

More Variety Is Seen In Newest Wedding Gowns

Day Of Satin Princess Gown Seems To Have Departed

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP)—The wedding gowns that Spring brides will trail down flower-flanked aisles show more variety than they ever have before.

The day when the satin princess gown was chosen by most brides seems to be gone. This year's brides have asked for—and received—every suitable type of material in a number of different designs.

White and tinted, short and long-sleeved, sheer and heavy gowns all are to be found. Lots of them have a worldly look; more are as demure as Frigida Alden's costume.

Two things they share in common—personality and a slim, trim waist, sometimes designed in molded, long-torso lines. After that they go their separate ways.

There are scores of youthful, girly gowns—sometimes in plain weave, sometimes stenciled—for both garden and church weddings. Most of these have short puffed sleeves and square or sweetheart necklines.

Many are edged on both skirt and bodice with a fine pleated frill. Next comes a long procession of gowns of net, point d'esprit, mar-quisette and mousseline, some cut with basque bodices, high-necked Peter Pan collars and long sleeves; others more frothy in effect.

Most dramatic of all are ivory satins and taffetas which are almost always trimmed with lace. These, intended for the most formal church weddings, are generally designed with long sleeves.

The majority of sleeves in June bridal gowns are short, however, and are worn without gloves unless the ceremonious setting of the wedding demands them.

Most important thing to watch in the design of the bridal gown is the train, says Miss Theresa Morgan, who heads the bridal salon of one of New York's best shops. Here are cut to spread like a great fan as the bride walks up the aisle instead of dragging in a long queue.

Cut with the fan spread, the gown presents a far more flattering effect to the guests who view the bride's back. Moreover, it does not drag in a dead weight which makes it difficult for her to move easily and with grace.

Veils may be either short or train length and are generally simple in effect.

In the bridal gowns this year are some colored wedding gowns of palest ice blue and bluish pink. But by far the greatest number of brides are choosing white or one of the off-shades.

Favorite among them is blush—no deeper in tone than a beautiful pearl and exceedingly flattering to skin.

Prettiest frocks for bridesmaids are of marquisette, net, organza or tulle in such soft colors as hyacinth blue, pale green, yellow and peach.

Many combine an evening frock and a dress so that they may be worn later at summer parties. Straw or horsehair hats or veiled tulle head-dresses top them.

A number of brides are choosing bridesmaids' frocks that copy the wedding gown's lines, but which are of some contrasting color.

For brides who are being married the second time or who want to forego the froth of the traditional white gown and veil, the fashion world has created long-skirted crepe frocks of pale gray, beige or hyacinth blue crepe, sometimes topped with a jacket. Simplicity gives them distinction and chic.

The bride who is being married in a street-length frock is remembered, too. The best dresses designed for her are also of crepe—either sheer or heavy—in grayed greens, grays, beiges and soft muted blues.

Some of them are shirred, others pleated and many accompanied by jackets. To crown them there are smart toques, either draped or sheer crepe or covered with Spring flowers.

Citrus Growers Face Increased Freight Rates

That the citrus growers of Florida are about to be saddled with an increased freight bill of over a million dollars a year and lose for many years the hope of a freight rate reduction was the assertion today of Howard Phillips, of the Dr. P. Phillips Company. The rail lines, said Mr. Phillips, are attempting to confine the loss and divide the growers to gain support for their newly published rates which are proposed to become effective on May 21, adding that the new tariff involves a radical change in the method of publishing rates and proposes to return to the obsolete package rate method.

Mr. Phillips illustrated the inequality of the new rates by pointing out that under its provisions a box of grapefruit weighing 83 pounds would pay exactly the same rate per box as a box of oranges weighing 100 pounds.

"A vital interest of the grower is to reduce the spread between what the consumer pays for citrus fruits and what the grower receives for them," Mr. Phillips said. "Real progress in this direction has been made in recent years by reducing the weight of the package with a resultant saving in freight. Now the carriers propose to wipe out the possibilities of such savings by charging the lightest package or perfect exactly as much as the heaviest."

"The cost of these manifestly unjust and discriminatory rate changes will be torn directly from the pockets of the growers. Even in the past, a growing proportion of the grower's dollar has gone to the carriers as gross returns per box averaged lower each year without corresponding reductions in transportation costs. Further to burden the grower in this respect will be a calamity, the seriousness of which can hardly be overestimated."

Already several meetings of growers and shippers have been held to discuss plans to combat this new threat to the industry. Mr. Phillips expressed the belief that complete unanimity in opposing the new rates is apparent among all citrus factions.

"Florence," he said, "is united front must be presented."

"Mother's Day" Fashions Are Style Tricks

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP)—"Spotlight clothes" for mother are America's latest Mother's Day fashion trick. They're designed to dress her perfectly for the occasions when she is on view. Clothes for the commencement exercises of a son or a daughter or for any other occasion when she will be often introduced as "My Mother," and frocks for club meetings and business engagements are all included among them. They're meant to banish that uneasy "How-do-I-look?" feeling and set her figure and her mind at ease.

They have a great deal of simplicity, a little bit of color and they're smart enough to make the family proud.

Here are lightning sketches of some: For commencement: A simple, see-necked frock of navy blue and white print topped with a sheer navy blue crepe rindage which necks the waist just enough to give it line, white hat and gloves; a black crepe frock and a black crepe frock and a black crepe frock with an applique of cutout printed flowers on the shoulder, black gloves and a flower toque. A gray and white printed frock and jacket, white gloves and a gray postillon trimmed with a white rose.

For club and business: A black or navy blue sheer dress with a white piped vee neckline and a fitted jacket collared in white pique, a brimmed dark hat and gloves. A printed suit combining jacket with skirt or frock, a straw hat whose color picks up that of the print.

For parties: A gray chiffon frock with a lace top or a printed dress with a light background.

Fashion fun for young mothers with small daughters includes "Mother-and-daughter clothes" that follow the same general design. Here are paired large and small editions of white-collared dark crepe frocks and fitted coats, of colorful crepe dresses and of yellow frocks, strikingly alike in design.

Just as much attention has been given to mother's accessories as to her clothes for festive occasions. Here are some notes on the smartest which make good Mother's Day gifts:

Bags are big, simple and commodious, equipped with all-fastened pockets for gadgets, to do away with that cluttered look which mother's bag often has.

Smartest are navy blue, black, dark red and white.

Best gloves are suede slip-ons in white and dark hues.

New jeweled accents are in necklaces, earrings and clips and pearl-studded filly of the valley lapel clips.

Smartest and most practical slips for mother are of embroidered crepe on Chinese brocade, slightly fitted at the waistline, but cut on the straight (instead of the bias) on the fabric. (Older women whose figures are often heavy, prefer them because they don't push up.)

Florists have even worked out new fresh flower arrangements for mother's gala days. One is a corsage bouquet of gray blooms with a little "fraternity pin" message attached by a fine chain to pin over her heart. Another is a pair of lapel clusters to wear on the lapels of a jacket or dress.

Nazis Say They Have Sunk English Warship

25-Day Blitzkrieg Has Given Invaders Control Of Two-Thirds Of Norse Peninsula

Norwegians Ask For Armistice

Italy Says She Will Fight If Naval Forces Attack Nation

A 30,000-ton British battleship was reported today by Germany to have been sunk off the Norwegian coast by diving Nazi bombing planes. The German claim, unconfirmed immediately from other sources, capped a 25-day blitzkrieg which has brought almost two-thirds of Norway under German sway, and ousted Allied expeditionary forces from all but the northernmost region.

Organized Norwegian resistance collapsed with the Allied withdrawal which cost Britain not only strategically important northern Norway but aroused a storm of bitter domestic criticism against the Chamberlain government.

The Germans said nothing but debris could be seen a few minutes after German bombers scored a direct hit near the battleship's forward turret.

Germany's central military command said the German air armistice, and accused the Allies of "unconscionable tactics" in withdrawing without due notice of their retreat.

Europe was watching the Mediterranean as a possible theatre of new warfare. Both the Allies and Italy were reinforcing their positions. Authoritative Rome circles warned that Italy would fight off any attempted attack from Allied naval forces.

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER Associated Press Correspondent BERLIN, May 4. —(AP)—Germany boasted of full preparedness last night to resist any strike by Britain to offset her "catastrophic defeat" in Norway. "Alert for action they said must come from the British in an effort to revive their prestige, Germans said they are prepared, come what may, in any new theater of war while mopping up proceeds quickly in Norway. They predicted this task would be finished in less than two weeks except for the besieged far northern part of Norway."

Attention mainly was riveted on the Mediterranean as the possible scene of British action following Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement Thursday of the concentration of a British-led French battle fleet at Alexandria. Authorized sources emphasized, however, that it is up to Premier Mussolini of Italy to decide what to do about the Mediterranean situation.

Whatever his decision it was said Germany then will fulfill her obligations. "Germany asserted their attention was directed unswervingly toward the Netherlands, Belgium and Scandinavia as possible points for British action. In this atmosphere Germans said their motto is: 'Whatever British strikes, we will strike back doubly hard.'"

Rival Candidates Express Selves As Confident Of Victory Tuesday

Rival candidates expressed themselves as confident of victory in the Senate and governor's race yesterday as they neared the end of their campaigns.

Senator Andrews said at Miami Beach: "Reports from every section of the state yesterday give me a very optimistic picture of developments on May 7." He will campaign in Miami today and return to his home in Orlando Sunday.

Dr. Olin B. Hansen of West Palm Beach traveled downtown on his senatorial campaign, expounding his program for greater public health facilities and liberal old age benefits. Continuing to stress his advocacy of protection for the state's agricultural interests, Governor Cook took his campaign into Central Florida, speaking yesterday at Williston, High Springs, Gainesville and Gainesville.

Polling Places For Tuesday's Election Listed

Preparations Are Being Made For Largest Vote In Any Democratic Primary

Everything is in readiness for the first Democratic primary election next Tuesday when the voters of Seminole County will decide on officials who will represent them in office for ensuing terms of from two to six years.

In order to accomplish what is expected to be the largest number of voters to cast ballots in Seminole County, many new booths have been constructed and in the two Sanford precincts, No. 1 and No. 3 will be divided alphabetically into four parts to facilitate voting and the counting of the ballots.

The polls will open at 8:00 A. M. and will close at sunset, which will be shortly after 7:00 P. M.

Through the courtesy of local officials of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Miss Irene Hinton, head of the Girl Scout troop, the old railroad from the corner of Commercial Street and Railroad Way will be the polling place for the voters of Precinct No. 1. There will be four places to vote in this building and each will be prominently marked alphabetically.

The alphabetical division of precinct No. 1 and the number of voters in each is as follows:

A-F	407
F-L	491
M-S	569
T-Z	324
Total	1891

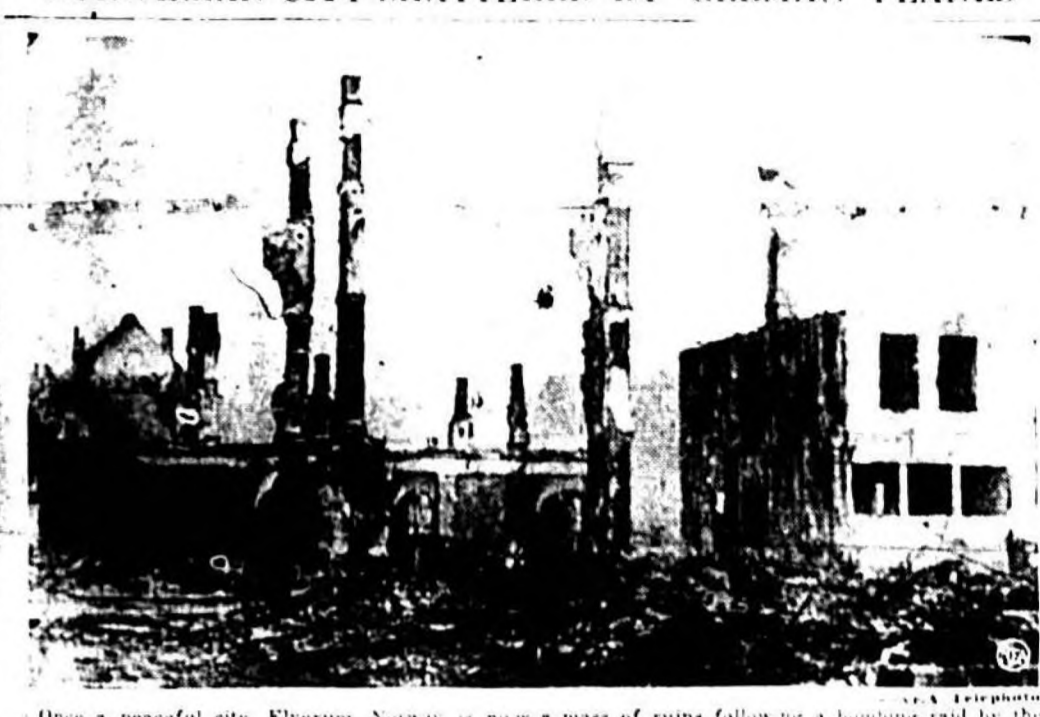

Through the courtesy of Charles Meriwether, the polling place for Precinct No. 3 will be in the Meriwether Building on the corner of Magnolia Avenue and Second Street. This precinct, too, will be divided into four alphabetical groups. The divisions and the number of voters in each are as follows:

A-D	533
E-K	522
L-P	615
S-Z	523
Total	2213

County Clerk O. P. Herndon pointed out that there "positive" will be no voting in the City Hall or the Court House where the voting has taken place in previous years. He also pointed out that those in Precinct No. 1 are those living west of the center of Park Avenue and those in Precinct No. 3 are those living east of the center of Park Avenue.

Preparations are being made for the largest vote in any Democratic primary in the history of the county. The polls will open at 8:00 A. M. and will close at sunset, which will be shortly after 7:00 P. M.

Road 288 To Be Advertised Soon, Governor States

Immediate Action Is Planned, C. Of C. Group Is Advised

As announced by the State Road Department will advertise in July for the construction of State Road No. 288 in the next two or three weeks was given a delegation of officials and members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce by Gov. Fred D. Cook in Gainesville last night when the group called upon the Governor to plan a political address there.

Conferring his assurance, Gov. Cook today wired Secretary Ed Ward Higgins of the Chamber of Commerce and Chairman W. B. Ballard of the Board of County Commissioners as follows: "You can tell the people of Seminole County that Road No. 288 will be advertised for bids in two or three weeks," signed, Fred D. Cook, Governor.

This discussion of the road problem with the Seminole County delegation followed conferences with the officials of the State Road Department, including Chief Engineer Dowling earlier in the evening.

All that remains for the completion of the road from the Orange county line to Altamonte Springs is the hard sections of the right-of-way which has already been prepared. The road has been relocated and the sharp bends have been eliminated.

The completion of the road has been sought by the residents of this section of Seminole County for a number of years. It will replace the existing nine-foot road. The project consists of nine miles of hard surfacing.

The Coming Election

On Tuesday of next week the first of the Democratic primaries to determine who will run the government in Seminole County and the State of Florida, and who will represent us in the United States Senate, will be held.

But it is important for the people to remember that it is only once in four years for the most part, that they can have their say. It is important to remember that the men who are nominated on Tuesday, or who go into the runoff, are likely to remain in office for the next four years.

We have heard a great deal during this campaign of the wonderful things that will happen if certain men are elected, and we have shuddered at the dire predictions that have been made concerning the election of other candidates.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has a slogan which it uses at election time with great effect which says, "Vote as you please, but vote." If democratic government is to continue on this earth, people must vote.

We like to believe that in voting for a man it is character and integrity which count the most. Ability of course is important. But ability becomes a liability when it lacks character and integrity.

So let every citizen vote next Tuesday. And let him vote for the best man. If everyone of us will do that, we can rest assured that our government will be in safe hands for the next four years at least.

Convention Delegates

In another column on this page appears a list of candidates for delegates to the Democratic Convention. They are not all of the candidates for the job, but they include those of the so-called "Pepper State" who are presumably pledged to vote for Roosevelt for a "third term."

Other candidates on the ballot may also be in favor of a "third term" and some no doubt are against a "third term." Frankly we don't know how they stand.

Those who are listed "Against Third Term" are not necessarily against Roosevelt or the New Deal. In fact some of them, we know, have been strong for the New Deal from the beginning.

Florida will send 12 delegates to the national convention, says the Fort Myers News Press. Four men and four women from the state at large and one man and one woman from each of the five congressional districts.

The issue then in this election, in so far as delegates are concerned, is simply whether the people of Florida want an unrestricted delegation opposing a "third term" or whether they want one instructed for Roosevelt.

RALPH B. CHAPMAN SAYS: Dear Friends: During the past few weeks it has been my pleasure and privilege to make many new friends in Seminole and Howard counties and I am looking forward eagerly to the opportunity of serving them in the State Senate. On this eve of election I want to repeat my pledge made earlier in the campaign that if I am elected senator of the 57th district I will represent the people of both counties and will not be influenced or controlled by any special interests or political factions or cliques. I have many old friends in Seminole and Howard counties. I am proud of those friends. Some of them have known me for most of the 25 years I have been cultivating the soil of Seminole County. I can assure you that under no circumstances could I ever be influenced to let them down and I am confident that they will give me their support on election day. But Seminole and Howard counties have many thousands of qualified voters. It has been impossible for me to see them all in the short time since I announced my candidacy. But whether I have met you personally or not, if I am elected your senator, you may rest assured that you will have a friend in the State Senate and every one to represent you in Tallahassee who will be as solicitous of your interests and welfare as if he had known you all your life. Yours truly, RALPH B. CHAPMAN, Candidate for State Senate, District 57th.
