Most SHA fires reported to insurers

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — An investigation into whether insurance claims were filed for fires at the Sanford Housing Authority shows that five of the eight fires were reported to insurance officials.

Claims for the remaining three fires may have been filed, said SHA director Audris Billberry, but the Federal Bureau of Investigations still has boxes of records it seized last April during the government's investigation of former director Timothy Hudson's management practices.

"I am not convinced that the Sanford Housing Authority did not file claims," Billberry said indicating the records that prove so could be in Washington D.C. At the April 18 board meeting,

Commissioner Ross Bieling asked the director to investigate the whether claims had been filed for fires at housing authority facilities since 1999. Billberry researched the matter and notified commissioners at Thursday's board meeting that she has identified only three incidents that the insurance company does not show claims filed.

Her investigation was aided by Sanford Fire Marshall Mike McGibeny. McGibeny identified eight fires that occurred at various SHA complexes between 1999 and 2002. The largest of the suspected insurance claims not filed is from an Oct. 17, 2000 blaze at 19 Lake Monroe Terrace. Investigators estimated damage to be about $40,000.

Man dies of electrocution
Steven Corey Griffin, 22, of Sanford was electrocuted Wednesday morning. It happened at about 8:45 a.m. at an office and warehouse complex, located at 227 Power Court near Sanford. A work crew from Lambert Erectors was installing flashing near the roof of the building. Griffin was moving his 25-foot aluminum extension ladder when it apparently encountered a power line. The line carried more than 7,600 volts of electricity. Co-workers called for emergency personnel and tried to render aid. Emergency personnel rushed the victim to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where he was pronounced dead.

FP&L OKs deal with housing authority

Utility charged agency for lights that didn't work

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Working toward a brighter future, Sanford Housing Authority commissioners unanimously approved a deal with Florida Power & Light Thursday to replace 39 vandalized streetlights.

FP&L has had a lease agreement with SHA, dating back to 1989, for the 100 400-watt streetlights within the boundaries of Lake Monroe Terrace, Cowan Moughton Terrace, Edward Higgins Terrace, William Clark Court and Castle Brewer Court.

Many of the damaged lights have been inoperable for quite some time, according to Commissioner Ross Bieling. Unfortunately, the housing authority and electricity provider have been at odds over who is responsible for the costs in replacing the lights, said Director Audris Billberry. FP&L Customer Project Manager Mark Pollock informed the board that every one of the lights in question was vandalized. In some cases, the entire light fixture is missing. It's FP&L policy to charge costs associated with vandalism to the leasee, Pollock said.

Front Porch council begins home repairs

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

SANFORD — Liza Irwin is seeing first hand how Goldsboro Front Porch Council Inc. is helping the community. Her house is the first on the Council's list to receive minor home repairs as part of a grant to enhance the quality of life for seniors in the community. Beginning last week, members from the Council and Brother's Keepers have been working on the house Irwin has lived in since 1967.

"Ms. Irwin was the first to call about participating in the initiative," said Eloise Dilligard, Front Porch's program coordinator for elderly outreach. "This is going to be the model house for what we are able to do."

Dilligard said there are more than 10 other homes needing minor home repairs on the Council's list. The residences were selected through a process of prioritizing.

"We had to look at what homes needed immediate repairs," she said. "If it was an emergency, the home became a priority."

Oscar Redden of Brother's Keepers said his group became

Students study whale biology

By Michelle Jerla

SANFORD — Daniela Arguello's fifth-grade students are facing a dilemma. The children have a 6-foot killer whale in their classroom, and they don't know how to get it out the door.

The problem began after the students, with another class at Wicklow Elementary School, spent the past month studying whales. As a special project, Arguello asked her class to create a swimming mammal out of plastic garbage bags, newspapers and cardboard.

Following a month of stuffing, molding and gluing, the students are now almost finished with Newsie, a papier-mâché killer whale. After one more coat of paint, he will be ready to make his debut in the school's library, where he will remain on display until the end of the year.

Newsie, who got his name from the material used to make him, wasn't the first whale created by the fifth-graders. Before the black and white mammal was even started, the students made clay and origami whales with their first-grade Reading Buddies. They also researched various topics about whales and con-

Lessard stays put as Sanford mayor

'This is an important time for Sanford'

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Mayor Brady Lessard is not a candidate for the Seminole County Commission.

District 5 Commissioner Daryl McLain announced April 30 that he intends to resign his position to challenge Florida Speaker of the House Tom Feeney in the Republican primary for the newly created 24th District congressional seat.

McLain has yet to officially resign, though he has begun organizing a campaign for the congressional seat. He is listed as an active candidate on the Florida Division of Elections Web site for the seat and must file a formal intent no later than July 19.

Lessard was considered one of the front-runners for what is expected to be a crowded race to replace McLain. The first-term Sanford mayor said Thursday he intends to complete his term, which ends April 1, 2005.

"We've got too many things involved in the senior outreach program through a natural partnership in the community.

"We were already helping people in the community, so Front Porch began partnering with us," Redden said. "It was only proper to get us involved."

The home repair program is one of the first projects for the Council. The governor's Office of Urban Opportunity last year announced Goldsboro had been selected as a Front Porch Florida community. The state program is a revitalization initiative that targets key urban neighborhoods for improvement.

Seven months after the announcement, the local council secured a $98,000 grant to

Deputies bust high-priced escort service in Altamonte

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A sting conducted last weekend by the sheriff's office City/County Investigative Bureau netted four arrests involved in a pricey prostitution ring.

Agents' undercover work targeted prostitution of escort services, said sheriff's office spokesman Steve Olson. Authorities used a hotel room at the Ramada Hotel at 2025 State Road 434 in Longwood for the operation.

According to police reports, the operation began at about 10 p.m. May 10 when an agent called the business known as Pure Ecstasy and requested a female escort for the evening. The business reportedly called back and advised the agent a girl named Jessica would be at his room in 30 to 45 minutes.

UCF may add on-campus golf course at possible housing site

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

Student apartment woes for the Seminole County Commission apparently will not subside any time soon.

A new master plan approved Thursday by the University of Central Florida Board of Trustees includes few campus housing improvements for the future. In the past two years, county commissioners have wrestled with five hotly debated student apartment complexes in the university area.

The 10-year master plan includes a new fraternity park in the northwest corner of the campus and several new housing structures to the south, which will hold about 1,700 beds.

In a previous discussion about student apartments, Commissioner Carlton Henley blamed the problem of student housing on UCF citing the school's refusal to add housing to the campus. Local elected officials, however, shouldn't hold their breath for the new campus housing, suggested university executives.

"We have to make sure there

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Where's the gratitude? Nobody asked my opinion, but I would have thought a few of the boys in blue would have shown up for Monday's Sanford City Commission meeting. The police mortgage incentive program was up for its second and final reading.

While it was a safe bet the measure would pass, it would have been nice for some of the rank-and-file officers to attend the meeting in support of the measure, particularly those who already live in the city. The police union has been highly critical of the commission in previous years.

However, in the last three years, the city commission has stepped up big for the department with more pay, more officers and more resources. The city even approved a liberal take-home car policy.

A couple of officers in the audience for support would have been a good gesture, especially since the union packs the room when it's time for the commission to approve a new contract.

Is that kosher? Rami Yosefian as a pig farmer. I just don't see it. Seems the developer all the Historic District gadflies love to hate is considering a new career, or at least a new investment.

Betty Giles, the outspoken spokeswoman of the tiny subdivision behind the Lake Monroe Inn, asked Yosefian what he planned to do with a tract of land that is adjacent to her property. At one time Yosefian had plans to build a lakefront high-rise condominium complex. Giles, to say the least, wasn't enamored with the idea, and the two have traded barbs over the years.

When Giles put the question to him during Thursday's Planning and Zoning Commission, Yosefian answered, "I'm looking into a pig farm, a big pig farm."

Knowing full well that a hog heaven wouldn't meet code requirements, Giles fired back, "That's great. I was raised on a farm, and I love pigs."

Zoning or no zoning the pig farm idea has another hole: What would Rami, an Israeli-born Arab, do with all those pigs, open a pork barbecue joint?

IQ test: Want to know how smart you are? Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard and City Commissioner Art Woodruff have some simple tests to figure out where you stand.

During Monday's meeting, Lessard was trying to explain to the commission what Odysseus of the Mind is. He had trouble with the concept and looked to Woodruff for help, jokingly referring to "Art's membership in Mensa," the international organization whose only requirement is an IQ in the top 2 percent of the world.

"Once I got elected, my membership was revoked," Woodruff said to howls of laughter from the audience.

"Art," Lessard responded, "the fact that you ran for elected office proves you shouldn't have qualified in the first place."

(For the record, Odysseus of the Mind is a competition for middle schoolers that requires students to use teamwork and a variety of skill sets to complete a problem-solving activity. You guys at Mensa can go ahead and send me my membership card. Just mail it to the Herald.)

Seeing red: With Lessard choosing to stay put in the Sanford mayor's seat, expect Brenda Carey to be a frequent visitor at government meetings and social events across the county.

The sassy redhead looks to be gearing up for a serious run at Daryl McLain's assumed to be vacated County Commission seat. McLain, of course, could choose to not run against Florida Speaker of the House Tom Feeney for the newly created 24th District congressional seat. Should McLain resign from his position, Carey looks to be an early favorite. Why? It appears the various factions in the local Republican Party — namely the Carlton Henley wing and the McLain/Larry Dale wing — would support Carey. She's raised money for a lot of Republicans, and now may be the time to cash in some chips.

Andrew Van Gaale, another early favorite, may choose to follow Lessard's lead and stay out of the race. Word Around The Clock is his last run left him with a much lighter wallet and a bitter taste in his mouth.

Don Nicholas told me last week to put my glove on because he's ready to play some hardball. I'm not sure what Nicholas means because he also said he hasn't made a decision about whether to jump in the race. No need to play hardball if you're not in the game. Maybe it was just Don's version of the brush-back pitch: an inside fastball about head-high just to let me know he's still around.

• Sanford Officer Joseph Santiago arrested Richard Davis, 60, of Sanford Monday for violating the city ordinance that prohibits open containers of alcohol in public. Davis reportedly was drinking a bottle of Magnum beer in Fort Mellon Park shortly after noon.

Fake AC technician strikes again
• A thief masquerading as an air conditioning technician has struck again. It happened May 13 at the Convergys Company at 285 International Parkway in Heathrow.

The suspect presented himself as an employee of an air conditioning company. He was wearing a tan uniform with no markings. He was near an employee's work area. He had a clipboard and was checking the thermostat. A couple hours later, a female employee discovered her wallet was missing from her purse. By time she reported it to her bank, her debit card had been used at least four times.

The crime is similar to one reported April 25 at the Florida Living Nursing Home near Apopka. Two women had their wallets stolen from their purses at that location.

The suspect is described as a black male, in his late 30's to mid-40's, 6 feet-6'3" tall, weighing 235-to-250 pounds. He is targeting women who work in offices. He is often pushy, demanding and enters offices as if he is supposed to be there on a service call.

Similar crimes have been reported in other jurisdictions, including Leesburg, Lady Lake and Fruitland Park in Lake County. An incident has also been reported in Ocala, in Marion County. There have been incidents reported in Orange County as well.

Anybody with information about the suspect is asked to call Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS, or the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6600.

The Right Stuff

Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard proves he has it by choosing to complete his term

Brady Lessard's decision to forgo a campaign for Seminole County Commissioner and remain Sanford's mayor should be applauded by the city's citizens. Too often in today's society we see people jumping to "the next level," be they athletes, politicians or CEOs. A decision to stay put and fulfill a commitment when an attractive opportunity presents itself, particularly in the political arena, reinforces the trust we invest in our elected leaders.

That's not to say that some opportunities should be ignored. Clearly, Lessard had to weigh the advantages of continuing in his current position versus a chance to work on a broader field. At the heart of his service has been a commitment to make Sanford a better place to live. Working from a county level presents a broader opportunity to do so.

Doing so, however, would leave the city without a mayor with a proven track record at a time when Sanford needs a strong leadership. Lessard, of course, is not the only person who could provide that leadership. Sanford native Bob Kuhn and District 1 Commissioner Art Woodruff were considering a run for the mayor's job if Lessard had left. Both could handle the job. Each, however, would need time to find their footing to be an effective mayor, time the city could ill afford to lose.

Proposals like police bicycle patrols and mortgage incentive plans for officers who live in the city take time to develop and shepherd through the legislative process. Lessard has guided both plans to fruition and now has his sights set on creating more efficiencies in government that respond better to citizens.

While upholding his commitment to Sanford voters is more than enough to deserve praise, citizens should also understand the personal sacrifice, namely the financial, to Lessard and his family. Citizens and journalists like to gripe about politicians' salaries. Certainly our elected officials should not reap windfalls from our tax dollars, but neither should they take a vow of poverty. Though not officially required, the Sanford mayor's duties are a full-time endeavor. The issues facing the city require an engaged leader who can commit 40 hours a week, often much more, to guide the city forward. You could do the job on a part-time basis, but any hope of moving beyond the status quo vanishes. The salary? About $15,000 annually. That's not enough when you put your "day job" on hold for four years.

County commissioners, on the other hand earn a salary close to $70,000. Each has a full-time assistant. The duties of a commissioner, though county-wide rather than city specific, are shared among the five representatives. And, admittedly, the issues of facing the county aren't as complex or as urgent as those Sanford must confront.

Lessard knew all of this going in. He voluntarily ran for mayor. Yet, countless others have jumped at the chance to grab more money, commitments be damned: Sanford's mayor took a pass.

Lessard's decision to serve his term proves he has the leadership to make his motto "Sanford Proud" more than a catchy bumper sticker. His positions and decision won't please everyone, but there's no doubt his sole agenda is improving Sanford.

Thanks for making the right decision.

Your View

Berk appreciates the job Lessard has done as mayor

To the editor:
I am writing this e-mail in reference to the Seminole County Commission seat that will be vacated by Darryl McLain when he runs for Congress.

I recently heard that some folks in the district are urging Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard to run for that seat. I would like it known that there are many people who would rather see Mayor Lessard remain in his current position.

As a resident of the Sanford Historic District, I have been appreciative of the work Mayor Lessard did as a City Commissioner as well as mayor. The city is moving in a good direction with managed development and growth, financial stability, improved environment and atmosphere of our neighborhoods, and improved municipal services such as police and fire protection.

I feel the Mayor's best contribution to our area is best served by continuing and completing the work he is currently doing. I hope that is the conclusion he will arrive at as well, knowing there will always be a future political opportunity, should he desire one.

Harrison to city: Stop trespassing

To the editor:
I have been a property owner in Sanford, since 1988. Throughout this time the City has claimed ownership of my private drive and I have had to repeatedly prove to them that the property is indeed mine and that they do not even have an easement.

In 1998 the City acknowledged that they had mistakenly vacated their easement many years ago. They quit using my private drive for trash pickup and the matter appeared settled. However, nearby homeowners continued to ignore my "Private Property, No Trespassing" signs and used my driveway at will for their convenience. (They had another form of entry to their property, but trespassed anyway.)

Several months ago I replaced my signs that were fading from sun exposure and the issue resurfaced. At 10 p.m. that same night, a city police officer ordered me (in Gestapo-like style) to remove my signs and to report to code enforcement the next morning. Code enforcement reviewed my survey and affirmed that the property is indeed mine and that I had every right to have a "No Trespassing/Private Property" sign posted. Several days later my neighbor witnessed a city police officer drive up to the sign, remove it, set it against a tree, and proceed right through with his patrol car. This happened on at least two occasions.

Tonight, May 12, the city commission voted to offer me $7500 for the parcel of my property that constitutes my "private drive" and to condemn the parcel if I reject their offer. They voted without allowing the public to be heard.

The only person that will benefit from the city taking my property is a neighbor that lives directly behind me — without using my property he cannot park his vehicle outside of his garage that opens in the rear rather than the front of his house. I suspect he intends to sue the city for permitting him to build his garage like this (if he indeed had a permit for such) years ago and then vacating the easement that facilitated his use.

Rather than possibly being sued by my neighbor, the city seems to want to take my property to satisfy him and protect themselves. I think this is very wrong! It doesn't seem just that the city can take my property against my will and give it to someone else to use when they have other alternatives.

Sincerely,
Laurie Harrison
Sanford

Editor's Note: Ms. Harrison is in a legal dispute with the City of Sanford regarding a 12-foot by 155-foot strip of land. The dispute began in 1998, but has its roots in a series of contradictory actions taken by the City Commission in 1971.

Sanford Police Chief Brian Tooley said he fired the officer involved in confrontation with Ms. Harrison. He also said the department continues to patrol the alley.

"Our officers are directed to patrol all streets and alleyways in this city," Tooley said.

He added that if the property is declared private and Harrison does not want officers to patrol the alley, the patrols will cease.

Story generates attention for vets

To the editor:
I want to thank you and your staff for the excellent article that was written about my award of the Army Good Conduct Medal 30 years after my honorable discharge.

Michelle Jerla did a great job writing the story, and I appreciate the work she put into the article. As a result of her well written story she has generated interest from veterans who are in the same situation. I am, thanks to Tommy Vincent for the excellent photograph that appeared with the article. Tommy is truly a creative photographer and deserves kudos for all his work.

Again thank you very much.

Brynhaven owners plan Groves protest

To the editor:
We Are wholeheartedly opposed to the proposed "affordable" Groves Apartments on Airport Boulevard and will be at the meeting on May 28.

Aside from many other affordable or low-income apartment projects in this city, we have recently seen several spring up on State Road 46, several on Lake Mary Boulevard and one next to Colorado Steak House on 17/92 (Wyndham Place Apartments). How many are enough? We have been told that the one next to Colorado's and the one of Lake Mary Boulevard both have high vacancies. One fear is that if they are losing money because they are unable to fill this project, that it will fall into a state of disrepair and wind up even worse than it is proposed to be. Furthermore, just ask the homeowners behind the recently completed Wyndham Place if the apartments are a good neighbor.

Every community needs to provide some housing for lower income people and Sanford has done much, much more than its fair share to provide this. We would not see this in Lake Mary of Heathrow. The very thought would probably frighten all the attorneys who are getting paid to argue in favor of this project. This needs to stop now, for the betterment of the city and its future. Can the City Commission establish a moratorium on all apartments in the city?

Several years ago, our friends used to smirk and laugh when we said we lived in Sanford. The reputation of Sanford is now just beginning to improve; however, these low-income projects and especially the Groves project can only have a negative effect on the reputation of Sanford.

The improvements to Sanford and its reputation are due in no small part to the extraordinary efforts of the City Commission and Staff to improve our city, with initiatives such as the downtown and riverfront plans and other proposals too numerous to mention. So, to approve the Groves and any other such project would be a giant step back and would undo many of their positive accomplishments.

We cannot understand why this case is being heard again when a decision was made already on a previous appeal. We can only hope that Mayor Lessard and the commissioner for our district, Randy Jones, and all the commissioners will continue their fine record of doing what is best for the city. We hope that on May 28, the mayor and commissioners will consider us, the thousands of long term residents who are taxpayers and voters who love this city and whose families, homes and futures are in their hands.

We hope that we the residents will be considered more highly than some developer who's only interest is to get rich from some low-income government housing incentive, and has absolutely no interest in the betterment or the future of our city.

On the Street

The Herald asks people what they think ...

The Seminole County Commission has come out supporting U.S. Rep. John Mica's plan for a Central Florida commuter rail. The 40-mile commuter rail proposal is an alternative to Interstate 4 construction. We asked people if they support such a plan and if they would use the transportation option when it is built.

I think it is a great idea, and I'd use it. I was a big light-rail supporter.
Sherry Fincher

I think it is a good thing, and I think Central Florida needs a commuter rail. I travel locally, so my use would be limited.

The Way We Were: C.M. Hand was Seminole County's first sheriff

The following are more biographies edited from "Early Settlers of Orange County" published by C.E. Howard in 1915.

Sheriff C.M. Hand
C.M. Hand was a long-time citizen of Orange County, having landed in Mellonville in 1879, then locating at Fort Reid. His father, Henry Hand, opened a blacksmith and wagon shop there, one of the best in the county. He later took up a homestead on the Wekiva River near Longwood, where he had an orange grove. The Great Freeze destroyed this, making it necessary for the family to move to Sanford. Here, C.M. Hand engaged in the lively business and general contracting, was deputy sheriff of Orange County, and was elected Sanford's chief of police and also mayor. When Seminole County was created out of Orange in 1913, Hand was appointed sheriff of Seminole County by the governor. He was elected sheriff soon afterward. It is said of Hand that he was a hustler and that he made a good officer. His constituents were very satisfied. He was of a jovial and convivial temperament and law breakers knew that he could do his duty and still remain humane in his treatment of a prisoner.

Grace Marie Stinecpher

J.M. Lewis
J.M. Lewis arrived in Altamonte Springs in 1881 from Boston. There he was employed by Crisey and Norris, builders, and later he built the Altamonte Springs Hotel and the Frost House. He also helped build almost every house in the town.

In 1915, he was supervising several orange groves in addition to having a large grove of his own.

Lewis had two sons, Arthur A. and James M., and one daughter, Miss Grace.

"Mr. Lewis tried out California in 1849, and the fact that he located in Florida and has, as a self made man, wrestled success out of the primeval forests and helped to convert this beautiful spot at Altamonte Springs into one of the rarest places in the state, proves the value of Florida in comparison with California," Howard wrote in his book in 1915.

Major William Brigham Lynch

William Brigham Lynch was born in Orange County, N.C. At the age of five, he entered the famous Bingham School of North Carolina and from there went to the state university, where he graduated with honors in 1859. He delivered the Latin Salutatory oration at the ceremony.

He was offered a professorship at the University, but preferred to accept the Chair of Greek at Davidson College, where he remained for three years.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted in the Confederate Army and became captain of his company and later a major.

At the close of the war, he became co-principal of Bingham School, a position which he held for 16 years.

For health reasons, he moved to Sanford in 1882, where he gave attention to orange growing and teaching. He taught and was principal of Public School #1, located at the corner of Palmetto and 6th Street. IN 1892, he was elected Superintendent of Public Schools in Orange County and served three consecutive terms of four years each. While serving in this capacity, he continued as teacher/principal and became the first principal of the new Sanford High School in 1902. This building was located on West 7th Street and recently celebrated its 100th birthday.

"In his long service as superintendent of the county schools, he brought to bear a scholarly mind and a polished agreeable disposition, cooperating gladly and faithfully with officials and teachers and students for the highest interests of education," Howard wrote in his book.

Lights

To be "a good neighbor" FP&L offered the board a deal that included a one-time offer to replace the 39 lights at no cost to the housing authority. Bieling suggested the electricity provider should sweeten the deal because SHA has paid $143 annually for each of the broken lights, some which have been inoperable for as many as six years.

The two sides agreed to a conditional warranty in order to compensate for the possible billing for the inoperable lights.

FP&L will replace up to 12 additional vandalized streetlights in the next year, but after 365 days, any additional vandalism repairs will be the financial responsibility of the housing authority.

"This is outside of FP&L policy," said Pollock about the agreement. "We are trying to wipe the slate clean."

According to Pollock, one of the reasons many of the vandalized lights went without repair for so long, is they were unaware of the problem. FP&L typically checks streetlights only once a year before hurricane season. "We do depend heavily on the customer to monitor and report lights that are out," he said.

Anyone can report damaged or inoperable streetlights at 1-800-4-outage or www.fpl.com, he said. The 39 damaged lights could be replaced by mid-July.

"I think what FP&L did here tonight was an extraordinary thing," Bieling said. "It's a new day at the Sanford Housing Authority. A new commitment."

In other business; Commissioners directed Billberry to contact the city of Sanford utilities director Paul Moore about an apparent inequity in the SHA utilities bill. According to Billberry, the housing authority is charged a base rate for every unit; however, many units are not in use including the dozens of boarded up rooms in Lake Monroe Terrace.

"If there is no one living there, should we be paying for it?" questioned chairman Meredith Harper.

Bieling suggested Billberry approach the city about a possible rebate.

"I'd be willing to try to build a case for that," she responded.

On Saturday, May 18, from 10 to 11 a.m., Billberry will hold another "Meet and Greet the Executive Director" at Redding Gardens. Hired about two months ago, this is one of her last meetings to introduce herself to the community.

The board approved to reschedule the June meeting to the 27th at 6 p.m.

structed small paper fish containing different facts about the large creatures, including the number of blow holes each type of whale has and the kind of food they eat.

Moving on to bigger and better things, Arguello surprised her students when she told them about making the 6-foot creature. The teacher even let the class decide what kind of whale to create.

"The killer whale seems the most known," Arguello said. "And, the students seemed to like it the most."

After stuffing three large plastic bags with newspapers, the students began molding the shapeless object into a whale. With tape and cardboard, Newsie was formed.

Although fifth-grader Jaymie Register's favorite whale is the blue whale — "It's the biggest animal in the whole world" — she thinks Newsie turned out to be a good lifelike replica of the real thing.

"It's taken a long time to get him this way," Register said. "Everyone has really worked hard on it, especially our teacher."

"But, I've been wondering for the longest time how we are going to get him out the door."

said Billberry, is the fire department records listed the fire at 17 Lake Monroe Terrace. McGibeny said the error in addresses is probably because the person who reported the fire was calling from unit 17, but dispatch records were not changed to reflect the fire actually being at 19.

Initially, Bieling estimated the loss to be between $200,000 and $350,000, but with the new information supplied by Billberry, it appears the total could be less than $50,000.

Although Billberry's investigation into the manner is far from being complete, Bieling suggested the board forward the information to legal counsel. He contends the Department of Housing and Urban Development and contractor M.D. Strum could be liable for not recognizing the problem.

"I'm in belief that HUD is not without responsibility here," Bieling said.

Billberry suggested the board not jump to any conclusions before her investigation was finished. Furthermore, Billberry cautioned the board in "singling out one or two" parties that oversaw the housing authority during the past year, as there were as many four different parties with brief tenures as the SHA leader.

"At this point, I don't think it's appropriate to cast any blame," said SHA chairwoman Meredith Harper.

The board ultimately decided to forward the information to counsel for legal opinion. Legal advice could prove valuable for litigation if the insurance company will not pay the possible delinquent fire claims.

Loving mother's apron strings are stangling middle-aged son

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old single man who has boomeranged between living on my own and with my parents during the past three years. Finally, I'm planning on moving to a permanent place of my own.

Dear Abby

The problem is my mother appears to deeply resent my leaving. Ever since the moving issue came up, no matter what I do or say, I cannot do anything right by Mom. It's brought out the worst in her. My new apartment is closer to my job, and it's only 30 miles away, so I will be able to visit my parents often. I understand that Mom has health problems and needs help, but I have five siblings in the area, and I could always be at my folks' quickly to help with any emergency.

Because I am not married nor do I have children, I sometimes think this makes my family feel as if it's my job to take care of our parents. I love them, but these past three years have created resentment and frustration on my part. I feel I would be a healthier person living on my own, but I don't know how to communicate this to Mom. Please help, Abby. This is tearing our relationship apart.

FRUSTRATED SON IN FLORIDA

DEAR FRUSTRATED SON: Sometimes relationships need to be torn apart before they can be successfully reconstructed. Consider this move a period of growth for you and your mother. You are a loving son who has the right to a life of your own. However, your mother may have greater fears about her health than you realize. Speak to her siblings and urge them to stay closer in touch. She needs reassurance that someone is nearby to help her if she needs assistance.

be worried he isn't fully committed to our relationship?

DEAR GOING NOWHERE: No, I suspect the old couch holds memories for Jerry that he's reluctant to part with. Time may resolve this problem when he realizes that the fees for storing the couch add up to more than the purchase price.

Sanford Wal-Mart Supercenter hosts grand opening Wednesday, May 22

Associates of store contribute $14,000 to community programs

The newly expanded Wal-Mart Supercenter in Sanford will celebrate its May 22 grand opening by contributing $14,000 to community organizations and causes through Wal-Mart's Good Works community involvement program.

"In a world so focused on youth, it is a privilege to know that Wal-Mart cares about aging citizens," said Dottie Burkett, Seminole County Sheriff Department, elder care officer. "Not everybody does, and some day we will all be there."

Grand opening activities include Wal-Mart associate, Ron Toombs, to sing "God Bless America" and associates Art Drummond, Lou Payne, Richard Leeders, Clarence Lewis, and Robert Sammet to present the colors. Special appearances include Chester the Cheetah from Cheetos, the Vlasic Stork, and Tony the Tiger. In honor of Missing Children's Week, free photo ID packets will be provided for children of all ages.

Fourteen associates, who have been with Wal-Mart since it originally opened the Sanford store seventeen years ago, will be recognized at the grand opening celebration. Giving a combined 238 years of service, these charter associates are Eugenia Barberio, Wanda Gore, Audrey Jack, Patricia Miles, Joan Miller, Shirley Newton, Charlotte Schilf, Nola Varble, Sharon Feathers, Betty Pell, Victoria Sanders, Kris Sefried, Judith Bolton and Eileen Settle. Located at 3653 S. Orlando Drive, the newly expanded 207,000-square-foot Wal-Mart Supercenter has been designed as a one-stop family shopping center. It will be open to customers 24-hours-a-day, seven days a week. The Supercenter will feature a vision center, Get Smart Hair Salon, nail salon, Family Fun Center, one-hour photo, pharmacy, portrait studio and a Radio Grill. The store will employ approximately 550 associates.

Wal-Mart is bringing more than financial support to Sanford, said Antl, store manager. The Wal-Mart Good Works program encourages store associates to volunteer with charitable and educational organizations, too.

"Our associates already are active members of many good causes throughout the area," he said. "We look forward to making an even greater impact in the future."

Since its original opening in 1985, the Sanford store has contributed over $120,000 to numerous organizations within the community. Longtime partners who have been beneficiaries include: Seminole County

UCF

 is demand for that before we commit to that," said Bill Merck II, UCF vice president of administration and finance.
 Currently, the university has about 7,100 beds for students, but that includes nearly 3,700 beds in Knight's Crossing and Knight's Court about a mile away from the school. Another 800 beds are planned to open this fall. The addition of housing this fall will put UCF second in the state for campus housing. About 1,000 beds shy of University of Florida.
 "We're bumping right up against University of Florida," said trustee Thomas Yochum.
 Ironically, the largest tract of open land in southeast corner of the university will not be used for housing. It "would create a different set of neighborhoods" between student housing and the residential area just beyond the university's property, Merck said to the trustees.
 The issue of mixing student apartments amongst subdivisions in Seminole County has had residents filling the commission chambers. The master plan will reserve that land in the southeast corner, possibly for a golf course.

 One reason for the reluctance to build more housing is the university is currently able to provide beds for more than 80 percent of incoming freshmen. Typically after their first year, students look to move off campus.
 "In my experience, the student wants to leave the campus as they can," Yochum said.
 University policy is to provide at least 15 percent of the projected student body housing. In the 1999-2000 school year, the university was lacking nearly 1,700 beds for the 15 percent headcount.
 It's projected, however, UCF will overcome that inequity and be able to provide about 2,700 more beds than the 15 percent policy in the 2004-2005 school year. That number quickly declines in 2010 to 750 when UCF President John Hitt predicts 48,000 students will be enrolled.
 "I don't know if we can solve the problem alone," Merck said about the shortage of beds for UCF. "I think it's going to take some creative development. Central Florida is just a booming place."

Bust

 In about 30 minutes, Jennifer Ibasfalean, 24, of Seminole, Fla. arrived at the room and introduced herself as Alyssa. Ibasfalean requested $250 up-front and then agreed to have sexual intercourse with the undercover agent. She was arrested for prostitution.
 After Ibasfalean was arrested, she called another alleged prostitute and told her the party she was with was interested in having another girl come to the room.
 At about 11:30 p.m., Julia Kettenburg, 18, of Palm Bay, arrived and removed all of her clothing down to her panties, according to authorities.
 Kettenburg too offered a sex act in exchange for $250. She was also arrested for prostitution.

Shortly after midnight, agents arrested George Roberts, 31, of Seminole, Fla. for prostitution after Ibasfalean and Kettenburg told agents he drove them to the location.
 The two girls provided a sworn statement that Roberts knew what type of sexual acts were being performed and received $50 for each visit the girls made. When agents arrested him, he was in possession of $1,270.
 Agents used the hotel room again to arrest another alleged prostitute from Glamour Entertainment in Orlando. Kimberly Allman, 29, of Casselberry reportedly showed up and requested $180 up-front. Allman then agreed to provide a sex act in exchange for another $150. She was arrested for prostitution.

 provide an umbrella of services for the community. Along with minor home repairs, the group has a mission to provide transportation services, arts and crafts activities, landscaping services and a regular home visit program to monitor the overall welfare of seniors.
 On Friday, repairs on Irwin's house were almost complete. Two new exterior doors were installed, broken window panes were replaced and holes in the drywall were repaired.
 "They've been so great to me," Irwin said. "They've done things that have never been done, and I'm happy over that."
 Irwin's is happiest about her newly installed bathroom door. After living in the house for more than three decades, it's the first time the room has had a door.

 "There's a personal pride for me when someone appreciates something I've always taken for granted," Redden said. "People touch you in such ways."
 Redden said the residents receiving the home repairs aren't the only people benefiting from the program.
 "This project helps the elderly, but it also makes people in the community, who may not have done something like this before, feel good about helping."

Lessard

 going on in Sanford for me to run for another office," Lessard said. "This is an important time for Sanford."
 Lessard cited no single factor in his decision. He said wants to ensure projects such as the Riverwalk and downtown revitalization are completed. He also said the city needs to address a possible budget crisis.
 "There are issues in Sanford that need to be addressed," Lessard said. "I believe, right now, I can do more for Sanford as mayor."

 Lessard said the decision not to run was difficult because calls he had received since McLain's announcement.
 "There were people all over the county who were urging me to run for the seat," Lessard said. "There's a lot of pressure in that situation when you have friends and supporters you never even knew you had. That's very flattering."
 Though not ruling out a run for the District 5 seat in 2004, Lessard said he is committed to completing his term.

 "The only thing I'm sure of is that my heart is in Sanford," Lessard said. "If I feel compelled to continue to serve in public office after my term is up, I'll do so with an eye toward what is best for my family and for Sanford."
 There are no official candidates for McLain's seat, though about a dozen people have been mentioned as possible candidates. The filing deadline is July 26. Lessard said he may endorse a candidate in the race and said he wants to meet with all the candidates.

 "I think as the race shapes up, I would like to talk with those who are running," Lessard said. "Sanford is the county seat and the largest city in District 5. I think it's important that Sanford continue to be well represented on the county commission."
 Lessard was first elected in December 1996 to represent District 1 on the Sanford City Commission. In March 2001, he won a four-way race for mayor.

Southridge stops Oviedo

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

TAMPA — Opportunistic Miami-Southridge High School took advantage of Oviedo nerves and errors to defeat the Lions, 5-2, in the Class 6A Semifinals of the FHSAA Baseball Finals at Legends Field in Tampa Friday morning. The win was the 28th straight for the Spartans, who are now 32-1 on the season and ranked No. 1 in the state and No. 4 nationally in the Collegiate Baseball Magazine Poll. Southridge will now play in its fourth state championship game Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. The Spartans have never won a title, having finished second three times. Oviedo saw its nine game winning streak end as the Lions end the season with an impressive 25-9 record. A four-pitch walk and an error to the first two Southridge batters in the top of the first inning got the game off to a bad start for Oviedo and by the time the smoke had cleared, the Spartans had sent seven batters to the plate and scored four runs on three hits and two Lions errors. All told, three of Southridge's runs could be attributed to four of Oviedo's five errors in the game, with two of the runs scoring on miscues. The Lions, who outlit the Spartans, 8-6, had ample opportunities to score. The Lions' two runs came home on a single by Justin Stines in the fourth inning. A full recap of the game will appear in the Wednesday, May 22 edition on the Herald.

Seminole hands out softball awards

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — Over 130 fans, friends and relatives packed into Vivona's Italian in Lake Mary on Monday to pay tribute and give thanks to the Seminole High School softball team for a great season. "We had a great night," said head coach Dave Rogers. "This is a real honor to the girls. We had a good season, just fell short, but look out next year."

All of the girls on the team received a 4x6 plaque in recognition for winning a school-record 19 games this season.

Seminole also set a record for fewest losses, nine, in a campaign.

Seniors Mindy Crouse and Megan Gantt also received special merit for earning a four-year Varsity Award for being members of the Fighting Seminoles varsity team for four years.

Special awards went to: Beth Gase _ Offensive Player of the Year. The junior second baseman hit .410, scored 22 runs, drove in eight and stole 15 bases from her lead-off position in the order. For good measure she also made only two errors all season on defense and earned Second Team All-Seminole Athletic conference honors.

Gantt _ Defensive Player of the year. The senior only made one error all season at first base and hit .263 to also made Second Team All-SAC. She was also the first Seminole High player to make the FACA (Florida Athletic Coaches Association) All-Star team and was to have played in the FACA All-Star Game on Friday at Trinity Prep.

Jenny Abendroth and Andrea Poloche _ Co-Pitchers of the Year. The junior's won most of the game's this season for Seminole and did a great job filling in for Crouse, who figured to be the ace this season before an injury kept her off the hill. Both also made Second Team all-conference.

Kiwanis split in softball

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — The Sanford Kiwanis Girls' fastpitch softball team continues to make great strides as the young ladies splitting four games over the past two weekends.

The local squad started the string off with a 7-4 victory over the Tavares Firestix at Pinehurst Park on Saturday, April 27.

The Firestix put three runs on the board in the top of the first inning, but Sanford answered with four runs in the bottom of the first inning, with a double by Uwantina Phillips and a single by Kara Conant being the big blows.

The Firestix bounced back to tie the game in the top of the third inning, but the Kiwanis again had the answer, plating three runs in the bottom of the third frame.

Phillips scored what proved to be the winning run on a wild pitch and Brittany Jones and Brittany Eddington had later RBI in the inning to bring in insurance runs.

Providing the offense for the Sanford Kiwanis were Phillips (double, two runs, RBI), Conant (single, run), Jones and Eddington (one RBI each) and Ashley Paire, Lindsey Voltoline, Nichole Pipitone and Jade Voltoline (one run scored each).

Doing the damage for the Tavares Firestix were Nikki and Maggie (one single and one RBI each), Lindsey Olds (single, run), Brittany Gilbernegal (two runs) and Brittany Perez (run).

The second game saw the Kiwanis lead 4-2 and 7-6, but the Tavares Wahoos pulled out a 9-7 victory with three runs in the top of the third inning.

Leading the Wahoos to victory were Heather Prince (single, two runs, RBI), Megan King (single, run, RBI), Ashley Raines and Sara Frick (one single each), Carley Batson (run, RBI), Chelsea Bermeier (two runs), Pauline K. (RBI) and Nicole Feliciano, Kristin Reffitt and Kelsie Bateman (one run scored each).

Contributing to the Sanford Kiwanis offense were Danisha Dretreville (single, run, RBI), Conant (single, run), Paire (run, RBI) and Phillips, Lindsey Voltoline, Pipitone and Brittany Lewis (one run scored each).

The following Saturday (May 4) two Maitland teams made the trek to Pinehurst Park and again the Kiwanis were able to win the first game.

Taking on Team 3, Sanford came from behind in each of the three innings, finally pulling out a 10-9 triumph on RBI singles by Phillips and Jade Voltoline in the bottom of the third inning.

Powering the Sanford Kiwanis to victory were Phillips (single, run, two RBI), Jade Voltoline (single, run, RBI), Megan Bozelka and Conant (two runs scored each) and Eddington, Lewis, Jones and Teah Dixon (one run scored each).

Eagles soar to state championship

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

CLEARWATER — No question about it. After sweeping the AAU Spring Fling Tournaments at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex and finishing second in the prestigious Houston Kingwood Tournament in Texas, most people figured that the Orlando Eagles were the best 15-and-Under team in Florida.

Now there is no doubt as the Eagles, coached by Lake Howell varsity assistant Mike Scutero, had only one scare in posting a 6-0 record and winning the championship at the 15 & Under AAU State Tournament held in the St. Petersburg/Clearwater area last weekend (May 10-12).

The Eagles, whose roster is made up of all ninth graders and most of whom are from Seminole County, are now 31-4 on the summer and have won six championships in seven tournament starts this spring. The Eagles finished second in the other tournament.

The Eagles announced their presence immediately in the AAU State Tournament last weekend, crushing the Citrus Center All-Stars, 87-37, in their opening game.

Five players scored in double figures, led by a 20 point outburst from 5-foot-9 Trinity Prep guard Omar Qazi.

Also finishing in doubles were 6-foot-5 Lyman forward/center Marquis Johnson with 18 points, 6-foot-3 Lake Brantley guard/forward Todd Stamp with 15 points, 6-foot Winter Springs shooting guard Brett Hodges with 13 points and 6-foot-8

Harris Chain to benefit from Habitat Enhancement Project

Special to the Herald

OCALA — The Harris Chain of Lakes in Lake County will be getting an aquatic habitat facelift starting this month when the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) begins a project to reestablish beneficial native plants in lakes Dora, Beauclair and Yale.

The $100,000 Aquatic Habitat Enhancement Demonstration Project is possible thanks to funding approved by the Florida legislature to the Harris Chain of Lakes Restoration Council.

"The aquatic habitat in these lakes is in very poor condition because of 50 years of poor water quality caused by high levels of nutrients, such as run-off fertilizer, and water levels that have not been allowed to fluctuate over time," said David Douglas, project leader for the FWC Division of Freshwater Fisheries.

In many lakes in Florida, including the Harris Chain, water levels are artificially controlled and kept relatively stable year after year. Although this seems innocent enough, in fact, it is just the opposite of the way nature works to keep systems healthy and productive.

Without human manipulation, the lakes in Florida maintain their health through naturally-occurring water level fluctuations. This happens through the periods of drought and rain that we experience here. When droughts strike, the water levels become low, exposing the lake bottoms. At first, this may not seem like a good thing, but in fact, just the opposite is true. The bottoms need this opportunity to dry out and harden so that plants can take root and fish can spawn. When water levels are high for extended periods, the bottoms become soft and mucky from decomposing vegetation, which prevents both from occurring.

After several years of drought, it typically rains in Florida for a couple of years, refilling the lakes. The firm bottoms can again support plant roots, which create excellent habitat for fish. The current low water levels resulting from the extended drought offer an excellent opportunity to restore desirable aquatic plants in many areas of these lakes. Starting this month and continuing throughout the summer crews will be planting more than 500,000 giant bulrush and native grasses (maidencane and knotgrass) into shallow areas of these lakes. After they become established these native aquatic plants will once again provide quality fish and wildlife habitat in these central Florida lakes.

Bears gridders headed for college

Awards

Improved player. The senior worked hard to make herself a better third baseman and she helped solidify a very good Noles infield.

Stephanie Asbury — Team Player of the Year. The senior was always upbeat and helped keep her teammates fired up no matter what the score or situation was.

Kristin Miller — Rookie of the Year. The sophomore infielder had a good season as a reserve and showed she should be a top player in the years to come.

Megan Pickren — Coaches Award. The junior improved immensely as a catcher and did everything Coach Rogers asked of her as a team leader.

Rogers also recognized junior shortstop Kara Lively and sophomore outfielder Kim Beaudoin for making the All-SAC Second Team.

Even though Rogers was pleased with the evening and his team's season, he was still disappointed that none of the Tribe made First Team All-Conference despite beating state-ranked Lake Mary, Edgewater, Winter Springs and Arlington Country Day during the regular season and falling to the district champion Rams by one run in the semifinals.

"I felt like Jenny Abendroth or Andrea Poloche should have been 1st team pitchers," said Rogers. "And with her numbers and season Beth Gase should have been first team. I thought Megan Ganit could have also been first team because of her defense even though her batting average was a little low."

Rogers was assisted this season by Izzy Sanabria and Mike RiCharde and Jon Carnes was the pitching coach.

Eagles

Edgewater center/forward Quintin Thornton with 11 points.

The Eagles showed off their defense in the second game, routing the Jacksonville Knighthawks I, 64-29, with Qazi tossing 11 points and Johnson 10.

Scutero's bunch then showed Knighthawks' other squad, Team II, that the win was no fluke, blowing out the Jacksonville quintet, 75-38, with Johnson scoring 16 points, Hodges 14 points, and Thornton 10.

The Eagles closed out Pool Play with a tough, 61-52, victory over the Tallahassee Wildcats, again with Qazi (19 points) and Johnson (14 points) leading the way.

In the Semifinals of eliminations, the Eagles found themselves in a real dogfight with the Jacksonville Lee Bulls and survived with a heart-stopping 65-64 victory to earn a spot in the Championship Game.

As usually happens in close, tight games the end result comes down to the play of the big inside people and it happened again in this game as the 6-foot-8 Thornton scored a team-high 19 points. Stamp was also in double figures with 12 points.

The Eagles returned to their dominating ways in the final, rolling over the Lake Vista Spartans, 66-48. The guards stepped up in this one, with wings Qazi and Johnson tallying 12- and 10-points, respectively. Point guard Kyle Fowler, 6-foot-2 from Lake Brantley, also netted 10 points.

The team was taking this weekend off to prepare to take part in the Nike Midwest Future Stars Showdown at Ohio State University in Columbus over the Memorial Day Weekend (May 24-26).

The Eagles will then return to Orlando June 7-9 looking to add another state title to their collection when they play in the State YBOA (Youth Basketball Organization of America) Tournament.

The squad will then go looking for national recognition when they compete in the 15-and-Under AAU National Tournament at Clarksville, Tennessee, July 6-13, and then return to Florida to close out the summer by taking part in the YBOA National Tournament in Lakeland, July 20-27.

Scutero is assisted by Lake Howell junior varsity coach Andy Sarasty and the roster is comprised of Fowler, Johnson, Qazi, Hodges, Thornton, Stamp, Mike Dunn (5-foot-10, guard, Edgewater High School), Mike Potvin (6-foot-8, forward/center, Lake Brantley High School), Andy Hampton (6-foot-6, guard/forward Lake Howell High School), and Mike Caulfield (6-foot-guard, Lake Howell High School).

U.S. COAST GUARD "BOAT SMART FROM THE START" NATIONAL SAFE BOATING CAMPAIGN MAY 18-24

Ask any experienced boater about boating safety and they will tell you that being prepared will always keep a bad day from getting worse.

With the "Boat Smart From the Start" National Safe Boating Campaign kicking off May 18-24, now is the time to get ready for a safe summer afloat.

BoatU.S., the world's largest association of boat owners and a leading advocate of boating safety, can help you stay safe - and save you money - with a couple of important safe boating tips for both you and your boat:

Educate yourself at home - for free. Prepare yourself by taking a free, U.S. Coast Guard recognized boating safety course at www.boatUS.com - clicking on "Boating Safety." Since 1997, over 200,000 boaters have taken the course in the comfort of their own home, which is also approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators.

The course was designed to give a novice or experienced boater a general overview of boat safety basics, requirements, navigation and operation through an interactive format. A glossary of nautical terms and background study material on the question topics are available through the use of hyperlinks, and most states have provided questions pertaining to regulations in their state.

A certificate is issued upon successful completion, which also may earn an education discount with marine insurers.

Ask the experts for advice - and save some cash at the same time.

Prepare your boat by taking it on June 1 to a participating BoatU.S. Marine Center for a free Vessel Safety Check (VSC). U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and U.S. Power Squadrons co-sponsors will have safety experts on-hand to verify the presence and condition of certain safety equipment required by state and federal regulations. They'll also be able to answer any questions you may have about safe boating and local educational programs.

All boaters will receive an evaluation form and boats that meet safety requirements will receive a VSC decal. If safety gear such as life jackets, flares or other related items fail the VSC, boaters can purchase them at a special discount at the store or through BoatU.S. catalog sales at 1-800-937-2628.

For boats in the water, Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadrons personnel will also be arranging appointments for free Vessel Safety Checks on dates after June 1.

For more information about the VSC program, contact the BoatU.S. Marine Center nearest you or go online to www.boatUS.com to get a list of participating stores.

The National Safe Boating Campaign is sponsored by National Safe Boating Council and the U.S. Coast Guard.

On February 22, the Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Club held the 17th annual Kiwanis Relays at Seminole High School. This event is the main fundraiser for the Howard Wheelchel Memorial Scholarship given to Seminole High School students to attend Seminole Community College. Additional monies also go to other organizations. In the picture above, Sunrise Kiwanis member Jerry Posey (left) presents a check for $500 to Seminole High track coach Ken Brauman. # FOOD

Fondue-style beef is cooked and enjoyed in minutes flat.

Dinner dipping

Who wants to be cooped up in the kitchen when the weather is so beautiful outside? An arsenal of fast, yet delicious menu ideas is essential for making the most of all the culinary excitement summer has to offer without chaining yourself to the stove.

Perfect for entertaining or an impromptu family dinner, this fun, fondue-style meal gets all diners in on the action of preparing their dishes. They cook their skewers

Soy Marinated Beef in Rice Wine

Serves 6

- 3 pounds beef flank (skirt) steak, trimmed

For marinade:

- 1 teaspoon ground (powdered) ginger
- 1 teaspoon dry (powdered) mustard
- 1 tablespoon molasses or golden syrup
- 1/2 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup peanut oil
- 3 cloves garlic, finely chopped

- Vegetable crudité of choice
- 3 to 5 cups rice wine or sake

- Curried mayonnaise or other dipping sauces of choice
- Steamed rice, green salad and Asian pickles, for serving (optional)

Thinly slice beef, cutting across the grain. In a large, shallow bowl, stir together all the marinade ingredients and toss with the beef. Cover and refrigerate for at least 2 hours or overnight.

When ready to serve, drain meat and arrange it on a platter. Arrange vegetables on a separate platter.

Fill a stoneware or metal fondue pot two-thirds full with the wine. At the table, heat to a rapid simmer. Secure meat and vegetables onto skewers, letting the end of each skewer protrude by 1/2 inch. Plunge each skewer into the pot and cook strips of meat 1 to 2 minutes, cubes 3 to 5 minutes. Cook vegetables 3 to 5 minutes, depending on the vegetable.

Drain and dip into individual bowls of sauce.

Accompany with bowls of steamed rice, green salad, and if desired, Asian pickles.

British 'Passion'

Dessert adds twist to classic treat

Sure, summer's the time for catching some rays, sandy beaches and barbecues, but it's also a time when some of the world's best athletes come together to compete in the spirit of teamwork, sportsmanship and the chance to be declared "Best in the World." Summer is the height of tennis season, and this month, the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club takes center stage as the 116th championship fortnight begins on June 24. Throughout Britain, many a fan can be seen sporting his or her green-and-purple tournament gear and "strawberries and cream" desserts.

But the fun doesn't have to stop at Centre Court. "Vacherins of Strawberries with a Passion Fruit Cream" offers a new twist on a classic British dessert that is cool, sweet and just the perfect way to end a summer day on the courts or in your backyard. Recipe courtesy of "Gordon Ramsay's Just Desserts" (Laurel Glen), by Gordon Ramsay with Roz Denny.

Vacherins of Strawberries With A Passion Fruit Cream

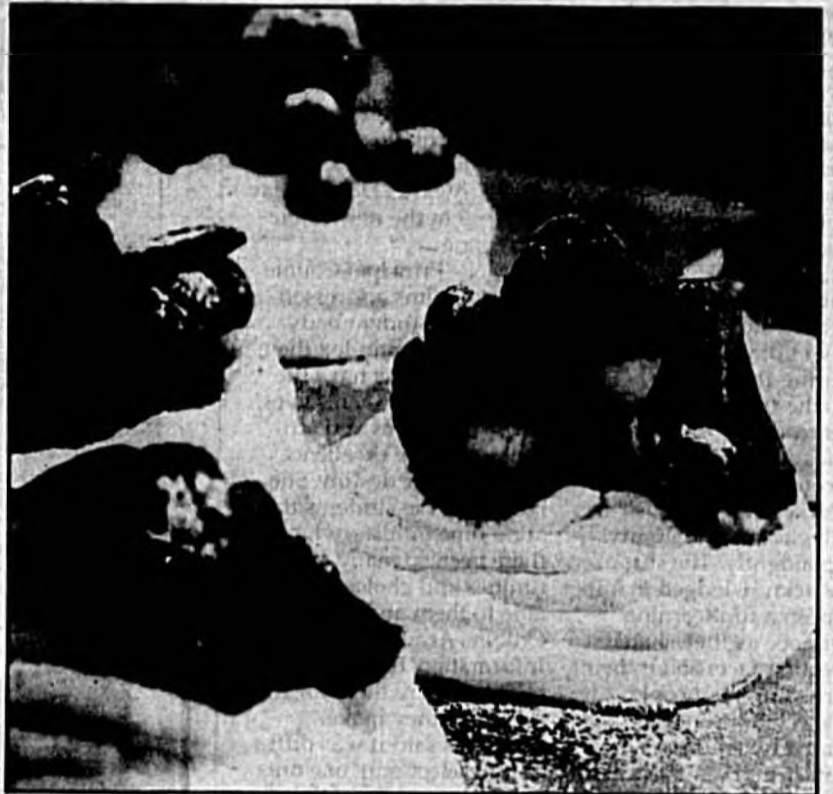

Serves 6

A vacherin is a shallow basket of meringue filled with a flavored whipped cream and fresh fruit. The meringue baskets can easily be made a day or two ahead and kept in an airtight tin. Bake them in a very low oven so the meringue merely dries out and remains brilliant white. However, if your vacherins bake pale cream before they crisp, don't despair — they will still taste fabulous.

- 3 extra large egg whites (ideally about one week old)
- Small squeeze of lemon juice
- 3/4 cup superfine sugar

Passion Fruit Cream:

- 6 passion fruits
- 1 cup mascarpone
- 2/3 cup crème fraîche
- 5 tablespoons sour cream
- A little confectioners' sugar, for sweetening (optional)

Add a "passionate" new twist to the traditional strawberries and cream with "Vacherins of Strawberries with a Passion Fruit Cream."

- 2/3 cup heavy cream

For Serving:

- 2 cups mixed raspberries, red currants and alpine strawberries (or sliced small strawberries)
- Confectioners' sugar for sprinkling

1. Turn on the oven to its lowest setting. Line two baking sheets with parchment paper or a nonstick cooking liner. Draw six circles, each 3 1/4 inches in diameter, on the paper or liner.

2. Beat the egg whites with the lemon juice in a large, clean bowl until they form firm peaks; do not overbeat or they will become dry and grainy. Gradually beat in the superfine sugar, a spoonful at a time, to make a smooth, glossy meringue.

3. Spoon the meringue into a pastry bag fitted with a 1/2-5/8-inch plain tip. Pipe in concentric rings to fill each drawn circle. Pipe two rings on the edge of each meringue disk to form baskets.

4. Bake for at least two hours or up to eight hours if you are using a pilot light. The exact time will depend on the oven temperature. To check to see if the baskets are cooked, lift one with a metal spatula. If it comes away cleanly from the paper, and feels crisp on the outside and slightly soft inside, it is done. Let cool on the baking sheet for 10 minutes, then carefully peel the meringue baskets off the paper and transfer to a wire rack to cool completely.

5. Meanwhile, make the passion fruit cream. Halve the passion fruit, scoop out the pulp and seeds into a small saucepan, and boil to reduce by half and concentrate the flavor. Tip into a sieve set over a bowl and rub with a wooden spoon to extract as much juice as possible; discard the seeds.

6. Beat the mascarpone with the heavy cream and sour cream. Mix in the passion fruit juice and sweeten with a little confectioners' sugar, if required. Whip the heavy cream until it is softly stiff, then fold into the passion fruit cream.

7. When ready to serve, spoon the passion fruit cream into the meringue baskets and top with the fruit. A light dusting of confectioners' sugar adds a magical touch.

Saying no to drugs is a community affair

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — With every passing year, Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) plays a greater role in helping Seminole County's youth understand the many reasons to avoid drugs.

The DARE program is valuable not just for Seminole but nationally. President George W. Bush recently proclaimed April 11, 2002 as National DARE Day.

"Drugs attack everything that is best about our country, robbing Americans, young and old, and their families of dignity and character," the President stated in the proclamation. "Today, we recognize DARE as a critical part in our effort to teach young people how to avoid drug use and the devastating effects that drugs can inflict upon their health and on their future."

Fifth-graders from around the county last week graduated from the 17-week DARE course. Benefits of the program, however, appear to be reaching much farther than classroom. According to national research compiled by www.dare.com, the innovative program is doing more than just educating students about drugs and violence, it's an avenue for law enforcement officers, the community, teachers and parents to communicate.

This newly identified benefit of DARE was all too evident at Goldsboro and Hamilton elementary events honoring their graduating DARE students. Hamilton students went to Fort Mellon Park May 8 for a graduation picnic.

"It rewards them for their hard work and efforts in the DARE program," said Sanford police DARE coordinator Claudia Webber.

The Sanford K-9 squad, the jointly operated county and sheriff's office Air Rescue 3 helicopter and various Sanford emergency vehicles helped entertain the students, but Hamilton assistant principal Samelin Phillips quickly recognized the overall benefit of the DARE picnic.

"Our parent participation just keeps growing," Phillips said as she pointed to the dozen parents intently watching the K-9 demonstrations. "It's just marvelous."

Goldsboro's DARE graduation ceremonies May 13 also echoed the new community significance of the drug resistance program. Attending the event included many parents and local police brass such as Sanford Chief Brian Tooley.

"Without the support of everyone I think we will back to square one that narcotics are bad from the get go," said Lt. Mark Nichols who oversees the Sanford DARE program.

Students rebuild school's boardwalk

Students and parents from Sanford Middle School last Saturday joined hands in rebuilding a boardwalk located on the school's campus that has been hidden and unused.

The boardwalk extends about 100 yards into a wetland ecosystem that has been preserved. All the labor and materials were volunteered through the students.

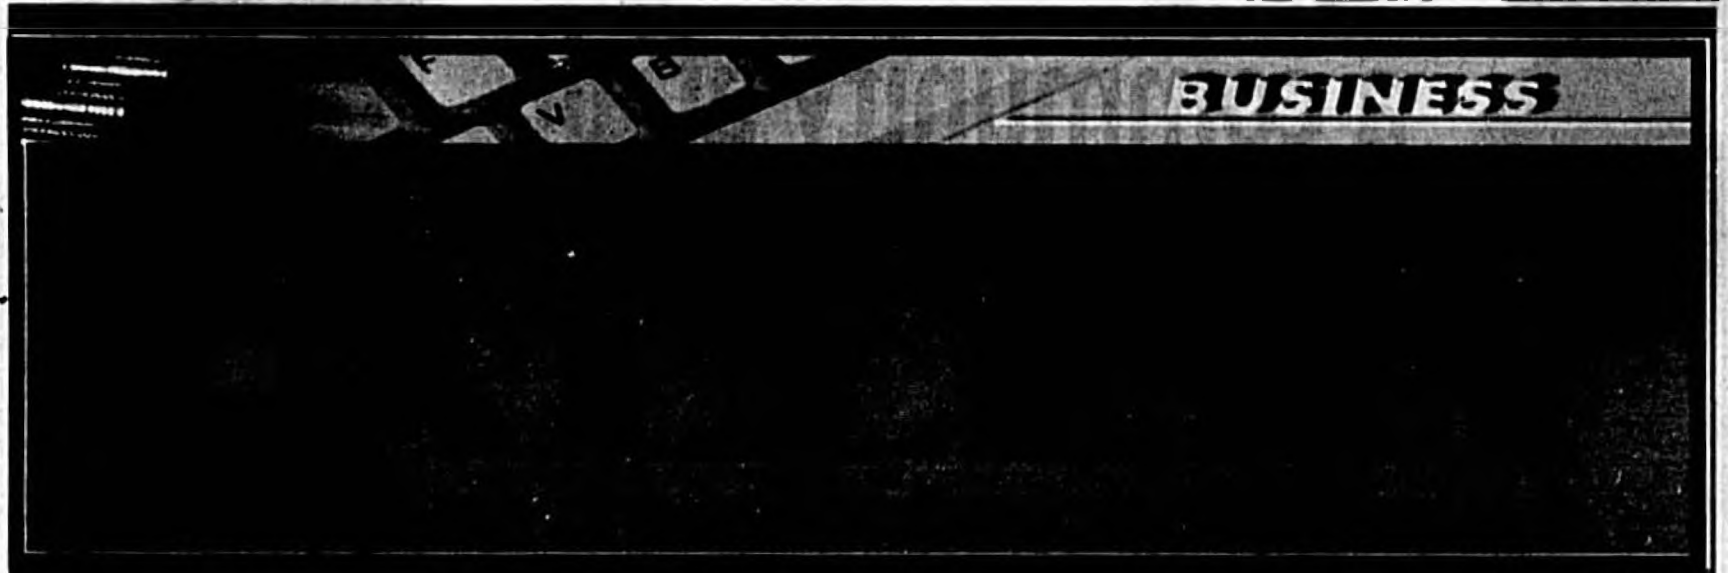

One student, Jeremy Abbe, asked his mother's boss for the lumber and screw donations. The company, Superior Sheds, delivered the lumber and screws to the school.

The students needed a generator to supply electricity to the power tools. Another student, Matt Sims, asked his father for help. A generator arrived on Saturday morning with extra gas, ready for work. Justin Gaul, Carli Hulme, Brian and Katie Hood knew their parents had wood-working skills so they arrived with their parents, power tools and hammers. Special thanks to Jim Boughner, a woodshop teacher in DeLand, who brought his tools and wood-working experience to the boardwalk.

New Life Christian Academy students celebrate reading

"Celebrate Reading" was the theme of the Biography Celebration put on by the students of New Life Christian Academy.

Marva Hawkins

The sisters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter, along with retired librarian Myrtle Brown donated books to help the school start its own library.

During the school term, the fifth-grade students read biographies on famous African-Americans and completed research for "A Pocket Full of Facts," in the classroom and library independently. The students acknowledged that it had been a fun learning experience as they shared interesting facts about their favorite famous people.

The celebration was attended by students, administrators and teachers of New Life Academy, as well as the sisters of Alpha Kappa Alpha.

The students gave their presentations to those gathered at the event. Those representing famous people included: Vhaalint Baldwin - Harriet Tubman; Edward Debose - Michael Erving; Jasmine Hartsfield - Pearl Bailey; Karlecia Hartsfield - Martin Luther King Jr.; Shayteara Humphrey - Rosa Parks; Gregory Reed - Fredrick Douglass; Sean Roberts - Martin Luther King Jr.; Amber Silva - Mary McCleod Bethune; and Jared Woods as Thurgood Marshall.

These students will have a rich, rewarding summer when they open a book. "One book opens the door to grand adventures."

These fifth-graders are preparing for tomorrow by preparing for today.

Special thanks to Mrs. Stallworth, Mrs. Washington, Mrs. Nathan and Pastor Ronald Merthie, administrator.

A very special thanks goes out to Myrtle Brown, On Track Coordinator, and her helpers, Dorothea Fogle, project coordinator, and Lila Ross of AKA Sorority.

Crooms Academy of Information Technology (CAIT) held their 2002 Awards Day on May 9 in the new cafeteria.

Principal Connie Collins addressed the student body and reminded them that they have the power to mold themselves, shape their lives and attitudes, achieve excellence and live their destiny. She reminded the students that at no time in history have there been so many opportunities and choices available to them and that Crooms Academy of Information Technology could prepare them for the decisions they make.

Collins said it was difficult to select only one outstanding student of the year from the school's fantastic student body. She said the student who was selected as CAIT Outstanding Student of 2002 was chosen for his academics ( he has a 3.3 GPA), his excellent attitude, his willingness to help not only his classmates but his school as well, and his volunteer activities. In short, Collins said, he is an asset to the school.

The 2002 Outstanding Student of the Year is Leonel Antonio Serrano. His mother Yolanda Serrano was on hand for the presentation.

Other top awards presented included: Shakir Ansari, Student Government Award; Kevin McKenna, "Raymond Gaines Challenge" Award; Lizann Dennis, Disney Dreamer and Doer Award; Kevin Walsh, Outstanding Academics Award; Mickey Reynolds, Principal Appreciation Award; Mary Benton, Employee of the Year Award; and Cathy Alper, Teacher of the Year Award.

Some facts about trees

Here are some truths about trees that may help you understand some of the problems related to trees planted in your landscape.

Most trees do not have taproots. The deep roots that grow directly beneath the trunks of some trees are known as taproots. Taproots may develop on some trees in the woods in well-drained soils.

Taproots generally do not form on trees planted in urban landscapes nor do they develop when the soil is compacted or the water table is close to the soil surface.

Some oaks and pines will develop taproots when planted in sandy, well-drained soils. Roots grow far beyond the edge of the branches. A tree growing in the woods has a root system reaching well beyond the outer perimeter of its branches, often to a distance from the trunk equal to the tree's height. Roots on trees and shrubs planted in a landscape grow to about three times the branch spread within two or three years after planting. Most roots are in the top 3 feet of soil. The finer roots are concentrated in the top foot of soil. Most tree roots are located within the top 3 feet of soil.

In well-drained soil, some roots grow 10 feet or deeper beneath the trunk. However, because the majority of the fine roots are concentrated in the top foot of soil, various soil disturbances can injure or remove a large portion of the absorbing roots on a tree. Especially vulnerable are trees growing near construction sites. Injuries inflicted by heavy equipment during construction (or at any other time) can cause major and permanent damage to the tree. Because a tree does not replace injured tissue (heal) like an animal does, a wound or injury to its trunk, branches or roots permanently reduces the tree's capacity to fend off insects, disease or other potential stresses.

Many roots are destroyed when heavy equipment operates over the root system. Even one pass over the root system of a tree with heavy equipment can cause significant root damage. Equipment should not be permitted to operate within the drip line of trees that are to be saved. If a tree survives the first two to four years following construction, it may still die from construction related injuries.

Often, branches begin dying within a year or two due to severe root damage. The tree may be dead within three or four years. However, it is not uncommon for trees to show a slow decline over a five to 15 year period. Even if a tree does not show obvious signs of decline for many years, branches may quickly lose leaves and begin a rapid decline following a drought period. A year or two later, the tree may be dead. Trees do not heal, but they are capable of isolating injured tissue from healthy wood.

When trees are injured, they do not replace the cells lost in the injury. The swollen callus tissue developing around a trunk wound or pruning scar is simply closing over the injured tissue, not healing it. In order to stay alive, a tree must seal off injured tissue from its healthy portions. The storage capacity and functions of the injured parts are forever lost.

Additional injuries seal off more wood, which further reduces the supply of available energy and can cause the tree to slowly starve. Wound dressings and pruning paints do not prevent wood rot.

The following truths about trees and tree care come from the book YOUR FLORIDA LANDSCAPE, by Dr. K. Ruppert and Dr. R. Black, and published by the University of Florida.

Historical Society hosts its first workshop on genealogy

The Lake Mary Historical Society hosted a genealogy workshop in May. This is the first program that the society has hosted. And it was my first time hosting a workshop. I am an amateur genealogist, not a professional one. I've learned the hard way, by making mistakes.

With the advent of the web, genealogy research is more accessible and easier now than it has ever been in the past. But with that accessibility, comes problems. Most of the family genealogies posted on the web were posted by ordinary people like you and me. My mom's cousin Dot did a 4-generation genealogy about 20 years ago. I based much of my beginning research on hers. Unfortunately, as I discovered after many, many hours of researching the wrong people, Dot's genealogy was wrong.

Looking at the genealogy Dot did, there were no sources for any of the people on the genealogy. I knew my grandfather (Edd Kersey) and his siblings were correct because their names are in the family bible my aunt has. (Family bibles are great sources of information.) His father's name (Robert Mayo Kersey) is also in the bible. His grandparents names (Nathaniel and Nancy Clementine Sewell Kersey) were not in the bible. As far as we can tell, family rumor is where Dot got the names of my grandfather's grandparents. Those are the names that were incorrect.

When I bought the Family Tree Maker software, I found Nathaniel and Nancy C listed in one of their genealogies as the parents of Robert Mayo. So I believed they were correct. It wasn't until several years and many hours of research later that I discovered they were not. It was in an email from one of Nathaniel and Nancy C's real descendants that I discovered there was a problem.

A quick trip to the Orange County Library and a check of the census confirmed that Nathaniel and Nancy C were not Robert Mayo's parents. It's frustrating to know that the information was so accessible, but that I never checked it. I believed unsourced material.

That's the important thing to remember about the web. Currently, there are at least 4 genealogies on a couple of different web sites that still has the incorrect information on Robert Mayo. That's not to say that all information on the web is wrong. I have found several genealogies that list the source of the information posted. (Most do not.) Whenever information listed is sourced with a book, a census or something similar, something you could trace if you have to, it is usually trustworthy. Unsourced information or information that lists another genealogy as the source, is not trustworthy. It may be true information, but until you have hard evidence it is, don't trust it and don't put hours of work into following suspect information.

The best starting point for web research is www.cyndislist.com. This website gives you the best place to find other websites that have the specific information you need. Cyndis List can take you to the specific places you need for your research. But before you go on the web, start at home. Start with your parents and grandparents. Spend a day at the Orange County Library checking out their genealogy department. The U.S. census is an invaluable source of information. There are several pay services on the web. Before paying for any service, make sure you've exhausted all local options. And make sure your computer is capable of handling downloads from any given site before you pay for those services. Some offer a free trial period. Just don't give anyone your credit card information because they may automatically renew and stick you with a service you can't use or don't need.

The next program being planned for the Lake Mary Historical Society will be Thursday July 11 at 7PM at the Lake Mary Historical Museum, 158 Country Club Blvd in Lake Mary. The program will be crafts from the past. For more information, contact Society President Peggy Wolfe at (407)327-8207.

If you have something you'd like covered or posted in the Lake Mary Column, send an email to Mjhowell@netscape.net.

90-year-old immigrant is American all the way

Doris Stein, who celebrated her birthday on May 7, has lived an amazing 90 years. And it didn't take the German-born immigrant long to become a naturalized American. Quickly, she learned to walk the walk and talk the talk.

Born May 7, 1912, in Kolberg, Doris, her parents, Isador and Gertrude Lowenberg, two sisters and a brother enjoyed an affluent life until the devastation of war ended their lifestyle. The challenging and courageous Doris, a pediatric nurse at the time, moved to Sweden. She encouraged her parents to leave Germany and they immigrated to the United States in April, 1941, before World War II was declared in December of that year.

Fred Stein, who was tortured in the concentration camp at Dachau, Germany, escaped and made his way to America, ending up in Sanford where he established his business. A family spokesman said, "This heavily-accented Jewish immigrant, quickly gained the respect of the community through his intelligence, integrity and willingness to help his friends and neighbors."

While on a buying trip to New York, Fred spotted a familiar face in the subway. It was Doris, whom he had met briefly in Heidelberg, Germany. "That chance meeting ultimately led to a deep and lifelong love, which has transcended the grave," the spokesman said.

The couple were married Jan 13, 1946, in Sanford where they remained. Doris was to become the mother of three active children and was wrapped up in their activities as well as other community endeavors. She became a Pink Lady in the 1950s and joined the PTA, Scouts and other organizations.

After 11 happy years of marriage, Fred died a tragic death that was partly attributed to the chronic illness he contracted at Dachau. He left Doris with three small children, ages 8-10, who were doing well in Sanford. She contemplated moving back up north to be near her family, but finally decided to stay in Sanford where she and Fred had started their lives together.

With no business training, Doris took on the responsibility the children, a home, a mortgage, a small jewelry and luggage store in downtown Sanford, a dog named Rex, and a used car that she did not know how to drive.

It didn't take her long to learn to drive, though, and she took over the business, Sanford Jewelry and Luggage Co., with the airs of a pro. The store was originally located at the corner of 3rd Street and Palmetto Avenue and in the 1960s Doris relocated to the corner of Palmetto Avenue and First Street.

Doris worked hard six days a week and always maintained a home for her children. She could be found at home cooking meals and on her knees scrubbing the floors while preserving a Jewish home with Shabbat meals. Doris cranked up the car regularly attending Shabbat services and Sunday School in Orlando. In those days, getting to Orlando was quite a challenge on two-lane roads.

Doris remained active in the community and continued the legacy that she and Fred started. She even managed to save a little money and borrowed the balance so that her children could get a college education.

After Doris closed the store in April, 1980, she still continued her community activities and her commitment to God and Judaism. "Oma," as Doris is affectionately known to her seven adoring grandchildren, is a living memorial and role model to the family. The spokesman said, "She sets the high water mark as an example of living life to its fullest with a positive attitude for love of family and humanity. To her family and friends, she exemplifies goodness in its purest form."

Today, at 90, Doris remains active in the community. In conjunction with the Pilot Club of Sanford, Doris arranges for the naturalization ceremony held in Sanford and is a volunteer at the Jewish Community Center in Maitland. She also loves to play bridge. After a fall some time back, Doris moved to Chambrel, a retirement community.

In celebration of her birthday, Doris' children and their spouses, Dr. Charles and Suzanne Stein of Ormond Beach, Steven, an engineer, and Gayle Stein of Winter Park, and Dr. Howard and Susan Marblestone, a teacher, of Sugarland, Texas, hosted a birthday party. The event was held at the Sanford Woman's Club, from 2 to 4:30 p.m., on May 8.

The tables were covered with lavender cloths and a green and lavender motif was carried out in the appointments. A large birthday cake accented the crystal punch bowl and the guests sang the birthday song to the excited honoree. A variety of home-baked goodies was served with daughter Susan bringing most of them in an ice chest on the plane from Texas the night before.

Among the friends attending were Lillie and Johnny Greene, from Orlando, neighbors of the Steins back during the lean years.

But the celebrating didn't end with the party. Friday evening, Steven and Gale Stein entertained at a dinner for 25 at their Winter Park home. On Saturday, there was a big celebration at church and Mother's Day, 28 assembled for brunch at an area restaurant. Grandchildren arrived from Texas, New York and Germany to honor "Oma."

It was a big week for the Stein family. When all was said and done, Doris remarked with a big smile, "I was overwhelmed."

Old Truths for a New Day

Parents of quiet boy wonder if their son should be more aggressive

QUESTION: We have a 9-year-old boy who is quiet, careful, thoughtful and very, very shy. Does that mean he is not "all boy"? Should we be trying to change him, to make him more assertive and aggressive?

DR. DOBSON: The wonderful thing about the way human beings are designed is their marvelous variability and complexity. We are all different and unique. My previous discussions of aggressive, risk-taking boys represent an effort to characterize young males, showing what is typical and how they are different from their sisters. However, they also differ from one another on a thousand traits.

I remember taking my 10-year-old son and his friend on a skiing trip one day. As we rode the gondola to the top of the mountain, I prepared to take a picture of the two boys with the beautiful landscape visible behind them. Ryan, my son, was smiling and clowning for the camera, while Ricky was just sitting quietly. Ryan then asked Ricky to wave and goof off like he was doing. Ricky replied solemnly, "I'm not that kind of person." It was true. The two boys were at opposite ends of the continuum in their personalities. I still have that picture of the two kids — one going crazy and the other appearing bored half to death. Each of them was "all boy."

Your son is certainly not alone in his characteristic shyness. According to the New York Longitudinal Study, approximately 15 percent of babies are somewhat quiet and passive in the nursery. That feature of their temperaments tends to be persistent throughout childhood and beyond. They may be very spontaneous or funny when they are comfortable at home. When they are with strangers, however, their tongues are thrust into their cheeks and they don't know what to say. Some kids are like this because they have been hurt or rejected in the past. The more likely explanation is that they were born that way. Some parents are embarrassed by the introversion of their children and try to change them. It is a fool's errand. No amount of goading or pushing by their parents will make them outgoing, flamboyant and confident. My advice to you is to go with the flow. Accept your child just the way he is made. Then look for those special qualities that give your boy individuality and potential. Nurture him. Cultivate him. And then give him time to develop into his own unique personality like no other human being on Earth. QUESTION: Our pediatrician told us he believes our son may have attention deficit hyperactive disorder (ADHD). Can you tell us what is known about this problem? DR. DOBSON: ADD, or attention deficit disorder, appears to be an inherited neurological syndrome that affects approximately 5 percent of children in the United States. It refers to individuals who are easily distracted, have a low tolerance for boredom or frustration, and tend to be impulsive and flighty. Some of them are also hyperactive, and hence they are said to have ADHD (attention deficit hyperactivity disorder). These children have a pattern of behavior that sets them up for failure in school and conflict with their parents. They have difficulty finishing tasks, remembering details, focusing on a book or assignment, or even remaining seated for more than a few minutes. Some appear to be driven from within as they race wildly from one thing to another. They are often very bright and creative, yet they're seen as lazy, disruptive and terribly disorganized. ADD and ADHD children often suffer from low self-esteem because they have been berated as goof-offs and anarchists who refuse to follow the rules. They sometimes have few friends because they can drive everyone crazy - even those their own age. Dr. Dobson is president of the nonprofit organization Focus on the Family, P.O. Box 444, Colorado Springs, CO, 80903, or www.family.org.
