Sanford lays off 17 employees

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter Staff Writer

Sanford commissioners voted 4-1 Monday night to eliminate 17 city jobs in order to balance next year's budget.

The lay off, which saw 14 city employees and three vacant positions eliminated, was effective as of 5 p.m. Tuesday.

This decision comes after weeks of planning by the city's finance director, Kevin L. Smith, and the interim city manager. Andrew Van Gaale, to overcome a $1.65 mil-

"I don't like doing this in such a public manner," said Commissioner Randy Jores.
"To me this is the hardest thing to do. There are faces with these job titles."

It was announced earlier this month that the city would be looking at a $1.4 million deficit, which did not include $700,000 in improvement requests from the fire and police departments, parks and recreation

According to Smith, the only improvement request granted in the preliminary budget was $250,000 for necessary capital equipment within the city's fire department, bringing the total overage to $1.65 million.

"I have problems with doing this," said Commissioner Art Woodruff, who voted against the lay off. "I'm not convinced we have a budget problem that requires this type of action. To put this as a reduction in force due to budget issues is not an honest statement.

However, according to Smith, the budget problem was to the point that if the jobs

The contractor, Southland Construction Inc., continues to grade for, and install, curb and sidewalk along the newly widened southbound lanes. Crews continue mixing stabilizer into the new road base. # Wal-Mart assists local students

Seminole Herald Intern

SANFORD - With the rising cost of college tuition, Italis Loperena and Ana Rivera have less to worry about than most.

The students, both from Lake Mary High School, received $1,000 Sam Walton Community Scholarships. The Sanford Wal-Mart presented the two awards for academic accomplishment and involvement in school, work and community activities

While in high school, Rivera demonstrated diversified interests, becoming a member of Spanish Club and Psychology Club. As assistant editor of the newspaper, secretary of Students Against Destructive Decisions and president of the International Leaders Club, she was a leader in many areas.

This did not stop her academic

Rivera was named Student of the Week and was consistently on the Honor Roll. In addition, she was a member of National Honor Society, Who's Who Among America's High School Students and National Honor Roll. To serve her community, she volunteered at Northwestern Public Library and Orlando Regional South Seminole Hospital.

Loperena exhibits the same enthusiasm for engagement. At Lake Mary High School, she was president of Spanish Club, Cultural Director of Spanish Honor Society and treasurer/secretary of International Leaders Club.

Similar to Rivera, Loperena's name can also be found on the National Honor Roll and Who's Who Among American High School

Students. A member of National Honor Society, Interact, Athletic Trainers and Golden Fleece, she was also named Student of the Week and Respectful and Responsible Ram. "My mom has always been the person that has influenced me the most," Loperena says. "I am the person I am today is thanks to her. I admire her courage to raise 3 children by herself and her ability to teach us her values. Also my perseverance and hard work have shaped me into the person I am today.

The Sam Walton Community Scholarship is funded by the Wal-Mart/SAM'S CLUB Foundation and presented annually by every Wal-Mart and SAM'S CLUB in the nation. The money can be applied to tuition, fees, books and on-campus room and board. In 2003, $6.5 million went to deserving students, two for each store location.

An independent committee of educators selects the Sam Walton Community Scholarship winners In November, high school seniors can obtain applications from their guidance counselor or local Wal-Mart/SAM'S CLUB location.

This fall, Rivera will attend the University of Central Florida, where she plans to major in biology. Loperena will attend the University of Florida to obtain a degree in biology or pre-dental.

Wal-Mart recognizes that the education of our youth today has a profound impact on the vitality of our communities tomorrow," said Greg Anil, manager of the Sanford Wal-Mart. "It's with that in mind that Wal-Mart invests in the future for the children who are supervised by four to eight law-enforcement officers, five school board employees and eight youth volun-

"Our goal is in line with the state and national goal, and that is that no child is left behind," said Deputy Stu Walthers who initiated the program while serving as school resource officer at Midway. "We teach kids to have self-confidence and believe that they can do anything they set their minds to. Anytime you can strengthen a child's confidence level, you'll have a more successful and well-rounded child." Parents drop of their children in the morning to join other stu-dents in activities that teach the children respect for others and themselves. They go swimming on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; skating on Tuesday, and bowling on Thursday. Morning hours are spent learning sports skills and "how to be nice to others," according to one camper.

"They're teaching us to give people a second chance and be riends with everyone regardless of what race or culture they are. God wants us everybody to be friends," Holly Arrigall-Watkins

Good sportsmanship is stressed in all the activities. The bowling league is one of the biggest hits this summer, next to the swimming activities. And they all are geared toward improved social behavior.
"We're learning about honesty, having good manners, and being good in school, and trying not to get in fights and go to jail," said 11-year-old MacKenzie Humes. "And we're learning to respect your elders."

They are also learning to view law enforcement officers in a different light.

"The teachers are real nice," said Jarrod Anderson, 11, as a took a break from swimming at Seminole High's Larry Dale Aquatic Center. "They teach you how to play basketball better and how to swim. I like it because they teach you new stuff every-

The interaction with law enforcement officers gives the youth a positive perspective, said camp law enforcement staff Deputy Don Wheeler.

"These kids see us in a whole different role," Wheeler said. "We aren't the bad guys. At an early age, these kids see that law enforcement is really on their

John Tipton, 12, already knows law enforcement is on his side. His father (Carl) is the school resource officer and an assistant football coach at Lake Mary High School, as well as one of the camp instructors. Although his father is a great role model and teaches him what's right, John said he's an average pre-teen who needs encouragement sometimes from an outside person.

"People think just because your dad is a cop, you don't do things wrong. I do things wrong sometimes, too," John said. "So the program is really teaching us to think about the consequences of our behavior. We're learning about the different types of gangs and how they recruit you by offering to put you in college, enroll you in the military and learn tactics that will help them."

Gang activity is not a major problem in Seminole County, Walthers said, however he acknowledged some groups of "wanna-be" gangs whom the sheriff monitors very closely.

"The reason why you don't hear much about gang activity in Seminole County is because we have a good education program in the middle schools and excellent support from Sheriff Don Eslinger, who has a zero-tolerance policy on gangs in Seminole County," Walthers said.

One long-term goal of the Police Athletic League, a nonprofit 501-C3 organization under the direction of Sgt. Dwayne Johnson, is to develop into a fullscale sports complex with a gymnasiums, pool, and sports field. In addition, the complex will be housed with computer labs, learning centers and tutorial ser-vices, Walthers said.

Donations Needed

Private and business partnerships are being formed to meet those and other needs. The program currently receives grants from the Department of Juvenile Justice and G.R.E.A.T. (Gang Resistance And Education Training). "We have a wonderful partnership with the School Board in that many teachers (particularly coaches) teach the athletic and life skills sessions of the camp. We're hoping to extend our services to the youth in Seminole County by establishing a full-scale athletic complex, including a gymnasium and a track. We're counting to public and private donations - both monetary and in-kind - to support in this cause. The program, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., ends on July 25. The cost is $35 a week. To enroll, call 407-474-5204 or Carole Brothers at 407-328-3757.

"(Tony was) someone who would always greet you with a smile, knew everyone by their first name, had a vibrant personality, and was always there. Be a quarter short, he never com-plained, would laugh with you, would show that he really cared when you shared with "Someone who you never knew well, but well enough to see that he mattered in this world, that he was someone special to all of us," the Lubinskas tribute continued. "He had a job, but just didn't do that job, he make all of us feel like his friends. He made all of us feel special by just saying hour names when we walked through that door. ... May God make a special place for you in the heavens. May God bless you with all of His graces. You will be missed by many, and always remembered ... just for being you."

were not eliminated they would have been paid for by the reserve funds, an idea the mayor and Commission were not willing to

"In my opinion that's the bad math that got us to this point," said Mayor Brady Lessard. "At some point you have to make the tough decisions."

The elimination of the 17 jobs from the city payroll will free up $800,000 in general funds.

"These are reoccurring, escalat-ing costs which is part of the reason we had to do this as opposed to a one-time cut," said Van Gaale. "It was a very difficult decision and the effected employees handled it with grace and dignity."

According to Smith, after making this and other cuts, the city is prepared to meet the July 1 deadline by presenting Commission with the preliminary budget, which will still include $700,000 allocated from the reserve fund.

This move is the last resort in balancing the budget," said Van Gaale. "We kept every department to the minimum to operate efficiently."

Jobs that were eliminated include, a land development manager, a community development project manager, an engineering technician, a deputy building offi-cial, a deputy public works director, a trades worker, three secretaries and one contract secretary, a project manager/parks/grounds operations landscape architect, a museum assistant, a grounds maintenance supervisor, a battalion chief, an office assistant, a human resources analyst and a receptionist.

One position not on the list that led to discussion during Monday's commission meeting was that of the deputy city manager, left vacant after Roger Dixon's resignation earlier this

"I believe the new city manager should have the opportunity to look at whether or not to fill the position of deputy city manager," said Woodruff. "Although, I don't expect him to be handing off duties right away - he needs to be doing the entire job for the first

Department leads have ensured Commission that the reduction of employees will not adversely affect the quality of work.

"They (the people being laid off) were essentially determined in a manner that would continue our service level and not disrupt city functions," said Van Gaale.

According to Van Gaale, the city will pay the 14 employees a three-month severance package, keeping them on payroll through Sept. 30. The group will also receive accrued vacation and sick time, and will be placed on a 24month priority list to be rehired by the city in other capacities, if pos-

Cubs trade Bellhorn to Colorado

From Staff Reports

Ovjedo's Mark Bellhom, who last year set a Chicago Cubs record for homers by a switch-hitter but fizzled this year, was traded to the Colorado Rockies for infielder Jose Hernandez on Thursday. Bellhorn, 28, had one of the top seasons in Cubs history for a switch-hitter in 2002, batting .258 with 27 homers and 56 RBI. He was anointed the starting third in only six games this month, batting

The Rockles, however, will not be handing their third base job to Bellhorn. Chris Stynes, who struggled playing third for the Cubs last season but has been solid with Colorado this season, has the job. But Bellhorn gives the Rockies depth, potential for power and a player much younger than Hernandez, 33.

Bellhorn appeared in four seasons with Oakland before joining the Cubs. "You look at the numbers he put up last year — he was a guy we asked about over the winter, and there was no way we could get him," said Rockies manager Clint Hurdle, another Floridian from Merritt Island who said the Cubs pursued the trade over the past several weeks. "That goes to show you how the winds change in baseball."

The Rockies wasted little time in get-ling Bellhorn into the lineup, making him their starting second baseman, a position much more familiar to the ex-Oviedo

And the change has already done won-ders for Bellhorn, who went 2-for-3 and scored a run in his first game and is 4for-12, a .333 average, with four runs scored in four games.

Now in his seventh big league career,
Belihorn, who played college ball at Auburn University, has appeared in 327 games and has hit .231 (212-for-919) with 42 doubles, eight triples, 36 home runs,
102 RBI and 150 runs scored.

Orlando Predators Head Coach Fran Papasedero (shown above during a game in Atlanta earlier this season), who guided the Predators to a league-best 12-4 regular season record in the recently completed Arena Football League spason, died late Thursday night in an automobile accident. Orlando Police said that Papasedero was killed when he lost control of his car and was ejected as it rolled over several times. In lieu of flowers and cards, the Predators and Fran's family have asked that donations be sent to the "Fran Papasedero Memorial Trust Fund." Proceeds will benefit Fran's two-year-old daughter Vivian. Donations may be made to any Orlando branch of AmSouth Bank. Donations can also be mailed or dropped off to the Orlando-Predators office. and defense to the team. Meg Frank of Sanford, Brooke Bowie of Lake Mary, daughter of former Orlando Magic player and new Bishop Moore boys baskethall coach Anthony Bowie, and Chafon Gray of Orlando work especially hard under the basket, usually against much bigger opponents. Emma Smith of Longwood and Tiana Houston of Lake Mary complete the-10-player squad. Tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m., the Lady Wildcats will proudly carry their banner into the Milkhouse for the Opening Ceremonies and will be introduced along with the other 82 teams from across the nation who have qualified for a shot at the national title.

Two other boys teams with local ties will be the favorites when their tournaments begin in late July

The Orlando Dream Team is the defending 10-and-Under National Champions and will go after back-to-back crowns when they compete in 11-and-Under National Championships at Cocoa Beach on July 20-27. The team, coached by Therion

"TJ" Joseph and Steve Norton, got off to a fast start this season, winning the title at Spring Classic I at Disney and then moved up in class to represent the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and win the 12-and-Under crown at the State of Florida Association of Police Athletic/Activities Leagues 2003 Basketball Championships.

The Dream Team took the place of the Winter Springsbased Central Florida Blazers because some of the Blazers were too old to compete as 12year olds in the PAL.

The Dream Team got off to a good start by running past St. Petersburg, 39-28, but then played its worst game in some time, dropping a 55-44 decision to Ormond Beach.

That forced the team to play a lot, eliminating Jacksonville, 38-34, on Saturday, then having to come back and win three games on Sunday to claim the trophy.

Led by the amazing threepoint shooting of Austin Keel and Austin Rivers, son of Orlando Magic head coach Doc Rivers, the driving of Kaleb Clyburn, and the inside dominance of 'big' Kearis Pinkney, the day started with an exciting 55-49 victory over Boynton

Then came vengeance as the Dream Team rolled over Ormond Beach twice, winning 42-30 to force a winner-take-all game and then coasting to a 51-31 victory in the Championship

Members us the 11-and-Under Orlando Dream Team are Timothy Murry, Kaleb Clyburn, Joe Bailon, Patrick Diop, Adam Norton, Marcus George, Austin Keel, Austin Rivers, Damani Cade and Kearis Pinkney.

The other prohibitive favorite is the FBVA Orlando Raptors which will compete in the 14and-Under AAÚ National Championships at Disney from July 31-through-August 7. Seeded No. 1 in the nation, the team won its invitation with a 60-55 victory over Tampa Fastbreak in the finals of the Spring Classic I at Disney in Dan Krazit, son of former Seminole Community College player Dave Krazit, Lake Mary's Matt Pressey, son of Orlando Magic assistant coach Paul Pressey and brother of Lake Mary high star Angie, and sharp-shooting Nick Calathes, brother of Lake Howell standout Pat Calathes, led the way in the win over Fastbreak.

Another team hoping for big things this summer is the FBVA Hoopnuts that will compete in the Junior Boys (17-and-Under) National Championships at Disney July 25-31.

Coached by Lake Howell assistant Mike Scutero, the team is made up almost entirely of Seminole County standouts.

Leading the way is 6-foot-9 three-point specialist Pat Calathes, who led Lake Howell into the Final Four this year, and his brother, 6-foot-7 John.

Also on the team are Lake Howell teaminates Andy Hampton (6-foot-6) and Zach Thacker (6-foot 7), Oviedo's Manual Davila (6-foot), Pat-Kiscaden (6-foot-2) and Raul Davila (6-foot-2), Trinity Prep all-state guard Omar Qazi (5foot-10) and Boone's Garfield

Blair (6-foot-3). Ricardo Miranda and Rock Thacker are the assistant coaches and Jeremy Rodriguez is the team manager

These are only a small representation of local basketball talent that will be on display this summer as Seminole High head boys coach Bob Traina is heading up another of the Lady Wildcats squads, Mike and Kim Gaudreau's son is playing for a team made up of Winter Springs and Tampa youngsters, and Karl Hodges is coaching a team made up of Winter Springs High players, led by his sharp-shooting son Brett.
