

Modern Dangers

In the "good old days" life was filled with plenty of hardships. We read that the Pilgrim fathers suffered for want of food, not because of over-production but because of the failure of their crops. We read about the frequency of Indian attacks, the plague in the block-houses, and the heavy consequences of the smallpox frequently found where some pioneer lost his life because of a rattlesnake bite, a conflict with a grizzly bear or some other wild animal.

Life was pretty severe in those days, when you stop to think of it, and was fraught with all kinds of dangers. The old man never went down to the pasture to milk the cow that he didn't take his mangle tinner with him. And now the first thing he did when he got up his side was to hang up a giant kite with an arrow for his tail so that his wife could see him in case of accidents or dangers.

But there were, after all, lots of things in those days which those hardy pioneers did not have to worry about. Storms that came and blew down trees, never blew down the electric wires to threaten the lives of children, who ventured out after the wind had ceased. Moccasins might hide in bushes waiting for youngsters to pass but the parents of 1860 never had to worry about spring automobiles. And when the family was sickened away safely in bed at night, the men folk may have slept on their rifles in anticipation of an Indian attack, but they never had to worry about an airplane suddenly crashing into their house and dropping right into the living room. Just such a thing actually happened in Long Island the other day when seven army planes got into a fog.

The pilots were returning from a routine observation tour when they suddenly found themselves enveloped in a fog so thick that they could not see the ground. They were forced to land in a field. Four of them did. Through the aid of their delicate instruments and other uncanny devices for picking their way through fogs, four of the pilots brought their planes down safely at Mitchell Field. But the other three did not fare so well.

These pilots halted out when they had exhausted their gasoline supply looking for a place to land. Two of the planes crashed in open fields. But one of them went on to crash through the roof of a house, killing a woman and a child. The pilot was killed. But it provided an exciting experience for the occupants of the houses as well as for the pilots who used their parachutes.

Fads And Advertising

During every dull period of business there is always some commodity or some service which apparently is not affected by the depression and booms along in an unbroken line in many cases in recent years and it is frequently referred to as a "fad."

Now a fad is defined by Mr. Webster as a "custom, amusement, etc., followed for a time with exaggerated fervor, or craze." But the thing that makes a fad is not defined and that thing is the one which should be of real importance to every man who has something to sell.

Fads, either amusement or buying fads, are created by advertising. The advertising may be in the form of house talk but more than likely it is the nature of newspaper publicity. We all remember the miniature golf craze when that pastime was on the tongue of every one, or the craze for roller skating, or something like that. A sport which was called roller skating, or something like that, was along both here and grown-ups could be seen hitting a little ball on the end of an elastic cord with a paddle. The yo-yo had its time and more recently roller skating and bicycling have come into vogue.

We recall reading several years ago about the sweeping popularity of bicycling in Europe. The fad continued to gain momentum across the seas until it finally made its appearance in the East and from that point has been spreading over the rest of the country. Roller skating was taken up by the people of New York City on a large scale and the roller skate business in the United States jumped by leaps and bounds due to the resultant increase in sales stimulated by the advertising which the fad received.

Then again, certain household products which have enjoyed increased sales throughout the depression because the companies behind them saw the need for new advertising when purchasing power drops. Other products which enjoyed great popularity during the boom have taken great interest in their names precisely because they do not have faith in proclaiming their products.

ORLANDO, Sept. 13.—Rattling base hits to the far reaches of Thiner Field Tuesday afternoon the Sanford Feds routed Orlando's Tigers for seven innings by a 10-2 tally, the locals averting further punishment when Umpire Palmer called the game because of darkness.

Excitement of the afternoon was supplied not by sparkling baseball but by a threat of flustered punishment when Umpire Palmer called the game because of darkness.

SCRIMMAGE HELD BY GATOR CREW ON HOTTEST DAY

40-Minute Rough Session Fails To Produce Good Showing

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 13.—The hottest day of the year greeted the Florida football squad here yesterday afternoon as the first scrimmage of the season was staged. As a result, there wasn't much good work done in the 40-minute rough session that Coach Dutch Stanley ordered for his charges.

Starting at 5 o'clock, the Orange team was placed on the offense against the Whites. Most of the endeavors made by the Oranges wound up in emphatic spills on the line of scrimmage, but once Herb McNally, the loose-jointed halfback who ran 105 yards for a touchdown against Sewanee in Jacksonville last year, got away on a good punt. He traveled almost the length of the field for a counter yesterday afternoon and didn't have a great deal in the way of help from his mates.

Couch Stanley was not at all pleased with the results of the initial scrimmage. "It was too hot for the boys," Stanley declared, "and there is no way to judge them on yesterday afternoon's performance. They weren't blocking well on the offense, but I can hardly blame them. It was the hottest day I've seen in years."

And just to show how warm it was out on Graham Field, Bill Ferrazzi, who is not yet in condition to go through with a scrimmage, just a pound and half while sitting on the bench. The ones who were in combat dropped all the way from five to seven pounds, and the large crowd of spectators simply suffered in silence.

McNally's long run was the bright spot of the scrimmage from the onlooker's standpoint, but the savage work of Al Hickland, gigantic Miami tackle, gave the coaches much pleasure. Hickland was used on the defense and piled up a number of plays with his effective charges. The sophomore gives promise of helping the Gators a great deal this fall.

Indians And Islanders Are Ready For Championship Series Opening Tomorrow

With the largest crowd of the season as good as in the ball park, and with the Central Florida Baseball League pennant, a silver trophy, and 60 percent of the gate receipts at stake, the Daytona Beach Islanders and the Cocoa Indians this afternoon were awaiting Umpire Bill Driskill's call to "Play Ball", scheduled to be heard at City Island park in Daytona tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Interest in the series has been increasing hourly, primarily because of the return of Mike Bolich, 1931 and 1932 manager of the Islanders who has been given permission to lead the 1933 Islanders through their series with the Indians.

Bolich has a host of friends at Daytona Beach who have been lax in their attendance at games this year. These same friends have taken the lead since Monday in helping to advertise the coming series throughout Volusia County. As a result, tomorrow's opening day crowd is expected to be a record one, augmented as it will be by probably 250 Cocoa fans.

Dr. Kenneth J. West, director of the Islander club, announced late yesterday that his team had definitely secured Lefty Lane, Tiger Minor, and "Twitch" Monroe for the series, and that it is expected that a competent first baseman will be lined up by tonight. Efforts to sign Eddie Contreras, of Leesburg, did not materialize, he said. It is understood that Dr. West is seeking either Max McMullen, of Orlando, or Joe Barnes of the Feds, although neither would be able to play in two series of this time.

Nevertheless, the Islander lineup already assumes potent proportions, and with Bolich handling the reins, the Indians may expect plenty of grief. As far as could be learned today, the Islanders lineup will be about as follows: Shannon, 1b or 3b; Weaver, 2b; E. Burned, lf; Spake, cf; B. Burned, rf; Aggar, ss; Graham or Monroe, c; Harris, 3b; Casack or Minor, p.

Down at Cocoa, the Indians are confident of making it four straight games. President Isadore Rubin is banking heavily upon Lefty Baker, Speck Kinsey, and Tom Smithwick to come through with victories in that order, with the blonde Baker, due to take two of the series games.

The starting line-up at Cocoa will be as follows: Harrell, 2b; Howard, lf; Provost, cf; Casey, 1b; McCully, rf; Hopkins, ss; Prince, 3b; Dull, c; Baker, p.

On the basis of season batting averages, the Indians have a heavy edge over the Islanders as individual players although the clubs finished almost in a tie. The season batting average of the Indians was .268, while the season average for the Islanders was .267.

Elmer Spake, who led the league at bat with a mark of .373 in 34 games, will naturally lead the Islander attack along with Red Burned, the only other Islander able to hit .300 or better regularly.

At Cocoa, Buddy Hopkins, nifty shortstop who ended the season with a mark of .338 in 37 games, will lead the Indians together with Breece Provost, the only other Indian regular who hit the ball .300 or better through the season.

The pitching odds are slightly in favor of the Islanders, in that Baker came through the season with 20 victories and nine defeats to lead the league as its outstanding pitcher.

Season records for the pitchers who may participate in the series are as follows: Baker won 20, lost nine; Kinsey won two, lost three; Smithwick won one, lost none; Lane won five, lost four; Dull won six, lost seven; Minor won 12, lost nine; Wright won one, lost 10.

Permanent Waving

WEDNESDAY, Friday, Saturday. Finger Waves. 25c. Hair fanned him and then the fireworks started.

Williamson followed Vickers to the Fed bench, taking his mask, chest protector and shin-guards off on the way. The Tigers rushed in from their positions and the fans poured down out of the stands. Bats in hand the Sanford rooters stood guard over their ball players and a fight was averted.

The game was never the same after that.

The win put the Feds far out in front in the Sanford-Orlando series. With two wins tucked away they bid fair to sweep the play-offs in four straight games. Next game in the series will be played in Sanford Thursday.

Lefty Eraz—Erasa started the game but a single, a stolen base, a triple and a sacrifice that squeezed the second Sanford run from third in the first inning sent him to the showers after the initial frame was over.

Urb Joachim, local portlander took up the torch, but every thing he threw at the plate was slapped right back at him. Five base hits scored three runs before Lefty Jack Baker could be hustled to the rescue. With men on second and third and one down Baker retired the Feds with one run.

The Feds peeked away at Baker's offerings for the remainder of the dull contest, scored four runs and packed their bat bags at the end of the seventh with the game sewed tightly inside, and every player on the team having a base hit to his credit.

To Roy Harrison, Sanford outfielder went fielding honors during the brief game. Harrison established himself all over again as the outstanding left-fielder in the league when he handled three difficult catches, two of them with his back against the left field fence, with the ease of a finished performer. The fans, especially the Sanford contingent, applauded his efforts long and loudly, and deservedly so.

Lefty Flora will be sent back at the Feds when the two clubs meet in Sanford tomorrow, despite the fact that he was knocked out for the first time this year by the Feds. He has beaten them on three separate occasions and he said after the game that he would beat them tomorrow.

Before leaving for Sanford, Manager Abbott of the Feds announced that he would start his prize right-hander, Fred Veale, against the Tigers tomorrow. "We're going to make it four straight games," he said. "Veale will win tomorrow and Vickers will repeat again on Sunday to end the series."

Opposing them were Payne Kelley, Jack Beckwith, Jessie Jones, and Walter Muddkauf in the backfield; and Chuck Rogers, Leo Billinski, Rollo Moore, Alton Brown, George McCann, Carl Schuman and George Moyle in the line.

Numerous substitutions were made throughout the brief scrimmage. And there is every indication that no player had his place clinched for the season. While there is a big possibility that the Gators may line up for the first game as the Orange team started yesterday the gate is wide open and the big battle for regular jobs is yet to come.
