No Problem In Welding

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space manufacturing tests conducted by Skylab astronauts demonstrate that man can assemble large structures in space, Jack H. Waite, the chief of Skylab experiments, reports. "We've learned there is no problem in welding in zero gravity. Brazing or joining of tubing was accomplished even better in weightlessness than it was done on earth," he said. "If we want to build large structures in space, we foresee no problem."

Bargainers Draw Contract

DETROIT (AP) — With a strike deadline less than three days away, bargainers trying to draw a new contract between Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers face today what the union says could be a critical day of negotiations. For the first time since talks began July 18, the UAW reported Tuesday that it had reached agreement with the automaker on some issues.

Trial Is Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — The pressures of Watergate and other federal investigations into the 1972 presidential campaign have brought a postponement in the trial of former Cabinet officers John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans. The delay granted Tuesday by a federal judge is expected to last three weeks to two months.

Ratings Found Useful

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association, says the five-year-old film rating system he instituted has reached its highest level of acceptance. He cites a survey showing that 55 per cent of all citizens found the ratings useful, a rise of 11 points over 1972.

Automakers Will Comply

DETROIT (AP) — The Big Three automakers have disclosed they will comply with a federal request to place fuel economy labels on new cars and light trucks.

Washington Roundup

Congress Invited To Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the Nixon administration has invited key members of Congress to help draft the federal budget. A proposal by Budget Director Roy L. Ash that a series of meetings be held with Senate leaders on next year's budget was quickly accepted by the senators.

Chances Are Slim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee may make one more effort to get legislation to alter alleged tax loopholes moving this year, its acting chairman says. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., acknowledged that the chances are slim if Congress adjourns as early as some of its leaders hope — by mid-October. Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., recuperating from surgery, virtually wrote off chances of tax reform action in the House this year.

No Relief In Sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite record crops of wheat and corn, consumers may have to wait while for relief at the supermarket. Foreign buyers are helping to drive up prices of grain needed to fatten cattle, hogs, and poultry for American dinner tables. And Agriculture Department experts caution that it will take time for livestock producers to gear up their production.

Attorney May Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The veteran trial attorney hired by Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox to handle the Watergate break-in and cover-up cases may be forced to resign soon. A Justice Department spokesman has confirmed that Cox asked Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson to decide whether James F. Neal can continue working for Cox while his Nashville, Tenn., law firm represents individuals involved in unrelated government cases.

Sensitive Question Weighed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has begun weighing the sensitive question of whether to recognize the military junta that overthrew Chilean President Salvador Allende. Diplomatic observers say they expect Washington to avoid too close an identification with the junta by allowing an interval before conferring recognition.

TV Blackouts Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a chance that congressional action this week could put some National Football League games on hometown television Sunday. The House Commerce Committee Tuesday passed legislation to lift local television blackouts of sports events sold out 72 hours in advance. The Senate has passed a similar bill and the House version apparently will be voted on Thursday.

Close Vote Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A close House vote was expected today on overriding President Nixon's veto of a health services bill. The Senate voted last month to override the veto 77 to 16, or 13 more than the necessary two-thirds majority. The administration has been upheld on four vetoes so far this year.

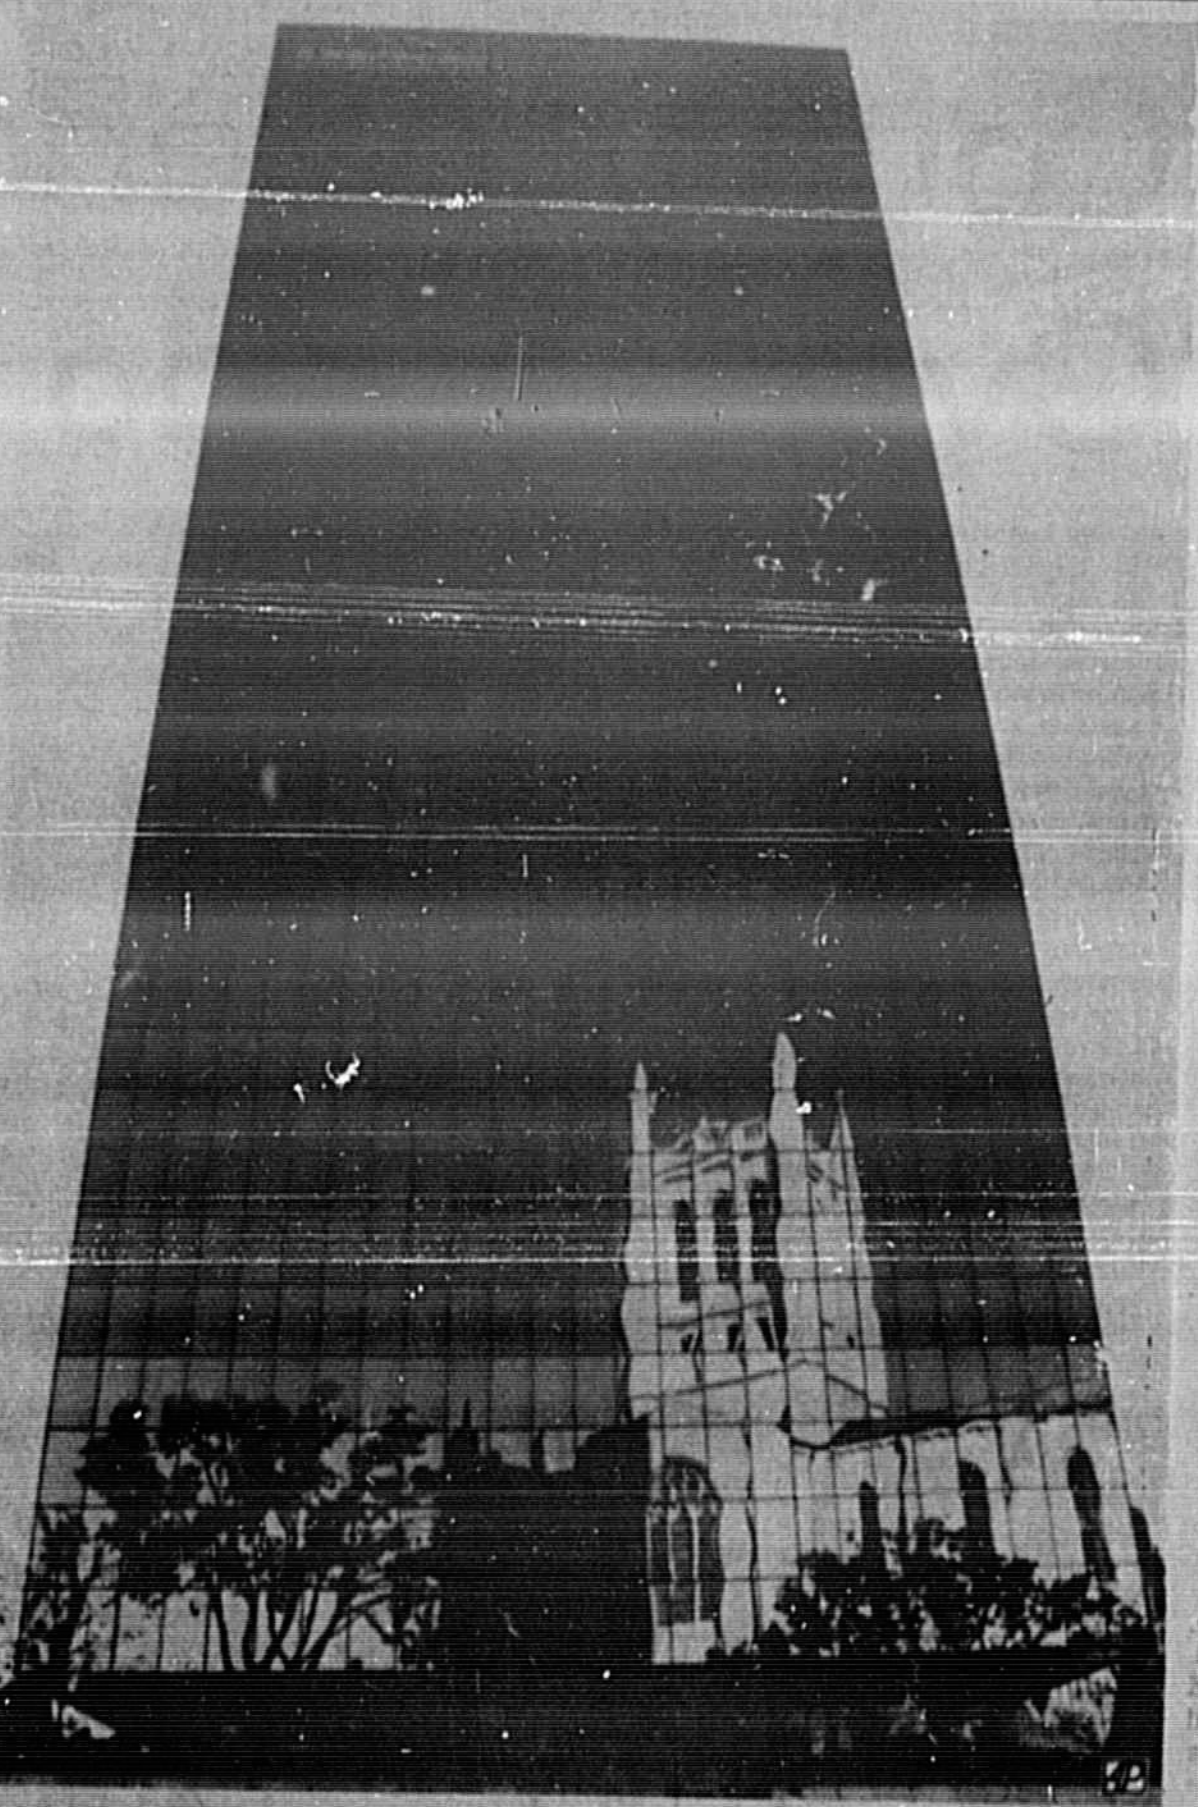

Record Harvest Crop In; No Relief For Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are harvesting record crops of wheat and corn but consumers may have to wait while before seeing much relief at the supermarket. The reason: foreign buyers are helping to drive up prices of grain needed to fatten cattle, hogs, and poultry for American dinner tables.

Even if prices of grain and soybeans come down further, they have eased slightly from recent record peaks — Agriculture Department experts say it takes time for livestock producers to gear up their production. Many livestock farmers also are hesitant about expanding without reliable evidence that their feed costs can be justified over the long haul. But the latest crop estimates released Tuesday by the department provided by the least some hope that the long-awaited boost in the nation's food supply may be near.

The corn crop, always a prime factor in consumer food supplies as a livestock feed, was forecast at a record 5.77 billion bushels, up 4 per cent from last year. The latest crop estimates released Tuesday by the department provided by the least some hope that the long-awaited boost in the nation's food supply may be near.

In another report Tuesday, USDA predicted that prices of live cattle in the last quarter of 1973 "will be way over" the market level last fall of $35 per 100 pounds. Wheat and soybean exports also continue to soar, prompted by demands from other countries. The Nixon administration insists the larger harvests will lead to lower prices, and government officials point to substantial price declines in some food products in recent weeks to back up the theory.

Valenti Says Ratings On High Acceptance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The five-year-old film rating system has been criticized by outraged religiousists and confused parents. But the system's parent, Jack Valenti, claims that the ratings have reached their highest level of acceptance.

Valenti, former White House aide and now president of the Motion Picture Association, announced results of a nationwide survey of 2,600 Americans: —55 per cent of all citizens found the ratings useful, a rise of 11 points over 1972. —64 per cent of regular moviegoers found the ratings useful, a nine-point rise.

Closed Meeting On Spying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee scheduled a closed meeting for today to hear staff reports on political spying and campaign financing in the 1972 presidential race. The report, result of a secret, month-long probe by staff investigators, could be critical in determining the shape of the rest of the investigation. It comes amid demands by some Republicans that the hearings be sharply curtailed and not televised.

Altamonte Council Actions

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer The city council Tuesday night unanimously approved the commercial rezoning of the 17-acre Altamonte Elementary school site which is being purchased by the Verle Co. associates with the Ackerman Company Co., developers of Crains Road.

The city council Tuesday night unanimously approved the rezoning of the 17-acre Altamonte Elementary school site which is being purchased by the Verle Co. associates with the Ackerman Company Co., developers of Crains Road.

The rezoning will not become effective until an ordinance setting the new zoning is adopted on Sept. 25.

Although 38 notices to adjacent property owners were mailed, no citizens showed up at the hearing to either approve or disapprove.

Philly Howard, an engineer for the buyers, balked at his company paying for a traffic signal at the entranceway to the planned shopping center. He said, however, the company is to share costs with other developers.

Hearings Set Oct. 25 A series of public hearings were set for Oct. 25 to consider petitions for annexation with new zoning designations.

Recommended by the planning and zoning board and set for hearing were: the annexation of Valley Forge Apartments on SR 48 and eight acres of vacant land for apartments at 1/2 mile rate of 12 units per acre; a parcel on Montgomery Road, north of the small food market with general commercial zoning; two parcels, north and south of the Derrick tract with 12 apartments per acre zoning; a 10-acre parcel on Forest City Road, north and west of Trout Lake with light industrial zoning and lots south of the Barnett Bank for bank expansion with commercial general zoning.

Also set for hearing Oct. 25 is the request for change of zoning change from professional to neighborhood commercial at the corner of Osceola Avenue and Palm Springs Road.

The city council adopted an ordinance approving the $11.7 million budget for 1973-74 with the ad valorem tax rate retained at 4 mills.

Another ordinance was adopted authorizing a front foot assessment on properties bounding Sanford Avenue. The city and county are participating in the street paving with the city to pay some $9,000 of the costs.

Warren Brown, South Seminole Jaycees president, asked for a waiver of civic center fees for a masquerade and dance to raise funds for a Halloween party for area children.

Brown said he has received permission to decorate the Bradley-McIntyre house in Longwood as a haunted mansion for the occasion.

Mayor Lawrence Swofford said perhaps a modified fee could be arranged. The adoption of a fee scheduled for the civic center, patterned on one in Orlando was delayed. The board has not officially agreed whether alcoholic beverages will be allowed on premises.

Five police officers in the city's employ for a year were presented with framed certificates by Mayor Lawrence Swofford.

Four City Precincts Zoning Administrator Curt Engert was asked to recommend at next week's meeting whether the city's two election precincts should be expanded.

City Clerk Jane Richards said the city's current precincts. She added 828 registered voters live in the north precinct while 3,457 are in the south one. At the same time, eight Seminole County precincts contain parts of Altamonte, she said.

Two more should be created in the south side of the city, she said. The city attorney said the city has the right to create the new precincts.

Sign Permits Denied, Arrests Are Ordered

ALTIMONTE SPRINGS—City councilmen Tuesday night turned down, on a 5-4 vote, the request of Robert Rolly, president of Roll-A-Sign Inc. for temporary city permits for his portable flashing signs.

The motion approved by councilmen denied the permit request and ordered continued enforcement of the city's sign ordinance.

Mayor Lawrence Swofford said since Rolly has signs posted in three separate locations in violation of the city ordinance he (the mayor) has ordered that Rolly be arrested and be required to post bonds three times daily.

Joseph Murasko, Rolly's attorney, asked that the city either call a moratorium on enforcing the sign ordinance pending outcome of a lawsuit Rolly has filed against the city.

Good Year For Tourists

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida experienced a good summer tourist season despite a sharp drop in the number of motorists registering at state welcome stations, a Commerce Department official says.

Assistant Director of Tourism Dean Gaiser said Tuesday, "The total picture indicates we've had a pretty good summer, equal to or better than in the past."

Department spokesmen said registrations at the welcome stations in July were down 21 per cent from July 1972, but added the figures did not represent a true picture of tourists entering Florida.

For one thing, they said, the station on U.S. 17 at Vals had a 91 per cent drop in registrations because Interstate 95 opened near the station recently. There is no welcome station yet on I-95.

The Pensacola welcome station was closed 10 days during July because of a water shortage, spokesmen added.

The 251,328 out-of-state motorists who registered in July represented a 3.5 per cent increase from June, the department said.

Ohio, Georgia, Illinois and Indiana continued as leaders among the home states of the motorists.

Wall Disney World remained the leading destination followed by Pinellas, Orange, Volusia, Dade, Bay, Broward, Hillsborough, Duval and Sarasota counties, the department said.

Gaiser said another reason for the drop in motorist registrations may have been that more tourists flew to Florida this summer.

Orlando reported a 21 per cent increase in passengers in July over July 1972 and Tampa International had a 15 per cent increase, the department said.

But the increase in tourists did not help all areas or all types of hotels, Gaiser said.

Springs Meeting Tonight

WINTER SPRINGS—The motion to approve the 1973-74 budget of $419,000 will be made Wednesday at the 7:30 p.m. council meeting in the city hall.

The budget was completed last week after council shuffled funds to find money to pay a dispatcher in the Seminole County communications center prior to the public hearing of the budget.

City Engineer Dick Madans will present completed plans and details of the Tri-party agreement for the cleaning up of Gee Creek.

Council refused to take action on the tri-party agreement in late August because they said plans for clearing the polluted creek and disposing of the waste were still vague and incomplete.

Council will discuss the problem of vandalism at the school bus shelters. The shelters are in a serious state of disrepair as a result of being vandalized by students waiting for buses, and the areas around them being washed out by heavy rains.

Asia Report

Watch China's Nuclear Development

By EDWARD NEILAN Copley News Service

WASHINGTON—The way Moscow tells it, the People's Republic of China is on the verge of becoming a nuclear superpower.

What's more, say the Russians, Peking intends to use the capability to attempt to dominate Asia.

The way U.S. Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission officials tell it, China's progress toward nuclear superpower status has slowed considerably.

Credentials for being regarded as a "nuclear superpower" are generally listed as the possession and ability to operate a force of long-range nuclear-armed missiles as strategic weapons.

A major article in Pravda recently predicted that China was near full stature as a "nuclear superpower" and intended to use long-range missiles to "decide the fate of countries and peoples."

The latest American estimates are that the Chinese are having some technological problems in development of an intercontinental ballistic missile — the real badge of the military superpower.

Although there is a discrepancy in the published evaluations of Moscow and Washington concerning just how far along the Chinese are in their ICBM project, it is quite possible that political considerations in both the Soviet Union and the United States have played a role in the assessments.

Moscow has stepped up its anti-Peking polemic since Aug. 15, when Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev made a major speech denouncing the Chinese leadership.

The speech seemed timed to coincide with plans in Peking for high-level party meetings. Such timing suggests that Moscow hoped to influence the Chinese decision-making process. Soviet attempts, such as the recent Pravda article, to characterize Peking as a potential nuclear bully also could have been made for an agency to pressure a federal preparing to meet in Algeria. Looking back, it seems likely that as long ago as 1967, American claims as to China's nuclear progress may have been overstated on purpose. In that year, the Defense Department was trying to win congressional approval for an antiballistic missile system. Succeeding secretaries of defense have predicted early Chinese ICBM capability.

Some factory managers say they have not been able to fill orders for goods because they cannot hire enough workers. What, then, do the employment statistics really mean?

For years Americans have watched the Dow Jones stock averages as an indicator of our business health. Stock prices, however, have generally remained low during a period of record earnings and profits by the companies whose fortunes they are supposed to represent.

We are left with the explanation that "psychological" factors — all the way from Watergate to the gyrations of the price of gold in Zurich — are to blame.

Interest Rates Increase

Cautious Evaluation Is Essential

Copley News

Major banks have raised their prime interest rate to 9 1/2 per cent amid predictions it will go even higher before it moves back down. Businessmen and consumers seem to be facing still another shortage — this time of money. However, most economists believe this is one shortage we need to put up with for a time if our economy is to avoid the inflationary pressures of too-rapid growth.

That makes sense, and it is disturbing that the advent of a period of tighter money should immediately raise fears in some quarters that we are heading into a recession. The layman struggling to make sense of the financial news is left to wonder if there is any middle ground at all between the twin perils of business being too good and business not being good enough.

Economists have been described as a gloomy science, but the way our economy has been responding to various economic "laws" makes us wonder if it deserves that name. As called a science at all. When economists advised us a couple of years ago that we were in an "inflationary recession," it was like being told that water had been decided to run uphill.

According to the National Bureau of Economic Research, a "recession" is occurring any time the gross national product declines for two successive calendar quarters. That is a neat definition, but we would be reluctant to ring a recession alarm on the basis of it at a time when economists are having a falling out over whether the once-hallowed GNP is really an accurate measure of what is going on in the country from an economic standpoint.

The unemployment rate has been hovering at 5 per cent during the recent period of business expansion and high production levels. Yet a 5 per cent unemployment rate is supposed to signify that our economy is not functioning at full capacity. Some factory managers say they have not been able to fill orders for goods because they cannot hire enough workers.

What, then, do the employment statistics really mean?

For years Americans have watched the Dow Jones stock averages as an indicator of our business health. Stock prices, however, have generally remained low during a period of record earnings and profits by the companies whose fortunes they are supposed to represent.

Agnew's Pressure Won Pal Contracts

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Vice effect. President Spiro Agnew has as to the propriety of a vice president as a small Vice President using his federal agency to give office to pressure a federal handsome no-bid contracts to a Maryland company run by an old friend and political campaign contributor. The lucky company was Maps, Inc., of Baltimore, which does aerial photography and related mapping.

Until his death in January 1971, its president was Thomas Collins, who had been a member of the Baltimore County Personnel and Salary Board while Agnew was the county's chief executive.

A few months after Agnew became Vice President, Collins began to seek a $100,000 air map contract with the Redevelopment Land Agency (RLA), a housing and planning agency in Washington.

Aware of his old friend's new power in Washington, Collins called Agnew.

Agnew had an aide call RLA and the agency awarded the contract to Maps, Inc. One competitor protested loudly to the RLA that political pressure had been exerted, but the complaint was ignored.

Unusual Letter In 1971, RLA was preparing to award another map contract and the agency's executive director, Melvin Mister, got an unusual letter from Agnew's administrative assistant, Arthur Sohmer.

"Two years ago," Sohmer contacted you on behalf of Maps, Inc., a Baltimore firm, which had expressed an interest in doing topographic mapping for your agency.

The vice presidential message went on to praise Maps, Inc., at some length, then added pointedly: "Any consideration that you might be able to give to their interest would be appreciated by your agency."

Sure enough, on September 24, exactly a month after the Agnew letter, Maps, Inc. got a $158,000 contract from RLA. Once again, a competing firm told RLA it had been unfairly treated.

"Our Friends" In Dundalk, Maryland, the Baltimore suburb where Maps, Inc. is located, Mrs. Collins, who briefly succeeded her husband as president, explained: "The Agnews were our friends. Tom and Ted knew each other well. So did Judy (Agnew's wife) and I. They lived about a mile from us."

She insisted that to the best of her knowledge her late husband's political donations to Agnew were in the form of fund-raising tickets and were at most in the low hundreds.

At RLA, a spokesman said Maps, Inc. "did a good job on both contracts" — which our study of the files tends to confirm. The spokesman said: "It was a validly awarded contract. The contacts (by Agnew's office) had no continued existence to congressional appropriations. In fact the main effort to control its growth or when it down right now is not coming from Congress but from the White House and the Cabinet.

Throughout this year, with impoundment of funds and vetoed "budget-busting" programs, President Nixon has been trying to keep federal spending within bounds that his economists regard as non-inflationary. The response by the Democratic leadership in Congress has been to seek to override such vetoes and to pass legislation that would force the President to spend impounded monies. Meanwhile, Congress has authorized spending that exceeds the 1973-74 budget by $1 billion. Bills that would reform its own slipshod budget-making procedure are on that long list of matters which it has not had the time or the inclination to pursue.

This hardly conforms to any model of a strong and responsible Congress. The 93rd Congress has been handed more than enough issues on which it could assert its legislative prerogative — the oil crisis and the urgent need for new trade legislation, to mention only two where its delinquency is threatening to hurt. It has been more concerned with raking up the past, in terms of Watergate or such issues as whether Mr. Nixon did or did not use his power as commander in chief properly in a bombing policy in a war which he now, happily, has put behind us.

Commissioner Suspended TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Agnew has suspended Santa Rosa County Commissioner Jim Howell after learning of Howell's indictment by a grand jury on bribery charges.

The county office is charged with soliciting a bribe while holding office. The governor's suspension is automatic for any public official indicted.

Boy Wins Suit From Disney ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A Miami youth has been awarded $500 by a circuit court jury for his claims of false imprisonment against Walt Disney World.

Six Miami teenagers, ranging in age from 14 to 17, had sought $5,000 to $10,000 in damages for what they charged was false imprisonment at a local bank, out of $20,000. Michael Wall was the only plaintiff awarded in the 1972 incident.

Inflation Aids Him MIAMI (AP) — The rising costs of food means increased business for Jack Samsen. He reprints restaurant menus.

"Restaurants are struggling to survive," he said. "Beef is the thing that's leaping everything apart. We have customers who've printed two or three menus within the last 30 days."

Every price change must be duly recorded and Samsen's firm carries out that function — for a price.

FBI Hunts Hoaxer PERRINE, Fla. (AP) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents say they are still searching for a bogus kidnaper who failed to follow through with a $20,000 bluff. FBI agents confirmed Tuesday that a man attempted to trick Eugene Poe, president of a local bank, out of $20,000 by claiming he was holding Poe's wife captive.

The man reportedly called Poe at his office after cutting telephone lines at the Poe home. Mrs. Poe was unharmed and not aware of the hoax.

State Probing Utility TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Southern Gulf Utilities rates in Volusia County will come under scrutiny by the Florida Public Service Commission at a future hearing. The PSC said Tuesday it "has received and continues to receive numerous complaints of the rates of Southern Gulf Utilities Co., for the provision of water service to customers of its Galdie system in Volusia County."

The hearing has not yet been scheduled.

Dairymen's Widow To Trial OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — Nadean O. McArthur is to stand trial Nov. 5 on murder charges in the shooting death of her millionaire dairyman husband Charles McArthur. Circuit Court Judge James Alderman gave defense attorneys 15 days in which to file motions in the case after Mrs. McArthur pleaded innocent to the charges in a Tuesday arraignment.

McArthur was found dead at his home near here June 10.

Recovered Girl Going Back Home MIAMI (AP) — The parents of British tourist Helen Evans, brutally beaten in a Miami bus station last month, were to take their daughter home today, claiming no ill feelings toward the United States for the family's ordeal.

"We go home feeling we have made many good friends here," said Elizabeth Evans of Derby, "People in Miami and throughout the country have responded quite warmly."

Miss Evans, a 21-year-old student, was touring the United States by bus with her fiancé John Penmett when she was attacked Aug. 8 in the women's restroom of a Miami bus station.

Helen's fiancé, at her bedside since the beating, returned to England Tuesday.

"The hospital wanted to give my wife a blood exchange," Lucy told the judge but said his religious beliefs would not allow such medical attention.

"Everything went negative from my standpoint this afternoon," Lucy said after his appearance in court, but repeated his pledge that his wife would not be returned to the hospital here.

Earlier Tuesday, doctors said the boy could die if he did not receive proper medical treatment, including transfusions. But Lucy said the Houston doctor attending his son would not have to use a blood transfusion to save the child.

Henry C. Mitchell, Lucy's attorney, said his case would hinge on the right of parents to use the hospital of their choice and on their religious freedoms.

"I think it's a simple case of religious freedoms...their views must be respected," Mitchell said. "Besides, the doctors here can give no guarantee that a blood transfusion will do any good."

Mitchell said the court would be faced with a jurisdictional question since the baby and mother are now in Houston.

While only Lucy was ordered to appear before Bruno Sept. 24, his wife could be served with a similar contempt citation if she returned to the area before the hearing date.

Adkins Hints No-Fault Has A Fault

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Supreme Court Justice James Adkins says Florida's no-fault auto insurance law may be faulty because some persons are not required to carry the insurance.

But an attorney for State Farm Insurance Co., Edward J. Atkins of Miami, told the justice at a hearing Tuesday the court could order corrections of any errors without declaring the whole law unconstitutional.

Justice Adkins said workers' compensation laws and tort law are required to carry the insurance and payment to the injured workman would be automatic.

"Not everyone is required to carry no-fault insurance" which may be a legislative omission, Adkins said.

The law does not require commercial vehicles and motorcycles to carry the insurance.

The exchange came during arguments in a case contesting the constitutionality of the law. Robert W. Lasky and his wife, Ann, are appealing a Broward County court of record ruling that they cannot sue Phyllis M. May and her insurance company, State Farm.

Mrs. May's car collided with Lasky's Feb. 18, 1972 and Mrs. Lasky, the driver, was injured. The Lasky's attorney, Norman Klein of Miami, said the law's ban on suits unless medical expenses exceed $1,000 is the most invidious discrimination against poor people anywhere.

He said a rich person in a $100-a-day hospital room could turn up a $1,000 bill quickly while a poor person in a charity ward would have much lower expenses.

Supreme Court Justice B.K. Roberts said the court should be asked for an explanation from former Sen. Frederick Karl, an attorney for the American Insurance Association.

Karl said the rich man's medical expenses had to be reasonable ones and, under the old fault-finding system, he poor man would still have to find a lawyer.

Arrests Follow Allende Ouster

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chile's new ruling military junta has begun rounding up supporters of President Salvador Allende, who reportedly committed suicide after a coup ended his attempt to bring socialism to his country.

CHILE'S PRESIDENT ALLENDE ... Commits suicide after coup followed weeks of unrest created by the Marxist president's refusal to come to terms with the country's moderate and conservative majority and his inability to end strikes, soaring inflation and economic stagnation in the factories and on the farms.

More than 100 leftists were reported arrested in Santiago and Valparaiso, the seaport northwest of Santiago where naval units began the revolt. The junta issued a list of 68 prominent Socialist and Communist leaders who were ordered to appear at the defense ministry or face arrest. Among those named were Foreign Minister Carlos Altamirano and the president's sister Laura, a member of Congress.

The junta also ordered all foreigners "in the country in irregular or illegal situations" to report to the police. This apparently referred to the estimated 2,000 left-wing terrorists or subversives from Uruguay and Brazil given asylum in Chile by Allende.

Tanks, ground troops and two air force jets attacked the presidential palace in Santiago just before noon Tuesday after Allende refused an ultimatum to resign that was issued by the heads of the army, air force and national police. The palace was set afire, but the president's guard did not surrender until nearly 2:30 p.m. An army helicopter strafed several nearby government buildings from which snipers were firing on the troops around the palace, but by mid-afternoon only scattered pockets of resistance were reported.

Coalition Agrees To Laotian Peace

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Representatives of the Laotian government and the Communist Pathet Lao initiated a political peace agreement today to set up a coalition government for Laos, government sources reported. They said the agreement would be signed Friday.

The pact, worked out in seven months of negotiations, calls for departure of all foreign forces from Laos within 90 days of the signing.

The Pathet Lao and Premier Souvanna Phouma's government signed a cease-fire Feb. 21, and the premise and the Communists agreed on a political accord a month ago. But right-wing supporters of the Vietnamese government balked at some of the provisions. The way was cleared for agreement, sources said, by a Soviet pledge to support neutralist Prince Souvanna and to refrain from partisan support of the Pathet Lao.

Although it brings the Pathet Lao into the government, the agreement will not immediately affect the partition of the nation of three million people into areas held by the Communists, by right-wing leaders in southeast Laos, and by the right-wing and neutralist government in Vientiane. The Pathet Lao controls 80 per cent of the country's 9,100 square miles and about one third of its population.

The agreement provides for a coalition cabinet headed by Souvanna and made up of five ministers each from the Vientiane and Communist sides, plus two nonaligned experts.

The signing will mean the departure of nearly 200 American military experts and advisers and some 17,500 Thai mercenaries paid by the United States to fight for the Vientiane government.

An estimated 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are also based in Laos, most of them along the Ho Chi Minh trail down the eastern side of the country, but their departure is considered unlikely.

World Trade Negotiations Open
TOKYO (AP) — More than 600 financial experts from nearly 100 countries opened a three-day meeting in Tokyo to spell out the ground rules for worldwide negotiations in the next two years to lower tariffs and other barriers to trade. Representatives of France and of the European Common Market warned that the trade negotiations would be jeopardized unless the international monetary system is stabilized.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Twelve U. S. About 110 planes have been pulled out, and more than 2,500 troops will be gone in about two weeks. This will leave more than 300 American planes and just under 40,000 men.

11 Killed In Gold Mine Riot
CARLTONVILLE, South Africa (AP) — Police opened fire on a crowd of rising black miners at a gold mine 40 miles southwest of Johannesburg Tuesday, killing 11 of them and wounding nine. The police said another black was killed by the rioters. Lt. Gen. T. J. Cross said the police fired in self-defense after the miners attacked them with stones and axes and injured a police sergeant.

Jordan Relations Resumed

CAIRO (AP) — Israel's Arab neighbors began to close ranks again today as Egypt and Syria agreed to resume diplomatic relations with Jordan.

The semi-official newspaper Al Ahran said the decision came in the talks now being held in Cairo by King Hussein of Jordan and Presidents Hafez Assad of Syria and Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

Syria broke diplomatic relations with Jordan in September, 1970, when Hussein ousted the Palestinian guerrillas in a bloody civil war. Egypt broke with Jordan last year over Hussein's proposal to establish a Palestinian state on the west bank of the Jordan river, now occupied by Israel, and affiliate it with Jordan.

Al Ahran said the three chiefs of state had made "considerable headway on issues on their agenda."

Sadat and Assad want to open a unified Arab front along Israel's eastern border and to get Hussein to allow Palestinian guerrillas to be stationed along Jordan's cease-fire line with Israel. Informants said Hussein was under heavy pressure to return Jordan to "confrontation" status with Israel.

Staubach Picked Dallas Starting QB

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer
Quarterback Craig Morton, disappointed, subdued and the memory of a solid preseason performance fresh in his mind, was hoping to be traded by the Dallas Cowboys after Roger Staubach was tabbed for the starting signal-calling spot.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he had the very best preseason I could have had, and yet it did not good," said Morton, who completed 67.3 per cent of his passes with three going for touchdowns. Staubach completed 62.3 per cent, firing five scoring passes.

"I think it's time to go somewhere else," Morton said. "I want to be traded."

Landry said he told the two of them that the reaction was just as you'd expect. I don't expect anything they would badly and not be disappointed. I won't go into the merits of why I had to make the choice."

Morton had conducted a spirited competition with Staubach for the starting spot, alternating the duties during preseason games. Staubach had been given the starting assignment last season but suffered a shoulder separation in the third preseason game and was sidelined for nine weeks. He saw limited duty after his return because Morton had played well in his place.

Earlier, Cowboy All-Pro guard John Niland was cleared to work with the team in preparation for Sunday's regular season opener against Cincinnati. Police unlike Riggins, has been work-arrested the 6-foot-3, 245-lb. punter after a man and a woman called police to report the player was attempting to enter their home.

The couple told police Niland visited them, went home and then returned. Officers said Niland was "incoherent" and refused to obey police orders. Meanwhile, New York Jets officials again met with full-back John Riggins, who has been holding out for a $120,000 contract, and both sides expressed optimism.

Riggins left his Centralia, Kan., home and flew to New York to meet with Head Coach Tom Landry and General Manager Ewbank.

Riggins, the Jets' leading rusher last season with 207 carries for 944 yards and the team's Most Valuable Player, has refused to work out with the team until an agreement is reached.

The Jets said tight end Richard Caster, who led the National Football League in receiving with 39 receptions for 833 yards and 10 touchdowns last season, has agreed to terms. Caster, unlike Riggins, has been work-arrested the 6-foot-3, 245-lb. punter after a man and a woman called police to report the player was attempting to enter their home.

Florida Injured Returning

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Although the absence of many key individuals during practice sessions has hurt in the area of developing team cohesion, Florida Head Football Coach Doug Dickey is pleased that almost all of his injured are back at full speed at the right time.

The right time, in this instance, is in time for the season opener against Kansas State, coming up Saturday night at 7:30 at Florida Field. At Monday's practice session Coach Dickey got back defensive end-former Lyman stand-out, Rick Browning, safetymen Jim Revels, fullback Vince Kendrick and offensive tackle Paul Parker.

Actually, all except Browning took part in Saturday's scrimmage. Now, all four key starters are at maximum speed and will be fully ready to go against Vince Gibson's Wildcats.

Dickey is not sure what to make of the three game-type scrimmages his team had before this week's tapering-off period. There was some good and some bad with them.

"We had one in a hard rain and it was difficult for the offense to get much accomplished," Dickey says. "We had one in which the offense really got cranked up, but the opposition was a scout team and freshman team combination and this makes it difficult to tell how good we are. Then we had the final scrimmage last Saturday in which we kind of played around the edges and didn't really get with it."

Dickey has been pleased with the kicking game, which has been consistently strong in the scrimmages. John Williams has hit on a high percentage of his placement attempts and field goals and has kicked off extremely well.

Buster Morrison's punting has been sound with high, long punts and good coverage.

"David is a class athlete," said coach Doug Dickey. "He has lots of savvy about the game and uses his physical ability to the utmost. If there was one place he may come up a little short as a sophomore it was in rising to his peak in a clutch situation."

"On the baseball field last spring, he showed he could make the big play when it was important," Dickey said. "It should make him a better football player."

With Bowden missing spring practice to play baseball, three other candidates for the quarterback job gained ground. It figured as a tough four-way battle this fall, but Bowden came out on top.

Starting Nod To Bowden For Gators

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — David Bowden lacks the physique and style of a classic quarterback. He's 5-foot-10, weighs 170 pounds and throws sidearm.

But he led the Southeastern Conference in passing last season and will be the starting signal caller for the Florida Gators when they open the 1973 with high hopes against Kansas State here Saturday night.

Schools Reap New Dividends Under Program

By JANE CASSELL BERRY
County Editor

A new school volunteer program to be known as the "Dividends" is being developed by the Seminole Junior Woman's Club and the Parent Teacher Association Council for Seminole County.

This program will consist of interested volunteers from college students to retirees, who will work in various schools in the county. It will be launched in three pilot schools—Altamonte Elementary, Rosemary Elementary and Southeast Elementary in mid-October.

Volunteers will serve in various capacities determined by the needs of the individual schools and their principals. Some of the areas in which help is needed are supervising small groups of children, who need special help in remedial reading, spelling or carrying on special activities or working in the office.

Other jobs volunteers might do include helping the teacher with grade books, forms and papers; putting special bulletin board displays in classroom; and sharing their own interest with a class. Dividends will do any job to help the teacher further the education of the children.

Those interested in donating even an hour or so a week may contact 628-2762 for further information and an application will be sent to them.

Workshops in various fields such as reading, math, and art will be held later in September for new volunteers. Contact Marilyn Webber at 634-0584 or Dede Schaffner at 634-8694 for information or write "Dividends," P.O. Box 703, Altamonte Springs.

Camera Clubbers Share Travel Slides

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA — Members of the Deltona Camera Club shared slides from their summer vacation following the September meeting held at the Little Red School House in the community center.

Ruth Puhos showed slides taken in various parts of Florida, Blue Springs, Deltona, Daytona Beach, Key West, Miami, Marco Island, Disney World, all beauty spots of the State, as did, Rose Goetsch, Genevieve Richardson, Peggy Thomas and others.

Mrs. Dorothy Powers showed slides of Salem III, with historic places of President Lincoln's childhood, Manuel Rodriguez showed some beautiful scenes in Spain.

But the surprise of the evening was, when Lewis Albright, who had been absent from this country for two years, appeared with 80 or 90 slides (all in color) of India, Pakistan and Indonesia. He formerly spent 20 years in South America for an oil company, then from 1956 to 1973, on and off in the Orient and aforementioned countries, working for this same company. His photographic experience is as extensive as his travels.

His interesting and beautiful slides showed the country as it is, mountainous, treacherous in many, many spots but always excitingly appealing. He narrated his experiences, travel, hazardous as it was, as he showed the many slides and all were intensely interested.

The club voted to hold its Christmas dinner-party at the University Inn in Deland on Dec. 18 at 6:30 p.m.

Awards chairman Rose Goetsch presented awards from the second quarterly Florida Camera Club competition to two club member winners, Ruth Pullen two "Judges' Choice" ribbons, and to Oscar Gibson, two "Judges' Choice" ribbons and one honorable mention award.

Next meeting of the club will be held the first Tuesday of October at 7:45 p.m. in the Little Red School House. Color Travel Award Winning Slides from 1971 will be shown. Members are asked to attend and bring a prospective member.

MRS. MARK ALLEN ASHLEY ... See Marcella Ann Brewer

Miss Marcella Ann Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent E. Brewer, 403 Altamonte Springs and Mark Allen Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle F. Ashley, Naples, exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Sept. 8, 1973 at 7:30 p.m. in Community United Methodist Church, Casselberry, Fla.

Officiating clergyman at the candlelight, double ring ceremony were the Rev. William A. Pickett and the Rev. Charles Hamilton, of Sarasota. Mrs. Joe White, organist and Jim Edmiston, soloist, presented an appropriate program of nuptial music.

Church decorations included two standing basket arrangements of white flowers and greenery and candelabra with white tapers. Family pews were marked with white ribbon bows and sprigs of baby's breath and fern.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her own a formal gown of white silk faille featuring a raised bodice, square neckline and long sleeves with bell cuffs. The gown was accented with bands of cluney lace cascading down the front and back. The neckline and cuffs carried out the same detail and the slightly "A" line skirt swept into a Chapel train encircled with a border of matching lace.

Her three tiered veil of silk illusion was secured to a Juliet cap of Venise lace and she carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, mums and ivy.

Miss Claudia Jones, maid of honor, was attired in a formal gown of Key West blue and pink print sheer with scoop neckline and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations, miniature mums, pink baby's breath with blue ribbon streamers. A band of matching flowers adorned her hair.

Fruit punch was served from a crystal bowl along with mints and nuts.

For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Ashley chose a pink pants suit with multicolor pastel jacket and a pink rosebud corsage. The couple left for a wedding trip throughout Central Florida. Both are students at FSU.

Dyson: No Plans To Sell Sanford Lot

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Jim Dyson, head of Lakefront Development Ltd., said today his group, planning development of 10 acres of Sanford lakefront property on Seminole Boulevard between Myrtle and French Avenues, has no plans to sell a 37,700 square foot lot purchased from the city for $66,675.

City commissioners expressed concern Monday that no reverter clause was included in the deed calling for recovery of the lot if it isn't developed within a reasonable length of time. Similar reverts have included in sales of city property to developers over the last three years.

"We take our obligation on the lakefront very seriously," Dyson said. He said the group's acquisition of the lakefront acreage isn't speculation and the land won't be sold to speculators.

"Anything we might sell in the future will be strings on it to assure proper development under an overall plan," Dyson said.

Earlier Lakefront Development Ltd. representatives called the city lot the "key" to lakefront development plans. Dyson said a proposal is expected within two weeks from a Miami-based planning firm on an in-depth feasibility study that would outline what type development should go on the tract and when it should be made.

"We're now contacting large financial firms interested in joint venture development," Dyson said.

The properties, assembled in a series of purchases by the local group, has 900 feet of frontage on Lake Monroe and includes former petroleum tank farm areas.

"We have given the tanks at the former Standard Oil location to the Seminole County Port Authority," Dyson said, "and they hope to complete arrangements soon to move them to the port site on the St. Johns River near I-4. We hope the tanks will be moved by mid-November."

Low Fat Pointers

Copley News Service

Certain foods can contribute to elevated blood fats which are known to be associated with atherosclerosis and heart attacks. This problem begins in childhood and most authorities believe it can be prevented by a life-long change in dietary habits. Obesity is also a "risk factor" and maintenance of ideal weight can reduce this risk.

Therefore, you should make these changes in your menus:

Following a low-cholesterol, low-saturated fat meal plan will be greatly simplified if you use this 8-point guide:

1. Use fewer egg yolks (limit to three a week) and other cholesterol rich foods such as organ meats and shellfish;
2. Use smaller portions of meat. All meats should be very lean and trimmed of all fat before cooking;
3. Use fish, poultry and veal more often than beef and other meats;
4. Do not use whole milk, cream, butter, ice cream and cheese, other than 2 per cent fat cheese and cottage cheese; no non-dairy powdered creamers, non-dairy imitation whipped creams or sour cream. Use only imitation or non-dairy products which state that they are polyunsaturated and give the source of the vegetable oil;
5. Read labels to know which commercial products contain saturated fat which may be listed as vegetable shortening, hydrogenated vegetable oil, or even as vegetable oil which may be coconut oil;
6. Use a soft tub polyunsaturated margarine in which the first ingredient is listed as "liquid oil";
7. Use more polyunsaturated vegetable oils in salads and cooking;
8. Reduce calories to lose weight if necessary, but do not gain weight.

SPICY BAKED FISH
4 fillets of fish (16 ounces each)
1/4 teaspoon Basil
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup onion flakes
1/4 cup dry white wine
1/4 cucumber, sliced
1/4 cup dry white wine
Arrange thick fillets of sole in a lightly oiled baking dish. Sprinkle with basil leaves, salt and ground black pepper. Top with onion flakes, thin slices of carrot and cucumber. Pour dry white wine over all. Cover and bake at 350 degrees 25 minutes. Makes 4 portions.

MACARONI SAUTE
This is a different hot macaroni dish. You "brown" the uncooked macaroni before it is simmered to the al dente stage.

2 tablespoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons water
One-third cup chopped green pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
2 cups uncooked elbow macaroni
1/4 cup polyunsaturated oil
2 and one-third cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Add minced onion to water; let stand. Cook onion, green pepper, garlic powder and uncooked macaroni in oil until vegetables are soft and macaroni turns a golden yellow; stirring frequently.

Add remaining ingredients. Bring to boil; cover; lower heat and simmer until macaroni is tender, about 20 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

RELISH SALAD
CLARIFIED BUTTER
1/4 small head cauliflower, broken in florets
1 cup fresh green beans, cut in half
2 carrots, sliced
2 stalks celery, sliced
1 jar (7 ounces) small stuffed olives
1/4 cup wine vinegar
1/4 cup polyunsaturated oil
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon basil

Blanch cauliflower, beans, carrots and celery in boiling water for 3 minutes. Drain well. Toss with remaining ingredients. Store in covered container in your refrigerator. Similar to a relish, this unusual salad will keep for days.

Applesauce Cake Keeps Well

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

With the price of eggs reaching a new high, it's time to revive the old-fashioned, one-egg cake. So here's a reliable recipe for One-Egg Applesauce Cake—a favorite of families because it has excellent flavor and a moist crumb. When we tried the recipe we found the cake stayed moist for a whole week. Oats are used in the batter for good nutrition and interesting texture. The frosting that goes on the cake is about the most inexpensive kind you can make.

ONE-EGG APPLESAUCE CAKE
1 jar (15 ounces) sweetened applesauce (1 2/3 cups)
1 cup quick-cooking oats (1 1/2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring)
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 egg
Frosting, see below
Grease and flour a square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). In a 1-or 1 1/2-quart saucepan heat the applesauce until hot through out; remove from heat; at once stir in oats; cover tightly and let stand 20 minutes.

On a wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves.
In a medium mixing bowl cream butter and sugar; add egg and beat well. Gradually and gently beat in flour mixture. Add applesauce-oat mixture; stir well. Turn into prepared pan.
Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan on wire rack. Cover top with Frosting and let set. Cut in squares and remove as needed. Tightly cover pan during storage of cake.
If you want to turn out the cake instead of leaving it in the pan, as soon as it comes from the oven let it stand in the pan 5 minutes; with a small metal spatula thoroughly loosen sides; turn out on rack; with another rack turn right side up; cool completely. Cover top (and sides if you like) with Frosting. Store in a tightly covered tin box.

THRIFTY APPLESAUCE CAKE—Only one egg is needed for the batter.

EGGS

Eggs remain fresh and usable longer if kept properly refrigerated. Size such as Extra Large refers to the minimum weight per dozen and has nothing to do with the quality of the egg. Buy eggs by "Grade" which does refer to the interior quality of an egg. Save money when buying eggs for use in general cooking and baking where the appearance is not important by buying the lesser Grade eggs, i.e., A and preferably B, if available.

Clip & Save

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles on the art of supermarket shopping.

By TRUDY MORRISON
Copley News Service

Knowing how to shop wisely can save a family from $10 to $20 a month on food bills. Here are tips compiled by shoppers like yourself who have learned to save money on food.

FROZEN FOODS
Never buy packages that are damaged. The food inside could be also.

Compare cost and number of servings for frozen, fresh and canned foods. Rule of thumb: A 10-ounce package of frozen vegetables equals a 16-ounce can. If you like both products, buy the cheaper.

Select frozen foods last and get them into your freezer as quickly as possible.

AT CHECKOUT
Watch prices as rung up, mistakes can occasionally happen no matter how careful people are.

Count change immediately, before putting into wallet.

Sense Will Save Food Money

PLAN AHEAD
No matter how many times you've heard it, a shopping list is the best shopping aid. It cuts impulse buying to a minimum. It helps assure nutritious, body-building meals—if you take the important first step.

Plan nutritious meals first. Check recipes for ingredients you'll need. Look over food ads for specials. Write down supplies that are low. Then, plan your shopping list. Read newspaper ads for sales. Frequently, stores sell meat at very low prices. Take advantage of it.

Check information on foods in plentiful supply from U.S. Department of Agriculture for more clues to bargain buys.

Organize your list according to sections in the store. This saves shopping time and avoids forgetting items. When shopping, start at one end of the store, working your way through each aisle to the end. Do your shopping alone. Children are intrigued with brightly colored packages and want some for themselves. Constant distractions keep your mind off business.

Don't shop when hungry, you're tempted to buy more than you need.

Do food shopping after other chores so you can bring food home immediately and refrigerate or freeze items as soon as possible. Food shopping begins much sooner than you think.

When freezer storage is adequate, buy foods in quantity when on sale. Use some, freeze the rest for later.

2 cups grated (medium-fine) carrots
1 cup finely chopped green pepper

In a large bowl stir together the mayonnaise, sugar, salt, lemon juice and mustard. Add remaining ingredients and toss well. Chill, covered, at least 2 hours before serving. Makes 16 one-half cup servings.

Blender Mayonnaise: Into an electric blender turn 1 egg, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons distilled white vinegar and 1/4 cup peanut oil. Cover and whirl 1/2 minute. Blend. Without turning off blender, at once pour in 3/4 cup more peanut oil in a slow steady stream; if necessary use rubber spatula to keep mixture flowing to work blades. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Store in tightly covered jar in refrigerator.

Spice Up Salads

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

A salad is only as good as its dressing. And a dressing is only as good as its flavorings. Fundamentally, a dressing is oil and vinegar (or it might be a tart juice such as lemon, lime) or oil combined with eggs (mayonnaise). This fundamental mixture is varied with many different combinations of spices and herbs.

These can include pepper, onion and garlic, tarragon, basil, oregano, marjoram, chervil and blends such as Italian seasoning, chili powder or curry powder.

Spice your basic dressing to complement the rest of the menu. If there's to be steak or hamburgers, make it a good, garlicky dressing, but if there's to be a garlic-buttered French bread, switch to a basil or tarragon dressing.

Note that the Basic Blender Mayonnaise recipe given today is spiced only with mustard. It can be varied by adding tarragon leaves and onion powder and served over seafood or chilled or over hard-cooked eggs. The basic mayonnaise is also delightful with a pinch of nutmeg and this variation is good for fruit salads.

Curry flavors the dressing which complements Summer Curry Salad. The mayonnaise called for is combined with sour cream.

BLENDER MAYONNAISE
1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
1/2 teaspoon warm water
1 egg, at room temperature
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 1/2 cups salad oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Place mustard and water in container of electric blender; let sit for 10 minutes for flavor to develop. Add egg, salt and sugar; blend at medium speed for 10 seconds or until egg is frothy. With blender still on, slowly pour in oil; blend until mixture begins to thicken. Add lemon juice; blend for 2 seconds (do not overblend). If mayonnaise separates, simply place another egg, at room temperature, in clean blender container. Blend at medium speed for 10 seconds or until frothy. Slowly pour remaining mayonnaise into egg; blend until mixture thickens.

YIELD: 1 1/2 cups.

Variations:

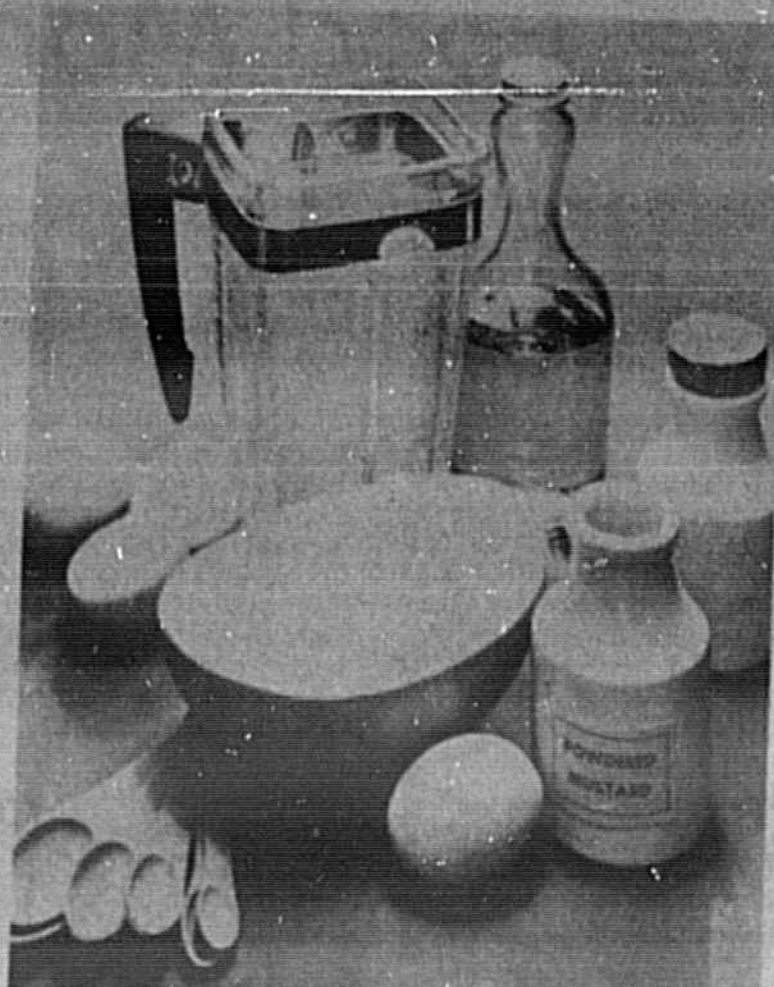

Tarragon Mayonnaise—Stir 1/2 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crumbled, and 1/2 teaspoon onion powder into Blender Mayonnaise. Serve with fish, asparagus, broccoli or green beans.

Curry Mayonnaise—Stir 1/2 teaspoon powder into Blender Mayonnaise. Serve with hard-cooked eggs, tuna or salmon salad.

SUMMER CURRY SALAD
1 large ripe pineapple or 2 small
One-third cup mayonnaise
One-third cup sour cream
1-2 teaspoons curry powder
2 cups cooked chicken, cubed
1 can (4 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained
1/2 cup minced celery
1/2 cup toasted chopped or silvered almonds

Cut pineapple in half lengthwise, leaving frond in place. Cut out flesh of pineapple, leaving 1/2-inch shell. Discard core and dice pineapple into cubes. Beat mayonnaise and sour cream, add curry powder gradually to taste. Combine chicken and mayonnaise mixture; refrigerate until ready to serve. Add oranges, celery, pineapple cubes, loaf. Sprinkle with almonds. Makes 4 servings.

Special For The Sandwich Set

By Allen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Poetry for our time by the young who "brown bag it," to school.

"Is my head? All soggy bread?"

"Why eat? There's no meat."

"Soup. Sloop/Mommie's soup."

"Johnny was a constant cutter/till his mother's peanut butter."

"Hissie didn't have a lunch-day lunch."

"Not Pulitzer Prize material perhaps, but certainly indicative of how girls and boys REALLY feel about their lunches. Most youngsters find a way of trading off their 'home-specials' so that they always have something they like to eat."

Instead of dropping off the number of youths who take school lunches from home is picking up and the contents—sandwiches, soups, dessert and fresh fruit—can be much more appealing and nutritious than the soft drinks and snacks which too many school children have been eating.

Peaches For Dessert

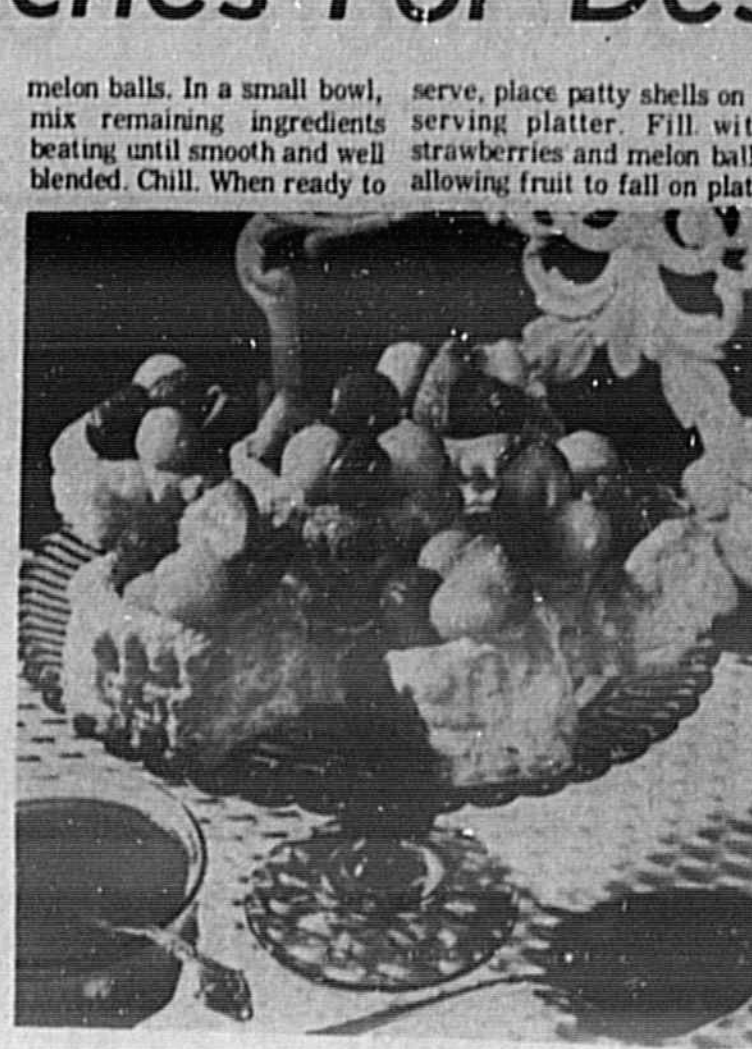

By OPAL CRANDALL
Copley News Service

What's for dessert? In the summertime, the answer can be fresh fruit, berries or melon served in hundreds of different ways. They might be offered as such long-time favorites, as strawberries and cream, peach cobbler, or fruit cup.

Or they might be offered in such unusual creations as Fruit Salads in Patty Shells or Poached Peaches, served alone or accompanying Peach Custard Surprise.

FRUIT SALAD
12 PATTY SHELLS
1 package (10 ounces) frozen patty shells
1 pint strawberries, hulled and halved
1 cantaloupe, cut into balls
1/2 cup honey
3 tablespoons lime juice
One-third cup oil

Prepare patty shells as directed on package. Cool and remove centers of patty shells. Chill strawberries and serve, place patty shells on a serving platter. Fill with strawberries and melon balls, allowing fruit to fall on plate as well. Spoon over salad dressing and serve at once. Serve crisp centers with a cream cheese spread or any one of your favorite spreads. Serves 6.

SHELLED FRUIT—Fruit Salad in Patty Shells can serve either as salad or as dessert.

POACHED PEACHES
2 quarts water
2 cups sugar
2 long strips lemon peel
8 firm-ripe, fresh California peaches

In a large kettle, bring water, sugar and lemon peel to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Drop in peaches and poach 10 to 15 minutes, until barely tender. Let cool in syrup. Slip off skins and return to syrup. Use right away or refrigerate. Poached peaches will keep several days when refrigerated.

PEACH CUSTARD SURPRISE
1 small package (9 ounces) chocolate cake mix
2 packages (3 ounces each) vanilla egg custard mix
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks (optional)
8 Poached Peaches (recipe above)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour one 9-inch cake pan or mold. Make cake mix, following package directions. Remove from pan and cool on rack. Blend custard mix with milk and egg yolks in saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Pour into bowl and chill until thick. Place cooled cake on serving plate. Frost completely with cooled custard. Refrigerate. When ready to serve, surround with California Poached Peaches. Makes 8 servings.

Reducing Vegetables
Fresh vegetables, especially the ones you can enjoy raw, are great for reducing diets. But the kind of reducing we are talking about concerns the best way to cook vegetables to preserve their nutrients. The trick is to learn to reduce the amount of cooking water; reduce the length of cooking time; and reduce the amount of exposed surface area.

To prepare vegetables for cooking, remove damaged leaves or inedible material. However, keep it to a minimum. When preparing a dark green leafy vegetable for cooking, the outer leaves, if good, should be used because they contain more vitamin A than the pale inner leaves. The stems and ribs of such a vegetable are less palatable and have less nutrients than the leaf blades, so don't feel guilty discarding them.

Cook Fresh—Keep Value
Try to estimate as closely as possible the amount of cooked vegetable you will need so you won't have any leftovers. Cooked vegetables lose valuable ascorbic acid (vitamin C) the longer they are kept. After a day in the refrigerator, they have about 75% as much ascorbic acid as when freshly cooked; after two days, about 60%. Reheated vegetables have only 35% to 50% as much ascorbic acid as when you first served them.

To cook vegetables properly and save a lot of their good taste, crisp texture, vitamins and minerals, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests you follow these basic cooking principles:

1. Use as little water as possible.
2. Bring to a boil rapidly.
3. Lower the heat to keep vegetables simmering.
4. Cover the pot.
5. Cook only until tender, not mushy.

PLAN A MEAL THAT LOOKS GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT!

How many times have you asked your child or your husband "What would you like for supper?" and have the answer come back, "I don't know, surprise me?" Do you groan at the thought of having to plan menus? Or is the job fun and challenging most of the time? If you're a recipe collector you're invariably have more choices than anything to try than you have means to fit them into!

Dig out some of those marvelous cooking ones for new vegetable dishes and fruit combinations. There's a whole world of fresh fruits and vegetables at your local supermarket or specialty store. Try some of the varieties you may not have served recently, suggests the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. Your family will appreciate the change, and you may be amazed at the new tastes and textures you discover.

Salad Variations Popular

There are many types of lettuce on the market, but the most popular one is the solid-headed variety generally called iceberg. Good quality iceberg should be clean, crisp, tender, with a head heavy for its size, says the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. If two heads look similar in size, weigh one in each hand; the heavier one is the better buy.

Storage Hints
Wash greens promptly when you bring them home from market. Cut out the core of iceberg lettuce and let cold water run down between the leaves. Wrap in paper towels and place in a plastic bag or airtight container, and store in refrigerator. Greens should stay crisp for over a week if they are kept cold and moist. Greens should never be cut; it bruises and discolors the leaves. Tear the leaves with your fingers into the size pieces needed.

There are so many good things about iceberg lettuce. Did you know there are only 32 calories in a 4-inch head, so of course it can be eaten freely if you're on a low-calorie diet. It provides desirable roughage (cellulose) for good digestion, and lettuce has useful amounts of vitamins and minerals. Apart from lettuce's refreshing flavor and texture, the nutritional value is a good reason to add it to sandwiches.

Salad Variations
Chef's Salad is one of the most popular items on many restaurant menus. It's generally always served chilled. This recipe for Skillet Chef's Salad is quite original and different—it's served hot. The trick here is to have all the ingredients ready—lettuce, leaves, salami, cheese, cucumber, celery, tomatoes and eggs—so they can be tossed quickly in the spicy cooked dressing. This you have a warm yet crisp salad with delightful flavor and texture.

"Lettuce" probably reached the English language through the Old French "laitue," plural of the adjective "laitue" meaning "milky," used in referring to the plant known then because of its heavy milky juice. Fresh Bisque Laitue is a heavenly soup with French overtones. It's very simply made with ingredients you may already have right now in your kitchen: iceberg lettuce, scallions, parsley, cream, and spices. The result is a thin cream soup of great delicacy that may be served warm or cold. What a delightful surprise for your next dinner guests!

Hungry Dieters Can Picnic On Potatoes, Too

Counting calories at a backyard barbecue or picnic can really spoil the fun! But take heart. Some of those traditional summer dishes you've been avoiding may be lower in calories than you think. Potatoes, for example, are actually a good food for dieters. They're relatively low in calories, high in nutritional value and can be prepared in ways that fit your calorie needs. A medium-size potato (3 per pound), peeled and cored, is only 80 calories! What's more, unlike most other fruits and vegetables that are included in reducing diets, potatoes have a satisfying, stay-with-you feeling that helps keep you from feeling hungry between meals.

Equally important, a potato can make an important contribution to your daily nutritional needs. Eating a well-balanced meal can be particularly difficult when you're cutting down on the quantity of food you eat. So it's important to include foods like potatoes that can contribute so much good nutrition for so few calories. For just 80 calories, a medium-size potato will provide the average adult with 1-3 the vitamin C he needs every day plus smaller amounts of vitamin B-1, niacin, iron and other important trace minerals.

Potatoes are economical, too. Even when food prices on the rise, potatoes are still a good buy. In dollars, nutrition and calories, potatoes are always a bargain!

People tend to think that potatoes are fattening because of the higher-calorie toppings, gravies and sauces we traditionally serve with them. Actually, potatoes have a wonderfully versatile flavor that makes them easy to prepare in many different ways without adding lots of extra calories. For example, to baked, boiled and mashed potatoes, try adding melted butter thinned down with lemon juice and a dash of your favorite herbs and spices. Or, consider a seasoned yogurt or tomato juice dressing on your potato salad.

Scalloped Barbecue Potatoes is a calorie shy version of a traditional summer favorite. Bottled barbecue sauce, onion, vinegar and saucers add zesty flavor to this dish that totals only 163 calories per serving! Like so many potato dishes, this casserole is delicious served hot or cold. Many people don't realize this — but it's one more reason there's never any waste when you have potatoes in the menu. The leftovers are so tasty — and without any reheating!

SCALLOPED BARBECUE POTATOES

1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup bottled barbecue sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 medium potatoes (2 pounds), peeled, thinly sliced
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
Paprika
Chopped parsley
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In Dutch oven, over medium heat, heat water, barbecue sauce, vinegar, salt and pepper to boiling. Stir in potatoes and onion; simmer 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Cover and bake 1 hour or until potatoes are tender. Garnish with paprika and chopped parsley. Serve hot or refrigerate several hours to serve cold.
Makes 6 servings. About 100 calories each.

NOTE: Scalloped Barbecue Potatoes are especially good served with barbecued chicken seasoned with rosemary.

Developed in cooperation with Dairy Research Inc. (DRINC), the new product is made by a special process that avoids cooking, baking and frying. The crisp snacks are low in fat, contain no starch, additives or preservatives, but have all the benefits of milk protein nutrition.

Originally tested in Los Angeles area health stores, "Moo Munchies" are now being marketed in new colorful one and three ounce cellophane packages. Among the four available flavors, toasted onion and herb butter are the most popular.

Teague School Placed On Double Sessions

By MARK WEINTZ
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board voted Wednesday to place the over-enrolled Teague Middle School on double sessions and the decision was greeted with applause from parents.

"The motion for double sessions will be effective as soon as we can work out the busing problem," School Supt. William P. Laver said.

"The arrangements for busing will cause countywide busing problems because we will have to bring drivers down from the north end of the county and some of the drivers will face 12-hour shifts," Laver said.

Laver said he hopes the busing crisis can be resolved within a week but added the county is having trouble finding bus drivers.

The motion for double sessions was not the only alternative to the problem but it was obviously the proposal favored by the standing-room only crowd attending the meeting.

Laver's alternative proposal to change the school zones and transfer students to less crowded schools was met with resistance from audience and board members.

Board Member R. G. Feather proposed the board buy modular classrooms to eliminate the crunch at Teague. Feather said modular rooms would always be needed and could be utilized for storage or classrooms.

Assistant Board Chairman Walter Teague questioned the feasibility of buying portable structures because it would decrease the availability of state funds to build new schools due to increased capacity the portable structures would add.

The proposal to buy portable structures died when the board learned that such rooms would not be available until January.

"We are in the same position that we were in last Spring, and if we had acted then we would not be in that position now," Board Member Davie Sims said.

An unidentified man in the audience suggested the board place Teague on double sessions until the modular classrooms were available at which time the board could lift the double sessions.

Winter Springs Approves Budget, Creek Cleanup

WINTER SPRINGS — City Councilmen have approved a 1973-74 city budget of $419,000 and agreed to rid Gee Creek of pollution in a year long program.

The budget increased over last year's in all categories. The police department will receive the largest allotment of $116,000 a per capita cost of $38.67.

Budgeted for health and recreation is $9,000; for zoning, $20,000; finance, $21,000; office and general, $46,000; and road and bridge, $25,000.

Council agreed to enter into a Tri-Party agreement with the City of Casselberry and CASSUCO for the cleaning up of Gee Creek, subject to a security fence being erected around the proposed settling pond and a $10,000 cash bond.

Councilman Troy Pilland said CASSUCO submitted a bid of $3,300 for restoring the creek and pond to its original state once they are cleaned, and a bid of $1,200 for removing the waste from the settling pond in closed containers.

The project was initiated after complaints were received from residents of the city, and particularly in Hacienda Village, that Gee Creek was giving off offensive odors.

The Environmental Protection Agency refused to allow mechanized vehicles to enter the creek area for a clean up and blocked all proposals to dredge the Creek.

A plan to clean the water of pollutants by natural means was then drawn up. Water from the creek will be diverted into a settling pond, where most of the solid waste is expected to settle. Clean water from the pond will then be channeled into the Creek.

After a year, the settling pond is to be drained, all solid waste carted away, and the creek and pond restored to their original condition.

Councilmen voted to tear down all school bus shelters in the city which councilman Vicki Baker reported are in "deplorable" condition. Police Chief Donald Dobson said the shelters are now "a definite hazard to our children's safety."

Last year $300 was spent on maintenance of the shelters, which students have vandalized by pounding them with cement block or setting them on fire, according to council member Clifford Jordan.

He recommended if shelters are rebuilt the shelter outside the Shop-and-Go store should be moved to First Street, because store patrons using the shelter are creating litter and congregation problems in the parking lot.

Pilland said he will approach South Seminole Jaycees, who repaired the shelters three years ago as a community service, and ask if they will help again with rebuilding shelters.

Council agreed if new shelters are built they should be of durable materials and consist of a roof only. Sides of the present shelters have suffered most damage from vandalism attacks.

Council approved an first reading an ordinance annexing of Southeastern Metalcraft Co. Council approved advertising for bids on a new tractor for city crews.

Hattaway Asks CALNO Meeting

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — County Commissioner Mike Hattaway asked the CALNO Council of Local Governments Wednesday night as a "personal favor" to make a presentation of the pros and cons of the county joining the organization.

Hattaway said that two weeks ago a "certain" commissioner insisted on bringing the question of CALNO membership before the board. Even though "some of us were for joining and others wanted more information" a vote was forced immediately, he said.

The commissioner continued the motion was a negative one—"not to join CALNO"—and it failed, which meant the county commission took no action, Hattaway said.

He urged that CALNO Chairman Granville Brown, mayor of Winter Springs, and planners Harlan Hanson and Al Lewis make a formal presentation, stressing the benefits the county will receive from membership other than the obvious one of cooperation. He said the presentation should also point out CALNO membership advantages different from those enjoyed in the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council.

The motion made at the county commission meeting was by Commissioner Greg Drummond with a second by John Kimbrough. Hattaway and Commissioners Sid Villhen and Dick Williams voted against the motion.

Chilean Revolution 'Long Time Coming'

Editor's Note: Sanford physician Luis Perez, born and educated in Cuba, came to the United States in 1956 to escape the Communist regime. He settled in Sanford in 1963, but has kept his finger on the pulse of political activities in the Caribbean and South America. Well-known for his anti-Communist speeches and fight against drug abuse, he won the Dale Carnegie International Award in 1970 and has been honored by the state medical society.

By JANE CASSELBERRY
County Editor

The military junta that Tuesday overthrew the Marxist government of Chilean President Salvador Allende did so to prevent a blood bath because a revolution was being planned by truck drivers and other disgruntled civilians. Dr. Luis Perez, local expert on Latin American affairs, told the Herald today in an exclusive interview.

Perez said three years after the election of Allende people were in the streets protesting hunger and inflation.

"Allende's big mistake was not to destroy the established army," Perez said. He pointed out that military establishment in Chile is one of the few in Latin America that has stayed within the constitution and kept politically neutral. This is the first time in 40 years it has seized power, ending elected governments.

"The military apparently decided the best thing to do was to take over and prevent bloodshed," Perez said, "when they saw a revolution was inevitable. They did not want to kill their own people in defending a government with which they disagreed."

The Communist guerrillas will now try to use Allende, who committed suicide following his overthrow, as a martyr, Perez predicted.

Perez indicated he expected the "MR, Chile's Left Revolutionary Movement, to go underground or escape to Argentina or Peru.

When asked if foreign influences such as the CIA could have brought about the military coup, Perez said, "The CIA can't do a darn thing in Latin America. . . Communists are infiltrating Venezuela, Ecuador and Peru and the CIA can't touch it."

Perez expects the situation in Chile to stabilize soon without much resistance from the Communists. He speculated that there might be some international repercussions as there are many "experts" in Chile brought in as advisers by Allende from Russia, China, Cuba and other Iron Curtain countries, who will have to be handled with "kid gloves."

Perez pointed out that the junta's first act on taking over was to sever diplomatic relations with Cuba, saying "That little island is the mother of the whole situation in South America."

He said that in addition to aiding guerrillas in Latin America countries, Cuba is presently behind moves to set up common markets in South America and the Caribbean to present a united front in dealing with the U.S. and open the market to the whole world this building economic ties with the Communist bloc and weaken trade with the United States.

"South America is the only place where we have a positive balance of payments," Perez said, "If you take away the South American market of 250 million persons, we will have to fight for our life as we need their raw materials as we are not self-sufficient."

TO LEAD DISNEY PARADE

LINDA SARGENT of Sanford will be riding Flying Gold Rebel, champion three-year-old Palomino stallion, Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m. at Walt Disney World heading up the equestrian parade. The horse, which won the championship in June at Delray Beach, holds a double registration as a quarter horse. (Herald Photo by Bill Vincent Jr.)

This one will be brief, today, folks . . . but, it's explosive!

For what seems like eternity now, we've been repeating the evils of Watergate. It's wrong . . . whether it's a Republican or a Democrat. Whether it's happening in Washington, or Tallahassee, or . . . (and this is the worst part) right here in Seminole County.

I'm not at liberty to disclose more than this . . . the wheels of justice started turning yesterday — right here in our own backyard.

Don't be too surprised at who all is supposed to be involved

Half a loaf is what you get for what you once paid for a full loaf.
