Valiant Emphasizes Gains In Economy

Building upon a world-wide record of sales success this year, Valiant moved into the 1964 model year with design changes giving emphasis to further gains in economy of operation and reliability.

"We have improved upon the qualities that have made Valiant an outstanding success in every country in the world where it has been offered," said C. E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Motors Corporation and general manager, Chrysler-Plymouth Division.

He said Valiant, which has scored a 60 per cent U. S. sales gain thus far this year, holds first place in the export market and is the leading United States compact in 1963 model year Canadian registrations.

"Wherever it is marketed it is being regarded as the industry's best all-around compact," Briggs said.

The front end of the 1964 model is extensively changed. The bumper is wider and is mounted high to provide superior protection to the grille. The grille has a new horizontal design extending the full width between headlights.

In the rear, the most noticeable change is in the tail lights which are vertical in shape and follow the contour of the rear quarter panels.

The 1964 Valiant line consists of nine models in five body styles—two-door sedan, two-door hardtop, four-door sedan, convertible coupe and four-door station wagon. In the deluxe Signet series, an attractive new sporty looking vinyl roof is available as an option on the two-door hardtop.

Mechanical features include higher compression for both the standard 170 cubic inch 161 horsepower engine and the 225 cubic inch 145 horsepower engine plus improvements in fuel and ignition systems.

New features, available for the first time in the Valiant line, include a Chrysler Corporation-engineered fully synchronized, floor-mounted four-speed manual shift transmission; a Sure-Grip differential to minimize rear wheel spinning on slippery surfaces; and a push button electric windshield washer.

Other improvements are new, stronger and safer door locks, relocated and re-designed seat belt anchors to provide an unobstructed rear floor area, an improved air conditioning system with a narrower, more efficient cooling unit, an improved closed crankcase ventilation system requiring less maintenance, an improved power steering pump for greater protection from stone damage, a new lifetime oil filter in the automatic transmission and an improved three-speed manual transmission providing superior second gear operation and greater durability.

The five-year or 50 thousand-mile warranty on the engine and drive train components introduced on 1963 models is continued for 1964.

Higher compression ratios for both the standard and the optional engines provide improved economy on regular grade fuel. The previous 8.2 to 1 compression ratio, standard for both engines, is increased to 8.5 to 1 for the standard 170 cubic inch engine, and to 8.4 to 1 for the 225 cubic inch optional engine.

Valiant engines have a new, diaphragm-type automatic choke. The vacuum-operated diaphragm is enclosed in a self-contained unit mounted alongside the carburetor body. Its function is to assist in opening the choke blade after the engine has started.

Since it has no sliding parts, the need for maintenance is eliminated. The diaphragm action offers no resistance to the closing action of the automatic choke spring in returning the choke blade to starting position after the engine has been stopped and allowed to cool.

A new, improved, self-cleaning crankcase ventilator valve is used in the cylinder head cover that requires less maintenance.

The spark plug cables are made with a special grade neoprene insulation for long service and protection from underhood temperature.

The terminal on each ignition cable is new and has two major improvements. The end that receives the cable is 50 per cent longer and its inner surface is lined with a series of ridges that, once applied, seize the cable jacket in a permanent, vise-like grip.

The other end of the terminal is equipped with a new, additional spring clip with a dent for a more positive hold upon the spark plug terminal.

Longer, more protective spark plug covers provide increased insulation against moisture infiltration by extending a greater distance in both directions from the spark plug terminals.

A new Chrysler-engineered four-speed manual transmission with Hurst gear shift linkage is optional for all Valiant cars. Gear ratios are 3.00 in low, 1.92 in second, 1.40 in third, and direct in high. The reverse is 3.00. The transmission gears are fully synchronized in all forward speeds, and the shift lever is floor mounted.

A Sure-Grip differential is now optional on all models. It minimizes wheel spin under conditions of poor traction by permitting a larger share of the torque to go to the rear wheel having the greater traction.

Self-adjusting brakes are standard equipment. A mechanism incorporated in the brake unit of each wheel automatically adjusts the shoes to take up wear in linings, thus eliminating the need for periodic manual adjustments.

A remote control rear view mirror is offered for the first time this year.

D. C. Citizens Allowed To Vote For President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The city of Washington, long regarded as a political stepchild of the federal government, takes a step this year toward becoming one of the family.

For the first time since 1800, residents of the District of Columbia, the federally-administered enclave which comprises Washington, will be allowed to vote in a presidential election.

How it votes is not likely to have much effect on the November election. It will have only three electoral votes out of a total of 500. But many citizens of the nation's capital regard this as a victory.

Their fight to get the vote has slogged over many years. It finally ended in 1961 when ratification of an enabling constitutional amendment was completed. But the November election will be the first chance District citizens have to exercise their new right.

Among those who have championed voting rights for the city are civil rights groups. Negroes make up about 57 per cent of the capital's population of close to 792,000, making Washington the only city of its size in the country to have a Negro majority.

To the civil rights forces and other District residents, winning the right to vote was a milestone in a campaign to win many of the rights citizens of the 50 states take for granted.

The ultimate goal of this campaign is self-government. The District of Columbia is now governed by Congress. It has no congressional representatives of its own and is administered by three commissioners appointed by the president.

Through the years, the fight for voting rights and for self-government were closely intertwined. The coming election, in this perspective, is to some persons a victory over a bloc of southern congressmen who so far have stilled in committee the District's attempts for home rule.

Despite a campaign for voter registration, the early turnout fell below expectations. On Jan. 2, the first day, only 1,532 out of some 600,000 potential voters signed up to

Little Brown Dog Mystifies Herald News Reporter

By Harry Johnson

A little brown dog is providing material for an ever-expanding human interest story for passersby at a certain spot near Lake Monroe.

The dog has been there for at least two weeks. It seldom leaves the one spot, apparently picked by it as its home away from home.

Little is known about the dog. Onlookers cannot get close enough to it to even determine its sex. It is completely brown, as far as can be determined, is on the small side and its ears stick straight up at all times. It does not appear to be hungry.

Monday afternoon a newsman and his wife revisited the area and the dog was there. They tried to call for it but it scooted back into the jungle-like brush alongside the lake.

The spot is about midway between Lake Monroe Inn and the Interstate 4 bridge spanning the St. Johns River. The dog's "home" is on the lakeside of Highway 17-02.

The Herald newsman called on the sheriff's office for advice and Deputy Wesley Place responded. The two men walked toward the dog and again it scooted into the tall weeds.

They hacked their way through the brush, following a makeshift trail made some time ago by either fishermen or those seeking bait. No footprints were visible, indicating no one had been there at least since Saturday's heavy rain.

The dog kept its distance. The searchers, dubbing the dog "Brownie" for lack of a more accurate name, called for it to no avail. As they entered the "jungle" the dog would work its way to the edge, then move along with the would-be rescuers.

It theorized the dog was either with a fishing party and had wandered away, only to be left there as the fishermen departed, or it was dropped there by its former owner.

Either way, the story is attracting increasing attention by passersby as the days pass.

vote in the May primaries and the fall presidential election.

The small turnout somewhat tempered the victory for the civil rights groups. They had charged that registration procedures were inadequate and had predicted the available registration facilities would be swamped.

Julius Hobson, local leader of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), one of the most militant groups in the District, admitted the facilities were handling the load easily.

Dodge Dart Features New Styling Look

Dodge has unveiled its 1964 Dart and said the new family-size compact offers greater comfort, convenience, durability and safety.

The Dart also features a new look in styling and significant improvements in engine performance.

Built on a 111-inch wheelbase, the Dart is offered in nine models, including two convertibles and two station wagons. It is one of three separate Dodge lines, the others being the standard-size Dodge and the medium-price Dodge 800.

Byron J. Nichols, Dodge manager, pointed out that Dart sales in the 1963 model year were more than 145 per cent higher than sales of the comparable Dodge car in 1962. "We believe the 1964 Dart will win even greater popularity," Nichols said. "Styling and engineering refinement will make it even more appealing to the buyer who wants a smaller car with all the comforts and conveniences of a big car."

A major styling change for the Dart is a new, broad grille composed of fine, vertical lines. A rectangular bar across the face of the grille displays the Dodge name in block letters.

A simulated air scoop on the hood is outlined in chrome, and distinctive new moldings along the sides appear to give the car added length.

The rear window has been increased a full three inches in width, providing more attractive styling and better rear vision for the driver.

An increase in compression ratio has improved the efficiency of the Dart's 170- and 225-cubic-inch, six-cylinder engines. Both operate economically on regular grades of gasoline.

A new automatic choke modulator and insulation regulator in the ignition cable assembly improve starting reliability, particularly in very wet or extremely cold weather.

A feature available for the first time in the 1964 Dart is Dodge's new four-speed manual transmission. The floor-mounted shift has particular appeal to sports-minded compact car buyers. The transmission gears are fully synchronized in all forward speeds.

Another new option is the Sure-Grip differential, which minimizes wheel spin and provides more positive traction under adverse road conditions.

Other new features and improvements include: Stronger and more reliable door latches, redesigned floor anchors for seat belts, an electrical windshield washer with pushbutton control in the center of the wiper knob, remote-control outside rearview mirror, more effective sealing of windows, a tailgate window safety device for station wagons and improved sealing of convertible tops.

The Dart, one of the few compact offering a three-speed automatic transmission, also has a new, full-flow transmission oil filter which will help increase the life and reliability of the transmission.

Putting emphasis on simplicity, Dodge engineers have upgraded the Dart's interiors, both in styling and durability. The new instrument panel design is functional and uncluttered. The upper surface of the panel has mar-proof, suede-finish paint that reduces windshield glare. A full-length color-keyed safety pad is standard on the Dart GT and optional on other models.

For driver convenience, heater control knobs have been relocated high on the center face of the panel, within easy reach.

Fabrics are 100 per cent nylon warp for strength and durability. There are five interior colors—red, tan, blue, gold and black—for the GT and four for the 270 and 170 models.

The Dart's trunk capacity remains one of the biggest in the compact field—equaling and in some cases exceeding that of larger cars.

Alert to the consumer's desire for personalized transportation, Dodge offers nine Dart models in three series: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan and six-passenger station wagon in the low-price 170 Series; a two door and four-door sedan, convertible and six-passenger wagon in the 270 Series; and a two-door hardtop and convertible in the deluxe GT Series.

Thirteen exterior colors are available. A new and unique Anniversary Gold, selected especially for Dodge's 50th anniversary, is offered on GT models.

Seven two-tone color combinations, with the roof contrasting with the body, are available in the 170 and 270 Series. GT models have a contrasting color only in a "sidesweep" along the side of the body. Twenty-four color combinations, keyed to the interior colors, are offered.

Dodge Trucks Show Increase

Dodge Truck is geared to take a larger share of the truck market in 1964, after riding through the 1963 model year with the highest sales in a decade and a 46 per cent sales increase over the previous year—nearly three times the industry average of 16 per cent.

Outlining 1964 truck production and sales plans, Dodge Assistant General Manager Philip N. Buckmaster said: "An important factor in our current truck-sales success is the policy we instituted last year of making engineering improvements as they are developed, rather than waiting until the traditional fall change-over period."

"As a result of this policy of no model change, yet continuous improvement, buyers of our 1964 vehicles will get the benefit of more than 80 engineering advances made during the past year."

Buckmaster said these changes include the new Dodge-Perkins Six 354 diesel engine,

Chevrolet Highlights '64 Line Of Haulers

A sporty new pickup built on the Chevelle chassis, the Chevy Van and a number of mechanical advances of interest to truck-minded Auto Show visitors are highlights of Chevrolet's 1964 line of haulers.

The Chevrolet truck array, including 194 models with capacities ranging up to 36,000 pounds gross vehicle weight, also caps a five-year re-engineering and development program started with the 1960 models.

The new pickup—the Chevelle El Camino—combines high-styled dash, load-carrying utility and passenger comfort and offers a wide range of functional and luxury options, even to bucket seats. It is built on a 115-inch wheelbase and features perimeter frame construction. Engine offerings include two six-cylinder—standard 120 and optional 185-hp.—and two V8s—195 standard and 220-hp. optional.

Built on a 90-inch wheelbase, the new Chevy Van combines exceptional maneuverability, efficient and economical operation and loadability.

Driver and engine are located far forward while the flat load floor offers a high ratio of cargo space—211 cubic feet. Of rugged integral body-frame construction, the Van has a payload capacity of up to 1950 pounds. A proved 90-hp. four-cylinder engine is standard with a 120-hp. six optional.

Chevrolet engineers point out that the five-year re-design and development program climaxed by the 1964 trucks has brought such advances as independent front wheel suspension and variable rate springing; a new crew of lightweight and efficient 4- and 6-cylinder engines plus new V8 and diesel power; and new frames.

Chief 1964 refinements that round out the program are: a new forward-slanting front pillar on conventional and short-hood cabs for easier entry and exit, and improved cab sealing and insulation.

Self-adjusting brakes, 60,000-mile front suspension tube interval and lower transmission floor tunnel for most 14 and 1-ton models. Longer-life exhaust systems and lamp filaments.

Minister In Viet Nam Hears Vows Of Sister Here

A bride-elect's wish that her missionary brother serving in Saigon, Viet Nam, perform her wedding ceremony was fulfilled Sunday night via a long, long-distance telephone call.

As a result, Miss Marion Routh became the bride of Ronnie Chilton in ceremonies at the Central Baptist Church.

The couple and their wedding party had arrived at the church at 8:15 when they were told the call would come through. But it was delayed by technical trouble for almost three hours.

For nearly 30 minutes the bride couple, matron of honor, best man and the minister of Central Baptist Church, the Rev. Gall Smith, had waited at the altar as the appointed time drew near.

But then came the delay. A previously scheduled radio broadcast at 7:30 went on the air and at its conclusion the ushers escorted the wedding party to front pews.

Mrs. Shirley Grieme at the organ played the wedding march and the bride and her father, Walter Routh, walked down the aisle.

"Who gives this woman?" said the minister at the church. "Her mother and I," was the reply.

And then the vigil began anew as the organ continued playing.

A black telephone with an amplifier had been placed at the altar so the Saigon minister's voice could be heard. They waited, became tired and sat down in the front pew.

The phone rang interrupting the quiet. The operator told the Rev. Gall Smith the call would be ready in a few minutes. The minister held the phone.

Then came the voice of the bride-elect's brother, the Rev. Walter Routh Jr., from Viet Nam. His voice was clear as he asked the matrimonial questions. The double-ring ceremony was used.

After he had pronounced them man and wife, the Rev. Mr. Smith gave the benediction here.

The couple and several others went to the pastor's study where they talked to the Saigon missionary. In the reception room was a four-tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's father.

The cake featured two large layers on the bottom and separating the two top layers were four white columns. Under the top layers were a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Thus, after a long vigil, and with the aid of a trans-oceanic telephone connection, the bride was united in marriage by her brother.

Trapped By Fire, 7 In Family Burn To Death

BEVERLY, Mass. (UPI) — Seven persons, a father, his wife and all five of their children, were killed early today when fire raced through their three-story home trapping them as they slept.

Police identified the dead as John M. Crandell, 40, his 38-year-old wife, Barbara, and their children, Richard, five, John, eight, James, nine, Catherine, two, and Stephen, 10.

The bodies of the parents were found huddled together on the narrow flight of stairs between the second floor and the attic. Authorities said they apparently were overcome by dense smoke as they dropped their way towards the attic in a desperate attempt to save their children.

Authorities said the fire started on the second floor and quickly swept toward the attic of the frame house.

Cause of the blaze was under investigation.

A first floor occupant, Mrs. Laura O'Connell, 60, fled uninjured.

Girl's Skeleton Found In Woods

HALLANDALE (UPI) — The skeleton of a young girl was found partially buried in swampy woods Tuesday near this small city 18 miles north of Miami.

Cause of death was not immediately determined but a police spokesman said "in nine out of 10 cases like this it is foul play."

The skeleton, buried in sand but partially unearthed either by rain or animals, was found by three vacationing youngsters. The children who found it were Kathy Rice, 14, and her 12-year-old sister, Diane, of Ontario, Canada, and John Cafer, 13, Indianapolis.

The medical examiner said the victim was a white girl, between 9 and 12 years old, who had brown hair. She had been dead about two months, he said.

The skeleton was found in a marshy area off State Road A-1-A.

Police Chief Earl Mitchell said the body had been buried in the sand under a tree and "either water or animals pushed some of the sand away."

Mitchell said he was checking with other south Florida police departments to see if any missing girls were reported two months ago and the medical examiner planned a more extensive autopsy today.

Nixon Blasts U. S. Policy In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon today criticized the Johnson administration's policy in South Viet Nam as weak, wavering and inconsistent.

He said that any failure to maintain a firm stand here would mark "the beginning of the end" for the United States in Southeast Asia.

Arriving on what was billed as a private business trip, Nixon first said he would not discuss politics because it would be inappropriate to do so in a "battle area" and might embarrass his former running mate, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

But minutes later during a airport press conference, he tore into the administration's Viet Nam policy, asserting that it is "plagued with inconsistency."

Nixon missed his scheduled luncheon with Lodge, because his commercial flight arrived three hours later after a delay in Bangkok.

Lodge did not go to Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport to meet Nixon. They met later at the Embassy.

Nixon said that his three-day visit is for business purposes in connection with his New York law firm. But he said he expects to meet Lodge and renew acquaintances with some Vietnamese friends.

Nixon said that during his visits to other Southeast Asian countries on his current tour, he found that many American officials were saying the real problem was a lack of firmness and determination on the part of the United States to stay in Southeast Asia in general and South Viet Nam in particular until final victory was achieved.

Nixon spent four days in Malaysia and four days in Thailand before coming to South Viet Nam.

Four Teenagers Saved From Cave

JEROME, Mo. (UPI) — Four adventurous teenagers who were lost for 12 hours deep in a maze-like cave were brought out early today by a volunteer rescue team. They were in good condition.

A crowd of about 50 persons, including the boys' parents, gathered around bonfires near the cave while amateur spelunkers searched for the lost youths.

Old-timers spun tales about their own experiences in Missouri caves to keep up confidence during the all-night vigil.

Police said the youngsters, who were exploring Bruce Cave on the Gasconade River about two miles from here, also built a fire in the cave while they waited for rescuers.

The boys were identified as Kennedy Lewis, 15, Gerald Cook, 18, Andy Younsley, 18, and Teddy Miller, 18, all of Rolls, Mo.

Police learned the boys were missing Tuesday when a fifth teenager, Gary Edgeman, 16, found his way out of the cavern shortly after he lost track of his companions.

Women Continue World Flights

CAIRO, U. A. R. (UPI) — Ohio housewife Mrs. Jerri Mock, took off for Cairo early today from Tripoli, Libya, on another stage of her round the world trip in a single engine plane.

Another lady pilot, Mrs. Joan M. Smith of Long Beach, Calif., was expected to land in Natal, Brazil today on her attempt to retrace the route taken by the late Amelia Earhart when she flew around the world 27 years ago.

Mrs. Mock, of Columbus, had planned to fly directly from Rome, Algeria, to Cairo Tuesday. It was not known here why she stopped over in the Libyan city.

Mrs. Smith, who had been ground-bound for four days in Surinam (Dutch Guiana) by engine trouble, took off for Natal Monday but was forced by bad weather to interrupt her journey in Belem, Brazil.

County Nurses Make 142 Visits

Seminole County's Visiting Nurses have made 142 visits as of March 1 with the majority of patients being those with cardio-vascular ailments. Mrs. Grace Fisher, supervisor of VNA told members of the VNA Council at a recent meeting.

Patients have been referred to the services of the visiting nurses group by five Seminole County physicians and two from Orange County, Mrs. Fisher said.

Pointing to the benefits of home nursing care, besides giving the patient professional aid, carrying out doctors' orders, teaching families how to care for patients, the average cost of the home visit was $2.38, Mrs. Fisher noted. This is possible because the charges are based on a sliding scale which is determined by the patient's ability to pay.

Council president Kenneth McIntosh told the council members that they are the walking messengers of the services of the VNA, which being fairly new to the community is not utilized as much as it could be, because "people just are not aware that this service is available." Appointments are made by calling the Seminole County Public Health Department, with referral from the family physician.

Speaker for the recent meeting was Dr. Kenneth Wing, who described vascular repair, and the types of operations that can and have been performed. He particularly noted the great advances in the saving of lives by the use of artificial veins which can be joined to those of the body and replace damaged arteries.

Dr. Frank Leone, County Health Director, announced that four classes of Gray Ladies have been capped, with more classes expected in the future.

Mass Arrests Mark Civil Rights Strife

By United Press International
Mass arrests of civil rights demonstrators spread to three southern cities Tuesday and racial strife broke out at Phoenix, Ariz., in the Southwest.

A total of 117 was arrested at St. Augustine, where attempts to break down racial barriers at hotels, motels and restaurants was spearheaded by Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, 72-year-old wife of a retired Episcopal bishop and mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody.

Mrs. Peabody was among those arrested and spent the night in jail. She plans to return to Massachusetts today.

Police arrested 60 demonstrators at Warrenton, N. C., when they attempted to integrate two drugstores and a hotel. About half of them were juveniles. Police used a truck to transport them to jail where about 30 of them posted bonds of $100 each.

Warrenton also was hit by a school boycott in which 2,000 Negroes stayed home in protest against "poor schools."

At Greenwood, Miss., 14 demonstrators, including two white members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct for picketing around the LeFlore County Courthouse in voter registration protests.

A brief scuffle developed between demonstrators and law enforcement officers in a parking lot near the state Capitol at Phoenix, Ariz., where civil rights proponents have been pressing for passage of a public accommo-ditions law.

At Atlanta, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee charged Tuesday that the arrest of 14 demonstrators at Greenwood, Miss., was a "continuation of a conspiracy of terror to prevent Negroes from voting."

Annye Refoe Wins Midway Spelling Bee

Ten tense youngsters tried their wits in the Midway Elementary School spelling bee. The bee was conducted in two sections, written and oral.

Winners were Annye Louie Refoe, grade 7, first; Ronnie Jamison, grade 6, second, and Sherry Ann George, grade 7, third. They will compete April 18 for the county-wide championship at Hooper Elementary School.

Other participants at Midway were Barbara Jo Jackson, Catherine Cason, grade 4; Malvin Hunter, Norma Jean McNeil, grade 5; Reginal Ware, grade 6, and Ross Ware and Patricia Aikens, grade 8.

Officials were Mrs. E. A. Rosier and L. R. Stallworth, judges; Mrs. A. L. Hamilton and Mrs. M. T. Lackey, scorekeepers; Joe Young and J. C. Wright, timekeepers, and Mrs. D. R. Baker, reserve and chairman.

On Monday night a peanut pick-up and a Coca Cola raffle will be held in Apartment 80, William Clark Court, for the benefit of the chorus of New Salem Primitive Baptist Church. Friday at 8 p. m. a business meeting will be held at New Salem. Communion and feet washing will be held at this church. Services begin at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Edward Brown, Edna Scott and John Daniels were the first, second and third place winners, respectively, in the Goldsboro Elementary School's spelling bee.

Winners of prizes at the Easter egg hunt sponsored by the recreation department were: Golden egg, first prize, John Beasley; silver egg, second prize, Harold Alford; gold egg, third prize (tie), Patricia Johnson and Eula Mae Tennell. Willie V. Graham is recreation supervisor. Alvin Taylor won first place in the Hooper Elementary School Spelling Bee. Larry Kearsse was second runner-up, and Tyrone Davis was third runner-up. All boys took part in the hunt. Look out girls, you want to sleep that time.

Anyone having news please call 322-3754 or give it to "Yours Truly."

An old friend of mine came by to see me last week. He is Osbee J. Jelks, whom I met in 1957. He was working for the New York Giants, and possessed a burning desire to become an umpire. That is just what he did. Last year his contract was purchased by the Pacific Coast League. One more step and he will be in the majors.

Reflecting, he said, "I have come a long way since 1957. Hard work, faith in God, and confidence in myself were the ingredients responsible for my success."

Luvenia Cason, seventh grade student at Midway Elementary School, who composed a lovely poem on the death of President Kennedy and forwarded it to Mrs. Kennedy, has received the following message: "Mrs. Kennedy is deeply appreciative of your sympathy and grateful for your thoughtfulness."

LUVENIA CASON

First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church will culminate its Baby Contest Sunday, April 12.

Goldsboro Elementary School will present an operetta Tuesday at 8 p. m. The title, "The Maid and the Golden Slippers."

Rev. and Mrs. P. H. Frison have returned from a successful fifth Sunday union at St. Mary's Primitive Baptist Church in Ormond Beach. The next fifth Sunday union will meet at St. Mary's Primitive Baptist Church, Sanford. The citywide Women's Auxiliary will meet at 3 p. m. April 22 at New Salem Primitive Baptist Church.

COBBRENA McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McGee, and Hershell V. Palmer III, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Palmer, are entered in the baby contest to be decided at 7 p. m. April 12 at First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church.

Ghana Calls For 'Marshall Plan'

GENEVA (UPI) — The West African Republic of Ghana today called for a joint East-West "Marshall plan" to mobilize help for the have-not nations of the world.

The plea was presented by Ghana's Foreign Minister Kofo Botoio to the delegates of 122 nations attending the United Nations conference on trade and development.

"An international plan similar to the Marshall Plan now is needed, organized on a truly international basis and this time for the benefit of the less developed countries," he told the delegates.

"Today there is no room for distinction between the East and the West in the mobilization of international assistance," he said.

Warning that scattered individual measures have proved to be inadequate to promote the economic emancipation of the emerging nations he urged a "departure from old modes of thinking and form traditional attitudes toward international trade and development."

Fire Deaths
According to a U. S. national group of fire underwriters, 11,800 persons died in fires during 1962 and property damage dollar losses rose to more than $1 billion.

Carelessness Held Cause Of Most Fires

CHICAGO (UPI) — Three-fourths of all fires are the result of carelessness, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.
To keep a home safe the board suggests:
—Never leave small children alone. Even if you are leaving for only a few minutes, get a responsible person to stay with them. When going out for an extended period of time, hire a baby-sitter.
—Small children and elderly people are the most frequent fire victims. If there are elderly persons in your household, plans should be made to get them out of the house the quickest way possible in case of fire.
—Use care with cigarettes. Never discard a cigarette or drop a match without being sure it has been extinguished. Break a match after using just to be sure it is out. Keep matches out of reach of children. Never smoke in bed.
—Keep a flashlight handy for use in dark places. Never strike matches or carry lighted matches or candles into closets or attics.
—Keep electrical appliances in safe condition. Have them fixed by qualified repairmen if they have loose connections or frayed or worn cords.
—Throw out old newspapers, magazines and other waste combustibles regularly, rather than let them accumulate in the basement or attic. Fires feed on such things.
—Make sure, in case of fire, everyone in your family knows how to get out of the house, call the fire department. Call from a neighbor's home, if need be. Never re-enter a burning house.

'Draft Glenn' Move Started By Ohio Backers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Space hero John H. Glenn Jr. still was a sick man in Texas and a political candidate in Ohio Tuesday and apparently unable to do much about either.

The nation's astronaut em-eritus, bed ridden since his freak fall in a bathroom 35 days ago, said Monday he was quitting the race for a U. S. Senate seat from his native Ohio, and "That is that."

That, however, was not that. In Ohio, campaign stickers and buttons were carefully saved, a mass endorsement of incumbent and major rival Sen. Stephen M. Young, D., of Cleveland was sidetracked and political gears were shifted to a "Draft Glenn" movement.

However long the odds against success, the political draft maneuver could immediately count two major assets—the immense popularity of the man himself, and the fact that his famous name will still go before Ohio voters in the May 5 Democratic primary.

The ballots have been certified and are being printed. Glenn's supporters seemed willing to take the gamble. John R. Welthe of Cincinnati, Hamilton County Democratic chairman, said a committee to reorganize the draft would meet today in Columbus.

Forecast Blamed For Cancellation

A forecast of continued foul weather and condition of the ground at the local stadium forced the Sanford Area Ministerial Association to cancel this year's Easter Sunrise Service.

The Rev. Thomas H. Makin of the Church of the Covenant said weathermen had forecast continued showers throughout Saturday night and predicted 50-mile-an-hour winds Sunday morning.

He also said the service site was inspected by representatives of the city and ministers and it was decided that the wet outfield would have been cut up by the heavy trailer needed as a platform for ministers.

"In view of this," the Rev. Mr. Makin said, "it was found impossible to hold the service." He added that the local radio station was asked to announce the cancellation Saturday night.

Students' Ardor For Beach Cools

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI)—Chilly weather and classes were expected to begin driving vacationing students back to college Tuesday, but weary police said more are expected as other schools let out for spring holidays.

"I hope we won't have as many as we had before," Police Chief A. O. Polson said. Polson estimated two-thirds of the estimated 75,000 students here had pulled out. Those who stayed were forced by cold weather to bundle up and retreat to beer taverns.

Peaches, Cream May Be Luxury

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (UPI)—An abnormal spring freeze in the South may well have made fresh peaches and cream a luxury dish on American dinner tables this summer.

The cold wave, which dropped to record lows for this season in some parts of Dixie, virtually wiped out the peach crops of South and North Carolina and severely damaged the Georgia and Alabama crops.

South Carolina's $30 million peach harvest is the major source for produce counters throughout the East, and its loss will have a serious effect upon prices at supermarkets.

"Whoever has peaches will be getting a good price for them," said Paul Black, president of the South Carolina Peach Growers Association.

No snowflakes ever have been found to be exactly alike.

Rambler Line Is Broadened

American Motors has announced new and broadened 1964 Rambler Classic and Ambassador lines.

Styling refinements, new hardtop models and new convenience options are prominent among the advances in both American Motors' top-selling Classic line and the Ambassador luxury line.

With the company's lowest-priced Rambler, the drastically changed 1964 American, the company has now introduced three distinct lines of 1964 compact cars that completely span the market for this popular car type.

Thomas A. Coupe, vice president of automotive sales, said:

"The compacts definitely emerged with full stature during the past model year and now offer the motorist the things he can get in other cars, plus lower relative price and the special advantages of trim design."

The extension and broadening of compact appeal for 1964 confirms the rising popularity of these cars. We expect their sales volume to be boosted by the growing influence of the compact idea throughout the industry."

"The 1964 Ambassador 990-H hardtop is the most luxurious car ever offered by American Motors and will take a top position among the fine cars of America, with luxury second to none," Coupe stated. "Its smart, sports-type styling will appeal to all age groups, and its performance is comparable to the best."

The 990-H includes as standard equipment a 270-horsepower V-8 engine, front and simulated rear bucket seats with folding center arm rests, a floor console between the front seats, chrome ceiling bows, and many luxury appointments associated with the prestige car field.

The company's top-selling Classic line boasts a new luxury two-door hardtop in the popular 770 series, available as a Six or V-8. The new hardtops feature a "fastback" roof which flows at a rakish angle into the body. Hardtops are 1.2 inches lower than sedan models.

All Ambassadors include a full wrap-around instrument panel crash pad which concludes back into the upper portions of the doors. Other Ambassador features include distinctive wood-grain inserts on the instrument panel and door panels, lower door scuff pads made of the same material as the floor carpeting, and custom seats.

A new optional feature on the Ambassador 990 is a bucket seat combination with a special between-seat cushion which permits a third person in the front. This combination also has a folding armrest for added comfort of the driver and passenger. A console replaces the center cushion if desired.

Classic interiors have been newly styled for greater luxury and both wide and slim bucket seats with floor consoles are offered.

Both the Classic and Ambassador feature new grilles which impart a more massive appearance. The grille design is of spaced bars on a horizontal plane. On Classics, the word "Rambler" is in block letters on the upper grille frame. Ambassador models carry the name in block letters in the center of the grille.

The front bumpers have been moved forward 1.2 inches to offer greater grille protection. This brings the overall length of sedans to 190 inches and the wagon to 190.5 inches. Wheelbase continues at 112 inches.

New hoods on both lines have a raised line on each side of the hood extending into the grille. Ambassador models have distinctive crest mounted on the front of the hood.

The roof panel on the 1964 Rambler Classic and Ambassador sedans displays special styling treatment with a new indented section on the rear roof pillar. On Ambassador models this treatment is accentuated with a chrome panel lines in the indented area.

All '64 Classic and Ambassador models have rocker panels covered with stainless steel. In addition to the added beauty, these panels provide protection against flying stones and gravel chips.

Ambassadors also have stainless moldings which outline the front and rear wheel openings and which, in turn, flow into stainless panels on the lower portions of both fenders.

The side trim on Ambassadors is a slim full-length band with a red pin-stripe insert.

Side trim on the Classic 770 is a wide aluminum molding which runs the length of the car. The 660 also has a full-length trim of narrower proportions.

Striking new full wheel disc are standard on Classic 770 and Ambassador 990 and 990-H models and optional on others. The Classic disc has an "R" in the raised center and the Ambassador disc displays a crest.

The Ambassador line is concentrated in 990 four-door sedan, five-door two-door station wagons, two-door hardtops and the 990-H two-door hardtop. An optional third seat is available for the station wagons.

Similar body styles are available in the Rambler Classic line, plus two-door sedans. Each body style is available as a 550, 660 or 770. The new two-door Classic hardtop is available only as a 770.

The standard Ambassador engine on all models except the 270 - horsepower 990-H hardtop is a 250-horsepower V-8. The 270-horsepower engine is optional on other Ambassador models.

The standard Classic six-cylinder engine develops 127 horsepower, with a 138-horsepower option available. The cast iron block is standard with an aluminum block engine optional.

The Classic V-8 engine which became a popular option in the 1963 models continues to be offered in 1964. It is rated at 198-horsepower with a displacement of 287 cubic inches. This option includes a V-8 drive-line and other heavier mechanical components.

A new "Shift - Command" Flash-O-Matic transmission is offered as a new option on Ambassadors and Classic 770-V-8s equipped with slim bucket seats and center console. This new floor-shift system can be operated as a fully automatic transmission or it can be shifted manually through the three gear ratios for added control and performance.

The regular Flash-O-Matic automatic transmission and the floor-mounted Twin-Slick transmission and overdrive continues as options, as does the automatic clutch E-stick on Classic Sixes.

Another new option for 1964 is the Adjust-O-Tilt steering wheel, which permits easier entry and exit with seven optional positions to suit the driver's preference. The seven vertical positions include normal plus three above and three below in five-degree increments.

Pontiac's six-way power tilt front seat has been redesigned to include a greater range of adjustment. In addition to fore and aft, the front and rear of the seat can now be raised or lowered.

BEN HOWLAND, manager of Seminole County Motors, displays the 1964 Renault Caravelle.

Renault Line Americanized

Renault has announced an "Americanized" 1964 line of cars, featuring an additional model and peppier engines, plus greater comfort and durability, at prices three to 10 per cent under 1963 levels.

Vincent Grob, president of Renault, Inc., U. S. importers for the French-based worldwide automobile company, said the new lowest-priced economy Dauphine — in both automatic and manual transmission models — along with the roomier R-8 four-door family sedan and the top-line Caravelle sports convertible and coupe models, are available at 500 Renault dealer showrooms throughout the nation.

Grob noted that well over 100,000 of the new R-8's have already been sold globally. Total 1962 Renault production was 566,000 vehicles, up 44 per cent over 1961, while 1963 production so far is running another 15 per cent more than the '62 rate. Last year, Renault — which is France's top industrial concern and the seventh-largest automaker in the world — achieved a 25 per cent sales increase to hit a record $755,755,510.

Grob said Renault's '64 styling remains virtually unchanged, reflecting the European tradition of evolutionary — rather than revolutionary — changes, but engineering features have been "Americanized" to better serve U. S. motoring needs.

"From the Dauphine pushbutton transmission to the R-8's larger fuel tank and bigger engine on the sports convertible model, the 1964 Renault features are designed to appeal to drivers here," Grob said. "Our wider vehicle choice and 12-month/12,000-mile warranty are also in the U. S. tradition."

The Renault U. S. chief said the 1964 Dauphine features illustrate the gradual, as opposed to sudden model change concept. "Though there will be little external variation this year," he said, "actually the 1964 Dauphine is a totally different car from the one first introduced in 1955. More than 75 separate advancements have been made."

New features on the economy Dauphine include four-wheel disc brakes, a 40-horsepower engine — 25 per cent more power than the 1963 standard version — and an improved interior.

The R-8 four-door family sedan, a completely new car introduced in the U. S. last fall, will have heavier door and body sheet metal, will boast bigger bumpers, will be slightly longer and will have added silencing and insulation material and deeper upholstery for a smoother ride.

On the top-line Renault sports convertible for 1964, Renault will offer a completely new, racer 65 hp, 100 cubic centimeter engine on the convertible.

Comet Pioneers With New Face

The 1964 Comet, pioneer of the luxury compacts, has undergone its first complete change since introduction four years ago. The completely redesigned Comet, including a plush new Caliente series, has all-new exterior sheet metal. Improved ride and handling characteristics, and greater passenger room.

The new Comet is roomier, even though wheelbase is continued at 114 inches and overall length and height are virtually unchanged. Over-all width is increased one inch, and the rear track is increased 1.5 inches, providing new sturdiness on the road.

The Comet's sculptured hood, set between raised fenders, emphasizes its wide appearance. A double concave sculpture follows the fender line, widens toward the rear, making the car seem longer and, with the front fenders extended beyond the grille, gives the car an appearance of forward thrust.

Power brakes and an AM-FM radio are offered as extra cost options on the Comet or the first time, and power steering also is available.

WILLIE HUNT, owner-manager of Hunt Lincoln-Mercury, features the Lincoln Continental.

1964 COMET averaged 105 mph in 100,000 durability run at Daytona Beach.

SIX MODELS are available in the 1964 Triumph to meet individual driving needs.

Riding Qualities Of Continental Greatly Improved

While continuing its classic styling theme, the 1964 Lincoln Continental incorporates substantial increases in interior spaciousness and luggage capacity.

The 1964 model represents the first major change in dimension of the Continental since the current series was introduced in 1961. A three-inch increase in car length, wheelbase and rear door width, together with a wider roof, give the 1964 Lincoln Continental interior spaciousness and improved riding qualities that are translated directly to increased passenger comfort.

The Continental roof is 5.4 inches wider in 1964, providing a new styling flair in addition to increased headroom in both front and rear seats. In the rear seat compartment there also is an increase of two inches in leg room and nearly four inches in effective knee room, plus nearly one-half inch of additional space in hip room. Greater rear door width also gives passengers easier access to and from the car. Front seat hip room is increased by 1.2 inches.

The 1964 Continental is distinguished by a new grille and exterior ornamentation plus extensive new body sheet metal.

The riding qualities of the Continental have been further improved by the three-inch longer wheelbase. Handling and roadability continue to set the standard for luxury cars.

The luggage capacity has been increased by 18 per cent with a new deep-well floor pan providing two cubic feet additional capacity.

Lincoln Continental continues the 24,000-mile or two-year warranty which it pioneered for the auto industry.

Mercury Record Commanding

The way Mercury handles roads is a matter of record! . . . and the record stretches from Pikes Peak to Riverside. Wherever Mercury has run against other competition-modified Medium-price cars, it has shown its commanding roadability.

Take Pikes Peak, for example, where Mercury set a new world's record on the twisting, tortuous course. You can sample Mercury's great road performance yourself. Slip behind the wheel of a hefty, road-hugging Mercury - perhaps a sporty bucket-seater. Take it out on the road. That's where you'll feel the solid authority of this car. Mercury has up to 319 pounds more muscle and heft than other medium-price cars. And more responsive engines, to go with it - up to a 427 cu. in. V-8.

You feel the difference in easier handling, a steadier, and smoother ride. You'll notice how Mercury clings to the road even in strong crosswinds, takes mountain roads with sure-footed confidence, responds to your control precisely. Take this beautiful, all-day-comfortable road car. Your Mercury dealer will gladly arrange it for you today.

Unusual elegance goes with today's finest road car! You can see the elegant look of Mercury for yourself. But its qualities as a superior road car must be felt. . . on the road you'll discover the solid authority, the precise response, the sure tracking that distinguishes Mercury. And though it may be hard to realize, this sleek-looking, easier-handling car is actually up to 319 pounds heftier - sturdier - than other medium-price cars. No wonder it feels so solid, so smooth. Your Mercury dealer can tell you about this great road car. But it's better to try one. And he can arrange it.

Mercury: The look, the feel, the ride of a great road car. . . and a championship record to back it up!

Daytona, Pikes Peak. . . wherever the competition-modified big cars meet. . . the consistent winner in the medium-price class is Mercury. And, for the same reasons, you'll find it a great road car. A solid, more heft than other medium-price cars. Example: the big 390 cu. in. V-8 that's standard equipment. Yet, for all its extra muscle, Mercury's look is trim, lithe, elegant. And so luxurious! Great road car? Yes. At Hunt Lincoln-Mercury.

Retuning of the body chassis, using softer rubber in all body mounts, improves the ride. Larger tires and Mercury's proven Cushion-Link suspension contribute to the car's superior ride and handling.

New directional signal indicators are located on the top of the front fenders so they are visible to the driver. The standard on Montclair and Park Lanes models and on Colony Park station wagons, are in addition to the instrument panel indicators on all Mercury.

A new glass backlite for convertible models allows the convertible top to be lowered without unzipping the back window.

Ford Offers Broad Line Of Trucks

From compact Falcon Ranchero pickups to diesel-powered tandem axle tractors, Ford for 1964 once again will offer the broadest line of trucks available to the trucking industry.

To meet truck operators' exacting requirements for specific trucks for specific jobs, Ford has tailored its lineup to offer more than 1,000 models and an almost infinite variety of "custom - built" trucks through a wide selection of component parts, accessories and base-model dimensions.

The Falcon Ranchero and Sedan Delivery models are completely restyled, have a re-designed suspension for better ride and handling, and offer added economy in all engines. Econoline truck models include a new, fully automatic three-speed transmission for better multi-stop city delivery operations, and easier driver handling.

F-100 and F-250 pickups feature extended oil change and lubrication intervals, new durable double-wall box for Styleside pickups, increased capacity self-adjusting brakes, aluminum longer-life mufflers and tailpipes, color-keyed cab interiors with better insulation for greater driver comfort, and a tailgate with easy one-hand latch operation.

Recognizing the growing trend to camper bodies, a 262-cubic-inch six-cylinder engine is newly available to give improved over-the-road performance with this type of load.

To improve driver comfort, give better weight distribution, and increase their adaptability to the mushrooming camper body market, the Ford F-100 half-ton and F-250 ¾-ton pickups have wheelbases of 128 inches for 1964, six inches longer than previous models. The new wheelbases will make these trucks better suited to accept the popular 10-foot camper bodies.

A new double-wall pickup box has been designed for the Styleside pickup so the inner wall absorbs the impact of load shifts to protect the exterior wall. This box is separate from the cab and features a unique one-hand tailgate latch, eliminating old-style chains and hooks.

All Econolines and F-100 pickups have self-adjusting brakes and thicker brake linings designed to give much longer brake life. The new brakes adjust themselves in normal driving as wear occurs, thereby eliminating periodic brake adjustments.

Lubrication intervals for Econoline van and pickup models have been extended from 1,000 to 6,000 miles or four months, whichever comes first, while oil change intervals on the Econoline models and the F-100, and F-350 will be 6,000 miles.

A new, fully automatic three-speed transmission for new Econoline van and pickup models is offered for the first time on 1964 models.

The transmission incorporates an oil cooler insuring maximum efficiency and the housing is made of die-cast aluminum.

A new, more massive appearing grille and anodized aluminum side moulding give a bright, attractive appearance to Ford's 1964 line of pickup and medium-duty trucks. Diamond-Lustre baked enamel for durability and long life is available in the largest exterior paint selection in Ford truck history. Eleven sparkling colors are offered from which scores of two-tone combinations can be specified.

Color-keyed interiors will be a new feature of 1964 Ford pickups. All vinyl seat coverings and paint surfaces can be ordered to match or contrast with the exterior paint scheme. In addition, the seat of the Custom Cab has been redesigned for an improved seating angle, and more head room has been provided by raising the roof one inch.

Restyling Keynotes '64 Ford

Total performance in a completely restyled package, with three distinctive new roof lines and a roomier interior, keynotes the Ford for 1964.

All 16 models in the 1964 Ford lineup - including the uniquely styled 4-door hardtop models - are designed to combine an exterior look of greater luxury with luxury engineering features.

The new Ford has been redesigned inside as well to reduce the front compartment tunnel size by one-third and to increase headroom and seat height over 1963 by as much as an inch.

Weight of the 1964 Ford compares favorably with cars in the medium-priced field. The added weight results in a more solid, longer-lasting body, greater ruggedness and durability, and less road shock and noise.

New in the Ford power lineup for 1964 is a Thunderbird Special 351-cubic-inch V-8 with 4-barrel carburetor rated at 230 horsepower and offering both good performance and good economy on regular fuel. Five engine choices, four different transmissions, and five rear axle ratios complete a choice of performance.

The versatile Cruise-O-Matic Dual Range three-speed transmission will be available for the first time in 1964 with all engines except the Thunderbird High-Performance 427.

The three-speed, manual shift, all-synchromesh transmission introduced last year is again standard on all 1964

GARY HUDGINS, sales manager at Strickland-Morrison, is showing the 1964 Ford Galaxie 500-XL.

Fords except 500/XL models and those powered by the Thunderbird High-Performance 427 V-8 engine. The fully synchronized forward gears permit smooth, effortless shifting—even into low gear when the car is moving - to make all three gears usable at appropriate car speeds as desired.

Added to the three-year or 36,000-mile major lubrication interval pioneered on the Ford last year are new extended-life headlamps. The "24-24" total car warranty - for 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first - is continued for the 1964 Ford. The quality and luxury look of the 1964 Ford line is key-noted by a three-dimensional, horizontal bar grille. Widely spaced dual headlamps and a full-depth and full wrap-around bumper give the cars a lower, wider and more massive front end appearance.

A sculptured metal treatment, suggestive of luxury and motion, carries from the rear deck into the rear body panel. The taillights continue the traditional round design but are newly styled for 1964.

A new roof line is introduced with the 4-door hardtop in Ford Galaxie 500 and 500/XL models for 1964. Sedans, sports hardtops and 4-door hardtops now have individual roof styling to give each model a distinctive character.

The vinyl roof, optional on Ford Galaxie 500 and Ford Galaxie 500/XL 2-door hardtop models, adds to the already glamorous convertible look of this body style.

Inside, new, thin-shell, front bucket seats add to the glamorous appearance of the sporty Ford Galaxie 500/XL models. The seats provide improved comfort, take up less room and, due to the twin pedestal mount, increase foot room in the rear compartment.

The ignition key has been moved to the right of the steering column for convenience and passenger accessibility in the event of an emergency. A new brushed metal instrument cluster and instrument panel applique texture is employed to accent the interior.

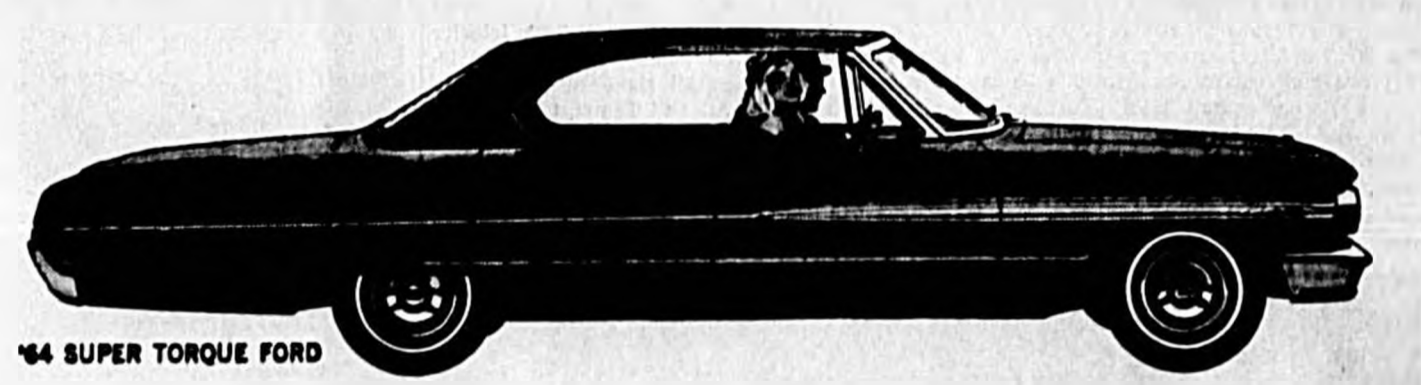

The 1964 Mercury's six V-8 engines—two more than last year—range from 250 to 425 horsepower. There are four 390-cubic-inch power plants of 250, 266, 300 and 330 horsepower, and two 427-cubic-inch high-performance engines with 410 and 425 horsepower. The 250- and 266-horsepower engines require regular fuel only.

Buick Features Turbines

RAY HERRON, of Bill Hemphill Motors, shows the 1964 Buick Riviera.

Buick has introduced its 1964 cars—a lineup of 26 models that features two new super turbine transmissions providing up to 43 per cent more wheel thrust, along with three new engines and a host of styling changes that includes an all-new roomier Special series.

"Buick's 1964 line represents one of the most progressive steps in the 60-year history of this division," said Edward D. Rollert, Buick's general manager and vice president of General Motors. Here are some of the major highlights:

... Two new Super Turbine transmissions that improve performance and gasoline mileage. Both transmissions are lighter in weight and have fewer working parts.

... A new V-8 engine with greater cubic inch displacement that provides better performance for the larger Specials in which it is standard equipment.

... A compact new lightweight aluminum V-8 engine with a cast-iron block and 300-cubic-inch displacement that is the lightest weight V-8 on the market.

... A high-performance engine with two four-barrel carburetors, 10.25 to 1 compression ratio and 425-cubic-inch displacement.

... An entirely new Special line using a frame for the first time, with three inches more wheelbase and 1 1/4 inches additional length.

... A completely restyled lineup of LeSabre, Wildcat and Electra 225 models.

Buick's 26 new models come in six series—the Special, Skylark, LeSabre, Wildcat, Electra 225 and Riviera.

The Riviera sports coupe, introduced last year as a limited-production model, maintains its exclusive exterior styling. However, inside there are numerous interior refinements that add to its distinction.

Buick's new Super Turbine transmissions, the Super Turbine 400 and the Super Turbine 300, were described by Rollert as the most important single development in the long history of the torque-converter transmission which Buick pioneered in 1948.

The Super Turbine 400 is standard on Riviera and Electra models and optional on the Wildcat and LeSabre series. The Super Turbine 300 will be available as optional equipment on all models in the Special series, and also on all LeSabre models except the Estate Wagon.

In addition to an improvement in performance and economy, coupled with smoothness of operation, the new transmissions are great weight savers due to extensive use of aluminum.

Basically, the Super Turbine 400 is a three-element type torque converter.

The Super Turbine 300 has two forward speed ratios. In addition it has Buick's famed "Switch the Pitch" feature which increases torque multiplication for added performance in passing.

The new ST 300 transmission for the Special backs up new engines. The V-8 is up from 198-cubic-inch displacement to 260-cubic-inch displacement. The 425-cubic-inch engine, with either one or two four-barrel carburetors, is available as an option on Wildcat and Electra 225 models. This same engine, with two four-barrel carburetors, is optional on the Riviera. A high-output camshaft is combined with the multiple carburetors.

Some of the more salient styling features of the new models are:

SPECIAL SERIES... longer, wider, roomier. Front bumper completely wraps around. Curved glass in the side windows integrates the lower body with the upper. Frame construction and added size improves ride and roadability. Added height gives easier access, more comfort.

The latest addition to the Tempest line is the LeMans hardtop sports coupe with bucket seats, custom interior trim and exterior trim moldings all standard equipment.

All 1964 Tempest models include new front and rear suspension systems that provide better stability, softer ride, easier handling and reduced maintenance.

Good looks are just the half of it.

'64 Pontiacs More Distinctive

The 1964 Pontiacs which will be on display at the Automobile Show, combine rich styling simplicity with outstanding performance to make them more distinctive and appealing than ever before.

All new models in the 1964 lineup have been completely restyled, appear longer, lower and wider without any significant change in exterior dimensions and yet retain a strong and impressive Pontiac identity.

Highlighting the 1964 "Pontiac look" are vertically positioned twin headlamps and an expansive hood that curves gently down over a divided grille.

The Catalina, Pontiac's volume series, is available in seven models; two and four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, six and nine-passenger station wagons and a convertible. A four-door hardtop and a four-door sedan are offered in the Star Chief series. The luxurious Bonneville is available in four models; two and four-door hardtops, a six-passenger station wagon and a convertible.

Pontiac's prestige sports coupe, the Grand Prix, offering many exclusive extras not found on other models, is available as Pontiac's entry in the luxury car field.

Pontiac's traditionally durable and luxurious interiors have new colors and patterns in the latest fabrics of nylon, vinyl and leather. To satisfy every taste, a complete range of color combinations is offered and nylon blend loop pile carpet floor covering is found in every model.

In addition to new styling, the 1964 Pontiac offers significant improvements in suspension and engines. The choice of new Pontiac accessories provide added safety, convenience and comfort.

Pontiac's popular Tempest series is all new in 1964. Along with new styling, engines, frame, bodies and interiors a new Custom series has been introduced. In the LeMans series an exciting new sports car option called the GTO (Grand Turismo Omologato) is available plus a new two-door hardtop sports coupe.

The 1964 Tempest is 8.7 inches longer than previous models and features a more powerful six-cylinder, in-line engine and completely restyled bodies of frame-type construction. The wheelbase has been increased to 118 inches for an overall length of 203 inches.

A total of 10 different models are offered in 1964.

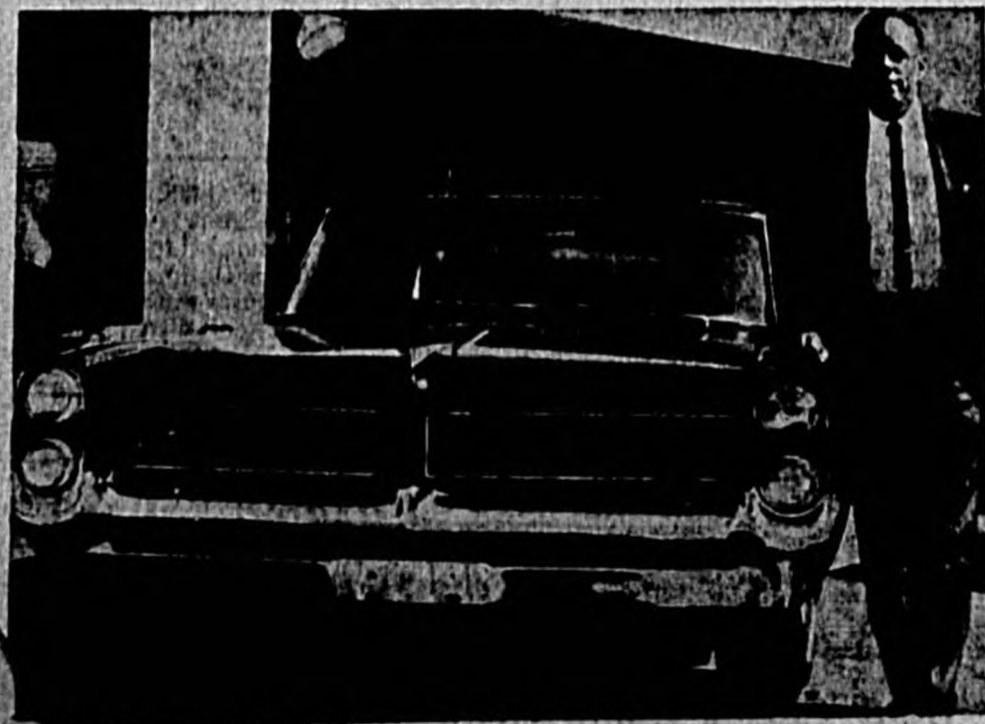

The Tempest and Tempest Custom series have large, single tail lamps that follow the contours of the quarter panel and bumper ends. The new wide face bumpers are "full size" and their wrap-around design is for both protection and good looks.

The LeMans series is quickly identified by its own distinctive grille treatment and rear end design. LeMans tail lamps are integrated within a decorative rear end panel.

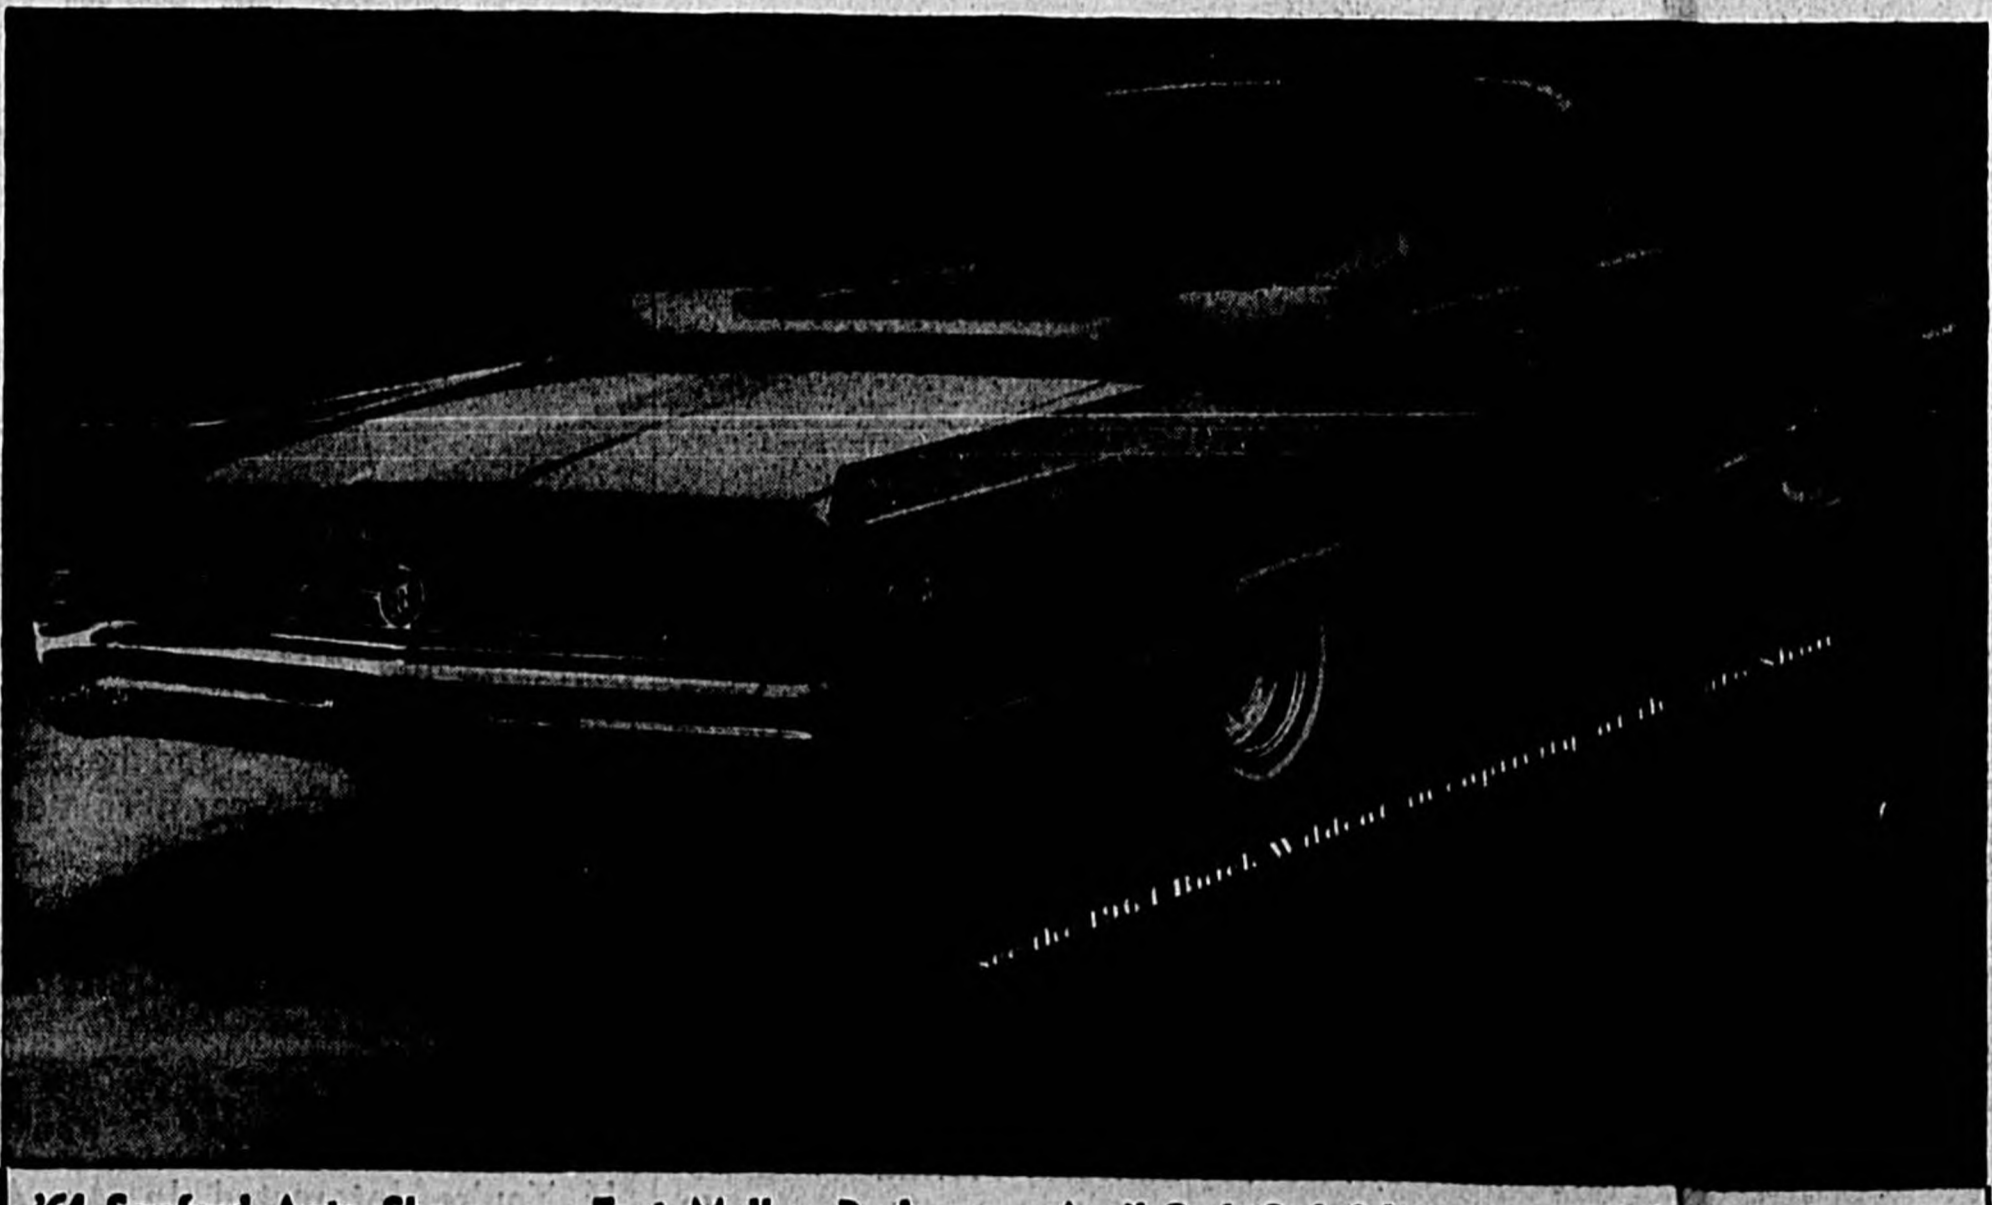

Using a basic Tempest design, the GTO has its own special styling features. The standard GTO engine is a 389 cubic inch V-8 that develops 325 horsepower. All optional equipment for the LeMans series is available with the GTO.

There's Pontiac's Wide-Track. Performance. Handling. Luxury. Quality. Spirit. Regular-gas V-8s and premium-gas V-8s. Sixes. And thirty models including Pontiac Pontiacs, Pontiac Tempests, Pontiac Le Mans and Pontiac GTOs. See them at the Auto Show! Drive them at your authorized Pontiac dealer's!

Oldsmobile Offers New Jetstar 88

With the availability of a V-8 engine in the F-85, and with the introduction of the new Jetstar 88, customers will be able to buy an Oldsmobile for less in both the low price and medium price fields, according to Oldsmobile's general manager and vice president of General Motors, Jack F. Wolfram.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON
The late William S. Knudsen was general manager of Chevrolet when the company first captured sales leadership of the auto industry in 1927. Under the direction of his son, Semon E. Knudsen, Chevrolet has achieved an equally memorable feat. The company's passenger car sales in 1962 and 1963 passed two million—the first time a single auto maker has reached this mark.

"And, too," Wolfram said, "for the sixth consecutive year, list prices for 1964 Dynamic 85's, Super 88's, Ninety-Eight's and Starfires remain constant."
"We have been able to hold our price levels," he said, "despite the many added product values built into every 1964 Oldsmobile in interior and exterior styling, performance, comfort and reliability."
"An excellent example of added product value," Wolfram continued, "is the totally new 1964 F-85 with slightly lower prices. It is a somewhat bigger car for more utility, more leg-room, head-room and entrance room. With the V-8 or the new high performing Jetfire Rocket V-8 engine, it is more car for the money than ever before."
"Jetstar 88 customers," he continued, "will also find the price of some major equipment items, such as the automatic transmission and power steering to be lower than on other full-size Oldsmobiles."

He said Oldsmobile's newly-developed Jetaway transmission with variable vane torque converter is a factory-installed option on both the Jetstar 88 and F-85 models equipped with the V-8 engine. The Jetaway transmission is designed for use in the F-75 with the V-8 engine.
Wolfram also reported that the much-improved, newly-designed, fully-integrated air conditioning system is available for the 1964 F-85.

Oldsmobile's popular Tilt-Away steering wheel, which gives the driver a choice of seven different steering column positions, is available as an extra cost option for the first time on all F-85 models.

ENOUGH FOR EVERYONE
Chevrolet's record-setting 1963 model production would have provided a new standard-size passenger car for everyone in St. Louis and San Francisco, a Chevy II for every man, woman and child in either Portland, Ore., or Louisville and a Corvair for all of the inhabitants of Tulsa or Dayton. Truck production for the year could have put everybody in Phoenix or Newark behind the wheel.

45 FOR '64

As an illustration of Chevrolet's variety for 1964, the 45 individual passenger car models bracketed bumper-to-bumper would extend 729 feet. Selections range from the 173-inch Corvette to the 210.8-inch Impala station wagon.

Plymouth Enhances 1964 Line

Performance and quality, the two dominant themes in Plymouth's success in 1963, are further enhanced in the 1964 line.

Plymouth for 1964 has increased head room, improved driver vision, and an increased over-all length of 1 1/4 inches.

Although their over-all width is unchanged at 75 1/2 inches, the new models give the impression of greater width because of fresh new horizontal styling themes, front and rear.

Engine options include a new 426 cubic inch V-8 for high performance enthusiasts. Suitable for street use, it is a modified version of the Super Stock 426 engine which established a great number of drag strip and track records in 1963.

All 1964 Plymouths have a new look. The most distinctive is the two-door hardtop which has a completely new roof line combining a fleet appearance with a convertible motif.

The 1964 Plymouths are further improved in trouble-free operation, according to C. E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Motors Corporation and general manager, Chrysler-Plymouth Division.

"We had a successful Plymouth in 1963," he said. "We know that much of its success has resulted from its reputation for quality and performance. That's what we have emphasized in the development of the 1964 cars."

The improvements include additional underhood splash shields, a new automatic choke design, a new spark plug cable assembly and other refinements in the engines, transmissions and differential, as well as in body design and assembly.

Plymouth for 1964 offers a wider range of engines than ever before. They include an improved six with compression increased from 8.2:1 to 8.4:1, a competition V-8, and four V-8s designed for conventional owner use with displacements ranging from 318 to 426 cubic inches.

For conventional owner use, Plymouth offers the standard V-8 with 318 cubic inch displacement, 9:1 compression, using regular grade fuel, and three high performance Commando engines as follows, the numbers indicating displacement:

Commando 361—two-barrel carburetor and single exhaust 9:1 compression, using regular grade fuel.

Commando 383—four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, 10:1 compression, premium fuel.

Commando 426—four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, 10.3:1 compression, high performance cams, premium fuel.

Plymouth's competitive performance engine is the 1964 version of the Super Stock 426, the 426-III, with two-four-barrel carburetors, ram induction and compression ratios of 11:1 and 12.5:1. It is a further development of the Super Stock engines used by Plymouth owners in setting 60 drag strip records and winning more than 300 first place trophies during the first eight months of the 1963 model year.

A single carburetor version of this engine has been used by Plymouth drivers in recent stock car races. In the NASCAR circuit, Plymouth cars have won 18 of the first 40 grand national races. Richard Petty of Randleman, N. C., with 13 victories in a Plymouth has won more NASCAR races than any driver and is a contender for the 1963 national championship.

As for economy, Plymouth for seven consecutive years has won its class in the Mobile Economy Run.

The throttle linkage in the four-barrel Commando engines has been changed to provide faster response at high road speeds. The secondary barrels come into play earlier, allowing the engine to develop maximum power prior to the transmission shifting into passing gear.

All 1964 Plymouth cars have a new two-inch wider rear axle shaft. The wider track 59.6 inches, enhances the appearance of the car as seen from the rear. It also contributes to exceptional steering responsiveness and good handling characteristics, according to Plymouth engineers who have road-tested 1964 models over many thousands of miles at the Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Plymouth retains its fully utilized body construction. There is a modification in the silhouette because of structural changes to accommodate a new, more vertical windshield. The roof is higher, providing an inch more head room in front in all closed models and in the rear of all sedans, four-door hardtops and station wagons.

Other new features are: An attractive new center console with "stick shift" type gear selector for the automatic transmission in the Sport Fury.

A new Chrysler-engineered four-speed manual transmission with a floor-mounted shift lever, synchronized in all forward speeds and available on Commando and Super Stock engines.

An improved three-speed manual shift.

An electric push button windshield washer which operates independently of engine vacuum and gives the driver full control of washing action.

A remote control outside rear view mirror with the control mounted on the door.

New crash-tested door latches, which provide exceptional resistance to door opening in a collision.

The Plymouth line for 1964 consists of 26 models in seven body styles and in four series—the Savoy, Belvedere, Fury and Sport Fury. There are two-door and four-door sedans, two-door and four-door hardtops, six passenger and nine-passenger station wagons and convertible coupes.

Plymouth continues to provide a 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty of the engine and drive train components for its 1964 cars, with refinements in the transmissions and engines to simplify and minimize service requirements.

The TorqueFlite transmission, fully covered by the warranty, has a new full-flow oil filter, enclosed within the transmission. It replaces an externally mounted unit. The new unit provides 100 per cent filtration of all circulation oil.

Cadillac Power Upped

The new high performance Cadillac power train will share the spotlight with exclusive comfort and convenience features as the 1964 Cadillac goes on display at the auto show here.

The performance gains result from a 429 cubic inch engine and new transmission, while the comfort and convenience story for 1964 is highlighted by the first fully automatic year around air conditioning system ever offered in an automobile.

Visitors at the auto show will see that Cadillac's 1964 styling reflects the appearance of greater size with a new grille, clean unbroken sides, tailored fins and broad rear design.

Cadillac's 11 models, one less than last year, are realigned in three basic series: Three models are in the Sixty-Two series; four models, including the convertible, are in the de Ville series; and four models in the Fleetwood series. The short deck sedan is discontinued.

Overall length is increased one-half inch to 223 1/2 inches on nine models and 243.8 inches on the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine. Other exterior and interior dimensions remain unchanged.

All models are powered by the new engine with its ten per cent increase in displacement, from 390 to 429 cubic inches, and boost in horsepower from 325 to 340. With a torque increase to 480 at 3000 rpm the performance gain is most noticeable in the 20 to 60 mph speed range.

Two automatic transmissions are offered in 1964—the Hydra-Matic and the new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

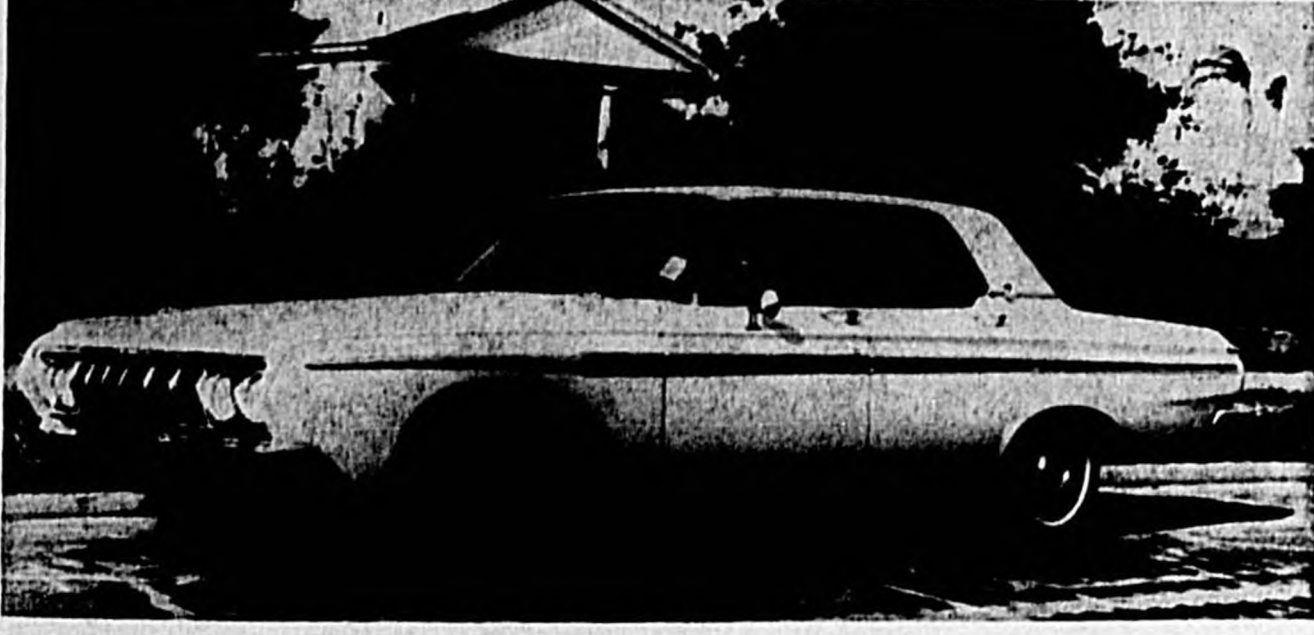

The Hydra-Matic is modified to adapt to the high performance engine and retains its proven smoothness, efficiency and reliability. It is offered in the Sixty-Two series and the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine. The Turbo Hydra-Matic is introduced this year in the de Ville series, the Sixty Special Sedan and the Eldorado Convertible. It is a Hydra-Matic transmission in which a torque converter replaces one of the geared ratios.

An industry first in the areas of comfort and convenience is Cadillac's new Comfort Control, a completely automatic heating and air conditioning system. The driver merely sets a dial thermostat on the instrument panel and Comfort Control does the rest, supplying cooled or warmed conditioned air at the temperature specified. The result is a constant, comfortable atmosphere within the car regardless of the variable temperatures and humidity outside.

Although significant refinements are evident, the styling is unmistakably Cadillac. The look of breadth is characterized in the front by a redesigned grille and in the rear by the strong horizontal lines of the deck lid, bumper and grille treatment above the bumper. The traditional tail fins are one inch lower than last year.

A choice of 16 colors is available. And five glamour firemist paint are offered at no extra cost on the Eldorado Convertible, and as an extra-cost option is available on five models.

A '64 PLYMOUTH FURY is displayed herewith by Frank Brunson, salesman with Brass Motors.

HIGH SPEED YOUR SPEED

Plymouth rocks racing world with sweep in Daytona "500"

According to the record book for stock cars in competition, there is no higher average speed for 500 miles than the 154.334 m.p.h. set by a competition-equipped 1964 Plymouth in winning last month's Daytona "500."

Adding to that glory is the fact that two more 1964 Plymouths finished 2nd and 3rd for a decisive Plymouth sweep. That suggests that Plymouths were not only the swiftest cars in the competition, but that they're built to stay in there all the way.

For the millions of racing fans and high-performance enthusiasts across the country, Plymouth is proud of its "high speed" victory at Daytona.

Plymouth beats Ford & Chevrolet in tests of showroom V-8s

This competition was more "your speed." At Plymouth's request, an independent testing company bought and compared showroom models of Plymouth, Ford and Chevrolet.

The cars were comparably equipped standard V-8s—cars people buy. And the tests were of "things people buy a car for"—acceleration, handling, braking, and gas economy.

In test after test, Plymouth accelerated best, handled best, braked best, and got the best gas mileage. This is the kind of competition Plymouth most likes to win. "High speed" or "your speed," these 1964 Plymouths are tough to beat!

Thunderbird Offers 'First'

Ford's Thunderbird, already noted for a decade of styling leadership, offers more industry firsts for 1964 in both design and function.

Underneath the most famous roofline in America is all-new styling to give the 1964 Thunderbird a fresh, new personality of its own which, in classic car tradition, evolves from the character and outstanding features of its predecessors.

The 1964 Thunderbird has been given a longer hood and a shorter roofline, while the all-new body side panels are highly sculptured. The front end features a more forceful power dome, wider spaced and higher set headlights, and a fully integrated bumper and grille.

The rear end has new rectangular taillights set within the massive integrated rear bumper.

Completely new in interior styling too, the 1964 Thunderbird features a cockpit styling motif in the driver's compartment. Instruments are set in separate pods, and the speedometer has been redesigned for easier reading. All major controls are illuminated by a soft green light for nighttime operation.

Thin-shell, front bucket seats which seem to "float" on twin-pedestal mounts and provide added foot space for rear-seat passengers head up the new interior features for '64. Retractable seat belts, the outboard side of which "disappear" when not in use, are standard equipment. Included with the seat belts is a reminder light on the console. Crank-type vent windows are new to the '64 Thunderbird. Divan seats in the rear compartment are foam-padded and "coved" for lounging comfort. A new fold-down arm rest is located at the seat center.

The new Silent-Flo ventilation system introduces a rear vent which is opened and closed by a vacuum control switch on the command console. The vent improves air circulation within the passenger compartment at highway speeds, and also assists in smoke removal, allow quiet, window-closed driving in all weather conditions, and helps in rear window defogging.

Also new is a deep, wide well in the luggage compartment made possible by relocation of the fuel tank. New extended-life, low-profile 8.15 x 15 tires have been developed especially for the '64 Thunderbird.

The Thunderbird Landau features a durable, fade-resistant padded vinyl top covering over the formal hardtop roof,

Falcon Has New Look

Completely restyled for the first time since its introduction four years ago, the Ford Falcon for 1964 combines a new look of action with a more spacious interior, added economy, and a dramatically smoother new ride.

Along with its new styling, comfort and convenience, Falcon for 1964 offers even more of its traditional big car value in the handy compact size. Steering wheel, brake pedal and accelerator have been relocated, and seat travel has been increased, allowing for easier entry and additional driving pleasure. Other conveniences include an attractively redesigned concave instrument panel with larger glove box, driver-oriented controls and easy-to-read instruments.

Special Enamel Used By Ford

Two of Ford Motor Company's 1964 luxury cars are being painted with a special, deluxe enamel that is superior in hardness to previously used finishes.

The special enamel, which has improved lustre and protective qualities, is applied to all 1964 Thunderbirds and Lincoln Continentals.

Highly resistant to road salt and chemicals, the specially formulated acrylic enamel is cured in paint-drying ovens after it is sprayed on car bodies. The heat-drying process converts the enamel into a hard, durable finish with improved scuff resistance and protection against weather, road salt and other environmental conditions.

Although polishing is not required by owners of 1964 Thunderbirds and Lincoln Continentals to sustain the life of the enamel, visual beauty of the rich colors will be heightened by wiping the cars dry after each washing.

The special enamel is the result of more than four years of work by Ford and its paint suppliers.

A sequel to the poignant tale of the little dog, Brownie, seen for several weeks along Lake Monroe:

Tom Whigham of Lake Mary called The Herald this morning telling of his interest in the case. He says that last Christmas he was working in Sanford, then going to DeLand for work during the afternoon.

Tom said he saw three young puppies in the area mentioned in Wednesday's report. They were brown, short haired and fit the description of the one still staying there. He wonders if one of the dogs is all that's left of the three. We wonder too . . .

An all-expense trip to the New York World's Fair will be the top award for the winner of the Miss Seminole beauty contest to be staged April 23-25 in conjunction with the Industrial Exhibit at the Sanford Civic Center.

Earthquakes in Alaska last week are having their repercussions here. Jittery people—lots of 'em—are telephoning police headquarters: "We are hearing loud noises—are we having an earthquake?" Some even report "feeling" tremors.

Lester Sharp, former manager of the local Western Union office and now retired, called to "correct" us on a sports item the other day. We mentioned that Carl Mays was killed by a pitch from the arm of Ray Chapman. "Actually," says Lester, "it was the other way around. Mays of the Yankees was the pitcher and Chapman, a fine Cleveland shortstop, was the hitter," said Sharp.

Sharp adds that some people wanted Mays to be removed from baseball. "Others," said Lester, "wanted to abolish the underhanded or submarine style of pitching Mays used."

Stanley Hemphill, 12-year-old son of local auto dealer, Bill Hemphill, came up with his first golfing ace Monday when he posted a hole-in-one on Mayfair Country Club's No. 5 on the fly.

Stanley used a driver. He was playing with Chris Warren, also 12, and the event was witnessed by Doris Spencer. This was Stanley's first hole-in-one. After all, he's only been playing since January of this year.

Business Regime Pledged By Kelly

Hitting the "extravagant" administration of Gov. Farris Bryant, Sen. Scott Kelly, one of six candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, promised in a street corner speech here Wednesday that, if elected, "I will use my business experience to bring about a business-like operation of the state government."

Kelly, who was the youngest mayor ever to serve Lake County, struck hard at the 1964 increased tax on automobiles and trucks.

Carolina Lad Missing Since Last February

HALLANDAILE (UPI)—Police Chief Earl Mitchell said today a partially buried skeleton found in a swamp near here Monday might be that of an 11-year-old Mt. Pleasant, S. C., boy believed kidnaped last February.

Mitchell put out a pickup order for Joseph Francis Bryan, 25, who is also wanted by the FBI in connection with the disappearance of the boy, Johnny Robinson.

Authorities in South Carolina said the Robinson boy owned a pair of brown shoes similar to ones found near the skeleton, which was partially buried in the sand on old oak tree trunk, Mitchell said.

Charleston police also told Mitchell that two farmers recalled helping pull a car out of the mud 58 miles from Mt. Pleasant Feb. 28 — the day after the boy disappeared from his home. The farmers said there was a boy asleep in the back seat, one brown shoe sticking out of a blanket.

The car was registered to Bryan, described by authorities as a known gambling enthusiast and disguise artist.

Miami police also are looking for Bryan in connection with a bar robbery last week.

Three vacationing youngsters found the skeleton off State Highway A-1-A near this small city 18 miles north of Miami. The youngsters were Kathy Rice, 14, and her 12-year-old sister, Diane, of Ontario, Canada, and John Carter, 13, of Indianapolis.

The medical examiner said it was impossible to determine the sex of the skeleton, but it was established that the child was 11 years old. The cause of death has not been determined, either.

A South Carolina state warrant charging kidnapping and a federal warrant charging interstate flight to avoid prosecution were issued last month against Bryan, a former mental patient and ex-convict from Audubon, N. J.

The FBI said it had put the "highest priority" on the investigation. It characterized Bryan as "very dangerous."

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —

The United States opens its second man-in-space program next week with an unmanned Gemini space shot that must meet seven objectives to forestall further delay in the project's schedule. The primary goals of the orbital flight, set for Tuesday, were spelled out Wednesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA.

Gemini, designed to keep two men in orbit for up to two weeks to practice rendezvous and other techniques for moon missions, is the bridge between the successful Mercury manned spaceflight program and the Apollo men-to-the-moon venture.

The first Gemini spacecraft, a production model stripped of life support gear, is to be hurled into an orbit ranging from 99 to 183 miles above earth. No attempt will be made to recover the craft.

NASA's main objectives for the first shot are:

—To prove that the Titan-2 rocket and its 7,000-pound spacecraft are able to work together properly on the six-minute climb into orbit;

—To measure the heat caused by air friction on both the booster and capsule during launch;

—To prove that the modified Titan-2 rocket performs as planned and does not produce excessive vibrations or other conditions unsuitable for manned flight;

—To show that the rocket and its ground guidance systems are able to achieve the proper orbit necessary for future manned missions;

—To check the rocket's flight control systems;

—To test a unique cable detecting device designed to give astronauts enough warning to abandon their suit in the event of an emergency failure;

—To prove that the 19-foot spacecraft and its equipment section is capable of withstanding stresses during its trip into orbit.

South Seminole Sets Pre-School Roundup

By Jane Caselberry
Pre-school Roundups at South Seminole Elementary School at Caselberry have been announced by Christy Harp, principal, for Tuesdays, April 21 and April 28, from 8 until 11 a. m. in the school cafeteria.

All children who will be six years old before Jan. 1, 1965, and will be entering the first grade at South Seminole next fall, should be registered at this time.

Those living in the areas of Eastbrook, Caselberry and Lyman Schol, will attend the April 21 roundup. Those living in Howell Park and the Howell Park - Turkey Farm and North Orlando areas are asked to come on April 28.

Parents must bring their child's birth certificate or other proof of birth. Mrs. Janice Cuthrell, county health nurse, will be present to discuss necessary immunizations and distribute medical form blanks.

It is not necessary for the children to accompany the parent, or parents, to the roundup as there will be no classroom visitation at this time. However, pre-schoolers whose parents have registered them at the pre-school readiness clinics being conducted for parents, will have the opportunity to visit a first grade class for one day in May.

Parents still will have another chance to register their child for a classroom visit at the last in a series of readiness clinics which will be held Tuesday, April 14, at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Topics to be discussed at the clinic will include school policy, discipline and what the teacher will expect of the child.

Navy Nurse Retires In Deltona

By Mildred Haney
A light in the split level house on Lake Lapanocia in Deltona was a welcome sight recently to residents on Hartley Circle for they knew it meant the arrival of Miss Mary J. Murphy from Washington, D. C., to take up residence there.

Miss Murphy, a retired Navy Nurse, has had a fascinating career with the U. S. government. Originally from Chicago, Ill., she attended Loyola University. She was with the Navy during World War II and was stationed in California, Florida, Oklahoma, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Guam.

Since retirement from the National Naval Medical Center, she has traveled to Scotland and Italy and is planning a trip to the Mediterranean this summer.

Johnson Accepts 4-H Committee Chairmanship

President Lyndon B. Johnson has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the National 4-H Service Committee, and has consented to the presentation of silver trays in his name to six top ranking 4-H Club members next December at the 47th National 4-H Club Congress, Miss Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent, announced today.

The President of the United States has served as honorary chairman since 1924. The late John F. Kennedy had been chairman.

In accepting the post, President Johnson said, "I deem it a pleasure to accept your kind invitation... (and) will also be happy to permit the traditional awards to be presented in my name to those 4-H Club members holding superior records in citizenship, leadership and achievement. My cordial good wishes for the continued success of this youth program."

The National 4-H Service Committee this year is celebrating its 40th anniversary as a non-profit educational corporation, although it began to function in 1921. Its stated purpose is to support and promote 4-H Club work conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

From the humble beginning and donations of a few thousand dollars used to bring 4-H members to the International Livestock Show, the Committee has increased its support to one-and-a-quarter million dollars annually.

Have Fun, But...

Anyone but a surly super-Scrooge is in favor of youth and the exuberance of youth.

But there's exuberance and exuberance. And the kind that causes several hundred college students to be arrested while on spring vacation jamboree in Florida every year ought to be toned down a bit, for the students' sake and for the sake of American youth in general.

Can't these college kids have fun without going overboard and tearing up things and drinking too much and behaving so they give themselves and their fellow students a bad name?

Let's give it the old college try, kids, and slow down a little — even if it keeps our exuberance out of the news.

A Partnership

One issue that is bound to arouse vast sections of the electorate this year is that of "states' rights" vs. "centralized government."

Unfortunately, the matter is not so much an issue as an emotion with many of us. More heat than light is usually generated in discussions of just how far the federal government is encroaching on areas properly belonging to the states—or, conversely, in just what ways the states are failing to or are unable to protect the rights and meet the new needs of their citizens in this seventh decade of the 20th century.

If the popular logic is not what it should be, it is not surprising, for the experts have tried to come to grips with the situation and have failed to find any workable formula. In 1952, at the request of President Eisenhower, Congress set up the Commission on Inter-Governmental Relations. Two years later the commission was unable to recommend any functions of government which could be transferred from Washington to the states.

In 1957, President Eisenhower gave the same challenge to the Governors' Conference. A committee set up by the governors made a few recommendations, but nothing came of them.

More recently, LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida, has suggested that an annual federal-state conference be called by the President. The federal government would be represented by the President, key executive branch personnel and by members of Congress, Governors, executive department heads and important members of the legislatures would speak for the states.

Collins feels that such annual conferences "would provide an opportunity for injecting fresh breezes into the stale fog which now closes in on too much of our federal-state relationships."

At the very least, they could result in a clearer definition of the needs of the American people and an indication of how these needs could be best met, whether by the separate states or by the federal government.

Whatever the decision might be in any particular matter, in the final analysis it must involve each side aiding the other to do its proper job. The Union was never meant to be a rivalry but a partnership.

Thought For Today

All things have been delivered to me by my Father; and no one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and any one to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.—Matthew 11:27. Whatever Jesus is, the glorious Godhead is; and to have fellowship with the Son is to have fellowship with the Father. To know the love of Christ is to be filled with all the fullness of God. — James Hamilton.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Johnson's Therapy Varies

United Press International "The Treatment" is the description given by President Johnson's friends and foes to the political therapy by which LBJ persuades reluctant citizens to vote for or otherwise to endorse the administration's projects.

"The Treatment" varies from the gentle laying on of hands to muscular arm twisting calculated to wring that member from its socket. The gentle laying on of hands includes such as a White House lunch or a birthday telephone call.

Lunch at the White House may be accompanied by a dip in the presidential pool. If no birthday or other fête offers, the treatment may be via telephone call expressing the President's flattering desire for advice, help and counsel.

The arm twisting is reserved mostly for members of Congress whose votes are required. There is, in fact, not much difference between Johnson's bare knuckle handling of a recalcitrant congressman and the bulky, by methods which were employed by the late President John F. Kennedy. A major difference, of course, is that Johnson's methods get results.

For the non-member of Congress the Johnson treatment is likely to be all sweetness and light; no arm twisting whatever or, at least, none that the patient immediately can detect. Thus it is that the politically minded in Washington are chuckling over the reported affect of the Johnson treatment on Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., the Washington, D.C., spokesman for ADA. ADA is Americans for Democratic Action, a left-wing sodality denounced by its enemies as a menace to the republic but conceded by all to an effective political force with style.

The right-wing National Review noted Rauh's treatment in a recent issue as follows: "The whirlwind courtship of ADA president Joseph L. Rauh Jr. by Lyndon Johnson has started to pay big dividends. Johnson offered Rauh a seat on the presidential airplane to New York for Herbert Lehman's funeral just a few days after his inauguration. Since then he has asked Rauh repeatedly to the White House and listened to him and his conferees on civil rights. Result: The ADA which four years ago pointedly endorsed only the top half of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is now telling the boys it's okay to go all the way with LBJ." That would be a switch.

On June 30, 1960, when LBJ was seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, ADA said of him: "His LBJ is a conservative, anti-civil rights, gas-and-oil senator. He has supported all of the major anti-labor legislation enacted during the past two decades and bragged about it." As late as February, last year, Rauh said: "Vice President Lyndon Johnson has demonstrated once again that his first loyalty is to the southern racists."

Whether Rauh has forgiven LBJ and has persuaded ADA to do likewise perhaps remains to be proven, but it is a fact that ADA's anti-Johnson barrage has been silenced. It is a fact, also, that many persons were astonished by Johnson's vigorous endorsement of civil rights and his demand for House action. That could be the secret of Rauh's conversion. But still warranted is a chuckle on the chance that old-pro Rauh may have been snared by the Texas treatment.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Bill raised a hot issue that may provoke a lot of controversy as he analyzes his arguments. For why should taxpayers in other states contribute $1,000 per year to educate the children of shrewd New Yorkers who enroll in their state universities? And why should private, self-supporting schools be forced to contribute?

Dr. Crane, he began, "I agree with your recent newspaper column in which you said it is time to re-evaluate public education." "And that is especially true regarding state colleges, which load hundreds of millions of dollars in unnecessary taxes on the citizens."

"For example, here in Indiana we have 36 private colleges that don't cost the taxpayer a penny! "So why can't we inject a little 'horse sense' into this matter of higher education?"

"If students in the 36 other colleges and universities of Indiana pay their own tuition, why should be subsidize those who crowd into our state colleges?"

"Let them pay if they want an education! "You have also pointed out that there are over 1,000 excellent Business Colleges in America which don't ask for a cent from the taxpayers."

"And those Business Colleges don't even get tax exemption, as our state colleges do. "They pay real estate taxes, yet erect their college buildings, pay faculty salaries, and still stay out of the red without ANY aid from taxpayers!"

"Since our state universities obtain complete tax exemption, at least they should be able to operate as efficiently as Business Colleges!"

"Moreover, hundreds of students come to Purdue from New York and other Eastern states to take advantage of our low-cost, tax supported colleges. "Our Indiana taxpayers thus are forced to contribute $1,000 per year per pupil toward the education of those New Yorkers who are swamping our Midwestern state schools, just because of this bargain in education.

"I feel it is wrong for Hoosier taxpayers to be forced to pay for the schooling of the sons and daughters of shrewd New Yorkers who are out-flooding the taxpayers of Indiana, as well as Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and many other states."

"Notre Dame also pulls from all over America, but its students pay their own way, for taxpayers aren't forced to support Notre Dame."

"So why can't we inject a little 'horse sense' into this matter of higher education?"

"Let them pay if they want an education! "You have also pointed out that there are over 1,000 excellent Business Colleges in America which don't ask for a cent from the taxpayers."

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Friends, there's a big one up for decision soon in President Johnson's top Democratic circle. Depending on how it finally comes out, we may be seeing a lot more—or a lot less—of the 10-gallon hat.

The Hawks and the Doves aren't in this one. Let's label the contenders this time the Eagles and the Coyotes.

The Eagles want Johnson to be presented in the 1964 campaign as president of all the people. They want him to stuff away all 10-gallon hats, cowboy boots, saddles and other Texas trimmings. Presumably they'd be happy if he'd put the LBJ ranch off limits until 1965.

To the Coyotes this is rank foolishness. Of his western background they say: "He can't shake it, so why not use it?" If these fellows win the day, the great American "spread" will be soaked with the flavor of Johnson's Texas. There will be no effort to change Austin to "Baustin." Even in Maine the voters will be able to smell leather and horseflesh.

The choice—whether to go for a "coat-to-coast" image or build frankly from the old Texas portrait—hasn't yet been made. Everything indicates that the President himself will make it.

Should anyone imagine that he leaves this sort of decision to others, we can go back and look at Lyndon Baines Johnson on the 1960 campaign trail as vice presidential nominee.

He designed bumper stickers. He approved the lyrics for a whistle-stop campaign song written by a band leader's wife. He set the make-up and specified many details for the layout of a four-page tabloid campaign newspaper. He even demanded it be printed on blue paper.

"Johnson seems to like federal blue" recalls an associate from those days. No one who had anything to do with it is likely to forget the President's winding a whistle-stop train trip from Washington to New Orleans. Still ringing in many ears is the battle cry he bellowed, almost as an afterthought, as the train pulled away from a Virginia crowd:

"And what has Richard Nixon ever done for Culpeper?"

Few realize, however, how much of a one-man band Johnson was in the days just before that celebrated swing. He sketched the layout for the cover of the press kit. He helped ready the whistle-stop song for the southern trip. He named the train the "Southern Express" and decided on numerous souvenirs for politicians—and Lady Bird's cousin—who boarded the train along the way.

Among the trinkets received and designed by Johnson: a special badge for all who joined the train party even for a few miles—a "killet" for the Southern Express which a visitor could show to local friends as proof that he'd been among the lucky passengers.

The trip was, of course, a smashing success, as the votes of most southern states for the Kennedy-Johnson slate proved in November.

But the vice presidential nominee did not wait for the votes. He wrote his own October verdict as the streamer across Page 1 of his tabloid "LBJ WINS SOUTH." Now he sits in the White House, busy with South Viet Nam, Panama, the war on poverty, civil rights, the condition of the budget.

But is there anyone who would like to bet that Lyndon Baines Johnson will not find the time this campaign season to think up bumper stickers, label pins, buttons, and what—in 1964—best rhymes with LBJ?

Editor, Herald:

When the people of Sanford turned down their golden opportunity to break the "pane barrier and unite the coast," they proved beyond any doubt that they have little or no regard for the people of south Seminole County.

But these same Sanfordites expect their rejected brethren to the south to pay an equal share of taxes for the Sanford hospital and its projected $1,000,000 addition!

These same Sanfordites expect us to pay gladly for facilities that 99 per cent of us in south Seminole County never use!

Sure, the Seminole Memorial Hospital may belong to the whole county—but because of its very location, we south Seminole residents are practically forbidden to use it or by our own doctors. So, as it or not, when requiring hospitalization, our physician orders us to the more convenient hospitals in Orange County. Thus, the medic doesn't have to drive 32 miles or more (round trip) to visit a patient or two and lose almost half a day doing it.

This brings us to the decision of the Seminole Board of County Commissioners regarding to make on April 11, whether to vote an increase of millage to pay for a 60-bed addition to the Memorial Hospital. Legislation allows the commissioners to tax as high as 10 mills for this hospital. There is no provision for dividing the county into hospital tax districts, as is done in many other counties. Thus, we have a situation here where south Seminole shall continue to pay ever increasing amounts to support an institution of no use to south Seminole.

The Sanfordites would cry like babies if they had to shell out for their hospital with no help from their rejected brethren to the south. Nevertheless, they gave us a hard kick in the shins over a penny ante telephone bill for extended service, county-wide. This service would have helped the entire county such as nothing ever before. Surely, the people of Sanford know this—but they want their cake paid for by us while they eat it.

Editor, Herald:
The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Armed Forces Committee joins me in expressing our sincere appreciation for your most generous contribution to the Chamber-sponsored events during the Tenth Annual Bombing Derby. Your support helped make the 1964 social events the most outstanding in the ten-year Derby history. Most important, we again upheld Sanford's tradition as "the Navy's best duty station."

Astronauts Work At Moon Job

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sixteen U. S. astronauts flew to west Texas to look at rocks and three others rode the Gulf of Mexico in a spaceship today as a part of America's plan to conquer the moon by 1970.

The rock-hunting expedition, led by veterans Alan B. Shepard Jr. and L. Gordon Cooper Jr., took the spacemen on a two-day journey into the expanses of Big Bend National Park, 328 miles southeast of El Paso, Tex., to study geologic formations they might expect to find on the moon.

Village Group Postpones Meeting

By Doris Dean
The April meeting of the North Orlando Civic Association has been postponed from Monday, April 6, in order not to conflict with the reorganizational meeting of the North Orlando Village Council scheduled that night in the Civic Building. The Civic Association will meet the following Monday, April 13, in the Civic Building.

In the Gulf 30 miles from Galveston, Tex., astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, James Lovell and John Young alternated on 12-hour shifts in the cramped confines of a Gemini capsule rolling on the high seas. They wanted to find out how well the craft can float. In other space developments: Scientists at Cape Kennedy readied an unmanned but highly instrumented model of the Gemini space capsule for its first orbital flight, now set for April 7. —The third flight of a revolutionary, high-energy rocket called "Centaur," originally set for April 8, has been postponed for "several days" at Cape Kennedy, officials said. —An oft-delayed drop-test of a dummy Gemini capsule with an over-sized parachute called a "parasail" has been tentatively rescheduled for next week over Trinity Bay southeast of Houston.

Dodgers Run Circles Around Twins

Hit-And-Runs, Thefts Feature 7-3 Victory

By Tim Moriarty
UPI Sports Writer

Are the Los Angeles Dodgers training for the start of another baseball season — or for the Olympic track team? That's what the Minnesota Twins were asking Wednesday after the World Champions literally ran circles around them in scoring a 7-3 victory at Vero Beach.

Memo to all personnel at Sanford Naval Air Station: There's real "gold" fish swimming around in Lake Golden. In fact, one of them is worth $10,000!!!

The annual Schilts fishing derby opened Wednesday and Wilson Colcer, sales manager of the Central Florida Beverage Company, at Orlando, said some of the tagged fish have been placed in Lake Golden.

Schilts has placed the moneyed fish throughout inland waters in Florida, and some in the ocean and the gulf. Anglers taking a fish tagged with the Schilts mark should contact Colcer in order to cash in. Tags range from $25 to $10,000 — and the contest closes here July 31.

"Thank you for your letter of March 18 relative to the effect of the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal upon the shad fishery. I am advised that the Department of Conservation has begun its ecological studies with regard to this project, and you may rest assured that every effort will be made to protect and preserve this valuable fishery."

S. B. (Jim) Crowe received the above letter from Gov. Farris Bryant.

(Webster's defines "ecology" as "dealing with relations between organisms and their environment." In other words, breeding and bedding habits.)

Angler Jim Allen, of the

THIS BEAUTY was caught by James Allin of Sanford while he was fishing below Osteen Bridge. Using an eight-pound test line, Allin landed this 20 pound blue catfish. He lost three more on the same day, he says, when his line broke. Shown with the catch is his friend, Gary Almond.

WINNING WAY

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (NEA) — Coach Grady Penlinger never has had a losing wrestling season in two years at Michigan State, nine years as a high school mentor and four years as a grappler at Oklahoma State.

Navy, has been having a field day at Osteen Bridge fishing camp. Using a rod and reel, with shiners for bait, in one day he brought in a 10-pound, 20-pound, 22-pound and a 25-pound catfish!!!

Paul Johnson says also that the bream, specks and shellcrackers also are biting.

Jim Crowe, of Crowe's camp, also reports the bream and specks are biting, especially the specks in Woodruff Creek. Specks are taking the "No Allibi" lure and Missouri minnows with bream taking worms. Jim said one party of three came in with a full limit of specks and bream.

All resorts report the shad still are running, with John Crim saying that "the shad catch is the best yet this year." He reported that Harry Elder, of Eustis, with a party of five went out Tuesday and came in with 91 shad, including 42 roe.

John also wants it known that Burt Thomas (pictured in The Herald the other day) caught his string of bass at the point off John's camp.

Crim said the bass are starting to school again after the recent cold snap.

John Tolar, of Orlando, tells that wild hogs were more dangerous and troublesome than bears in the pioneer era. He once saw a hog whip an alligator, another drive off a bear stalking its pigs, and, himself, narrowly escaped attack.

Every boatman's camera should have a medium yellow filter to darken the sky and help enhance clouds and water texture. Filters may be of the screw-on or slip-on type, and adapter rings are available to fit most any camera lens.

If you own an outdoor motor sufficiently portable to carry in the trunk of your car, it will pay to take it along on vacation. According to figures from outdoor people, you'll have to $5 to $15 per day for the privilege of renting a fishing motor—when you can find one. Boats, on the other hand, are plentiful and normally rent for $2 to $3 per day.

On small boats, the soft spot for sleeping is atop an air mattress. It offers considerable comfort and, when deflated and rolled up, doesn't require much storage space. Before leaving on a cruise, check it out for leaks. A mattress that runs out of air in the middle of the night is hardly an asset.

The Book of Outdoor Living suggests these ingredients for an easy-to-fix, delectable dish for cruise campers. Appropriately dubbed "Bisque à l'Outboard": One can each of condensed tomato soup, cream of celery soup and condensed milk, as well as one can of either crab meat, shrimp or lobster (if you're really hungry use all three). Combine all ingredients in top of a double boiler and heat, stirring occasionally. Season to taste. It will serve three.

If you haven't a recent photograph of your outboard rig, better have one taken. In the event your boat and motor are stolen, you'll have something to show police that will help them considerably in tracking down your rig.

Trying to erect a tent after dark is an irritating business which the veteran camper avoids like poison ivy. But it happens to the best woodsmen once in a while. If you find yourself in the predicament of setting up camp after nightfall, don't fumble around doing the job by lantern light. Use your car's headlights to illuminate the area.

Leather-soled shoes slip very easily on boat decks, wet rocks and the pine needles and leaves on forest floors. Boating experts suggest outfitting everyone on your camping cruise with a good pair of boat shoes.

Sherry turned in his top performance of the spring by hitting the Twins to one hit over the final four innings.

Tracy Stallard of the New York Mets turned in the spring's first victorious complete game by blanking the Cincinnati Reds, 3-0, on six hits. The fast-balling right-hander struck out eight, walked one and didn't allow a Cincinnati runner to reach second base.

The Mets scored all their runs in the first five innings off rookie southpaw John Flavin. It was the Reds' fifth straight loss and their 10th in 17 exhibitions.

Bob Friend also went the route for the Pittsburgh Pirates but dropped a 4-0 verdict to the Baltimore Orioles. Robin Roberts faced only 22 batters over the first seven innings and stopped the Pirates with two singles. Harvey Haddix blanked his old Pittsburgh mates in the last two frames.

The Milwaukee Braves won their 10th straight game against American League opposition by riding Hank Aaron's fifth home run of the training season to a 5-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

However, the other half of the White Sox' split squad emerged with a 12-7 victory over the Washington Senators, on a seven-run rally in the eighth inning. Charlie Maxwell drove in four Chicago runs with a triple and a single.

In other exhibitions, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-5; the New York Yankees downed the Detroit Tigers, 4-3; the Los Angeles Angels scored a comeback 10-7 victory over the San Francisco Giant; and the Chicago Cubs turned back the Boston Red Sox, 9-7.

Mid-Florida Golf Action

Russ Overly, Bud Mabry and Pat Lary teamed up Wednesday to fire a low net of 58 to take first place in the Senior Men's Golf Association tournament at the Mid Florida Country Club.

It was a three-man, low net, best ball event. In second place with a 59 was the team of Ken Kiefer, Sid Gluckman and Dr. N. Schatz. Andy Anders, Art Krowcocha, and Dr. H. B. Washburn, with a low net of 59, also tied for second place.

No Decision On Memorial Yet

By Julian Stenstrom

The form or type of memorial to be established in remembrance of Seminole High School athlete Buddy Lawson, who recently met an untimely death in an auto accident in Orlando, has not yet been determined by the local committee set up to head the effort.

The committee took note of a letter appearing in Wednesday's edition of The Herald in which the writer suggested that the fund raising group first decide what type of memorial is desired and then gear the effort to reach a specific goal.

However, the committee decided its primary problem in deciding what to do is in not having any idea as to how much will be received by the fund.

"Obviously, if the total comes to $200 the choice is much more restricted than if it amounts to $10,000," the committee declared.

The committee revealed that many suggestions have been made including such items as a plaque for the gymnasium, an enlarged trophy case, a scholarship, a bus for the team's out-of-town trips, training equipment for the track and football teams, additional seats for the field at the high school and lighting for the field.

The committee agreed to ask The Herald to accept ideas that might be used and pass them on to the group.

Met Training On Schedule

The New York Met farm hands, undergoing spring drills at Sanford's Memorial Stadium, went through another intercamp game today under the direction of Ernie White, manager of the Williamsport club of the Eastern League.

White, who is directing field operations at the Met camp here, said that training activities so far this week have been right on schedule and that he and other Met managers and scouts have been well pleased with the progress being made by the more than 50 young ball players being observed by Met officials.

"They're looking better every day," said White. "Our hitting is beginning to catch up with the pitching and this makes for better intercamp games."

While said today that pitchers had been given quite a bit of work in bunting and in fielding of bunts.

The camp will continue on schedule, weather permitting, and White expects to announce the possibility of additional intercamp games this weekend.

Largest Woman Sports Event Opens Next Week

The largest and richest bowling tournament in the 67-year history of the Women's International Bowling Congress—undoubtedly the largest sports event ever scheduled for women—will open next Thursday in Minneapolis.

A total of 5071 teams (more than 23,000 women) will be competing for a prize fund of $248,924, the largest ever offered to women bowlers. The 1964 tournament, so large that it will last 46 days and occupy two bowling centers, surpasses the old women's record of 5000 teams set in 1953 at Detroit.

Women bowlers will be coming from 48 states, Bermuda, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Women Tee Off At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — A wide-open scramble shaped up today as 38 women professional golfers tee off in the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open.

The only thing certain about the tourney, is that the record of no defending champion repeating will remain unbroken.

Defending champion Mickey Wright, who won last year in a play-off with Marilyn Smith, is not competing this year. Miss Wright is being kept out of action with an injured ankle that has been slow to respond to treatment.

But even without the 1963 top money winner, the tourney shapes up as one of the best in the 11-year history of the event. All of the others in the top 10 money winners list for last year are here.

The women pros will play 72 holes over the par 71, 6,277 yards Sunset Country Club course. A large field of amateurs will play the first 54 holes with the pros and any amateur within 10 strokes of the leader at that point will play in the final 18-hole round.

SHS, Colonial Play Friday

Seminole High School's baseball squad will meet the Colonial High Greasers in a Metro League contest Friday afternoon in Orlando in the first of two league games slated this weekend.

Saturday afternoon Coach Jim McCoy's side is scheduled to travel to Orlando again for a tilt with the Boone High School Braves.

McCoy's charges are winless in four league outings thus far this season and have lost their only non-conference encounter. At the present time the Seminoles are in seventh place by virtue of the fact that the cellar is occupied by the Bishop Moore Hornets who have lost five Metro engagements.

co, and are members of 83 women's city bowling associations. More than half are from hostess-state Minnesota, and another quarter are from neighboring Iowa and Wisconsin.

Team averages range from less than 430 (86 pins per woman per game) to 953 (98 pins each), the average of the Linbrook Bowl team of Anaheim, Calif., winner of the 1962 and '63 WIBC championships. There are 70 teams entered with averages of 900 or over.

Other defending champions are Helen Shabils of Detroit, Mich., all events; Irene Montarossa of Flushing, N.Y., Queens champion; Dorothy Wilkinson of Phoenix, Ariz., singles; and Ann Heyman and Ruth Redfox of Toledo, Ohio, doubles.

The huge tournament features several special events. On April 12 and 13, 56 teams from all parts of the U. S. will compete to determine the 1964 collegiate women's champion. Then from May 18-22, 403 of the country's best women bowlers will vie in the 1964 WIBC Queens Tournament.

On May 4-6, more than 1800 convene in Minneapolis for the 47th annual WIBC convention. They will be representing nearly 3 1/2 million WIBC-sanctioned women bowlers.

Liston Fight Firm Mum On Reorganizing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., the corporation set up for former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, would neither confirm nor deny today a report that it may be reorganized.

The Philadelphia Inquirer said in a front page story that negotiations are under way in nearby Chester, Pa., to reorganize the firm which was the subject of hearings by the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee in Washington.

Garland D. (Bill) Cherry, the company's attorney, refused to comment on the inquirer story at this time. He said that "when all the facts and figures are in, we will release it to the public in a press conference and also the future of Inter-Continental Promotions."

Chester concessionaires Bob and James Nilon now own 51 per cent of the corporation. Liston has 22 1/2 per cent, and Sam Margolis, Yeasman, Pa., vending machine company operator described as a close friend of Liston, also has 22 1/2 per cent. Cherry and Salvatore J. Avena, Camden, N.J., attorney, each have five per cent of the stock.

Margolis told the Senate subcommittee he was given the stock for bringing Liston and the Nilons together. The hearings ended Tuesday with an observation by Sen. Philip A. Hart, (D-Mich.), that "the regulation of boxing has been an astounding success."

Sen. Hart is chairman of Senate's subcommittee on anti-trust and monopoly, which has been holding hearings recently on the sport.

The resolution, voted unanimously at Wednesday's BWA luncheon, assured the senator that the BWA was wholeheartedly behind his committee's effort to let "Bill S. 1474" enacted into legislation.

That bill, drawn up by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee when he was head of Senator Hart's subcommittee, was designed primarily "to curb monopolistic control of professional boxing and to establish within the Department of Justice the office of the national boxing commissioner."

Bill S. 1474 was introduced into the Senate by Sen. Kefauver on March 29, 1961. It was read twice and then referred to the judiciary committee, where it still remains.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our children go to elementary school in a state where salaries are low and there is a shortage of teachers. A woman I shall call Mrs. X is a supply teacher. She is also a crossing guard, and must excuse herself in order to direct traffic. Mrs. X married at 14 and had her first child at 15. She did not even finish JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL! Yet we hear that the principal is making her a full-time teacher next year. When we complained, the principal said he "thought" she took a correspondence course and finished high school. Is this fair? Many high school grads would like to forego the expense and work of college, and go right into teaching. Mrs. X must have cast a spell over this principal. What can be done?

ANGRY PARENTS: Qualifications for teaching vary vastly in the individual states. But apparently Mrs. X qualifies to teach in yours. If she hasn't also "cast a spell" over the superintendent and the school board, they can explain it to you.

DEAR ABBY: What makes a 57-year-old man suddenly decide to go on a diet, and to take an interest in clothes and grooming?

CURIOS DEAR CURIOUS: A woman.

DEAR ABBY: My front porch is being used for a public bus stop. When it rains, my porch is crowded with strangers who are waiting for the bus. Some of them leave newspapers on the floor, and I even find cigarette butts that have been crushed by their heels. My porch is my private property. I hate to be seen, but I am getting tired of cleaning up after the public. I can't help it if my house is right on the corner a few steps from the bus stop. What should I do?

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Temple Houston. "Miss Katherineina." Call this one a complicated contrivance. Paula Raymond is more than pleasant as a woman who lets herself get bilked by a con man, falls for him and then learns she's helping him further his career of crime. If you enjoyed "Maverick" and like "Destiny," you'll probably go for this one.

8:30 p.m. CBS. Rawhide. "Incident at Ashton Corners." Fair warning: The accent here is on light comedy with a flicker of range war. Allyn Joslyn plays a town banker who's always dreamed of being a rugged cowboy. He'd like to prove his manliness to his luscious wife (Lola Albright) who likes him just the way he is. He makes a deal with Gil Favor (Eric Fleming), giving Gil his banker's office while he takes over as trail boss. Gil knows little about banking, but the banker knows even less about herding cattle. He can't even ride a horse.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Dr. Kildare. "A Day to Remember." Ann Baxter plays a woman driven to distraction by the death of her son. She runs off with a substitute child who's got severe physical problems and endangers the youngster's life. If Miss Baxter had spent some time visiting one of the psychiatric shows, perhaps her problems would have been resolved.

9-10 p.m. CBS. Perry Mason. "The Case of Simple Simon." This series has had some imaginative plots, but this one stretches credulity. Except for some good courtroom action at the finish, you'll be confused as to what's going on. A middle-aged actress (Virginia Field) is convinced a young man claiming to be her son is a phony. She's convinced the offspring of her unhappy marriage 20 years previously is an actor in her touring troupe. A theater critic she despises for having broken up her marriage is murdered and she's accused of the crime. Perry Mason (Raymond Burr) has a puzzled air in most of this one, and well he should have.

9:30-10:30 p.m. ABC. The Jimmy Dean Show. Another good show, nicely balancing country music, pop music, comedy and flowers. "Texas Plains" opens the show in rousing style. Jimmy does "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Shenandoah" and "Nobody" and guest Eydie Gorme chimes in with "Because You're Mine." The comedy comes from Don Adams who plays a rocket expert and does an inquiring reporter routine. Rowlf gets some laughs as he prepares for his Las Vegas night club debut. Jim Reeves is on hand for more country music with "Welcome To My World" and "Four Walls" and Jim, Jimmy and Eydie team up on "This Old House." The flowers? Some 10,000 carnations tried out for the show and 8,200 made it, less those swiped by members of the cast. A colorful display, intensified by the fact that the show is in glorious black-and-white.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Once you have gotten into the habit of using the four letters of the word "Arch"—Analyze the lead, Review the bidding, Count tricks, How to make the contract—you can learn to perform the four operations together and in the order that is easiest for you.

Now, suppose you are South and West leads that six of diamonds. The lead is somewhat of a surprise since clubs have been bid and raised by the opposition. You decide to play dummy's deuce and to postpone your thinking until you see East's play. East plays the queen and you still miss the king, eight and five.

West might have led low from the king, but that seems that the lead was a singleton.

Few players would open a doubleton when they had a natural long suit lead.

Now you have analyzed the lead and reviewed the bidding. You Count 10 winners and three losers provided you can make three diamond tricks. There are nine winners and four losers if West can get in a diamond ruff.

Since you have decided that West's lead was a singleton you must take that first diamond and go after trumps.

If East has the ace of spades nothing is going to do you any good, but West has it and you wind up losing one spade, one heart and one diamond.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"Are my wife and I wrong in expecting our children to do a few things around the house?" a father asked me recently.

He added by way of explanation: "We insist on our children doing a few small jobs about the house. They have to do their chores before they can play, and apparently we are the only parents in our neighborhood who demand anything at all of their children in the way of work."

Any parent who today clings to the old-fashioned but still-sound notion that a child should accept a little responsibility for helping with chores probably can sympathize with this man. For today, in the so-called "better" neighborhoods, few children are expected to do anything but what beckons at the moment.

Mom or dad mows the lawn, while husky junior goes to the movies or sits in front of his own or a neighbor's television set.

Sis doesn't even clean up her own room, though she has plenty of energy for anything the gang thinks up. Also, she doesn't hesitate to use mom as a chauffeur for the gang.

So the parent who tries to

Nikita Strikes Back At Chinese

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an obvious counter-attack on the Chinese Communists, said today that world revolution cannot succeed without full stomachs.

"There are some who call themselves Communists and Marxist - Leninists and who claim they are working for a better world," he told a meeting of Hungarian factory workers. "But they still don't think it's important to raise the standard of living. They only call for revolution, revolution."

"The revolutionary impulse is in itself not enough. We also need a good plate of goulash, good books and good housing. When you have these, then you know why you are fighting."

It was Khrushchev's first public reference to Peking's massive new attack on his policies issued Monday.

Mrs. Norton Honored Guest Of Baby Shower

The home of Mrs. C. W. Ertle on Calery Avenue was the scene of a shower last Saturday night honoring Cheryl Marie Norton, the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley V. Norton, and Mrs. Norton.

The party rooms were arranged with Easter decor, and the buffet table held a beautiful floral arrangement surrounded with assorted relishes, dips, cakes and Easter eggs. The gifts were presented to the honoree in an oversized Easter basket, cleverly decorated in the traditional Easter manner.

Wynn-Fisher Rehearsal And Dinner Party Given

By Mrs. Joe Mathieux
The rehearsal dinner for the wedding party of Miss Janice Lee Wynn and William A. Fisher, who were married Saturday at All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford, was held last Wednesday in Geneva at Lucky Acres, home of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Stowell Jr. Assisting Mrs. Stowell as Junior hostess was her daughter, Miss Carin M. Stowell.

The Lenten buffet was served to guests from a table overlaid with an heirloom cloth more than 100 years old. The centerpiece, which was the focal point of attention, was a unique replica of the wedding procession designed and created by the hostess. Gowns were exact duplicates, both in design and color, to those worn in the wedding. The altar featured a porcelain madonna, elevated and centered amid white blooms, and flanked by tall white lighted tapers.

Following the delightful buffet, gifts were presented by the bride-elect to her attendants. Mrs. Thomas A. Butler, patron of honor; Miss Fran Cullinan and Miss Barbara Benharik, bridesmaids and Miss Carin M. Stowell, Junior bridesmaid. Donita Wynn, younger sister of the bride-elect who was to have been maid of honor, unfortunately was hospitalized with an emergency appendectomy. Others of the wedding party attending the supper were Larry Loomis, best man and John Hare, Thomas Butler and Carmen Kuatrochi, ushers.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wynn, parents of the bride-elect; Mrs. John Hare, Mrs. Joseph Mathieux and James V. Stowell Jr.

Happy Acres Tea On Easter Sunday Splendid Success

Happy Acres kindergarten and Sunday school class sponsored a highly successful tea program Easter Sunday afternoon with the entire class participating.

An enormous pink umbrella in the school yard was the setting for the tea, and soft Easter music was played as the boys presented the school projects.

The punch table was centered with a beautiful floral arrangement, colored eggs and baskets, and covered with a cloth of unique design. Beth Womble, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Marie Womble, transformed unbleached muslin into a creation by ironing on bunny and egg appliques, and using crayolas to produce a most effective cross stitch design.

Easter cookies were decorated by the girls, and each half hour two five-year-old girls arrived to serve from the hours of 4 to 6.

The guest list exceeded 150, and Mrs. George Pillard expressed her gratitude to all responsible for making this affair such a huge success.

MRS. J. R. BATTLE is displaying some of the doll clothes which will be featured in a bazaar to raise funds for the Oviedo Woman's Club. Mrs. Battle is responsible for the successful project, and this year, she is well under way and ahead of the schedule for the bazaar, which will be announced later.

Homemakers Corner

Mrs. Fort Poole sends us a delicious Raisin Cup Cake recipe. Let's try it, and thank you very much. I had an enjoyable conversation with her the other day.

RAISIN CUP CAKES

Cover 1 cup of raisins (seedless) with water. Boil leaving 1/2 cup of the liquid. Cream: 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lard, 1 beaten egg. Beat in: 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. vanilla, use 1/4 cup liquid. Bake in muffin tins, in 350 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 22. While warm spread mixture of orange juice and sugar on top of each one.

We have a request for the Ice Cream Fruit Punch recipe. Mrs. Charles Jarrett wishes it for a 50th wedding anniversary coming up this month. We guarantee this is a delicious punch as we have used it several times.

This will serve 50. 1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream, softened. 6 1/2 cups (46 oz. can) apricot nectar, chilled. 6 1/2 cups (46 oz. can) pineapple juice, chilled. 1/2 cup (8 oz. can) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed. 1 quart sparkling water, chilled. In large punch bowl put softened ice cream. Pour in juices and sparkling water. Add cracked or crushed ice as much as needed. Stir slightly. Ready to serve.

We also have a request for a cookie mix. We have this one from the H. D. office which has been tried and tested. You can store this away for as long as three months without refrigeration. It is also a cake mix, too.

Garden Club Clarifys The Eligibility Awards For Annual Flower Showing

The awards, to most people, are the most important part of a flower show. There will be only one Blue — for first, one Red — second, one Yellow — third, awarded in each class . . . both in the Artistic Design and the Horticulture Divisions.

From the blue ribbon winners are chosen the highest awards, which years ago were named "Best in the Show." Now, in order to give all outstanding entries equal recognition there are various awards of equal value.

In Artistic Design, the Tricolor is awarded to the blue ribbon winner which is composed of predominately cut plant material. The color designates in each class just exactly what the exhibitor is allowed to use.

Also in artistic design the Award of Distinction may be awarded to the blue ribbon winner which is composed mainly of materials other than fresh cut plant material. This opening is a wide field of possibilities. Besides dried wood, weathered wood, and materials and natural materials, an exhibitor may use painted, treated plant materials and nearly anything. Imagination allows provided the schedule states so. The two awards are equal in value.

In horticulture the Award of Merit may be awarded to the best cut garden flower, the best flowering container grown plant, the best foliage container plant, and if the sections are large enough for good competition, even sections may be divided—such as the best rose, best orchid, etc.

Sweepstakes awards are a special recognition for those exhibitors who have won many blue ribbons, one for each of the main divisions.

The person who wins the most blue ribbons in Artistic Design is awarded the sweepstakes for that division and same for Horticulture.

All residents of the county and area are urged to participate in this annual Spring Flower show in order to make it not only a true club effort, but also a true county or community project.

Eligible for Tricolor are the following classes: "The Doctor Keeps the Apple," "A Gathering Stone," "Make a Hay," "A Woman Should Be Heard," "If At First You Don't Succeed, Try."

Eligible for the Award of Distinction: "A Man's Castle," "Better-Neve," "Mighty Acorns," "The Shortest Distance."

Deltona Ladies Form WW Club

By Mildred Haney
Ten women sat in the living room of the lovely Deltona home of Mrs. Horace Tucker on Hartley Avenue. Ten women who, a year ago, didn't know that Deltona or each other existed. Tuesday they met to organize a Welcome Wagon Club of Deltona, carrying on the tradition of Welcome Wagon, International—that of extending the warm, welcoming hand of friendship to the families moving into this new community.

Mrs. Gregory Prior of Daytona Beach, formerly of Boston, Mass., was present in the capacity of Area Representative of Central Florida for Welcome Wagon, International. She advised the women on the formation of the club, its functions and its potential as an important part of the growth of Deltona.

As a means of getting acquainted while the coffee perked, each guest gave her name, where she was from and a thumb-nail sketch of her life prior to her move to Florida.

Mrs. Arnold Vann, Mrs. John Hollister and Mrs. Oscar Craighton are from Michigan, Mrs. Lemuel Charles from Ohio, Mrs. Thomas Scudler from Illinois, Mrs. Charles McCarthy from Kentucky, Mrs. Katie Timberlake from Tennessee and the hostesses, Mrs. Horace Tucker from Washington, D.C. and Mrs. Robert Haney from Minnesota soon felt that they were beginning a lasting association in the name of service and friendship.

Officers of the club were appointed and plans were made for the first meeting at the Community Club when the officers will be installed.

All of the ladies of Deltona are invited to attend this initial meeting on April 21 and become members of an organization that we know will bring sunshine and friendship into the homes of many who have left old friends and families behind them.

The meeting was followed by a delicious luncheon and the new members departed to think and plan for the many interesting events of the future.

Novel Techniques For Application Of Cosmetics

NEW YORK (UPI)—It was bound to happen—makeup for the area exposed by the season's daring necklines for evening.

Also new are makeup for the ears, bi-color and tri-color treatments for the eyes, double applications of foundations for the skin, and lipsticks that come in stripes.

Overall: a trend to the fragile, softer tones with the eyes still "in" as the feature to accent, say most cosmetics makers.

A check of major firms produced one which advised women on how to apply cosmetics to the forefront exposed by plunging necklines. It begins with a half-hour soak in a softening cream on throat and cleavage, works its way through skin bracer, moisturizer, application then of the same foundation as used on the face blended well so it won't come off on what little dress front there is, a light dusting of rouge over all. Then, a beauty spot, strategically placed.

The company making a special ear cosmetic described it as a pearlescent cream in pale pink. Apply on lobes and brush back for a wing-like effect.

Another firm advocated application of regular rouge to both ear lobes and chin. It came up with the tri-color treatment for the eyes. Use its new whitened shades of eye shadow—sky blue for instance — on the lid. In the crease of the lid blend in a dark neutral shadow—fawn or topaz. Finish off with a light foundation on the bony part of the brow. The result is supposed to be a deep set look.

"Like making a sandwich," said a spokesman.

Several firms advocated double layer treatment of cosmetics but stressed this does not mean a heavily made up effect. New foundations are that sheer.

Women Big Insurance Buyers

By Patricia McCormack
NEW YORK (UPI)— These days it's perfectly okay for a woman to buy life insurance—without having the insurer check her out for suicidal tendencies.

Contemporary females, to prove it, are buying $13.5 million worth of such protection a day! And no questions about plots for payoff are asked.

Put it all together and it adds up to more than $100 billion worth of life insurance, reflecting changes as women become more emancipated.

Great grandpa, for example, didn't need a hoot's worth of the stuff. Great grandpa had the plot ready and figured he could pay the funeral expenses out of pocket.

Came along the next generation — grandpa's era — and there was, perhaps, a little policy to cover burial expenses. A "big" policy hoisted the agent's eyebrows!

But with the next generation and the era of the working wife and mother—contemporary generation—big insurance policies for women moved into their own, and no one suspects that hubby has plans to do away with his spouse to collect. There was such suspicion not long ago when a woman took out a policy that covered more than burial expenses!

What has made greater amounts respectable is the increasing number of working wives.

Most women, according to Margaret Dwyer, a vice president and head of women's activities for an insurance firm are working for a reason. Some of the reasons: Supporting parents, helping to put the children through college, paying off the vacation home.

As a result of the dependency on the wife's earning power, Miss Dwyer noted in an interview that six out of 10 women have life insurance today.

"And this is only the beginning," she said.

As she sees it, the family that depends on two incomes for important expenses posts adjustments regarding budgeting—particularly when it comes to life insurance.

"The foresighted couple determines what percentage of family goals are being reached by each income," she said.

As a result of such fiscal figuring, comes the next step, a calculation of the impact of the loss of one of the incomes due to death or disability.

Insurance taken out by the female earner usually covers the loss of her income in the event of either catastrophic event, according to Miss Dwyer.

The acceptance of family obligations isn't confined to married women. The executive said that 40 percent of the single employed women are providing support for one or more family members.

"In a way," she said, "the single women have the pressing need for adequate life insurance protection, but they are not the only women buying life insurance.

"Some female buyers use life insurance to furnish liquid assets in their estates, thus preventing forced sale of inherited property or investments in an unfavorable market."

"Still others use life insurance as a means of pledging substantial contributions to some pet cause of philanthropy."

P.S.— Statistics show that six out of 10 such policies are bought by women who work. Four out of 10 are bought by women who describe themselves as housewives.

Ten women sat in the living room of the lovely Deltona home of Mrs. Horace Tucker on Hartley Avenue. Ten women who, a year ago, didn't know that Deltona or each other existed. Tuesday they met to organize a Welcome Wagon Club of Deltona, carrying on the tradition of Welcome Wagon, International—that of extending the warm, welcoming hand of friendship to the families moving into this new community.

Mrs. Gregory Prior of Daytona Beach, formerly of Boston, Mass., was present in the capacity of Area Representative of Central Florida for Welcome Wagon, International. She advised the women on the formation of the club, its functions and its potential as an important part of the growth of Deltona.

As a means of getting acquainted while the coffee perked, each guest gave her name, where she was from and a thumb-nail sketch of her life prior to her move to Florida.

Mrs. Arnold Vann, Mrs. John Hollister and Mrs. Oscar Craighton are from Michigan, Mrs. Lemuel Charles from Ohio, Mrs. Thomas Scudler from Illinois, Mrs. Charles McCarthy from Kentucky, Mrs. Katie Timberlake from Tennessee and the hostesses, Mrs. Horace Tucker from Washington, D.C. and Mrs. Robert Haney from Minnesota soon felt that they were beginning a lasting association in the name of service and friendship.

Officers of the club were appointed and plans were made for the first meeting at the Community Club when the officers will be installed.

All of the ladies of Deltona are invited to attend this initial meeting on April 21 and become members of an organization that we know will bring sunshine and friendship into the homes of many who have left old friends and families behind them.

The meeting was followed by a delicious luncheon and the new members departed to think and plan for the many interesting events of the future.

BOBBI MASON celebrated her seventh birthday last Wednesday at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. William Henneman, in North Orlando. Admiring the tempting chocolate birthday cake with Bobbi are her sister, Toni, and brothers, Kent and Larry. Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Larry Mason are the proud parents of these children.

Visit Results In Purchase Of Home

Brilliant sunshine of a typical Florida morning recently found Fred Parlow putting snow tires back on his car in preparation for the long trip back to the snow and cold of Minnesota.

Parlow and his wife, Marian, left St. Paul intending to spend a long anticipated visit with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haney, in Deltona.

In the words of Don McNeill of Breakfast Club Radio fame, "They came, they saw and Deltona conquered." Just one week from the day they arrived at the Haney home on Hartley Avenue, the Parlows consummated the deal on a new home on West Wellington Drive. Anxious to return home and settle business affairs there so they could return to Florida, they left Deltona with the admission of new neighbors to "Hurry back—Y-hear?"

Residents of the community are sure the deep tan acquired by the Parlows in the Florida sun and the news of the purchase of their new home will be the envy of their friends in St. Paul.

SEMINOLE TWIRLERS placed high in the U. S. Twirling Association contest recently held in Bradenton with the above two sets of twirlers finishing first and second in the duet competition. Peggy Miller and Connie Colvin, left, placed second in the duet journey while Sharon Hall and Pat MacKall finished first. Twenty-one twirlers, 12 in the A-Corps and 9 in the B-Corps, participated from Seminole High School. Both groups placed second in their fields. (Herald Photo)

Business Briefs

MIAMI — The appointment of two key executives was announced today by The Deltona Corporation, Florida home-building and community development company.

M. R. Mathews, director of sales at Deltona, has been named general manager for the corporation's development of Marco Island. Gaston M. Bridges, formerly assistant director of sales, has been named Deltona sales director. Frank E. Mackie Jr., president of The Deltona Corporation, said "the appointment of these two long-time Mackie employees to head key areas of our operations reflects their past high level of performance and our confidence in their ability to assume new responsibilities."

As general manager at Marco Island on Florida's Gulf Coast, Mathews will be in charge of sales and overall operations at the 10,100-acre waterfront community.

Bridges will direct the sales operations at Mackie - built Deltona, a planned retirement community launched in November, 1962 on 15,000 acres of land midway between Orlando and Daytona Beach.

232 Things Orbiting The Earth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As of today 232 objects fashioned by man are orbiting in space at distances ranging from a few hundred to many millions of miles from earth.

Most of them are junk—dead satellites, burned out rockets, and fragments of rockets or spacecraft which broke loose after launch but remained in orbit.

They represent what is left in orbit of the 576 pieces of hardware which have been hurled into space by the United States and the Soviet Union since Sputnik 1 was launched on Oct. 4, 1957.

Of the 232 still orbiting objects, 209 were lofted by the United States and 23 by the U. S. S. R. Of these, five U. S. and three Soviet spacecraft, all long since mute, are in endless planetary orbits around the sun.

One of the others, launched by Russia on April 2, 1963, is a mystery. It is revolving not around the earth or the sun but around the earth-moon system in what is called a barycentric orbit.

Among the 209 U. S. launched objects still in space, only 17 are officially recorded as being, so to speak, still alive. They are still able to transmit radio signals to earth.

English Estates PTO To Meet

The PTO executive board will meet Monday at 1 p. m. at the school.

DE Class To Sponsor Rose Show

By Jane Casselberry

More than 100 varieties of hybrid roses will be on display Saturday from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. at Florida State Bank in Sanford at a Rose Show being sponsored by the Lyman High Distributive Education Class in cooperation with Deltona Nursery.

All plants to be shown are from Dr. Huey root stock and include tree roses, climbers, tea roses, hybrid teas and floribunda. Area gardeners and flower lovers are urged to come out and see these Armstrong California roses which will be offered for sale with proceeds to go for sending a delegate to the national convention of DECA in Chicago, April 27-May 5.

Archie Hunnicutt, recently elected state parliamentarian, will be the second Lyman DE student to go as a delegate to a national convention. Diane Spire attended in 1962 as a result of winning the state job interview competition.

Many nationally known figures will be speaking at the convention which will be attended by representatives from every state in the union. Florida's delegation will include 42 students.

Lloyd Barnes is Distributive Education co-ordinator at Lyman.

GOP Rights Bill Support Cited

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., cited messages today from six Republican governors, including three presidential possibilities, as examples of "positive and clear" GOP support for the civil rights bill.

Javits and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., were the scheduled Senate speakers in debate on the bill's provision authorizing the Justice Department to file suits to desegregate public facilities such as parks and libraries.

In a prepared speech Javits hailed the role of Republican lawmakers in getting the bill through the House and to the Senate floor. He declared "rumors" that Republicans would support amendments designed to weaken the bill.

"On the contrary, there is every reason to expect that Republicans in the Senate, notwithstanding their relative size as a group, will be the indispensable means to attain a meaningful civil rights bill with every title in it preserved and adequately covered as they were in the House of Representatives," Javits predicted that GOP senators would support all phases of the bill and back an expected attempt later to shut off Senate debate.

Jury Tampering Case Speeded

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The prosecution expected to rest its case today in the trial of Lawrence Medlin, charged with jury tampering in the 1962 conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa.

James Tippens, a prospective juror in the 1962 trial, testified Wednesday that Medlin offered him $10,000 for a vote of acquittal in the case of the Teamsters Union president.

Medlin, operator of a sandwich packaging firm, was indicted with Hoffa and five other persons by a federal grand jury called into session after the conspiracy case ended in a mistrial.

Tippens, a neighbor of Medlin, said he was approached by the defendant Oct. 23, 1962, the second day of the trial. He said Medlin told him "there's a lot of money involved... $10,000."

Tippens testified that Medlin said, "We have a chance to make big money. No one will know where it came from. It will take only one vote. Maybe not even that."

Tippens said he reported the incident to U. S. District Court Judge William E. Miller the next day and was excused from the jury panel.

VOL. 66 United Press Leased Wire Established 1908 FRI., APRIL 3, 1964 SANFORD, FLORIDA NO. 161

The Sanford Shopping Plaza buildings are going up . . . the Palms Hotel and the Woodruff buildings are coming down. That's life!

Chamber Manager John Kridler reports his office is processing another 500 or so requests for information resulting from an advertisement in Field & Stream magazine about fishing in these parts. If Kridler could only tell them about a new marina with hotel, motel and cafeteria accommodations right on the lakefront.

A box, sealed in the cornerstone of the old Times Tower in New York's Times Square was opened the other day. Leading stories in 12 newspapers, dated Jan. 18, 1904, included:

Bloody uprisings in Africa, trouble in Panama and the Far East, commuters complaining of congestion, Broadway box office practices were being criticized, plus editorials pointed out the dangers of smoking. What kind of a day was Jan. 18, 1904? Like any other day—then and now.

Sanford Kiwanians have scheduled a pancake supper on May 2.

Did you know that when mothers are helping out at the Little Red School House their children are kept free of charge at the Pinecrest Kiddie Korner?

That photo of Burt Thomas and the string of 13 bass, appearing in Monday's Herald, was caught near John Crim's fish camp.

The last occupant of the old Woodruff Building is moving. The John E. Fox Realty Company is occupying new quarters at 206 North Park in the Edwards Bldg. The Woodruff location will become a city parking lot.

Ten years ago Johnnie Elam expressed a desire for an English bulldog. Now she has it—a 66-pound, pug-nosed canine which came as a "Mother's Day" gift from son, Jack Elam, home on vacation from Gordon Military Academy at Barnesville.

Mrs. E. D. Thornton, 306 Magnolia, Sanford, is hunting for $100 she donated several years ago when the Seminole County Humane Society was driving for funds. For lack of support, the society never got off the ground. Someone has told Mrs. Thornton the money is being returned to donors. So, to anyone holding society funds, Mrs. Thornton would like to have her $100. The then president has remarried and left Sanford, and Mrs. Thornton has been unable to locate anyone else who was associated with the society.

Former Herald society scribe Helen Gleason, and now public education chairman of the American Cancer Society, says her office has some new films on cancer. "We're anxious," she says, "to reach as many as possible to show these films and perhaps get to just one person in time to save a life." Any groups, from a few to hundreds, can see the films any time, anywhere. Helen adds that a physician is present to answer questions.

To the dog lover who telephoned: Chico's grave marker is missing from the vacant lot next to the public library in Sanford. The lot is to become a parking lot. Seems the marker disappeared about the time the flagpole was moved to the front of the library. To the uninitiated, Chico was a pet of postal personnel when the postoffice was situated in the building now occupied by the library.

Thousands At Auto Show

Several thousand persons were on hand Thursday afternoon and night for the opening day of the fourth annual Auto Show of the Sanford Automobile Dealers Association at Fort Mellon Park.

Red Cross Fund Drive Slated

A one-week fund raising campaign will be launched by the Seminole County Chapter, American Red Cross, on Sunday, April 12, it was announced today by Howard Hodges, chairman.

Need for supplemental funds to carry on its services in the county was cited by Hodges and ARC board of directors.

Hodges pointed out that the only areas to be covered would be the residential sections of Bear Lake, Forest City, North Orlando, Goldenrod, Elvia and Chuluota. He also stated that since the primary source of operating funds of the chapter is the United Fund, special permission has been obtained from that organization to conduct this campaign.

Hodges emphasized that although the American Red Cross is presently engaged in relief operations in the Ohio Valley flood at a cost to the organization of about $2 million and also in California and Alaska in those earthquake and tidal wave stricken areas at untold greater cost, the local drive is not related to these disasters. The funds collected in Seminole County will be used in the county.

Area directors of the campaign are Hodges, Stewart Helms, Mrs. John Duda and Martha Kilpatrick with the general assistance of Chaplain Robert Deal, of Sanford Naval Air Station.

SEVERAL THOUSAND persons attended the opening day of the Sanford Automobile Dealers Association's fourth annual Auto Show at Fort Mellon Park. Part of the crowd is pictured, as is an African ring-tailed monkey in the lower photo, which entertained the visitors Thursday evening and will do so today and Saturday.

Longwood Discusses Plans For Warehouse

By Donna Estes
The possibility of constructing a municipal garage warehouse on the city's property near the new well to store equipment and supplies was discussed at the regular meeting of the Longwood City Council Thursday evening.

Carl Lammiller and B. H. Ferrell were appointed as a committee to study the matter and submit recommendations to council as soon as possible.

Floridan Sues Drug Company

TAMPA (UPI)—James H. Ball, editor of the Bradenton Herald, filed a $500,000 damage suit in federal court here Thursday against a national drug manufacturer.

Hall alleged in his suit that he had taken a drug made by the Viek Chemical Co. and that use of that drug caused him to have cataracts on both eyes.

The suit contended that Ball took daily doses of the drug Triparanol, also called MER-29, on doctor's orders from June of 1960 to January 1962, where he complained of blurring vision and skin irritations.

On April 9, 1962, an ophthalmologist diagnosed Hall's vision trouble as posterior subcapsular cataracts in each eye, the suit said. The cataracts were removed by surgery, but the suit contends Ball lost all of his side vision, making it nearly impossible for him to drive a car.

Improved Ties With Mazzilli Regime Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk today indicated U. S. readiness to give increased aid to the new Brazilian government to help it with economic and social development.

Rusk told a news conference he believes Brazil's military leaders, state governors and congress had warded off a threat to the country's constitutional system by ousting President Joao Goulart.

Rusk said there was concern that the leftist Goulart was leading Brazil toward some authoritarian form of government before his overthrow.

Rusk echoed and expanded on President Johnson's expressions of hope for strengthening relations and improving cooperation between the two countries in the wake of the overthrow of the Goulart regime.

Rusk told newsmen he did not think the ouster of Goulart was a precedent for other military coups in Latin America which would not keep democratic constitutions in force, as he said Brazil did. Rusk made clear that U. S. recognition of the Brazilian government continues—and was not interrupted during the revolt.

He categorically denied charges in the Cuban press that Brazil's revolution was prepared and paid for by the United States. "There is just not one iota of truth in this," the secretary said.

Johnson Thursday night sent a message to the provisional president of Brazil, Ranieri Mazzilli, to whom he extended "warmest good wishes." It was the first U. S. statement on the Brazil changeover.

Hunt Pushed For Kidnaper

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Police and FBI agents intensified the hunt today for an ex-convict wanted for the kidnaping of a 10-year-old South Carolina boy whose skeleton was found in a swamp near here.

Hollandale police said they planned to file murder charges against the fugitive, 25-year-old Joseph Francis Bryan, already wanted by Mount Pleasant, S. C., police for kidnaping and by the FBI for interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Three youngsters hunting Monday in the sands of a mangrove swamp for lizards found the skeleton, a pair of brown shoes and a kitchen knife nearby.

U. S., Panama In Accord On Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Panama have reached agreement on a formula for resuming diplomatic relations and discussing a settlement of their dispute over the Panama Canal, authoritative sources said today.

An announcement from the White House, Panama City and the Organization of American States (OAS) is expected within a matter of a few hours, the sources said.

Cape Pickets Still On Job

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Picketing guards and striking iron workers kept major space construction at a crawl today while government labor specialists sought ways to end the three-day labor flareup. "The iron workers are still 100 per cent off today," said a spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers. He said other building trades workers were trickling back to their jobs but many remained away.

Hevia Dies
MIAMI (UPI)—Carlos Hevia, former Cuban president, died of a heart attack here Thursday. He was 64.

JANICE ANN RUSSELL, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Russell Jr., Sanford, became the first entry in the Miss Seminole County Beauty Contest being presented by the Sanford Civitan Club. The contest will be staged April 23-25, at the Civic Center. Miss Russell is being sponsored by Kaler Jewelers, Sanford.

Russia Moves Toward Open Chinese Break

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union, charging that Communist China had "passed all limits" in its attacks on Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Soviet policy, today called for a summit meeting of the world's Communist parties that could lead to a final break with Peking.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda broke five months of silence, hitting back at charges made by Peking this week that Khrushchev had abandoned communism in Russia, had capitulated to the capitalists abroad, and ought to be ousted.

Pravda published a secret speech by party ideologist Mikhail Suslov, made Feb. 14 but withheld until now, and coupled with it answers to Chinese attacks made since that time.

It called the Chinese demand for Khrushchev's ouster "a terrible insult to our party and the entire Soviet people."

There was speculation that the meeting might be held as early as April 17, Khrushchev's 70th birthday. Suslov's speech said only that it would discuss the problem of Peking, but the new exchange of attacks appeared to put the two Communist giants on collision course, and China's expulsion from the Moscow-led Communist camp was not ruled out.

Part of this statement, the secretary said, probably is due to Soviet "preoccupation with the increasingly bitter feud between the militant Chinese Reds and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev over the latter's policy of peaceful co-existence.

School Group Dines Tuesday
The Diversified Cooperative Training Program organization at Seminole High School will present its annual employe-employer banquet at 7:15 Tuesday night in the Student Lounge.

Lt. Cdr. Paul S. Folger, commanding officer of the Naval Air Maintenance Training Detachment at SNAS, will speak on "Training Men for Today's Naval Aviation." The banquet is given annually by student employes to honor their employes.

White Dolphin From Black Sea
MOSCOW (UPI)—Russian fishermen caught a white dolphin in the Black Sea, the official Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday.

The rare albino fish weighed more than 130 pounds and was the first of its kind caught in the Black Sea in more than 20 years, according to Tass.

Mac Battling Uremic Poison
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Doctors worked steadily today to save Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the onslaught of uremic poisoning.

The 61-year-old general of the Army, who slipped a little Thursday in his fight for life, is being gradually infused with wastes his kidneys fail to flush from his body.

The old soldier has undergone three major abdominal operations since entering Walter Reed Army Medical Center on March 2.

A hospital spokesman attributed MacArthur's stamion "to his heart, his constitution and his will to live." The general was conscious, although under sedation.

Physicians resorted to dialysis and peritoneal dialysis to take over the kidney function of cleansing the system of impurities.

It was agreed to obtain bids for resurfacing Church Street from the old city limits east to Highway 17-92.

A motion was made and approved to accept the proposal of Gravelly Tractor Sales and Service of Matland for a Gravelly tractor and accessories.

Council unanimously voted that a letter of appreciation be sent to the South Seminole Garden Club for their generosity in furnishing shrubbery for beautification of the new city hall grounds.

Financial statement was approved and various bills paid. Meeting was adjourned subject to call.

ETV Meeting
TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The monthly meeting of the Florida Educational Television Commission will be held April 14 at the University of South Florida, executive secretary James Etheridge said today.

Mac Battling Uremic Poison
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Doctors worked steadily today to save Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the onslaught of uremic poisoning.

The 61-year-old general of the Army, who slipped a little Thursday in his fight for life, is being gradually infused with wastes his kidneys fail to flush from his body.

The old soldier has undergone three major abdominal operations since entering Walter Reed Army Medical Center on March 2.

A hospital spokesman attributed MacArthur's stamion "to his heart, his constitution and his will to live." The general was conscious, although under sedation.
