ANIGONI KONSTANDA, representing Egypt, won the title of "Miss World, 1954" in London, England. She was proclaimed "the most beautiful girl in the world" in competition with contestants from 15 other countries. Miss Konstanda received $1,400 in cash and a chance at a film career. Second prize went to Karin Hultman, of Rochester, N. Y.

Collins Favors 5 Of 7 Changes Proposed To State Constitution

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. nominee LeRoy Collins favors five of seven constitutional amendment proposals which will be submitted to Florida voters at the general election Nov. 2.

He is enthusiastic in his support of the proposal which would let the Legislature meet 10 times a year for an extra 30 days after completion of its regular 60-day session.

Collins, who was a state senator in the 1953 Legislature and helped steer the measure to legislative passage, said in an interview with the Associated Press the lawmakers need more time to do their work.

He also endorses the section of the amendment which would raise legislators' salaries from the present $10 a day during the sessions to a flat year-round $100 a month.

Legislators would continue to draw $7.50 a day expense money and travel allowances during the actual sessions as they do now.

He opposes proposed amendments which would forbid use of state funds for toll roads extending into more than three counties and make it possible for larger counties to have more than one county judge.

He said he is in accord with the purpose of the toll road amendment, but the extent that I don't believe state tax funds should be used or obligated to support any toll road project involving more than three counties.

"I am seriously concerned, however, about the form of this amendment. I intend to vote against the proposed amendment."

As for the county judges amendment, Collins said he will vote against it because though extra judges may be needed "the judicial council is now making a comprehensive survey of our entire judicial system and will recommend to the next legislature a proposed new judicial article to the constitution."

He favors amendments which would give the governor 20 days instead of the present 10 to act on bills after adjournment of the Legislature and allow the Legislature to authorize assessment and collection of municipal taxes by county tax assessors and collectors.

Two amendments applying only to Monroe and Escambia counties also has his approval. One would let Monroe County tax assessors assess all property for any tax levied in the county. The other would let the Escambia County Court of Record have a second judge.

Billboard Contract Renewed By CofC

The Chamber of Commerce executive committee voted yesterday to renew a contract for billboard advertising with the Standard Advertising Co., St. Augustine.

The billboards are located above Bunnell on Hwy. 1, extolling the virtues of the county, according to Forrest Breckenridge, CofC manager. The chamber maintains 17 boards in the state.

Commie Nations Beat Boycott Of Red China

Russia, European Satellites Purchase Banned Strategic Goods, Sell To Ally

LONDON (AP)—Russia and her European satellites have opened a big hole in Western barriers against potential exports to Communist China. They are buying strategic goods from the West and selling them to the Chinese, making a neat profit in the bargain.

American and British officials last night elsewhere know what is happening but say they can see no way of stopping it.

This is the Western gimmick the Kremlin has turned to Eastern advantage.

The United States and her allies forbid the export of certain strategic goods to both Eastern Europe and Red China. But the list of goods embargoed for Red China is far longer than the one for Eastern Europe.

Red Europe thus can buy Western goods that the Chinese cannot—things like generators, machine tools and petroleum equipment.

Western officials say European Communist nations are buying these items for transshipment at top prices to the Chinese. They say the big Communist transshipment points are Gdynia, Poland and Peking, with the Trans-Siberian Railway, or are carried into Chinese ports by Red ships.

Several shipments of strategic items from the West were recently held up at Gdynia by a transport bottleneck, according to information from the Western press.

The strategic ban on Red China, imposed by the United Nations during the Korean War, has always been tougher than the cold war embargo on Soviet Europe. And with tensions easing in Europe, the West relaxed embargoes for the Soviet bloc last August, cutting the number of prohibited items from 200 to about 170.

Several situations remained potentially explosive and similar action on the Red China lists was deferred.

Western European businessmen are urging their governments to let the Chinese Reds buy what European Reds can buy.

The United States opposes any change in the China lists before the signing of a full Korean peace.

Jaycees Hold Business Meet

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce held its program, but carried on a special business meeting at lunch today at the Yacht Club.

The club was held in the district caucus to be held in the future. They also held the report of the board of directors.

The meeting was held at 8 p.m. in the National Guard Armory. Planning will be done by Shannon and his four piece band.

Shannon's band captured by Volle Williams, Tony Russi, Irving Pryor and Herbert Pryor. The band is for the Yacht Club.

The club was held in the district caucus to be held in the future. They also held the report of the board of directors.

Girl's Strange Life Ends In Violence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The strange life of 19-year-old Loretta Spollino ended in violence yesterday when she was found killed by hammer blows on her head in a house where every door was double-locked and every window nailed shut.

Police Inspector Frank Ahern said the blows apparently were struck by her father, Mrs. Verzal Spollino, who is now in a hospital psychiatric ward recovering from an overdose of barbiturates.

The dead girl's father, James V. Spollino, was located at work in Palo Alto. He said he left home a week ago in an attempt to shock his wife out of her strange behavior.

Spollino told Inspector John O'Hara that his wife had never allowed their daughter to attend school and taught her at home. He said Mrs. Spollino objected to his joining a union when he worked in San Francisco and wrote Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the union was subversive. Spollino said he quit his job as a result.

Police found notes written by Mrs. Spollino but not mailed. One was addressed to the U. S. Supreme Court complaining the FBI was bothering her.

Another reading will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the City Hall auditorium for parts calling for older people.

Cancerous Compound Found In Cig Paper, Chemist Says

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A compound that causes cancer in mice—benzopyrene—has been found in smoke from cigarette paper, a chemist engaged in cancer research reported today.

D. V. Lefemine, of the Cancer Institute at Miami, Fla., made the report at a regional meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Lefemine said benzopyrene has proved in animal experiments to be one of the most powerful known cancer-producing agents. It also has been identified as a component in some studies on polluted city air.

The chemist said smoke and tar from burning enough paper to manufacture 40,000 cigarettes were collected in his tests. This quantity of paper, he estimated, would be equivalent of 11 years' supply of cigarettes for the pack-a-day smoker.

Lefemine said 770 gram—1.7 pounds—of total tars were collected. The tar was purified, broken down into its chemical components and identified by spectroanalysis, he explained.

The chemist said this was the first scientific report of the recognition of an actual cancer-producing chemical in any form of smoking material.

He pointed out that in tests elsewhere the tar from burning whole cigarettes has been shown to produce a cancer when applied to the skin of mice.

It may now be possible, by chemical treatment of the paper, to prevent formation of the agent, said Lefemine. The question whether cigarette tobacco contains the same chemical can be answered only by much further research on the tobacco, he added, but preliminary studies indicate that there may well be a protective chemical compound in the tobacco which inhibits the development of benzopyrene as the tobacco burns.

KATHLEEN M. NAGLER is shown after she surrendered herself to U. S. Marshal in Richmond, Va. Mrs. Nagler was charged with the same indictment as Percy William Herman with transporting in interstate commerce about $300,000 in cash and jewels belonging to Mrs. Evelyn Prather Havens, Herman's former wife. Mrs. Havens, 47, was ready to forgive Herman, 49, her kidnaper of a fortnight, who disappeared suddenly from their motel with money and jewels.

The federal authorities felt differently about it and handed up an indictment against Herman and Mrs. Nagler. (International)

Aid Is Continued In Red Tide Fight

SARASOTA (AP)—Federal aid to research will continue until the fish-killing red tide problem is solved, say three Lewis, assistant secretary of the interior.

Lewis told a meeting of the Gulf Coast Coordinating Committee here yesterday that $100,000 in federal research in 1954 and it that is not sufficient, there are unappreciated funds which can be tapped.

He said that new sums as control measures are being taken by the government will leave the field of actually controlling the red tide to local agencies.

Lewis said the number of U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service men available for research would be increased from 4 to 10.

The committee is a non-partisan volunteer organization representing 74 civic groups on the Low or West Coast of Florida.

After the meeting, Lewis flew over the Gulf of Mexico from St. Petersburg in Venice but did not see any fish killed by the red tide.

Another cooperative sampling of Gulf waters to help research will be made Nov. 25, and William Brownell, Jr., executive secretary of the committee.

Fifty boats will cover the 100 miles from Clearwater to Cape Hatteras on the 25th, taking samples of water to be tested for red tide.

Indian's Patience Finally Exhausted

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP)—An Indian mother can only be so patient. For a month she had been returning weekly to a local hospital to take home her baby daughter, born prematurely and kept since in a nursery.

Each time she was told by the attending physician "Wait until next week."

Then a week ago the doctor said for 20 miles out in the desert, taking samples of water to be tested for red tide.

But before the baby could be picked up, the order was changed. "Don't let the baby go or it will likely die."

This was all the patient Indian mother could take. Hospital officials said:

"She felt doing her best. 'We moving, won't be back.'"

Attendants say the baby's doing fine now.

Firm Offers Cash For Rebel Bonds

HOUSTON (AP)—A Houston brokerage firm is offering $10 good hard cash for certain examples of the Confederate treasury's hand-made $1,000 cotton bonds.

The firm's weekly bulletin made the offer for an unnamed Houston man it said seeks to buy up the $100,000 Confederate States and America 7 per cent cotton bond issue due in 1863. The bonds were issued for $1,000 each.

The bulletin said the man "moves this way to reaffirm his faith in the original principles and his conviction that the South today needs sorely to revive and recapture them."

It may now be possible, by chemical treatment of the paper, to prevent formation of the agent, said Lefemine. The question whether cigarette tobacco contains the same chemical can be answered only by much further research on the tobacco, he added, but preliminary studies indicate that there may well be a protective chemical compound in the tobacco which inhibits the development of benzopyrene as the tobacco burns.

Agreement Reached At Paris On Cessation Of Occupation Of West Germany By Allies

Support Planes Being Equipped With A-Weapons

MIAMI (AP)—Gen. O. P. Westland, commanding general of the Tactical Air Command, told the National Guard Assn. today that "every combat tactical aircraft is or will be equipped to deliver atomic weapons."

The Tactical Air Command support troops in the field and is equipped with fighters, bombers, fighter-bombers and troop carriers.

He told of the widespread availability of atomic weapons while discussing "trends in tactics and equipment." He said there is an urgent requirement for shorter takeoff and landing characteristics of tactical aircraft.

The most desirable characteristic is a vertical takeoff and landing capability, said Gen. Westland.

The shorter, or vertical, takeoff concept with the possibility for greater speed and tactical aircraft will get the general. This reduces run way requirements and "we can then disperse our combat units by squadrons or even smaller units, and thus achieve greater security, mobility and effectiveness of employment."

The tactical association winds up its convention today with election of officers and committee reports.

Postmaster General Hits FHA Scandal

DALLAS, Pa. (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield says the housing situation that developed from excessive FHA loans was "the monumental and vicious scandal this country has ever known."

In a speech in this eastern Pennsylvania town yesterday, Summerfield said there were an estimated 25 million scandalous in the administration of former President Truman, 22 of them originating among the "palace guards" of President Truman's own White House staff.

He asked that the people "compared that sorry record with 20 months of clean Republican administration."

STRONG QUAKE FELT

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A strong earthquake was felt throughout this Central American republic at 1 p.m. today. Electric service in San Salvador was knocked out for three hours, but no other damage was reported.

Police Committee Is Given No Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The special committee to police the campaigns for 135 House seats this year made a surprising disclosure today. It has been given nothing to investigate so far.

None of the approximately 1,000 candidates has yet bothered to file officially, to the congressional group set up for such complaint.

Usually, the committee doesn't have to look for things to keep it busy, candidates have blown the whistle on opponents with regularity in past years, generally well in advance of election day.

This year, too, critics of "dirty tactics" have been heard among the contestants, but not directed to the House investigators.

S. P. Kimmel, head of the committee's staff, said in an interview he was unable to explain the novel situation. He said he could not recall any past election year in which there hadn't been a complaint of dirty work at the polls.

He said the "clean campaign" agreement made publicly in the chamber of the two big political parties may be responsible.

Negro Collegians Demonstrate Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The 100 Negro students boycotted classes at Alabama State College for Negroes here today and occupying the building in one classroom where students had refused to join the demonstration.

There were no reports of injuries, however, and two hours after the boycott started, three had been called for police protection.

The boycott grew out of a series of demonstrations and meetings over a list of 10 proposals or most authorities at the state-supported college, including demands for better meals at the school lunchroom.

Shouting demands for the release of imprisoned students, a group of students and faculty members gathered in a building today, shouting and chanting "Our With Johnson, and change the U. S. Constitution."

Document Signing Saturday

Nine Nations At Conference

PARIS (AP)—The three Western powers and the Bonn Republic today reached complete agreement on steps to end the Allied occupation of West Germany and restore virtually all sovereignty to the West Germans.

The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France took the action this afternoon in a brief session with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The four statements on the final agreement, a series of lengthy details of agreement, which were to replace the 1949 Four Big Four agreement completely ratified.

These documents set forth the conditions under which the West government will recover sovereignty after almost a decade of occupation.

The documents, along with a general agreement, covered West Germany's future relations with the West and the status of Allied armed forces in West Germany, to be signed in a formal session Saturday.

Today's action cleared the way for West Germany's incorporation into a seven-power West European Union and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Treaties embodying these steps are to be signed Saturday also, pending approval by the Bundestag, the German parliament.

PARIS (AP)—Nine Western nations convened here today to establish a Western European union that will bring a reunited and expanded West. A decision on the proposed union, including the North Atlantic defense system.

As a German chancellor Konrad Adenauer took over his place in the Bundestag, the German parliament, the Western powers, including the United States, Britain and France, agreed to support the union.

The union, represented by the Western powers, will include the United States, Britain and France, and will be a permanent organization.

Electric Light Invented By Edison In Menlo Park, N. J., 75 Years Ago

MENLO PARK, N. J., Oct. 21.—The history of the electric light was revealed today by the secret of the system's success was traceable in great measure to two of Edison's biggest accomplishments—the 80 per cent efficient generator and parallel wiring.

He filed an application for his first patent at the age of 19 and learned an invaluable lesson from it. He felt that the device, the electrical vote recorder for automatically counting votes in congress, would be highly regarded. It wasn't. A congressional committee turned it down as impractical because it would do away with filibustering.

Edison vowed then and there never to invent anything for which there wasn't a proven demand and a ready market.

Edison's assembly-line-like production of inventions did not stop with the lamp.

He followed it with the "Edison effect," covering the fundamental principle on which the modern science of electronics is based; ship-to-shore wireless; phonograph; motion picture camera; fluorescent lamp; storage battery; magnetic ore separator; dictating machine; and miners' lamps.

Before he was through he had patented 1,007 labor saving devices. As a creator of jobs, Edison had few equals. It once was estimated that he invented the means of starting industries that employ four million persons.

Today the laboratories of the nation, using principles developed by Edison, are working quickly, confidently to make living and working still more easy. And each new perfection is another of the perpetual tributes to the "Wizard of Menlo Park."

DOG DEFENDS HOLD UP VICTIM
OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—Boots, a pedigreed police dog, did a fast job on a holdup man yesterday. His master, Gail Shewalter, Perry Township farmer, was busy in his orchard when a young man left a pickup truck on the road and approached him.

"This is a hold-up," he said. "Give me all your money." Then he hit Shewalter on the head with a club. Boots dashed up and drove the man to a fence, where he sank his teeth in his leg. The man jumped the fence in pain and drove off with a companion in the truck.

Information For Veterans

The Veterans Administration has announced that a new law, signed by the President in Aug. 20, extends the date for completion of training for certain disabled veterans, under Public Law 16, from July 25, 1956 to July 25, 1960.

H. F. Dickensheets, manager of the Passaic-Grille regional office, stated that this extension of time applies only to disabled veterans who have been prevented from entering, or having entered, from completing training by the deadline date of July 25, 1956, by reason of one of the following conditions:

- 1) The veteran (1) had not attained, or had not regained, medical fitness for training because of mental or physical condition; 2) had been delayed in clearance of Army records to provide the type of discharge for basic eligibility for vocational rehabilitation training; or (3) had not timely established the existence of a compensable disability incurred in or aggravated by military service.

The VA further advised that a veteran will be deemed to have been prevented from timely entering training under Public Law 16 if it is determined that any one of the above mentioned conditions existed in his case. Dickensheets cautioned, however, that even under the new law a veteran must begin his training in time to finish the complete course by July 25, 1960, which is the new ending date for such training.

Interested veterans who believe they are entitled to training under the new law should contact the regional office having their files for a review of their cases.

ACTRESS ENGAGED TO OILMAGNATE

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie dancer Vera Ellen, 28, and Victor Rothschild, 31, Pasadena oil man, will be married soon.

She announced their engagement Tuesday night. No date was set.

This will be her first marriage. Vera Ellen divorced dancer Robert C. Hightower in Los Angeles in 1946.

News Of Men In Service

ATLANTIC FLEET (FITTING)
—Robert L. Kinard, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kinard of 2582 Orange Ave., is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Intrepid.

She is the first aircraft carrier in the Atlantic Fleet to be equipped with steam catapults. These new steam catapults, one of the many improvements in design, enable the Intrepid to handle the Navy's latest jet fighters and bombers.

The Intrepid was recommissioned in June 1954 at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth, Va., and will begin operating with the Fleet this month.

So far as is known the only bird in the world that is a bona fide stockholder is Ole Crow, a tame crow, owned by a beverage concern. Ole holds stock in the company, receiving dividend checks just like his fellow (human) share owners.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

THE CHIEF engineer slammed into the office. He was a big man, lit up and closed the door after him.

"Now, you . . ." he snarled. Two last steps took him to Greiner's desk and both heavy hands reached across for the old man.

I jebbed a hand flat in his short ribs. The unexpected jolt straightened him up. He turned, and his mouth gaped.

"Keep your hands in your pockets, chief," I said. "You're in enough trouble as it is."

The chief stared at me stupidly for a moment, then whirled back to Greiner. "Who is this punk? Did you . . ."

"Be quiet, chief," Greiner said cryptically. "This is very important. Your man Sessions may be a dangerous criminal. We must know . . ."

"Sessions? That kid? The chief was contemptuous. "He's a little punk I picked up for apprentice steeper, but he couldn't stand the job, so he quit. A dangerous criminal, huh? He leaned over the desk, tapped a broad forefinger at Greiner's chest. "You know what's wrong with you? You're a . . ."

I turned my right shoulder into the chief and leaned my weight on him, staggering him away from the desk. His anger stabbed again at empty air and his booming voice dwindled in surprise.

"Stop poking the pucker," I said sharply. "You need all the friends you can get. What did Sessions . . ."

"Be sensible, chief," Greiner snapped. "Please answer and stop that snarling."

The chief drew a slow breath. "Twice you started something," he said to me. "Passenger or no passenger . . ."

I sat down and grinned at him. "What did Sessions look like?"

The chief's brow remained fixed but his eyes wavered. He turned to Greiner. "Who is this . . .?" His thumb poked toward me.

"A detective," Greiner said. "A cop. Pushing people away from the desk."

"What did Sessions look like?" I said again.

"A kid," the chief said. "Hundred and 60, maybe. Lean six feet, maybe six 10, brown hair, pale skin. Just a kid. Scared to speak to anybody. Had a soft way of talking, like he was scared all the time. Seventeen years old. High school . . ."

"You knew him? Before you hired him, I mean?"

"Never saw him," the chief answered. "He was hanging around the dock in Cincy. Stewart hired him to load supplies. He kept peering me for a job, but I didn't have anything till the last day when one of my boys went sick . . ."

"Did Sessions have any references or . . .?"

"Latter," the chief said. "Recommendation from the manager of the Netherlands Plaza hotel. Said he was a good kid, high school graduate. Worked in the boiler room at the hotel, hopped bells. Seemed okay to me, so I put him on when . . ."

"The letter said he was 17?"

"That's right," the chief shrugged. "He looked like a kid, acted like one. No confidence."

"Sure," I said. "What if you found out he was 21? Could you believe that?"

The chief said, "Oh, maybe. I guess so. Kid never said much. Just acted young and sorta scared."

I nodded slowly and felt slightly sick thinking about it. "Did you really check him out enough to make him quit because he couldn't stand it?"

"Some kids quit right off," the chief said. "I am sure. No, I wouldn't say it was that tough. It's hard getting used to the noise for some of them, but the work ain't much."

"Maybe the regular hands pushed him around a bit?"

"Ordinary noise. A new hand takes his lumps."

"What about his luggage? Clothes and personal things?"

"Gee," the chief said. "All he had was a little ditty bag. He carried it over his shoulder."

"He have permission to go ashore?"

"Sure. He was on duty. But Sessions wasn't no dangerous criminal. He was just a good, clean kid, kinda scared."

"So is the man I want," I said dully. "But he killed a cop."

"But you don't know that Sessions . . ."

"Don't remember," the chief said. "Anybody did?"

"Ordinary matter," I said. "I asked, 'Did it say Office of the Manager or something like that?'"

"No, just ordinary stuff, I guess."

"Paper that anyone could have picked up to write a letter," I said almost to myself. "Take a room there, rent a typewriter, use the paper furnished by the hotel, and you've got your letter. Seems like a pretty flimsy kind of recommendation. Did it say . . ."

"We hire through the main office usually," Greiner broke in. "But each department is authorized to hire temporary people as need arises. We never bother much with references then."

"Okay," I said slowly. "That's all. Maybe it was Stewart. Maybe not."

The chief towered over me. "I been sensible this you wanted, eh? I answered all the questions?"

"Yes, chief," I said. "Thanks."

The burly engineer stamped out of the office.

Stewart must have had a good reason for scheduling his trip on the Dixie Handy in the first place. What if he was supposed to meet someone on board? Someone like . . ."

And then there was the "Get Off" warning someone had left for the last night. Someone who . . ."

And Doc Figg was prowling the deck early this morning, according to Russell. What for? To find Stewart and warn him I was on board? To see whether I got off? Or just an early morning constitution . . ."

lions? I had to find out.

Outside the light had faded to a deep gray and the wind had come up again. Dark and cold and a clock of a winter's evening. Doc Figg would be sitting in the bar.

I held out my hand toward Greiner. "I just found your passkey, I said. "As soon as I realized what it was, I brought it right up here. That was about 6:30 tonight, wasn't it?"

"Was it?" Greiner said, staring at my open palm. "Do you . . . I mean, what do you want, Mr. Wilde?"

"I want to find your passkey for about half an hour. Mr. Greiner, I have to visit a friend. You don't really want to know any more about it, do you?"

"No," he said. He brought out the shift brass key from his desk drawer. "I wonder why I am willing to trust you so much, Mr. Wilde?"

"I'm very grateful, sir," I said sincerely. "I'll be fast and careful. And no one will see your key."

Doc had bedroom key, exactly below mine and just across from Miss Pomeroy's. I tapped on the door and waited, just in case. Then I unlocked it and stepped inside quickly. The room was dark. I didn't like to turn on the lights, but it was lights or open curtains. I flipped the switch. Doc's was a twin bed room, but except for that it was much the same as mine.

A small bag was on a chair and a strange pigskin case that was almost a cube was on the foot of the bed. The case was not locked. It was a box of books, a succeeded traveler's library. I turned to the window.

Very gingerly I felt through the clothes, having no idea of what I was looking for, but somehow feeling I'd know when I found it. But I didn't.

The last look was enough for a larger bag. It was empty; obviously Doc was a man who got his clothes on hangers as soon as he could. I pulled open the closet door.

I had a dinner jacket, a dark worsted lounge suit, a thick tweed jacket and flannels to go with it. All had ready-made labels in them and all were from a store in Chicago. I tapped my hand against the jackets. Nothing in any of the pockets. Until I reached the flannels. Something in the right pocket cracked heavily against my knuckle. I could feel a hard small lump. Ultimately I worked it out, heavy and cold in my palm, a smooth, deadly piece of precision work.

I had to turn it on end to be sure of the caliber. It was one round for a .337 Smith and Wesson Magnum and that is a frightening weapon, probably the most powerful handgun in the world. The slug has a way of going through two walls and taking the ear off an innocent bystander in the next county. This was one shiny brass-jacketed shell. It didn't have to mean anything. Did it?

I bounced the solid slug in my hand for a moment and then ducked to slide it back in the pocket where I'd found it.

(To Be Continued)

CARDIAC PATIENTS—Job placement of cardiac patients is one of the major projects of the Florida Heart Association. The Ft. Petersburg Heart Association in cooperation with the Florida Heart Association has established a work classification unit as a part of the cardiac rehabilitation program in St. Petersburg. The Florida Heart Association has plans for other units throughout the state. The picture shows three of the work classification functions. The first picture shows William Horowitz, (left) a patient with a coronary heart ailment, being interviewed by E. S. Cunningham, vocational counselor. After Horowitz's record is completed he is given a fluoroscopic and other examinations, (center picture) to determine the condition of his heart and the type work for which he is best suited. The third picture shows Horowitz as a file clerk, which was judged the type of work he should perform. The work classification unit is not a job placement bureau, but a committee composed of laymen and doctors who classify a heart patient as to the work he can best do without injury to his heart. The State Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment Service are cooperating with the cardiac rehabilitation program.

Vaccination Plan Advised By Group

A dual vaccination program was recommended today by the American Foundation for Animal Health as a defense against two of the most widespread dog diseases, distemper and infectious hepatitis.

Recent studies show that both diseases are transmitted by the dog, with only one being directly transmitted by the similarity of symptoms. Both infectious diseases are much higher mortality rate than distemper, present according to the Foundation.

Vaccination of dogs at weaning is recommended for keeping them safe, which has been reported with the greatest efficiency by a well-known veterinarian in a complete study.

The Foundation stressed again the importance of a dual vaccination program in the dog, by pointing out that the dual lighting is a dual defense against the most common of dog diseases. The work classification unit is not a job placement bureau, but a committee composed of laymen and doctors who classify a heart patient as to the work he can best do without injury to his heart. The State Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment Service are cooperating with the cardiac rehabilitation program.

'Edison Effect' Forerunner To Television

Had Edison been content to accept success with his invention of the first practical incandescent light, television, as we know it today, might still be a dream of the future. As Edison continued his experiments, long after the commercial introduction of electric light, he discovered what was later called "The Edison Effect."

Later this discovery was to form the basis of the electron tube on which today's entire electronics industry is based.

Back in the "dawn" days of lighting placed a small part in family entertainment. The one-pointed incandescent light bulb produced the stereoscopic pictures pro-viewed from a distance with the help of a little daylight. Today family depends heavily on their "lighted" entertainment. Every thing from the movie picture to the television set owes its origin to Edison's genius.

When you think of Thomas Edison and television together it is not hard to remember that an comfortable, cozy, cozy, and adequate bedtime in your living room.

General Electric lighting specialists have developed a special lighting recipe for television sets. As shown on the layers, minute above, comfortable viewing habits can be developed by our family. To avoid eyestrain caused by a strong contrast between a bright screen and dark surround (1925, never watch television in the dark. Follow the easy G.E. recipe.

What to Use: Don't make the mistake of viewing television in a darkened room. It's thing to the eyes. The picture of a well-focused set is not degraded in visibility by a moderate level of lighting throughout the room.

Use your flood and table lamps, and turn to low level only if shades appear brighter than the screen. Opaque or dense fabric shades appear brighter than the lamps near the screen. Also use bleached valances, and for chaises—if their reflectors are complete. If desired, 15 or 20 watt bulb may be placed behind the set.

Where to Place: Position portable lamps so that they do not form reflections in the screen and avoid exceptional bright spots of light on nearby walls. When the room has lighted valances or brackets, try to position set so that the wall lighting will be to the side or behind the viewers.

DENVER TV STATION AID TO VICTIM

DENVER (AP)—Denver television station KVEL-TV has been granted permission by Fitzsimons Army Hospital authorities to show a tuberculosis patient his daughter.

The baby, Kelly Lyn Gray, was born yesterday to Cpl. and Mrs. Ramon L. Gray. She is their first child.

Gray is hospitalized with tuberculosis contracted in a North Korean prison camp. Since he can't visit his daughter in person, he'll see television pictures of her each afternoon the rest of this week.

Some 700 thousand pounds of barbiturates, or sleeping pills, are produced yearly in the United States.

A moveable rear axle assembly for truck trailers has been developed which permits one man to change the axle position to meet the varying weight-per-axle regulations of the states through which he hauls his trailer.

Drastic Air Program

Alarmists are always crying for greater military strength and predicting disaster if it is not created. Just because they are excitable does not necessarily mean they are wrong; it merely prevents their message from getting attention it might deserve. Serious study of the situation would help more than wild outcry.

Such a study has just been made by Thomas K. Finletter, former Secretary of the Air Force, in his new book, "Power and Policy." He believes that we are passing out of Phase I of the atomic age, in which we were superior to Russia in atomic weapons. In Phase II, which is approaching, Russia will have the capacity to destroy us.

The current budget calls for 12 billion dollars for the air force. Finletter would raise it for the next four or five years to at least 18, or better, 20 billions. Then the Russians "will not be able to use their new atomic power either to attack the free world or to bully it into surrendering its freedom."

This is a dismal program, but perhaps one that should be followed. Presumably the administration is considering it or its equivalent. It might not be a bad idea to take the public into its confidence.

Historical Pictures

Matthew B. Brady has a secure place in our history. His photographs are among the most important records that remain of the War Between the States. Recently the Library of Congress, which already owned a large number of his negatives, bought an unthumbed collection from the daughters of L. C. Handy who learned photography from Brady and inherited his business.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Christ came forth wearing the crown of thorns.—John 19:5. Rough soldiers thought it a famous joke, but humanity has been touched by the kingly attitude of one who radiated moral grandeur in spite of the cross and crown. The thief on the cross was impressed.

HAL BOYLE

Reducing Women 125 Tons Is Goal

NEW YORK — If all goes well, Claire Mann will reduce the supply of American womanhood by 125 tons by the end of this year. "It isn't very much, is it?" sighed Miss Mann, founder of "Overweights Anonymous," as she pointed out there are some 18 million women in this country who have eaten themselves out of shape. Her goal is to get all these plump ladies to lose an average of six pounds each, or a total of 54,000 tons of feminine fat. If loaded on the battleship Missouri, this weight would probably sink her. Converted into tallow, it could be made into a candle big enough to light a city. Might be a good idea, too. Make a splendid monument to the sex. Claire, who has a daily women's show on Station WADD-TV, started "Overweights Anonymous" three years ago, frankly patterned it after "Alcoholics Anonymous" in many ways. "Overweight and alcoholism, after all, spring from the same emotional causes," she said. "The problem is psychological, not physiological." The main theory behind O.A. is that obese people who are unable to solve their problem on an individual basis often are able to do so when they attack it by group therapy. "Sometimes you have to identify yourself with other people's problems in order to realize your own," said Miss Mann. "Overweight people simply have substituted the love pounds for the love of life. By recognizing this, they can help each other to learn to do the reverse." The motto of O.A. is, "Don't put off for tomorrow what you can take off today." In three years the organization has grown to 100,000 members. There are no dues. The members meet at each other's homes in groups of 5 and 10 twice a month, and Miss Mann distributes free diets and exercises at her own expense. But O.A. differs from A.A. in one important respect. If a member feels an overwhelming urge to indulge in a chocolate éclair, she can telephone a fellow member to come racing through the night to save her from temptation. "As a matter of fact, if a member scales down her poundage, she must maintain the weight loss for at least six months or be dropped from the rolls," said Claire firmly. "Those who do reduce to the weight they desire are encouraged to be more active in community and charity work to give them an outlet for their new energy." Ninety-nine per cent of O.A. members are women, but a male member hooks the weight loss championship. He is an engineer who in three years dropped from 292 pounds to 173—a loss of 122 pounds. Just one more proof of the old truth that a good man can beat a woman at anything. Miss Mann, a former ballet dancer and pianist, became interested in therapy as the result of an accident. The accident was a collision in which she suffered a broken neck. She was told she would never be able to dance again, might not be able to walk. After six months in a hospital, she set out to rehabilitate herself. She went to Vienna and studied psychology and anatomy, worked out her own system of exercises to rebuild her wasted muscles. Her stubborn will worked a miracle. She recovered completely, then opened a studio to help other people with physical and mental problems. She was among the first to recognize the therapeutic value of music and dancing. Married to a psychiatrist, she has

THERE'S only one thing that changes more rapidly than temperature at this time of the year. That's the list of Who's Who Among Big League Baseball Managers.
The chief trouble of the A's, says RITT, the sterling writer, is that with the Philly fans they had a strictly B rating.
We see where a meeting of the Big Advisory Council was called. At least the most important feature, the ban, was not levied.

Brady took pictures of the great and the near-great. Pictures of Lincoln are in the Library of Congress collection but the new lot includes also negatives of pictures of Daniel Webster, Dolly Madison, Brigham Young and a list which reads like an account of who was who during Brady's lifetime. The fact that such interest in photo graphs is evidenced should be encouraging to present day photographers. They are recording in pictures the history of our times.

County Agent's Column Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. Dawson, BSA, MSA.
SOMETIMES we think the rest of the world has developed a good sense of touch at the expense of good taste.

MORMON CHURCH—The official name of this Church is Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with a membership of 1,300,000 and is expanding rapidly.

Throughout the world 2000 chapels have been built and at present around 450 chapels are under construction at an average cost of about $100,000. (Mormon chapels include recreation halls and classrooms.) The total cost of Mormon Church buildings of all types is given as $143,577,643.

OUR experience is that presents make the heart grow fonder.

DANGER — A common poisonous plant in Florida is the crabeye or rosary pea. Many people use these little red seeds with the black eyes for making necklaces and other trinkets. But one seed of this plant, when crushed or ground up, is enough to kill a feller. The reason these seeds do not often cause trouble is that the seed coat is very hard. Human digestive juices cannot dissolve them. They will not poison unless this seed coat is broken.

BACK HOME — No matter if it is in Indiana or Georgia — when you go back to your old home town, you find half the folks there don't remember you and the other half don't know you've been away.

RESERVE — Some gentlemen reserve part of their pasture for winter grazing. Pangola is a very good grass for this. It can be fertilized as late as September, then not grazed until later in the fall or winter. The resulting heavy growth will serve as a hay substitute, even though it turns dry and becomes low in protein. You'll need to feed a protein supplement with this dry grass.

FIREARM accidents take about 2200 lives each year in the United States.

SAM DAWSON Big Business Ups Profits Jackpot

NEW YORK — Some big boys are sweetening the profits pudding today. Their gains in net income after paying lower taxes—offset the sourer reports of many smaller businesses for the summer quarter.

The first 50 corporations to report their net profit after taxes for the three summer months—exclusive of financial institutions and railroads—showed combined earnings 12 per cent higher than for the same three months of 1953. But weighing heavily in that scale are the increased profits of such big companies as American Telephone & Telegraph, Du Pont

Principal interest in Washington nowadays centers around the outcome of the congressional elections, but it is becoming increasingly evident that—regardless of which party wins control of Congress—the legislators are going to have an exceedingly busy time next year.

A huge number of issues are accumulating for consideration when the members of Congress assemble for the regular session starting Jan. 5.

Whatever happens in the November elections, Mr. Eisenhower will be President for another two years. He will submit his legislative recommendations to Congress in January in his State of the Union Message.

Also, whatever happens in the November elections, the New-Fair Dealers will continue to push for enactment of their legislative program. But Mr. Eisenhower will have veto power and a two-thirds vote by both the Senate and House would be required to pass legislation over his veto.

Here are a few of the subjects which seem certain to play a prominent part in the proceedings of the next session of Congress:
1. A renewed battle over revision of the Taft-Hartley Act. Mr. Eisenhower has said definitely that the Taft-Hartley Act needs some revisions and "they will be proposed to the Congress."
2. Amendments to the recently passed Atomic Energy Act. Two important points will be involved: (1) advocates of federal power development will seek to limit the part that private enterprise can play in atomic development; (2) the advocates of government control will seek to continue the present ban on the private ownership of atomic patents during the next five years.

3. Further tax revision, including whether to permit the corporate tax rate to drop from 52 per cent to 47 per cent on April 1 for a revenue loss of $2 billion; whether lower excise taxes on automotive products, tobacco and alcohol will be allowed to go into effect on the same date for a revenue loss of about $1 billion; and whether there should be an easing made a fresh career for herself in television.

"If it weren't for my accident, I'd have been only a second-rate dancer or pianist," she said. "It enabled me to do something new." An attractive green-eyed blonde, Miss Mann weighed 138 pounds as a dancer, now weighs 112. "The diet in my case," she said wryly, "was pain."

TAMES MARLOW Decision On Where To Go Problem

BY ED CREECH
For James Marlow
WASHINGTON — Suppose you were offered a free trip to Europe—to any place this side of the Iron Curtain you wanted to go. Which country or countries would you pick?
Nine out of 10 people will give you an answer to that question as quick as a wink, I know because I've already asked nine. You're the 10th.
It's fun to dream about foreign travel, and everybody has a favorite dream. Maybe it's of drifting down the Grand Canal in a gondola. Or of assassinating grouse on a Scottish moor. Or of making an on-the-spot check to see if Paris night life is as wicked as it's painted.

But let that dream become reality and you've got a problem on your hands. I know because I've just been offered a free trip to Europe, and I can't for the life of me decide where in Europe to go.
How come I get a free trip? Well, I took some pictures of my little boy, dropped the roll at the corner drugstore and then, out of a clear sky, a man called up and said:
"Congratulations. You have won the grand prize in our contest. When do you want to leave for Europe?"
(Tip to other amateur photographers: to win a prize you must have three things—a camera, a little boy who will make faces in front of it, and a lot of luck.)
Anyhow, as soon as the numbers were off, I started planning the trip I would take. And, while I won't pretend I'm not enjoying myself, the problem of where to go is driving me nuts.

The trouble is, of course, you can't go everywhere on a 15-day trip. And every time you scratch out a name on your list of happy possibilities, it hurts.
England, for instance. Haven't been there since 1947, and it would be fine to go back. Same with France. But wouldn't it be better to strike out for some new place? Or would it?
There are all sorts of places a Washington reporter, who often has to write about foreign affairs, could visit with profit. I once learned more about French communism by arguing for half an hour—pocket dictionary in hand—with a rag-packer in Paris than in months of reading about it in the papers.

So Berlin might be a good place to go. Or Austria. The problems of that neck of the woods are going to be with us a long time.
But golly, a man doesn't want to work all the time. He wants to do some sightseeing. So how could you leave out Rome? Or Venice? Or Athens?
What about Scandinavia? The Low Countries? Too cold and rainy with winter coming on? So is Washington cold and rainy.
Of course the sun would be glorious in Seville. Or in Sicily. And from Sicily maybe you could manage a quick trip to North Africa. But if you go that far you'd hate to miss Egypt, and there you're only a stone's throw from Jerusalem and Istanbul—and you're there.

Utilities in earlier quarters averaged from 5 to 7 per cent ahead of a year ago. But railroads were off by 45 per cent or more, and early indications are that rail earnings in the summer quarter will also prove to be down by a large percentage. Banks have been showing a profit gain this summer, although none is included in the 50.

Among the 23 corporations to decline among the first 50 reporting for the summer, many were sharp down and three of them reported in the red, although none had in the 1953 summer.

Steel companies mostly show a sizable drop in earnings, among them Republic, Kaiser, Allegheny, Ludlum, the Granite City. Other companies with sharp drops this summer include Virginia-Carolina Chemical, Truscon & Williams Steel Forge and Rice-Six.

Combined, the earnings of the 50 companies total $343,017,014 compared with $305,681,803 in 1953.

English Motorist Sentenced Again

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—Stanley J. Rees, 24, appeared in court yesterday to answer three charges involving his driving. Police told the court Rees had amassed the following driving record in the past six years:
Banned from driving 11 times—for a total of 31 years.
Convicted of 38 separate driving offenses, including driving while banned.

Rees pleaded guilty to driving while banned, driving without public liability insurance and driving with a stolen license.
The judge sentenced him to six months in jail and banned him from driving for five additional years.

Other proposals certain to be considered include continuation or revision of the Defense Production Act; health insurance, increasing the minimum wage, the Bricklayer Amendment to outlaw treaty law, elimination or restriction of Government competition with industry, increased pay for federal employees, higher postal rates, Anti-Trust law revision, repeal or revision of fair trade legislation, renegotiation, and the Smith bill to protect state law from invalidation by acts of Congress.

These are only some of the more important topics awaiting discussion and decision. There are more and others will develop between now and January.
There will be no excuse for Congressmen getting bored by inactivity.

Bridesmaids Given Luncheon By Mrs. Priddle

Mrs. W. F. Priddle of Lakeland entertained with a bridesmaids luncheon Wednesday at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. V. Jones, for the bridesmaids who will be in the wedding of Miss Joyce Jones, sister of the hostess.

A pink color scheme was carried out in the lovely decorations. Mrs. A. L. Vickers assisted in serving the delicious meal to the guests.

The hostess presented Miss Jones with a piece of crystal in her chosen pattern and she in turn presented her attendants with gifts.

Those present with the honoree were Mrs. J. V. Jones, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. A. C. Covington, the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Richard Galloway, Mrs. A. L. Vickers, Mrs. Harvey Covington, Miss Fayette Cason, and Mrs. Priddle.

J. J. Fernandez Will Be Speaker At Elks Lodge

James J. Fernandez, comptroller and general superintendent of the Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home in Umattilla will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Anna Miller Circle at the Elks Club Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Fernandez is past president of the Florida State Elks Association and now serves as secretary-treasurer for the group which owns and operates the Harry Anna Home.

Prior to the meeting a covered dish supper will be held at the club beginning at 6:30 o'clock for members of the Anna Miller Circle and their husbands. Members are asked to be at the supper on time so that the meeting may get underway at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. R. Williams Will Fill Vacancy As Vice-President

The home of Mrs. Horace Turner on West 17th St. was the scene on Tuesday evening for the regular meeting of the Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church with Group No. one, Mrs. H. E. Cordell, chairman, as hostesses. Others serving were Mrs. R. T. Thomas, Mrs. E. E. Cooper, Mrs. Lorraine Graham, Mrs. Ben Wade and Mrs. J. J. Wright.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. John Hogan and the devotion was presented by Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff, Jr. who used as her topic, "Walking in Christ's Footsteps." Reports of the various chairmen were heard and Mrs. H. A. Williams was elected to serve as vice-president to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Harold Davis. Year books were distributed to the members.

It was announced that the November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Williams, 541 Valencia Drive, with Group No. two in charge.

During the social hour an amusing contest was enjoyed and a prize presented to Mrs. J. Roy Pitt after which refreshments were served.

Those present were Mrs. F. E. Gatchel, Mrs. F. E. Cooper, Mrs. Carl Moss, Mrs. Vernon Davis, Mrs. Norris Bishop, Mrs. Otto Bradford, Mrs. Bert Cooney, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Mrs. S. J. Brooks, Mrs. Britt, Mrs. A. W. Kratzert and Mrs. H. L. Osborne.

Three Ladies Fete Miss Evelyn Jones At Bridal Shower

Mrs. O. W. Hall, Mrs. C. T. Swacerty and Mrs. E. M. Cain honored Miss Evelyn Jones last evening with a miscellaneous bridal shower at the Hall home, 605 W. First St.

The house was beautifully decorated with fall flowers and in the center of a lace-covered table was a miniature bride and groom with their attendants in a fall wedding scene.

Games were played with prizes given to Mrs. Howard Cushing and Mrs. W. S. Brumley. Delicious refreshments of punch, petite fours, assorted cookies, nuts, salted nuts, and cake were served after the honoree opened her many lovely gifts.

Those present with Miss Jones were her mother, Mrs. Ted Jones, the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Howard Cushing, Mrs. W. S. Brumley, Mrs. Nondis Gray, Mrs. L. Fennell, Mrs. W. David, Mrs. Phyllis Doman, Mrs. T. P. Cason, Miss Pauline Cason, Mrs. Allen Jones, Mrs. Elmer Wadlow, Mrs. Harry Kufel, Mrs. Isaac Dyess, Mrs. Corinne Thompson, Mrs. Joe Mason, Mrs. Bernice, Mrs. Mac Kennard, Mrs. J. C. Sykes, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Esther Kinard, Mrs. Mabel Delaney, Mrs. Claudia Corbett, Mrs. Shirley Hunter, Mrs. J. C. Foster.

Connecticut Governor's Race Tight As Both Candidates "Run Scared"

Editor's Note—This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.

By BELMAN MORIN
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The governor's race in Connecticut looks like a tight race right down to Nov. 2.

Contestants are Gov. John Davis Lodge, Republican, and former Rep. Abraham A. Ribicoff, Democrat.

Both express confidence, but their campaign lieutenants are running scared. Some neutral observers see Lodge leading at this point. Others, noting that Maine elected a Democratic governor for the first time in 20 years, believe New England is experiencing a "Democratic trend" which could carry Ribicoff to office.

In neighboring Rhode Island, the Democrats hold the governor's office, both Senate seats and both in the House of Representatives. Political observers expect them to win a major contest next month.

In Connecticut, the campaign so far is almost Chesterfieldian, high-level, dead-end, personal, name calling or rough stuff.

Appearing together in New Haven recently—but not in the format of a debate—it was "My Good Friend, Abe" and "Our Respected Governor with whom I had the honor of serving in Washington," and so on.

Nor have they produced any red-hot issues.

Lodge is campaigning primarily on his four-year record.

Ribicoff's emphasis is not an attack on this record. It is a program based on "economic growth, moral vision, administrative efficiency."

Unemployment, loss of overtime and economic conditions are factors in Connecticut as they are in other New England states. Ribicoff says there are 52,000 jobless. If true, this would be more than 8 per cent of the minimum working force—higher than the national average.

But Lodge says the figure is 32,000, contrasted with 100,000 in 1949. And he adds that in nine years, 67 industries left the state while more than 1,300 came to locate.

They also have traded a few shots over roads, a development commission, and charges to patients in state health institutions. But so far, the campaign has been more like a discussion between executives than a battle between political opponents.

Ribicoff says he has never conducted any other type of campaign and that this "positive approach" has brought victory. He has won, except in 1952 when he ran for the U.S. Senate. He lost then to Sen. Prescott Bush (R) by about 29,000 votes. Although defeated, he ran nearly 50,000 votes ahead of Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Before that, he was twice elected to Congress. His district, the 1st, is heavily Democratic and gave him substantial pluralities.

Ribicoff is 44, slim, dark, quiet-spoken. He was born in New Britain, started life as a newsboy. He is married and has two teen-age children. He has an easy, casual approach with the voters, impresses them with an air of quiet sincerity.

Lodge gives no indication of undue anxiety. He is big, wiry, a man of imposing presence. He was once a movie actor and the Democrats do not discount his political appeal to the feminine vote. During World War II, he was in the Navy, saw considerable action, came out with some glittering decorations.

His 51st birthday falls today and President Eisenhower is scheduled to cut the cake at a Hartford party—an event Republicans hope will contribute to the governor's drive.

Campaigning on his record, Lodge tells audiences, "I don't claim that everything is perfect, but —" Then he goes on to recite what he has done. He makes claims to having held down the costs of government, points out that Connecticut has the highest income per family in the nation.

Republicans now hold five of the state's six congressional seats. Democrats say that, if they elect Ribicoff, they also will win at least four seats. The Republicans say they expect to hold all five, but do not predict they can carry the Democratic 1st District, which consists of Hartford County, largely industrial.

In Rhode Island, Gov. Dennis Roberts, a genial, witty man, is opposed by Dean J. Lewis, mayor of Newport. Lewis is 38, has had wide experience in state government. At 87, Sen. Theodore Francis Green is running for re-election—and campaigning with the best of them. His opponent is a Providence lawyer, Walter Sundlum.

Here, too, unemployment is a top issue. The official figure, 40,000, equals about 11 per cent of the working force. Rhode Islanders claim it is the highest ratio in the nation.

GOP candidates argue the state and nation is a lion is responsible. Democrats say it results from policies made in Washington.

Actress' Marriage Finally Breaks Up

HOLLYWOOD—Movie actress Jane Wyman's third marriage has failed.

Her husband, musical director Fred Karger, has moved out of their home and Miss Wyman says there will be no reconciliation this time. The couple has had several arguments and separated a few times, but reconciliations always followed.

"We're not happy and there's no use remaining together," Karger said yesterday.

The actress told newsmen: "I've tried to keep this marriage together but it just doesn't seem possible to make it work." She denied that her many movie roles and much hard work in films had caused an estrangement.

Miss Wyman's other husbands were Myron Feltman and Ronald Reagan. She and Karger were married in Santa Monica in 1952.

Hubby Is Blamed For Apes' Split-up

LONDON—A mutual friend announced with regret today that Arabella and Mr. Jiggs have called it quits.

Arabella, the first orang outhing ever to appear on a British television show, caught Mr. Jiggs' eye in the recent Park monkey house only four months ago.

Mr. Jiggs promptly gave his current girl friend the old heave-ho, and he and Arabella started keeping house together.

For a couple of weeks everything was hearts and flowers, or any way bananas and carrots. But visitors to the zoo who had seen Arabella on TV all wanted to kiss sweetmeats to the celebrity. Very few had any time for Mr. Jiggs.

In due course Mr. Jiggs took to throwing his weight around, and his weight is 240 pounds while Arabella is a mere welterweight.

Yesterday the keepers stepped in and restored Arabella to the bars but loving arms of her mother Mary.

TRAIN FALLS TO HURT GIRL

OLIVER SPRINGS, Tenn.—A Louisville & Nashville locomotive and two cars passed over a 13-year-old high school freshman yesterday but she escaped serious injury.

Patricia Duncan, on her way from a school building to the lunch room, slipped and fell on the tracks. The engineer was unable to stop the short train, and it passed over her as she rolled between the rails.

She was treated at Oak Ridge Hospital for minor abrasions.

Karachi was a city of 500,000 before Pakistan became independent in 1947, but today it has a million people.

LIANION FOR SANTA—Photograph 62 Christmas Party committee members visit some of the children at the Mt. Dora Orphanage to act as a go-between for Santa Claus and inquire as to what they would like for him to deliver to them Christmas Eve. Little 12-year-old Mary Wilson (not shown in photo) stated all she wanted for Christmas was a Bible with her name on it. The sailors assured her they would see that Santa brought it for her. Strolling In Sanford

City water was turned off from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. today in the area bounded by Laurel Ave., Fourth St. and Fern Ave., Thirteenth St. and Olive Ave., and west to the City limits to allow contractors to tie in new water lines.

City Clerk H. N. Sayer announced today that absentee ballots for the City election may be obtained at his office in the City Hall. They may be returned any time up until Oct. 30, he said.

The Congressional Christian Church is staging a fish fry this evening at 6 o'clock at the Ferner's Atrium to get funds for their new church.

A light evening in store for the City commission at its meeting on Monday night, according to City Mgr. Warren E. Knowles. E. H. Johnson, superintendent of the City water department, is to appear before the commission to clarify matters relative to the ordinance in which sewer charges are provided. There is a question as to what special provision is going to be made in sewer charges for residents using air conditioners and others.

The commanding officer of Photographic Squadron 62, Cdr. J. A. Goodwin, announces the receipt and presentation of permanent appointments to lieutenant commander by the Secretary of the Navy, to three officers of his staff. The officers that have received the permanent commissions are: Lt. J. C. Fawcett, Lt. W. M. McCaskey, Jr., and Lt. W. M. Hines. All three officers are Naval aviators and have received advanced training in the tactical skills of photographic flights. They all have from 12 to 16 years of Naval service and qualified in flying many types of service aircraft. Upon presenting the certificates to the Secretary of the Navy, Goodwin stated, "It is with great pleasure that I deliver your appointments as lieutenant commanders, U. S. Navy."

Contract No. 3 Of City Program Nearly Finished

All the pipe specified in contract No. 3 of the extensive City sewer and water program has been laid in the ground, according to City Mgr. Warren E. Knowles. The contract entailed the laying of approximately 10 miles of water main, mostly in the southern section of the city and west of Goldborough, while a short section was laid in the southwest section of Sanford.

In all, 18,880 feet of six-inch cast iron pipe, 1,515 feet of eight-inch pipe and 515 feet of 10-inch pipe were installed, plus 16 new fire hydrants.

Contractor for the job was the E. H. Holcombe Jr. construction concern of Clearwater. Cost of the project was set at $60,441.21.

Clean-up work is in progress, which entails patching of streets.

School Board To Receive Bids

There will be a special meeting of the Seminole County School Board Tuesday at 10 a. m., according to Schools Superintendent E. P. Milwee, to receive written bids for the purchase of milk for Seminole county schools. This action is to be taken in order to qualify for the 1954 agricultural act which provides for milk to schools, paid for by the federal government.

The act provides for $50 million to be used throughout the country to increase milk consumption in the schools. Florida's initial receipt of these funds amounts to $1,000,000. Bids must now be taken to qualify Seminole County to make application for its share, Milwee said.

Radio Is Used To Rid City Of Starlings

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A radio station and residents of two Illinois cities have ended a novel campaign to get rid of starlings and are hoping the experiment in bird pest control was successful. For four days this week, in 15-minute programs, the radio station broadcast the distress call of the starling. Preceding the recording were a few minutes of recorded starling calls, gun shots, bomb explosions and miscellaneous pops and bangs. They were described as the "awfullest sound you ever heard."

Radars throughout the twin cities of Champaign-Urbana, home of the University of Illinois, were turned on full blast during the broadcasts. Many persons placed portable radars in yards or open windows. "Minors, joining in the community project to rid the cities of the birds, parked under trees in which hundreds of the starlings roosted, and turned on ear radio sets. Some musical candidates volunteered loudspeaker trucks. The recorded starling distress call—described as sounding like "creeek, creeek, creeek"—was obtained in cooperation with police and the University of Illinois.

The police captured a starling which was no problem because of the thousands in the cities. The university's Electrical Engineering School strung the bird up by the neck, then cut a tape of its distress call.

Larry Stewart, manager of radio station WDWS, which made the broadcasts, said residents reported good results. But, he added, he didn't know where the departing birds went.

"We're keeping the distress call in file in case they come back," he said.

Three Doctors Get Nobel Prize

BOSTON (AP)—Three American scientists today shared the Nobel Prize for Medicine in recognition of research which may make possible mass vaccination against cholera.

Dr. John F. Enders, 57, of the Harvard Medical School was leader of the three-man research team which included Dr. Thomas H. Weller, 39, of the Harvard School of Public Health and Dr. Frederick C. Robbins, 34, now a professor of Western Reserve Medical School and chief of pediatrics and contagious diseases department of City Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

The trio made possible the test tube development of polio virus in ordinary body tissues and opened the way to the Salk method of preparing polio vaccine.

Dr. Garbitt, Britain's second ranking Anglican churchman, explained:

"The address (radio) is listened to by millions, but only a minority are trained listeners who could report accurately or give even an intelligible account of what they had heard only two hours previously."

"What is printed makes a far deeper impression. The written word which can be read and re-read at leisure helps to form the opinion of the more intelligent citizens who will become leaders in their locality or in the nation."

And, he added, "I am afraid that too much television gazing will leave only superficial and fleeting impressions."

Labor Department Recruiting 15,000 For Florida Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department is recruiting 15,000 migrants in five Southeastern states for work in the Florida citrus and vegetable fields this winter. The recruiting is going on in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The number of workers sought is a 3,000 increase over last fall due to an expansion of the agricultural programs in Florida. The 15,000 will be in addition to the foreign workers annually brought in from the British West Indies.

William F. Sloan, chief of the farm placement bureau of the labor department, told a reporter that Florida each fall also gets large numbers of workers who do not register with the U. S. employment offices in the various states. He said there is no way to count these additional people.

Sloan said the number of persons applying for work at various employment offices is not unusual. He added the department could not tell how many of the workers registering had come from the drought areas of the Southeast.

Archbishop Tells Of Value Of Newspaper

LONDON (AP)—Newspapers still set the pace for creating and influencing public opinion. Dr. Cyril Garbett, archbishop of York, says.

The archbishop, who has a deeper impression than other radio or television.

"I sometimes hear that the press no longer has the influence it once possessed," he recently told the Royal Commission on the Press. "I am doubtful about this. The written word makes a deeper impression on the mind than what is heard."

Dr. Garbett, Britain's second ranking Anglican churchman, explained:

Court Says Not Cricket To Use Gambling Stamps For Arrests

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Florida Supreme Court said today it's un-portsmanlike for the state to use information from federal gambling stamp records to "entrap and convict" gamblers.

The court ruled purchase of a federal gambling stamp cannot be used by itself to padlock the premises listed in the stamp application as a public nuisance.

The ruling, by Justice Glenn Terrell, threw out an injunction issued by Dade County Circuit Judge Marshall C. Wisheart padlocking several establishments for which James Boynton had obtained federal gambling stamps.

Boynton appealed to the Supreme Court on the ground the state was forcing him to incriminate himself unconstitutionally in using purchase of the gambling stamp as the sole evidence for declaring his establishments nuisances.

He contended the state had no actual evidence that he was conducting lottery operations. Justice Terrell said the state had relied on the fact that defendants purchased federal gambling stamps, listed the places where they proposed to conduct gambling activities and paid the excise tax required by federal law to prove

Relief Is Demanded From California Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern Californians, outraged by one of the longest attacks on record, are pressing as never before for quick action to solve the area's No. 1 problem: smog. It affects a region populated by five million persons. Since the current smog began, Gov. Goodwin Knight has canceled campaign commitments to fly here for a personal check on what can be done. Mayor Norris Poulson disclosed he almost declared a state of emergency. The county grand jury launched an investigation to determine if antismog laws are being enforced.

There have been several mass anti-smog meetings in the last few days. Pasadena, drawing a crowd of 6,000, Civic authorities have held scores of meetings and discussions.

The county supervisors, directly responsible for smog control, took their first step today by voting to back yard incinerators with a ban on the Los Angeles City Council has voted to limit main street parking to 100 cars.

At the current smog age in Los Angeles, 17th Street, and other main streets, smog is so thick that it is almost impossible to see. The smog is a result of a little girl for a month and others say they are now a part of the area because of the smog.

Teacher Accused Of Being Masher

NARA, Japan (AP)—Women students at Nara University have accused a professor of teaching them to drink whisky and "make love" behind closed doors, the Asahi Evening News reported today.

Asahi said 400 women students at the university held a protest rally on Friday and adopted a resolution calling for ouster of Prof. Magoshiro Abe on charges of immoral conduct.

The words said the 45-year-old psychology professor had offered better grades in return for their favors.

Professor Abe called the charges "ridiculous."

French Cabinet To Hear Premier

PARIS (AP)—With the threat of complete failure of French-German talks on the Saar overshadowing their decision, the 11 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today invited West Germany to join their alliance.

French Premier Pierre Mendès France moved in the invitation. Earlier he told reporters he would not sign any agreement unless he had the unanimous consent of the cabinet.

A NATO council voted, 11-0, to invite West Germany to join the alliance.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, an invited guest at the council session, said in a radio statement after another of the 11 members welcomed him and announced West Germany's admission to the Alliance's 14th full member. A NATO council action must be the decision was unanimous.

British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden commended U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for his American policy of "bringing the Germans into NATO. Dulles commented that this step would help achieve a solution of European problems.

Danish Foreign Minister H. C. Hansen said his countrymen were "glad to have their neighbor" in the organization. He remarked there is a Danish minority in Germany and he said he hoped these people will be treated with consideration. Norway's Halvard Lange said to associate himself with the organization according to a statement he made in Oslo.

Mendes France made his statement concerning the Saar with the all leading of his cabinet, which included nonmembers but had previously endorsed his policy and action in the conference here this week.

Plans have been made for the meeting tomorrow afternoon of the 14-nation NATO. West German cabinet and cabinet in the Saar will meet in Bonn.

The French Premier already has made a plan he will not submit to the cabinet for the new West German Parliament unless there is a Saar settlement.

As Mendes France emerged from the cabinet meeting, West German cabinet and cabinet in the Saar will meet in Bonn.

French cabinet have rejected the French plan to offer the Saar to the French unless they hear from the Saar government on the Saar settlement.

United States Eligible Voters Estimated To Total 74,879,146

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official and unofficial estimates today placed the nation's eligible voters for the Nov. 3 elections at the record total figure of 74,879,146.

The same sources estimated the prospective total vote in the 48 states at 45,115,443, including the figure of 24,143,443 officially recorded for House candidates in Maine Sept. 13. This also would be the highest for any nonpresidential year.

An analysis of the 1948 tabulation of the nationally gathered figures of the 1948 election showed that the number of eligible voters in 1951 would be the highest for any nonpresidential year.

Motorist With Broken Limbs Spends 2 Days In Wrecked Car

MACON, Ga. (AP)—He blew his horn until the car battery went dead. He yelled until he was hoarse. He was in a wrecked car for two days.

That's how M. E. Ballard today describes the ordeal of his 61-year-old husband who, both arms and a leg broken, spent 60 hours in a wrecked automobile.

Ballard, a salesman, was found near death yesterday in the wreck. He was trapped in the wreckage all day Friday, Tuesday night all day Wednesday and all of Wednesday night. Then an unidentified Negro found him and called for help.

Doctors said they would not have believed he could have survived if they had not seen him alive.

Said his wife: "He's in God's hands now. If he lives, it will be just because God was not ready for him to go yet."

During the two nights when temperatures hovered a round freezing, Ballard lapsed into long periods of unconsciousness, then came to and passed out again, he told his family.

Ballard is employed by a Birmingham, Ala., hardware firm. When he had not been heard from Wednesday, Mrs. Ballard notified the State Patrol, which began a search for him.
