SOMER TIME by CHARLIE SOMERHY How many local residents noticed the bus and school children which passed through Sanford about 5:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon? The bus was filled with Boy Scouts while the tall windowless van preceding it was filled with the youngsters' personal gear and a man in a military uniform in the back seat. The van was painted "Marine Corps" and the words "Boy Scouts" were written on the side. Wish that we could have caught up with the group to find out how long they had been traveling where they had made stops and the route they were following. The youngsters' personal gear included a pair of binoculars, a compass, a map, a flashlight, a first aid kit, a canteen, a knife, a whistle, a signal mirror, a compass, a map, a flashlight, a first aid kit, a canteen, a knife, a whistle, a signal mirror, a compass, a map, a flashlight, a first aid kit, a canteen, a knife, a whistle, a signal mirror.

Validity Of New Tavern Closing Law Under Fire As Habeas Writ Is Issued

The validity of Seminole county's new tavern closing law was under fire again today when Circuit Judge M. B. Smith issued a writ of habeas corpus directing Sheriff J. L. Hobby to appear in court at 10:30 a. m. on July 2 accompanied by Anna E. Tully, owner of Ann's Grill, located just outside the south city limits. A warrant for the arrest of the tavern owner was sworn before W. Hugh Duncan, justice of the peace of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, on June 22. The writ allowed her to be served or consumed upon licensed premises, owned and operated by her, after 11:00 p. m. and before the hour of midnight and before the hour of 8:00 a. m. in wit, 12:30 a. m. In petition for a writ of habeas corpus, Ernest Housholder, attorney for the petitioner, said "The warrant and affidavit fails to charge the petitioner with the commission of a crime authorized her arrest and detention thereunder in that the said act of the Legislature is void and unconstitutional." Mr. Housholder in his petition listed 16 different reasons for the unconstitutionality of the act. Section 111.06, which prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages in Seminole County and in certain cities, towns and villages, or deliver any alcoholic beverages in any city, town or village, or in any unincorporated area, is unconstitutional, he said. "It is enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida, that any person, firm or corporation shall sell, serve, or offer for sale, allow to be served or consumed on licensed premises, or deliver any alcoholic beverages containing more than one percent of alcohol by weight, including beer of all types, in Seminole County, or in any city, town or village, or in any unincorporated area, between the hours of 12:00 midnight and 8:00 a. m., or between 12:00 midnight and 1:00 a. m., or between 1:00 a. m. and 8:00 a. m., on the following Monday."

Commies Launch Massive Attack North Of Seoul

SEOUL, Friday (AP)—The Chinese Communists today unleashed an 11,000 man drive on the Korean front, throwing an estimated division into one attack alone on the northern approaches to Seoul. The attacks sent the war roaring into its fourth year at a time when the issue of more war or an armistice hung on crucial talks in Seoul. The attacks, breaking a day long lull Thursday on the war's third anniversary, kicked off behind violent artillery barrages. The attacks boiled up both in the west and on the east-central front. Communist reports said up to a division of Chinese Reds hit the vital western front last night west of Yoncheon, which is 40 miles north of Seoul. A S. officer with the South Koreans said the Chinese attack was supported by an estimated 10,000 counts of artillery and mortar fire. Fighting still raged in the early morning hours. Another 3,000 Chinese struck on the east-central front where a Red drive last week pushed a huge two-mile deep in the Allied lines. The Chinese poured in through the darkness and struck the Little Neri Kelly Hill sector. This broke a three-week lull on that vital sector of the western front. Not since last month when the Chinese won several positions near the town of Panmunjom had the Communists hit the western front with anything more than assaults in company size. The Chinese apparently are still throwing the big attacks at South Korea's army. South Korea violently opposes an armistice and Communist correspondents at Panmunjom have said the Red attacks was to "teach the South Koreans a lesson." The Eighth Army reported the Red attack in the east-central sector of the front came south of the Little Neri Kelly Hill sector in last week's drive. Reports from the battlefield gave few details of the fighting. The third anniversary of the war had been marked except for a few patrol skirmishes, and Communist front-line loudspeakers had blasted new predictions of an early truce. The Chinese battered the calm with the night attack.

The thermometer zoomed into the 90s, sending millions of people to post and beaches. A violent thunder storm temporarily interrupted the wave, with lightning striking two men and a woman, injuring 15 others (Inter-press)

Evil Influence Of Hiss Is Seen Over Stettin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss was described as exerting a "Stengal-like influence" over the secretary of State Edward R. Stettin today in a 1946 memorandum from the top State Department official to another. The Senate subcommittee on Un-American Activities today during questioning of J. Anthony Parnich, a New York lawyer who in 1947 was a deputy to Donald Hiss, then assistant secretary of state for the United States. The memo from Parnich to Stettin was a confidential one and marked "Confidential" and "Secret". It should be remembered that Dr. Hiss exercised Stengal-like influence over the mental processes of Stettin, who was the U.S. delegate to the United Nations. Stettin became the U.S. delegate to the United Nations after serving as secretary of state. He is now dead. "Stengal" is a technical character in George Du Maurier's "Trilby" who controlled the mind of a young girl. Parnich told the Senate subcommittee that his memorandum killed "the idea of a 'Jodo' plan which he said would have greatly increased Hiss' control over U.S. affairs in the United Nations. "I was always suspicious of Alger Hiss," Parnich said. He testified that Hiss' security file in the department contained "a good deal of the matter" that was brought out in 1948 before the House. The American City Directory Committee and later in Hiss' perjury trial. Hiss was convicted in 1950 of lying under oath in denying that he had supplied secret State Department documents to a pro-Soviet spy ring. He is now serving a prison sentence. At the time Parnich was director of its office of special political affairs an officer with jurisdiction over U.S. policy matters. Parnich was brought into the department by then Secretary of State James E. Byrnes in October, 1945, to help reorganize it. He was called before the Senate subcommittee in connection with hearings which the group describes as intended to show the pattern of Communist infiltration of the government.

Local Laws Face Cool Air Heading Referendum Vote To Gain Approval To Midwest Areas

Three of the four local laws passed during the recently completed session of the legislature will not become operative until approved by a referendum vote, City Attorney Ed Shindler said today. The single law which will not require a referendum is House Bill 1167 which became law on June 15. That law automatically brings in to the Sanford City limits the Wynnewood property and a small parcel of land between Geneva Avenue and the Naval Auxiliary Air Station. House Bill 1168, which became law May 29, is an amendment to the City Charter providing an increase in compensation of City Commissioners to $50 monthly and of the mayor to $75. This law must be approved by a referendum vote. House Bill 1172 is subject to a referendum and became law on June 2. That bill extends the City limits to include land on the south and west sides of the City and is broken down into four separate sections. House Bill 1174, also subject to a referendum vote, provides for the inclusion into the City of property in the extreme southwest section beyond Mayfair.

Eisenhower Strips Protection From Civil Service Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today stripped civil service protection from additional thousands of federal jobs. The President signed an executive order for a review of about 11,000 federal positions to determine which should no longer be under civil service. It will be possible for the new jobs to be what is known as the "at-will" position. The order will apply to the 11,000 jobs to be surveyed. Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission said earlier this week it was impossible to try at that time just in many of the 11,000 jobs would be affected by the Eisenhower order, but he left no doubt the total would be several thousands. The forthcoming survey will cover jobs in what is known as the civil service system's schedule "A" in that category are specialists of various kinds, exempted from provisions of the new order. Young said about 60 per cent of all federal employees are veterans, and he estimated that the same ratio applies in the 11,000 jobs to be surveyed. Young described the new order as a move to remove the career service, to the greatest extent possible, "from the political area."

City, County Selling Property For Taxes

Both the City and County were selling off real estate today on which taxes were delinquent. By noon the municipality had disposed of all 115 parcels available, mostly to individuals, but the County didn't get into full swing until this afternoon. County Tax Collector John Gallo said he hoped to have the 125 parcels which are up for delinquent taxes sold by the close of the working day at 4:30 o'clock. He said there are quite a few more pieces of property up for auction this year than in 1952.

NO MORE SEINING New Game Commission Orders End Of Netting Fish In Lakes, Rivers

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The controversial controlled-seining experiment by the Florida State Game and Fish Commission biologists is at an end. The new game commission, almost wholly appointed by Gov. McCarthy, ordered seining in cooperation with commercial fishermen stopped after a hearing Wednesday. The program ran a little over a year of the three years it was supposed to take to prove whether limited seining would help or harm sports fishing. Opponents' vocal in their objections ever since the program was first proposed, contended it reduced the game fish population and was simply a device to permit commercial profit from fresh water fish. Commission biologists were attempting to prove a theory that seining would improve sports fishing by getting rid of predators which prey on game fish and by reducing the total fish population so those left would have more food and could grow bigger. The program was financed with fees from commercial fishermen. They were allowed to sell on the open market the panfish they caught. The experiment was called off immediately in six lakes where it was being conducted—Okeechobee, George and Crescent (part of the St. Johns River system), Estis and Harris in Lake County, and Reedy near Frostproof. Commissioners gave the commercial fishing crews until July 1 to move their gear out of the areas. The game commission's own crews will continue seining for predator fish. The commission also closed the St. Johns River south of Volusia to all fish trapping and prohibited any commercial fishing in the Okeechobee River effective July 1. Catfish may be taken commercially with traps and trotlines in the rest of the state.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

If you are looking for a boyfriend, consider the fishing rod an ally. That trusty contraption has possibilities the like of which Isaac Walton never dreamed, and for which Dan Cupid no doubt would have traded his sturdy golden bow and arrow. So says Joan Salvato, National Professional Women's All Around Casting Champion. She points out:

1. Casting clubs are good to join. It also is a good idea to visit sporting goods stores for latest dope on lures and lines.
2. Let all your friends know you have a ven to fish.
3. Dress like a fisherwoman—comfortably for a day in the outdoors. Dungarees, long-sleeved jacket, hat and sunglasses are necessary.
4. If you are a beginner, tread the water carefully, particularly if you are stream fishing. Experienced fishermen can't help but splash or talk in loud tones (which they believe scares the fish away).
5. If you've been fishing all day, it is wonderful contrast to dress in the most feminine clothes.
6. Never cast your line over that of someone else.
7. If you are stream fishing, good etiquette requires that first one should lead, then reelin' his place to his fishing pal. In this connection the spinning rod is the answer to a girl's prayer, because there is no backlash to annoy the fishermen.
8. Let other people talk about your big catch. Your companion will be proud to tell, but don't blow your own bugle.
9. If you have had control of all the angles for a day, get tangled up once so that he can help you. It breaks the monotony.
10. Don't get squeamish about putting a worm on a hook, but if you look awkward about it, your friends will help. Plastic worms are good substitutes for the real variety.
11. Joan, who works at sportmen's exhibits around the country (for the Ashaway Line and Twine Tack) says more girls are interested now in the art of fishing, judging by the numbers attending the shows.

These Women

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Newspapers and magazines are always running articles about wiving wives and mothers' wives, one of them sternly (and I've got the letters under lock and key in case anyone thinks I made up this delightfully disenchanted piece), and they tell us we're working to supplement father's salary, and they tell us what we use for our own salaries for.

They often tell us how to solve some of our problems, like getting father to run the vacuum cleaner and help us have out the clothes. It seems to me, though, that these articles overlook the special problems that come up about all children.

After having provided piano lessons for my children, I've never again always after I get home from work. When I get home from work I need piano and some while I stare back, see hints, give shampoo, clean dresser drawers, meet trains and get dinner ready. I need some calm while I gather inner strength to go to work tomorrow to earn money for those piano lessons for my child.

HOLLYWOOD

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — A few months ago, Peter Lawford was feeling mighty fine. He had just been released from his contract with MGM. His father had just died and Peter had left MGM after 10 years. No pictures were in the offing for him, and he wondered if his career was all washed up. They something happened.

The English-born actor whom I have known since the days when he was trying to switch from the after usher to actor has big old confidence back. At present he is enjoying a leading role opposite Judy Holliday in "A Name for Herself." He is whipping up a night club act and is going east for a TV wheel. Among his other plans is a picture deal in Europe.

Sitting on the tag end of his job, Peter is able to cross his feet in pajamas and one-fakes. He said he did not regret leaving his old home town.

"It was hard to get used to it at first, but I admitted 'The studio had done a lot for me, and after 10 years of security, it's rugged to go it alone. I could have stayed on but at a cost. Months before my contract was up, I had a meeting with Nick DeMick of MGM (top man) who said I could earn at the studio at less money. That was happening to most of the actors whose contracts were ending.

THE SANFORD HERALD

"I decided not to stay. It wasn't because of the money. After all it doesn't make much difference after taxes whether you're earning $2,000 a week or $1,000."
"The thing I was afraid of was getting stuck as a picture actor. I had been doing a lot of B's, and there was no indication that I could be getting bigger pictures. It's not so bad for me to get out on my own now because I'm still young. But if I signed again, I would be 36 when I got out. If I were still a B picture actor then, I'd be washed up."

Peter was frank to admit that his career missed the boat in not cashing in on the big money following he had during the early post-war years. He was caught in the same juvenile fancy that swept across national fame.

"But I didn't expect that following a fault was the studio's in not putting me in enough good pictures. But I must admit that part of the fault was mine. I was lazy. I was more interested in having a good time than worrying about my career."
"Now it's too late. A whole new generation of Hollywooders has grown up. I'll have to establish my career on my own efforts."

Ways Of Getting Better Teachers Are Recommended

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—The issuance of professional certificates to qualified teachers was recommended today as a way of attracting more able college students interested in making teaching a career.

Hermann Cooper, executive dean, State University of New York, Albany, told the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards that such a program could be designed to provide professional teachers for the public schools of the nation.

"There should be a single professional certificate, issued by the central state agency to persons passing a qualifying examination prepared and conducted by a board of examiners," he said.

The certificate would be permanent and should be so designed that it would be accepted by other state authorities on the basis of a sound program of reciprocity, he declared.

Such a certificate is needed, Cooper said, because today "the expert teacher in the school is expected to be a school psychologist, a behavior and learning diagnostician, a measurement expert, a guidance worker, a student of American values, a broadly educated person and a scholar in his teaching field."

He said certification programs have failed to recognize these requirements.

"As a result," he said, "schools have been compelled to employ reading specialists, school psychologists, school psychiatrists, special subject supervisors, guidance workers, clinical workers, and scores of other specialists."

"Unless this trend is stopped, the individual pupil is likely to be divided into a dozen different personalities, each being served by a specialist."

"Fortunately school administration has awakened to the seriousness of the present situation," he continued. "The nation's attention is being directed to the problem of placing the grade group back under the jurisdiction of the single classroom teacher."

Christie Sentenced To Death In Slaying

LONDON (AP)—John R. Christie, confessed strangler of seven women, was convicted of murder today and sentenced to die.

An Old Bailey jury of nine men and three women found the 35-year-old wartime policeman sane, thus rejecting a defense plea that he was "mad as a March hare."

Christie was tried specifically only for murdering his 54-year-old wife, Ethel, but frankly admitted strangling six other younger women in outbreaks of sexual hysteria over a period of 10 years.

The jury deliberated an hour and 22 minutes.

The mild-appearing former transport clerk was convicted in a case that shocked the nation and was described by the judge as "horrible and horrifying."

Miss Dixie Contest Drawing Inquiries

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Sponsors of the Miss Dixie contest have quit worrying about having enough entrants.

They expressed concern a couple weeks ago because Frances (Boots) Moore, Sanford, had filed the only application.

Today they said inquiries have come from 50 Southern girls. Four have been accepted—Connie Hoping, Littlefield, Tex.; Jeanne Farris, Canton, Ga.; Dorothy Steiner, Boca Raton; and Miss Moore. Another 12 applicants are being screened.

Entrants must have won previous contests to compete in the event, highlight of the annual Dixie Follies July 1-5.

Cutter Brings In Its Last Cargo Of Plane's Wreckage

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Blackthorn headed into Mobile today with the final cargo of wreckage of a DC-6 plane which crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Feb. 14.

On board is a 60-foot left wing section and an engine, two key parts of the plane which Civil Aeronautics Board officials said they need in their investigation into causes of the crash.

Lt. Comdr. F. Bogall, commander of the Coast Guard base at Choctaw Point, said this trip probably would complete the 4 1/2-month search and salvage operations.

The latest wreckage was found about 700 yards from the spot where original salvage work was conducted.

No additional bodies were found during the salvage operations, although several bones believed to be those of crash victims were located. Seventeen of the 40 bodies were found shortly after the crash.

An expedition organized at Mobile by the father of a victim will probably begin a search of islands off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts next Monday.

In addition, he has served as president, chairman and as committee member of innumerable civic, community and church organizations.

The presentation highlighted the "President's Day" program at the Jaycee meeting today. Besides Judge Stenstrom, five of the eight former Jaycee presidents spoke on the highlights of their administration. John Senkarik, who is in Sebring, sent a letter of regret as not being able to attend. Julian Stenstrom, instructor of the re-activation and temporary president, was missing, having moved to California.

Judge Stenstrom pointed up the Fishing Man and medal program as the biggest single project in his tenure last year along with the national award of the trade promotions. He also cited the publicity the club received from sponsoring Frances "Boots" Moore in several beauty contests. He started that Daytona Beach concern has ordered 1,000 copies of the map.

pital Board, and that is to secure a suitable hospital for Seminole County with all dispatch. Personally, I shall dedicate my services on this Board to that end.

The Board of Trustees cannot delegate their responsibility to any architect or firm of architects. It is up to the Board of Trustees to see that Seminole County gets the most efficient hospital for the money to be spent for this purpose. If that is not done, the Board is NOT the architect, is responsible to the people of Seminole County. I do not think that a public participation in this squabble over an architect will achieve any constructive purpose; this is the Board's private fight, and it is up to the Board to settle it among themselves and get this hospital built as soon as possible. In my opinion that is their job. If this Board is incapable of meeting this responsibility and cannot perform their duties in a manner that will get us a hospital, then the whole Board, including myself, should be recalled and the Governor should appoint a new Board that will do the job. This is plain talk, but I believe that as far as the hospital is concerned the citizens of this community want some plain talk. I can only hope that at least this one time the people of this community will act in unison so that we can secure this much needed institution.

Stengel "Can't" Talk About His All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel won't talk about the All-Star Game because there is a rule that says all the news must come from the league office in Chicago.

"No Sir, I'm not supposed to say a thing until they announce it," said the New York Yankee manager in the dugout before yesterday's game with Chicago.

But you can't stop him from thinking about the July 11 game at Cincinnati. Winner of four straight pennants and four straight World Series, old Casey hasn't won an All-Star Game yet.

"There's a fellow keeps calling me up every night," he said. "He says 'How do you like putting three of your own pitchers on the team?' He says 'I gotta have Whitey Ford and Eddie Lopat. And Alie Heyward, too. I keep telling him I can't talk."

"One year they made me take one pitcher off each club. That was easy, slighting nobody. Then one year I got them all picked, and a couple of fellas I didn't pick came up with no hitters."

"Turning suddenly to one of the audience of baseball writers, he said:

"Who do you think are the best pitchers in the league?"

Without too much hesitation, the writer came up with Bob Lemon. Stengel didn't say a word, just nodded and winked.

"How about that fella in Washington?" Stengel said. "That Shea (ex Yankee Spec Shea). You'd never think he had a bad arm."

"Somebody brought up the name of Satch Paige, whose last appearance against the Yanks will be remembered by Stengel for many days. It was Satch who relieved for the St. Louis Browns the night they ended the Yanks' 18-game win streak last week.

"I'll tell you something," he said. "Paige was going to pitch the next three innings last year in Philadelphia (where the 1952 All-Star Game was played) if it hadn't rained."

A late arrival strolled up to the bench and sat down beside Casey. "How would you like to start an all-Yankee team in the All-Star Game?" he asked.

"Don't ask me about all-stars," said Casey. "I can't say a word about it."

Go-Go White Sox Win 6th Of 10 Games From New York Yankees

By BEN PHILGAR AP Sportswriter

After watching the New York Yankees blow two in a row to the bustling Chicago White Sox about the only conclusion you can come to is that somehow the players put on the wrong uniforms.

Certainly the outfit that wore the big "NY" on their suits the past two days bears no resemblance in a world championship club. And the White Sox look every inch pennant contenders instead of third place talent.

The Sox not only have gained a 4 1/2 season's edge over the vaunted Yankees. They've succeeded in making the New Yorkers beat themselves. In Tuesday night's 11-3 rout the Yanks committed four errors, three of them in a single inning. Both were high marks for the year.

Chicago cashed all three of those runners, plus two more in the first inning, and coasted to an 8-4 victory.

So the Sox have proved that even the mighty Yankees are only human and that despite their tremendous to fame, they are not invincible. Chicago aren't quite home safe yet.

Since the St. Louis Browns snapped their 18-game winning streak, the Yankees have played only 500 ball, winning five and losing five on the present home stand.

The New Yorkers might be more worried if somebody besides their Indian cousins from Cleveland were coming to visit this week end. Cleveland has lost seven straight to New York and is the only team in the league that hasn't beaten the Yankees at least once.

The Indians came out on top in a 31-hit slugfest at Boston yesterday, whipping the Red Sox, 13-9. St. Louis scored five runs in the last two innings to edge Washington, 7-6, and Detroit won a third straight, 6-3, over Philadelphia.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It is more than likely that the dreamed-of four-minute mile could be run tomorrow if it were possible to bring together Wes Santee, John Landy and Ilozer Hannister in what some inspired historian almost certainly would tag the "Mile of the Century."

It is difficult to doubt that at least one of the great trio, given decent conditions, would rise to the challenge and cross the fabled sonic barrier of foot racing. We know now that it can be done and that it merely is a matter of when.

Those reflections arise from the fact that Santee, the greatest miler this country has produced, is making his last big run of the season in the National AAU Meet beginning tomorrow at Dayton, O. Unfortunately, the two men who might force the Kansas flyer to the four-minute mile goal will be far away and he probably will turn in only a routine time.

Landy, the Australian, is attending classes at Melbourne University. Bannister, England's candidate, is similarly busy preparing for his medical exams.

Landy, on his record, is the fastest of the three. Last Dec. 14 in Melbourne, against the poorest of competition, he ripped off a mile in four minutes, two and one-fifth seconds. During the following month, similarly unopposed, the olive-skinned Aussie had times of 4:02.4 and 4:04.2.

Santee ran the fastest mile in American history last June 3 in an invitation to meet at Compton, Calif., doing the four laps in 4:02.4. Bannister produced his prize time effort last May 2 in London when he was timed in 4:03.6.

Admittedly, none of the trio has topped Gunar Haegg's world record of 4:01.4, set at Malmö, Sweden, back in 1945. Some might wonder at all the optimism about getting under four minutes most any day now when Haegg's mark has withstood every assault for eight long years. We're glad you asked that one.

Haegg was out there more or less all alone, in a class by himself. Nowhere in the world was there a runner capable of giving him a real contest. If there had been, the Swedish Swift very probably would have been able to clip that final second and a fraction off his finest effort. It is the history of every sport that the champion rises to the heights only when he is pressed.

For the first time we now have three authentically great milers competing at the same time. At least two of them, Santee and Landy, are confident that they can, and will, run the classic distance under four minutes.

Having watched Landy in action, there isn't a doubt in our mind that he can bridge the remaining gap under pressure.

There seems to be some chance that the Aussie will come to this country for a series of indoor races next winter. At least, he said a few weeks ago he was "interested" in such a trip if it could be arranged. If we know our track officials, it can.

Chamber Of Commerce Is Center Of Stage For All Kinds Of Requests

By GEORGIA BALL
"Folks say there is no radio on television reception down there, will you please tell me if this is true."
"I haven't much money but I'm very fond of celery. I wonder if you could send me a bunch."
"It's a rare day at the Chamber of Commerce offices when mail time does not produce at least one such request. Sometimes the letters are pathetic, such as the recent appeal for a "Good Samaritan" from the amputee who longed to bring his ailing wife to Florida but had not the means. Then there are the ones about missing persons. "Please help me to locate my father," a young lady writes from Vermont. "He was last heard from in Vermont." Occasionally the correspondence takes on a rather lively flavor. This flavor "Thank you for your folder," says a note addressed to the secretary to the manager. "I would like to hear from someone down there and if you yourself would care to drop me a line I would be very glad to hear from you."

At times the Chamber of Commerce personnel is stumped, as in the instance of the postcard from the Massachusetts lady who asked for the name of the tourist court on Route 17 between Sanford and Orlando where she stayed overnight in 1949. "It was on the right hand side of the road on a little rise," she explained somewhat tentatively on her second card. Some requests are fairly easy to handle. "I want a banana plant, just a little one," came from Indiana. But running down the road-side pollen count for a victim of hay fever up in this was a bit more complicated.
Perhaps one of the strangest letters came from New York State. The gentleman wrote chiefly with other highly interesting comments. "It is getting too cold up here in summer. It is nice if there were not so many bugs. Maybe there are some down there but the last couple of years I think they must be coming from Russia. I never saw so many new bugs. Some people have to quit work the bugs bite you so I can't believe there are that many bugs down there in Florida."
Questions about real estate run from the extremely vague, "Please tell me the average price of a building lot," in the very specific, such as the one from the head of a family in Pennsylvania who was looking for a "modern home of the Florida type on a hill with a good view near a lake and located 125 to 150 feet from the nearest neighbor."
But down at the Chamber of Commerce this one... that is, until tomorrow's mail... tops them all. It came from a gentleman in Texas who doubtless had lived all of his life in the wide open spaces. "Have you," he asked, "any shade trees down there?"

Federal Reserve Board Moves To Help Borrowing

Chamber Of Commerce Is Center Of Stage For All Kinds Of Requests

By FRANK ORRIN
WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve Board has evidently eased its tight money policy in a move it said will help the Treasury meet huge borrowing needs without cutting into the nation's prosperity.
The board announced late yesterday it was lowering the amount of reserves its member banks are required to keep. The action was expected to increase bank lending power by about $5,780,000,000.
A Treasury spokesman said the Treasury estimates it will have to borrow between five and six billion dollars in the next three months, and will announce next week how it will do so.
Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said in a statement the Federal Reserve Board had not started a retreat from the Eisenhower administration's hard money policy, which has resulted in a general rise in interest rates.
He said the board acted independently, but after "full consultation" with the Treasury.
The reserve board's announcement of the exceptionally heavy demands on bank reserves which will develop in the near future when development requirements of the economy will expand and Treasury financing (borrowing) in large volume is inevitable.
Humphrey has said the Treasury will need 9 to 12 billion dollars new money in the next six months. The federal reserve has acted to supply Treasury money needs of the next three months only and evidently will await developments before any further loosening of the money supply, or new restrictions.
The board's action concerned the percentage of demand deposits, such as checking accounts, which member banks must deposit as a reserve with the federal reserve system.
Deposits which the federal reserve requires banks to hand over to it can neither be loaned nor invested, so the percentage of required reserves regulates the amount banks can lend. When the federal reserve lowers reserve requirements, as at present, lending

Teacher Surplus In Negro Schools Found In Report

A surplus of 18 colored school teachers in Seminole County is indicated in a report by the Tampa Urban League entitled "A Study of the Need for Negro Teachers in the State of Florida from 1953 to 1960."
Information submitted to the Tampa group by R. F. Milwee, county superintendent of public instruction, shows there is a surplus of six elementary school colored instructors and 12 secondary school teachers.
According to the study, three colored teachers will be hired during 1953-54 and one secondary teacher for the same period. There will be 22 elementary teachers hired in the years between 1955 and 1960 plus 35 more instructors in secondary schools.
It was the committee's objective to inquire of the national shortage of public school teachers included colored teachers in the State of Florida, and to study the difficulties colored teachers in the State seem to experience in obtaining positions. In this connection, questionnaires were sent to each county superintendent of schools in order to seek information which might lead to bringing the problem into focus.
The following conclusions were made:
1. Presently there seems to be no general shortage of elementary and secondary colored teachers in Florida. Two counties reported a shortage of elementary teachers and another reported the possibility of a shortage of one teacher. However, 48 counties indicated no shortage.
2. In answer to a question on surplus of colored teachers, 32 counties indicated surplus, 17 counties reported no surplus, and one county did not answer the question. The total surplus of elementary teachers reported by counties was 175. Five hundred colored teachers are employed in the state, a total surplus of 138 teachers.
3. While six counties did not answer the approximate number of colored teachers to be employed for the next school year, 44 counties either made estimates or gave statements pointing to the possibility of employment of one teacher for each scientific school member of the American Society for Engineering Education were told today.

Bennett Points To Dangers In Plans For JCS Revisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bennett (D-Fla.) says the recommendations of a Hoover Commission minority are being followed in increasing the military planning powers of the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

"It seems to me that to permit subsections (c) and (d) to remain in the plan would be absolutely and unequivocally to repudiate the Hoover Commission," Bennett said in an article inserted in Monday's Congressional Record.

Bennett said subsections c and d would give all of the "military planning of country to the single man who would be chairman of the joint chiefs of staff."

"I think the record should be put straight on the position of many Republicans who have been supporting these subsections in the reorganization plan," he said. "One of the key powers to be exercised by the chief of staff of the armed services, as proposed by the Hoover Commission minority is the control of the joint staff."

"The danger of putting all of this power into one person is extremely great, and quite unnecessary," he continued.

"The position of the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff has been developed in almost complete accordance with the recommendations of the Hoover Commission minority for the power, status, and functions to be accorded a chief of staff of the armed services."

"The Hoover minority, whose recommendations are being followed so closely with respect to the role of the senior military officer of the armed forces, consisted of Mr. Dean Acheson (former secretary of state) and three other minority members," he said.

Last Friday former President Hoover in a letter to Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.), chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, stated his opposition to the proposed increase in the powers of the JCS chairman.

"This letter serves to dispel the rumor that Hoover supported this key feature of the proposed reorganization," Bennett said, "and it points up the inaccuracy of testimony asserting that the proposed enhancement of the JCS chairman's authority is consistent with the report of the Hoover Commission."

RENT CONTROL ENDED
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Defense Mobilization today ordered an end of federal rent control in 10 more defense areas effective July 31, including the Cocoa-Melbourne area of Florida.

In the past five years, the amount of feed needed to produce a three-pound broiler has been reduced from 10½ pounds to about 9 pounds.

SOMER TIME

By CHARLIE SOMMER

The Somerliner wants to pay tribute today to Judge Doug Stetson, who has been chosen as one of Florida's five outstanding young men. The award voted on by the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is the highest honor that a young man can receive. It is a great honor to be chosen as one of the five outstanding young men in the state.

men active in civic and governmental affairs. Incidentally, as the bicycle safety idea sponsored by the Junior Chamber is a great thing for the youngsters of the city. Just a reminder that each Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. a law enforcement official will be on hand at the Elks Playground and during the Municipal court session to give pertinent advice. There was a good attendance last Tuesday—we're hoping more parents will make certain that their youngsters take part in the youth while program.

A former president of the Sanford Rotary Club will return to this city Monday to be a guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the club. The speaker will be J. S. Lando, who is also a past president of the club. Lando is the president of the International Brotherhood of Book Binders in New York City.

Softball League For Girls Is Being Organized In City

A girls softball league consisting of four clubs is in the process of being organized according to Tom Stringer, recreation director. A meeting was held at the softball diamond last night with girls and spectators showing interest in the proposed league. A meeting is planned for Monday night another meeting of all women interested in playing is set for 7:00 o'clock.

And speaking of Book, he'd have been mighty pleased to see the bustle and activity at the office yesterday. Cammy, Bruce and Georgia Ball, assistants in charge while he is attending a weeklong training course in South Carolina, did a week's worth in one day. Satisfied late Wednesday that the Florida Federation of Women's Club's committee, which will select the site for a headquarters building, meets Monday in Orlando instead of in October as originally planned, the two whipped out a very pleasing prospectus for Sanford to each member of the committee. Letters enclosed from C. C. President John Brunley, City Manager Tom Brunley, and Sanford Women's Club President Mrs. Roy Willis.

Regular Tuesday night musical sessions are being held in the band room at Seminole High School according to Ronnie Anderson, one of the participants. He told the Somerliner that two meetings have been held to far with good attendance, but other participants are needed. Services and all others who play instruments will be invited to be present at the sessions which will last throughout the summer. The drills are under Marvin Gombels, captain of the band, and most of the numbers played consist of marches and waltzes. The band of trumpets and beat of drums commenced at 7:30 o'clock with the last note sounding at 9:00 o'clock. Although the drills are primarily designed to keep the high school musicians practicing during the summer months, others are cordially invited to attend.

Demo Leaders Throw Weight In Tax Fight

Use Influence Against Eisenhower Tactics

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The House Democratic leadership today threw its influence against the Eisenhower administration's tactics of bypassing the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee in its battle to get extension of the excess profits tax.

Acting Democratic leader, McCarran, said he would not be made a fight of it on the basis of objections to the procedure when the issue comes to the House floor, probably Monday.

McCarran predicted over-whelming Democratic support and certain victory for President Eisenhower in an expected bruising floor battle.

Only a very small number of Republicans will fail to support the President, he predicted. If Democrats vote against the rule, the proposal will take the tax bill up by extraordinary procedure; they will be in the position of denying a House vote on the issue and defeating the financial program of the administration.

From the parliamentary and tactical standpoint, this is the situation now.

The administration, putting on strong pressure, got the House Ways and Means committee last night to disregard the Ways and Means Committee, which has kept an extension bill bottled up, and to send the issue to the floor.

The House Committee can do this by proposing that the House adopt a "temporary rule" to take up the extension bill.

McCarran told reporters he would oppose adoption of the rule if the House would not come under formal consideration on the floor.

Most of the Democrats are in favor of the extension of the tax itself, but they gave no support in the Rules Committee to last night's maneuver.

Wiley said he wasn't suggesting that members of Congress follow the administration "slavishly" but was calling for "a greater sense of teamwork."

Wiley mentioned no names in this connection, but he said Eisenhower "knows saboteurs and malcontents and goldbricks when he sees them."

Some of the 175 persons who attended the Seminole County Sportsman's Association annual fish fry are shown in the above picture seated from left to right are Mrs. Roberta Campbell, Mrs. R. Z. Johnson Sr., M. E. Johnson Jr., Robert Williams, Mrs. Matine Eckert, and John Lathway. Standing in the same order are George Metter, Earl Lacey, City Commissioner Denver Campbell, J. O. "Slim" Lathway, County Commissioner John Mosch, Aris Smith, M. E. Johnson, County Commissioner Brown Miller, and P. A. Merr.

President Urged To Deal Bluntly With Saboteurs

Wiley Calls For 'Greater Sense of Teamwork'

NEW YORK, June 25.—Wiley (R-Wis.) today urged President Eisenhower to deal bluntly with Republican saboteurs of his foreign policies.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for the United States Trade Mark Association, said he wants the GOP administration to encourage teamwork on foreign policy "rather than to rely on a few saboteurs."

Wiley said he wasn't suggesting that members of Congress follow the administration "slavishly" but was calling for "a greater sense of teamwork."

Wiley mentioned no names in this connection, but he said Eisenhower "knows saboteurs and malcontents and goldbricks when he sees them."

He said he thinks Eisenhower is making "a superb, superhuman effort to try to bring differing viewpoints together and to create a greater sense of teamwork."

"He does not want existing frictions to grow still worse and existing divisions to expand into wide open rifts," Wiley said.

But he said the administration ought to ignore splits over foreign policy and ought not to "regard their provokers complacently."

Wiley cited Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) as a saboteur.

There are shown the oldest and youngest members of the Seminole County Sportsman's Association which held a fish fry Wednesday night at Muller Lake Park. Aris Smith, 87, is holding Bill Campbell, two months, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Campbell.
