Senator Urges Decontrol Of Cotton Prices

Action Follows Drop Of $10 A Bale And Closing Of All U.S. Cotton Exchanges

(AP)—President Truman was quoted today as saying the government intended to do everything possible to stabilize the cotton market. The President's pledge to take action was related by Representative John Sparkman, the Alabama Democrat, who urged Mr. Truman to use whatever war powers were necessary to prevent a further collapse in cotton prices.

VIENNA, Oct. 30 (AP)—Senator Walter George today urged immediate price decontrol on manufactured cotton goods. Senator George asked this move in order to stabilize the cotton market.

Meanwhile in Washington the sudden closing of the nation's principal cotton exchanges today brought quick reaction. In an apparent move to prevent panic buying by hard-core cotton producers, the Agriculture Department has issued a statement regarding the cotton crop in its important statistical position. At the same time, Democratic Representative John Sparkman of Alabama has called on President Truman to exercise whatever war powers might be necessary to immediately stabilize the cotton market.

His pleas were made after the New York Cotton Exchange closed today, and the New Orleans and Chicago exchanges quickly followed suit. This is the third time in less than two weeks that these exchanges have been shut down, today's closing came after a drop of $10 a bale from the high of the past two days. Since the high of $1.15 a bale on Oct. 5, the market has dropped approximately $10 a bale.

Plenty Of Waste Paper Is Seen At U. N. Conference

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—There's more than meets the casual eye at the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York's Flushing Meadows park.

Take, for instance, the business of waste paper. Waste paper, or rather the disposal of it, vies with the world's oil as a delicate problem for the UN.

Extraordinary precautions are taken in the handling of waste paper at the Assembly sessions to prevent diplomatic secrets from leaking out.

After each session, porters move in and carefully remove every scrap of paper from the floor. Security agents keep a close watch on the porters as they work and place their hands on the desks of the delegates.

If papers are left on these desks, they must be taken to UN experts who scan the documents to make certain there are no important notes or messages on them.

When the last scrap of paper has been collected, the accumulation is placed in large canvas bags which are then packed.

The waste then is taken to Lake Success, New York, where a special mechanical device chews the paper to tiny bits. When the machine gets through with the paper, two words of any message could be read.

The paper then is baled and sold, with the proceeds going to the United Nations fund.

Opposed Russia On Veto Debate

CONFERRING DURING A SESSION of the U.N. General Assembly at Flushing Meadows, N. Y., are (l. to r.): Senator Warren R. Austin, head of the U. S. delegation; Sir Hartley Shawcross, Great Britain; and V. K. Wellington Koo, China. They opposed a move by Russia to bar debate on the veto power of the Big Five. The matter has been retained on the General Assembly agenda for future consideration. (International)

Big Guns Open Up 3 Killed And 12 In Off-Year Row In Blast To Win Congress In Jerusalem

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will not attend a democratic rally at his home town of Independence, Mo., on Friday night. Mr. Truman, the White House said, will spend the time with his mother and sister in Grandview, Mo.

Both Democrats and Republicans are warning the public against one another today as next Tuesday's election nears.

Democratic Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois has charged that many persons among the Republican leadership are isolationists. He mentioned Senator William Langer of North Dakota specially. Lucas asserted that the Republican national committee has given Senator Langer $6,500 with which to campaign for re-election.

Said Lucas, "This is more than the committee has seen fit to turn over to any other candidate."

On the Republican side, Representative Thomas Jenkins of Ohio asserts that imperious acts by the Administration are responsible for the absence of sugar from many dinner tables. Jenkins charges that OPA "made it unlawful to ship beet sugar from the western states to the east."

In addition to choosing among various party candidates, voters in a number of states will have their say on some labor matters next Tuesday. In Nebraska, South Dakota and Arizona, they'll vote on anti-closed shop amendments. Unfair closed shop, all workers in a plant must belong to a union or lose their jobs.

Massachusetts voters will decide on Nov. 5 whether to require labor unions to issue public financial statements. And California voters will decide whether to establish a fair employment practices act. Such legislation would make it unlawful for employers to discriminate against any person because of race, religion, color, national origin or ancestry.

Famed Missionary Is Guest Of Rocco's

Carter Holton, who during his 20 years as a missionary in north China discovered and made available to this country the odorous margold, was yesterday the guest of J. J. Rocco, vocal manager of the Burpee Seed Company, and Mrs. Rocco at their home at 301 West Sixteenth Street.

Mr. Holton, who is now connected with the company's growing station at Ventura, Cal., was much impressed when shown the Sanford celery fields, and also was very much interested when shown the Sanford State Farmer's Market by E. J. Lohman, manager, said Mr. Rocco. He was also asked to bring some of our oranges (as compared with the California variety). A daughter of Mr. Holton is attending the DuBois Academy at Zailwood.

At no time during World War II were the United Nations struck by one of the most important articles of the Atlantic Charter, the industry of light through reflection.

AMG Accuses Germany Of Bad Faith

Failure Of Council To Decide Issues Seen As Lack Of Basic Democratic Concept

STUTTGART, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States Military Government in Germany today bluntly accused its own sponsored German States Council of not putting democracy into effect in Germany by failing to decide what to do about a major problem.

A number of Germans being expelled from the Sudetenland and other eastern areas have to be absorbed by the three states in the American Zone in Germany. AMG left it up to the German States Council to decide what percentage should go to each state. The states themselves had settled on 50 per cent for Bavaria, 25 per cent for Greater Hesse and 25 per cent for Westphalia-Baden.

Then after months of delay and indecision, the evacuee committee suggested 64 per cent for Bavaria, 25 per cent for Greater Hesse and 21 per cent for Westphalia-Baden.

The German States Council couldn't decide what to do and turned over the problem to AMG. But the American military government has handed it right back to the German States Council for efficient government, and just action. AMG also said it was the Council's responsibility to make decisions.

"The lapse of time," said the AMG statement, "taken in unreasonably biased and unconstructive discussions, and failure of agreement on this matter indicates a lack of realization of the fundamental democratic concept that chosen representatives must accept for their constituency the equal responsibility and burden as well as the equal privilege of a democratic government."

STUTTGART, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States Army took steps today to avert winter food shortages in Germany. The Army has promised to provide Army trucks and drivers to collect food and fuel from front-line areas.

German authorities asserted that the lack of trucks was threatening a partial breakdown of the entire economy of the U. S. Occupation Zone.

BERLIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Liberal Democratic Party of Germany today warned the Netherlands that it would be ready for future relations between Germany and Holland if the Dutch took territory from Germany in violation of the western borders. This warning in the party's newspaper Der Morgen follows up similar objections yesterday by the Christian Democratic Union.

Both parties acknowledged that the Netherlands was entitled to reparations for German damage inflicted by the Germans. But they urged that the Netherlands be paid through other means than ceding of territory.

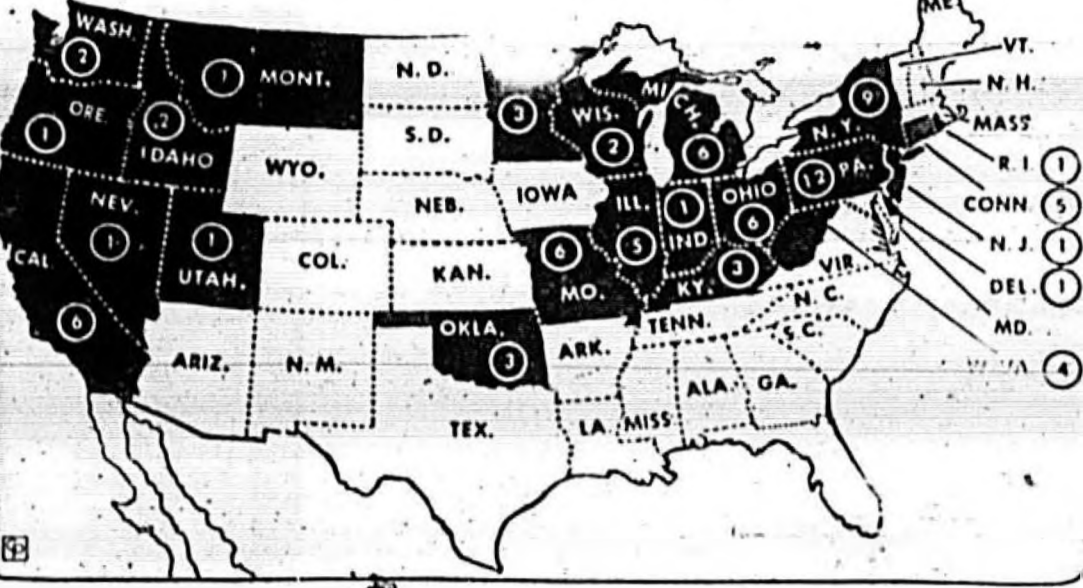

Oregon City Finds Answer To Annual Halloween Pranks

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 30 (AP)—The anti-Halloween committee of Portland, Ore., has just found a bigger and better campaign to keep pranks out of the parades and trucks off the front lawn.

Anti-Halloween really isn't the committee. The committee actually likes Halloween—within limits. It's made up of representatives from the YMCA, the City Bureau of Parks, the Parents-Teachers group, the churches—and the police.

The committee has been in operation for five years and in that time it's been successful in many ways with the more destructive types of Halloween pranks such as setting fires to porches and tearing down garage doors.

CONTROL OF HOUSE CENTERS IN 85 DISTRICTS

THIS MAP SHOWS THE STATES (in black) where control of the House of Representatives may be decided, with the number of doubtful districts in each State in white where Democratic or Republican members are expected to win. There are 85 districts in doubt, plus three seats of congressmen at large for Connecticut, New Mexico and Illinois. In order to win control of the House, the Republicans, who hold 192 seats at present, must capture 25 additional seats. The Democrats now hold 241 seats. (International)

Five Men Prepare To Take Control Of Atomic Energy

Five men are preparing today to take over a job that would scare most people. If the Senate approves the selection of these men, they will lead us to the atomic age.

These five men will decide just how the government and private industry are to make use of atomic energy.

Because of the importance of their task, interest naturally centers on these men and their backgrounds. President Truman named them Monday to the Atomic Commission.

The man proposed as chairman is David Lilienthal, who until now has been head of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He left that job to take over his new post.

Lilienthal admits that his latest assignment is a daunting challenge. In fact, he puts it much more strongly. He says that the Atomic Commission faces an awesome responsibility in view of the good or evil that can be the consequences of such work.

Here are sketches of the men now scheduled to work with Lilienthal on the future of the atomic age. Some of them presumably are men with a talent for making money, but they are willing to devote their full time to their new assignments.

One of the others on the Atomic Commission is a Cornell University scientist. He is Dr. Robert Serber, 41 years old, who helped develop the atomic bomb.

The youth director is scientific consultant to Bernard Baruch, the American representative to the United Nations Energy Commission.

A top-ranking newspaper man also is among the men named by President Truman to the new group. He is William Waymack, editor of the Des Moines Register. Waymack won the Pulitzer Prize in 1937 for outstanding editorial writing.

In a statement issued today the powerful new commission pledged that it would try to keep interruptions and dislocations at a minimum as it takes over broad authority over atomic energy from the army. The five man board said it will need time to study the present atomic energy program and that during the period of transition it would ask the War Department to continue to carry on and operate the facilities of the Manhattan project.

No Hope Is Given By OPA for Lifting Of Paper Ceilings

There is no immediate prospect for the removal of the OPA newspaper price ceilings which are creating an artificial scarcity of the product on which newspapers are printed and which have already threatened a number of Florida newspapers.

Such suspension, Paul J. Porter, OPA Administrator today, advised Sanford Herald.

"You undoubtedly are aware of the attention that we are giving to this matter," Mr. Porter wrote The Herald editor. "The latest action, which occurred Friday, Oct. 11, 1946, was an increase of $10.00 per ton in the ceiling price in the hope of preventing any further diversion of mills from newspaper to some other paper product and to encourage continuation of shipments of newspaper from Canadian mills to the United States."

"In spite of record shipments to U. S. publishers during the first eight months of 1946 and in spite of current record rate of production in North America, it has been determined by this Office that the supply of newspaper available to U. S. consumers is not yet in balance with demand. For this reason and in view of existing relationships among newspaper and other paper and forest products, decontrol of newspaper is not considered advisable at this time."

Many Florida Papers Are Short Of Paper

TAMPA, Oct. 30 (AP)—Some of Florida's newspapers already have run short of newspaper, and many have enough for only a week or two, according to information obtained by Russell Kay, secretary of the Florida Press Association.

A ship is expected to arrive in Jacksonville next week with newspaper, but according to information received here all or most of the paper is in rolls, and many of the small newspapers are unable to use roll paper.

While the supply will be added protection to newspapers using roll paper, it will not increase their available supply because newspaper is rationed, and the ration is being cut rather than increased.

In the meantime many weekly newspapers are short. Kay sent telegrams to 100 of the 175 members of his association and had replies from 65, which showed an average supply of a little more than two weeks, and the pre-Christmas holiday season coming on.

Kay said the shortage was caused by federal price controls which have caused Canadian mills to sell much of their supply abroad at higher prices. Many Florida publishers urged him to work to have paper controls removed.

Several publishers said they were using borrowed paper, one laundry paper he had sold to a laundry months ago for wrapping.

OPA Clamps Rent Ceilings On New Widespread Areas

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—The OPA clamped rent ceilings over several widespread areas today for the first time.

The Agency announced that effective Nov. 1—88 more rental areas will be brought under ceilings. This action will affect more than three and one-half million persons. Eighty-one of the areas will be placed under control for the first time and rent ceilings will be restored in the remaining seventy-seven.

OPA also went to work today on lots of items that go into furnishing a home, and freed them from price control. Price lists were taken off radios of all types, electric phonographs, kitchenware, glassware, lamps, clocks and scores of other items.

Also freed from control because of big production were irons, heaters, non-automatic toasters, shavers, heating pads and portable lamps other than those used by industry. Tags also came off most pots and pans, along with such varied items as funeral supplies, including casket.

Typewriters and adding machines, also were decontrolled as OPA worked overtime on its master decontrol list. The next list of items to be freed from ceilings will apply largely to business and industrial goods and it is slated to be made public Friday. But it may be delayed a little.

Meanwhile, the Civilian Production Administration prepared to ease two more wartime controls on industry. Officials said OPA Chief John D. Small soon will issue an order which "free" cotton bolls to the production of essential fabrics and another order which limits the size and shape of glass containers.

Although the Civilian Production Administration is beginning to chart its exit from the federal picture, officials said that industrial decontrol will not be so fast as OPA's elimination of price ceilings. However, they said that the control list on industry will be cut to the bone by Dec. 13.

GROWERS REPORTS

Letters are being prepared by the Production and Marketing Administration to be sent to all growers participating in the program, instructing them to bring in 1946 performance reports with the necessary crop, seed and fertilizer receipts, according to Orin Mathieux, local P.M.A. administrator.

Mr. Mathieux and Mrs. L. M. Grantham, his secretary, recently attended the two day conference of the Production and Marketing Administration, formerly known as the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, held in Tavares. Growers must have reports in before the end of the year, said Mr. Mathieux.

TRAFFIC RULES
For the benefit of visitors to Sanford who motor here, the Police Department has had warning notices printed calling attention to traffic violations in case of such violation and stating, "Please see that this is discontinued."

Coal Industry Issues Warning Against Lewis

Government Seeking Compromise To Satisfy Lewis, Keep Mines In Operation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—A warning was issued by the coal industry today against John L. Lewis' demand that the government negotiate a new wage pact would make it much more difficult to return the soft coal mines to private operation.

Lewis is playing a tight hand in his campaign to finance a pay boost out of the government for his 400,000 United Mine Workers. Lewis is letting the government worry about a solution to his demands.

As for the government, officials are trying to find a formula for keeping the soft coal mines going without opening the path for a new round of wage fights in other industries.

Lewis' miners are ready to walk out if the government fails to chip in with a wage boost. On Friday, the mine union chief will sit down at the conference table in Washington with coal mine administrator N. H. Collinson. Lewis says he is entitled to reopen the entire question of wages with the government. Interior Secretary J. A. Krug says "No."

However, some officials say that Collinson, pinch-hitter for Krug, may offer Lewis some sort of concession other than actual wage boosts.

The CIO Auto Workers Union and the Chrysler Corporation are getting together in Detroit today for a new series of wage negotiations. In contrast to the picture one year ago when the long and costly General Motors strike was peaking, today's parley was started amid signs of harmony, if not exact agreement.

Chrysler already is on record as being against another wage increase which would be lacking on the part of General Motors won by the union less than a year ago. However, the corporation has expressed its willingness to bargain, and a union official declared that the UAW is not posing a strike threat at this time.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30 (AP)—The hundred and twenty Milwaukee policemen will be sworn in as special deputies today to prevent further violence after the strike-bound plant of the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company at West Allis, Wis.

The move follows a second outbreak of fighting last night as a way of expressing the yardstick. Despite the efforts of 95 sheriff's deputies, and 30 West Allis policemen, the picketers smashed windows in the company's engineering building and those of nearby parked cars.

Failure of his men to control the situation led Milwaukee County Sheriff George Hanley to appeal for 250 Milwaukee policemen "to maintain law and order." The request was at first rejected by Milwaukee Police Chief John Polcyn. But the Milwaukee chief reversed his decision late last night when Assistant City Attorney John Do and ruled that Polcyn must comply with the sheriff's appeal for assistance.

Sheriff Hanley also wire Governor Walter Goodland that the use of 80 per cent of his force at the Allis Chalmers trou ble scene jeopardized peace and order in the rest of Milwaukee county.

Officials of the striking local 248 of the CIO United Auto Workers—have declined to comment on the situation—the first serious trouble in the six-month-old strike.

Figuring Out Veterans' Insurance Dividends

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.
WASHINGTON—The Veterans Administration (VA) has announced that virtually all former and present holders of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) are entitled to a dividend.

The NSLI fund out of which all non-service connected death benefits are paid has a surplus. The surplus belongs to holders of NSLI policies.

But VA officials are scared to death that news of the dividend will bring a flood of VA insurance staff is already loaded with work.

VA statisticians must check 18,000,000 policies held by the 16,000,000 servicemen and veterans.

That will take at least a year. When the computations have been completed dividends will be mailed out. VA points out that each letter asking about the dividend will delay the computations, because each letter must be answered. It takes time that Farmers account for ten percent of the U. S. national income in peace time.

Compulsory medical insurance in the United States dates back to 1938 when provision was made by Congressional act for furnishing medical care to merchant seamen.

G.O.P. Candidate Hits At Political Control

ORLANDO, Oct. 30—(FNS)—Speaking before Orlando Jaycees, at J. Moss, candidate for Congress from the Fifth Congressional District, termed the admission of Mexican cattle by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson "a purely political move designed to alleviate the critical meat shortage prior to the election, and one fraught with danger to the cattle industry of Florida and the nation."

"Because of the hoof and mouth disease, importation of Mexican cattle has been prohibited for years, and now suddenly, they are admitted," Moss said.

Blasphemy the "New Deal" as a bureaucratic mess in Washington, Moss said that the administration was on the verge of spending more than $1 billion in the fiscal year ending last June 30. He pointed out that the federal debt is a mortgage of $2,000 on every man, woman and child in the United States.

Terming two-party government the "greatest need of Florida today," Moss stated that if Florida were placed in the doubtful column, both political parties would give the state more consideration and money would flow in for roads, schools, health program, water, waves, med-fly payment and the like.

The Marine Corps hymn is said to have originated soon after the close of the War with Mexico.

Chile Ambassador Fathers-To-Be Gets Warm Adios Going To School Upon Retirement To Get 'Know-how'

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—The farewell party that went on for marcial Mora, who retired as Chilean Ambassador to the United States, would have made even a whirling dervish dizzy.

But Senor Mora, one of the most popular diplomats ever to come to the capital, has an opportunity to regain his stability on the long voyage home where he expects to resume his private law practice.

Every day from the beginning of October there was a different luncheon, cocktail party, dinner or reception in his honor. Virtually every ambassador in town entertained in some way in his honor.

The last night send-off for the Ambassador was a bang-up stag dinner given by Carlos Reyes, press attaché at the Embassy. Most of the guests were newsmen with whom Senor Mora had maintained a warm friendship. He had been a newspaper man himself.

Smoked turkey and all kinds of wonderful foods were served, but the guests remember the exotic cocktails best along with prospective mothers.

"And they love it," says the Red Cross. "They are learning that being a father is a man-sized job."

The Red Cross lessons in "child every father," says "do all the such topics as how the body prepares for the production of a new life, what plans should be made for delivery, what occurs during labor and the birth of a baby and the proper care of the new mother and baby."

The Red Cross is campaigning to get at least one home nurse in every family and is offering the course under the supervision of its home nursing program.

The program includes four other courses. There's a standard course for adults; a 12-hour Care of the Sick course, teaching basic nursing skills; a school course for boys and college course especially adapted for college students.

In Portland, Ore., the Multnomah County Chapter of the Red Cross gave instruction to an all-police class at the request of the Chief of Police.

The chief's reasoning was logical—police men are often called upon in emergencies, and the doctor is not always handy.

A similar class for policemen was organized and taught in Louisville, Ky. In Lawrence, Mass., a group of 29 auxiliary policemen enrolled for home nursing instruction.

The nurse instructors say that men are their best pupils.

Bomb Blast Rocks British Rome Embassy

Entire Wing Wrecked But No One Injured As Clock Sets, Off Bags Of Explosives

ROME, Oct. 31, (AP)—The British embassy in Rome was blasted by a bomb explosion last night which wrecked an entire wing of the block-long building. The thundering blast shook the Italian capital for blocks around and wounded at least two passerby, one of them critically.

Police and embassy officials are without a clue as to the identity of the perpetrators who detonated two suitcases full of explosives by clockwork. The blast tore a gaping hole which extended the depth of two rooms into the building. Police say the heavy masonry of the three-story embassy is cracked so deeply that part of it may have to be torn down.

All embassy personnel escaped injury. The explosion threw four guards from their beds, but they were not hurt. The apartment of the ambassador, Sir Noel Charles, was damaged heavily, but Sir Noel currently is away on leave. The British chargé d'affaires, J. G. Ward, said that the bomb "exploded soundly like a five-hundred pounder."

Italian investigators frankly are baffled by the act. They say they can think of no reason why anyone in Italy should want to bomb the British, especially as sustained criticism of British policy in Italy has been lacking since the war ended. Embassy officials also are mystified as to the motive behind the bombing.

The British press attaché, Michael Stewart, commented: "It would be useless to speculate. There are, of course, many irresponsible people who might have done it—Palestinian Jews, Egyptian Nationalists, and so on."

A detective on duty suggested that diehard Fascists might have been responsible. He pointed out that they had planned explosives about half a dozen Italian cities Monday on the 24th anniversary of Mussolini's march on Rome.

Rome's morning newspapers are demanding vigorous police action to find the persons responsible for the blast.

Hallowe'en To Be Celebrated Tonight

Tonight is Hallowe'en, the eve of All Hallows or All Saints Day. Probably of Druidic origin, it has always been associated with the supernatural and is observed by lighting fires and lanterns and frisks games. In this country, the children take advantage of the traditional freedom of the evening to play practical jokes.

In line with this observance, there will be a big party at the South Side Primary School, and much fun is promised. At Seminole High School it will be same night at 7:30 o'clock. Each class will put on a one act play with a silver loving cup going to the winner. Judges are Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, B. F. Steele and R. E. True.

Growers To Vote Much Building On Market Pact Is Reported In Sanford Section

Regulation Of Celery By Secretary Anderson Is At Stake

All celery growers were today urged by Oris Mathews, local administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration, to vote Nov. 7 at the County Agent's office for or against a new marketing agreement to regulate the handling of Florida grown celery by grade, size and volume.

The voting time will be from 10:00 A. M. until 4:00 P. M. and will also take place at county agent's office at Belle Glade and Sarasota. Mail ballots must be postmarked not later than Nov. 7, and returned to the county agent's office at Belle Glade and Sarasota. Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, P. O. Box 19, Lakeland.

According to Mr. Miller, the agreement is based upon evidence presented at public hearings held from June 27 to July 8 at Sanford, Belle Glade and Sarasota. The proposal has been tentatively approved by Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton Anderson.

The tentatively approved marketing agreement is being submitted to handlers of Florida celery for their signature. Growers of celery in the state will vote to determine whether they favor an issuance of an order by Secretary Anderson, regulating the handling of celery in the same manner as is provided in the tentatively approved agreement.

Navy Is Collecting New Orleans Garbage

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31, (AP)—More than 300 naval officers and men will do their dungarees today and work on garbage trucks in New Orleans. The service men have gathered a second wave of volunteers to help clean up the crescent city, where 300 garbage truck drivers and helpers have been on strike since last Thursday.

Admiral A. S. Merrill, commandant of the Eighth Naval District, said the Navy volunteers would make the "special collection" a "health saving movement for the community; and not as strike-breakers."

The boys will man 35 city garbage trucks with the aid of private citizens who have also volunteered their services. The Navy men will come from the Naval Air Station, the Algiers Navy Base, the Navy Hospital and the Federal Building.

The new volunteers will replace a skeleton force of citizens and replacement workers who for two months have been manning the trucks for the past two days. The Navy agreed to undertake the task after hopes for early settlement of the strike failed. City officials met with the naval forces this afternoon to coordinate their work.

AUXILIARY TO MEET

Cotton Trading Is Resume In All Markets

Southern Leaders Demand Action to Prevent Further Fall In Cotton Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (AP)—Trading in cotton futures has been resumed in the nation's major exchanges after yesterday's emergency shutdown in a whirlwind of falling prices. In New Orleans cotton futures came back with a steady opening of from 50 cents to $7.00 a bale higher. The greatest advances were shown in prices for December and March, 1947.

Meanwhile Democratic Representative John Sparkman of Alabama predicted that the government would act quickly to check the tumbling cotton prices. Sparkman said that some action may come by nightfall.

He further asserted that he expected Reconciliation Director John Steelman to wipe out a 120-day limitation on advance pricing by mills on finished cotton goods. Sparkman declared that he thought the removal of this limitation would be more important than the whole matter would be considered in a conference today between Steelman and President Truman.

A series of articles in October's monthly Labor Review, a publication put out by the Labor Department, throws considerable light on the economic problems of our southern states. President Roosevelt once said the South was the nation's "Number One Economic Problem." There has been considerable improvement since then, but the South still has some tough problems to lick.

These articles, called "Labor In The South," are revealing studies on southern income and workers. They are important for anyone interested in what is happening in the South to workers, their wages and the kind of jobs they do.

The articles, which are a study of 1945 only, begin with the fact that the South is losing people every year to the north and west. For instance, between 1920 and 1930 it was shown that every year 130,000 more persons left the South than went there to live. However, during the years 1930 to 1945, the outflow dropped to 100,000. In other words, a severe depression would keep the southern home because they couldn't find jobs elsewhere.

The South suffered a severe migration during the war years. The migration was to the north because there were more war jobs in the north and west. There was a net loss of about 900,000 persons to our defense program between the years 1910 and 1945.

Stetson Law Dean Speaks To Kiwanis On Regimentation

"We need not be reformers, but the time is here to evaluate the type of government we want," said Dr. A. Haslip, dean of the Stetson School of Law, in a talk to Kiwanians yesterday noon at the Community Center. He was introduced by Ned Smith.

Dr. Haslip discussed regimentation and growth of bureaucracy in Washington. He also told of the crocheting on state rights, and cited test cases. He quoted the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes as stating that people in this country get the kind of government they want, and Attorney General Tom Clark said that "civil rights are the basis of our way of life."

He quoted Bernard Baruch as to the right to free opinions and the importance of keeping the courts of justice free of violence and threats in order to assure fair play for rich or poor alike. He expressed the opinion that the reason this country went into World War II was to regulate internal affairs as we please. At the same time, he pointed out that it is time to think in terms of a world government, and that the Constitution in our hands was beyond the legal authority of these times, yet produced a model for world governments.

On labor matters, Dr. Haslip told of plans of the Department of Labor to prepare a course of instruction in labor population. Referring to Florida's closed shop amendment, he pointed out the possibility of this being declared invalid as in conflict with the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

President-elect Lester Tharp was welcomed back after his vacation. Guests welcomed were H. B. Grant, building contractor, Houston Babcock of the Key Club and Mrs. Mayme Hodgkin of the Orlando Sentinel.

One Is Killed; Four Injured In Miami Hotel Blaze

MIAMI, Oct. 31, (AP)—A cheap hotel in the midtown section of Miami flared up like a torch last night. One man died in the blaze, four were injured and 125 were rendered homeless.

As firemen battled the fire, which ultimately destroyed the frame hotel and adjoining garage, a second spectacular fire swept through a lumber yard which was newly-stocked with much-needed building materials.

No casualties were reported in the Miami Beach fire, though police cleared the area for two blocks around when a report was heard that a watchhouse on fire contained a small amount of ammunition.

Besides the lumber yard and the warehouse, the Miami Beach fire threatened to spread to the boat slips near the Venetian Causeway.

Police said that it was the biggest fire in a decade at Miami Beach. Fire Chief Henry R. Chase of Miami pushed to the assistance of Miami Beach firemen after getting the Miami hotel fire under control. When he arrived, however, he found the blaze under control, there, too.

No estimate of damage was available for either fire, but Chief Chase said the possibility of arson in the long hotel fire is being investigated.

Effort Is Made To Eliminate Primaries

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 31, (AP)—Prompted by what it terms a "movement" in Florida to eliminate state-controlled primaries, the Florida Division of the Southern Regional Council has put itself on record as opposed to such action. State members of the Council, in an annual meeting here yesterday passed a resolution to that effect deploring any attempt to bring about a party-controlled primary.

CANNING PLANT FIRE

WINTER HAVEN, Oct. 31, (AP)—A fire at the Bordo Products Company's citrus canning plant in Winter Haven today caused damages estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. The fire broke out when a tank of welding gas exploded in the machine shop. One man was burned seriously.

Replies To Stalin's Charge Of War Investigator For Military Facts

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (AP)—The 11-nation General Committee of the United Nations has decided to include the disarmament question on the Assembly agenda. This action assures Soviet Russia's proposal for world arms reduction of a full airing.

LONDON, Oct. 31, (AP)—Britain's war-time leader, Winston Churchill, replied today to Premier Stalin's charge that he was an instigator of a new war. Churchill said he hoped that the United Nations would sweep away war talk by providing for an interchange of what he called actual military facts. He urged that this exchange of military information be supported by an adequate international inspection system.

Churchill's speech was made in a speech accepting the freedom of the city of Birmingham, England, on a ceremony at his London home. He stressed that the "international suspicion" that had been cast on the facts. He said he hoped that the remedy would be applied by the United Nations organization to the world situation. He added that an arms investigation by the UN would be a great step forward and it might lead to other steps to world peace.

The United Nations has been placed squarely in the middle of a fundamental conflict between the East and the West. This cleavage was emphasized in the speech made Tuesday by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov before the General Assembly.

When the delegates of the 50 other member nations gathered yesterday, they obviously feared new tensions between Russia and the western powers over atomic controls, disarmament, the veto and other critical issues. The difficulty in settling the East and West to see eye to eye on these issues is essentially a conflict over what kind of a world the nations of the East and West want. It is a struggle over the rights of states and the rights of man himself. It also extends to the relationships between large powers and the smaller nations. It involves the relationships of groups of powers—a so-called "Big Five"—to the rest of the world. But out of this maze of entangled relationships one thing is plain. Basically, the conflict between the East and West boils down to this: Russia does not think that the western powers have the right at the same time to make a world of Molotov's kind and the western nations of dollar diplomacy aimed at strengthening what he described as dollar democracy. The Soviet Foreign Minister further insisted that no one of two powers should try to dominate the world. But at the same time he asked that the Big Five have certain rights within the United Nations which other member nations should not have.

Three Men Killed In Baltimore Blast

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31, (AP)—Three men were killed and seven others seriously injured in an explosion early today at a Baltimore waterfront men's rooming house.

The three dead men apparently were killed outright, a police officer explained, while five were badly burned and two men were injured by jumps from windows in an effort to escape a resulting fire.

Fire Department authorities expressed belief that a home-made incendiary bomb set off a fire which caused the explosion.

Billy Kinard To Box Jess Willard, Nov. 11

Billy Kinard, local pugilist, will resume his fist-cliff battles in the West in furthering the fight against the question of atomic energy control. The United States has proposed an international control which would include inspection in any country. The Russians took the stand that such inspection would be a violation of national sovereignty. Instead, they proposed a control system whereby any violator would be punished by the nation involved. The Russian ideas of the atom bomb also were pushed to the forefront through Molotov's proposal for disarmament. He asked for an "equal domination" as he developed his theme that reactionaries in the United States and Britain were supporting the American atomic plan, which as he put it, was aimed at giving us a monopoly on the dread weapon. The same domination is feared on the other side of the fence, for both American and British delegates openly have expressed an opinion that the Russians have been trying to spread their influence in all countries.
