the mettle and challenge the true communent of every political hepsful.

The national scene has had its normality spect by such extraordinary events as the surprise decision of an incumbent Democratic President to forego a drive for re-election, the assassination of a liberal Democratic candidate, the shattering of party and the Democratic candidate, the shattering of party and the Democratic impropries in Chicago, and unity by the Democratic imbroglio in Chicago, and the dogged bravura of the Democratic presidential nominee to pick up the pieces and successfully chal-

bacle in 1964, produced a smooth-running, well-organ-ized, effective machine which could stifle rebellion within its ranks and trot out a candidate who would make a fast start, maintain a front-running pace and end up with a margin of pollster win as Election Day

Here in Florida and especially in our county, the emerging Republican party has shown an ability and desire to field a group of candidates, some new to the political game, which has made the 1968 election a realistic test of the two-party system.

There has however, on both the national and local scenes, burst a movement to create a third party organization which appears to be founded more on emotion than reason and yet has, as the ballots are expected to show, the capacity to throw light on our-out-moded old-line political organizations in terms of producing candidates and our equally antiquated election process on allowing each citizen to effectiveexpress his choice for president.

Thus the Democratic presidential candidate
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey; the Republican candidate former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the American Independent candidate forradio tapings and appearances, which had to be folmer Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama have played roles which are sure to get high ratings when the history of this campaign is recorded.

Much more intimately and with much more personal knowledge we would doff our editorial hat to candidates on the state and local level. For these good people are operating in a poli-tical climate which they did not create and yet which was important as to the effectiveness of their cam-

For our state and our county is in transition. The growth in population all over the state, the advent of industries in Central Florida, are two factors which make old, traditional political attitudes not only outmoded but out-dated. Yet there remained the political routines of almost countless meetings, conferences, luncheons and

We believe this has been a period when "The Candidates" in Sanford and Seminole County, especially, have given far more than the required measure of devotion to political demands. Thus we say: "Thanks" and say this to both the winners and the losers. Both are basic ingredients to teas, evening gatherings, interviews with reporters ballots into decisions. For the successful andidates there opens up a period of re-organleation to implement their campaign promises. For those who were defeated there remains the need for re-appraisal of campaign techniques, the consideration of future political actions. Will it be, "Never Again" or "Wait 'till

Down With Signs!

Next Time?"

But for both there is a single resolve which is needed It requires no thought but immediate physical action. TAKE DOWN YOUR SIGNS! Do this and it will reflect your firm resolve, in victory or defeat, to help our community to pick up again that drive for beautification which is essential to our proper growth.

It will also add to your stature as a responsible politician. Should signs remain there is no doubt but that the names and the parties which they are designed to bring to public attention will not be the gainers. If not eyesores, they certainly are irritants after the political purpose for which they have been exposed has ended. In this situation prompt action pays very high dividends. Community respect and appreciation will go to that candidate and that political organization whose signs are removed in almost direct proportion to the speed with which this is done.

Of course this is true in every city, county or state. But in Sanford, in Seminole County, in this attractive and growing area such a move by all politicians is even more desirable.

Before long the flow of tourists will start in greater numbers than ever. We will be hosting many and they will be impressed by what they

that can be provided.

Removal of political campaign signs would be an assist that would be welcome and helpful

The two artists represented are Michael Canavan, whose black and white drawing, "Jackie", appears on the brochure cover, and Vickie Smith, whose drawing, "Searching", is one of the remaining four selected for reproduction. SJC art students participated in the International College Art Program in its second exhibit last spring. Their works became part of a national traveling exhibition which is presently touring American colleges and universities. As a result of their particlpation in the pilot stages of this program, SJC art students have received an invitation to exhibit in a special International College Art Exhibition to be held in connection with the National Art Education Association National Convention in come the camel. It is now cheaper to fly over the sands of Arabia than to ride the ship of the desert. An air ticket for the 45 minute flight from this capital to the Red Sea port of Hodeidah 140 miles away costs $15. By the traditional camel it takes nine days and costs about $36 for food for the traveler and his hired animal. The countryside is wild and voyagers must put up for the night at roadside taverns and pay for accommodations and

The snarling, grumbling beasts consume grass at an astonishing rate. This must be purchased from tribes along the route. It's going to be a tough week for picks in our high school competition. The big contest this week is that of the scrappy Seminole High Seminoles playing the powerful Lyman Greyhounds. The Seminoles will be trying to rebound from a defeat at the hands of awesome Tampa Jesuit who scattered the Sanford eleven 39-21. The Greyhounds will be out to protect their seven game winning streak. This contest is always tough to predict due to such an electric atmosphere.
