AUSTRIA, GERMANY AND ITALY VERSUS RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Lineup of the Great Powers Behind Austria's Army on One Side and the Army about 40,000, has adopted the more of Servia on the Other

ITH tense interest the whole world is watching the development of the situation between Austria and Servia. What shall be its immediate result. what its flual outcome? Although Servia backed down on July 25, will this quarrel between neighbors extend beyond its original territory and eventually involve all the great powers of Enrope in a general war?

That Austria would be supported by Germany should Russia decide upon hostile measures in support of Servia was considered absolutely certain, Both Austria and Germany are next door neighbors of Russia and are united in the common interest of preventing Slav expansion and aggression in the Balkan peninsula, Whether Italy, the third power in the triple alliance, would actively support Austria was a question open to speculation. It is true that the terms of the alliance make it practically obligatory for Italy to lend its support to Austria and Germany in the event of a war with Russia, but it is believed by many that owing to Italy's close relations to Montenegro, which is outspokenly friendly to Russia, and in view of certain internal conditions Italy may remain neutral, Whether England and France, the other great western powers, would even tually side with Russia was a question of deep concern to all Europe. France, being a rather close ally of Russia and naturally hostile to Germany, may consider this a welcome opportunity to seek redress from its hereditary for for the taking away of Alsace-Lorraine in 1870-1 and may enter into the genetal mixop with that end in ylew.

Attitude of Minor Powers.

That an outbreak of hostilities between Austria and Servia may arouse a sympathetic wave among the bel AUSTRIA'S ULTIMATUM.

The Austrian ultimatum to Servia contained the following demands: First.-The Servian government must publish official disavowal of its connection with anti-Austrian propaganda. Second.-The Servian government must make a vigorous investigation of the part played by Slave in the assessination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his wife.

Third. Servia must suppress all the pan-Slavio societies which are carrying on a political campaign against Austria.

Fourth.-Servia must suppress. the activities of Slavio agents in Bosnia and Herzegovina who are working for the detachment of territory from Austria.

ligerent and intensely clannish peoples of the Balkan peninsula is extremely likely. Montenegro has already an nounced that it will give its support to Servia, and this may prompt the other minor powers of the Balkans to take sides in accordance with their racial, religious and political interests, Roumania, at one time a stanch ally of Russia, is no longer friendly to that power-at least, not to the extent of fighting for it. It is believed that Roumania will remain neutral in the fight and will carefully guard its territ ganized men. tory against encroachments by either of the hostile powers. Only in the event that Bulgaria should decide upon giving active support to Austria is it believed that Roumania would abandon its neutrality and attack Bulgaria. Turkey, Greece and the other eastern powers of Europe may not be drawn into the conflict in the beginning, but jealousy and batred between the Mohammedan and the Christian elements struggling for supremacy in that part of Europe it is doubtful that they will remain neutral through the entire con-

The Strength-of the Armies.

Germany, with 316 ships in her navy and an estimated war strength of land forces amounting to 2,250,000 men. leads the nations involved in military power. Russia is next, with 166 ships and an estimated fighting force of 1,845,000 men. Austria has 114 ships and can probably put 1.500,000 men in the field if necessary.

Of the sea fighters Germany has 2 battleships to Russia's 9 and Austria 13; 103 torpedo boats of all classes to Russia's 203 and Austria's 72; 23 submarines to Russia's 20 and Austria's 6. The rest of the naval strength is confined to cruisers, eliminating the nonfighting craft in the three navies.

Russia's standing army in peace is not much less in numbers than her war strength, being 1,500,000 men. Germany supports 672,000 men in her army at all times, Austria has 425.881 and Servia 30.038. All require continuous military service, Russia's demands being the greatest, with a term of from three to four and one-third years.

During the last few years Russia's entire army has been reorganized, rearmed and reclothed, and a new navy is in course of construction.

While Austria can put an army of 1,500,000 in the field, there are also available for duty 3.000,000 unor-

League Games In Saskatchewan Begin at 7:15 q'Clock in Regina and Terminate at 10.

Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan province, with a population of daylight plan of moving the hands of the clock forward one hour. The change went into effect May 1 and will continue up to October 1. As a result, the baseball games start at 7:15. It will be possible then to continue play up to 10 o'clock.

.The crowds are composed of about three-quarters men and one-quarter women rooters, and average about 1,300 a game the year around. It is an everyday sight to see fifty or sixty automobiles lined up along the right and left field foul lines. And how thesa automobiles do root! Every noisemaking instrument known is brought into play to cheer on one of the home boys. A good play by a visitor also brings out a round of ap-

'A peculiar situation turned up at Regina a few days ago. In the ninth Inning against Saskatoon Regina had men, on first and second, with one man out and the score 5 to 4 against them. Jack Smith laid down a bunt which the pitcher, Cadreau, threw into the bleachers. Both runners scored, apparently winning the game, but, owing to the ground rule which permitted only two bases on a wild throw, Umpire Colgate ruled that only one run had scored, and the other could not pass third base. In the meantime the crowd rushed on the field and carried off the players, and it was impossible to resume play. As it stood the score was a tie, man on second and third and one out.

President Fleming, to whom the matter was finally referred, ordered the game played over, owing to the fact that the crowd was allowed to rush on the field and prevent further

TYRUS COBB'S CRACKED RIBS

Georgia Peach, Panned for His "Viclous" Sliding, Gives His Own Version of the Matter.

Speaking of Ty Cobb's ribs, the rea base, reminds me of an incident concerning that wizard of the paths. Cobb has always been panned all around the American ring for his "vicious"

The Tigers had played this day at the Yankee park. As usual Ty had slid into some baseman and the evening papers had taken him to task because of his "deliberate spiking." That night Cobb was playing billiards at his friend, John Doyle's. The question of his base sliding was talked of Suddenly Cobb dropped his cue, and facing a half hundred fans-some for him, but most against him-he sald:

"They say I cut men down purposely on the bases. I play the game to win. I can't help it if they block my way. When I'm coming into a base feet foremost, I have the right of way. It's the rule of baseball. But I want all you men to bear witness that Ty Cobb doesn't do all the cutting. down. Just look here boys," and Ty sat on the billiard table and pulled up both trouser legs to his knees. Each leg was cut from ankle to knee in a frightful way. Hardly an inch of whole skin remained uncut or bruised. "And they say I deliberately cut men down. I'm spiked nearly every time I go into a base, but they never say anything about that because they don't know about it. I've cried from the pain hundreds of times after games when they cauterized deep spike cuts in the dressing room. So you see there's always two sides to a story."

Cobb went back to his billiards.

Why "Rebel" Oakes Jumped. Rebel Oakes, now manager of the Pittsburgh Rebels, says that he jumped to the Federal league last winter owing to the fact that the St. Louis club-in spite of the fact that he played great ball last year, and had a good offer from the Federal leagueoffered him exactly the same salary as he was paid in 1913. He adds: "I gness Huggins would like to have Evans and myself around that Card camp right now."

Kenworthy's Batting Record.

In one afternoon against the Tip Tops, Kenworthy of the Kansas City team managed to fill in between idle moments with a versatile display. He made two home runs and a single, scored three times, accepted 11 chances in the field without an error, was in two double plays, made one sacrifice hit, stole three bases, and. helped his team take two games,
