

INSTRUCTIONS ON BUYING NEW DUCK STAMP RELEASED

Form Of License To Hunt Waterfowl Is Sold At Postoffice

As a catalyst for hunters of migratory waterfowl, the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, has issued the following list of questions and answers on the new migratory waterfowl hunting stamp:

(1) What are the requirements of the law as to persons who must purchase the stamp?

Answer—All persons over sixteen years of age who engage in hunting migratory waterfowl.

(2) Where can the stamp be purchased?

Answer—At any post office in any town having a population of 2,500 or more, and at certain other conveniently located post offices that will be designated by the Post Office Department.

(3) How may a stamp be obtained?

Answer—Go to the post office in any town having a population of 2,500 or more, and ask for a migratory waterfowl hunting stamp. Fill out the application blank, which will be provided by the postmaster, and hand the blank to the postmaster with the fee of one dollar.

(4) After paying one dollar for the stamp, is there any additional fee payable to the postmaster or collector?

Answer—No.

(5) How long does a stamp remain valid?

Answer—One year—from July 1st to June 30.

(6) Does the stamp permit one to hunt in more than one state, or may a stamp be purchased in one state wherein the applicant intends to hunt migratory waterfowl?

Answer—Only one Federal stamp is necessary, but its possession does not relieve the hunter of any license requirements imposed by state laws. All states require the nonresident hunter to take out a nonresident license.

(7) In case a person has hunting licenses in more than one state, to which of them should the Federal stamp be affixed?

Answer—It does not matter whether the stamp is affixed to the license of the state in which the sportsman is actually hunting at the time, provided that he has on his person a valid stamp, attached to any state hunting license or to the postmaster's certificate.

(8) To whom must the stamp be shown?

Answer—On request to United States Game Administrative Agents, United States Deputy Game Warden, and to any officer of any state or subdivision authorized to enforce the game laws.

(9) Is the stamp transferable?

Answer—No.

(10) Is the holder of a scientific collecting permit required to carry a stamp?

Answer—Yes. Collectors must have the stamp.

(11) Does the law require a person who holds a Federal permit and who is engaged in taking wildfowl for propagating purposes, to purchase a stamp?

Answer—No. This does not mean, however, that anyone with only a propagating permit is authorized to hunt wildfowl without the Federal stamp.

(12) Does the law require possession of stamp by a person authorized by permit of the Secretary of Agriculture to kill wildfowl damaging crops or property?

Answer—No. The stamp is not required in such cases.

(13) What are the maximum penalties for violation of this law?

Answer—$500 or six months' confinement, or both.

(14) What is done with the money collected from the sale of these stamps?

Answer—It is to be used by the Federal government to increase the supply of waterfowl. Of the total proceeds, ninety percent will be spent in buying or leasing and administering marsh and water areas to be set aside forever as migratory waterfowl sanctuaries.

(15) What are the first of these refuges will be set up along the flight lines from the breeding grounds to the Gulf Coast. The remaining ten percent will be used in issuing the stamps and administering the act.

(16) May stamp collectors and other non-hunters buy stamps?

Answer—Certainly. No one is under any obligation to kill a Federal hunting stamp, nor is there any rule to prevent anyone who wants to help restore the migratory waterfowl from purchasing any number of these "duck-saving" stamps.

YANKS FAVORED TO TAKE SERIES FROM TIGERS

Sensational Play Of Cochrane's Outfit Discouraged, 7-10

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Riding the crest of the baseball season's most sensational winning streak, the rampant Detroit Tigers came to town today to begin a five-game series with their arch rivals, the second-place New York Yankees. They were scheduled for a doubleheader today followed by three successive single games, in a battle that should go a long way toward deciding the outcome of the American League pennant race.

Under the dynamic leadership of Mickey Cochrane, in his first year as catcher-manager, the Tigers start their final swing around the eastern half of the circuit fortified by a lead of four and one-half games. This advantage has been built up during a twelve-game winning streak that has electrified the baseball following public generally and aroused the greatest baseball enthusiasm Detroit has known since its last pennant-winning days, exactly 25 years ago.

Despite the sharp contrast between the inspired rush of these battering Bengals, wielding their bats at an amazing .310 clip, and the highly erratic performances lately of the Yankees, in quest of their eighth pennant since 1921. Broadway betting commissioners last night made the New Yorkers favorites in the impending crucial series.

The theory seems to be that the Yankees, well known for their recuperative powers, will rise to the challenge on home grounds, whereas the Tigers are due to experience a reaction from their swift pace.

At any rate, Jack Doyle quoted 7 to 10 against the Yankees, for the opening game of today's doubleheader, and even money against the Tigers. Doyle's book showed 2-1-2 against the Yankees winning the series and 3 to 1 against the Tigers on the same proposition.

The Tigers will be a 1 to 2 shot to win the pennant, however; if they succeed in taking at least three out of the five games, Doyle predicted.

Yankee officials anticipated a turnout of close to 40,000 fans for the double bill, in which it is expected that Vernon (Lefty) Gomez and Charles (Red) Ruffing will be the Yankee choices to buy against the twin Tiger ace, Tommy Bridges and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attacks.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children.

Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2-1/4 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 percent more for your money.—Adv.

CANADA UPSET OVER 1ST CASE OF KIDNAPING

Royal Mounted Police Instructed To Keep
On Alert For Group
Which Had Brewed

Royal Canadian mounted police were instructed to be active in the search for John S. Labbat, Canada's first ransom kidnaping victim, as the Dominion today threw its aid to Ontario authorities.

Customs and immigration officials at all border points have been notified to keep a sharp lookout in the event the kidnapers attempt to cross into the United States.

Abductions, frequent in recent years in the United States have been rare in Canada's crime annals. The maximum penalty is 25 years.

Toronto police said they expected a break in the Labbat case late today. They gave no intimation as to what form the break might take.

Every effort is being made to shield the movements of Hugh Labbat, brother of the abducted man, who drove 100 miles from London to Toronto yesterday within a few hours after a brewer had been taken from his car while driving from Sarnia to keep an appointment in (Continued on Page Three)

Spirit Of Women At Paola, Pleases New County Home Agent

"I've never seen such a wonderful showing of enthusiasm and home spirit," said County Home Demonstration Agent Josephine Boydston this afternoon when she told of the success which she had in organizing Women's Home Demonstration Clubs in Lake Monroe and Paola yesterday afternoon.

Some days ago Miss Boydston visited in Paola seeking data as to the possibility of organizing a club in that town. She reached a decision that there were not enough women to form a club at this time, but she was advised that at least five women would affiliate with a Lake Monroe Club if it were organized.

Success Of Housing Program Held Depending On People's Willingness To Use It Fully

By CARLISLE DAVIDSON
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Now that the excitement attendant upon the passage of the housing bill has somewhat spent itself, there is a little speculation here as to the chances of this effort by the Administration lifting the construction industry out of the doldrums.

General enthusiasm was enlisted later by the action of lumber manufacturers, who, faced with additional expenditures incident to nationwide forest conservation, cut their minimum cost-protection price schedules 10 percent in an effort to start the ball rolling.

Since that event, however, there has been a trickle of inquiries into Washington as to the probability of the people's willingness to grasp and use this new weapon against the depression.

NRA, HARRIMAN MILL ATTACKED BY MRS. PINCHOT

Governor's Wife Says
Restoration Of Blue
Eagle Was Illegal

HARRIMAN, Tenn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor of Pennsylvania, lashed out at both the administration of the NRA and the management of the Harriman Hosiery Mills in an address last night to striking mill workers.

"It is unbelievable that Clancy, an anti-union man, should have been selected for the position he holds and then allowed to misuse the power of his official position to make a mockery of the law he had sworn to enforce," she asserted.

"I would be about as logical to put the administration of our criminal law into the hands of Al Capone, Dillinger and other such—with perhaps one honest citizen worked in somewhere as an observer but without power to make decisions."

OLD GRANARY SYSTEM MAY BE RESTORED

AAA Heads Consider Ancient Plan Which Would Provide Food
For All Lean Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A scheme borrowed from ancient civilization, reserves of food and fed to meet lean years, yesterday took further shape at a round conference on the drought and its ramifications.

Secretary Wallace has said several times the normal carryover of some of the nation's principal crops might be increased and kept at a higher level than in the past just to meet such situations as have occurred in the wake of the dry siege.

The normal carry-over of wheat is around 125,000,000 bushels. This might be boosted to 200,000,000 without acting as a lever to depress prices in ordinary times if the trade and the country understood the excess grain would not go into commercial channels unless there was pressing need.

The "Granary" proposal has not been passed upon finally but the possibility was seen yesterday that the President might make it official with his endorsement.

Between parties, Farm Administration and Federal Relief officials gathered data to submit to the President. He may talk about the drought on the basis of these figures later.

It was said yesterday in informed quarters, however, that the Chief Executive apparently had no startling announcement in mind and might confine his remarks to reassurances there were ample food supplies for the country.

Other developments because of the drought included:
1. The likelihood that production of grains and cotton next year will be restored to normal, or thereabouts.

2. Orders to the Department of Agriculture's crop reporters scattered throughout the country to forward immediately data on food, feed, and seed supplies available on farms, in country elevators, warehouses and other storage facilities.

Food Prices Are Soaring All Over Nation Survey Reveals, With Peak Still Far Away

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Food prices are soaring in the United States a survey indicated last night, with the peak still some distance away.

The drought, which made vast inroads into food supplies, is beginning to be felt in homes from California to Massachusetts, thrifty housewives have started buying against further price increases. No actual hoarding has been noted in major cities but the larders are being filled.

Meanwhile, leading national distributors of canned foods admit they are buying in the open market, at a premium, because of general expectancy of higher prices (Continued On Page Two)

KARL LEHMANN SEES NEW DEAL GAINING RESPECT

Trade Body Secretary
Has Just Returned
From Week At Fair

"The New Deal in its various ramifications running for NRA and AAA up and down has caught the respect and good will of many of even the radical Republican antagonists of the Administration," said Karl Lehmann, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Mr. Lehmann has just returned from attendance at the National Institute of Commercial and Trade Executives, held at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., last week.

"Of course," Mr. Lehmann stated, "Chicago is the center of the most rabid criticism of the Administration and its activities, and strong newspapers in that city, through their editorial policies, voice the criticisms freely. Business leaders are quite outspoken in their opinions of the effects of the present movements."

Discussing the Institute, Mr. Lehmann said there were 125 commercial and trade executives from 26 states in attendance, with Florida represented by five men, from Jacksonville, Miami Beach, Lake Wales, Ocala, and Sanford.

"Among the more interesting speakers at the Institute," Mr. Lehmann said, "was Dudley Gates who resigned recently as assistant administrator of the NRA because of his marked difference of opinion with General Johnson. Mr. Gates is recognized as an opponent of certain aspects of NRA, and he discussed the subject 'What After NRA' in his talk before us."

JOSHUA CHASE PROTESTS NEW CONTROL PLAN

Sanford Man At Meet
In Orlando Claims
Growers Would Lose
By National Rule

ORLANDO, Aug. 15.—(A.P.)—Testimony of those opposed to the proposed new marketing agreement for the Florida citrus industry was concluded today, and the floor opened to its supporters.

W. H. Mouser, Orlando shipper, attacked a clause of the proposed agreement providing for pro-rata quotas to be assigned on the basis of the amount of fruit the applicant had under control.

The Control Committee, he said, should be given some discretion in deciding a basis for making pro-rata quotas.

By all means, he added, past performances should be taken into consideration. Mouser said he is opposed to national proration as did J. G. Chase, Sanford, official of one of the largest shipping companies.

Chase insisted that the national control plan would discriminate against Florida in favor of California.

Favorable freight rates, said Chase, permitted California shippers to compete in Eastern markets while Florida fruit could not cross the Mississippi River at rates cheap enough to permit successful competition with Western fruit in Western markets.

Three major articles of the proposed new citrus marketing agreement containing the outstanding departures from the agreement which prevailed last season and which was abruptly terminated Monday by Secretary Wallace became the target for a prolonged attack here Tuesday at the hands of Senator Spearman L. Holland of Bartow representing 83 shipping concerns and grower affiliates.

Senator Holland launched into his subject in the afternoon session of the hearing being conducted before Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials to determine sentiment in regard to the newly drafted marketing agreement which seeks to place control of the citrus industry in the hands of the growers.

Mark Galbreath, father of Marco Galbreath who is manager of the First Street and Magnolia Avenue Piggly-Wiggly store, died at his home in New Smyrna just before midnight last night. Other policies of organization also were discussed.

C. Russell Mason, manager of the W. Albee Burpee Co.'s Sanford branch is now on a six weeks' coast-to-coast tour inspecting various seeds that are grown in every section of the land. He is gathering data which he believes will be of benefit to him as well as growers in Sanford, and already carload shipments are beginning to come in from some of the fields he has inspected in the local wholesale branch. Henry Russell, local Burpee dealer, has a portion of the shipments at his Park Avenue branch store.

Exalted Ruler F. C. MacMahon and Secretary Howard Overlin of Sanford Elks Lodge No. 1241 are expected to be in Deland on Sunday attending the annual meeting of exalted rulers and secretaries of all parts of Florida. "Sheriff" E. E. Brady, one of the county's two new legislators, was the only local person who accepted Mrs. Hortense K. Wells' invitation to attend a fish fry get-together meeting at Fisherman's Paradise near Apopka on Saturday afternoon. Representative Brady turned the affair one of the finest events of its kind he had ever attended, and he said that "plenty of political figures and big wigs were present to enjoy the hospitality of a fine woman." Mrs. Wells is the Tampa woman who was an unsuccessful candidate for Senator Park Trammell's seat in the U. S. Senate (Continued on Page Three)

Evangelist Says He'd Let Rattlesnake Bite Him Again If God Told Him To

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The rattlesnake evangelist, Albert Teaster, came to town yesterday, got his picture taken, spoke to the nation by radio, and told reporters of the "Divine Message" he received 14 months ago to "scatter the word of God."

The 29-year-old former lumberman appeared in Charlotte, some 300 miles from the fastnesses of native mountains, with his right hand and arm still swollen and mottled from the venom of a five-foot rattlesnake which he let sink its fangs into him ten days ago to test his faith.

State Field Crops In Fair Shape Last Month

ORLANDO, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture yesterday reported Florida field crops averaging "fairly well" during July, somewhat retarded by lack of rainfall in many sections.

Hay crops and pastures have done "well," the report said, while citrus crop prospects were said to be better than a year ago. Orange were reported 50 percent of normal on Aug. 1, compared with 78 a year ago. Grapefruit were reported 76 percent as to 71 a year ago. Tangerines were quoted at 78 percent, against 50 percent last August.

Roosevelt Warns Chiselers Who Plan To Profit In Foods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today gave notice that "chiselers" seeking to profit in food prices as a result of drought would have to reckon with the federal government.

Speaking at his regular press conference the President, in response to inquiries, asserted there is plenty of food for the nation and no cause for any profiteering or for alarm by consumers.

He also said the drought had had no effect upon the principle of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which is to control production.

Railroads Denied Injunction Against Retirement Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Railroads of the country were denied a temporary order in District of Columbia Supreme Court to restrain the Railroad Retirement Board from starting the operation of the Pension Law passed by the last session of Congress.

Justice Proctor, after being told by Hammond Chaffitz, representing the Attorney-General that the Board contemplated asking only enough advance funds by railroads to start administrative work, that railroads were not in danger of sufficient damage to warrant the temporary order.

As a result of the decision, a further hearing on the case probably will not be held for several weeks.

SAWMILL BLAST FATAL

TROTVILLE, N. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Three men were killed yesterday by the explosion of a boiler in the J. E. Wiggins sawmill and cotton gin here. Alvah Wiggins, son of the owner; W. G. Hollowell and Inge Eason, negro fireman, are the dead.

HEADS OF PYTHIAN KNIGHTS

THE CHRISTIAN'S MISSION: Preach, saying, The Kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give.—Matthew 10:7.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that our next few years of prosperity will have a silver lining. Private American investors whose government bonds are payable in gold might be glad to get silver if there should be no prosperity to line.

FERA workers in Oberlin, Ohio, sing the Russian communist anthem, "the Internationale" at their work. They probably do not know that if the song they are singing should ever take the place of the "Star-Spangled Banner," there would be no FERA, that in Russia starving unemployed die by the wayside.

In New York City one out of every ten is on the relief rolls of the city, not counting those on federal relief, according to the Department of Public Welfare there. Such evidence as this indicates rather strongly what a democracy can do for its people in times of distress, without the use of any of the "isms" from Europe.

We can imagine sets of things we would rather do than ascend into the stratosphere dangling in a little old gondola at the bottom of a balloon as those Army fliers did a week or two ago, but when it comes to going down into the bottom of the ocean, some 3,500 feet below sea level, with Dr. William Beebe in his "bathysphere," we'll take to the stratosphere any old time.

Banks which have gradually gone out of the lending business during the past few years have seen the government rapidly assume this position of their functions. A recent statement of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation reveals that since its organization it has made more than $7,125,297,908 in loans of which some $1,710,000,000 has already been repaid. The lending of over seven billion dollars constitutes a rather sizable banking operation.

It is small wonder that an element of uncertainty pervades certain phases of American business. Senator Thomas, in a speech before the Senate, predicted a great era of inflation. Government bonds decline in response to inflationary hysteria. Then Secretary Morgenthau issues a statement declaring that "inflation is silver," is not inflation, that the number of silver certificates to be issued is just a drop in the bucket. One wonders if anyone knows what this is all about.

Hillsborough unemployed evidently face the unpleasant alternative of submitting to FERA conditions without grubbing or going without government aid entirely. According to the regional administrator, the head of the state organization, Julius P. Stone, he advised the local officials "to get the county off relief if means continue to harass the Hillsborough county administration." As we have said before, all FERA workers have a direct interest in seeing to it that small unemployed groups among them do not starve, with the relief to be provided for all of them. The unemployed will not starve.

An Indian Race

The American Indian has long been noted for his unusual endurance. Most remarkable evidence was told by early pioneers of the speed and tirelessness with which young Indian braves used to carry messages among their scattered tribesmen.

Monday, evidently in emulation of their sturdy ancestor, twelve young braves of the Tuscarora Indians near Fort Niagara in northern New York state, began a 450-mile relay run to Washington where they will extend a special invitation to President Roosevelt to attend an Indian celebration in September.

Fort Niagara has been restored for the celebration after seven years' work, at a cost of $500,000, borne by the Federal, state and municipal governments. Part of the ceremony will include the unveiling of a memorial of the Rosh-Rogaw Treaty, under which the American-Canadian border has remained unfortified for 116 years. A pageant depicting the history of the fort will be presented each of the four nights by a cast of 3,500 persons, under the direction of Thomas Wood Stevens.

The fort was established in 1626 by Brother Joseph de la Roche Dallon, a Franciscan friar, said to have been the first white man to reach the Niagara frontier. The first actual fort structure was built in 1676, with the erection of Louis XIV, of France, but later was burned. Several other structures were built in the intervening years until 1786, when, at the outbreak of the Seven Years War in Europe, and the French and Indian War in America, France sent Francois Pouchot to fortify completely the location of the original fort. The fort continued in almost constant use, changing hands many times, until the Treaty of Ghent ended the War of 1812, and in 1815 the fort was restored to the United States. Restoration work was begun in 1927.

Most of the Indians taking part in the relay are young, some of them exceedingly so, but one or two are past forty. Bird Lying-Dows, twenty-six-year-old leader of the group, all of whom will wear native costumes, will complete the trip by taking the pouch at Pennsylvania Avenue and Thirteenth Street in Washington and dashing to the White House. The other messengers are Horse Meat, twenty-eight; Wounded Bird, forty; Little Elk, seventeen; Long-Time Sleep, twenty-four; Thunder-Stride, twenty-six; Lone Wolf, twenty-four; Flying Eagle, twenty-two; Sitting Beaver, fourteen; Deer Foot, seventeen; Knocks-Off-Three, sixteen, and Young Man Kick-A-Hole-In-The-Sky, forty-one.

We wonder how many of our young men about town would care to participate in this little relay, and whether there are any forty-one-year-olds among us who would swap places with Chief Young Man Kick-A-Hole-In-The-Sky.

One Less Racketeer

The old method of shaking down legitimate business concerns as practiced for so many years by hard-boiled racketeers is likely to lose some of its popularity if the treatment given it by a New York confectioner the other day becomes widely practiced.

The "shake down," as it has often been worked in some of our larger cities, is carried on something like this: A hunky, well-dressed individual walks into a restaurant and asks to see the manager. The manager comes up, and the stranger says, "Bill sent me in here to collect $100."

"Who's Bill?" asks the manager. "I don't know," says the stranger. "He just told me to get $100."

If the manager pays the $100, that settles it for the time being and nothing happens. In about a week the stranger will be back.

But if the manager demurs, or absolutely refuses to pay the money, the stranger goes out quietly enough. But that night, after everyone has gone home and the streets are quiet, a car drives by, and when exactly opposite the restaurant a fusillade of bricks is let fly, and more than a $100 worth of damage is quickly done. Or perhaps machine gun bullets, or a bomb, accomplish the same purpose.

The other day, Joseph Caputo, a paroled convict and prominent New York racketeer, walked into the confectionery shop of Gaetano Cricchio and demanded $40. No questions were answered though they were asked. Caputo simply demanded $40 and Cricchio knew what that meant.

But Cricchio also knew that he could not afford to pay $40 every week out of his meager savings for "protection." His shop was a very small one operated by himself and his two daughters. They were barely making a living out of it as it was. To have to pay $40 to someone he didn't even know and for something he didn't even need couldn't be reconciled with his sense of American justice and liberty.

In a fit of absolute desperation he suddenly seized a gun from behind the counter and began firing. Five of the six bullets took effect and they carried Caputo out on a stretcher. It goes almost without saying that racketeers will give Cricchio a wide berth after this.

Karl Lehmann Sees New Deal Gaining Respect

"Great plants now are making industrial alcohol out of corn," Mr. Lehmann said, "and this has been made to popularize the use of using 15 percent alcohol in gasoline for automobiles. One gallon of alcohol is the equivalent of one gallon of gasoline. The movement so far has not gained much headway because of the few cents extra cost per gallon for the alcohol. The alcohol is supposed to produce a non-knock gasoline."

Continuing on the "Florida exhibit of the World's Fair," Mr. Lehmann stated that Florida is receiving a great deal of very good publicity because of the "Florida exhibit" at the World's Fair in Chicago, which began May 15, 1934. The exhibit is in the Grand Hall of the Biltmore Hotel in Chicago. Mr. Lehmann said that the exhibit is in the Grand Hall of the Biltmore Hotel in Chicago. Food Prices Soaring Over Land Although Peak Is Far Away

(Continued from page one) and possibility of some shortages. One company is buying on a 30-day supply basis now as against a previous policy of a 30-day supply.

But it is the housewife, the survey showed, who is most concerned about rising prices. Instances of this are shown in the following: St. Paul grocers reported housewives are complaining about high prices.

Kansas City, Mo., grocers report canned goods sales are about 100 percent heavier than normal. Chicago grocers report wholesale prices rapidly are climbing "out of sight." Dallas grocers report canned goods—such as tomatoes, corn and peas—have advanced during the drought from 10 to 25 percent.

JOHNSON REVEALED

EDITOR & PUBLISHER

The country gained a better understanding of the political and press theories of Gen. Hugh Johnson, thanks to his Chicago tirade. The issue has no effect on the party system, then, about the same view as Hitler's "policy of expression," cannot brook criticism as opposition to a goal of dominating the masses. It had actually been conditioned by military dictator. Antagonism, in things, must be burned up in fiery stage and be believed to be a smart trick to use the government licensed radio to publicize charges that the American press is dominated by mercenaries who corrupt public opinion, have a "policy of gasolining, suppressing and poisoning the news."

We doubt if a more reckless talker has ever come out of Washington, which is saying a lot. A section of the American press, particularly Chicago Tribune, has been made to seem. It is a faith in the Roosevelt Administration, or at least its recovery program. In editorial columns and news columns they publish almost daily attacks. On the contrary, a larger group of newspapers across the country have supported the NRA. These editors have no faith in the Roosevelt Administration, or at least its recovery program. In editorial columns and news columns they publish almost daily attacks.

Nothing comes to such talk, we believe. The people who listen to it may be entertained, but few are convinced. People also are newspaper readers and are capable of making up their own minds whether the press has been fair or false. When American newspapers housewives paying 35 cents a dozen now against 26 cents 6 May 1.

In St. Paul butter has jumped from 18 to 25 cents since May 1. Prices generally are higher with the present cold storage supply reportedly 27 percent less than a year ago.

Milk prices generally have remained about steady but in St. Louis the price of cream today advanced 75 cents to 50 cents a pint; bread prices are fairly steady. St. Louis and one or two other cities reported advances. Flour has climbed forward steadily in all reporting cities.

Fresh vegetables, ordinarily expensive at this season, have jumped to a position where they are 50 to 100 percent higher than a year ago in Washington, D. C.

They are comparatively steady in New York City but sweet corn now at its zenith— sells at 50 cents a dozen in New York City.

"We feel a continued rise in prices is in the air for all products," one Washington, D. C., grocer said and then admitted that grocers are spending all the available funds now to lay in supplies of canned goods.

of the very fine Florida exhibit off to even better advantage than a year ago.

Mr. Lehmann considers the Ford exhibit which is said to have cost $2,000,000 of the cost of the grounds, and the exhibit of the three big motor-cars, Ford, Chrysler and Buick—equally elaborate exhibits.

"Some of the new exhibits of the Fair," Mr. Lehmann stated, "are distinctly worthwhile, among them being the 'Black Forest' and the 'Colonial Village'."

"The House of Burgs," Mr. Lehmann said, "is the most interesting exhibit on the grounds although it is not in the Grand Hall of the Biltmore Hotel in Chicago."

Evangelist Says He'd Let Hitler Bite Him Again

(continued from page one) bite me. Then I put it back in the box. It got loose, and I ran down the aisle and caught it. Then it bit me again, almost in the same place.

"I don't fight any more, but before I got to my brother's house I got a sore on my neck. My arm swelled double. My tongue closed my throat. I suffered. But I did not lose consciousness. I kept praying. My congregation prayed for me. Some one said they would get a doctor. But my voice came to me and I said no. A thousand times no. If God wanted me to die, I would die. But God wants me to keep on teaching His Word, so all the world can hear."

After a few minutes, the back-slash evangelist stopped answering questions. He was impatient to get back to his cabin on Cullowee Mountain, his wife and his five children. Tuester's first wife is dead—she died a few years ago in child birth, refusing to have a physician. He left her at 3 P. M. after informing a number of persons over long distances that he would let them know later about revival engagements.

Power Of Nazis Is Everlasting, Says Goebbels

(Continued from Page One) number of last year, other nations will rejoice, saying if they wait 40,000 years, Nazism will vanish by logic in arithmetic.

"German empires should learn that their emigration is permanent not transitory," Goebbels cried, addressing 80,000 persons packing at a sports stadium at Nonnhoff, a Berlin suburb, who stood in a chill August evening to listen to him. "Only one man is entitled to speak on behalf of the whole nation now, and the world must know Hitler is the unrestricted leader of the whole nation." Referring to foreign predictions that a monarchy would succeed the passing of Paul von Hindenburg as president, Goebbels declared: "Germany does not put crowns on names, but on merit. No emperor, king or other leader ever achieved as much as Hitler." Eulogizing Hitler's career, he said: "His life is like a fairy tale. It is hardly credible that in our time an unknown, poor man could rise to head our nation."

Byrd Resting Easily, His Strength Gaining

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Admiral Richard E. Byrd, still at Bolling advance weather base, was resting comfortably yesterday and gave evidence of being able to make a rapid recovery of his strength, members of the tractor party which reached him Friday reported.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, second in command of the expedition, who led the tractor party in its dash to Admiral Byrd at his isolated post said it will be some time, however, before they can bring him back. He said they did not think it wise to expose him to the hazard of a tractor journey yet. How long it will be before they start back Dr. Poulter did not say.

"We shall remain here," he said, "until Admiral Byrd feels able to travel. Our presence here and the fact that we have relieved him of the physical effort of daily detail incidental to his solitary confinement already have lifted a great weight off his shoulders. He is remarkably cheerful."

FLORIDA FISHING is Big BUSINESS

Fishing is such a common and universally enjoyed sport in Florida that its commercial value, as a tremendous resource, is often overlooked. Aside from its attraction as a leisure sport, the business of fishing brings the starting income of $25,000,000 into this state every year.

Florida—with 3721 miles of ocean shoreline, ten navigable rivers, numerous inland canals, and some 30,000 lakes—deserves the name of "fisherman's paradise." No other state or any other locality in the world can challenge the skill of Florida's anglers.

Florida's fishing industry last year of $430,000 for fish and marine, $600,000 for charter boats, $1,000,000 for fishing gear, and $1,000,000 for the upkeep of boats. Other Florida fishing boats produce similar incomes from this sporting industry.

Deep sea game fishing in Florida waters attracts to sportsmen from all over the world. Millions of fishermen, with rod and reel, and hundreds of boats, find their happiest moments in the warm Florida waters. The state offers a unique opportunity in fishing, a sport that will bring you millions of dollars of the state's income to you. Let's get them for you. Let's get them for you. Let's get them for you.

paid cash on the tree were dealt a blow through insufficient representation on the control board and further declared that the agreement took the industry out of the hands of the growers and shippers and placed it under the dictatorship of Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture.

Coming to the defense of the grower was Judge J. W. Perkins of Deland, who claimed that he had been a grower for 30 years and who had usually operated in the red. He declared that last year, however, under the operation of the marketing agreement he had been able to pay expenses.

Judge Perkins said that he heartily agreed with the agreement as proposed, declaring with emphasis that "we must recognize that the government must help us."

The Deland man said that if the control committee could distribute fruit under a controlled plan to all the various marketing points and control the volume into those points every grower in the state would make money.

Shouting to his audience and waving his hands to emphasize his points, Judge Perkins charged that cash buying procedure was one of the worst evils of the industry, that such a system allowed indiscriminate shipments.

"Talk about the generosity of the shippers," he shouted, "I hold no brief for any shipper. Their attitude is to hell with the grower when they get their profit."

Cheers and handclapping thundered through the auditorium as the judge shouted his charges into the microphones of the loud speaker.

Throughout his testimony and argument Holland maintained that the interests he represented desired the retention of the former marketing agreement and its stipulations for the selection of members of the committee by association, rather than the selection of members by district as provided in the new plan.

He read the list of the shipping and co-operative concerns he said he represented and the list contained many of the most prominent houses in Florida.

A large percentage of the agencies represented, he said, were growers themselves.

"We have not come here to oppose the establishment of a marketing agreement," Senator Holland said. "Last year we collaborated with other interests in the establishment of such an agreement."

To replenish the coffers of approved lending institutions and to facilitate the ready flow of private capital from one part of the country to another, the bill provides for the approval of "national mortgage associations," capitalized at not less than $5,000,000 each, empowered to discount insured mortgages and issue bonds against them.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation is authorized to issue an additional billion in bonds to refinance distressed mortgages and to set aside another $100,000,000 for loans to modernize properties already mortgaged to the corporation.

Insurance is authorized for accounts no greater than $5,000 each in federal and other savings and loans, building and loan, and home-ownership associations and co-operative banks.

The expenses of administration of new-construction loans, including the liquidation of foreclosed properties, if any, are to be met from premiums paid by the borrower and at fairly low premiums from one-half to 1 percent of the face of the loan—74 considered high enough to return a profit.

The lender is furnished a guarantee against loss of either principal or interest—a guaranty which has behind it the federal credit, the full force of organized society in this country.

The act was intended to be no more than an instrument to encourage the granting of credit on a colossal scale, and such it surely is.

No detail has been overlooked which might help the flow of funds from lender to borrower; a machine has been constructed in which all the cogs may be expected to mesh with smooth precision.

The framers of the measure have done an excellent, journeyman-like job of legislating—but neither they nor the bill can furnish lenders or borrowers.

That lenders will loosen purse strings is almost a foregone conclusion. Any fear of spathy on the part of conservative bankers seem dissipated by the attitude of men like Charles A. Miller, president of the Savings Banks Trust Company of New York, who endorsed the measure to the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency.

If, however, there should develop any attempt by existing institutions to sabotage the measure, new lending agencies will undoubtedly step into the breach, for an assured return of 5 percent on a security as good as a government bond is too tempting a bait to pass up.

But lenders are not going to ferret out borrowers from their present abodes; these will have to come forward under their own steam. There are facts to indicate that they are likely to do just that thing.

necessary, for these funds are to be based upon the applicant's earning capacity and credit standing. No hypothecation of the real property is permitted.

While the bill provides insurance of such accommodations for only 50 percent of the total amount advanced, by any one lending institution, this is considered ample to protect, as losses on such loans have never exceeded 3 or 4 percent.

The housing administration will not be in position to approve loans for new construction until its organization has been completed and a system of appraisal devised—which, it has been stated will take a minimum of ninety days—but the Administration is prepared to pass on modernization loans as applications are presented.

Much, of course, will depend upon the selling efforts of contractors and purveyors of materials insofar as both modernization and new construction loans are concerned.

The probabilities are that, hungry for business after the long famine, they will leave no stone unturned to induce the new home owners the change possible, some amounting practically to metamorphoses, by the expenditure of but few dollars.

Various trade associations, including the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, have prepared plans for national trade extension campaigns.

The Southern Pine Association recently voted an increase of 66 2/3 percent in its dues for trade promotion purposes.

The Lumber Code Authority has submitted for N. R. A. approval a proposition to tax units in the industry five cents a thousand for trade extension activities. The American Forest Products Industries, Inc., an affiliate of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, has sponsored the effort of the lead industry to acquaint the public with the advantages of good paint.

And, with respect to new construction, the sales efforts of the building and materials industries will unquestionably be aided by operators in the real estate field.

Some light may be thrown on the question of a possible housing shortage by further reference to the Commerce Department's survey.

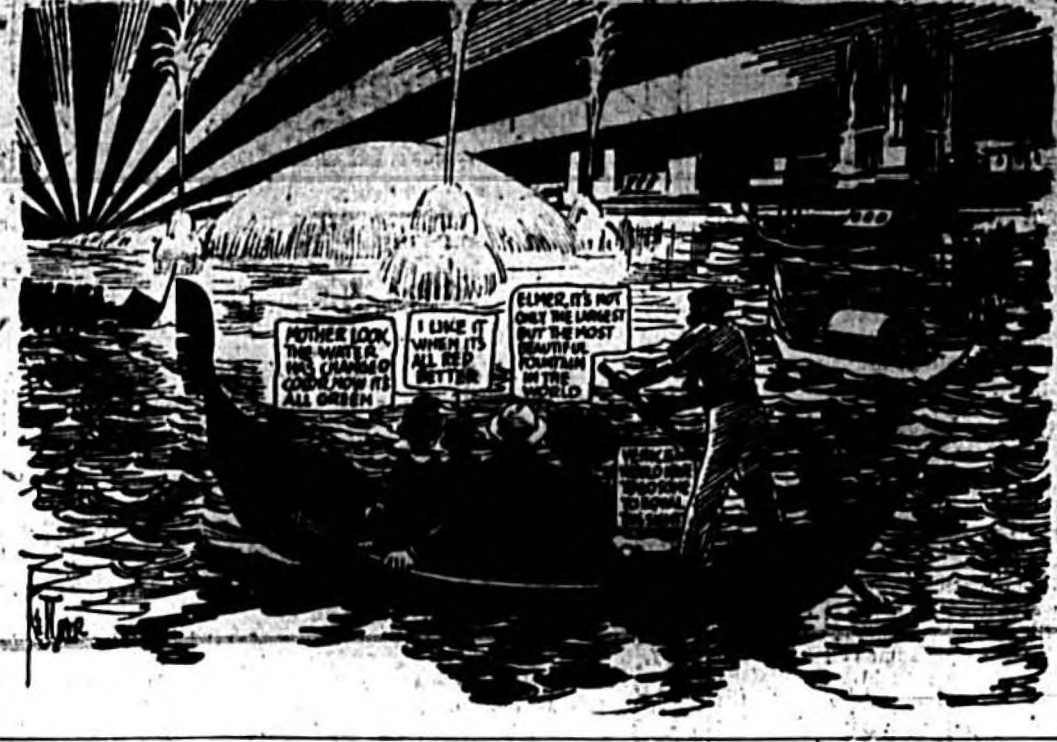

In the sixty-three cities for which figures are available, there are 2,068,967 dwelling units occupied. Crowded in with the occupants are 15,742 extra families.

It is true that there are 171,314 dwelling units vacant, but against this must be set the fact that there are 801,958 dwelling structures, which may conceivably average two or three dwelling units each, that are either unfit for occupancy or present an imperative need of extensive structural repairs.

These cities, scattered all over the country, are fairly representative.

That there exists a strong desire on the part of many people to live in better homes is indicated by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association's survey, which developed the fact that throughout the country there were, last January, 800,000 bonafide, non-speculative, home-building prospects possessed either of a building lot, some cash, or both, who awaited only adequate financing to begin construction.

It should be noted that this figure of 300,000 includes only those who are already sold on the idea of building a new home. Robert R. Doane, director of the Federal Survey of Potential Product Capacity and associated with the National Industrial Conference Board, an advisor, declared recently that there exists today a shortage of in excess of 6,000,000 dwellings.

And the Housing Act which contemplates loans up to 80 percent of an appraised valuation, offers just the type of loan desired, for the National's survey revealed that 55 percent of the prospects needed 75 percent long-term amortized loans, while 28 percent could get along with an amortized loan for 50 percent of a conservative appraisal.

These figures go a long way toward answering the argument that the average prospective home owner is willing to pay 8 percent on an ordinary first mortgage, hoping to renew the loan on the due date, but balks at the increased outlay incident to an amortized loan.

Incidentally, the Housing Bill provides that loans are to be amortized in a period no greater than twenty years; annual payments of approximately 9 percent will effect this result that there is possibility that some of the last payments may be remitted through insurance earnings.

There undoubtedly will be many evening family conferences in the homes of urbanites who have dreamed for years of migrating to the hinterland. The 9 percent outlay, plus fire insurance, probable cost of maintenance, taxes, fuel, and the railroad commutation necessary to transport the head of the family to and from his job in the city each day will be set against the amount being put out monthly for apartment rent; the accommodations chances of improvement in conditions surrounding family life, and, in fact, possible degrees of human satisfaction in general will be carefully compared.

Wilson Compton, general manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, testifying before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee while the bill was under consideration, said that as a result of the measure lumber consumption estimated at 17,500,000,000 feet for 1934 could be increased to 25,000,000,000 in 1935.

This reflects a jump of about 43 percent, which would be a boon indeed to lumbermen. The lumber industry, under the code, was comparatively "flat" in its average hourly wage from 28.14 cents in July, the high point before the code, to 40.14 cents in April, 1934, the latest month for which complete reports are available.

During the same period, the average of lowest wages paid increased from 18.81 cents to 29.09 cents an hour, and, just as a time when the industry assumed a new burden by its undertaking to conserve forest resources, it made the drastic cut of 10 percent in mill prices.

This move, however, was not without immediate reward, for new business booked during the last week in July was greater than in any of the previous nine weeks.

Mrs. Pinchot declared that the depression was not over "because a few rich men can afford to use their yachts again."

"On the contrary," she said, "such a one-sided recovery is the very worst thing that can happen to the country."

Silk-Hatted Hangman Executes Four Nazis

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A hangman attired in evening clothes and wearing a high silk hat went out into the rain Monday and executed four men who participated in the Nazi uprising July 25 in which Chancellor Dollfuss was assassinated.

Despite the dismal downpour, the hangman observed all the usual formalities as he performed his tasks about the improvised gallows in the yard of the district court building.

The four who paid with their lives for taking part in the raid on the federal chancellery were policemen, Franz Leeb, Josef Hackel, Ludwig Meitzen and Erich Wohl-
