Eye Neglect Hit

"The greatest cause of blindness in children is parental neglect," Dr. Sidney Katz, local ophthalmologist, told members of the Pinecrest PTA Tuesday in an informal talk on diseases of the eye.

Standardized visual chart tests are not very reliable, Dr. Katz said, because of the ability of children to memorize the chart.

He advised parents to have their children's eyes checked before they go to school to determine if there are any defects in vision which need to be corrected before they handicap the child's learning process.

In other business, Mrs. Robert Rosemond, chairman of the Beautification Committee requested an extra $225 to replace the dead shrubbery in the front of the school with hardy plants that will not be affected by freezing weather.

Mrs. Rosemond note that though the initial cost of the hardier shrubs is more, the long range cost will prove minimal.

A motion was made and carried to appropriate the necessary funds.

Vice president Bill Shepard, presiding in the place of President Kenneth McIntosh who was absent because of illness, urged parents of Pinecrest School children to remember that membership dues in the PTA are still being accepted for this school year. Parents may send dues to the teacher by the child, he said.

BY LARRY VERSHEL
Remember the hassle last year (Jan. 19) regarding our medical examiners? ... Man, we had headlines for days ... Our examiners threatened to quit ... demanded legislation governing the signing of death certificates in the county ... Just for the record the delegation met yesterday ... and where were Vince Roberts, Leonard Munson and Ed Stoner? Eh!

The courthouse today looked like the "mob scene" from Caesar and Cleopatra ... without Liz Taylor of course ... unless she's getting her license tag in Seminole County.

Nobody asked me but, after this morning's rain why doesn't the city convert the sewage treatment plant into a water treatment plant.

How come that bird sanctuary hearing is scheduled for Orlando on Feb. 28 instead of this county when we are so vitally concerned?

A FEW CONVERSATIONS. A CONVERSATION WITH MACK CLEVELAND JR.
REPORTER: What about this pay raise for the county commission?
CLEVELAND: As far as I'm concerned it will have to come from the commission as a body and not just from one commissioner ... Also can't see a pay raise for the board if they are going to hire an administrative aide.

A CONVERSATION WITH GORDON FREDERICK.
REPORTER: What about this pay raise?
FREDERICK: The way the matter has been presented to the delegation as a one man request I fail to see how we can in good conscience act on it.

A CONVERSATION WITH JAN FORTUNE.
Reporter: What have you got to say about that pay raise?
Fortune: I'm here today only to observe, that's all.
Reporter: No comment at all on the raise?
Fortune: I'm just going down the line now; maybe later.

A CONVERSATION WITH JOE DAVIS.
REPORTER: Say how about this ...
DAVIS: Well, Mr. Vershel I have not determined if it is the proper thing to do at this time.

Well John ... As we used to say before the decline of the Roman Empire ... Nel suo aspetto tal dentro mi fei Qual ei fe' Glauco nel gustar dell' erba.
Che il fe' costrutto in mer degli altri doi, Mack!

Man does that roof at the Ag building leak and leak and leak ...
This rain has just about killed the goose as far as finishing Seminole Park Raceway road.

OOPS! We goofed again, and made George Bohrow unhappy. The petitions he presented to the legislative delegation opposed ... not favored ... annexation by cities and counties without referendum.

There is absolutely no truth to the report that Republican Jan Fortune was late to the legislative hearings because he couldn't find Sanford ... None whatsoever, honest, I mean it ... Please believe me ... Aw, comen!

Just for the record ... Don't blame our county prosecutor Karlisle Housholder for those kids being kept in jail ... that's strictly Vernon Mize's hot potato.

MEMO TO JFK: How come three-fourths of the Post Office parking lot is reserved for 10 employees?

Tornado-Force Winds Ravage Seminole; Power, Phone Lines Disrupted

Heavy wind and rain storms reported that winds were up to at least 90 miles per hour and estimated that an inch and a half of rain fell during the 90 minute storm. Hermita Trail, SR 436 and Maitland Ave. were closed due to fallen trees and at least one home on Lake Florida was known to have suffered extensive damage from a fallen pine tree.

Swafford said that State Road Dept. crews were notified and that the Altamonte Springs Sanitation Dept. went to work immediately on clearing the debris.
Casselberry, perhaps the lightest hit, reported that their greatest inconvenience resulted from a fallen power line across Lake Triplet Dr. and power failures.
In Longwood the emergency

Forest Rangers also were kept busy at a fire resulting from power lines down on Hwy. 17-92 between Big Tree Rd. and Five Points.
Florida Power Co officials told the Herald shortly before press time that every available unit was put to work in the field with the hopes of having power restored to all areas by nightfall.

Winter Fury Kayo's Dixie

By United Press International
The Southland got a double dose of winter fury today—tornadoic winds which ripped buildings in Florida and surprise snows which closed schools in three other states.

The storm line swept across Central Florida and unleashed a series of tornadoes.
Tornadoes were spotted near Pine Hills, near Orlando, and at Lake Wales, and a possible tornado damaged planes and a hangar at the Lakeland airport. Trees were blown down and electric service disrupted in the Tampa area and roofs were damaged in Panama City.

High winds swept a compact car off a causeway near St. Petersburg, fatally injuring a Wisconsin visitor. The victim, Carl Bowman of Sheboygan, Wis., died in the accident, and his wife, Irene, was hospitalized.
A number of cars were reported damaged in the Lake Wales tornado. Broken glass, tin cans, utility lines and debris littered the streets.
The Tampa Weather Bureau received reports of "definite tornado-type damage" in the Oklawaha area. Signs were blown down, and homes had roof damage and one car was reported off the road.

Virginia's Bland County. In North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains the pressure of snows were three inches deep and driving conditions were hazardous. Georgia had three to four inches of snow in its northeast corner and ice forcing the closing of U. S. 23 and 411 near Clayton.

There was fog and drizzle in much of the rest of the nation, with snow flurries powdering the central Rockies eastward.

Indigent Care Offered

Tentative offer of between $9 and $10 daily each for the care of the county's indigent white patients was offered to the County Commission Monday evening by officials of Retirement Life a proposed DelBary nursing home.

Dr. Munson and Armao said their firm will open bids for their new facility on Feb. 28 and expect to have it completed about Oct. 1. The main building will house 88 beds, with cottages providing more. Armao said construction of one wing now depends on the county's contract.

Commissioners will meet again with the nursing home officials on March 21. Alexander said the Commissioners also will next consider an offer to care for county ambulatory patients.

Fitzpatrick said the county also must make arrangements to care for Negro indigent patients.
Hearing Feb. 26 For Four Boys
Hearing is slated for 4 p. m. Feb. 26 by Juvenile Judge Vernon Mize for four Sanford boys charged with petty larceny.

Patients would receive the nursing care, routine medicine, food, shelter, night clothing and linens. Medical care would be furnished by the patient's own physician.
Other benefits would be recreation, reading room, music room, chapel and occupational therapy.
Dr. Munson pointed out average cost for hospitalization for heart, terminal cancer and other serious forms of disease is $28.50 per day.

Armao said that "medicare is coming, whether we like it or whether we don't like it ... and nursing homes will be utilized by the federal government extensively in this respect."
Commissioners J. C. Hutchison, John Fitzpatrick, Lee Gary and John Alexander were told that the DelBary nursing home would expect a short-term contract for a certain number of county patients, in multiples of four—eight, 12, 16, 20. Fitzpatrick said the figure probably would be in the neighborhood of 20. He added the county has three alternatives: Build and operate a new nursing home, build and lease it, or board the patients.

Now What's $100 A Month More, Eh Mack?

Pay hikes, increased court fees and a revised pension plan were broached by county office holders to the Seminole County legislative hearing Monday afternoon.
Possible legislation on these matters were brought up at a public hearing called by S. J. Davis Jr., incumbent Representative, who invited three candidates to sit in: Mack Cleveland Jr., for the Senate, and Gordon Frederick and Jan Fortune for the House.
John Fitzpatrick, who said he was speaking for himself only, asked the legislators to introduce a bill increasing Seminole County Commissioners pay $100 monthly. He explained Commissioners now receive $200 monthly in pay plus $100 for expenses. He asked for $400 monthly, to include expenses. He said the increase would bring local Commissioners up to the Florida average.

Other Commissioners present, Chairman J. C. Hutchison, John Alexander and Lee Gary, made no comment. Nor did they comment when Fitzpatrick asked for legislation establishing a county-wide fire department. Fitzpatrick said the Commission "was not unanimous" on this question.

Circuit Judge Volie A. Williams Jr. requested of the legislators they support general legislation seeking salary increases for State Supreme Court Justices, Courts of Appeals Judges and Circuit Court Judges. He added if the general bill fails he would ask only that he receive consideration comparable to other local Circuit Judges. "If they do not receive a pay raise, I want none," Williams said, but added, "if they do receive a pay raise, then I want one in a comparable amount."

Williams now receives $13,500 annually, plus $3,000 supplemental pay.
Arthur H. Beckwith Jr., court clerk, sought support of the delegation for statewide legislation increasing many court fees. He explained these excess fees go to the county general fund.
Support of a revised statewide pension plan for sheriffs and deputies was asked by Sheriff J. L. Hobby. Presently sheriffs and deputies pay four per cent of their salaries into a pension fund, matched by four per cent paid by the counties. They may retire after 10 years or more of service at the age of 60. The revised plan would increase the individual contribution to 8 1/2 per cent and would allow the officers to retire after 10 years or more of service at the age of 55.

General Hutchison, speaking for the County Commission, asked support of local legislation permitting the retention of a consulting engineer to conduct a survey for water conservation and drainage, and to establish under this survey a water control program of dams, levees, canals, dikes, reservoirs, etc., to regulate and control the water supply, payable through general obligation bonds, assessments and ad valorem taxes to be approved in a referendum.

"We must take care of the water supply," General Hutchison said, "for the development of Florida will be curtailed."
Legislation also was sought to establish a county animal pound, with a full-time officer, and to control junk or salvage yards.

Alexander, speaking for the Commission, asked for enabling legislation toward the future establishment of a criminal court of record when Seminole County's population exceeds 100,000. The delegation frowned on this request, since the court could not be established until after results of the 1970 federal census are published in 1971.
Sheriff Hobby also requested legislation regulating the activities of private detectives in Seminole County.

Justice of the Peace Elmer Ashley asked for dog control legislation and also for a law permitting justices to levy fines up to $200, rather than the present $100 limitation.
Constable Grady Hall asked for legislation permitting the appointment of a deputy constable.
The School Board asked for a $600 minimum bid law and Seminole Memorial Hospital sought a 60-day extension on filing its budget request after the close of its fiscal year on Sept. 30.

Flu Ravages Southeast

United Press International New York City and the southeastern states today bore the brunt of the latest stage of influenza to hit the nation. Asian flu spread throughout New York, and Dr. George James, city health commissioner, said it had reached epidemic proportions. Hundreds of cases of respiratory illnesses were reported in separate areas of Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama and Massachusetts. James reported that for the first six weeks of this year there were 631 pneumonia and influenza deaths in New York City, compared with 450 such deaths normally expected for the period. He said that for the first seven weeks of 1968 there were 984 more deaths than usually expected.

School officials at Wilkesboro, N. C., Monday closed the 28 Wilkes County and North Wilkesboro schools because of flu cases. The schools will not reopen before Wednesday.

The 100-bed Wilkes General Hospital was crowded with 104 patients, many suffering from flu or related ailments. Three Tennessee areas were hard hit. Dr. Mack M. Green, health officer of Montgomery County, said at least 700 cases were reported in the area, but doctors were so busy treating patients that reports were not complete. Absenteeism in the area schools ran from 9 to 31 per cent.

"It is quite serious. All indications are it will get worse," Green said. There were at least 500 cases in Memphis, Tenn., and hospitals forade visitors in an effort to halt the spread of the virus. At least two dozen Memphis policemen could not report for work. Dr. Alex Shipley, Knoxville's regional director for the state Public Health Department, said, "We haven't hit full steam, but it looks like we're going to have it."

School Road Probe Sought

County School Superintendent E. T. Milwee and District 4 County Commissioner Lee Gary will be asked by members of the Caselberry Board of Aldermen to make an "on the spot" inspection of Winter Park Dr., main artery of traffic to and from South Seminole Elementary School. Question of whether or not the road should be designated a "Municipal Connecting Link" came up at Monday night's meeting of the Caselberry board after a petition to the county asking that the road be paved was referred to the town. The petition was signed by parents representing some 700 children who attend the school from areas south and east of Caselberry. It cited conditions which threaten the safety of any child attending the school and asked that Winter Park Dr. be paved from Red Bug Lake Rd. to Seminole Blvd. The inspection was suggested as a first step prior to asking the county for a designation of the road.

Lyman Team Loses Brain Bowl Match

By Jane Casselberry
After last week's successful win, Lyman High's Brain Team met defeat this Sunday at the hands of the Winter Park High team in a Brain Bowl Match held in Lyman auditorium.

The final score was Winter Park 295 to Lyman's 200. Lyman had the misfortune to rack up two penalties of five points each for ringing the buzzer before the question was completed and not being able to give a full answer.

The questions, compiled by Brevard Junior College, had some proving so difficult and obscure that both teams were stumped.

Milton Stokes of Orlando Junior College was moderator and Paul Rutenkroger, acting chairman of the math department at OJC, was the judge.

Team sponsors, Miss Ma Barfield for Winter Park and Fletcher Cockrell for Lyman served as official scorekeepers and Sandy Sherwin and Roy Goodwin were unofficial scorekeepers.

Future Farmer Week Set

Attention throughout the nation is focused this week on the Future Farmers of America who are observing National FFA Week, Feb. 16 to 23.

Major Tom McDonald of Sanford has proclaimed FFA Week here, noting that the FFA has chosen the week of George Washington's Birthday for their observance.

"The first president of the United States was also one of the first farmers in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotation, fertilization and other soil conservation and improvement methods," he pointed out.

"Agriculture is vital to America" is the theme of this year's week, and farm boys everywhere will undertake a campaign to inform the general public about the importance of the agricultural industry in America, and the numerous and wide variety of opportunities that exist in this field for young men who have a background of farm experience and training.

"We have such an abundance of food in America that people are taking farmers for granted," said Bill West, vocational agriculture and FFA advisor at Seminole High School.

"Actually, farming is our largest and most vital industry and it is becoming increasingly important with our expanding population. In our area, particularly, most of the businesses and most of the jobs are basically dependent on surrounding farms for their existence. Take away the farms and for all practical purposes you would destroy the entire community," added Don Farrens, vocation teacher at Sanford Junior High School.

The 34 members of the Seminole High School Chapter and the 35 members of the Sanford Junior High Chapter are part of the 400,000 members in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Membership in the FFA is made up of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school and junior high. The activities are designed to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship and stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming or other agricultural occupations.

Money that builds walls

...American style

The money you're putting into U. S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 37-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

Not By Sweat Alone

Death and taxes are not the only certain things in the world. It is also an immutable fact that without work man perisheth — if not physically, then emotionally.

This truth has been expressed in many forms over the ages. It has now been confirmed in a public opinion poll, which, to our modern way of thinking, is the ultimate stamp of approval.

The University of Michigan Survey Research Center asked people around the country whether or not they would continue to work if they somehow or other had all the money they needed.

Eight out of ten men replied that they would continue to work, usually giving as their reasons the emptiness of a life of nonwork, the boredom of nonemployment.

Yet this apparently universal need to work exists side by side with a fairly general dislike of work. The poll indicated that for many people work remains throughout their lives only an irksome necessity. That is, they are not doing the kind of work they think they would like to do.

Attitudes toward the idea of work were especially revealing. When asked to define work, about 50 percent said it is something one has to do or doesn't like.

Twenty percent described work as something productive, important, or social value to others. Eight percent defined work in terms of exertion or effort. Others said it is something scheduled or timed or routinized.

Factory workers most often gave the answer that work is an activity that is timed and paid for. People with high education levels tended to consider work a duty — and not much fun.

According to Dr. Robert L. Kahn, the survey director, these attitudes are inherited from the family background. They are neither caused — nor corrected — by the educations different people receive.

Kahn sees a reflection of our dislike of work in union practices. He feels union policies are, in effect:

"Work is too hard; work is too long; working conditions are bad."

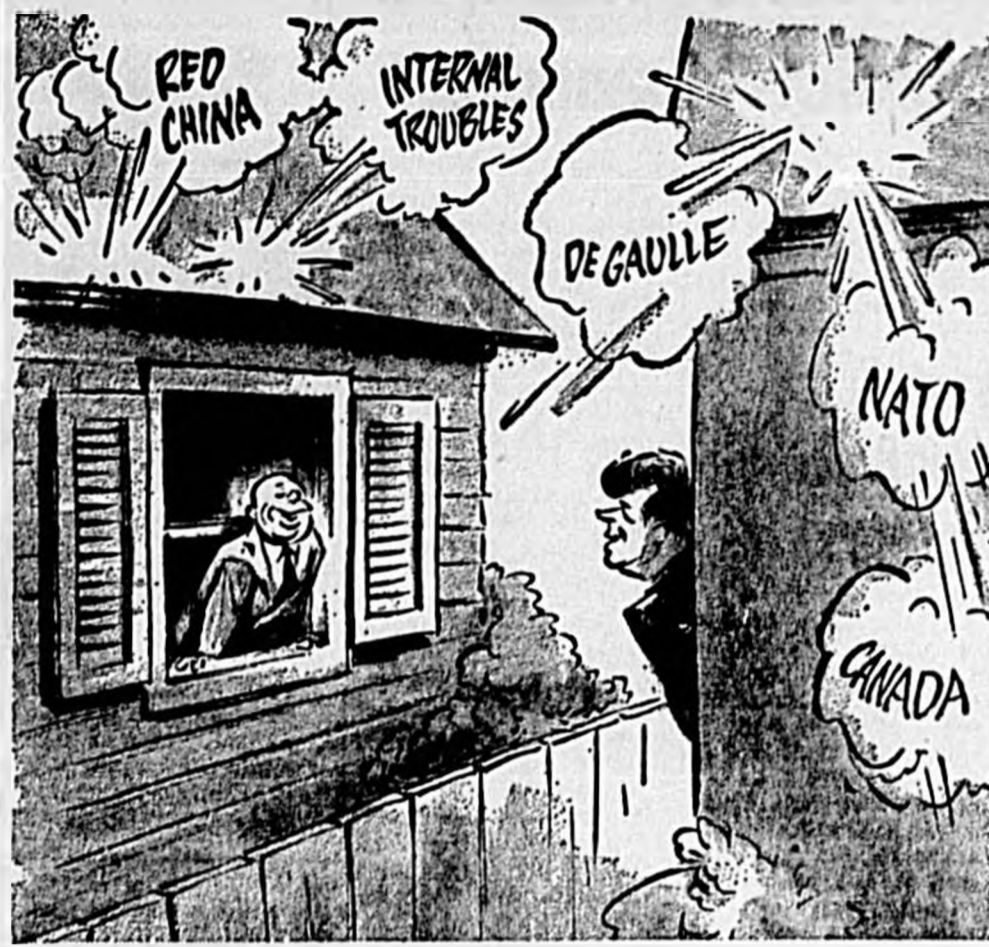

Unions, he says, have given relatively little attention to the questions of variety versus monotony, scheduling versus freedom on the job, other kinds of satisfaction from the job besides money.

On the other hand, Kahn says management has its own implicit assumptions about work:

"Work is undesirable; people won't do it unless they have to; it is something they try to avoid; pay is the only compensation for work."

It would seem that all of us, whether employer or employee, need to rethink our attitudes toward work. It's been with us since Adam; it promises to be around for a long time to come.

Both: "Having a Little Trouble?"

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE O-463: Joe J., aged 20, was one of my former students at Northwestern University.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I s-stutter. It all s-started when I was in the 3rd grade.

"For I put up my hand and asked the t-teacher if I could go to the boy's lavatory.

"As the s-son of a doctor, I used the medical word my mother had taught me. But this made the other children laugh.

"S-s-so I blushed and felt humiliated. And I have s-stuttered ever since. How can I get over it?"

Stuttering is usually just a nuisance muscular habit that was learned in one single episode.

For habits don't always require many months of repetition.

For example, if a child burns his hand on a hot stove, that single burn will probably make him avoid touching any more hot stoves.

For the burn of the fire endures long after the muscular action has stopped.

In like manner, when a child is guilty of an embarrassing slip of the tongue that causes blushing and shame, the resulting psychological "burn" can still persist for many years.

To understand the original pattern of stuttering, please consider what we psychiatrists describe as the typical "stutter triangle."

Each corner contains one element of the 3-point stutter complex.

And these three points that usually typify the original stutter situation are as follows:

(1) Normal conversational tones;

(2) Use of English language;

(3) Speaking to human beings.

Change any one of those three corners of the "stutter triangle" and you can immediately help the stutterer banish his complex.

For example, have him deliberately pitch his voice higher or lower and he stops stuttering. Or ask him to sing or read printed copy.

Or let him use ventriloquism! Ventriloquists do NOT stutter.

A quick change at (1) can also be obtained by biting down on the tongue with the jaw teeth and then holding it imprisoned as the stutterer launches into speech.

Demosthenes used pebbles in his mouth to alter this point of the triangle, for stutterers did NOT have pebbles in their mouths when the nuisance habit started.

Nowadays, a big wad of bubble gum will serve much as Demosthenes' pebbles.

Look at (2), for here in American the usual stutterer was speaking in English.

Let him shift to a foreign language and he will generally speak without stuttering, for that alters the second corner of the stutter triangle.

(3) If he addresses his dog or horse or even shouts to the waves, a la Demosthenes, he also breaks the original pattern by changing the 3rd corner of the Triangle.

Stutterers can also obtain help by extroverting their personality for they are usually too self-conscious.

So send for my booklet "Five Laws for Complimenting," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20¢.

But imprison your tongue for quick relief.

A-Hiking We Will Go

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As everyone in the entire ever-loving ambulatory world must know by now, America is on a hiking binge.

The way things are going, hiking will become the biggest fad since flagpoles sitting.

Some people apparently are just now discovering that they have feet.

It all started, of course, with President Kennedy's revival of an old Theodore Roosevelt directive fixing a three-day, 50-mile hike as a fitness test for military officers.

Would you like to hear the true, inside story of what was behind the original directive? Very well. Just stay right there in your easy chair and I will give you the scoop.

Roosevelt was never exactly a 98-pound weakling, but he did have what might be described as a "Charles Atlas complex."

As a youth, according to his autobiography, he was "rather sickly and awkward" and "quite unable to hold my own when thrown into contact with other boys of rougher antecedents."

If Atlas, the famous body-builder, had been in business at the time, young Teddy probably would have enrolled in his development course in muscle development.

But he lived in the primitive era before Atlas invented "dynamic tension," so he was forced to create a physical culture program of his own.

For several years, Roosevelt went in big for wrestling. While governor of New York, he billed the state for a wrestling mat, but the expense was disallowed by the comptroller, who took the position that it was not a "proper gubernatorial amusement."

Roosevelt next took up boxing, but abandoned it after a poke in the eye ruptured some blood vessels. He was by then getting pretty old, so he turned to less strenuous exercise—jui-jitsu.

It was his high regard for what he called "the vigor of life" that prompted him to issue the hiking directive. The armed forces were dismayed by the order and did all they could to circumvent it.

But Roosevelt himself said it was "a test which many a healthy middle-aged woman would be able to meet."

To prove his point, he often went on hikes, with an athletic group known as the "tennis cabinet." When they came to a river, they didn't bother with bridges. They swam across.

If we swam the Potomac, we usually took off our clothes," Roosevelt recalled.

On one occasion the French ambassador joined the hike and as they were about to swim the river someone noticed that he was still wearing his gloves.

Matter Of Fact

If you like peanuts and peanut butter, you are in luck. World production of peanuts in 1966 was estimated at 15,637,000 tons, 5 per cent larger than 1959. More than half of the world production was in Asia. India with 5,290,000 tons and mainland China, with an estimated 2,300,000 tons were the world's largest producers.

African production at 4,052,000 tons was about 16 per cent above 1959. The largest producer in Africa and the third largest in the world was Nigeria.

"I think I will leave them on," said the proper but otherwise naked envoy. "We might meet ladies."

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A second meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Russia's Chairman Nikita Khrushchev may be in the making.

William C. Foster, U. S. Disarmament Agency director, gave a first hint of this in a recorded interview with Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., on the nuclear test ban negotiations.

"Is there likely to be a further discussion of this between the President and Mr. Khrushchev?" the senator asked.

"I would think so," replied Foster, referring to the exchange of notes between the President and Khrushchev last December, just before the 18-nation Geneva disarmament committee recessed, Foster declared: "These letters certainly indicate that they both have a deep interest in obtaining a dependable agreement to terminate nuclear tests."

"Then you would expect that?" Keating asked.

Foster replied: "I would expect at some point it would occur."

This exchange took place just before the Russians did another about-face and broke off test ban talks with American and British officials in New York and Washington Jan. 31.

Foster is now in Geneva as head of U. S. negotiators in the disarmament talks.

His aides say that he was referring to both further exchanges of notes and direct talks.

This confirms authoritative reports in Washington that the Russians have been hinting they would like to arrange another Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting.

Since their first and only meeting in Vienna June 3-4, 1961, the President has given no encouragement to holding another. The condition laid down has been that there must be some assurance of being able to formalize agreements already negotiated. There would not be another meeting just to talk.

These conditions apparently dissuaded Khrushchev from coming to the UN General Assembly last fall. There would be no point in his coming unless he could also see the President.

Kennedy has tentative plans to visit Rome and Bonn in late winter or early spring. The White House makes clear no firm dates have been scheduled. London speculation that the President might also see Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is not confirmed in Washington. A European visit would, of course provide an opportunity for a meeting with Khrushchev.

Some American specialists on Communist affairs who are discouraging any further Kennedy-Khrushchev meetings now say that in their first conference, Khrushchev gained the impression that the President was not a strong and forceful leader.

It is claimed this was reflected in Russia's renunciation of the nuclear test ban and the resumption of testing in 1961. It is maintained that this was a factor in the Kremlin decision to establish offensive intermediate range ballistic bases in Cuba and make that island a center for further Communist aggression throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Khrushchev now may have discovered that Kennedy is a year and a half more experienced than he was in Vienna and definitely no weakling.

In any future meeting the two leaders would therefore be on more even terms and might conduct more fruitful talks.

Not the least of the subjects for them to discuss—in addition to a nuclear test ban and disarmament—is the Cuba situation. Both Kennedy and Khrushchev left their extremely fuzzy after their exchange of notes prior to the Russian missile pull-out from Cuba last October.

Khrushchev promised on-site inspection of the dismantled bases. Fidel Castro has prevented him from delivering on this promise. This nullified Kennedy's offer of a guarantee against an American invasion of Cuba.

But now the President faces a new dilemma in getting all Russian forces and even defensive arms out of Cuba.

The President's last press conference failed to clarify just what pressures are being applied to make the Russians get out of Cuba and stay out. But an agreement to this effect is becoming the first test of Russia's sincerity about wanting disarmament.

Patriotism Peddlers

This is the season of the year when we hear a great deal from our politicians about some of the nation's foremost heroes — George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson.

To invoke the greatness of the historic past is not only natural but ought to be a highly inspiring exercise. Yet with too many politicians it has become perfunctory, unthinking.

The real purpose of this annual wintertime festival of party speech-making is to belabor the opposition with full force. No one can sensibly object to highly charged political debate. We must have it. But there is more than a little artifice in conducting it against a backdrop of our past greatness.

Most of the politicians who disport themselves in front of this rich canvas probably know very little of American history, though they glibly deal in great names.

How many, for instance, would believe that George Washington, during the French and Indian War years before the Revolution, was once briefly under suspicion for treason? How many know that at least three times he narrowly missed death during that same period?

How many know how strongly governed Washington was in his public duty by his deep sense of pride, his concern for his honor and reputation before the world he moved in?

Who among our wintertime speakers on the political circuit has sampled the rewarding evidences of friendship between Jefferson and John Adams?

This was a bond hugely helpful to a budding nation, a link which weakened in later years only to be restored as the two men neared death.

With his dying breath, Adams, in Massachusetts, was moved to say: "Thank God Thomas Jefferson still lives." But he was wrong. That very morning, a few hours earlier, Jefferson, his great friend, had died in Virginia.

How wide is the appreciation among our Lincoln-Jefferson-Jackson day orators that Adams is rated by historians as a "near great" among U. S. presidents? That James K. Polk, little heard of is another?

The truth is that our politicians generally do not know their historic past much better than do most Americans and that is not very well. Innumerable surveys of students and adults alike have made the point forcefully.

Some year the politicians ought to devote their winter festival to a real consideration of history, with the notable aim of stirring among Americans a genuine interest in the historic roots of the "Americanism" they hear so much about.

Americanism ought to be a living, breathing thing, built from an unending stream of life in which we all can move. For too many it is a marble status, aloof on a pedestal.

A Bone In JFK's Throat

For much the same reason that Nikita Khrushchev described West Berlin as a bone in his throat, President Kennedy can apply the same description to Cuba.

Viewed in this light, Cuba vs. Berlin, Soviet strategy becomes clearer and Cuba takes a natural place on the cold war chess board.

In this light, the actual number of Soviet troops in Cuba takes on lesser significance, whether it be 5,000 or 20,000.

It is the Soviet "presence" that counts.

A handful of 10,000 or so Allied troops in West Berlin could not hope to stem the Soviet tide were it to be unleashed. One reason that it is not unleashed lies not in the number but in the Allied "presence" which would guarantee a world war in case of Soviet attack.

When the world receded from the brink of nuclear war last October with Khrushchev's promise to remove his offensive rockets, it naturally was assumed that he now would look elsewhere for a means to re-establish damaged prestige and to recapture the initiative.

One of these assumptions took in the possibility of new Soviet pressure on Berlin.

Instead, he has reversed his field, facing the United States in Cuba with exactly the same risks he would face in an attack upon Berlin.

There are other striking similarities.

Just as West Berlin is a foothold within Communist territory, so Cuba now is a foothold in a traditionally U. S. sphere of influence.

Just as the Western powers have been willing to pour millions of dollars into West Berlin to help maintain it as a free world symbol, so Khrushchev apparently is willing to pour millions into Cuba to maintain it as a beacon for Communist subversion throughout Latin America.

Khrushchev could take other pages from the book of Allied experience in Berlin.

Mayfair Golfers Top DeLand Club 118-80

The Mayfair Men's Golf Association beat out the DeLand golfers 118 to 80 points in the Inter Club Match held at the DeLand Country Club Golf Course, Sunday.

A return match is scheduled at the Mayfair Country Club here on March 24. Walt Cunningham had low gross in the A. Division with a 70 and four golfers had ties, Carl Crane and Dr. Dub Epps each with a net 68 and Wilk Bowman and E. C. Bradford both holding a net 69.

Long Wait For Brosnan

United Press International It looks like Jim Brosnan, who made headlines a few years back with "the long season," is going to make "em again with the "long wait."

The big Cincinnati relief pitcher made many a face in baseball turn red when he published "The Long Season," an inside look at the game, in 1960. Jim has forsaken the Shakespearean bit this winter but now he's making threats galp in the Cincinnati front office of what a pitcher with a 4-4 record should earn.

"It looks like Jim is going to be our tough man," said General Manager Bill Dewitt of the Reds Monday after announcing the signing of 21-game winner Joey Jay. "He definitely doesn't like the contract we sent him."

Brosnan had a 10-4 record in 1961, when the Reds won the National League pennant, and a presumably was cut $3,000 or $4,000 on the basis of his inferior showing in 1962.

Buckeyes Hold Key Spot

United Press International Ohio State, bearing a two-season grudge against top-ranked Cincinnati, held a key position today in anticipation of a revenge battle with the Bearcats in the 1963 NCAA college basketball tournament.

The Buckeyes, with the help of Gary Bradts in first place, remained in a first-place tie with Illinois in the Big Ten Conference race by bulldozing Michigan State, 87-77, Monday night.

Cinci Still No. 1 Despite First Defeat

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati's first defeat failed to shake the Bearcats from the No. 1 spot in the United Press International college basketball ratings today, but Loyola, whose perfect record also was ruined, was replaced by Duke in second place.

Wichita vaulted all the way from 17th place to sixth this week on the strength of the 65-64 upset victory which ended Cincinnati's 27-game, two-season winning streak. Although Cincinnati held the top spot—as it has every week of this season—coach Ed Jucker's heated misadventure in the game against Loyola drew an avalanche of first-time in nine weeks.

Pay-Off Big At Jai-Alai

At the Orlando Seminole Jai Alai Fronton Monday afternoon three games paid off a total of $65,130 to perfect ticket holders.

The payoff in the eighth game on the 4-8, duo was $254.10. In the ninth the 4-3 paid $142.20 and in the finale of the afternoon the rebates on the 5-1 amounted to $258. The featured singles in the evening performance was won by Uria, playing out of post five. Second was the youthful Zarra in post one. The latter is working his way up to the top echelon of the roster. The game last night marked his 38th effort against the fronton's big boys.

Club Plans Deep Sea Fishing Trip

Final plans for next Monday's Deep Sea Fishing trip for members of the DeBarry Fishing Club were made at last Wednesday night's meeting of the group.

The trip will be made aboard the Mariann out of Daytona Beach by 43 members of the club.

Guest speaker for last week's meeting was Bob Peary, registered biologist from the State Conservation Headquarters in Ocala who spoke on treatment of lakes in the DeBarry area.

A film, "How to Find Fish with Lunkers Lore" was shown by Howard Middleton.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I helped at a church supper last evening and three other women were there, bustling about in good health, trying to out-work each other. They ALL have mothers in the local rest home and claim they are unable to care for their mothers in their own homes. Is this Christianity today? Whom are they fooling. Surely, not God! Those women nauseate me, and I couldn't partake of their hypocritical offering of food to help the Lord. Help the Lord, indeed! Neglecting their own mothers to go to a church basement and work harder than any cleaning woman. No amount of public praying will cover up their sins of failing to care for their own mothers. May God forgive them.

OUTRAGED

DEAR OUTRAGED: I cannot know of all the reasons these women do not nurse their own mothers in their own homes. Nor can you. Things are not always as they appear to be. "Judge not — that ye be not judged."

DEAR ABBY: When "Worried Hostess" inquired about how to handle a guest who didn't eat, I was delighted with your reply. "Pass the fruit and nuts to him." Being a vegetarian of long standing, I have encountered many such worried hostesses. Nature has provided us with plenty of goodies that man can eat and enjoy without eating meat. I know many nice people consider me "nutty," but I keep reminding myself of what Henri Barbusse said, "If someone sees something half an hour before the others can see it, he is 'nuts' — at least for that half hour." Yours truly, KARL

DEAR ABBY: I didn't mind when this certain person sent out birth announcements for her first baby, and even for her second, but since 1954 she has had seven children and I am getting very tired of her annual birth announcement because it means a present. She is a nice person, Abby, but enough is enough. Should I send her an anonymous complaint? All I can afford is a five-cent stamp.

CAN'T AFFORD HER

DEAR CANT: The "anonymous" letter is a coward's weapon. Use the five-cent stamp to send her your congratulations and good wishes.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Have to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, BOX 3365, BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Sometimes intermediate cards will block a suit if you don't play them right away.

North scraped the bottom of the barrel to find his three no-trump bid, but South can see nine tricks provided he can bring home five diamonds. The suit figures to break three-two but South wants to guard against the possibility of a four-one break and sees that if East holds four diamonds to the jack there will be no way to make nine tricks.

Suppose West holds four diamonds to the Jack? In that case the bad break will show on the second lead and South will have a proven finesse. However, dummy has entry problems and if South leads his six of diamonds he will lose the hand. If he plays the six to dummy's queen and returns to his ace, when he leads the ten spot West will play low and South will wind up with two good diamonds in dummy and no way to get to them. South must start the suit by leading the ace or the ten. Assume he starts with the ten and West plays small. South will win with dummy's queen, return to his ace and lead the six. If West plays low South will finesse the nine and pick up the jack. If West plays high South will go up with the king.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

There are a lot of things you would like to learn more about, but you think you are too old to go back to school—you are in your 60s or 70s. Nonsense.

According to a nationwide survey recently made by Dr. H. Lee Jacobs of the University of Iowa, 10 per cent of all students enrolled in adult education courses are over 65. There's no reason why the number of students over 65 shouldn't keep on growing, since those are the years of retirement when there is plenty of time for study.

If you are already up in years, what will go back to school do for you? School officials say their older students get many benefits from their second fling at education.

Here are some listed by educators: "Improvement of old skills and acquisition of new ones, new feelings of usefulness, new friendships formed, more creative use of leisure, improvement in personal appearance, increased prestige and status, greater self-confi-

What other course of action can you think of that would offer you so many advantages? Instead of letting your mind grow rusty, your days grow long from lack of anything worthwhile to do with your time, why not try going back to school to sharpen your mind and widen your interests?

As Dr. Kent points out: "Learning is not just for the young, it is for everyone." Find out what the opportunities for adult education are in your own community and then get busy taking advantage of them.

To learn more about those mysterious teenagers, read Ruth Millett's booklet "Tips on Teen-Agers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett, Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Bolick Urges Pastors' Stand

Rev. Ernest Bolick, pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church flung down the gauntlet to Sanford pastors when he stated in a speech Thursday to Civilians.

"Pastors are entitled to speak out on all issues and should have the courage to speak out."

"There is much to concern us," Rev. Bolick said. "We should decry the slums of Sanford and the people who own them and make them."

"We should decry the public issues in politics, industry, and everyday life."

"Yet if a preacher is seen near a bar, brothel or race track, or talking to drunks, prostitutes or gamblers, fingers are pointed at him."

"Nevertheless, he must be able to help these people, for the church is meant to be a haven for sinners, not a hospital for saints."

"How else can a pastor begin to understand and know the dark forces, conditions and environments that create the problems of drinking, promiscuousness and gambling unless he knows the kind of life that is led by those who need his help?"

"We live in a world gone to hell," he said emphatically.

"And the pastor must come out of his ivory tower and deal with the bleak side of life, the raw ends of life, not seek to protect his 'public image' as the parish chauffeur, janitor, gardener, visitor of the sick and back-patcher."

Rev. Bolick decried the narrow definition of a minister, and pointed out that Christ himself was scorned by the religious men of his time because, "he consorted with sinners."

"But He sought the lost sheep—not the ones safely in the fold. He walked and talked and dined with those despising people who needed Him most—and for this they crucified Him, just as they crucified the pastor today who spouts his sterile 'public image'."

"Pointing to those far right anti-communist organizations which charge ministers and teachers and others with being 'Red,'" Rev. Bolick said, "They attempt to teach love of country by teaching hate for some of the citizens of the country."

"You cannot teach love by teaching hate," Rev. Bolick emphasized.

"Let Mr. H. L. Hunt and his organizations and the Birch Society take their programs to Mexico and export them to Cuba, rather than to weaken our country by selling Americans against Americans."

"They love to cry that the ministry is soft on Communism, but we don't hear anyone saying of a minister that he is 'soft on sin' and sin is far more universal and dangerous than Communism."

"The pastor is presumed never to be sad or worried, to lose his temper, to get sick, to have enemies or do any of the other things that other human beings do."

"He is supposed to take part in community life but not 'interfere.' To be interested in the community, but not 'too' interested. He's a nice guy to have around, just as long as he keeps his mouth shut," the Lutheran minister noted.

"There are many pressures on today's pastor. He must be many things to many people, and those who seek him must respond by trying to live life as he points it out to them."

"If we ever get to the moon or to Mars, there'll be churches there, and chaplains on the way there, and pastors to minister to the spiritual side of man's nature, no matter where he goes," Rev. Bolick promised.

School Change At Pensacola Hit

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Conversion of Pensacola Junior College into a four-year degree-granting institution would exclude a substantial number of students now being admitted to the two-year college, a legislative committee was told today.

Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said higher admission standards at degree-granting institutions would eliminate many students now enjoying the benefits of the junior college.

This was one of the reasons, he said, the board is recommending that the legislature authorize a brand-new upper division two-year university be established in Pensacola.

He warned there will be "violent revolution" and government regimes "very much like that from which Cuba is suffering" if Latin America fails to institute social reforms.

In an address prepared for a National Press Club lunch, Betancourt said U. S. diplomacy during the decade through 1958 contributed to the flourishing "of the extreme left in my country and in others where there was dictatorship."

Water Projects Progress

Planning Near Completion

Preliminary planning for two proposed waterway projects for Sanford are nearing completion, Harold Scott, Jacksonville consulting engineer, reported to The Herald by telephone at noon today.

Scott, of the firm of Reynolds, Smith and Hills, stated he expects to be ready within two weeks to report to the St. Johns-Indian River Navigating Committee on a proposed right-of-way for a canal connecting Lake Monroe with the Atlantic Ocean to the south.

The engineer said he is awaiting a drawing from the U. S. Geological Survey at Washington of the area from the Osteen bridge to Lake Harney "which would avoid the sand fishing grounds."

The "John Brumley idea" suggested an eight-foot deep canal 11 miles long connecting the St. Johns and Indian Rivers for large and pleasure boat traffic, with the spill to be used as a bed for a direct four-way highway to the coast.

Principal argument by fishing camp operators and others would be that Brumley's idea would eliminate the sand spawning grounds. Scott emphasized site of the proposed canal will bypass these sand beds.

John Krider, committee chairman, has reported that when Scott is ready with his proposed right-of-way site a meeting will be called by the committee of Seminole, Orange, Brevard and Volusia County commissioners seeking four-county support of the project. Krider also emphasized the planning has not reached the stage for financing the canal.

Scott also reported the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency, at Atlanta, has under review the City of Sanford's request for $10,000 for a planning study for a proposed port terminal.

He added that the IHFA requested additional information and this was forwarded by the City to Atlanta. Should the City complete the port terminal, the $10,000 must be repaid to the government. If the project is dropped, the $10,000 need not be repaid.

The fund would be to finance the engineer's planning study for a $350,000 port terminal, with bulkheads, dredging, paving and a transit shed to handle St. Johns River traffic into Lake Monroe. Scott has said previously no site has been selected for the terminal but recommended it be placed at the foot of French Avenue.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby today emphasized that the four Sanford boys charged with petty larceny were "not held incommunicado" at the juvenile detention facility.

Hobby declared that the parents of the four youngsters were "contacted immediately" by juvenile authorities and all four parents visited the youngsters at the jail during the period they were detained.

A hearing on the four boys is scheduled before Juvenile Judge Vernon Mize Feb. 26. The four had been charged with thefts of cakes from supplies deposited in early morning hours before local groceries.

The parents of one of the boys wrote a letter to the editor of the Herald saying that his son had been detained and that he was unable to talk to the boy.

"On Friday, February 8, 1963, four juveniles were taken into custody by the Sanford Police Department and referred to the Juvenile Court. They were charged with petty larceny, having been involved in a series of thefts of articles from the fronts of certain grocery stores around the City of Sanford. A detention order was signed and they were held in detention in the custody of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department until Monday morning, February 11, 1963.
