community-destroying drug culture, the imperative to register and vote, the initiative-debilitating welfare syndrome and, most important of all, the need to get a good education. Unlike Quayle and Clinton, they don't do this only during political campaigns.

Clinton's denunciation of Sister Souljah is not new. In the '60s, white America detested Malcolm X, while black America adored this magnificent man. In 1968, whites accused blacks of racial divisiveness for embracing Black Power.

Perot splitting Clinton camp

WASHINGTON — Reports reaching Washington from Little Rock, Ark., say that things are not very happy in Gov. Bill Clinton's camp. Apparently, a major split has developed among his strategists on how to deal with independent Ross Perot in the presidential race.

To a great extent, the divisions within the Clinton Democratic camp are almost identical to those that have plagued the Bush GOP strategists. They involve basic campaign strategy: whether to try to expand the candidates' natural constituencies in an attempt to win an absolute majority at the polls in a three-way battle, or whether to shrink the candidates' natural base in an attempt to win a victory in the Electoral College or in the House.

In President Bush's case, the argument is whether to concentrate on the Republicans' natural conservative constituency and not try to expand across the political middle. The fear is that by trying to attract moderate votes, Bush risks alienating conservatives, who will either vote for Perot or stay home on Election Day.

The argument in the Clinton camp is whether to focus all efforts on luring liberals, minorities and labor — traditional Democratic constituencies — or branch out across the middle and risk alienating these core groups.

Reportedly, Clinton's most liberal advisers, including his convention manager, Harold Ickes Jr., believe he can get 40 percent of the vote from traditional Democratic constituencies, and that this would be enough to win. But others, including campaign manager David Wilhelm, believe that Clinton needs to broaden his base and go after a much wider audience.

At present, the Wilhelm team seems to be winning. (Witness Clinton's recent remarks to the Rainbow Coalition, criticizing black rapper Sister Souljah.)

But this is a fight that is far from over. One major question is where Hillary Clinton stands. She is emerging as a top strategist for her husband, and some reports from Little Rock say she is siding with the liberals.

The Federal Election Commission has been asked a deceptively easy question: What is an "election"? The question, however, is far from simple, and the context in which it is being asked has actually never come up before.

The situation is this: A three-way presidential election could be thrown into the House of Representatives under the provisions of the 12th Amendment. If so, is the period that leads up to the House vote an "election" within the meaning of federal election law.

About two months would pass between Election Day, Nov. 3, and a House vote. During that period all three candidates will probably spend huge sums in a furious attempt to sway House voters. Should these activities be governed by federal election and campaign finance laws?

Federal election laws limit contributions to $1,000 per donor, per election, per candidate; require the source of all contributions in excess of $500 to be revealed; and forbid contributions from foreigners, corporations and various others.

The most basic question is whether this November-January period would simply be considered an extension of the 1992 election. If so, all the rules would pertain — and so too would the overall spending limits that presidential candidates accept in exchange for federal matching funds.

Most presidential campaigns spend just about every dime they are allowed to by law by Election Day. If the 12th Amendment period is considered simply an extension of the election, the Bush and Clinton camps will have to worry about keeping funds in reserve for December and January. Ross Perot does not have to worry because he will not accept matching funds and therefore does not have to honor spending limits.

The Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, is the governing law of campaign financing. The law speaks about general, "primary," "special" and "run-off" elections. Clearly, the House election would not be a primary. It also does not seem to fit the definition of a general election. It is not a run-off, either, because under the FECA those are controlled by state law.

So would a House election be a special election?

It might depend on when the House votes. A special election is defined as an election to fill an empty office, but the House election would probably come before George Bush's term expires.

As things stand now, it appears that an election in the House under the 12th Amendment is simply not covered by campaign financing laws. This would mean that the candidates can raise and spend as many millions as they can from any source without any limitations or accountability.

This is a fight that is far from over.

Asian mob makes bigger inroads here

WASHINGTON — The F.B.I. and other law enforcement agencies are bracing for the Communist Chinese takeover of Hong Kong in 1997, which they have concluded could pose one of the most dire organized crime threats to the United States in modern times.

East Asian organized crime groups are relocating to the West. The influx means that the American mob scene — dominated by the Gotta and Gambinos — will have surnames such as Wong and Tong and Heung. Triads and tong, not the mafia and syndicate, are the new nomenclature of these organized crime groups.

In the United States, these families, or triads as they are known, are finding lucrative careers in an array of illegal activities including drug trafficking, money laundering, alien smuggling, extortion, loan sharking, illegal gambling and prostitution.

One Senate investigator told us that for years many law enforcement officials have buried their heads in the sand, refusing to face up to the threat. Shortages of agents who speak Asian languages are hindering their ability to win cooperation and trust from potential witnesses.

In one case, tens of thousands of immigrants from the Fukian islands off the coast of China have begun moving into New York's Chinatown. Meanwhile there is only one officer in the entire city of New York — with a metropolitan police force of 25,000 — who speaks their dialect.

One of the advantages enjoyed by these members is that they can often evade enforcement agencies by crossing international borders. Last week, Congress held a hearing to study the need for increased cooperation among countries in cracking these international crime rings.

"They're working on an international basis. We have to be able to meet that threat. Otherwise they will be able to run from country to country to enjoy the spoils of their crimes," Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., the ranking minority member on the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, told our reporter Andrew Conte. These mobs have "fingers" from America to Europe to Asia, according to Roth, enabling criminals to flee from one country to another according to their needs.

Roth regards the current situation as analogous to the 1920s when the United States experienced a rash of interstate bank robberies. Bank robbers, like the famous Bonnie and Clyde, began using automobiles to rob banks and then fled behind state lines.

Roth fears that the solutions to the current problem do not lend themselves to the relatively simple solution employed in the Bonnie and Clyde days, when a national bank robbery statute was passed.

Congress recently got a rare behind-the-scenes glimpse of the threat from a modern-day Joe Valachi, who rocked the world in the 1960s with his revelations about organized crime.

Shielded by a fictitious name and a screen to block his face, the contemporary East Asian "Clyde" recently explained to congressional investigators how he imported nearly 400 pounds of heroin into the United States with a retail value that sometimes exceeded $100,000 a pound. Mr. Ma, as he was referred to, actually employed Central American diplomats to utilize their special status allowing them to avoid Customs officials while bringing suitcases of heroin to the United States.

Triads and tong, not mafia and syndicate, are the new organized crime nomenclature.

Less than requested awarded for housing repair program

By J. MARK SANDFELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County will only receive $60,000 instead of the $100,000 requested for a housing repair program.

But the county officer in charge of community development said a lot can be done with the $60,000.

"Twenty grand is a good start," said Buddy Balagia, county community development officer.

The grant was awarded Seminole County this month by the Florida Department of Community Affairs "FloridaFix" program. Balagia said FloridaFix will enable the county to provide grants to homeowners to repair broken windows and doors and add weatherstripping. The repairs can also provide grants for floor repairs and even replace faulty air conditioning and fans.

"It's an energy efficiency grant," said Balagia. The Sanford Community Development Office will administer the grants for the county, said Balagia. The city offered FloridaFix grants in 1990 and Seminole Self Reliant Housing offered the program last year.

Balagia said $100,000 would have enabled the county to repair about 100 homes. DCA will require the county to repair a minimum of 15 homes, but actually many more repair jobs can be done with the grants. The county will be required to match the grant with at least $15,000 in cash, services and materials.

"We could do twice that amount," said Balagia.

Balagia said the cash will be provided from $60,000 already allocated from the county Community Development Block Grant program for emergency home repairs. Donated services will be provided by the Habitat for Humanity project. NAHRS — Neighborhood Affiliates Building Home Repairs. Local building supply centers will be approached for supply donations, he said.

charged for new housing. City Manager Bill Simmons explained it would reduce the cost of each home by $213.60.

The developer, Suda Inc., had also requested the City to waive police, fire and recreation impact fees, as well as water and sewer impact fees. The City agreed to waive the police and fire impact fees, but the sewer impact fee would reduce the purchase price of a home by an additional $300.

Simmons explained, "As I understand it, the owners will start paying these fees two to three years after they purchase the homes. The payment then would be over about an eight year period." He added, "We believe that should give new homeowners time to increase their income levels to the point where the cost of the fees won't be impossible."

In order to be approved for the delayed payment, home buyers would be required to meet certain qualifications.

Commissioner Whitley Eckstein questioned, "How many buyers can be authorized to have this deferral? Would it only be the first 36 buyers?"

City Planner Jay Marder responded, "Obtaining a deferral in impact fees has many requirements including acceptance of the development by the city, which we have done. It also specifies limits on a home buyer's level of income, a one-year occupancy requirement, and that the buildings meet with housing requirements of the Orlando Metropolitan Area."

Bill Miller, representing the developer responded, "The deferrals would be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis for the purchasers."

City Commissioner Lon Howell cast the only dissenting vote on the proposal. "I don't believe we should put the payment of impact fees on a time-delayed basis, but eliminate entirely the requirement for building permits," he said. "I think we should put it all on a time basis, and I'll vote against this."

City Planner Jay Marder explained, "For affordable housing, the city's comprehensive plan calls for action to be taken to help reduce the buyer's cost of the home." He added, "This is one of the steps we can take."

"We consider this as our first affordable housing project with a private contractor," Marder said. "We are working on others, such as the Golden Rule, but the City is supplying a half dozen lots for that project, and it isn't exactly an independent situation."

Property taxes were not discussed during discussion of the project, later Marder explained. "The waivers and variances will not have any affect on property taxes."

At the conclusion of Monday night's presentation, Commissioner A.A. McClanahan moved to approve the measure. He commented, "I think this is a real demonstration project for the city, and I consider this as our initial entry into the affordable housing program."

With no further discussion from the commissioners, or any objections from the few citizens who attended the meeting, the ordinance requesting the waivers and deferred payments, was approved.

Personal income up 0.3 percent

By JOHN D. McGLANE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Personal incomes rose 0.3 percent in May, the fourth straight advance, the government said today. Consumer spending was up an even sharper 0.5 percent.

The Commerce Department said that personal incomes had risen only a tiny 0.1 percent in April. Incomes have advanced each month since falling 0.2 percent last January, the first time they have risen for four straight months since March-June 1991.

1-800-USA-RAIL.

The nation's trains were on the move after Congress ended the 2-day-old shutdown that halted freight traffic and had threatened to wreak havoc today for hundreds of thousands of commuters along Amtrak's Northeast Corridor.

Brushing off labor opposition, the House and Senate overwhelmingly approved a bill imposing a 35-day cooling-off period and submitting the stubborn dispute to arbitration. President Bush signed the bill early today.

Under the legislation, an arbitrator must recommend a settlement — choosing between labor's last offer at the bargaining table and the railroad industry's. The recommended settlement would then go to Bush for approval.

The rail shutdown began at midnight Tuesday when the Machinists union struck CSX Transportation, one of the nation's largest freight railroads. Other unions had agreed to continue talking for 48 hours, but most other freight haulers shut down, saying their many interconnections made it impossible for them to work without CSX. The unions called it a lockout.

CSX workers in Jacksonville, Fla., began safety checks of the freight carrier's tracks soon after Bush signed the bill, said spokesman Gary Wollenhaupt.

"We are beginning to get the railroad back in order," he said.

The shutdown idled everyone from giant manufacturers such as General Motors, which stopped production at four plants, to the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, which canceled today's show in Jackson, Miss., after being stranded in Lafayette, La.

Heavy rains predicted here

From Staff and Wire Reports

SANFORD — Central Florida, including the Sanford and Lake Mary area, will continue to be swamped today and tonight by heavy rains pouring from a tropical depression that is tracking across the area toward the Atlantic, according to the National Weather Service.

The depression battered much of Florida with rain and strong winds overnight. Nearby, low-lying areas of Volusia County were flooded.

Overnight rainfall readings were: Sanford, .04 in Orlando and 3.04 in Daytona Beach.

Moving from the eastern Gulf of Mexico southwest of Tampa Bay, the storms are expected to pass across Central Florida and move into the Atlantic tonight. The depression will bring the largest rainfall amounts to east Central Florida, including Seminole County. Normal summer conditions are expected to return this weekend.

"The good news is that it has not strengthened and it is still just a depression," hurricane forecaster Max Mayfield of the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, said this morning.

Even so, the system was drenching Florida's Gulf Coast as it headed for shore. A coastal flood watch issued by the National Weather Service was in effect through today for the west coast of Florida from Fort Myers Beach north to Anclote Key, north of Tarpon Springs.

At 5 a.m. EDT today, the depression's poorly defined center was located near latitude 27.7 north and longitude 83.0 west, just off the west coast of Central Florida between Tampa and Cedar Key.

It was moving northeast at about 12 mph with winds of 35 mph, a motion and strength it was expected to maintain through Friday, bringing the center across Central Florida today.

"If it holds together as it crosses the Florida peninsula it does have some chance to go ahead and intensify as it moves into the Gulf Stream and out into the Atlantic," where it would threaten mainly marine interests, Mayfield said.

Higher-speed wind gusts accompanied squalls mainly east of the depression's center. Several locations along Florida's Gulf coast reported gusts of 40 to 50 mph.

More than 3 inches of rain had fallen on Manatee and Sarasota counties by late Thursday. The area had been soaked with 6 to 10 inches of rain in the previous two days.

In Manatee County, a state of emergency was declared shortly before 11 p.m. Thursday as Lake Manatee filled to overflowing.

Numerous roadways west of Interstate 75 were flooded Thursday and some were impassable; Manatee emergency officials advised residents to stay off the highways.

Denial of repair shop overturned

By BOB POWERS
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford City Commission overturned a Planning and Zoning Commission decision Monday night which will allow Armondo Ortiz to operate an auto repair shop in Sanford.

On May 15, P&Z denied an application for a conditional use of the property located at 2531 French Ave. The denial, on a 3 to 2 vote, was based on what P&Z considered to be "the limited size of the site", and the configuration of the structure which might cause a problem with vehicular circulation.

During Monday night's City Commission meeting, Robert Seigler, representing the property owner, Richard Dove, appealed to the Commission to overturn the decision. "My client plans to repair only high-level cars such as Rolls Royces and Jaguars, there won't be any large vehicle traffic," Seigler added. "In looking around the nearby area, I find 13 buildings, of which four are presently vacant."

Property near the site includes a gas station, trailer rental, automotive parts sales, a fast food restaurant and a single family dwelling.

The actual land is 6,870 square feet, and has a building already on the property, which Ortiz plans to utilize for his repair shop.

Commissioner Lon Howell commented, "I have a problem with allowing another auto repair shop in that area of French Avenue."

Commissioner A.A. Mc-

Cianahan responded, "That's not the problem, I believe the real problem we have is with the increasing number of empty buildings there, as well as throughout the city." He added, "If this business being there causes a problem, it will be the owner who will suffer the most."

Commissioner Whitey Eckstein agreed. "I think it will definitely be to our advantage to allow this business and have it added to the city's tax rolls."

McCianahan moved to overturn the P&Z denial. "I think we should give this gentleman the opportunity to run a business here in Sanford, and help the city continue to grow."

The vote was four to one, with Howell opposing the motion.

Beach week continues in midst of budget crunch

By Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — The week before a possible shutdown of state government, 300 Department of Corrections employees are at an expenses-paid workshop at an oceanfront hotel in Daytona Beach.

William Thurber, deputy corrections director, said the seminars are designed to make the department more efficient. The training sessions at the Daytona Beach Marriott are for the department's business managers, accountants and purchasing agents.

But the head of a business-group said the agency should have looked at less-expensive alternatives with the state facing a possible partial shutdown if lawmakers can't agree on a budget for the fiscal year that starts Wednesday.

"This kind of poor judgment only diminishes public confidence," said Dominic Calabro, president of Florida TaxWatch. "It just confirms in the minds of taxpaying citizens there is waste in government."

The workshop, which began Wednesday and was scheduled to conclude today, has been an annual event since 1977, a department spokesman said.

Carpet cleaner convicted in coed slayings

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE — A carpet cleaner convicted of two counts of first-degree murder in the June 1991 strangulations of two college students will learn his sentence next week.

Circuit Judge Robert P. Cates, who found Alan Robert Davis, 30, guilty in the non-jury trial Thursday, will hold a sentencing hearing beginning Monday.

Davis was convicted in the deaths of Eleanor Ann Grace, 20, a psychology major from Fort Myers, and Carla Marie McKishnie, 23, an early childhood education major from Brandon at their off-campus apartment June 6, 1991.

Attorneys say the penalty phase of the trial could last about three days. The judge will hear evidence of aggravating and mitigating factors and decide whether Davis should receive the death penalty or life in prison.

Davis showed no emotion Thursday when the verdict was read, but Grace's family, who watched the four-day trial from the front row of the courtroom, began crying.

Defense attorneys decided against having a jury, leaving the decision on his guilt or innocence with Cates.

Prosecutors put on three days of testimony, but defense attorneys didn't call any witnesses.

"If there ever was a cool, calm, collected individual after the murders, it was Alan Robert Davis," Assistant State Attorney Ralph Grabel said in his closing argument.

In addition to the two counts of first-degree murder, Davis was convicted of burglary with assault at the home of the University of Florida students.

Key elements in the prosecution case were a confession given by Davis when he was arrested two days after the slayings and a fingerprint and palm print in the bathroom where Ms. Grace's body was found.

He told detectives Ms. Grace made a pass at him and then sprayed him with Mace while he was cleaning the women's carpet. He said he punched her in the face and knocked her out, strangled Ms. McKishnie when she came to her roommate's aid and later strangled Ms. Grace.

The murders started a community on edge over the serial killings of five students at their off-campus apartments the previous August. Investigators calmed tensions by immediately announcing they did not believe the two acts of murders were related.

Astronauts beginning experiments

By SUSAN HENNINGER
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston — The seven astronauts on Columbia's marathon mission will be too busy to get sick of each other, a NASA official said as the 13-day flight entered its second day.

While in space, the crew of five men and two women will grow crystals, study drops of fluids, set small fires in sealed chambers, and undergo medical tests needed to gain understanding of the effects of extended space travel.

The mission, NASA's longest shuttle flight, is intended to prepare for longer shuttle trips and life on a space station.

"We're going to find out whether those kids are really friends or not," said Brewster Shaw, deputy director of the shuttle program.

Columbia blasted off from Florida's Kennedy Space Center just after noon Thursday. It is due back July 8.

The crew quickly powered up Spacelab, a 23-foot laboratory in the cargo bay. Almost all the round-the-clock research will be performed there.

Shaw, an ex-astronaut, said Columbia's crew would be less cramped because of the extra room Spacelab provides.

"This is obviously the longest mission we've flown so they'll be jockeyed up together," Shaw said. "But we've flown seven people before without a Spacelab module, which is a heck of a lot more cramped than they're going to be."

"They're going to be so busy over these 13 days that I'm pretty sure they won't have time to get mad at each other," he said.

Crystal experiments were among the first to be activated. The mission is expected to yield thousands of specimens bigger and purer than those cultivated on Earth, where gravity hampers growth.

Scientists hope the crystals will speed the search for drugs against AIDS and other diseases, and lead to better semiconductors and infrared detectors.

Astronauts also tested the glovebox, a sealed compartment where they will study the behavior of small fires in low gravity and conduct other experiments.

"It looks like we're off and running, and we're looking forward to the rest of the flight," payload commander Bonnie Dunbar said.

NASA plans two more 13-day flights before lengthening to 16 days and more. The agency hopes to have astronauts living on a space station for months at a time by the decade's end.

The third and final mission of Skylab, an orbiting station, lasted 84 days in 1973-74. The record for a shuttle flight was 10 days and 21 hours, set by Columbia in 1990.

Shortly after Columbia reached orbit, Commander Richard N. Richards reported what he thought was a problem with one of the most crucial pieces of equipment — the toilet. Mission Control said the problem — a squealing toilet fan — was minor and later said it was fixed.

11-year-old renews fight for 'divorce'

Associated Press

ORLANDO — An 11-year-old has renewed his fight for a "divorce" from his parents so he can live with a foster family.

The boy, identified as Gregory K., signed the lawsuit before his attorney, Jerri Blair, mailed it Wednesday to Orange Circuit Court.

A similar lawsuit was dismissed last week by a judge in neighboring Lake County for lack of jurisdiction. The boy used to live in Orange County with his biological parents, who are now separated and live in St. Louis.

The lawsuit, which challenges a longstanding child-welfare policy of family reunification, is opposed by the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

"We believe children are persons but children are still children," Jim Sawyer, a lawyer for the agency, said Thursday. "Legally, we don't think the child has a right to file for adoption or for termination of parental rights."

Gregory's father has given up his parental rights and said he favors the adoption, but the mother is fighting for custody. The mother, a waitress, has regained custody of her other two children.

The lawsuit charges both are alcoholics and unfit parents.

European community leaders meet with battered visions

By BARBARA JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal — With their vision of a unified Europe battered after Danes rejected a treaty on closer ties, European Community leaders may limit the trading bloc's central authority to reassure other voters.

A two-day summit opening today is the first gathering of the 12 leaders since the Danes voted down the so-called Maastricht Treaty in a June 2 referendum. The vote upset the community's union program and underscored simmering doubts in other nations.

Despite Ireland's ratification of the treaty in a referendum last week, the Danish vote altered the atmosphere in the community. The treaty is likely to dominate the summit because it cannot be implemented next year unless every nation endorses it.

European diplomats said they expected the leaders to agree to a statement that would emphasize restricting the sway of the EC's central authority, the Brussels, Belgium-based European Commission, to matters which cannot be handled at a national level.

Britain hopes a new emphasis on bolstering national powers will enable the Danes to find a way to ratify the treaty, allowing it to be implemented next year as scheduled.

"We do not want a centralized executive in Brussels which tried to insert its tentacles into the nooks and crannies of national life," said British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd.

The community's paymasters — Germany, France and Britain — are leading objections to proposals for a 31 percent increase, to $116 billion, in the 1987 budget to finance the unity program.

New EPA rules will increase air pollution

By M. JOSEF WERTZ
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — New federal clean air regulations are coming under attack by critics who claim the rules could allow businesses to significantly increase the amount of pollutants they release into the atmosphere.

The Environmental Protection Agency issued the regulations

Thursday, saying the aim was to allow businesses some "flexibility" and reduce costs while still meeting requirements under the 1990 Clean Air Act.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., accused the EPA of caving into pressures from Vice President Dan Quayle's Council on Competitiveness, which had argued for months that the requirements should be made more flexible to ease the cost burden to industry. "Clearly, environmental policymaking in this administration is taking place at the Council on Competitiveness," Waxman said in a statement.

The EPA rules, which for months have been the subject of intense debate between the agency and the White House, outline when businesses must obtain state pollution control permits under the 1990 law.

Iran-Contra indictments may resurface

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — "New and disturbing evidence" may bring more indictments this summer in the Iran-Contra arms-for-hostages scandal, say prosecutors who are investigating a possible coverup at the top of the Reagan administration.

The focus of the probe is whether officials supplied a false account to investigators of the White House-approved 1985 arms sales to Iran through Israel. Independent counsel Lawrence Walsh said Thursday in a report to Congress.

Reagan aides feared the shipments of TOW anti-tank missiles and Hawk anti-aircraft missiles might have violated the Arms Export Control Act, according to investigators who looked into the scandal.

And the CIA assisted the delivery of 18 Hawks in November 1985 without written presidential authorization.

The Reagan administration was trying to free U.S. hostages being held in Lebanon. Proceeds from the arms sales were diverted to support the Contra rebels in Nicaragua.

President Reagan initially told investigators for a presidential panel looking into the Iran-Contra affair in 1987 that he had approved the 1985 shipments. Later, Reagan changed his story and said he hadn't. He now says he can't remember whether he did or not.

Iran-Contra prosecutors last month tried to persuade former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to provide evidence against Reagan, sources familiar with the investigation have said.

Weinberger was indicted June 16 on charges of obstruction and lying to Congress and Iran-Contra prosecutors about his knowledge of the 1985 arms sales. He is accused of concealing 1,700 pages of personal notes from investigators. Prosecutors found the notes last November at the Library of Congress.

"We are attempting to determine whether officials at the highest level of government, acting individually or in concert, sought to obstruct official inquiries into the Iran initiative," said Walsh's report.

It said "few government officials" have "volunteered information willingly" during the 5½-year probe. Some requests for documents made in 1987 were fulfilled in 1990 or later, it added. The requests were to the White House, the office of then-Vice President Bush and five federal agencies, the report said.

"The continuing investigation has developed new and disturbing evidence that made it necessary to re-interview many of the witnesses first questioned in 1987," the report said.

Walsh was considering whether additional proposed indictments would be presented to a grand jury, the report said.

"We hope to complete our investigative work by the end of this summer," it added.

The Weinberger indictment said Reagan and his top aides attended a Nov. 24, 1986, meeting at which then-Attorney General Edwin Meese III announced that a shipment of Hawk missiles a year earlier to Iran by way of Israel may have been illegal.

Orlando suddenly hot

ORLANDO — Mica Lewis drove in three runs, including a two-run single in the fourth inning, to give Orlando a 7-5 Southern League victory over Memphis Thursday night.

Bob McCreary (1-0) earned the win by going seven innings. He gave up nine hits, three runs, one walk, and he struck out five.

Ed Pierce (6-7) went six innings to get the loss, giving up 11 hits, five runs, three walks, and he struck out three.

Bittiger shuts down Suns

JACKSONVILLE — Jeff Bittiger limited Jacksonville to three hits over seven innings to give Huntsville a 3-0 Southern League victory over Jacksonville Thursday.

Craig Paquette had a home run in the fourth and a homer by Jorge Brito with Kevin Dattola on base made up the Stars' scoring.

Bittiger's record is now 8-5.

Another NFL star killed

BROOKSVILLE — Philadelphia Eagles defensive lineman Jerome Brown was killed when the sports car he was driving skidded out of control after leaving a car dealership in his Florida hometown, police said.

Brooksville police chief Ed Tinacher said Brown's 12-year-old nephew also was killed in the single-car accident.

Brown, 27, was born and raised in Brooksville and spent his offseason there.

The 6-foot-2, 295-pound tackle anchored the Eagles' defensive line and went to the Pro Bowl the past two seasons. The Eagles took Brown as the ninth pick in 1987 after his All-America career at Miami.

Ewing injured

SAN DIEGO — Patrick Ewing dislocated his right thumb when he hit the rim in practice and is expected to miss the United States' first three games of the Olympic qualifying Tournament of the Americas in Portland, Ore.

The New York Knicks center also sustained a cut that required five stitches. He said doctors told him he will be out five days.

All-Stars underway

Babe Ruth stars join Preps and Little Majors on field today

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — No more surprises. Last year the Sanford Babe Ruth All-Stars showed up in Sarasota for their first ever State Tournament and walked away with second place in the B Tournament.

This year things figure to be tougher because not only do more people know about the Sanford team, the locals have also moved up to the A Tournament. The B level is for first-year programs or cities with two all-star teams, while the A level is for the better programs.

Another problem that figures to haunt the local team is pitching. Last year the team was led by the trio of Todd Braden (Seminole High varsity), Deon Daniels (Seminole High J.V.) and Curtis Peterson (Lyman J.V.). None of those three return so head coach Tom Keiger and assistants Brian Jones and Brian Nazar are forced to rely on an inexperienced mound crew if Sanford is to return to the state tournament.

The locals will open play in the Florida Babe Ruth Baseball District II Tournament in DeLand this afternoon at 5:30 p.m. at DeLand High School. Sanford received a first round bye so they will play the winner of Thursday's game between Tavares and Flagler. The other game Thursday had host DeLand playing Longwood. The losers of Thursday's games were scheduled to play at noon today.

Should Sanford win today, they would play the DeLand-Longwood winner at Conrad Park at 6 p.m. Saturday. A loss would send the locals into an 8:30 p.m. game at Conrad Park Saturday. Should Sanford win either of their first two games, they would play at either 1 p.m. or 7 p.m. Sunday at Conrad Park.

Leading the Sanford team will be Craig Stevens, Lloyd Dixon, J.J. Gill and Jason Wildermuth from the City Champion Knights of Columbus Cardinals; Willie Williams, Terrance Jenkins and Robert Dickerson from the American Division champion Rotary Club Royals; and Quentin Hunt, George Beasley, Alexis Acosta and Ryan Colgate from the National Division runners-up Moose Lodge Pirates.

Other members who will be counted on heavily are Cliff Branch from the Woodman of the World

Hosts drop LM opener to Smyrna

SANFORD — In a society where even youth league sports have become business-like, some people are still able to view baseball as a game.

Sanford Junior Major All-Star head coach Charlie Lytle is one of those who can. Even after the New Smyrna All-Stars defeated Sanford 15-5 in the opening game of the Florida Little Major League Sub-District II Tournament on Thursday night at Roy Holler Field, Lytle managed to keep a positive outlook.

"They played as good a baseball as they can play, and that's all that I can ask out of them," Lytle said. "I'm not really concerned whether or not we win or lose the game. I want them to take the principles that we try to teach them on into life."

Those principles coach Lytle spoke of seemed to be paying off for Sanford at the beginning of the

Mistakes send Preps to defeat

By DEAN SMITH

DeLAND — Sloppy fielding and questionable running doomed the Sanford All-Stars to a 15-7 defeat at the hands of host DeLand on a wet day in the opening round of the Babe Ruth Baseball Prep (13-year-old) All-Stars District II Tournament at Conrad Park Thursday afternoon.

"It's a shame," said Sanford head coach Robert Smith. "I feel like we have the best team in the tournament, but a few mistakes cost us several runs. We should have won this game in a blowout. Now we have our backs to the wall and have to win four games in a row to advance to the state tournament."

Sanford was in action again this morning as they played Longwood, a 9-7 loser to Flagler Thursday, in an elimination game at DeLand High School at 10 a.m. If the locals were victorious over Longwood they will be in action at 3 p.m. Saturday back at DeLand High.

Sanford took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Bart Counts singled in Tommy Raines, who had walked, with two out.

But DeLand came back with an unearned run in the bottom of the second inning to tie the score, then used two errors to start an eight run outburst in the third to take a 9-2 lead.

Sanford battled back to cut the lead to 10-7 going into the bottom of the sixth inning. The locals could have actually been tied or ahead, but two runners were thrown out at third on base running mistakes.

Sanford had the momentum and appeared to have DeLand pitcher Tom Peterson on the ropes, but a hard rain in the bottom of the sixth inning forced a 2 1/2-hour rain delay. After the delay the home team added five runs on only one hit and Peterson ended the game on two ground outs and a strikeout, sending Sanford to the loser's bracket.

Brett Counts led the Sanford offense with three hits, while Bart Counts and Byron Decae added two hits each. Walter Bryant, Raines and Richard Badger chipped in with one hit each.

OVIEDO — Not even a seventh inning sprinkler delay could douse the Lake Mary Mudcats as they cruised to a 3-0 shutout of the Oviedo White Sox in an NABF (National Amateur Baseball Federation) game Thursday night at Oviedo High School.

Chad Kessler took the mound for the Mudcats and held Oviedo to four hits while striking out three and walking one to post his second victory in as many tries.

First round of Amateur washed out

By ROBERT STOCK
 Herald Correspondent

BONITA SPRINGS — For some, Thursday's first round of the 75th Florida State Amateur Golf Championship was filled with good shots and birdies. For others, the immense lakes and greens at Bonita Bay Country Club caused bogies and worse.

But for all of the 180 competitors, there efforts amounted to nothing as constant rain cancelled first round action.

While only a drizzle fell from the sky in the late afternoon, water flooded the two Bonita Bay courses, especially the Marsh layout, which will not be used for the rest of the championship.

The tournament will be held on the Creekside course, with 18 holes being played today and Saturday. The low 70 players and ties will then squeeze in 36 holes Sunday.

But ongoing rains threaten to wash out today's action.

Many players struggled Thursday, including Lake Mary's William Snyder, who endured two double bogies, a triple bogie and a quadruple bogie, in his state amateur debut.

J.W. Howard from Lake Mary also had trouble as the rain came down harder in the afternoon. He suffered consecutive double bogies at the end of play. Both Snyder and Howard toured the Marsh course.

One person who was enjoying a good round was Winter Springs' Gary Keymont, who stood at even par through 11 holes on Creekside, when play was cancelled.

But they will all start at even par when, and if, they tee it up today.

How do companies handle employee alcohol problems?

DEAR MARY: I've got a problem with a co-worker and I don't know whether to just keep my head down and my mouth shut until the boss gets wise to her, or whether to try to force her to get help by letting people higher up know what she is going on.

She calls in late or "sick" at least two Mondays a month. She's had several drunk-driving arrests in the past two years and sometimes when she's at work, she can't remember a thing that happened the day before. She carries one of those little bottles of bourbon that you get from airlines in her purse and goes to the restroom to take a "nip" a couple times a day.

I think she's got an alcohol problem but I can't prove it and I'm afraid that I'll be branded a troublemaker if I tell the boss about my suspicion. What should I do?

CO-WORKER

DEAR CO-WORKER: From what you describe, it seems clear that she does have an alcohol problem, but I can't tell you what you should do. Employee alcoholism costs American businesses about $28 billion in lost production annually, so pro-

Introduce yourself to metric

If you want to do some home schooling on yourself this summer and make chores at home more challenging, you can increase your knowledge while doing sometimes boring tasks. Take household chores to a higher plane: Introduce yourself to metric as you tidy up your house, apartment, or dorm.

Have you noticed that while all U.S. made household product packages express volume or weight of contents in ounce, quart, and pound — the familiar avoirdupois system — some also record the metric equivalent? Well, take note because big changes are coming in the way you read product labels and consequently, what you buy and how you spend money.

By 1994 — less than two years — all consumer products in the U.S. will label package contents in metric as required by the recently amended federal Fair Packaging and Labeling Act. Measurements in ounces and pounds will only be an additional option for manufacturers. The idea is for U.S. packaging to adopt metric measurements for international trade to help American products become more competitive around the world. Most imports sold in the U.S. include metric labeling because Europe, Canada, Asian countries and others use that system primarily. At the consumer level, the informed shopper familiar with metric will hold the advantage, whether comparing price to content or calculating how much product to buy for a chore or recipe.

Main metric units
The main units of the metric system are the meter, the unit of length; the gram, the unit of weight; and the liter, the unit of capacity or volume. Prefixes commonly used are "milli-," meaning the one-thousandth part; "centi," meaning the one-hundredth part; and "kilo-" meaning one thousand times. For example, "milli-liter" means the one-thousandth part of a liter, "centimeter" means the one-hundredth part of a meter, and "kilogram" means one thousand grams.

How to survive metric world
To survive in a world that "speaks" metric, get the most out of the time you spend cleaning house and maintaining your car by comparing content measurements of products that list both metric and the familiar ounces, pounds, etc. Here are a few ideas:

• A slippery scoop of frozen yogurt has you applying spot remover to a favorite pair of shorts. After they've been rescued, take note that 4 oz. of spot remover equals 118 milliliters.

• As you pour detergent to wash those shorts and other temporary casualties of summer, contrast the metric measurement to the pounds or ounces that are second nature to most Americans. For example, 64 fl. oz., also known as 2 quarts, equals 1.89 liters of detergent.

• And how about those dress shirts that might need a little extra help before Monday morning, especially with humid weather? As you give the shirts a "crisp classic look" with starch, get used to the idea that 15 oz. of a spray starch is equivalent to 425 grams.

CONSUMER FOCUS

• Summer floors get marred with traces of mud pies, softball games, and other outdoor activities. And, of course, the kitchen floor is splashed with just about anything that doesn't defy gravity. A floor cleaner and polish can restore sparkle. The label tells you how much to use and on what kind of surface to apply the product. The label also lets you know that 32 fl. oz., or one quart, of product equals 946 milliliters.

• It's not only time to learn metric, it's also time to flush the radiator in anticipation of fall and winter motoring. With sleeves rolled up and muscles flexed for "do-it-yourself" car maintenance, note that one gallon of antifreeze/coolant can also be measured as 3.78 liters.

• Whether it's three months or 3,000 miles, the oil in the car needs a change, a vital link to proper engine care and a chance to study that 32 fl. oz. of motor oil equals 946 liter.

Translating grams to ounces on product packages is a time-efficient way to become acquainted with metric, but always remember that the number one priority when using any consumer product is to carefully read and follow the instructions on the label.

Those labels will be slightly, but importantly, different in 1994 when grams and liters measure the contents of consumer products. Now is the time to metricize (the table can help). Then congratulate yourself, and give a helping hand to others, with your expanding metric literacy.

Limerick gets no laughs from indignant 'old maid'

DEAR ABBY: I read the following limerick in your column. It was signed by "Westport Pete" — whoever he is. To refresh your memory:

"There was an old maid from Duluth
Who wept when she thought of her youth
Remembering the chances
She had at school dances
And once in a telephone booth."

Being an old maid myself (not by choice), I found this limerick offensive, uncouth and perverted. Abby, I gave you credit for having better taste and higher morals than that.

I am in my 60s and I am unmarried because I thought enough of my siblings to stay at home and help raise them when our father deserted our mother 50 years ago. Our mother has since gone to her heavenly reward and one other sister (also unmarried) and I are holding down the fort.

I just wanted to tell you that I have enjoyed your column in The Lincoln Star for many years, but that poem really got my dander up!

I hope you print this. And if you do, please don't print my name. Sign me...

OFFENDED OLD MAID IN LINCOLN, NEB.

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing on behalf of my friends and myself. We are a small group of very close friends who love to be together and go clubbing. We are all happily married with children.

The problem is whatever we get together, one girlfriend (I'll call her Ellen) wants to include her husband. Now, don't get me wrong, we all have our times together with our husbands, but when we get together to go out, we prefer it to be "just the girls." Besides, Ellen's husband is a total bore. Also, when Ellen invites us to her home, her husband joins the group and dominates the conversation.

Is there a tactful way to tell Ellen that we girls really don't want to be bothered with her husband — without losing her friendship or hurting her feelings?

THE GIRLS IN PHILLY
DEAR GIRLS: I know of no "tactful" way to tell a friend that her husband is a total bore and you don't want to be bothered with his company. However, unless you are willing to tolerate the presence of this insensitive intruder you girls will have to lay it on the line with Ellen. Simply tell her that you girls intended to have an all-girls night out and, inasmuch as "no one else" includes her husband, you would appreciate it if she didn't include hers. Period.

DEAR ABBY: I appreciated all of your letters on forgiveness. My dictionary defines forgiveness: "to no longer feel resentment toward an offender."

I do not believe that means to be all huggy-kissy again, bend over and take another kick in the shorts.

To no longer feel resentment, I offer this verse about forgiveness:
"The friend who ran off with your wife,
"Forgive him for his lust;
"Forgive his breach of trust;
"The pal who schemed behind your back,
"Forgive his evil work;
"And when you're done — forgive yourself!
"For being such a jerk."

A FORGIVING SOUL IN FLORIDA
DEAR FORGIVING: This isn't new to me; I published it in 1988.

Looking God...

Some say God can be found just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church or synagogue. God is everywhere. But, be honest about it. Aren't you more apt to think of weeds that need to be pulled, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God?

But when you visit your church or synagogue, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of His house you find low outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this week. Make it a regular practice.

IN BRIEF

A celebration of marriage

SANFORD — Believing that happy families are the strength of the community and nation, that happily married couples make strong families and that couples who pray, worship, and play together, stay together, the Rev. S. Edward Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church, 1807 S. Sanford Ave., has scheduled a special "Wedding Bells Service" for couples he has united in marriage from 1989 to the present.

The worship service will begin at 11 a.m. on Sunday with a special reception being held in the Fellowship Hall following worship. Couples married by Rev. Ed. prior to 1989, will be welcome. This friendly church welcomes all.

Daughters charter chapter begins

SANFORD — On Sunday, Holy Cross Episcopal Church will receive a charter for a chapter of The Order of The Daughters of The King, at the 10 a.m. service.

The Daughters of the King is primarily a lay order for women communicants in good standing of the Episcopal Church or those in communion with it.

Holy Cross receives this charter with 15 women of the church to be admitted to the order. Candidates have recently completed a 12 week study course on the order and duties of Daughters with the permission of Father Frederick Mann, pastor.

A reception will follow the service of admission in the church parish hall.

Missionary observance set

SANFORD — A Missionary Celebration Observance will be held at Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church, 2150 Airport Blvd., on Sunday at 5 p.m.

The featured speaker for the event will be Missionary Helton White of Sanford.

All are welcome to attend.

Sermon series continues

SANFORD — The Rev. Larry Armbrust, pastor of Christ United Methodist Church, 406 Tucker Dr., will continue his sermon series with "The Christian Soldier's Secret Weapon."

The text will be taken from Ephesians 6:10-18, and will focus upon how in addition to "the armor of God" a believer has access to a secret weapon that enables him to live the Christian life as an overcomer.

The morning worship service begins at 11 a.m. Sunday School for all ages precedes the service and begins at 9:45 a.m.

The public is invited to attend for study and worship.

New and exciting happenings

By KELLEY BYRONELL
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Church of God, 801 W. 22nd St., has new and exciting things going on.

What's new? The congregation recently welcomed a new pastor, the Rev. Donald Wiggins and his wife, Carolyn.

Coming from Rocky Mountain, N.C., the Rev. Wiggins has been in pastoral ministry for 38 years. He has served in Wisconsin, South Carolina and North Carolina. He has been instrumental in organizing four new churches, was pastor at the South Carolina Home for Children and has ministered in three foreign countries.

Carolyn, his wife of 37 years, was a real estate broker and plays the piano and organ. She has directed a program called Women Reaching Women and has worked as a counselor for a crisis pregnancy center.

The Wiggins have a son and two daughters, all of whom are grown and married.

The Sanford Church of God extends an invitation to the community to visit with them and welcome its new additions.

The Rev. and Carolyn Wiggins

What's exciting?

The youth music drama team, Power Connection, presented the musical "Let's Go To The Rock," at the Florida State Teen Talent Competition in Tampa and won.

The group found out on June 17 that they have been selected to compete in the National Teen Talent Competition to be held at the Church of God International Assembly at the New Orleans

Power Connection accepting its trophy in Tampa.

Superdome Aug. 10-16.

This is the first time ever that a group from the local church has ever been represented at nationals.

The musical, "Let's Go To The Rock," is a 50s musical for the 90s. The play deals with parent/teen relationships, friendship, and making decisions which are founded on the rock, transcending all ages, Jesus Christ. The play contrasts the differences in styles of the two decades, while at the same time emphasizing the similarities.

In order to make this trip to New Orleans the group must raise at least $3,000 in the next six weeks.

Anyone wishing to make a donation or sponsor a youth, which is a $150 donation, can contact Sherri Rumber, youth pastor, at 323-3942.

Appreciation fundraiser

MIDWAY — The Midway Citizens Against Drugs will host a Jennifer Kelley appreciation fundraiser Friday and Saturday to raise money for Progress Missionary Baptist Church.

From 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, MCAD chefs will be cooking barbeque chicken and fried catfish dinners for the public at the Midway Community Center on Williams Avenue. The dinners are $5 and will be delivered.

MCAD president Johnell Jackson said the dinner sale is being held in honor of county commissioner Kelley, who has done much for the community. Kelley asked that proceeds from the dinner sales be donated to Rev. Emory Blake and the church.

Allen Chapel to hold Law Enforcement Awareness Day

Law Enforcement Awareness Day will be held Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service of Allen Chapel AME Church, 12th Street and Olive Avenue.

The community and members of law enforcement agencies are interested in developing a better relationship that is conducive for effective and peaceful co-existence.

Chief of Police Steven Harriett and Sheriff Don Kalingler will lead their respective departments in this endeavor.

The trustee board of Allen Chapel AME Church and Pastor John Woodard invite the community to observe Law Enforcement Awareness Day. Speaker for the occasion will be School Resource Officer Victor Burnes.

Their new home will be located at 330 E. Commercial St., across from the Sanford Civic Center. Everyone is invited to the celebration on July 5.

A minister's test

The Rev. Robert Doctor, pastor of St. John Missionary Baptist Church, left, welcomed his son-in-law, Minister Marcus Martin, of Atlanta, after delivering his pastoral sermon under Rev. Doctor's direction. Minister Martin and his wife, Patricia Doctor-Martin, were visiting her parents during the occasion.

'The Greatest Adventure'

Surgery may be bad risk for emphysema

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'd like some information on emphysema. A doctor in California does laser surgery to shrink the patches in the lungs, and I'm interested in acquiring information on this process.

any lasting effect, because the lung surface-area available for oxygen exchange would still be below par.

DEAR READER: You'll have to write the doctor in California because this technique is probably experimental and not generally available.

Emphysema (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease) is a chronic lung condition associated, in most cases, with long-term exposure to inhaled pollutants, such as tobacco smoke.

The inflammation caused by these pollutants affects the natural immunity of lung tissue, leading to bronchitis and the gradual destruction of alveoli, the tiny sacs where oxygen and carbon dioxide exchange takes place. Over time the alveolar sacs break down and coalesce, forming larger sacs, called bullae, that are much less efficient for respiration.

Consequently, as emphysema patients age, they experience progressive breathlessness because of stale air trapped in the lungs. Due to this trapping, the lungs become over-inflated, oxygen cannot enter the bloodstream and patients become severely handicapped. Usually, hospitalized in their own exhaled air.

Treatment for emphysema includes drugs to relax bronchial spasms, combat infection and help liquefy the mucous secretions that are thick and difficult for emphysema patients to expel. Supplemental oxygen is useful, as are special breathing exercises.

Emphysema patients are a terrible risk for surgery because lung disorders increase the likelihood of ill effects from anesthesia. Furthermore, I can't see how shrinking the bullae could have Today's cliché is "Look before you leap." It is often written that more contracts are lost by the wrong play at trick one than at any other single trick. There is an excellent way to cut down your errors at trick one: Work out your plan before you play from the dummy.

singleton eight. Then he led the spade king. However, West signaled with a high spade to show an even number, so East had no inclination to duck the ace. When South had to lose two heart tricks, he was one down.

Cover the East-West cards in the diagram. Against your contract of five clubs, West leads the diamond king. How would you try to win 11 tricks?

If South had paused before playing from the dummy at trick one, he might have noticed dummy's great club cards. He should have ruffed high at trick one and then led the spade king. Let's assume it is won by East and he switches to a heart. South wins with the ace and leads a low trump toward dummy. Eventually he will get into the dummy with a club, thus gaining access to the spade winners on which to throw his heart losers.

South opened with a strong, artificial and forcing two clubs. North's two diamonds was a negative response. After two natural bids, South guessed well not to pass over three no-trump, a contract that probably would have lost the first six tricks.

Readers are invited to send card-play questions to Phillip Alder, in care of this newspaper. They can be answered only through the column.

South ruffed the diamond king with the club two and then sat back to consider the problem — too late! Eventually he cashed the club ace, hoping to drop a

YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 27, 1992
You could experience notable improvements in your material affairs in the year ahead. Your acquisitions might not be gigantic, but they should be significant and consistent.

prematurely. Take positive measures to bring them into being and speak only after you've accomplished your desires.

both mentally and physically. You'll enjoy testing your bodily skills as well as your brain power.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you find yourself in need of a small but urgent favor today, go to a friend you recently helped. This individual is eager to find a way to balance accounts. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Faith is predicated upon the depth of your belief in what is either unseen or unfulfilled. Positive thinking could work wonders for you today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Small details could be of greater significance than usual today, especially in a critical matter you're attempting to finalize. Dot every "i" and cross every "t."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not apt to deliberately seek competitive situations today, but, by the same token, you're not likely to dodge them either. Once in the race, though, you'll thoroughly enjoy the event.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't feel you have to carry all the weight today where a difficult decision is concerned. Your mate could have suggestions which might resolve the problem for you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be acutely aware of the shortcomings of others today, but your companions won't find this annoying. If you do offer criticism, it will be taken for what it is — constructive and well-intentioned.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A big opportunity could come in a rather small package today, especially when you're dealing with friends. Someone involved in a new venture may be interested in having you participate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you plan to make an important change today, do so one step at a time, rather than all at once. This will reduce your probability for error.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your possibilities for personal gain look encouraging today. Although what you generate might not be large, it could still amount to something significant.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) For best results today, don't broadcast your ambitious intentions

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to participate in fun activities today that challenge you

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be better equipped to handle assignments of a mental nature than tasks that demand physical prowess today. Do the head work yourself and delegate the muscle work to others.
