WILL ARM AMERICAN SHIPPING

SHIPS WILL HAVE SMALL GUNS TO REPEL ATTACK

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—P. A. S. Franklin, director of the International Mercantile Marine, today made formal application to the navy department for guns to arm the passenger liners of the American line.

The request states that the company has been unable to find guns elsewhere. It is indicated that the navy department, while opposed for military reasons to any project for arming American merchantmen for passage through the prohibited zones, favors supplying such ships with guns for their own defense.

The navy department has a considerable number of old model three-inch to six inch rifles, available for arming merchant ships, but not enough for the conversion of all ships it would require in time of war and also to furnish defensive armament for all of its own fleet.

French ships which are permitted to pass through the zone are allowed to be armed by the navy with direct action guns. The presence of these guns aboard is indicated by the ship's papers.

Within a few days the greater number of the German merchant vessels now held in port by fear of German submarines may arm themselves and resume their sailings, it was intimated today. This will be accomplished by private means.

Officials today were still obliged to regard this later offer of Germany to discuss means of preventing war, presented through the Swiss minister Saturday, only as an effort to cast on the United States the appearance as being belligerent. The official attitude seemed to be that the United States and Germany can have no diplomatic negotiations until Germany gives up her unrestricted submarine warfare and that other advances—meanwhile serve only to becloud the issue of American rights.

Zurich, Switz., Feb. 11, (I. P. M.) via Paris, Feb. 12.—Most of the members of Ambassador Gerard's large party gave a genuine sigh of relief this evening when the Swiss border was reached, for the strain of the last few days had told more or less. Ambassador Gerard met cordially the horde of newspaper men who crowded about him on his arrival at Zurich, clamoring for interviews for papers all over the world, but kept rigidly to his determination not to speak for publication until he has reported to President Wilson in Washington.

The strain of the situation for the Americans in Berlin had been heightened toward the end by the efforts of the German authorities to induce Mr. Ger Gerard to open negotiations for an amendment to the Prussian American treaty of 1799. At the same time the German newspapers were flooded with reports of the seizure of German ships by America and with stories of difficulties and indignities encountered by Count von Bernstorff.

Mrs. Arthur Blount of Waynesboro, Ga., is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. L. Pagenhart.

SOUTHERN CATTLE FREE FROM TICKS

GOVERNMENT WILL HELP THE STATES THAT WANT IT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—The army of cattle ticks is to be cut in half this year and a wedge of tick-free territory driven through the infested area to the Gulf of Mexico. By the end of 1917 it is expected that the entire state of Mississippi will be released from quarantine and a broad high road opened for the unrestricted shipment of cattle to outside markets.

The effect of this upon the whole campaign for the total elimination of the pest throughout the south is expected to be great. In order to secure for the newly freed counties the full benefits of eradication, it has always been the policy to plan, as far as possible, the releases from quarantine so that cattle may be brought in and out without passing through ticky country. The new Mississippi law, however, requiring all tick infested counties to begin eradication work, enables this policy to be carried out on a larger scale than ever before.

These results are too apparent for even the most prejudiced to ignore. For one thing the average value of cattle increases, at once and almost automatically, to an extent which makes the cost of dipping negligible. As a result a great amount of the tick infested areas are now free from ticks.

These results are too apparent for even the most prejudiced to ignore. For one thing the average value of cattle increases, at once and almost automatically, to an extent which makes the cost of dipping negligible. As a result a great amount of the tick infested areas are now free from ticks.

That these dividends are real, not theoretical, is indicated by a corresponding rise in land values. In one Mississippi county the local authorities were not at first convinced that the eradication of the tick actually had put money into the pockets of the people. An investigation showed that the coming of the boll weevil and the consequent falling off in the cotton crop had greatly depressed farm values. After the tick had been eliminated, the increased profits from live stock were sufficient to restore the price of land to its former level.

The farmers of Mississippi have not been slow to realize the new opportunity. Fifty one counties in the state are now free from ticks, and into these a large number of pure bred animals for breeding purposes have been brought. Both the grand champion international bull and the grand champion junior heifer are owned in the state, and one Mississippi herd has won more prize money than any other herd of the same breed. Not every farmer, of course, can go in for stock of this character, but the improvement in the general run of cattle is very marked. As long as the tick remained, little or no progress was possible because of the susceptibility of imported breeding stock to the fever conveyed by the tick.

Improvement in the quality of the herds is also opening up new sources of revenue. In Mississippi, for example fifteen creameries are now in operation, and through these the sale of more than 1,500,000 pounds of butter have brought the dairymen over $600,000. Baby beef clubs, too, have been organized in many of the tick-free counties. These are having a marked influence upon the beef industry. One boy said that before he joined the baby club he did not know what a fat calf was, for his father never had any such stock.

More profit from better live stock is a prospect that is especially welcome at a time when the boll weevil has demonstrated its ability to interfere seriously with an agriculture based entirely upon the production of cotton. Under any circumstances a single crop system is dangerous, but with the boll weevil it is imperative that there should be more than one source of income. By decreasing the cotton acreage but not necessarily the production of cotton, it is possible to overcome, through extra care and labor, the damage done by the weevil, and in addition more land is available for the production of food for the family and feed for live stock. To make the latter profitable, the tick must be eliminated. Since the boll weevil insists on coming in, the farmer in self protection is insisting on the tick going out.

Seminole County Fair Had Fine Exhibits

President Seth Woodruff of the Orange County Fair Association motored to Sanford yesterday and spent several hours inspecting the exhibits at the Seminole County Fair. Mr. Woodruff was delighted with the completeness and excellence of the exhibits, and reports especially excellent showings in the school exhibit, women's department and the vegetable and citrus exhibits.

A number of Orlando people have attended the Seminole Fair, and all agree that the exhibits make a splendid showing. A committee composed of C. M. Perry and A. V. French will arrange a number of exhibits to be shown at the Seminole Fair, to be displayed at the Big Five County Fair which opens here Feb. 20th. All non-perishable exhibits will be held, Mr. Woodruff states, and together with the fruit and vegetable exhibits will form the Seminole county section of the big fair. Seminole county has already been named as a place for exhibits, and will occupy the east side of the north wing of the main exhibit building as in former years. Orlando seems to

CHAUTAUQUA THIS WEEK AT IMPERIAL

MOST ATTRACTIVE LIST INCLUDES FOUR DAYS AND NIGHTS

Events never cease at Sanford. Last week was the Seminole County Fair and this week the Chautauqua will start on Friday at the Imperial Theatre. The house has been arranged with chairs and lights and will be most comfortable in every way and the audience can be assured of service.

The attractions this season are the best that could be secured for the money and the extremely low rate of $1.50 for the season tickets good for the four days and nights will appeal to every one who wants a high class entertainment at reasonable prices. There will be no reserved seats and those who attend and come early will get the choice of seats. The canvass for the selling of tickets will be carried on this week and it is hoped that every one of them will be sold; for the men who are back of the Chautauqua movement want to have enough money left over to pay off last year's deficit and from the way the tickets are being sold today this will be possible.

Glance over the high class entertainment and lend your assistance to this great movement for better attractions. The Radcliffe Booster Chautauqua means just what the name implies and the Chautauqua does much to inspire the boosting spirit in the different cities where the Chautauqua is held. There is much in the program for inspiration in many ways and those who attend will receive great benefit from every attraction.

Remember the Sanford Chautauqua will start the first number next Friday afternoon in the Imperial Theatre on Magnolia avenue and the course will include Friday, Saturday, Sunday afternoon and Monday afternoon and night.

B'D. OF TRADE BRINGING NEW PEOPLE

LIVE SECRETARY MEETS MANY AND LOCATES THEM HERE

The Sanford Board of Trade is in a most flourishing condition and the regular meeting tonight in the court house should be attended by all the members. The following items gathered here and there through the week demonstrates the good work being done:

This affair and that affair come and go, but your Board of Trade remains with you throughout the year—gets people and more money for you and never spends a cent except for the purpose of increased dividends.

There is not a merchant in Sanford, not a garage, not a business of any kind that the Board of Trade hasn't helped in a financial way of taking customers directly to them—patrons who would have and intended passing on through.

To show you Sanford's possibilities and prospects for a coming season the following is a just a few of the many voluntary comments from tourists who have stopped over this season:

G. M. Appleby, 216 So. 2nd St., Harrisburg, Pa.
"Very nice city and beautiful surrounding country. I am glad now I stopped over. I am coming back to Sanford the coming winter. Hope you will have those promised arrangements."

Mrs. Wm. Peters, Rockwood, Pa.
"I am surprised at your churches, they are all fine, but being a Methodist I attended that church Sunday night. A fine year masters and I think they are the best posted of any I have heard speak down in this country. I am anxious to stay in Sanford for a month or so and expect to do so later in the season."
Herbert E. Jarvis, Huntington, N. Y.

"Utterly surprised since our ride at your city and the fine farms. You people if you fail to make Sanford a tourist center are losing the chance of your life. I'll be back the coming season."
Rev. Geo. J. Zentgraf, 405 West 125th St., New York.

"Am glad that my boat is late. Had no idea Sanford is what it is. Had it not been for the Board of Trade I would never have known we had a church in Sanford and would not have met Rev. O'Riordan, who happens to be an old friend."

Dr. Bowers was also very nice to me and I am glad to have known him. I hope to come back to Sanford for a nice stay next season."

We have numbers of similar statements—people passing through are just beginning to learn of Sanford and Seminole county. Demonstrative progressiveness—its definition is Mr. T. S. Huff of New York, who came to Sanford less than a month ago. He now owns several nice building lots, has a bungalow almost completed and has been a paid up member of the Board of Trade for over three weeks. Lucky Sanford, truly, compared with other cities whose main output was citrus fruit. We ought to be thankful and before we get through we will be.

Mr. L. A. Sheldon of Geneva, a member of the Governors of the Board of Trade was in Sanford yesterday. He is a Geneva booster and a Sanford one, too, for that matter. The Board of Trade members meet in the court house tonight at 8 o'clock. Be sure and be on hand. Other newcomers who appreciate and understand the benefits of the Board of Trade are Chester N. Clarke, New York Life and A. H. Perry of Miami Business College. Talk to these men about a Board of Trade; it will do you good. Both are members and paid up in the Sanford Board of Trade.

Call us up for a large 7-11 Board of Trade membership card. To own one means progressiveness, dignity and respect to the holder. Have you noticed the green signs?

A congenial party that motored to Orlando for luncheon on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mrs. J. Warren Brown, Miss Chaflotte Hand and Mr. S. M. Lloyd.

RELIGIOUS CITY CENSUS OF SANFORD

SHOWS THAT 1563 PEOPLE ARE MEMBERS OF CHURCHES

Sanford is a religious city. This assertion has often been made, especially after the many fine churches here in the process of construction struck the eye of the visitors. The fact that the Christian Endeavorers of the Presbyterian church has taken the banner and silver trophy for being the best in the world and the Baptist Sunday school of this city is the most efficient and best in the state and one of the thirty-four best in the United States demonstrates that the religious training of the children is not being neglected and our city is paying attention to the religious life, the spiritual and mental life of our people.

Therefore when the figures are in from the religious census taken yesterday shows that there are 1563 members of the different churches and Sunday schools in the city it is no more than to be expected. The committee consisting of 48 canvassers took the census of the city Sunday afternoon and the result is very encouraging. The following figures of the census are interesting:

Table with 2 columns: Church Name and Number of Members. Includes Baptist (430), Methodist (421), Presbyterian (228), Congregational (120), Episcopal (114), Catholic (101), and No preference and others (149). Total: 1563.

Another Prize for Lyman. When Howard Lyman returned home Sunday after his strenuous work as director of the Seminole County Fair he found that another prize was awaiting him in the shape of a fine baby boy. A blue ribbon for him.

Among The Theatres

Parisian Modes in Four Big Features

Many attractive gowns in film at Lyric Theatre.

"The Kid," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature which is playing at the Lyric Theatre on Monday is released through the Vitagraph Lubin Selig Essanay. It offers the popular player, Lillian Walker, as its star.

In the production this charming bit of femininity wears a number of very attractive gowns—and too she wears them to excellent advantage. From the man's costume which she is forced to wear in one part of the story to the Parisian dance frock, she is delightful.

The evening dress is made with a high blouse waist and wide ruffles over the shoulder while long wing sleeves are edged with a narrow band of satin. The entire dress is fashioned from a strawberry chiffon and ivory satin. The skirt is a series of wide, full ruffles which is most becoming to this leading star of film-dom.

Accepting the position of a reporter on one of the leading dailies, Miss Walker has her costume take a business aspect. In these scenes she wears a rough tweed suit of grey and white mixture and a black and white striped hat. Her hat is a small turban affair with a band of white ribbon embroidered in black about the edge of the crown.

An afternoon dress is made from taffeta and serge. The color is a Copenhagen blue with a white collar, but when she is in the waist taking a dapper shade than the rest of the outfit. When she is in a white dress she wears a crown with a white band.

Eulalie Jensen, another Vitagraph star, seen to good advantage in the production, also wears attractive gowns in her role in the story.

They are all known to the average theatre goer, who delights in attending them, especially when the guarantee that Cohan and Harris will send their own company of skilled players is added.

Roi Cooper Meagre and Walter Hackett penned "It Pays to Advertise," which tells a breezy, good natured story of the commercial success of a young man. The play is the finest combination of circumstances ever staged, but it is a practical lesson to those who do not believe in the great truth Cyrus Martin quarrels with his son, and the latter goes into business in the new way of strenuous advertising, determined to succeed. He immediately scores a big success and before the advertising campaign is finished, the father is glad to buy into the new firm. Every newspaper publisher and every town knows the man who does not believe in advertising, and when the players glibly tell of the success of the country's most advertised successful business houses, through their respective publicity mediums, they hardly need be anything local in the estimate placed upon the work of the play producers who entertain while proving that every line of business is sure to become stagnant unless it is advertised.

LAW'S HEAVY HAND

BROUGHT ABOUT DOWNFALL OF MAORI "PROPHET."

Slave Who Had Made His Way to a Throne, and Who Claimed Divine Power, Now a Prisoner in New Zealand Jail.

The Maori prophet, who had made his way to a throne, and who claimed divine power, now a prisoner in New Zealand jail, is the subject of a play at the Lyric Theatre, New Zealand, upon certain counts, after a trial of extraordinary length. Rua, his pretensions to divine powers, his temple and stronghold in the wild and almost inaccessible "King country" in northern New Zealand, were the subject of a play at the Lyric Theatre, New Zealand, upon certain counts, after a trial of extraordinary length.

One of the most interesting chapters in the history of New Zealand.

Rua first attracted attention about ten years ago. He set himself up as a prophet of Messiah in the Epwera district, which is near the Bay of Plenty on the north island of the island.

His first converts were the Maori people, but he had to be driven from his headquarters by the natives of a chief, and in addition he mixed with native superstition a mixture of Christian belief. He was a man of great energy and his converts were many.

At Maunapohatu a native hamlet he was captured and he was attended by a bodyguard. Here, although he had a large following, he was captured and he was attended by a bodyguard.

It was a "dry" winter and something which got the "prophet" into trouble. To make things worse, his converts were without permission and they were against the law, and when Rua was convicted of having done this he had to serve a jail sentence. Several indictments upon the same score were hanging over his head when he was released and returned to Maunapohatu, but upon his being summoned to answer to them he defied the authorities.

Finally a strong force of police was sent to Maunapohatu. Rua and his followers put up a desperate fight. Two Maoris were killed, and a number were wounded in the rifle, fire, and four policemen were wounded. Rua's resistance with teeth, fists and feet, was captured.

Rua's trial occupied 47 days. He was convicted of resisting the police, but was acquitted of having used seditions language. On two other counts the jury disagreed.

Lake Geneva Water. For 20 years French engineers have had in mind plans for bringing to Paris the inexhaustible water of the lake of Geneva, called also Lake Lemman, of the frontier of France and Switzerland. This project, which made considerable noise for some time, has now been entirely postponed, and the reason, therefore, is said to be due to the discovery that the fine waters of the lake, so beautiful to look upon, are infected by worms which the Parisians, now that they have been instructed, will not willingly tolerate. If these worms can be successfully disposed of the greatest water-carrying scheme that Europe has ever known will follow. With this prospect of many leagues on the east and the tunnel under the straits of Dover on the west, also in contemplation, it appears that French enterprise is not wholly unaided by the world.

Swiss a Musical People. The Swiss are a musical people, and their music is a blend of the old and the new. They have a rich musical heritage, and their music is a reflection of their history and culture.

Awful Strain. It is said to be an awful strain on a man's system to be a trawler in the North Sea.

Few Suicides Among Miners. Statistics show that there are fewer suicides among miners than among any other class of workers.

THE RECENT FREEZE

The recent freeze only adds more cannot be absolutely controlled your proof of the value of the Sanford sub-irrigated farms over any other program. Not so here in Sanford, Florida property as an investment.

Last week I lost my lettuce crop. Sanford and the recent freeze is the worst I have had in that time. But all that I have had to do is to show my customers the same facts. That the loss of a crop by frost is a bad matter, but it is not a disaster. We control moisture, wet or dry, our land as required, and soon make up any loss.

On our Sanford sub-irrigated farms we average three crops per season. That is, one crop still gives us a third crop opportunity to make money and cover any damage at all to our profit or original investment.

Not so with any other crop. A citrus grove pays well when it goes well. A freeze means the loss of a crop and that means a whole year. On land not irrigated where the conditions can be controlled, you can be of service to your customer.

Keeping Alive by Means of the Dead.
An officer, relating some incidents of war in connection with the task which the Canadians had to carry out on ground previously held by Australians, states that the Canadians had been there nine days when they found in a shell hole, far ahead of where the front line had been, three Australians, two wounded and one unhurt.
The three had pushed out by themselves into enemy country, when they were caught by shell fire, and two were wounded. The third dragged them into the shell hole, and sat there with them. To come out in daylight was impossible, so all day he sat there, and looked after the other two, and at night he snuggled up to them, and got water bottles and rations from the German dead which lay around.
And thus he had kept his two pals alive. One of the two wounded is doing well, but the other's wound has, unfortunately, become septic.

BRUSHING AWAY THE TACKS

A revolving brush has been devised for sweeping aside small objects likely to puncture an automobile tire. Attached to the axle is a framework, holding the brush and gear wheels are so mounted that the brush is turned in the opposite direction as it passes over the ground and clears the path for the tired wheel.—Popular Science Monthly.

Kin Folks And Friends!

I have Ten Fingers - and Ten Toes - and a Host of Friends

I have ten fingers and ten toes. I can count that much, but I just can't count all my good friends down South here—they are far too many.

And I'm mighty proud of them. The men who make me, say you can tell real quality by the company one keeps. Blood will tell. A good name and good breeding count most of all.

And that same, I reckon, applies to cigarettes, too. More and more gentlemen of the South are smoking me, SOVEREIGN, every day, because they know I come from good old Virginia and Carolina stock—the finest, grandest stock in all the world.

Quality is the thing, friend—you can't deny it. And I stand for Quality.

You Folks of the South KNOW good blood!
You Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco!

That's why I am so loved among you all down here. So I am proud to say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. —Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

Smart and Useful Skirt.

smart. It is a one-piece plaited model with straight lower edge, which makes it suitable for flouncings and bordered materials as well as the plain serge in which it is developed. The skirt is made with high waistline and closes to the left of center-front under a plait. In medium size it requires 2 3/4 yards 54-inch serge.

The most inexperienced will admit that nothing could be simpler than the cutting of this skirt as indicated by the cutting guide. Both the skirt and the piecing are laid on a lengthwise fold of material, reducing the seams to a minimum. The single large "O" perforations in the pocket are laid on a lengthwise thread.

It takes but little longer to make the skirt than it does to cut it. If desired with a pocket, slash along crossline of 3 small "o" perforations and bind the edges. Arrange 2 pocket sections together, corresponding edges-even. Stitch around the edges, forming a bag, leaving edge having small "o" perforation free. Sew pocket to opening in skirt.

Slash to the left of center-front between the two large "O" perforations and finish edges for a pocket.

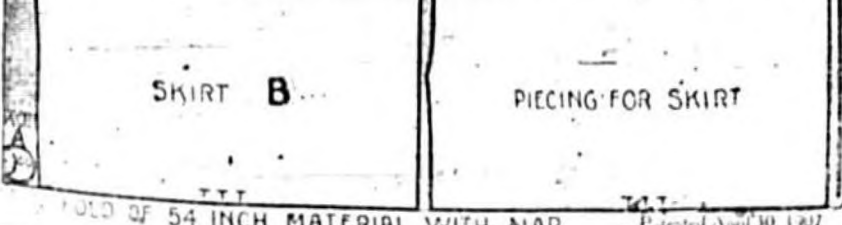

Form plaits, creasing on lines of slot perforations, bring folded edges to corresponding lines of single small "o" perforations; and bring the folded edges each side of the knees of double "oo" perforations, over to the double "oo" perforations, forming inverted plaits. Stitch plaits 3/8 inch from folded edges and press.

This is also an effective model for velveteen.

A one-piece plaited skirt suitable to development in serge, broadcloth or velveteen. The adjustment is effected at the left side under a large plait.

The main charm of this skirt lay in the fact that it is both useful and Well, what do you say now?

Seminole county is still in the running.
Nothing like a county fair to find out who you are and what you have.

The displays at the fair this week have opened the eyes of those who thought there was a freeze.
It is a cinch that Seminole county can recover from a hard winter than any...

and county and have gone ahead and made it a grand affair. They had their troubles and their kicks and knocks but they went ahead just the same and carried the banner to victory. There are always some people in every community who do things and Sanford has some. Otherwise there would be no Sanford or Seminole county.

Sanford is to have a million and a half dollar hotel. Wonder if Bob Holly will have the right to sit on its front veranda to pick his teeth.
Wauchula Advocate.
We knew something would happen to George Gussby if he attended the Press Breakfast at Tampa. That hotel is to be built at Sarasota and not Sanford, that is not this year. Next year, maybe, George, and then we will sit in the dining room all right and have our board paid for a year.

In orange growing, as in any other industry, the wide awake, energetic, fore handed man is the man who achieves success, and turns adversity to his advantage. When the cold came, this type of man was prepared for it. He had covered his trees with frostproof covers, and his grove and saved his fruit, thus insuring a big price, while his less provident neighbor suffers a total loss. No one should engage in citrus growing without a thorough realization of the fact, that at some time, maybe next year, maybe not for ten years, cold may have to be combated. Accepting it on this condition, the citrus grower, in the citrus industry, may be engaged in work of little value, or of no value at all.

Judge Wendler Here Much of the success of the poultry exhibit at the Seminole County Fair is due to the efforts of Dr. J. H. Wendler of Babes, Florida, one of the greatest chicken fanciers and poultry judges in the south. Dr. Wendler is judge of the poultry show here this week and also has a bunch of fine Barred Rocks on display. He knows poultry as no other man and is a booster for the best in stock of every kind. He is engaged in the nursery business and fine poultry at Bulow and is a most interesting man in many ways. If you want to know anything about poultry, chat with Dr. Wendler and he will teach you something. His Barred Rocks are known from coast to coast and he even ships them to foreign countries. The Fair Association is indebted to Dr. Wendler in many ways and appreciate his efforts in behalf of better stock.

Crowds Flocking Tonight and tomorrow will be the last chance of seeing Baby Zara, the monkey girl and pronounced by the greatest physicians in the country as the world's greatest freak of nature. Col. C. J. Lauther, the genial manager of this well known side show is not only offering the monkey girl as one of his main attractions but the Electrical Girl, Volat who stands and allows twenty three hundred amperes to pass through her body and in these two shows alone, if none others were offered would be well worth the admission.

The above two are just mentioned merely to inform the public that these two show alone have been making the people flock in droves to see for themselves what the press and public have been saying of these two people. Ten other shows are also included in Col. Lauther's big show and one will be more than satisfied after seeing the rest of the show. The fortune teller, the glass blower, the man killing monkey, and last but not least the cigarette fiend. The cigarette habit would soon be abolished by those who use it if they would get into a conversation with this fiend.

Baby Parade the Beauty Show

The prettiest and most attractive event of the Fair is always the annual Baby Parade, which is held under the auspices of the Woman's Club. This year was no exception to the rule, about the weather conditions which prevailed until Wednesday and a misunderstanding with reference to the postponement of the Better Baby contest prevented the usually large number of entries, but it was a real beauty show for all that, with many of Sanford's loveliest babies competing for the prizes in beautifully decorated equipages. The prizes were awarded solely on the decorations. The judges always find it a difficult matter to decide on the merits of the decorations, having to consider all the details, but had the awarding of prizes been made on the beauty of the little ones each child in this parade would have had the prize, for without exception they were beautiful children, handsome and healthy looking.

Artistic taste and originality was shown in the pretty display of carriages, go carts and floats. A goodly crowd of spectators gathered in the park and along the line of march and many expressions of admiration were heard as the parade in review from the park where it formed, to the Seminole County Bank on First street where the prizes were presented by Mr. C. R. Walker, president of the Seminole County Fair Association.

The prizes were given by the Welfare Department. Paying his compliments to the Woman's Club and the mothers whose cooperation in this annual event means so much to the town and the club, he eulogized the babies and threw bouquets at the Sanford Board of Trade in presenting the prizes for floats to "Miss Seminole, the youngest member of the Board of Trade," saying "that she represented the most active organization in the United States." Carol, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Marlow sat with composed dignity upon her float, cozily ensconced among Indian blankets and decorated with rows upon rows of beads and a head band from which floated the feathers of the Seminole tribe. The float was surrounded with American flags and bore above the banner "Miss Seminole" and on the side the inscription "The Youngest Member of the Board of Trade."

The parade was led by little Miss Ruth Moses, the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moses of New York and grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moses whose winter home is in Sanford. The tiny lady was a charming production of a girl of the Colonial period, wearing a becoming and quaint dress of floral design over a hoop skirt and long pantalettes. A cunning little bonnet of that period, white mittens and an old-fashioned basket of roses completed the daintiest picture that ever stepped from a pilled frame. She was awarded the individual prize.

To Master Braxton Lee Perkins, Jr., was awarded the carriage prize. The bright looking little fellow rode in a perfectly appointed carriage of yellow and white, the arrangement of harmonious colors covering the body of the carriage completely. A big bow of tulle surmounted the arch overhead which was neatly entwined with ferns. Batteries in delicate shades of yellow and gold completed the charming effect.

With great fanfare arranged to represent a prancing pair of steeds and with broad white ribbons for reins, the pretty pink and white cart of Master Wm. Gillen was awarded the prize for that class. The handsome young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Gillen was very attractive as he twirled his whip and drove that team to victory.

The prizes were of equal value and going to each class. The winners are listed and second prizes.

The dainty, flower-like beauty of Martha Coleman, the tiny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop was offset by the pretty pink and white appointments of her carriage. This received a blue ribbon, as did also the charming red and green carriage in which rode the attractive little son, Edwin Darnelle, of Dr. and Mrs. Brownlee.

Dorothy Andree Friend, in a lovely gown of white was a much admired little lady in the parade who received a blue ribbon, while another blue ribbon award was made to little Lucy Lewis, whose pretty blue eyes vied with the delicate blue forget-me-nots that adorned her dainty coat of state and blue.

To Mrs. H. C. Geroff, chairman of the Baby Parade committee is due the credit of the attractive event. The judges were Mrs. F. E. Steinhilber, Mrs. Geo. H. Homan and Dr. J. W. Coleman.

Citrus Trees Damaged by Cold
When excessively low temperature has occurred in the citrus region the bark of the trees is quite likely to split, if very cold even the trunks of the trees may split. The first step should be in the direction of taking care of the injury as far as possible. Frequently the bark is not all dead even when a split has occurred. Death sometimes follows as a result of drying out after the freezing.

The first step to prevent excessive injury would be to bind the bark up as carefully and securely as possible. After the bark has been bound up and put in as good condition as possible, banking the trunk will do much toward preventing excessive loss of moisture. When trees are treated in this way care must be taken to protect the injured portion against invasion by rot fungi and attacks from insects and other pests. Antiseptic solutions applied to the injured portion will do much in this direction. Trash and other rotting stuff should not be included in the bank. This is the first step in providing "first aid to the injured."

No one should be in great haste about cutting off the injured portion. If one is certain that the tops and branches are all dead it is well to cut the dead material away. However, the most experienced persons make mistakes in the direction of cutting out branches and even cutting off entire trunks that have been left quite uninjured, and in this way add a good deal to the damage to the tree. As soon as the new growth shows definitely the extent of the injury all the dead wood should be cut out and immediately burned. This is done as a precautionary measure to keep down melon and witherip. Both of these fungi grow readily in dead citrus wood.

All the sprouts that come out from the trunk or from the root should be allowed to grow. The very large root system needs all the leaf surface that can be furnished it to keep it in the best of health.

A citrus tree whether sick or well, responds readily to good methods of cultivation. The methods of cultivation will be quite variable for different classes of soils and different groves. Whatever will keep the soil in a mellow condition and keep it moist during excessive drouth usually produces the best growth. Cultivation of trees should be continued as would have been the case if the grove had not been injured by cold.

Many trees have been recently fertilized and these will not need another application until large top growth has been produced. Many groves, however, have received the minimum amount of fertilizer; to stimulate healthy growth and produce a maximum amount of healthy wood it will be necessary to apply fertilizer to such trees. The amount to be applied will vary with the condition of the trees before the freeze. If the trees have shown that they were abundantly supplied with plant food an additional amount will probably be of little value. If, however, the yellowing of the leaves and the condition of the fruit have shown that the trees were needing fertilizer, it would be profitable to make an application. Those trees that have shown a decided yellowing of the leaves will need approximately a full dose of fertilizer. Most citrus trees after injury by cold need only the amount of element in the fertilizer. P. H. Rolfs, Agricultural Experimental Station.

Gerard as Hostage

Washington, Feb. 8. Reports that German authorities have decided to hold Ambassador Gerard in Berlin until assured of good treatment of Count Von Bernstorff by the Washington government, injected a new element into the German-American situation today. Officials were hopeful, however, that Great Britain's promise of safe conduct for the German Ambassador and his party for the sea trip home will speedily remove any possible intention of retaining the American representative. Confirmation of the reported detention was sought at the state department today.

The government is still waiting for some act of Germany which might make relations suddenly more serious, but it was stated last night after the cabinet meeting that nothing had occurred to change that attitude. The next step of the United States, if one should be necessary will be taken without addressing any communication to Germany, it was declared authoritatively.

Congress and all executive departments of the government were progressing today in their preparation for any eventuality.

It is this activity which has surprised entente diplomats, and caused them today to emphasize their hope that the United States will not actually go to war. They fear a declaration of war would harm the entente cause by stopping the export of munitions.

The state department today hoped to receive early replies from some neutrals to President Wilson's proposal that they join the United States in severing relations with Germany, but it was indicated that no such word had been received so far.

A break with Austria seemed to depend mainly on the reply of Ambassador Penfield at Vienna to the state department's inquiries concerning details of the Austrian submarine note, which officials now admit has been received.

Secretary Daniels today urged immediate congressional action looking to establishment of a government monopoly of all radio plants. Agents of the army quartermaster's department were canvassing the market for purchase of large stocks of supplies, under orders from Secretary Baker.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston reported that his department's data showed conclusively that the United States could be self sustaining if anything should happen to cut her off from the world.

In the senate the resolution approving the break with Germany was to be called up today.

The naval bill, with its $15,000,000 additions made by the house yesterday was still before that body today, and debate on the army bill is likely to start late this week, following passage of the naval measure.

Berlin Ridicules Wilson

Berlin, Feb. 8, via London. The afternoon newspapers devote columns to news from America.

Editorially the papers lay particular stress on President Wilson's move to induce Switzerland and other neutrals to follow his lead. The comment is temperate in general, although President Wilson personally is more sharply attacked than before, and his peace efforts are ridiculed as utterly inconsistent with what is termed his attempts to foment more trouble in Europe.

By a curious coincidence almost every paper takes occasion to reiterate the allegation that President Wilson's every act has been induced by his insistence that Americans shall be allowed to travel unendangered on entente ships.

Several papers repeatedly refer to this as the chief cause of the trouble between the two countries and here and there an almost plaintive note makes its appearance as the editors ask why President Wilson could not accept the German offer to allow one American ship weekly to go to England.

The papers are frankly enthusiastic over the prospects that Switzerland and other neutrals will not fall in line behind President Wilson and it is pointed out that the difference between the position of America and that of the European neutrals makes it probable that the President will have any success in securing followers.

In this respect the papers emphasize announcements showing the inclination of the government to ameliorate the lot of neutrals as far as possible, as for example the alteration of the blockaded area so that Holland might have an outlet and the furnishing of coal to Denmark.

Papers like the Vossische Zeitung and the Lokal Anzeiger which heretofore have handled the American situation most temperately, show a tendency to adopt the tone once taken by the pan-German press.

At the same time the Tages Zeitung and journals of a similar coloring are milder than ever before in the expression of their views. They have abandoned baiting America and are devoting themselves to assuring their readers that the German decision is final and a step toward an ultimate and speedy story.

A Three Day Whirlwind of Things Worth While

You Will Get Up Early and Go to Bed Late, but You Will Have Had a Grand, Good Time and Will Never Forget It

Four Things Will Be Given Tremendous Emphasis:

- 1. COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION 2. BETTER SCHOOLS 3. INCREASED FARM PRODUCTION 4. GOOD CITIZENSHIP

1. COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION Get together and pull together. A BOOSTERS CLUB of live, determined business men, who will lay aside petty self-interest, and work together for the general good, will put this town on the map, and it will stay there. Pull together to make our town more attractive. Pull together and bring our boys and girls to realize that in the development of our national resources, in promoting more scientific farming, in making better schools, in building better roads, in developing manufacturing enterprises, in bringing in up-to-date methods of merchandising, and in countless other ways of community-building, there are opportunities right in the "old home town" for a career of usefulness such as can not be found elsewhere.

BE A BOOSTER It Isn't Your Town—It's YOU If you want to live in the kind of a town you like. Like the kind of a town you like. You needn't slip your clothes in a grip and start on a long, long hike. You'll only find what you left behind. For there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town. It isn't your town—it's YOU.

3. INCREASED FARM PRODUCTION The empty Market Baskets of the World are coming to America. Can we fill them? Bring our farmers into closer touch with the United States Department of Agriculture for the purpose of obtaining expert, practical advice on farm problems, such as Fertilization, Rotation of Crops, Intensive Cultivation, Farm Labor, Farm Management, Marketing, Etc.

4. GOOD CITIZENSHIP If you respond to the needs of your town with what your town needs from YOU, then to realize what your vocation may be, you are, indeed, a good citizen. When a dozen such citizens get together they can resurrect a town from the dead and make it an ideal town to live in. Environment creates tendencies. What is the environment of the boys and girls of our town? Ideals and Amusements affect Character. Impure water, foul closets, filthy back yards, merchandise unprotected from flies, affect Health. We don't want any more Typhoid Fever, Malaria, Diphtheria, in our town. Paint and lime are two of the greatest disinfectants ever discovered. Let us paint up our residences and stores, and whitewash trees, fences and outhouses. It will make a healthier and prettier town.

2. BETTER SCHOOLS Ignorance tends to poverty and poverty tends to crime. The majority of the law-breakers and criminals in our county jail are illiterate. Education prevents crime. It costs less to give a boy a good education and start him on a useful career than it would cost later on to give him a trial and execute him for committing a crime; and the result is more satisfactory. We want our town to have as good schools as can be found in the State.
