More Retirees Mean More $$$

By HALEAH AP
The burden that will place on our state in caring for the elderly, retired person for every worker in Florida, Sen. Robert Graham has told a legislative panel.

"Only a few years ago, we had one elderly person for every three working persons. Today the ratio is one to three, and in 25 years it will be one to one."

Debbie Krause, executive director of the Minnesota Age and Opportunity Center, told the panel how she organized a program offering supportive services, including home care, to thousands of elderly residents in their own homes.

But the problem of the elderly in Florida is compounded by the large number of people who come here to retire, she said.

House Passes Energy Bill; Would Reduce Fuel Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wide-ranging energy bill that would temporarily reduce fuel prices before the Senate for final congressional action, but faces an uncertain fate at the hands of President Ford.

The House passed the bill 236 to 160 on Monday night. Legal authority for maintaining oil price controls expired less than three hours later, at midnight, before the Senate had time to act.

But with the legislation in its final stages, oil companies were not expected to take advantage of the opportunity to raise prices.

New Car Prices Up

DETROIT (AP)—Ford and Chrysler have announced new price hikes on cars only three months after the opening of the 1976 model year, when all four domestic makers began substantial increases.

Analysts said strong sales improvements since the model year began made industry officials confident they could make the new price increases without reducing the industry's two-year slump.

Ford Motor Co. is averaging a 97 price hike, announced Monday, will be effective Jan. 5. Ford said the increase was needed because of unrecouped cost increases, ongoing profits and government-mandated safety and fuel economy improvements.

Senate Acts On Angola

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is maneuvering to end U.S. intervention in Angola with some members voicing fears that the newly independent African nation could become another Vietnam.

The Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on foreign assistance may vote today on a resolution by Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, that would cut off U.S. funds for military or paramilitary operations in Angola.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said on Monday he will ask the Senate, after it holds a secret session Wednesday, to bar use of any funds in the $1.23 billion defense appropriation bill for anything except intelligence gathering in Angola.

Bush Faces Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposition to the nomination of George Bush to head the CIA appears to be minimal, but the chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee says he still plans to fight against confirmation.

Bush ran into scant opposition Monday as he told the Senate Armed Services Committee he would take no part in any partisan political activity. At the same time, however, he refused to rule out the possibility that he would accept the Republican vice presidential nomination if it were offered.

Bush also told the panel that he could not rule out future CIA support for foreign military coups.

NYC Aid Bill To Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is sending President Ford a bill containing $2.3 billion in emergency federal loan funds to rescue New York City from the brink of bankruptcy.

The Senate gave its final approval to the bill by voice vote and virtually without debate Monday night. Hours earlier the House defeated an effort to slice $1 billion from the total.

President Ford, who had asked for the funds for New York after opposing for weeks any aid to the stricken city, is expected to sign the measure.

Alaskan Oilfield Readied

BARROW, Alaska (AP)—Sometime next month, workmen and equipment will be ferried to the remote Lake Teshepuk and the long-awaited tapping of what by winter's end, contractors expect to have two of 26 planned deep wells in operation in the 37,000-square-mile area southwest of here known as Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.

Supreme Court refused to intervene. Then the judges ordered the report returned to the grand jury.

Beckwith said he is returning only one copy of the grand jury report. He said he does not know what will become of the other copies judges ordered made when the document was issued.

Reportedly, the judge distributed copies of the report to the four persons indicted by the jury.

But Beckwith said he is unaware of whom the reports were delivered to, or if they were distributed.

The jury was in session for four weeks and reportedly entered on the commission a certified copy purchase and six six-inch transfer of almost $1-million in federal funds to the Orange County banking facility centered on the issue — and probed matters known only to the state attorney's office.

One question Pratt did not address himself to is the political affiliation of grand jurors. Though the state attorney instructs jurors, it is the grand jury which makes the

Florida MayGet Extra $

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast-growing Florida could get an extra $100 million in federal funds annually under a bill approved unanimously by the Senate and sent to the House, says Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla.

Stone said Monday that the legislation would keep Florida and other booming states from being penalized in federal-aid formulas based on old census figures.

The upper chamber approved Stone's bill, which requires that the latest available population figures be used in all federal-aid programs that include population as a factor.

Stone said the bill would "get the money where the population is."

Backers of the bill said that at least 28 state would gain money under the proposal. A similar measure has already been filed in the House by Rep. William Chappell, D-Fla.

The legislation, with 35 co-sponsors, would have its greatest impact in the West and South. In a report issued last week, the Census Bureau reported 85 per cent of the nation's population growth in the last five years has been in these sections of the country.

The Census Bureau said that recent changes in population reflect a migration of Americans from the industrialized and densely populated Northeast to the so-called sun belt of the South and West.

Florida and Arizona are the nation's fastest-growing states, with a 25.3 per cent increase over the past five years in Arizona and 23 per cent in Florida.

The Southern Growth Policy Council has estimated that 17 Southern states would gain up to $1 billion a year under the bill.

At least two states appear to be certain losers under the bill: New York and Rhode Island, the only two states to lose population since the 1970 census.

CIA Disclosures Good For Agency

It does not seem useful to deplore the CIA assassination plots on the basis of international morality. There is a question how relevant moral considerations of any kind are to the relations of sovereign nations.

But purely on a practical basis, these plots can be criticized.

First of all, there is little that can be done by our government that does not eventually find its way into public knowledge. This puts a practical limit on the number and nature of "dirty tricks" our intelligence people can pull abroad. Those that will prove a major embarrassment when they come to light in later years probably should never be planned in the first place.

We have an open society, which has major advantages and minor disadvantages. One of the disadvantages is the difficulty in protecting government secrets. That is a disadvantage our intelligence people will simply have to live with, especially in peacetime.

Moreover, the plots were blundered. Apparently none succeeded, and when a foreign leader was later liquidated by others, his death did not result in any great advantage to American foreign policy.

All of the victims were leaders of Third World countries. None posed a major threat to the security of the United States, either at the time of the plots or later.

It is unlikely that the CIA would have been so bold as to attempt such an assassination on the leaders in the Kremlin who have been our major adversaries since World War II.

Discovery of the CIA plots, which were apparently approved by three presidents, however ambiguously, tends to increase the already high level of public paranoia in this country about the morality and trustworthiness of our government.

We must have a reliable and effective foreign intelligence service. But, in peacetime at least, we are probably better off without a secret army of foreign agents trying to do dirty tricks in our name.

The practical effect of the CIA disclosures should be to diminish the agency's program of foreign operations except for its essential intelligence-gathering activity.

Tax Action Needed

Congress and the President have the month of December in which to reach agreement on a bill to extend the 1975 income tax cuts. There must be action before Jan. 1, or tax rates will increase, hindering recovery.

President Ford has proposed sizable tax cuts, conditioned on approval by the Congress of a fiscal 1977 federal spending ceiling.

As politics, the President's proposal was a good move. As government, it was a disaster.

The Republican President confronts a Congress more strongly dominated by the opposition party than any other in recent times. There is a realistic limit on his power to lead. He fails to recognize that limit.

It would be bad politics as well as bad government if the President refused to sign an income tax cut extension bill on any terms except his own.

That would mean staminate. Taxes would go up Jan. 1. The President would be blamed.

A better course is for the President to work with Congress to try to get a good tax bill as can.

The House must originate all tax legislation, as directed by the Constitution.

A massive tax revision bill, including extensions of 1975 tax cuts, has been approved by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Lobbyists, many of whom had made contributions to many of the committee members, swarmed around the committee as it did the final drafting work on the bill. They softened and sweetened its reform provisions to the benefit of their clients.

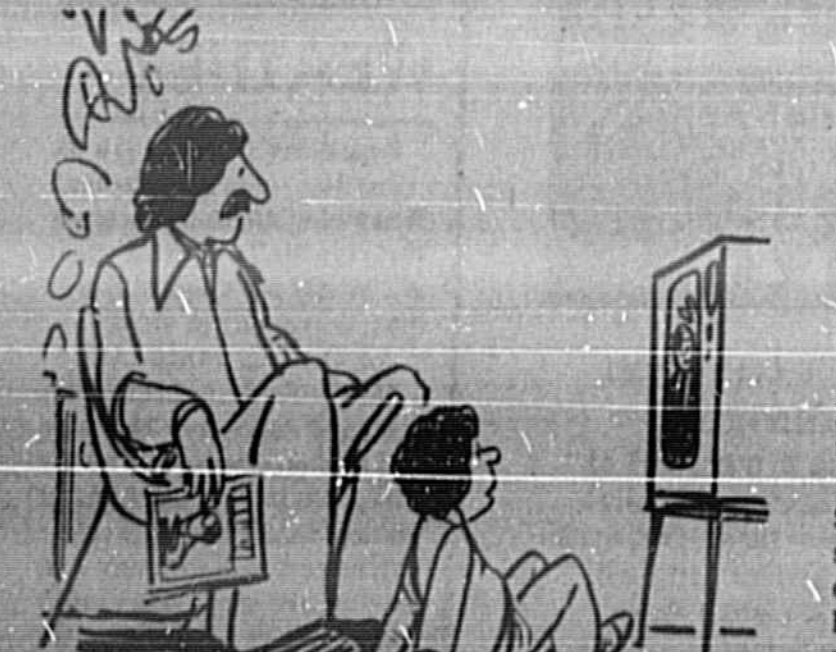

Originally the bill would have increased federal revenues by $2 billion in 1976. That was trimmed to a meager $732 million by the committee.

Many good reforms remain in the committee bill to help the economy.

Shelley and the floor of the House the bill should be strengthened by amendment. Sweath-shirt clauses should be stricken. More loopholes should be closed.

But the main thing is to get action. The bill already is far behind schedule. It should be moved to the Senate promptly. Then the Senate should act without delay.

Consumers Skeptical On Economy

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of consumers seem to be disagreeing with the consensus of business forecasters that the Gross National Product will rise between 5 and 7 per cent in 1976.

The consumers don't package their forecasts as neatly as do the economists. Their feelings are perhaps more vaguely defined, but that isn't to say they are less firm. Consumers are skeptical, and they are saying so.

A sampling that will help you make your own evaluation:

—From the First National City Bank survey, released today: "Americans are growing more skeptical over the state of the economy with each passing day."

—"Asked how long it will take for the economy to show some signs of improvement, 70.3 per cent in November said it will take anywhere up to three years. In October, 67.3 per cent felt that way."

—University of Michigan Survey Research Center: "American consumers are in an unusually conservative and skeptical mood, an important factor in the slowness of economic recovery."

—Only 11 per cent of the consumers interviewed in the latest survey, released Dec. 10, expected "good times" during the next five years.

—Fabian Linden, director of consumer research, The Conference Board, a nonprofit research and educational organization supported largely by business, in releasing the board's survey for October:

"Consumer spirits seem to have been hampered by the rise in unemployment in October, continued price increases and the financial woes of New York, which are increasingly being regarded as a misadventure."

Sundinger & Co., the Media, Pa., marketing and opinion research firm, has been reporting a deterioration in consumer sentiment since early summer.

The attitude of consumers cannot possibly be ignored, because eventually it gets translated into action or inaction. Their spending makes up a larger portion of the GNP than any other single segment, including government and business.

Latest figures show that retail sales are climbing. In fact, for three straight months they have risen, and November sales were 14 per cent above those of last year. Spending is improving.

However it is almost too easy to look at the immediate trend and overlook the trend in which that, in itself, exists. Viewed in a larger time context, sales are seen not to be expanding so much as they are recovering.

That is, while November retail sales were 14 per cent above sales in the comparable month of 1974, it should be noted that the increase includes 7.6 per cent inflation, and that sales last year were 10 per cent below 1973.

Maybe Christmas will change the mood of the consumer, but some of the consumer analysts warn not to expect much. Mood, they say, is not subjective; it is based on a consumer's own analysis of his financial condition. It doesn't change overnight.

The statement went on to explain that O'Neill had distributed campaign funds to "more than 85" Democratic candidates for Congress in 1974, "many of them in marginal districts."

O'Neill collected $76,024.96 in 1974 at a quiet fundraising dinner. Last week, he arranged over $2,000.

We got wind of O'Neill's pious fundraiser last week and sent a reporter to count the stacks.

O'Neill Buying Support For Speaker Vote

WASHINGTON—House Democratic leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, the burly, big-hearted Bostonian, has raised more than $150,000 in the past two years apparently to elect Democrats to the House.

But the pattern of his payments suggests that he is really trying to buy support for his anticipated run for Speaker.

With suspicious clarity, he has handed out $900 contributions to colleagues who have no serious opposition and, therefore, no need for campaign cash. But they are powers in the House who could influence the election of the next Speaker.

O'Neill collected $76,024.96 in 1974 at a quiet fundraising dinner. Last week, he arranged over $2,000.

So you need a lawyer but just can't see how you'll be able to come up with the money to pay for same?

How about a credit card?

Yes, you read it right—Florida lawyers may now offer their clients an opportunity to charge the cost of legal services and proceedings on American Express credit cards.

This latest move is said to be a part of a general effort by the Florida Bar to make legal services more readily available to the public.

Permission to use credit cards was received earlier this month when the Florida Supreme Court approved a contract form submitted by American Express.

The court order provides that all legal fees may be charged except contingent fees and fees relating to bankruptcy proceedings.

Although lawyers may display a small card in their offices and may answer specific inquiries from clients concerning their participation in the credit card service, no other form of advertising is sanctioned by the court.

Also, each lawyer participating in the plan must file an executed copy of his or her agreement with American Express and the Florida Bar.

Who would have believed it would come to this?

A seminar on frauds against the elderly and how to keep your home safer from burglars will be conducted at Redding Gardens on Wednesday.

The 2 p.m. seminar is intended to enlighten Sanford area senior citizens on various schemes used to dupe the elderly out of their life's savings and is open to the public, free of charge.

Redding Gardens is located at Fifth Street and Locust Avenue.

Seminole Community College's Division of Adult and Continuing Education will sponsor a presentation by Dr. I. Johns of Florida State University on Wednesday (Dec. 17) at 9 a.m. in Room L-207-208, Main Campus.

Dr. Johns, nationally known for his work in community development and non-academic applications of adult education, will speak on the History and Development of Adult Education in the U.S., international adult education, current problems in the field and applications for the future.

A proposed committee bill designed to save some $60.3 million in electricity costs to about 2 1/2 million Florida households over a year's time was unveiled in Tallahassee over the weekend.

At issue in the proposed committee bill is the House Committee on Growth and Energy's accounting practice of full tax normalization.

The recognized accounting procedure allows utility companies to pass on to their customers the cost of taxes which the companies need not pay for years.

Full normalization, according to a release from Chairman J. Hyatt Brown of the Committee on Growth and Energy, garnered Florida's four major investor-owned utility companies more than $60 million in additional revenues annually.

The suggested legislation would pro-rate that money back to the residential rate-payers, for the first 750 kilowatt hours of electricity used each month.

Among those companies named by Brown, a Daytona Beach decamp, were Florida Power Corp., Tampa Electric Co., Gulf Power Corp. and Florida Power and Light Co.

The committee will meet in January to consider the matters.

Gap Between Faring Well And Welfare

WASHINGTON—Ronald Reagan is reading from an old script in the early hours of his presidential campaign. Like the tough but wise marshal of his theatrical past he insists the town needs to die if folks have the resolve to save it.

What must be done, he explains, is a run of the welfare loafers, reduce the tax drain for Social Security, grow crops only for the productive, and get back to the days when men were men and women were not on Aid for Dependent Children.

Replace Shoptalk With Sweet Nothings

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Either I have a problem or my husband has. He is a lineman with the electric company, and every time we get to bed, all he talks about are primary transformers and cutouts, and I don't know what he's talking about.

How can I get him to do what other healthy people do without hurting his feelings?

MRS. READY KILOWATT, LYNN, MASS.

DEAR MRS. READY: Tell him to please cut out the shoptalk and that your primary concern is transforming him into a loving husband.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with two children, but I have a problem I can't handle. It's my husband's mother. She's a very kind-hearted woman and I love her dearly, but she is a terrible gossip.

How can I get her to stop talking about my private life?

DEAR ABBY: I wish I had thought of that!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby: Box No. 1976, L.A., Calif. 90019. Enclose a self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR HATES: I suggest that you tell her respectfully but firmly that you aren't interested in other people's business. Your failure to speak up may have given her the idea that you appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a young woman to help pay for her own engagement ring?

My fiance is working and

going to college, and I am employed full-time. As you know, money is tight these days, and everything is very expensive.

When my fiance and I went to pick out the ring, everything I saw that I really liked was about twice what he could afford to spend, so I suggested that we go 50-50 on the cost. He said he wasn't crazy about the idea, but if it would make me happy, he would go along with it.

Singing Boys Bound For Mexican Fest

David R. Loepp, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Loepp, 1812 Locust Ave., Sanford and Scott Bearden of Matland have been named delegates from the U.S.A. to the Seventh International Boychoir Festival to be held Dec. 28-Jan. 1 in Saltillo, Mexico.

DAVID LOEPP

They will fly first to San Antonio, Texas, where they will be met by festival chaperones and leaders. They will spend the night in San Antonio, and will visit the Alamo and other historic sites. On the following day, they will travel by private bus to Saltillo, Mexico.

There, they will be guests of the Ninos Cantores de Saltillo, a large Mexican boychoir. The American and Mexican boys will join together in singing four concerts and in providing music for the New Year's Eve mass in the large and beautiful Saltillo Cathedral. The American boys will challenge the Mexican boys to soccer, chess, checkers and other games.

The Mexican boys will invite the Americans to an afternoon of instruction in the art of bullfighting. They will follow the Portuguese bullfight technique in which the bull is not killed; the contest is more like wrestling and boxing than like traditional bullfighting.

On New Year's Eve, the boys will celebrate by breaking pinatas at a fireworks display. They will visit a large girls' orphanage to provide special musical entertainment to the hundreds of homeless children. Each delegate will be awarded an official music portfolio, and will be admitted officially to the Americas Boychoir, along with the director of each boychoir represented at the festival.

Cut Your Own Taxes

Sheltered Retirement Plans Save Now, Pay Later

By RAY DE CRANE
The Herald Services
(Second of Three Parts)

One of the best ways of reducing your annual income tax is by making tax-sheltered payments to your own retirement account.

Your contributions to such a fund are fully deductible on your income-tax return. In addition, your interest on such funds is not taxable during your working years.

There are two broad types of retirement funds and two groups of people who can take advantage of them.

EMPLOYEES who are not covered by a pension plan at their place of employment can establish their own Individual Retirement Accounts, called an IRA.

SELF-EMPLOYED PERSONS, or anyone who has self-employment income (it could be from an after-hours "moonlighting" job) can establish a retirement account called a Keogh Plan.

Both plans have the same deductible feature, although there are differences in the amounts that may be put into each plan and the rules vary for each.

IRAs are only for employees who are not covered by a pension plan. They could be workers for a company that has no retirement program, or employees who will not come under the program for five years and older employees excluded from coverage because of their age when they started to work.

All these groups can set aside 15 per cent of their total earned income into an approved retirement fund, to a maximum limit of $1,500 yearly. Approved funds are available through banks, savings and loans, federal credit unions, or an insurance company. Or a worker may simply purchase new retirement bonds through the federal government.

Those eligible for the IRAs must start their program and make their contribution to the fund by Dec. 31 to have them deductible on this year's income-tax returns.

Keogh Plans work somewhat differently. The contribution is 15 per cent of net self-employment income, but not more than $7,500 a year. This year there is a new minimum payment which will benefit low-income workers. Their minimum is the lesser of their net income or $500.

This means that a moonlighting lecturer or ghost writer who had $500 in self-employment income this year could put it all into a tax-sheltered retirement account. It would become immediately deductible on his tax return. If he had earned $800 he could set aside $750, instead of the 15 per cent of his $800, which would have produced only $120 in retirement dollars.

Those under a Keogh Plan have one other advantage. They can make their 1975 retirement fund contributions as late as the due date on their tax return (this would generally be next April 15, but it could be later if one gets an extension in filing) and still claim it as a 1975 contribution.

Those under an IRA will claim their contribution as a 1975 deduction on their Form 1040. Anyone with a Keogh Plan will make his retirement contribution deduction on Schedule

C form he will use to explain self-employment income. An estimated $0 million workers are believed eligible to establish IRA plans. There is no way of knowing at this time how many are taking advantage of it.

The Seminoles' basketball team dropped a 60-57 verdict to Colonial, and the most painful part about it for coach Joe Mills was that it came before a near full-house.

Tickets were supplied free by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which gave the Seminole athletic department a shot in the arm by renewing interest in high school athletics. A crowd estimated at 1,500 watched as Seminole won only one of three games. Seminole girls were defeated by Flagler Palm Coast, 34-14, in the opener of the triple-header. The Seminole boys junior varsity salvaged the night with a nip-and-tuck 53-48 triumph over Colonial.

When asked what was the key factor in determining the outcome, Tribe Coach Joe Mills replied, "We played a good game throughout, but a few one-and-one situations at the end cost us the game."

Coach of the Grenadiers, Bill Payne, was asked the same question. "We were lucky in the fourth quarter!" "We made a lot of mistakes, but a few missed one-and-one situations extended its lead to 49-41. In the third quarter Sanford really started to turn the ball over. Ten times the Tribe led the ball, which allowed Colonial to extend its lead to 49-41.

The fourth period saw the Seminoles make a comeback bid. Hotshooting by Reuben Cotton and David Wiggins, with some clutch rebounding brought the Seminoles to within three, 54-51, with a little over three minutes left. However, two missed one-and-one situations allowed Colonial to use its excellent stall, with each team trading off shots at the end. The loss left Sanford with a 2-3 record, while Colonial topped its record to 4-1.

Speareading the Grenadiers were Gary Pitzer and Rocky Sorice who had 16 and 14 points. Reuben Cotton and David Wiggins popped 25 and 12 points in a losing cause.

Looking ahead to the Tribe's next game, Thursday, against Seabreeze, Mills said, "They (Seabreeze) beat us in the Christmas tournament and they are one of the top-rated teams around. The way the team has progressed, it will be a very good game."

B-CC's Moore On Firing: 'I'm Dismayed, Bewildered'

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — "I am dismayed and bewildered," Wesley Moore said in breaking his silence and commenting on his dismissal last week as football coach at Bethune-Cookman College.

"I thought a coach's job was to win football games, but more importantly to build and develop character," said Moore, whose 27-5-1 record in three years was the best coaching mark in the school's history.

Moore was named Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association coach of the year last Thursday — the same day he was fired by Oswald P. Bronson, president of Bethune.

"I think Dr. Bronson has been misled," Moore said Monday. Bronson said last week that the firing was based mainly on Moore's "style of communications" and a college spokesman said the dismissal was for "behavioral styles detrimental to public image and the reputation of a church-related college."

Moore said he believed a better exchange with Bronson led to his dismissal. Moore said he had "forcefully" answered a communication from Bronson to explain "my exact vernacular in dealing with athletes — my style of communication with athletes and the public is typical of coaches, rather than atypical."

He said rumors and innuendoes surrounding his dismissal "make it imperative to state the facts as I view them."

He said his players "have exemplified character in winning, and more importantly, in the disparity of defeat, they have conducted themselves as gentlemen."

This year's 10-1 team, SIAC co-champion with Florida A&M, was ranked as high as eighth among small college teams during the season. It was the first Bethune team ever ranked by the Associated Press.

The loss was a 17-7 setback to arch-rival Florida A&M which Bronson admitted was

Maruri Playing Jai-Alai Catch

FERN PARK — Don't look now, pelotaris, but here comes Maruri.

For early wins leaders at the Glades-Seminole Jai-Alai — like Sanchez, Celaya and Azpi — that could mean trouble.

Maruri, playing like his former self in his championship days, is playing catchup. He's almost caught Sanchez and Celaya, too. Through Monday night's games, Maruri had moved steadily first into the top 10, then the top five and is now resting at No. 3 with 77 wins, one fewer than Celaya and three less than Sanchez, who is still the pace setter despite not winning since last Thursday.

Maruri is also making a move

Tree Thieves Strike Again

SEATTLE (AP) - The Christmas tree siege with the weekend lumberjacks is under way again in western national forests.
The problem is that too many people want cheap trees. The number of evergreens is declining, and the cutting pressure is increasing.
Each of the permits allows a family to take a tree from a specific area. One or two days is allowed for the harvest. Taking a tree elsewhere is considered "trespass tree cutting," a crime.

That doesn't stop some persons from stealing trees. Forest Service officials have estimated that Christmas trees valued at millions of dollars are being stolen from Western forests, while short-handed government agencies cannot adequately patrol.
Still, the greatest problem is public pressure.
So many people wanted California trees that the service there hasn't permitted public cutting for years.

"If we opened this thing up to the public again, we would be inundated with people - it would be overwhelming, uncontrollable," says a spokesman for California's 17 national forests.
At Mt. Hood, over 4,000 permits are still issued each year, but the program is a secret, with passing mention on a radio station of available trees brought a deluge of inquiries, a spokesman said.

"We really don't like to talk about it," he said.
Art DuPaul, a regional Portland Service spokesman at Portland, says that within the next few years public cutting will cease. A service spokesman in Washington, D.C., said the practice is nearly eliminated in the East.

FREEMAN SAYS ARREST 'POLITICAL'

Indictment Says Attorney Sought Unlawful Funds

The grand jury indictment returned Tuesday against County Attorney Thomas G. Freeman charges that he, on or about June 20, unlawfully requested or solicited a "reward, compensation or other remuneration other than provided by law" from John Morris, vice-president of Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co., "for the past, present or future performance or non-performance of an act that was incumbent upon (Freeman) as County Attorney to perform, execute or have executed..."

The charging document says Freeman knew that County Commissioners were considering purchase of a tract of land for between $500,000 and 600,000 and that as County Attorney he had the duty and responsibility to approve title of the land, or to obtain a title insurance policy on the land, if purchased by the county. The indictment charges that Freeman requested or solicited Morris "to excessively charge the seller of the property $15,000" for a title insurance policy "and to pay, give or rebate" $12,400 plus an attorney's fee to Freeman.

The indictment charges that Freeman knew that his lawful fee for the title examination was limited by the contract to one-per cent of the total sales price of the land.

Herring Denies Charge Of 'Law School Buddy'

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

County Attorney Thomas G. Freeman says his arrest Tuesday on grand jury indictments, charging Sunshine Law violations and the solicitation of unlawful compensation, "is a political arrest instituted by a political State Attorney."

Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Abbott Herring, when told of Freeman's comment, replied "I'm surprised that my old law school buddy would make such a comment. He knows it's not true."

Herring and Freeman were in the University of Florida Law School together 1963-1965, Freeman was Herring's 1968 Seminole campaign manager.

Herring said the only time politics has ever been injected in his office was when he tried to hire Freeman as his first Assistant State Attorney. Then Gov. Claude Kirk opposed Freeman's hiring, Herring said, and told him, "Hell no, Freeman wasn't to be hired."

"In spite of all this (indictments) I still consider Tommy Freeman as a friend," Herring said. "But I realize friendships have to suffer at times like these."

Herring took little, if any, active part in handling the grand jury's four-week probe of county government activities.

Herring's chief Seminole Assistant State Attorney, William Staley, directed and advised the grand jury in its probe.

Freeman also charged that the grand jury "was misled." The Sunshine Law charges accuse him of aiding, abetting and counseling county commissioners. That's what I'm paid to do as county attorney," Freeman said.

Freeman said he has to counsel, aid and abet county commissioners "almost 24-hours a day."

"If it's against the law for the attorney to meet with county commissioners, how can county commissioners talk together with reporters or any private citizen?" Freeman questioned.

"A reporter could be an aider or abettor under this construction of the law," Freeman said. "If that's so then the Sunshine Law is unconstitutional."

Freeman claimed "no lawyer in Florida except Herring puts election to the District Four County commission seat. The indictment charges also that Blinford made contradictory statements under oath when qualifying.

Blinford was also booked at county jail Tuesday afternoon. County Court Judge Harold Johnson ordered Freeman and Blinford released on their own recognizance.

When exiting the jail with Blinford, defense attorney Roger Berry told reporters that Blinford "will have no comment."

Seminole County Port Authority Chairman Tom Blinford, who was the real estate salesman to have handled the clay pit deal, was indicted for perjury, a felony, in connection with a separate situation.

The grand jury charged Blinford, in a two-count indictment, with making a false oath on July 10, 1973, when swearing he met residency requirements to qualify to seek

Summons 'Served' In Commission Office

It was late night at the Seminole County Courthouse, and the hue and cry surrounding four grand jury indictments of top ranking county officials had quieted down.

Only two newsmen were present at 8:45 p.m. when Sheriff John Polk and Capt. J.Q. Galloway slipped into commission chambers to deliver summonses to Commission Chairman Mike Hattaway and Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski.

Both commissioners are charged by the jury with violation of Florida's Sunshine Law. Also charged with violation of the Sunshine Law is County Atty. Thomas Freeman. In addition, Freeman is charged with solicitation of compensation from John Morris, an official of Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co.

A fourth official indicted is Port Authority Chairman Thomas Blinford, charged with perjury and false swearing in connection with state election laws.

Asked to produce copies of the summons, Hattaway and Kwiatkowski politely refused. Both commissioners said they have been instructed not to comment on the case until they are given the go-ahead from their attorneys.

"I'm going to have a comment," Hattaway promises, "no doubt about that."

"I'm innocent," he adds. "It's been a long day, also, for Kwiatkowski, 32, a first-term commissioner and the Hattaway, a Democrat.

Asked about his personal feelings, Kwiatkowski replied, "I'm very bitter."

papers requiring the two commissioners to appear in court at 8:45 a.m. on Jan. 2. Polk was along for the ride.

Hattaway, 35, propped himself on a couch in the foyer. Quite frankly, he says he is tired of the day's proceedings and tired of answering questions hurled at him from Central Florida newsmen.

Morris Denies Charge, Special Probe Possible

Seminole State Atty. Abbott Herring said at noon today he may ask Gov. Reubin Askew to send in a special prosecutor to probe what may be perjured testimony.

Herring made the public statement after John Morris, of Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co., gave defense attorney J. Cheney Mason a sworn affidavit that a grand jury indictment returned Tuesday against Freeman charging he solicited unlawful compensation is "totally false."

Morris testified before the grand jury and the indictment charges Freeman solicited $11,400 from Morris on a proposed title insurance policy on day pit property.

Herring said Morris has previously told the information that is contrary to the affidavit and also that the state attorney's office has a tape recorded statement from Morris that is contrary to the affidavit.

"I'm making a public statement," Herring said, "because I have information that Freeman said Mason got the affidavit and that it has been given to the press."

"I'm leaning strongly toward asking the Governor to send in another State Attorney to probe what's happened to this witness," Herring said.

Tom Pratt of the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee, said the Morris affidavit says that Freeman "at no time asked me to excessively charge $15,000 or any amount" for the proposed title insurance.

Pratt said Morris has sworn also that "at no time did (Freeman) ask me to pay or rebate to him $12,400."
