BRIEFS

Bush says he'll take it easy

WASHINGTON — President Bush, conceding he's been tired, is following his doctors' advice to slow down and heading for his Maine vacation home for the first extended holiday since his thyroid condition was diagnosed.

Bush said Thursday he plans to get in a good deal of golfing and fishing — but doubts he'll resume running yet — during his 4½-day stay at his ocean-side home in Kennebunkport beginning today.

The president said the drugs he's taking for his overactive thyroid have made him a bit sluggish. But if that was true, it wasn't noticeable as he held two separate news conferences on Thursday.

"So yeah, I've been tired and medicine has been known to do that to people," Bush told reporters at the second event of the day.

"But now I'm back, 100 percent snap back, and sharp as a tack and ready to field the most tough questions, and do it rapidly," he said, deliberately running the last three words together in jest.

Sanford flies to Paradise

Daily passenger service to Bahamas begins June 10

By NICK PFENPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Beginning Monday, June 10, daily round-trip passenger service will begin between the Sanford Regional Airport and Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

The flights will initiate the beginning of operations in the refurbished terminal area of the facility.

Steve Cooke, Director of Aviation for the Sanford Airport Authority said the 4 engine dash-7 aircraft, capable of carrying 50 passengers, will depart from Sanford at either 8 or 8:30 a.m. seven days a week, and return by 8:30 p.m. each evening. The destination is a private airfield on Paradise Island, owned and operated by Resorts International, in which TV personality Merv Griffin is involved. The dash-7 aircraft, with regular rather than jet engines, was chosen because of its ability to land on relatively short runways used on the island.

Cooke explained what Resorts International will be offering. "People will start out with the plane trip from Sanford. Then it's two days and one night at the beautiful hotel in Paradise Island.

Free tennis and golf is included, as well as a cocktail reception, bus tour of the island, and $10 worth of chips for the casino, plus other items. It all concludes with the flight back to Sanford."

Cooke explained that the price of the entire package has been set at $229 per person. "There are similar flights from other airports to other areas in the Bahamas," he said, but the cost is almost twice that amount. Cooke said the reason the price is lower for the Sanford operation is due to the good deal made with the Sanford airport for the service. The aircraft will stay overnight in

Seminole High students honored in ceremonies

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Though the program said it was the SCC Fine Arts auditorium, it was the Seminole High School auditorium. And it was awards night.

Wooden trophies, over six feet tall, stood beside each entrance to the building, bidding family and friends to come inside.

Those in attendance were there by invitation only. They packed the cheery blue and ecru theatre to see their loved ones honored by administrators and community leaders from Dave Farr, director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, to Mickey Mouse.

The Mouse was on hand to present the Walt Disney World Company Scholarship to Lalanita A. Arnold. In addition to the college scholarship, she received a trophy bearing the famous rodent's likeness.

A quartet of Magic Kingdom musicians played the Mickey Mouse Club song and started the room clapping.

The audience burst into applause after each student was called to the stage to accept his or her honor.

COMSAC, the school's alumni association, presented eight scholarships.

"We're very proud to present scholarships to these students who have worked very hard to uphold the Seminole High School spirit," Billy Higgins, COMSAC president, said.

SCC paving way for its new entry

By NICK PFENPAUF

SANFORD — A combined governmental attempt is underway toward construction of Hospital Road, to be a new entrance to Seminole Community College.

The area however, is not currently a road. It is a privately owned area used as a right of way for FPL power lines.

The proposed road would follow the power line area and run south from Lake Mary Boulevard. When built it would extend south to Weldon Blvd.

The Board of Trustees of the Seminole Community College is seeking a joint resolution from the City of Sanford, Seminole County Commission, and the City of Lake Mary. The Board is calling for the creation of a committee comprised of persons representing each of the groups, to develop a mutually agreeable method of funding for right-of-way acquisition and road construction.

SANFORD — The Seminole County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hold its annual awards banquet tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Altamonte Springs.

Tickets for the event are still available for $30 per person and may be purchased from any member of the NAACP in Seminole County.

Turner Clayton, president of the local chapter, said that this year's event promises to be the largest in the chapter's 53 year history.

"The community has been very involved with helping our chapter and the people of Seminole County this year," said Clayton.

Awards will be given to those people and organizations who have done what Clayton calls "the most outstanding work with the Seminole County chapter" over the last 12 months.

Accolades will be presented for the individual or organization who had contributed most in the area of humanitarian work, for the person who had

Memorial Day's observances underway

By NICK PFENPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Although Monday has only one title, Memorial Day, it is actually a day for many observances. In Sanford, one of the major events will be Monday's annual Memorial Day Parade and services at Veterans Park on the lakefront. Other events throughout Seminole County include those to be held at cemeteries some beginning as soon as this evening.

The observance first started near the conclusion of the Civil War, as a day of memorial for those killed in battle. As the event grew and took shape nationwide, it expanded to become a day for placing flowers on graves of all people not just veterans. Thus the original name of Decoration Day. It was changed to Memorial Day by presidential proclamation in 1948.

As they have in many previous years, the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 53 started selling poppies at various locations this morning, to raise money to help finance a number of veteran assistance projects. Sanford locations include Winn Dixie, Publix and Wal-Mart

Memorial Day closings for Monday

City and county government operations will all be closed Monday in observance of the Memorial Day holiday. This includes all five branches of the Seminole County Library, and the Sanford Recreation Department facilities. Customer services at all postal facilities will also be closed Monday.

The Seminole Branch of the YMCA, 655 Longwood Lake Mary Road will close its offices but the swimming pool will be open for member use. The Central Florida Zoological Park will also be open Monday.

Garbage pickups will not be done Monday. In Sanford, the public works department plans to handle Monday pickups on Tuesday, and Tuesday pickups on Wednesday. Following the two day change, everything will return

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Chameleons subpoenaed

TAMPA — Margaret and Korrado, a pair of chameleons, were subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury, but it was an apparent case of mistaken identity.

Federal agents were looking for Fiji Island iguanas when they spotted the pair of Parsons chameleons in the back yard of a Lake Panasoffkee reptile dealer.

"I guess they don't know the difference," said Dennis Cunningham, who carried the pair of Madagascar lizards in their cages to the courthouse with him Wednesday.

The manager of Tom Crutchfield's Reptile Enterprises Inc. said prosecutors realized their mistake and told him he didn't have to bring them into the grand jury room, but Cunningham said the subpoena specified two lizards and he insisted on bringing them with him.

A U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service agent came to the Cunningham home last week asking to see the "iguanas" in his yard. Cunningham refused to let the agents in, and two days later he received the subpoena.

Injured dolphin put to sleep

FORT LAUDERDALE — A female dolphin that washed ashore after apparently being attacked by sharks was put to sleep at Ocean World.

The 9½-foot dolphin had been treated at Ocean World in Fort Lauderdale, where it was taken after being found Tuesday on Delray Beach, but the dolphin was too badly injured.

The dolphin apparently was attacked by one or two sharks while sleeping, said Dr. Scott Gearhart, Ocean World's veterinarian and curator.

The National Marine Fisheries Service, the Southeastern U.S. Marine Stranding Network and Gearhart all decided the chances of the dolphin surviving were slim.

"It's really sad," he said Thursday. "It's the worst part of my job to do something like that, but it's really the most humane thing I could do for her."

Restoration may stop for turtles

JUPITER ISLAND — Jupiter Island's beach restoration was so successful it has attracted hundreds of nesting loggerhead turtles — and now the state says the project must stop to protect them.

The island's frustrated Town Council doesn't agree, and members asked Cabinet aides in Tallahassee on Wednesday to issue a Department of Natural Resources permit to renourish a 5,000-foot stretch of beach this summer.

Jupiter Island — which before restoration averaged only 40 to 50 turtle nests a mile and now has 700 to 1,000 — is the second largest concentration of loggerhead nests in the state. The endangered green and leatherback turtles also nest there.

But it loses 300,000 cubic yards of sand a year from oceanfront property and has had five renourishment projects in the past 20 years.

Bush to nominate two as federal judges

WASHINGTON — President Bush will nominate U.S. Magistrate Harvey E. Schlesinger of Jacksonville and a Florida appeals court judge as federal judges in the Middle District of Florida.

Schlesinger handled the pretrial motions in the cocaine-smuggling trial of Colombian drug kingpin Carlos Lehder Rivas, who is now awaiting a life term for his convictions.

Schlesinger also is an adjunct professor at the University of North Florida. If confirmed by the Senate, he would succeed Howell W. Melton, who presided over Lehder's trial.

Bush also said Thursday he is naming Ralph W. Nimmons Jr. of Tallahassee to a new position in the same district. Nimmons has served on the state's 1st District Court of Appeal since 1983. He must be confirmed by the Senate to take his seat on the federal bench.

Cities pay electric bills late

MIAMI — The state utilities' biggest procrastinators at paying their bills are largely exempt from Florida Power & Light's new late-payment penalty, documents show.

The delinquents, for whom the penalty was intended, turn out to be Florida's municipalities.

Documents show that nearly one-half of FPL's governmental accounts were more than 30 days late last year, compared to one-in-four residential or commercial accounts, according to The Miami Herald.

However, the new late charges approved by the Public Service Commission and instituted in March can't be applied in full to municipal accounts.

Under the new rules, a 1.5 percent charge is applied to a residential or commercial bill the day after the bill is due. An additional 1.5 percent charge on the amount in arrears is charged for every 30 day period after the due date.

Municipal lawyers have pointed out that, under state law, utilities must wait 45 days before dunning a governmental customer, then give it 15 days notice, then submit a separate bill. Even then, the penalty cannot exceed 1 percent.

As the long-term project to widen Lake Mary Boulevard progresses to accommodate the ever-increasing traffic in the area, lanes near the old roadbed are upgraded, cut up and hauled off.

Violent crimes continue to increase

By GARY ANASTASIA
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's crime rate fell slightly in 1990, but officials were alarmed at a 10.4 percent spike in violent offenses that Gov. Lawton Chiles said feeds the state's dangerous image.

"Our communities must pull together to take ownership of our deplorable crime problems if we are to lick them," Chiles said Thursday. "Besides being a cause for concern, it is an embarrassment to anyone living in the state."

Florida Department of Law Enforcement crime statistics actually showed a modest 2.5 percent drop in the overall 1990 crime rate compared to the year before. But the number of murders, rapes, armed robberies and assaults continued to rise unabated.

There are some of the 1990 FDLE crime statistics:

- Murders dropped 1.3 percent, including a 16 percent decrease in handgun slayings. Yet 85 percent of murders were shootings, compared to 15.3 percent by knives. Assault weapons weren't broken out into a separate category.
- Forcible sex offenses rose 8.3 percent, robbery was up 5.5 percent and aggravated assault increased 14 percent. Kidnapping, leaped by 25 percent, while burglaries dropped 5 percent and other thefts remained essentially the same.
- Theft cost Florida citizens an average of $97 apiece. Floridians had a one-in-12 chance of being the victim of a serious crime, and one-of-seven crime victims was injured.

Cocaine remained the drug of choice, accounting for 57 percent of all arrests. Marijuana was second at 31 percent, up from 27 percent last year.

A total of 1.3 million crimes were reported in 1990, including 160,584 violent crimes. Males accounted for 163,182 arrests, compared to nearly 43,000 females.

• Non-whites make up 53 percent of those arrested for violent crimes and 40 percent for non-violent crimes. In adult drug arrests, 53 percent are black and 47 percent white; among juveniles, 64 percent are black.

• There was a 9 percent increase in juvenile arrests, including a whopping 39 percent rise in those arrested for murder. In all, juveniles made up 88,911 of the arrests.

• Assaults on law enforcement officers rose by 8.1 percent, and six lost their lives in the line of duty. In 1989, three officers were killed.

Group urges ban on incinerators

By PAT LEBNER
Associated Press Writer

TAMPA — More than 500 million pounds of toxic pollution spew from waste-burning incinerators across the country annually, Greenpeace said as it called for a 10-year moratorium on incineration expansion or construction.

"Incineration is not a 'high technology,' it's a major pollutant," Brian Hunt, the group's Southeast toxic campaign coordinator, said Thursday. "Metals cannot be destroyed."

However, a spokeswoman with the Environmental Protection Agency said incinerators are not causing an environmental hazard and are closely regulated.

A 50-page Greenpeace study, "Playing with Fire," rebuts in detail federal and industry claims that incinerators destroy nearly all the waste and emit harmless byproducts such as water and carbon dioxide.

Most deadly are poisonous heavy metals such as mercury and lead, which are spread around the countryside by incinerator smokestacks. Airborne emissions can taint crops and grazing fields, winding up in the food chain, the group said.

"In fact, incinerators convert some portion of the wastes into more dangerous chemicals like dioxins and PCBs, and do not destroy toxic metals like lead, mercury and cadmium," the environmental group said.

Greenpeace blames incinerators in part for the unexplained contamination of the Everglades, which has resulted in "lethal" mercury levels in endangered Florida panthers, and health warnings against eating bass and other game fish caught in the area.

But Robin Woods, a spokeswoman for the EPA in Washington, said the agency "has developed standards that place strict limits on emissions from incinerators."

Commissioner wants to start diet, exercise program for big employees

Associated Press

MIAMI — Monroe County Commissioner Earl Cheal wants to start a weight-control program for county employees.

Fat chance, the workers say.

Cheal, a trim Army veteran, said in a memo to the county manager that the county's 550 employees are creating a "fat and lazy" impression. He said they should have two years to shape up — or ship out.

The commissioner said he is concerned about safety, not personal appearance. Overweight paramedics could collapse in a high-stress situation.

"I merely asked him to look into the possibility of implementing a weight-control program," Cheal said Thursday. "It's probably being blown out of proportion."

Cheal said after he wrote the memo, the director of public safety told him of a paramedic who collapsed in the Upper Keys.

"I think we all know overweight people tend to be more prone to heart conditions," he said.

But Cheal's memo is causing an uproar.

"It's in bad taste," said Commissioner Doug Jones, not a thin man. "I don't feel that we should inebriate in any way that our county employees are fat and lazy, even by perception."

It's just the opposite, he said, adding: "Usually the overweight ones are the hardest workers and the most qualified."

Officials fear racial flare up

Associated Press

TAMPA — The staging of a "Black History Day" for junior high school pupils has been postponed by school officials who fear the show's language could provoke racial disturbances.

The play, performed by a group of black actors, uses a racial epithet.

Hillsborough County school administrators screened the play Wednesday, then decided to put off the showing until fall.

"Share the Dream" is a series of skits, taken from pieces written by prominent black authors.

Most objections by school administrators were over one skit about a slave, named Dave, who is set free by a plantation owner.

"Dave, I love you," the slave owner said. "But Dave, remember one thing, you're still a nigger."

At the end, the narrator tells the audience, "It doesn't matter what people holler after you, you just keep on steppin'."

Public intoxication charged

SANFORD — Mark Daniel Evans, 34, 1080 Occoche Road, Geneva, was charged Monday with disorderly intoxication at a convenience store on 28th Street.

Police report he was belligerent and refused to leave the store.

Motorcycle found

A motorcycle reported stolen in Seminole County, was located Tuesday afternoon in Lake Mary.

The abandoned motorcycle was discovered in a wooded area off Greenwood Boulevard, Lake Mary, by Gary Bracken, a resident of the nearby area. Bracken called Lake Mary Police who recovered the red 1983 Honda 250R motorcycle. The vehicle is now being stored by Alameda Towing, until the identity of the owner can be found.

Car reported stolen

A 1985 Honda NX7 2-door sedan was reportedly taken from Sun Lake Apartments, 488 Sun Lake Court in Lake Mary, possibly some time this past Monday night.

The vehicle was reported as missing Tuesday morning. The car, red with black pin striping, is owned by Mary J. Ibell, of Cassberry.

DUI arrests

John Starling, 33 and Sally Egan, 45 of 135 Whitecreek Drive, Geneva, who were arrested in the same vehicle on Winding River Drive in rural Seminole County early Tuesday morning.

Anthony Avery Long, 4885 Woodruff Springs Road, Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies shortly after midnight Wednesday morning, on Lake Mary Boulevard near Rinehart Road.

Lake Mary politicians beat city's crime, fire fighters

By BOB PAPPAS
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — For the second year in a row, the Lake Mary Commission and city hall staff beat the Public Safety and Fire Department personnel in their annual employees picnic softball game last Saturday.

Lake Mary Parks and Recreation Director John Holland, in describing the event, called it "The Lake Mary employees world championship softball tournament." Holland said that while the Public Safety team won the first game two years ago, the city hall group took last year's event as well as this year's.

Being part of the winning team, Holland prepared what might be termed as a slightly biased press release in which he wrote, "The great City Hall team whipped the highly trained Public Service and Fire Department team. There were no injuries in the game except for some bruised pride, and a sore leg brought on by a lack of coordination on the part of City Manager John Litton." He said the most runs, 4, were made by Mayor Randy Morris.

The final score was 11 to 7, but the game lasted only 5 innings as the smell of barbecue overcame the urge for further softball involvement.

Suspect in action Information sought about bank robber

By BOB PAPPAS
Herald Staff Writer

The Central Florida Crimeline Program is seeking information on a very busy bank robber who has hit 53 banks in Florida and Georgia since Nov. 1988, including 4 in Seminole County.

According to Crimeline, the first Seminole County area banks was the NCNB, on S.R. 434 in the Wekiva Area, robbed May 31, 1990. On August 15, of last year, he hit the Sun Bank, 1229 S. Semoran Blvd., in Cassberry. On March 12 of this year, he struck at First Florida Bank, 5601 Red Bud Lake Road in Winter Springs, and the latest was the Great West Bank, 929 W. S.R. 434 in Longwood on March 20.

The suspect usually selects banks in strip malls. He rides a bicycle to the front, parks it and enters. As soon as he is inside, he usually jumps the counter, and displays a semi automatic handgun, while demanding the money. When he leaves, he gets back on his bike and rides to the rear of the building where he loads it into a waiting van and drives off. Officers believe there is someone waiting for him in the van.

By using a bicycle for apparent transportation, the bandit is able to wear a helmet with a full face shield without attracting attention. He is described as a white male, in his late 20's or early 30's, at least 6 feet tall with dirty blond hair. He may be wearing a bulletproof vest.

Rachell Grootach, at Crimeline's Orlando office said the bandit has never robbed a bank on a Friday, and very few on Wednesday. "Most of them have been hit on either a Tuesday or Thursday," she said.

Persons with information on this man may be eligible for a reward of up to $1,000, and should phone Crimeline, 1-800-423-TIPS. Your name does not have to be given, just the information.

Disappearing pyramid

For eight years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture had been working to develop new nutrition education materials to replace those it has been using since the 1950s. As a result of those labors, it came up with what it calls the "Eating Right Pyramid," a design that graphically displays the basic food groups with the appropriate number of daily servings for a balanced diet.

The pyramid is simple and easy to understand. It shows cereals and grains in a broad band at the base. Stacked above are fruits and vegetables. In a third band are the dairy and meat groups. At the top of the pyramid are oil, butter and sweets, with the admonition to use these sparingly.

But the day after the pyramid was sent to the printer, Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan called a halt to publication. Madigan explains that the chart is confusing and that it hasn't been tested adequately on children and low-income people.

But officials say that the chart isn't intended for children and had been thoroughly tested on focus groups made up of ordinary consumers. What's really happened, they say, is that Madigan caved in to last-minute protests from cattlemen, meat packers and milk producers.

The complaints from the producers are the height of silliness. Cattlemen claim that the pyramid makes some foods look good and others look bad. (Consumers in the focus groups didn't think so.)

The milk producers worry that their products are stigmatized by being placed next to fats and oils. (Why don't they worry as well about being next to the cauliflower and broccoli?)

Their paranoia misses the big picture. The test that accompanies the pyramid tells consumers that "each of these food groups provides some, but not all, of the nutrients you need. No one group is more important than another; for good health, you need them all."

That's the nicest thing anyone has said about cheese, eggs and meat in a long time. By making USDA's pyramid disappear, Madigan is doing neither the public nor producers a favor.

Travel revision welcome

The White House now has a better system for determining when its chief of staff and national security adviser should be allowed to travel on military aircraft.

The new policy requires Chief of Staff John Sununu and National Security Adviser Brent Scowcroft to get permission from the White House counsel before requisitioning a military plane for personal or business travel. Personal travel aboard the military aircraft will be approved only in emergencies.

In a little more than two years Sununu made 77 military aircraft flights, all of them subsidized by the taxpayers. C. Boyden Gray, the White House counsel, found three instances in which personal trips were improperly labeled official, four cases where political trips were mislabeled as official and four political trips that were actually official.

Sometimes using an Air Force plane is a logical option for the chief of staff. It saves time. It enables him to maintain secure telephone communications with the White House during an emergency.

But it's hard to believe that such procedures are necessary in all instances. Most past administrations got along without the constant use of Air Force planes. Important as it might have been for Bush's top advisers to maintain continuous contact during the Persian Gulf War such emergency conditions don't prevail all the time.

The new policy reflects the sensible idea of maintaining oversight. The person who benefits from a particular perquisite shouldn't be the one to make the final decision on when he receives it. By having the recipients — the chief of staff and the national security adviser — get permission from another White House official, accountability is restored.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. All letters must be signed. Include the address of the writer and a daytime telephone number. Letters should be on a single subject and be as brief as possible. Letters are subject to editing.

Here's an open letter to Gary Sick

Dear Mr. Sick:

On April 15 you created quite a splash on the Op-Ed page of The New York Times by charging that, in 1980, officials of the Reagan campaign promised representatives of the government of Iran arms and spare parts if they would delay the release of our hostages in Tehran until after Election Day.

In particular, you charged, on the basis of statements made to you by numerous anonymous informants, that the late William Casey, Mr. Reagan's campaign manager, met secretly with Iranian representatives in Paris from Oct. 15 to Oct. 20, 1980.

In your very next paragraph, you go on to say: "At least five of the sources who say they were in Paris in connection with these meetings insist that George Bush was present for at least one meeting. Three of the sources say that they saw him there. In the absence of further information, I have not made up my mind about this allegation."

Bush was, of course, Reagan's vice-presidential running-mate at the time. If the charges against him and Casey are true, they were guilty of truly heinous behavior.

By intentionally suspending judgment on the accuracy of the charge relating to George Bush, you deftly put some distance between yourself and it. You also earned some brownie points for seeming cautious about what you were writing to charge — thereby enhancing the value of your firm conclusion that the allegations concerning Casey are true.

But you are the one who launched this cautious attack on the man who is now president of the United States, and you are the one who is diligently obscuring the identity of "at least five" people who allegedly place George Bush in Paris sometime between Oct. 15 and Oct. 20, 1980. Moreover, you know perfectly well that the paragraph about Bush is the real heart of your long article, and the principal reason for the massive public attention it has received.

You also earned some brownie points for seeming cautious.

So you must have been interested, to put it mildly, to see President Bush tell television reporters "Definitely, definitely, no," in reply to the question whether he had been in Paris in 1980, as alleged. And you must have had powerful emotions of some sort when you saw L. Gordon Crovitz's article in The Wall Street Journal on May 8, listing exactly where George Bush (who was, of course, campaigning hard in the last weeks of the race) could be found on the relevant dates: Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1980 — in Nashville, Chicago and Rockford, Ill.; Thursday, Oct. 16, 1980 — in Detroit and Dearborn, Mich.; Friday, Oct. 17, 1980 — in Dearborn, Portland, Maine, Rutland, Vt. and Newark, N.J.; Saturday, Oct. 18 — in Westfield, N.J., Philadelphia, Chester, Pa. and Washington, D.C.; Sunday, Oct. 19, 1980 — in Washington, lunching with Suzanne Court Justice Potter Stewart and Mrs. Stewart; Monday, Oct. 20, 1980 — in New Haven, Conn.

Now, with all due respect, I submit that you cannot simply disregard these data. You must either assert, if possible with some evidence, that all or part of them are false, or you must concede that they are correct.

HOW THE WEATHER IS FORECAST:

1. Highly sophisticated satellites gather detailed information on weather patterns.
2. This information is beamed down to super-duper high-tech receivers on the ground.
3. The data is then thoroughly processed and analyzed by wiz-bang mega computers.
4. The weatherman flips a coin and determines the forecast.

Maneuvering for CIA position

WASHINGTON — Insiders say that almost since the end of the Gulf War, Deputy National Security Adviser Robert Gates has quietly maneuvered to oust CIA Director William Webster and build support to be named his successor.

Bush actually needed little prodding to replace Webster. As a former CIA director himself, Bush has very firm ideas about how the agency should be run, and what kind of work it should be producing. Even as vice president, Bush was unhappy with the CIA's performance under Webster. But Webster was well liked within the agency, and he had strong support on Capitol Hill, so Bush kept Webster in place when he became president.

Bush has continued to view the CIA's performance negatively. Reportedly, he believes it preformed poorly in assessing what was happening in Eastern Europe, and extremely poorly in assessing Iraq's intentions towards Kuwait. He almost replaced Webster with his old friend James Lilley, a career CIA operative and diplomat who most recently was U.S. ambassador to China. However, when word of the impending move was leaked to the press, Webster's friends on Capitol Hill rallied to his support and the White House backed off.

In many quarters here, the view of the CIA's performance has gone from bad to worse in the aftermath of the U.S. victory in the Gulf.

Reportedly, even before the air war was launched, Bush signed several presidential action memos directing the CIA to covertly destabilize the Iraqi government and encourage and aid internal rebellion. The rebellions occurred, but they were neither controlled nor properly aided. This reinforced the general belief in high circles that, under Webster, the CIA had been rendered incapable of mounting effective covert activities.

Conservative Republicans, especially members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Intelligence committees, quietly began to call for Webster's head. They singled out Gates as their chief supporter, and Gates moved quickly to use them as a power base in his move for the job.

Gates knew his nomination would be opposed by Secretary of State James Baker. Gates, a Soviet expert, has always taken a very skeptical view towards Mikhail Gorbachev's chances for success. In 1989, Baker and Gates fought, in a very public confrontation, over a hard line anti-Gorbachev speech that Gates was to deliver. Baker won, and the speech was killed.

Over the last two years Gates has worked to develop a better relationship with Baker. He has modified his views on the Soviet Union to the point where he now says Gorbachev is sincerely trying to implement change, but that it might take 50 years to succeed, and authoritarian rule might be necessary in the interim. This modification of views apparently has worked to Gates' advantage: While Baker reportedly did push for Lilley, he did not go to the mat opposing Gates.

This left Gates with two problems. The first was rendering the Pentagon neutral regarding the question of who would follow Webster. Probably no one within the intelligence community has a better understanding how the system works than Gates. His boss, National Security Adviser Gen. Brent Scowcroft — probably his biggest supporter — led the charge to convince Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and Joint Chiefs Chairman Gen. Colin Powell that Gates was the best person to get the CIA, National Security Agency and Defense Intelligence Agency working together.

Cheney reportedly agreed to sign off on the nomination. That left Congress as Gates' chief obstacle.

During the Iran-contra era Gates was CIA Director William Casey's top deputy. In 1987, when Casey died, Gates was the leading candidate to replace him. He was actually named to the post, but his name was withdrawn when it became clear that his confirmation hearings would turn into another Iran-contra trial.

White House political types feared this would happen again. With conservative support in place, Gates set out to win over Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., chairman of the Intelligence committee.

Actually, Gates had impressed Boren with the fact that after his name was withdrawn four years ago, he became Webster's loyal and hardworking deputy. Boren was also impressed with Gates' recent assignment at the White House, and was won over to support the nomination when Gates agreed to work with Congress to streamline the CIA, cutting down its estimated $30 billion annual budget, in light of new post-Cold War priorities.

There still will be some uncomfortable questions asked Gates at his confirmation.

Bush has continued to view the CIA's performance negatively.

Saudi Arabia set for hajj trouble

WASHINGTON — U.S. and other Western intelligence officials are predicting Iranian-instigated riots and deaths at the annual pilgrimage to Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia next month.

The Iranians have done little to disguise their design. They have appointed as their pilgrimage leader a top terrorist who has secretly for several years headed the "Organization of the Islamic Revolution of the Arabian Peninsula," a code-name for using terrorism and other means to overthrow the governments of Saudi Arabia and other Gulf states.

Security in Saudi Arabia will be tight. But intelligence experts are dumbfounded that the Saudis are courting this kind of trouble once again. "They (Saudis) wanted renewed relations with Iran and this was part of the price," one source told us.

Saudi Arabia re-established relations with Iran in March after a three-year break, which resulted from repeated efforts by Iranian pilgrims to cause disturbances at the hajj, the annual religious pilgrimage to the two holy cities. In 1986, the Saudis discovered more than 100 Paebaran guards disguised as pilgrims bringing in plastic explosives and other arms. Finally, during the hajj in 1987, a riot was sparked and 403 people were killed, mostly Iranians.

It was after that debacle that Iranian President Rafsanjani released his special brand of invective and threats to the Saudi leadership by declaring in August 1987: "The martyrs' blood (dead Iranian pilgrims) should be avenged by drying up the roots of the Saudi rulers in the region. The sacred blood of martyrs should be avenged by ridding the Holy Shrines of the existence of the evil Saudi rulers."

The Saudis have agreed to accept 110,000 Iranian pilgrims during the June 14 to 24 hajj period (a pilgrimage that's one of the main pillars of Islam and is a required ritual for male Muslims to perform at least once in their life).

Thousands of fanatical Iranian Revolutionary Guards have already been called up to go to the hajj next month on assignment from the Iranian leadership, and one group has been formed to serve as a control and coordination unit. Saudi nationals have been recruited and have received military training in the holy Iranian city of Qom to help Iranians infiltrate Saudi Arabia.

The darkest omen of violence was the appointment of the man assigned to lead the pilgrims, Mohammed Reyshahri. He's a man who is always ranked in the top 10 of the Iranian's rogue gallery when it comes to fanatical murderers. Reyshahri was once one of the most despicable hanging judges of the new Khomeini regime. He operated in six different cities, executing hundreds — including many top military leaders whose loyalty was suspect.

In late 1984, Reyshahri became Iran's intelligence chief. He was involved in anti-Western terrorist actions, such as the taking of American hostages still being held in Lebanon. He held the top spy post until 1989, when he was appointed prosecutor general of Iran. He also concurrently served, beginning in 1987, as the head of a special clerical court that has meted out imprisonment, torture and execution to more than 400 Iranian clerics not toeing the official line.

Reyshahri has been instructed by Iran's top spiritual leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, to "carry out to the letter all of Khomeini's orders in previous years, stipulated in decrees to his representatives in charge of the hajj." Those previous orders called for wreaking havoc at the holy sites.

The Iranians have done little to disguise their design.

Other events this weekend include memorials to be done at various cemeteries. Saturday evening, All Souls Catholic Church will have its second annual special mass at the All Souls Cemetery on West 25th Street. Father Thomas J. Burns will deliver the address in honor of American service personnel. People wishing to attend are asked to take chairs.

Members of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States will hold special memorial services. The first will be held at 8:15 tonight, the second at 10 a.m. Saturday, both at Congregation Beth Am, 3699 Sand Lake Road, Longwood, under the direction of Rabbi Merrill Shapiro. Military veterans will be accorded allyah and honors.

Military personnel who have made the supreme sacrifice will also be honored and remembered at special Memorial Day services Monday, sponsored by Baldwin-Fairchild Cemeteries and Funeral Homes. In addition to the traditional wreath laying ceremony and lighting of the flame of remembrance, Col. David Kaufman, USAF (Ret.) will deliver the keynote address.

The event will start at 9:30 a.m. at All Faiths Memorial Park, corner of Lake and Park Drive in Casselberry. Baldwin-Fairchild will also hold a holiday parade and observance at Glen Haven Memorial Park, 2300 Tompau Drive, Winter Park, beginning at 11 a.m. Monday.

resolution to each of the governments. In it, he has suggested that development of Hospital Road would significantly enhance and improve access to Seminole Community College.

By creating an access from Lake Mary Boulevard, it would increase the use of that road as well as U.S. Highway 17-92, and Interstate 4.

The resolution to take joint action has already been approved by the City of Lake Mary on May 16, and the City of Sanford during its May 20th commission meeting.

The creation of Hospital Road as an entrance has been discussed at various city meetings in the past but has never been actively approached. The property is privately owned. Although it appears on many city and county maps, no such road exists legally. Right-of-way would have to be obtained. Funding would be one of the major problems. SCC's funding for the road would need approval of the Florida Legislature which could not be done until next year at the earliest. Additional funding from the County and the cities would also take time, and the Department of Transportation would then enter the picture to become involved in construction. If everything progressed, creation of a Hospital Road access to Seminole Community College would take a minimum of 4 years if not longer.

At this past Monday's Sanford City Commission meeting, agreement to join with Lake Mary, Seminole County and SCC in discussing the matter came about with no comments or questions by either the commissioners, or city staff. The move is currently at a starting point.

Bush plan stresses ban on weapons

By JIM BISHOP
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush's long-awaited Middle East arms control initiative will include ambitious moves on nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, but far more modest steps on conventional arms like those used in the Persian Gulf War, administration sources say. The plan, hinted at for weeks, will be announced by the White House on Tuesday, officials said Thursday.

The sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the package will include:

—A ban on further production of weapons-grade nuclear material in the Middle East, as a first step toward creating a nuclear-free zone in the region.

—A renewed push to conclude a Chemical Weapons Convention banning the production, stockpiling and use of those arms. The administration hopes that Middle Eastern countries could be among the original signatories of the convention.

—Moves to strengthen the 16-year-old Biological Weapons Convention when an international review conference on the agreement is convened this September.

—An eventual ban on ballistic missiles with ranges in excess of 50 miles, with a ban on further testing and deployment as a first step toward that goal.

—A call for the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council to come up with a plan of restraint on the sale of conventional weapons — tanks, fighter planes, missiles and rockets, attack helicopters and the like.

Those five countries — the United States, China, the Soviet Union, Britain and France — are the world's leading sellers of conventional weaponry.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III said Thursday that the administration has been consulting with allies about the package, but he declined to be more specific in testimony before the Senate Appropriations foreign aid subcommittee.

Bush's proposal comes amid growing nervousness on Capitol

Hill that the Middle East may be slipping back into arms business as usual following the Gulf War — particularly with regard to conventional weapons.

"A new arms race is being born even before the destruction of the Gulf War is repaired," subcommittee Chairman Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., told Baker. "If that happens, we may as well start planning for Gulf War II a few years from now, because all the instabilities will remain."

Leahy pointed to reports that Iraqi President's Saddam Hussein's army is not as seriously damaged as at first indicated, and that Baghdad already is clandestinely seeking to rearm itself. At the same time Turkey, Egypt and Syria are seeking new weaponry, he noted.

Bush's plan apparently falls far short of the desires of many lawmakers.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee on Thursday endorsed an indefinite moratorium on virtually all U.S. arms sales to the Middle East, allowing exceptions only to replace weapons already owned by nations in the region or if other supplier countries break the moratorium.

Fleet marks flag burning service

SANFORD — The Fleet Reserve Association will hold an official American flag burning ceremony Saturday. The public is invited to attend as well as bring flags for burning.

Association member Horace Paul said. "This is our official sacred ceremony for the disposal of American flags that are no longer usable." Paul said that rules and even patriotism, dictate the proper ways in which our national emblem should be disposed of. "That's the main purpose of Saturday's ceremony, to not only do it properly, but offer the opportunity for flag disposal to other members of the community."

The flag burning ceremony will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday, at the Fleet Reserve Association building, 3040 West SR 46.

The Founders Award is, according to Turner, the highest honor that the local chapter can bestow upon one of its members.

Other certificates of appreciation will be conferred upon various members of the community for work they have done in the black community in Seminole County.

"The support has been strong this year," Clayton said. "We want to take this opportunity to once again show our appreciation."

Sanford where they will be cleaned and serviced, ready for their next trip the following morning.

The start of the daily service will also begin the operation of regular U.S. Customs service at the Sanford terminal. Cooke said there have been discussions with customs officials for some time, but we never actually started with it so far. "It will cost $100,000 a year for the Customs Agent," he said, "so now that we have this daily flight, we can finally begin the customs operation." New customs areas have recently been constructed at the terminal and others are being added at the present time.

According to Cooke, there were hopes a year ago that regularly scheduled air service between Sanford and Trinidad might one day be established. "The flights were being planned by Elsie Birchwood," Cooke said. "He came to us with the idea, and even leased one of the airport buildings. But he never used the building. We gave up hoping for the regular flights about six months ago and have now cancelled the lease." Cooke said Birchwood had been seeking financial support but apparently was unable to get enough for the airline project to get into operation.

A special kick-off for the new daily service to the Bahamas is being planned for June 5, in Sanford when travel agents from around the area will be invited to visit the Sanford terminal facility, meet the people involved in the daily operation, and have a brief ride in one of the passenger aircraft.

Cooke said he has already had excellent reaction from area travel agencies who are anxious for the new flights to begin.

Higgins, himself, was lauded for having led the committee which has raised $25,000 for the school over the last two years.

All the money raised by COMSAC is used to finance teacher grants and scholarships for the students.

In addition to about two dozen scholarships, awards were given to students in the areas of community service and citizenship.

"We are here to honor these students who have given so much of themselves to the school," principal Wayne Eppe said.

After the ceremony drew to a close, applause-weary spectators and smiling students retreated to the school's cafeteria for a short reception.

McCollum attacks Orlando base closing

By RON WOOD
Associated Press Writer

JACKSONVILLE — Tampa and Orlando officials came armed with posters, documents and testimony hoping to convince a federal commission to remove their military bases from the list of facilities to be shut down or cut back.

Gov. Lawton Chiles, Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick, U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum and others said the Navy's decision to close the Orlando Naval Training Center was flawed.

Supporters of MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa noted its closing would force relocation of the vital U.S. Central Command.

Hearing the testimony Thursday were Chairman James Courter and commissioners William

L. Ball III and Robert D. Stuart Jr. of the federal panel set up to recommend a final list of base cuts and cutbacks.

"We are not a rubber stamp for anyone," said Courter. After hearing testimony across the country, the eight-member commission will present a final list of base closures and realignments to President Bush by July 1.

"I submit the Navy's decision-making process was flawed in such a way that it produced irrational results," Chiles said, pointing to a General Accounting Office audit that questioned the Navy's methodology in drawing up its target list.

Much of the Orlando testimony focused on the other two training centers at San Diego and Great Lakes, Ill.

A report prepared for Orlando officials by Henry H. Fishkind said the Navy would save the most money if it closed the Great Lakes center and relocated its functions to the Orlando Naval Training Center.

There would be only a one-time $62.7 million cost to close the Great Lakes center and shift its functions to Florida, he said, while it would cost about $450 million to close the Orlando base.

Frederick attacked Navy arguments that the Orlando base didn't have room to grow and was expensive because it wasn't home to a fleet.

The base has 18,000 military and civilian workers with an annual payroll of $223 million to make it Orlando's second largest employer behind Walt Disney World with 30,000 workers.

Tampa officials said the plans to eliminate

MacDill's 56th Tactical Training Wing in 1994 and close its airstrip will have a devastating impact on the military, the Tampa community and retirees living in the area.

Retired Air Force Lt. Gen. C.C. Rogers said the closing of air operations would severely hurt the U.S. Central Command and Special Operations Command, both of which were vital in the Persian Gulf War.

When the air service ends, he said it will be necessary to move both those commands, he said.

"It is our belief the removal of the 56th Tactical Training Wing sounds the death knell for MacDill Air Force Base," said Bob Buckhorn, special assistant to Tampa Mayor Sandy Freedman.

Abortion forces find hope, fear in court ruling

By RICHARD CARRELLI
AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON — Anti-abortion activists have new reason to hope, and abortion rights advocates new grounds to fear, that the Supreme Court is nearing the day when it will let states make it illegal to end a woman's pregnancy.

At one time, the future of legalized abortion appeared to rest on Sandra Day O'Connor, the Supreme Court's only female justice. Now it seems to rest with David H. Souter, the high court's newest justice and only bachelor.

That's not new. The heavy mantle was lifted from O'Connor's shoulders last July when Justice William J. Brennan retired. It came to rest on Souter's as soon as he was nominated as Brennan's replacement.

Souter's tie-breaking vote Thursday to uphold the government's ban on abortion counseling and referrals at federally subsidized family planning clinics has escalated the guessing game over his abortion views.

The ultimate question remains unanswered: whether Souter would vote to reverse the court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision that said women have a constitutional right to abortion.

Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Byron R. White, Antonin Scalia and Anthony M. Kennedy are considered ready to scrap the 1973 ruling. Those four plus Souter comprised the court's majority Thursday. Justices Harry A. Blackmun, Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens remain strong defenders of Roe vs. Wade, and O'Connor so far has been unwilling to give states total control of the issue.

Abortion rights advocates reacted to Souter's vote with alarm, while anti-abortion activists hailed his role.

Both sides were looking ahead to when the court is next asked to overturn Roe vs. Wade. Abortion controversies from Guam and Pennsylvania are in the federal court pipeline and could reach the justices as early as next fall.

Souter's vote Thursday makes it at least incrementally more likely that he could provide the pivotal fifth vote to overturn the 1973 ruling and once again let states severely restrict, or even outlaw, abortions.

Rachel Pine, senior staff attorney for the American Civil Liberty Union's Reproductive Freedom Project, said: "I had hoped ... we were going to see an emerging moderate coalition between Justice O'Connor and Justice Souter on certain highly ideologically charged issues, and I feel like those hopes are shattered."

But it is important to remember that Thursday's decision was, primarily, one on the scope of free speech. Although abortion was the engine driving the government regulations at issue, the legal arguments focused chiefly on the Constitution's First Amendment.

Today, much more is known about Souter's free-speech views, but his position on abortion remains largely a mystery — especially since he merely joined the chief justice's opinion and did not write for himself.

Before Souter's arrival, the court's most recent decisions on abortion had given most of the momentum to anti-abortion forces.

In a series of 1989 votes in a Missouri case, the court provided states with new authority to limit women's rights to abortion.

The overall effect was to allow Missouri to restrict the use of public money, medical personnel or facilities in performing abortion procedures.

One ruling requires doctors to determine, when possible, whether a fetus at least 20 weeks old is capable of surviving outside the womb, by testing lung capacity and conducting other tests.

IN BRIEF

PRO FOOTBALL

Miami gets Super nod

MINNEAPOLIS — Miami was awarded the 1995 Super Bowl, NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue said Thursday.
 The game, to be played Jan. 29, 1995, at Joe Robbie Stadium, will be the second Super Bowl in that stadium and the seventh time Miami has played host to the NFL title game.
 Miami was selected on the fourth ballot over Tampa, which had the game this year and Houston, which was considered the favorite.

BASEBALL

Greene tosses no-hitter

MONTREAL — If there was one guy who knew what Tommy Greene was going through as he neared a no-hitter, it was teammate Terry Mulholland.
 And that's why Mulholland was the first one to start spraying the beer in the clubhouse after Greene completed a no-hitter in the Philadelphia Phillies' 2-0 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday.
 Greene overpowered the Expos, throwing 130 pitches, 76 for strikes. He struck out a career-high 10, and walked seven, allowing only three fly balls.

Another manager fired

BALTIMORE — Frank Robinson did his best, but he couldn't overcome the Baltimore Orioles' injuries, lousy pitching and inconsistent hitting. Now it's Johnny Oates' turn, and it's not an enviable position.
 With Baltimore languishing in last place with a 13-24 record, Robinson became the third major league manager to lose his job in three days when the Orioles reassigned him to the front office.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Merger close at hand

ORLANDO — The American South Conference and the Sun Belt Conference moved closer to this summer's merger Thursday, selecting American South Commissioner Craig Thompson to head the new 11-team league.
 Also at the spring meeting, which concluded Thursday, the executive committee agreed to operate under the charter, constitution, bylaws, and tax identification number of the Sun Belt Conference starting in July.
 The 11 institutions comprising the merged conference are Arkansas-Little Rock, Jacksonville, South Alabama and Western Kentucky of the Sun Belt Conference, and Arkansas State, Central Florida, Lamar, Louisiana Tech, New Orleans, Southwestern Louisiana and Texas-Pan American of the American South Conference.

FSU eligible for ACC title

DURHAM, N.C. — Until the Atlantic Coast Conference called, Florida State football coach Bobby Bowden always thought he was a Southeastern Conference man.
 "I was always an SEC man, but for 25 years Florida State's been trying to get into that league and couldn't," Bowden said before teeing off at Treyburn Country Club as a special guest of the local Seminole Club.
 Florida State will be eligible for the league basketball title starting next season.
 Bowden's teams can play for the ACC title in 1992, thanks to some creative scheduling. His 1991 squad is already being considered the top-ranked team in 1991.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Orlando socks Birmingham

ORLANDO — Singles by Ray Ortiz, Derek Parks and Carlos Capellan were enough to power Orlando over Birmingham in a 5-run third inning as the SunRays took a 12-2 victory Thursday night in Southern League play.
 Ortiz went three-for-five with three RBIs, a double and one run scored. Cheo Garcia also got three hits for Orlando (21-20).
 Darrin Campbell hit a two-run home run in the sixth inning for the Birmingham Barons (25-16).

Jacksonville loses

JACKSONVILLE — Bill Risley, Victor Garcia and Steve Foster combined to hold Jacksonville to four hits as Chattanooga defeated the Suns 2-1 in Southern League play Thursday.
 Jacksonville's lone run came off a sacrifice fly by former Seminole Community College star Jack Smith in the fifth inning.

Compiled from wire and staff reports.

Sanford recreation leagues to take the weekend off

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — It will be unusually quiet in Sanford today, Saturday and Monday as the Sanford Recreation Department and Sanford Church Softball League both take the weekend off in observance of Memorial Day.
 Suspended was today's regularly scheduled Babe Ruth League Baseball game.
 Also suspended were Saturday's scheduled games in the Pee Wee Baseball League, Little Major Baseball League, Babe Ruth Baseball League, Senior Girls Softball League and Junior Girls Softball League. The Sanford Church Softball League, which ended its regular season last week, will take this weekend off before starting its post-season tournament next week.

Monday's scheduled games in the Babe Ruth Baseball, Little Major Baseball and men's softball leagues have been suspended as well.
 Play will resume in the Sanford Recreation Department Little Major Baseball League on Tuesday with a doubleheader at Ft. Mellon Park's Roy Holler Field. At 5:45 p.m. the Fisher, Laurence & Deen Blue Jays will play the red-hot Railroaders Cubs. At 7:45 p.m., the First Union Bank A's will take on the defending City Champion Rinker Materials Dodgers.
 Also scheduled for Tuesday night is the women's softball league at Pinchurst Park and the men's Tuesday night softball league at Chase Park. Play in the men's league is dependant upon completion of repairs to the lighting system at Chase Park, which played havoc with games in both the Babe Ruth and softball leagues.

The schedule in the women's league has the co-leaders, Fred's Lawn Service and Harcar, facing off at 8:30 p.m., Bikini Beach playing Green Leaf Landscaping at 7:30 p.m. and Intergalactic facing Beer: 30 at 8:30 p.m.
 In the men's league, Monroe Harbour Marina will challenge the Regulators at 8:30 p.m., the Kokomo Recyclers square off with Kinco at 7:30 p.m. and the undefeated squads of State Market Restaurant and Beer: 30 will vie for the league lead at 8:30 p.m.
 Play in the Babe Ruth Baseball League won't start up at Chase Park until Thursday with the league-leading Knights of Columbus Cardinals playing the Pretty Punch Blue Jays at 6 p.m. and the Kiwanis Club Orioles taking on the Moose Lodge Pirates at 8 p.m.

Gator's, Lee's both win

Seminole Mobile Radio pitcher Gary Littrel contributed a single in a 14-3 victory over AAA Tree Service in a Sanford Recreation Department Thursday Night Men's Softball League game played at Pinchurst Park.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Jay Crutchfield had three hits, including a double, and two runs scored to lead Gator's Dockside to an 8-4 victory over the Olive Garden Thursday evening in the Sanford Recreation Department's Men's Softball League at Pinchurst Park.
 In other games, Lee's Cabinets rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to notch a 3-2 win over First Baptist while Seminole Mobile Radio pounded AAA Tree Service 14-3.
 Gator's Dockside (5-0) maintains a one-and-a-half game lead for first place over Lee's Cabinets (4-2). Seminole Mobile Radio remains tied for third with First Baptist (both 3-2, two games out of first place). AAA Tree Service is now 0-3 while the Olive Garden drops to 0-5.
 Next Thursday evening, First Baptist will face Lee's Cabinets at 8:30 p.m., Olive Garden will square off against Gator's Dockside at 7:30 p.m. and AAA tree Service will tangle with Seminole Mobile Radio at 8:30 p.m.
 The Olive Garden came out of the chute quickly with three runs in the top of the first inning. But Gator's Dockside came back with six runs in the bottom of the second inning and never looked back.
 Also contributing to Gator's Dockside's 13-hit attack were Lloyd Wall (two doubles and a run scored), Jerry Heiman (two singles and two runs scored), Brian Rogers (two singles and a run scored) and Jeff Deen (two singles).
 Derek Pike and Mike Kirby each added a single and scored a run.
 The Olive Garden was led offensively by Larry Edwards (two singles and a run scored), Joe Figler (two singles and a run scored) and Steve Wall (two singles).
 Scott Edwards, Tony Strleckis, Bill Mahoney and John Love all added one hit each.

 Lee's Cabinets trailed 2-1 in the bottom of the seventh inning, but Russell Hollomon, Craig Split and Craig Appel hit three consecutive singles, Hollomon and Split scoring to end the contest.
 Hollomon and Appel each had two hits to lead the offense while Craig Split, Bubba Split and Rick Cleaska each had one hit and Greg Henakey scored a run.
 First Baptist was led by Jeff Bethmany's two singles, Billy Gracey, Steve Laurence, Jeff Cornell, Jordan Beckner, Tom Gracey, Tim Palmer and Sidney Brock all added one hit each and Roger Warner scored a run.
 Seminole Mobile Radio broke open a 2-2 game in the bottom of the third inning with four runs plus three more runs in the fourth and fifth innings to cruise to their third win of the season.
 Kieth Wallace, Greg Wells, Doug Burleson and Billy Stevin all had three hits to pace Seminole Mobile Radio's 19-hit attack.
 Wallace had two doubles and a single, Burleson added a double and two singles and Wells and Stevin each had three singles. Jeff Wilson added two doubles, Paul Bracker had two singles, Ted Freycenet, Gary Littrel and Jeff Kappert each added one hit and Dave Milliror scored a run.
 AAA Tree Service was led by Larry Smith and Miguel Sosirue with two singles each and Randy Yates had a double and a run scored. Brantley Brumley, Clayton Nichols, Dave Nobles, Norman Platt and Tim Pete each added one single.

Lyman's Greenberg constantly on the run

By ROBBIE STOGG
 Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK — Janet Greenberg didn't have time to talk.
 Not that the junior from Lyman High School had no desire to speak after her record-breaking performances in the mile and two-mile events at the Class 4A state track meet on May 11 — she just couldn't.
 Because less than 20 minutes after completing eight grueling laps around the Percy M. Beard Track at Showalter Field, she had to anchor Lyman's 4 x 400-meter relay squad, which could secure a top-five finish for the entire team with a strong outing.
 And Greenberg more than did her part in the race, running a 1:02 quarter (440 meters) and holding off all challengers as the Greyhounds won the first heat of the race (4:04.54).
 However, six other teams beat Lyman's time in the next heat, so the Greyhounds settled for a seventh-place finish, the highest of any girls' team in Seminole County or Central Florida.
 Despite the fact Lyman couldn't break into the top five, the state meet was still a good one — and Greenberg earned lavish praise from her coaches.
 "She's got a lot of guts," said Larry Baker, the Lyman girl's track coach. "You don't see many run the time she did (in the two-mile event) and then run on the mile relay. If there is anyone who can do it, it is Janet."
 In the two distance races where

Greenberg competed, she broke both the existing state records — but was beaten by Kathy Ward of Tallahassee Lincoln, who shattered the previous marks in winning both the mile and the two-mile runs.
 But Greenberg wasn't totally satisfied with her performance.
 "I'm satisfied to a point," said Greenberg, who helped Lyman to the Class 4A state cross country championship earlier this year. "You like to say you're never satisfied."
 Although Greenberg, who is expected to be back in action this weekend in the Golden South Classic at Showalter Field, could have given Ward a run for the title in the two-mile event had she not run the mile earlier in the meet, she chose to compete in both for the benefit of her team.
 After all the races finished, she spoke of how proud she was with the performance of her teammates, not once mentioning her incredible feats.
 Last weekend at the state heptathlon in Clearwater, Greenberg was Seminole County's second-highest scorer, accumulating 2,327 points to help the Greyhounds to a 12th-place team finish.
 That's just one more reason for Baker to be excited about next track season.
 "She's a coach's dream," commented Baker. "She has such great determination and the discipline to succeed. She's not afraid to go out and do what it takes to accomplish (her goals)."

Janet Greenberg has done a little of everything for Lyman this year, leading the Greyhounds to a state title in cross country, a seventh-place finish at the state track meet and a 12th-place showing at the state heptathlon.

Burke tosses no-hitter, Florida, FSU, Miami win

While John Burke was nearly perfect all night, it was after midnight when he got some offensive help in Florida's opening game in the NCAA baseball tournament.

Bobby Jones pitched a five-hitter, striking out 14 batters, to lead Fresno State to a 7-2 victory over Cal State Northridge.

Fresno State (38-20) was led offensively by Phillip Romero, who was 4-for-5 with three RBI. Northridge (41-17) had a two-run homer by Scott Richardson in the first inning off Jones (14-1), who settled down after that.

Burke (8-4), a sophomore right-hander, struck out 14 Paladins, with only a first-inning walk and his own fifth-inning error keeping him from a perfect game.

"It's the biggest game that I've thrown in my life," Burke said.

But his no-hitter, Florida's first since 1978, wasn't secured until the bottom of the ninth.

Dave Majecki opened the inning with a single to deep short. One out later, Killen, a junior first baseman, hit a 1-1 curve ball from Furman starter Will Eriel (12-6) over the right field fence.

Furman's Tom Nagy almost ended Burke's no-hit bid with two outs in the top of the ninth, but a diving defensive play by third baseman Joe Russo ended the inning.

St. John's pulled off the biggest upset of the day when the Redmen beat second-seeded Georgia Tech in the Atlantic Regional.

The Redmen, who trailed 4-2 going into the eighth inning, defeated the Yellow Jackets 5-4 on Denis Durland's two-run homer.

Elsewhere in the Atlantic Regional at Tallahassee, top-seeded Florida State defeated Coastal Carolina 6-0 behind Roger Bailey's six-hitter. Dennis Walsh's three-hitter gave Alabama a 5-1 victory over Florida International.

At Fresno, Calif., top-seeded Miami went ahead on Jonathan Smith's leadoff home run in an eight-run sixth inning and went on to a 13-1 victory over Portland in the West II Regional.

Miami (46-15) trailed Portland (30-18) 1-0 after three innings. But the Hurricanes tied the score in the fourth "bo Juan Llanes' homer and scored eight runs in the sixth, when Charles Johnson hit a three-run homer, his 14th.

Stanford (38-21), seeded second, beat San Diego State 12-5 in the second game. The Cardinal trailed 5-4 after six innings, but scored four runs in the seventh, highlighted by David Holbrook's two-run single.

Jeffrey Hammonds finished with four RBI, including a three-run homer in the first, for Stanford. The first eight Cardinal runs were off Brian Holliday of San Diego State (43-20).

Bobby Jones pitched a five-hitter, striking out 14 batters, to lead Fresno State to a 7-2 victory over Cal State Northridge.

Fresno State (38-20) was led offensively by Phillip Romero, who was 4-for-5 with three RBI. Northridge (41-17) had a two-run homer by Scott Richardson in the first inning off Jones (14-1), who settled down after that.

At Orono, Maine, top-seeded Clemson jumped to an early lead and defeated Princeton 13-5 in the Northeast Regional.

Joe DeBerry hit a two-run homer in the first inning as Clemson (57-8) ran up a 6-1 lead by the sixth. The Tigers scored seven more runs before Princeton (24-21) answered with four runs in the ninth.

Rex Buckner hit a two-run homer, sparking a five-run sixth inning that gave Mississippi State a 10-4 victory over Towson State.

Mississippi State (41-14) jumped to an early lead with three runs in the first inning and never trailed. Paul Petrucci had three of the Bulldogs' 11-hit total. Erik Sheets had a two-run homer for Towson State (27-22-1).

Brian Seguire led Maine's 15-hit attack with three hits and three RBIs as the Black Bears defeated Villanova 10-3.

Maine's Larry Thomas (9-3) pitched seven innings for the win, allowing three runs and striking out nine. Brian Kenney (6-5) took the loss for Villanova.

In the East Regional games at Gainesville, John Hay doubled home the winning run with one out in the ninth inning, giving fourth-seeded Missouri a 5-4 victory over No. 3 Jacksonville in the East Regional.

With the score tied 4-4, Lee Rodriguez doubled to right-center off Dolphins starter John Wylie to open the ninth for Missouri (40-18). After Mark Adair sacrificed Rodriguez to third, Hay doubled to left-center off reliever Dennis Millie, dropping Jacksonville to 43-20-2.

In the second game, second-seeded North Carolina State (46-18) broke open a close game with a five-run sixth inning to down Ohio University (33-26) 11-5.

Help find best dad

The Sanford Herald is searching for an area dad worthy of our annual "Dad of the Year" title.

We're asking our readers to help by writing letter of nomination to be reviewed by our judges.

Winners will be based on letters exhibiting clarity and sincerity and should include examples and anecdotes about why your nominee is the best dad. Your nominee need not be your own dad.

Only residents of Seminole County are eligible to be selected as "Dad of the Year," but nominators need not live in the county.

To enter: Write a letter about a special dad telling us why he is so special.

Letters should be typed or printed legibly. Include the nominee's name, street address, city and a daytime phone number at the top of your letter.

At the end of your letter, include your name, address, daytime phone number and age if under 18.

Deliver or mail to "Dad of the Year," Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, Florida 32771.

There is no length limit on letters.

Entries are due at the Herald office by 1 p.m. Wednesday, June 5.

Winners will be featured in the Father's Day edition of the Herald, Sunday June 16.

It's better not to take shortcut with names

DEAR ABBY: Please correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't it rude to shorten someone's name without his or her permission?

I'm so tired of introducing myself as "Elizabeth" only to be called "Liz." This happens to me often. I have tried correcting people who do this, but it doesn't do any good — they go right on calling me "Liz."

I just can't understand why so many people believe it's OK to take a "shortcut" with someone's name, can you?

ELIZABETH (NOT LIZ) IN DALLAS

DEAR ELIZABETH: Most people who take a shortcut with someone's name do so in the spirit of friendliness. However, it may be perceived as undue familiarity, so unless he/she feels certain that it will be well-received, it's better to go the longer route.

No one would presume to call Queen Elizabeth "Liz" — while Mrs. Thatcher responds good-naturedly when she's called "Maggie," I would not recommend calling Henry Kissinger "Hank," but Hank Greenberg would be puzzled were he to be called "Henry." Although former California Gov. Brown's name is really "Edmund Gerald," everyone calls him "Pat" for short, and he wouldn't have it any other way.

I have heard from many Barbaras who detest being called "Barb" and Richards who do not care for "Dick."

Bottom line: It's always wise when meeting a person to ask, "And what shall I call you?"

DEAR ABBY: May I respond to "Appalled in Chicago" concerning the present-day secretary's lack of skills?

Like me, there are many efficient secretaries who can type, take dictation, spell, add, make coffee, water plants and run errands. The problem is that the present-day office manager wants a 19-year-old with good buns. Well, most of us who have first-rate secretarial skills saw "19" many years ago, and our buns are sagging.

My scores on employment tests have amazed personnel department heads, but as soon as the person for whom I would be working takes one look at this old broad, I don't stand a chance.

ADVISE

When those in charge choose efficiency over cute, gum-popping airheads, the secretarial field will once again become a respected line of work.

HALLOWED GROUND

A grassy field in Gettysburg; muddy trenches slithering through European soil; a stretch of beach in Normandy; the dense and rugged terrain of Korea; the steaming jungles in Vietnam; the arid deserts of the Middle East... all soil consecrated by the blood of those who died for democracy. Abraham Lincoln expressed it so eloquently: "We cannot hallow this ground. The brave men (and women)... who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract."

However we choose to commemorate this significant day, may the offering of prayers for a world united by peace and love be our living memorial.

"Turn ye even to me with your heart... and with weeping, and with mourning... and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful."
 Joel 2:12-13

IN BRIEF

Calling all area clergy

SANFORD — The Sanford Ministerial Association is asking for the assistance of all clergy in the area.

The association is planning a community wide crusade tentatively scheduled for October of this year, at the Sanford Memorial Stadium. It is a church.

Members have been working diligently for the past eight months to organize the crusade which will include Jim Frazier Crusade Ministry, a former associate of Billy Graham and a organizer of the Billy Graham Schools of Evangelism.

On Tuesday, there will be a meeting of all interested churches at The First Baptist Church, C 19 and Church Street, Lake Monroe, at noon.

"This meeting is the acid test of whether the crusade will even be held," according to the Rev. Clark Adams, pastor of The First Baptist Church of Lake Monroe and coordinator of the crusade.

"We need 30 churches to confirm participation on Tuesday," he said. "Even if the pastor of the church cannot attend, please send a representative to sign up."

For more information on the crusade, please call the Rev. Adams at 323-4505.

Dedication, remembrance set

LAKE MARY — First Baptist Church Markham Woods, 5400 Markham Woods Road, Lake Mary, will have worship services on Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. The 10:45 service will include a dedication time for the recent refurbishing of the sanctuary provided by memorial gifts from members of the church. Also included will be a time of remembrance of those who have given their lives in the Armed Forces of the United States of America and for those beloved members of First Baptist Church Markham Woods who have gone to be with the Lord during the last 12 months.

For information, call 333-2086.

Service times changed for summer

LAKE MARY — Beginning June 2, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, 700 Rinehart Road, will change to a summer schedule which will remain in effect through Sept. 1. Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9 a.m., nursery care will be provided during the service. Also at 9 a.m. children in kindergarten through the sixth grade will attend Children's Church in the Education Wing.

For further information, please call 444-LORD.

Hoopers in concert

Gospel recording artists, the Singing Hopper Family, with other special guests, will appear in concert at Tabernacle Baptist Church, 6000 W. Colonial Dr., Orlando, June 14 at 7 p.m.

The public is urged to hear this Gospel group which was recognized as the top mixed group by the Southern Gospel Music Association.

Tickets can be purchased in advance for $4 per person or at the door for $5.

For information call 407-296-3086.

Carter to be guest of Habitat for Humanity

Habitat for Humanity of Greater Orlando will host a "Habitation" (town meeting) and former President Jimmy Carter will be the guest speaker at the First Presbyterian Church of downtown Orlando on June 19 at 8 p.m. The meeting is open to the public and will be sponsored by the habitat's 23 Central Florida affiliate chapters.

Former President Carter will help generate support for Habitat here in the Central Florida area and to share his experiences in working with the organization for the last nine years. Both the former President and Mrs. Carter have been active supporters as well as working volunteers for Habitat by leading a week long work camp each year and serving on the Board of Directors.

"A Habitation is something like a Town Hall meeting. It's a time to celebrate the accomplishments already made and to learn more about how Habitat volunteers can work to eliminate substandard housing," said Don Moore, president of the Orlando Chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

Habitat for Humanity, Int'l. is a non-profit organization that builds homes for the needy using volunteer labor and materials. Founded in 1976, 10,000 homes have been constructed.

For more information on attending the Habitation, please contact the local office by mail only at P.O. Box 533968, Orlando, FL 32853.

Is hope alive and well in your heart?

By E. EDWARD JOHNSON

I imagine that many of you if not all, have seen copies of Walt's famous picture called "Hope." I have heard one of the stories told about it. The picture shows a blindfolded woman, with bowed head, upon a sphere. In her hands she is holding a stringed instrument of the kind used by the Greeks to accompany song and recitation. Only one string of the instrument remains unbroken. Only one star can be seen shining in the dark sky. The artist, reaching out for some meaning not easy to grasp by people who do not think in symbols, called his picture "Hope."

Two/scrub women are looking at it and seem to be mystified. "Hope," said one to the other. "Why is it called Hope?" To which the other replied, gazing at the figure precariously perched on the sphere, "I suppose because she hopes she won't fall off."

Does that sound absurd? Well my friends, it is also illuminating, for many in this world think of hope as a poor, precarious thing, an illusion, a vanity, a disease of the mind.

One cynic has said: "He who lives on hope will die starving." Another, "Hope is the most hopeless thing of all." How very often we find this to be the common assessment of hope, a poor, vain, deceptive thing.

But, in the New Testament, Paul makes faith, hope, and love the cardinal virtues of life. "And now abideth faith, hope, and love." He also speaks of the patience of hope, and of a hope that maketh not ashamed. Always in the New Testament we find hope spoken of in the same high way. His letter to the Hebrews explodes into that daring paradox: "A hope both sure and steadfast." What say you then? Is hope a reality or an illusion? It cannot be both.

Each of us must make a decision. Is the New Testament right, or is the world right? Is our hope folly, or is it precious beyond price? The answer is really not difficult when we remember that they are talking about different things. There is a lower and a higher hope, a genuine article and a counterfeit. One is called optimism.

It is very good to be an optimist, and I believe most of us would rather live with an optimist than with a pessimist. While optimism is not pure cream, there is something to be said in favor of skimmed milk. Optimism can be very foolish.

It is that kind of hope that one, Owen Feltham spoke of when he said, "Hope is the bladder one takes wherewith to learn to swim, then goes beyond return and is lost." And another writer by the name of Lee said, "Hope is the sewing tailor of the mind which, while it cements with a coloured friendship, robs us of our best virtue, resolution."

Many in this world think of hope as a poor, precarious thing, an illusion, a vanity, a disease of the mind.

-Rev. Edward Johnson

The lower hope, or optimism, is that which prompts a person to say everything is going to be O.K. when they or a loved one is sick unto death. This kind of hope alone cannot save them. It is this which later causes them to say cynically, "Hope is dead, useless."

I am sure we all appreciate optimism and are quick to admit its service to our community, but a boisterous confidence which has no solid foundation is a mighty sickly thing when disappointments come. To be sure looking on the bright side of things may seem bold and brave, but if it involves a foolish neglect of facts, as is so very often the case, it can only add bitterness to the ultimate failure.

Our world is filled with business failures who merely kept looking on the bright side of their accounts. The church of today has its full quota of confused and frustrated people who insist only that God is God, as I am all right. If this is the only kind of hope these people possessed when they left the upper rooms on the day of Pentecost, christianity must surely have been defeated. But they had that kind of hope which is revealed in Revelation, "Christ is you, the hope of glory."

When Jesus met with his disciples for that last Passover feast, he spent the evening encouraging them to hope in God. Our hope in God is still the minister of our strength. Thinking of this, I recall two pictures. One I have already spoken of, the other is one you have probably seen on many stained glass church windows. A figure not pathetic, weak or forlorn, but strong and brave as a fortress. And in her hand not a broken stringed instrument, but the stout staff and iron grappling hooks of her mighty anchor. The anchor that entrench into that within the veil, the deeps of the world unseen, and for thence, whatever storm may swing their surface, holds the soul fast.

It is to this higher hope that all great heroes of the past have owed their power. Whatever the world may think in this our time, without this hope, christianity facing the stubborn mass of humanity's sin, will be paralyzed.

To every christian the shield of faith is no more essential than the helmet of hope. It is only a hope that strengthens and inspires, that causes christians to have a confident hope that God is on the throne. A hope that kindles within our hearts the deep faith like the one who cried, "though he slay me yet will I trust him..." A hope that refuses to be borne down and cowed by evil.

A hope that takes its place along side faith and love, and creates the strong knowledge that, in spite of the flexing muscles of destructive forces, justice and righteousness will not vanish from the earth; that out of the chaos of our present day, the will of God will ultimately be done "On earth as it is in heaven."

A great light still streams in the darkness, and proclaims that God will never leave us or forsake us. The cross is the pledge of that. God is still on the throne. Truth is indestructible. Let it be with the joyous assurance that when all the shallow lower hopes of the world are dead, we can hope on in Christ. For still abideth "Faith, hope and love."

The Rev. S. Edward Johnson is pastor of First Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, at 1607 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford.

Help for the needy

Mother Blanche Weaver, center, founder of Rescue Outreach Mission, in Sanford, and pastor of Rescue Church of God on 13th Street, was presented with two checks, totaling $252, by secretary of the Sanford Ministerial Association, the Rev. Tom Tkachuk, right, pastor of Congregational Christian Church, and the Rev. Edward Johnson, of First Christian Church, both of Sanford. The checks were a result of the Easter Sunrise Community Service offering sponsored by the association.

SEMINOLE SCENES

Let's do lunch

Garden Club of Sanford sponsors a luncheon and craft show at the Sanford Civic Center. The crowd gathers to enjoy the meal. Proceeds benefit beautification projects throughout the city.

When on assignment, the pictures shot by Herald photographers vary in angle, pose and content, and not all of them are published immediately. From time to time, the newspaper takes a second look at those news and features scenes from around Seminole County.
