LEVIATHAN AND VETERANS WILL ARRIVE FRIDAY

Deal Weather Marks Passage Of 1,600 Legionnaires On Way To Reunion In Paris

French Veterans Will Meet Boat

General Pershing Celebrates Birthday On Board Leviathan

ABOARD THE LEVIATHAN, Sept. 14.—Favored by deal weather all the way, the Leviathan, carrying 1,600 American legionnaires en route to Paris, will dock at Cherbourg on Friday where a warm welcome awaits the war veterans.

French veterans' organizations and city officials at Cherbourg have arranged an elaborate program of welcome for the Americans when they again set foot on French soil. The Leviathan will be escorted into the harbor by French speed boats, amid the booming of big land guns firing salutes as the liner anchors.

At the pier the legionnaires will be met by city officials. Speeches will be made and bands will play. The Leviathan will arrive at the pier at 10 o'clock, and the 10th Colonial Infantry and other veterans in uniform. They will march through the town to the Hotel de Ville where the mayor, M. Cherebourg, will receive them. The legionnaires will return to the station and entertain the city.

General John J. Pershing celebrated his sixty-seventh birthday aboard ship yesterday. He was recipient of many congratulations. In the day he held a general reception in the social hall on deck, shaking hands with long lines of legionnaires.

Prospects Indicate Coal Strike Will Not Be Called Off

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. (INS)—Prospects that the Illinois coal strike would continue indefinitely were seen today as a result of the break down of peace negotiations between operators and officials of the miners' union. The final break, marking the end of present negotiations, came last evening when members of the Illinois Coal Operators Association and the Executive Committee of District 12, United Mine Workers of America, met to hear the report of the peace committee, composed of two representatives of each camp.

AUDITORS OFFER EXPLANATION OF HUTTON CLAIMS

Accountants Working On Books Say Paving Firm Has Only One Time Warrant For $350,000; Household Eludes Reporter

In an effort to clear up a general misunderstanding of the details in connection with certain vouchers and time warrants, said to be held by the Hutton Construction Company against the City of Sanford, The Herald today sought information from Mayor E. F. Housholder and auditors now working on the City books.

Repeated efforts to interview the Mayor on the matter were fruitless. A Herald representative made an appointment to see the official at 1 o'clock but the Mayor had not reached his office at that time. Two subsequent calls by telephone the other in person, found the City head "in conference" and a fourth attempt to get in touch with him was of no avail when it was said at his office that "Mr. Housholder had gone out."

The Herald's efforts to learn the exact status of the matter were based upon conflicting statements that had previously been given out by City officials. An explanation was sought from the auditors as to the difference between $220,369.76, the amount said to be due the paving concern, and $217,498.68, the amount of vouchers now held by the company. The difference, it was stated, represented a sum which is due the company but for which no vouchers or warrants have ever been issued.

The auditors were asked to explain a statement made by City Clerk L. R. Phillips at a meeting of the Commission on Monday that the Hutton Company holds $50,000 in time warrants. It was stated that four time warrants, due on October 13 and totaling $50,000 had been issued to the Hutton Construction Company but that only one of those warrants, representing an obligation of $3,553.143 is now in possession of the paving company, the other three having been transferred to other parties in payment of bills owed by the Hutton firm.

A list of six figures given The Herald yesterday by Mayor Housholder and purported to include only vouchers held by the Hutton Company, did represent five vouchers and the single time warrant of the company, the auditors explained.

Asked if $220,369.76, the figure recently accepted by the City Commission as a basis for settlement with the paving company, actually represented the amount due according to an examination of the books, the auditors said it was subject to "adjustments." The adjustments, it was explained, represented several smaller items that had been found since the figure of $220,369.76 had been given the Commission. One of these adjustments, it was said, represented an item of $130 in favor of the paving company.

PARTY CHIEFS SEE PLANS FOR SHOALS RELIEF

Hundred Million Dollar Project Has Been Thrown In The Flesh Of Both Parties; Is "Greatest White Elephant"

To Be Operated For Fertilizers Mainly

Disposition Of Great Plant Would Be Regarded As Victory For Insurgent Block

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A plan for federal operation of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project over a limited period of years was under consideration today by administration leaders as a means of disposing of the government's "greatest white elephant."

The project would be operated by the government primarily for the manufacture of nitrate and fertilizers, under this compromise plan, with provisions for the sale of all surplus power to private companies on fixed terms.

The disposition of the great water-power site would be a partial victory for the insurgent bloc of congress, which has fought for eight years to prevent private operation of the project. The bloc, under the leadership of Senator George W. Norris (R) of Neb., was reported to be seeking support for a ten-year government-operation program but there were indications the compromise, if adopted, would limit government operation to from three to four years.

Administration leaders gave the government-operation plan serious thought, it was said, because of the fact that the insurgent bloc holds the "balance of power" in the next Senate and can block all action on Muscle Shoals if it chooses, rather than go into another presidential campaign with the project remaining "white elephant" on the administration's hands, it was said, Republican leaders, favored a compromise with the insurgents.

"Something ought to be done with the Muscle Shoals project in the next session of congress," said one administration leader, "with the insurgents in power, we can't expect action on any bill releasing the project to private interests. It will be good politics however to get this problem out of the way over the next election, the good politics to both Republicans and Democrats—I won't be surprised if Congress finally agreed to government operation of the project for a few years. Such a compromise at least would be an experiment and then the country could learn whether or not the government can successfully undertake the operation of a private business."

Mix-Up Over Babies Causes Law Suit In Cleveland Hospital

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14 (INS)—Becoming more complicated with each development, the habeas corpus action of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, seeking to compel a local hospital to produce a baby boy in place of the girl baby now being held by Mrs. Smith, today had involved four infants with the possibility of a blood test being ordered in an attempt to clear up the case.

On August 22, last, Mrs. Smith gave birth to a child which she claims, hospital authorities told her was a boy. Several days later she discovered that the baby she was nursing was a girl. After a preliminary investigation, hospital officials admitted there had been a "technical mistake," but declared "there was now no doubt that Mrs. Sam Smith's baby was really a girl." This failed to satisfy Mrs. Smith and habeas corpus proceedings were filed in an attempt to force the institution to produce one "baby George Smith." Three other mothers of infants involved in the controversy say they are satisfied that they have received their own babies and "will never give them up."

In the meantime common pleas Judge Carl V. Weygandt, playing the role of a modern King Solomon has called upon physicians for advice regarding possible blood tests to help solve the unique law suit.

"Nothing will be left undone to clear up this strangest of all law suits," the Judge declared, "if physicians tell the court that blood tests will aid in a solution, I certainly will order them."

Rich West Virginia Girl Lured To New York Hotel And Robbed Of Her Jewels

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (INS)—Miss Cordie Harvey, 25, of wealthy parents of Charleston, W. Va., who came to New York two weeks ago to "see the sights" was lured to a hotel room and drugged and robbed of jewels valued at $15,000, it became known today with the arrest of two suspects.

The prisoner, described themselves as Edward Kelly and Paul Jeffries, waiters. The police say they were identified by Miss Harvey.

Miss Harvey told the police that one evening recently she wanted to go to the City Hall post office and asked a young man on Broadway for directions. It happened to be Jeffries she said. She said later she met her on the street and reminded her he was the man who gave her the directions.

CITY WITHDRAWS NEW YORK MAYOR ORDER VACATING RECEIVES AWARD INSPECTOR'S JOB LEGION OF HONOR

Position Of City Sanitary Inspector To Be Continued And Rem Is Put Back In Budget On Order Of Commission

An order recently received by the city sanitary inspector has been rescinded, according to information obtained today from City Manager W. B. Williams, who stated that an appropriation covering the expense for this position had been included in the tentative budget for next year, but that this item to the budget follows a previous action of the City Commission to abolish the office.

Dr. C. W. Baker, city sanitary inspector, was scheduled to sever his connection with the city by September 15 by virtue of an order issued some time ago by the City Manager, who stated to The Herald this morning that his action had been based on the Commission's steps to vacate the position. With the subsequent withdrawal of the order, Mr. Williams stated that he had recalled his order to Dr. Baker and that provisions had been made for maintaining that office.

Continuance of the office held by Dr. Baker comes closely upon considerable discussion of local citizens who declared the position one of the most important in the city administration. To abolish the office was described by many as being false economy. The Commissioners were besieged by many citizens to reconsider their action, pointing out that unless the city had a sanitary expert the health of the people would be endangered.

THINK FRANCE WON'T ACCEPT U.S. PROPOSALS

Negotiations Effecting National Commercial Treaty Hit Snag As Proposals Are Presented French Government

United States Can't Accept Compromise

Fear Compromise Might Upset Rigidity Of American Tariff System By Changing Duties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Indications were received by the state department today that France will reject the American proposals for a most-favored-nation commercial treaty.

At the same time it was stated conditionally that the United States cannot agree to a reciprocal compromise affecting the trade relations between the two countries. Such a course would be contrary to the established policy of this government and might go far toward disrupting the present American tariff system. It was admitted, however, that the final decision either for or against a compromise rests with President Coolidge and the Cabinet.

While the Forney-McCumber Tariff Act of 1922 does not specifically provide for most favored nation treaties with other powers, it makes no provision for any other kind of agreement. On the other hand, the tariff law, by interference, almost makes it obligatory on the part of the government to enter into most favored nation agreements.

If France and the United States were to reach a compromise, by which preferential rates were given on the goods of one country in return for like privileges on the exports of the other, such preferential rates would have to be extended to every other country with which the United States has most favored nation agreements.

According to the lawyer, "Nicky" was seen often in the company of this society woman, whose name was withheld, at social functions and various public affairs. One attorney Ehrlich stated, "Nicky" took a "long vacation trip" to Europe at this woman's expense.

"Nicky" refused to discuss the phase of his marital difficulty. He reiterated that much he loves Fanny, and love her ways will be tried of her, Fanny Brice.

BLESSING VERSE FOR TODAY
THE BEST GOOD:—But it is good for me to draw near to God; I have put my trust in the Lord God; that I may declare all Thy works. Psalm 73:28.
PRAYER: O God, Thou art my King working salvation in the midst of the earth.

A SHOCKING DISCOVERY
 I now understand why I'm always dog tired.
 When the day's occupation is done,
 And never with any ambition am I fired
 To be up at the rise of the sun,
 I know why I'm filled with unbounded delight,
 When under the covers I creep,
 And although I stay there nine hours a night
 I never get half enough sleep.
 For students of human activities says
 That we walk, while at work, eight good miles every day.

It is only on week ends I walk over the course
 And find with my brassie the sod.
 I have never exerted the muscular force
 That is needed to carry the load;
 Yet I shrink at all effort, I find little rest
 In pounding the typewriter keys,
 And I always am longing for bed-time and rest
 And thinking of hours of ease.
 For without ever thinking, I'm walking about,
 And when night is at hand I have played myself out.

These miles, must be walked—one can't give them a miss,
 And they leave a man weary and worn;
 If I'd ever suspected that life was like this
 I think I'd have never been born.
 No wonder I love in the sunshine to bask
 And enjoy any sort of a view,
 Instead of attempting the soul racking task
 Which each day I am instructed to do;
 No wonder I'm little addicted to smiles,
 I always am fagged by those eight breadful miles.

Seminole County Schools

With the fall term of the Seminole High School already under way and with plans completed for the reopening within a few days of all the schools in the county, Seminole citizens should take a great deal of pride in knowing that their schools will be operated in full force and for the entire term despite numerous handicaps that have been placed in the way. Sacrifices have been made by school officials, and of necessity others will have to follow. They have made the most of their opportunities and the reward is that we will have full time schools.

We are especially fortunate when we consider the difficulties under which school boards are functioning in practically every county of the state. Many of them have been compelled to cut their terms and reduce the number of teachers. Others have been unable to make necessary changes in equipment and facilities. Lack of finances, of course, has precipitated the situation and the Seminole County board has not been without its problems along this line. The fortunate part is that the local school officials have not had the financial difficulties that others have had although their problems have been numerous.

By the judicious use of money which is available and the exercise of good, common business judgment, Seminole school officials have been able to proceed with work on needed additions to their plants, have secured capable teaching staffs and made arrangements to run the schools for the length of their regular terms. The emergency of the problem has been solved and the results are gratifying.

The county school heads deserve a great deal of praise for their untiring and unselfish efforts. Their work reflects considerable credit to them for making the most of the task that was before them. By their efforts they have assured us of the continuance of a school system that is thorough and efficient.

Why Don't The People Vote?

Most people will undoubtedly readily acquiesce to the premise that the corrupt condition of politics in most cities and countries is due largely to the fact that it is impossible to get the people to vote. It has been frequently pointed out that in the majority of national elections, if fifty or sixty percent of all possible votes are cast, it is generally considered a big election.

In most cases the will of the people can be regarded as right. Only the most persistent cynic will not admit that the majority of the people want to do the right thing and if they all voted, would vote for men who were honest and able, or for principles which were for the betterment of the country and its people. But the people won't vote, and we wonder why. The Columbus-Enquirer Sun suggests that perhaps the issues are not always interesting or well understood. In dealing with this subject, it says:

"More and better voting, it is announced, is to be made the objective of a high-powered campaign sponsored, planned and officered by the National Association of Manufacturers. The effort, which is scheduled to begin November 1, will follow immediately upon the conclusion of the work of the Platform of American Industry Committee of One Hundred, which is now drawing up a platform to be submitted to both the republican and democratic parties and which will be acted upon first by the manufacturers at their convention in Chattanooga in October."

"We do not like the role of pessimist, but we are forced to the conclusion that the forthcoming call to arms, like the one in 1924, will result in little more than noise. A voter used to be a Republican or a Democrat because the parties meant something to his life. They offered him a choice between issues, and he voted his convictions. Now the parties are so much in open or tacit accord on all points of major interest that the voter is left only one choice, which means no choice at all. It may be that he asks why should he bother to go to the polls when his ballot can have no real weight in determining the policies of the nation. He discovers no obvious answer, and consequently he often stays away. Or it may be that he stays away because he has no convictions."

"The Association points out that eligible voters in 1928 will number about 60,000,000 and believes that the campaign will stimulate an attendance at the polls of at least 36,000,000—sixty per cent."

"Again we must express our doubts. It is extremely improbable that a platform agreeable to both parties—which is evidently the kind of platform the Committee of one Hundred intends to submit—will announce any principle likely to impress the voter. It will consist of platitudes, or it will confine itself closely to non-controversial economics or—much the same thing—it will endorse policies that are already openly or tacitly accepted by both parties. In neither case will it be anything to arouse protracted cheering."

"One thing, and one thing only, can markedly increase the number of practising voters; and that is for one party, or both parties, to live principles the voter can get excited about. Neither does it now. Neither, if we are to judge by recent performances, is likely to do it next year. But until it is done, campaigns to get out the vote will be about as persuasive as the smile of Calvin Coolidge on the screen."

Open Mind Essential To Progress
 ST. PETERSBURG INDEPENDENT

This is the twentieth century, and people are flying over oceans in airplanes, and radio encircles the earth, but there are still thousands of people who line up behind the dumb-bell ditty's twin slogans—"I don't believe it," and "It can't be done." There are always been people like that, but not occasion any great regret; but it is both to be regretted and resented that such people are blocking the way now, and that there will be such people in the future to hold back and hinder thought and action.

Here is an account, reprinted from a clipping from a Boston newspaper of something that happened sixty-one years ago in New York City:

A man about 46 years of age, giving the name of Joshua Coppenworth, has been arrested in New York for attempting to export funds from ignorant and superstitious people by exhibiting a device which says will convey the human voice any distance over metallic wires so that it will be heard by the listener at the other end. He calls the instrument "telephones" which is obviously intended to imitate the word "telegraph" and win the confidence of those who know of the success of year, might get from a careful study of the latter instrument without understanding the principles in which it is based. Well-informed people ally it is a mistake to say flatly that it is impossible to do anything that they do not believe the human voice over lieve it and that it can not be

As Brisbane Sees It

The Nation's Real Wealth. Wisdom Of The Purdah. Says Mr. Kellogg. Earth's Last Two Men. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

ONE SINGLE AMERICAN city, New York, in its public schools yesterday received, 1,100,000 children. The real wealth of the United States, its hope and future, are stored away in those 1,100,000 young minds and in the millions of others in many thousands of blessed public schools all over this country.

Wealth in not in mines, factories, crops, buildings or stocks, but in thought, free and untrammelled. From that all other wealth springs. Mr. Rudman Wanamaker sends to this column a book about India with this inscription "Dear Brisbane, page 50 is your motto. Tell everybody." On page 50 an old lady, impressing on the beautiful young natarra the wisdom of the purdah, in which the rajahs keep their women, says:

"Wisdom is made up of 10 parts, nine of which are silence, and the tenth is brevity. Words, like the tusk of an elephant, once out, cannot be put back into the mouth again."

ELIZABETH COOPER WROTE the book, and that advice of the old lady is recommended to advertisement writers, reporters and editorial writers especially.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE says Abraham Lincoln's object "was not merely to instruct men how to raise more corn, feed more hogs, get more money to buy more land and so on in a circle. His main object must have been to raise better corn."

This is one of President Coolidge's best short speeches. He has known and applied since birth those 10 points of the wisdom of the purdah.

SECRETARY KELLOGG needs no outsiders to tell him what to do, and says there is no misunderstanding between this country and Panama about the Canal Zone. In any case he sees no reasons for an appeal to the league of nations. Mr. Kellogg adds, to the satisfaction of his fellow citizens who are really Americans, that the league has no jurisdiction over our Canal Zone and won't ever have any.

YOU SEE HOW easily this country would slip first into misunderstanding then into war had it stupidly joined that league. America built the canal, paid for it on the same terms as American ships, which is foolish, as American should have preference in their own canal. Fortunately Secretary Kellogg and President Coolidge are Americans, without any lion or unicorn in their mental coat of arms.

FRANK A. WALSH of Milwaukee, commander of the G. A. R., says it is hard to realize that some day, on this earth, which must die when our sun dies, there will be only two human beings left alive, all of the others having died, by slow exhaustion of sunshine and heat. Scientists say we have at least 100,000,000 centuries left for the sun's heat will last that long. But the earth must die in time.

HOW WISE will those two men be, what wonders will our half savage race now only 17,000 years from the stone age, accomplish in 100,000,000 centuries? And how interesting to reflect that we may come back and live through them all.

THE CHARMING, youthful, unsophisticated and innocent Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin tells all reporters: "I wish Mr. Chaplin every happiness, but I am through with him forever."

The beauty of it is that she believes it, just as Eve believed it when she had been married to Adam for a week, and again, after little Cain arrived, and especially after Adam blamed it on her, when the apple episode drove them from Eden.

A young woman in Los Angeles whose father struck her in the face exclaimed, "I wish you were dead!" The father clutch his heart and fell dead instantly. That happens rarely and fortunately. If it always happened there would be no birth control problem.

THE VOGUE, EXPLAINED

There is a certain verve to oil and vinegar when they are freshly mixed, French cooks tell us. That is the raison d'être of this vogue of mixing French Dressing right at the table.

At the smartest dinners where social customs originate, the hostess herself mixes the French Dressing and pours it, freshly blended, onto the salad. It is a pleasant and charming custom and certainly results in a delicious salad.

Three parts of Wesson Oil to one of vinegar or lemon juice makes a delightfully mild dressing. If you add more vinegar—two parts for instance—your dressing will be more tart. Vary the proportions according to your own taste and the strength of your particular vinegar or lemon. Salt... pepper... and paprika for color.

And then shall it be a bit of this crumbled Roquefort on this green salad or sweeter—bar-le-duc, perhaps if your salad is fruit. This is where the fineness comes in... to try a bit of this and a bit of that and vary your dressing to suit your salad... or your whims.

Wesson Oil is often recommended by women because it is so clear and light in color, and because it is very wholesome and delicate in flavor.

Miss Margaret Cox Is "Poor Nut" Picture Hostess At Delightful Party At Country Club

One of the loveliest social affairs of the season and one in which the artistic taste of the hostess was reflected in every detail was that of Tuesday evening when Miss Margaret Cox entertained the members of the Sandspur Bridge club and a few guests at bridge at the Sanford Country Club.

The rooms where the guests assembled for the game were beautifully decorated with quantities of pink and rose colored Radiance roses combined with sprigs of asparagus ferns.

Further accentuating the color scheme were cut-glass bon bon dishes holding pink, blue and white mints.

Tallies used for the game were miniature fans inscribed with "Keep Cool" together with comic cartoons.

When the fifth progression had been played, scores were collected and it was found that Miss Mina Howard held high score. She was awarded a lovely amber pendant. For having scored the least among the girls Miss Frances Dutton was consoling with a unique jewel box in red and silver. The men's prizes were won by Paul Stines and Ralph Woodruff. Mr. Stines received a Houbigant's toilet set, while Mr. Woodruff's prize was a brass ash tray in the form of a bull dog.

For having the lucky card Laurie McDaniel was given a deck of bridge cards.

At the refreshments hour, Miss Cox served brick ice cream in the preferred colors and cake. On each plate were rosebuds as favors.

Jones, Hampton Du Bose, Pete Sones, Ralph Woodruff, Frank Woodruff Jr., Paul Stines, Laurie McDaniel, Paul Oberholzer, and George Cowan.

Time For Planting Of Flower Seed Arrives

This should be a time of great activity in Sanford flower gardens. The season has been so unusual that planting may safely be made two weeks earlier than in the average fall. There are some few things that may be sown directly in the ground, such as nasturtiums, mignonette, poppies, stocks, and of course sweet peas, and for these the beds should be thoroughly weeded and worked up, and well fertilized and watered down several days before the sowing is made.

Gladioli, callas and freesias should be planted in well enriched soil and never allowed to dry out. There is some danger of very dry days in September, and that will demand unceasing attention on the part of the gardener. Italian rye may be sown any time after the first of October, and it is claimed that it will not injure Bermuda lawns, when it is used to maintain a constant verdure throughout the winter months.

This is about time for the last pruning of evergreens, and the pointsettias should have had their last cropping some weeks ago. At the seed sale to be sponsored by the Garden Club Friday at the Mc-Lander Arcade, some of the best garden pamphlets published by the Garden Club of Jacksonville to be available for references along kinds of plants and planting as well as insect and other garden pests and the ladies in charge will be glad to answer questions. The sale will open at nine o'clock in the morning.

"Poor Nut" Picture At Milane Theater Features Two Stars

The best way to describe First National's new feature picture, "The Poor Nut," which comes today to the Milane theater with Jack Mulhall in the title role, is to say that it will be enjoyed by everyone, from mother and father to the last kiddie.

"The Poor Nut" is the screen version of the stage play of the same title which ran for a year in New York. It is a clean, extremely funny story of college life, built around a young man who suffers from an "inferiority complex" which is finally removed through the work of a pretty coed and his own victory as a runner on the cinder track.

A real track meet, the big annual affair of the University of Arizona, is shown in the picture and is one of the outstanding features of the film. Real athletes in real competition instead of the usual runs.

"The Poor Nut" was directed by Richard Wallace. In the cast, in addition to Mulhall, are Charles Murray, Jane Winton, Jean Arthur, Cornelius Keefe and many other prominent screen players.

LAKE MARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Thomas of Columbia, S. C. were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Staubs. Mr. Thomas is known to radio fans as "Tootin' Tom", and his engineering work is a familiar tune years, but during this period rarely desert their husbands. Subsequently the proportion of desertions becomes higher.

Unfaithfulness on the part of the husband is rare in the first four years of marriage, although it becomes high from the sixth to the nineteenth year. Husbands are likely to be cruel for three years and then give their mates other causes for divorces. In the initial four years few husbands are guilty of desertion or drunkenness but after that they may commit both offenses.

Men are god providers in the first three years and after the tenth year but in the meantime their money may go to other than domestic purposes.

Reviewing the situation sectionally the Bureau found that in the middle-Atlantic states, a large proportion of divorces were granted because of infidelity; in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, a record was made for cruelty, desertion and drunkenness; in the mountain states, failure to provide was a common cause, while in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi the largest proportion of women failed to meet the requirements of marriage.

East laws caused Nevada to set a record last year with over 13 divorces per 1,000 population, while the rate in the District of Columbia and New York was low.

CENSUS REVEALS THAT WIVES GET MOST DIVORCES

FREAK BETS ARE MADE BY PICTURE STARS ON FIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 14.—(INS)—Motion picture actors and actresses lost heavily last year wagering Jack Dempsey would still be heavyweight champion of the world after his Philadelphia brawl with Gene Tunney. Then? Believing Dempsey "through" they picked Jack Sharkey to give Estelle Taylor's beetle-browed husband another lambasting—and they lost heavily again.

Now the amateur gamblers of the film company are cued. Instead of a wave of cash wagers, a flood of freak bets of the "after-election" type has inundated the studios and interested in the Dempsey-Tunney return fight has grown to illustrate:

If Dempsey wins, Raymond Hatton will push Wallace Berry in a flying field; should Tunney win, Wheeler will be pushed with a 100-pound weight also loaded in the chair.

Either Clara Bow of Clive Brooks will ride a small tricycle round the studio square, a distance of a half mile. The female red-haired poseur of "It" is placing her faith in Tunney.

If Dempsey goes down to defeat, Adolph Menjou has promised Babe Daniels he will appear two days in old, dirty clothes—something the "screen gentleman" loathes. Bebe will walk two miles without touching a sidewalk crack if she loses.

Doris Hill and George Bancroft have selected Tunney and Dempsey respectively. George will carry Doris to every working company on the lot if she wins, but if the battle goes against her wishes Doris has to stand in the studio court and sign "asleep in the deep," in baritone. And she is a

(Continued From Page 1) idity of the present American tariff system by applying several sets of duties to goods imported into this country instead of just one set, as at present.

It also might follow that the present duties would, in the event of any compromise, be lowered automatically in several cases.

A compromise with France would make it necessary for the United States to extend the terms of this compromise to Germany, Hungary and Estonia, with whom this country has most-favored-nation agreements, and to about a dozen other countries with whom the United States had temporary arrangements of like nature.

The State Department was awaiting today the French reply to the draft treaty submitted to the Paris foreign office a few weeks ago. It was said this draft was not intended to cover all the points in the final agreement, but was offered rather as a basis of negotiation. Officials were somewhat puzzled, therefore, by efforts from Paris to the effect that the French considered the draft proposal inadequate.

Negotiations for the new commercial treaty will be carried on in Paris rather than in Washington, the government has no present intention of sending commercial or other experts to the French capital unless it appears impossible to reach an agreement without their services.

Other dispatches indicating that France might extend more favorable rates to American shippers pending the negotiation of a treaty were unconfirmed here. Although temporary relief for American exporters has been sought by the State Department, officials were skeptical over the possibilities of obtaining it.

"This condition went on for some time, until I heard about Cardui, which some one told me was good for such ailments. I gave it an immediate trial, and I am thankful to say, my improvement was rapid. NEW YORK MAYOR RECEIVES AWARD LEGION OF HONOR

The decoration which Mayor Walker will receive tomorrow entitles him to wear a large red rosette in his buttonhole and when in full dress, to wear a wide red ribbon diagonally across his shirt front in addition to the Italian decoration, a green ribbon.

"I am only a 125 pound man and my chest is hardly broad enough to wear all these decorations," Mayor Walker remarked facetiously when informed of the honor that is to be conferred upon him. Mayor Walker is approximately the two hundredth American to be decorated as a commander of the Legion of Honor. Only 30 Americans ever had received a higher honor.

The New York executive, accompanied by Mrs. Walker, arrived here from Rome yesterday. He was late again, but had a perfect alibi as the train was behind schedule. Mayor Walker will attend the American convention here.

MRS. HILL LEAVES $50,000 TO SON, ALLEGED SLAYER

State's Attorney Has Contended That Harry Killed Mother Because She Had Disinherited Him; Son Is Happy

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 14.—(INS) The last will and testament of the slain Mrs. Eliza Hill of Streator, Ill., whose son is in jail here charged with her murder, was viewed today as a point in favor of the accused youth's defense.

This will, produced from the safe of the former state Senator Thurlow G. Essington, of Streator, reveals that the bulk of the aged woman's $50,000 estate is bequeathed to her "beloved son, Harry."

It had been the contention of the state's attorney's office that young Hill killed his mother and hid her body in a shallow grave in the basement of her Streator home because she had disinherited him.

The will, first reported lost, was probated here yesterday upon the return from Paris of Senator Essington who was named executor. While authorities searched for the document, it remained safely concealed in the vault of Mr. Essington.

The slain woman's divorced husband Dr. H. C. Hill was left only $500 the will stating that "my husband is well able to provide for himself," several small bequests, ranging from a few hundred dollars to $4,000, were made to various charitable organizations.

Meanwhile, young Hill lollied in his cell at the county jail, smoked cigarettes and chatted pleasantly with guards. He conferred several times yesterday with his father and the attorneys who will defend him. It is reported an attorney will be made to free him on bail.

From Streator, nearby, comes word that Hill's pretty fiancée, Miss Alice Sawyer, has announced her willingness to aid in the youth's defense. She is quoted as expressing the belief that Harry is either innocent or insane, and that she will do what she can to help him.

Zane Grey Sees Real Romance

Zane Grey has written romance. Recently he saw it, too, with the marriage on his schooner-yacht, The Fisherman, of Capt. Fred Kleibingst and Phyllis Reid, daughter of the skipper of another schooner (shown together above). The pair met three years ago in the South Seas port of Nukualofa. Fate called them apart. This summer Kleibingst searched the islands for his sweetheart and found her a nurse at Whangaroa—and waiting. They were married, but on returning to America it was discovered the consent had been given by the girl's father. Separating Whangaroa had neglected to visit the girl's passport. Separation seemed imminent again, but an ingenious immigration officer released the girl "in custody of her husband" until the vice arrived.
