School Board Balks Over Fee Hike Request

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

Gallagher Bassett of Orlando, the firm managing the Seminole County School Board's insurance coverage, picked the wrong night to ask for an $18,454 increase in its annual fee.

It was the wrong night because School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. also presented to the board Gallagher Bassett's letter refusing to accept Watson and Co. of Orlando as the architectural firm to make repairs to the Lyman High School gymnasium.

Watson designed the gym, but standing water caused its roof to collapse. That was in February.

On a motion by School Board member William J. Kroll, the board last week voted 3-2 to rank Watson and Co. as its first choice to repair the gym. An architect selection committee had recommended Hunton, Shivers and Brady of Orlando be hired. It ranked Watson and Co. fifth on its list.

Kroll said design flaws weren't what caused the roof problem and it was his motion that changed the ranking made by the board's architect committee. Kroll said Watson and Co. could probably do the job faster and cheaper because they designed it. Board member Pat Telson, who voted against the motion, said if the board isn't going to follow it's committee's recommendations it should abolish the committee and do the investigating itself.

Kroll fumed at Gallagher and Bassett's stand. "This board by a 3-2 vote did direct the administration to hire Watson and Co.," he said. "By law this board is charged with the hiring, firing and suing of architects."

"Quite frankly, if we are going to take direction from Gallagher and Bassett they can come here and sit on this board and I won't have to take three or four hours of grief in phone calls each night from the constituents who elected me."

Julian then pointed out Gallagher Bassett's rejection of Watson and Co. was made on behalf of the school board's secondary insurance firms.

The board provides self-insurance up to $100,000 per occurrence, thereafter is insured by Lloyds of London for the next $400,000 and the Aetna Insurance Co. picks up the rest up to the full value of a loss, explained Walter H. Meriwether Jr., the school board's risk manager.

The "reinsurance" firms, Lloyds and Aetna, reserve the right to approve the architect and contractor (for the Lyman repair work) Julian said. It isn't Gallagher and Bassett's doing.

"They're our risk administrators and agents for placement of our excess coverage. Our Lloyds of London package and Aetna insurance were purchased through Gallagher Bassett. But at this point in time they (Gallagher Bassett) are serving as representatives of our excess carriers."

"Now and next week we can talk to Mr. Wolfe (Gallagher Bassett's service agent) and perhaps they can negotiate with the other firms, knowing how this board stands," Julian said.

But an irate Kroll would not be placated. "A man cannot serve two masters," he said. "Is Gallagher Bassett working for us or for Lloyds and Aetna? This board is paying them for their services."

"We chose Watson and Co. If Gallagher and Bassett don't like it they don't have to work for us in the future."

The fact remains, said Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities, the reinsurance firms "hold the purse strings."

After voting to postpone until May 11 further discussion on the architect selection for the Lyman roof repair, the board heard a request by Gallagher Bassett that their yearly fee be increased from $54,296 to $72,750.

A letter in support of the increase from Gallagher area

Vice President G. Joseph Williams pointed out that a $50,555 fee figure was arrived at in 1981 based on a 1979-80 work load of 366 claims. In 1980-81 the claim load jumped to 632. The firm got nearly an 8 percent increase in 1982, bringing their fee to $54,296. The projected number of claims for 1981-82 is 620.

Julian told the board it has 30 days to let the firm know its decision. After 30 days the contract will continue at the old rate, he said.

Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent for administrative services, sitting in for Superintendent Bob Hughes who was not yet back from the National Association of School Boards convention in San Francisco, said Gallagher and Bassett's service has been good in all respects and urged the fee increase be approved. Mrs. Telson moved approval but her motion failed 2-2. School board Chairman Roland Williams was absent, having also attended the school boards convention.

Kroll then moved the issue be tabled until May 11.

"I need further information from Gallagher Bassett to see if they still want to work for Seminole County," Kroll said. "I want to know if they're working for me or I'm working for them."

State Gives No Help To Retirement Pullout Plan

By Donna Estes

Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles batted a "complete fat zero" in his Tallahassee efforts Wednesday supporting a bill permitting Florida cities a one-time option of leaving the Florida State Retirement System as far as new employees are concerned.

He was not only lobbying on behalf of the city of Sanford, but also for the Florida League of Cities when he had his "legs cut out from under" him by a Democratic committee chairman.

The city of Sanford had its own retirement system for a number of years.

"There were some politics played," Knowles said today, noting he and retirement plan expert and former Jacksonville city commissioner David Harrell testified in favor of the bill before the subcommittee.

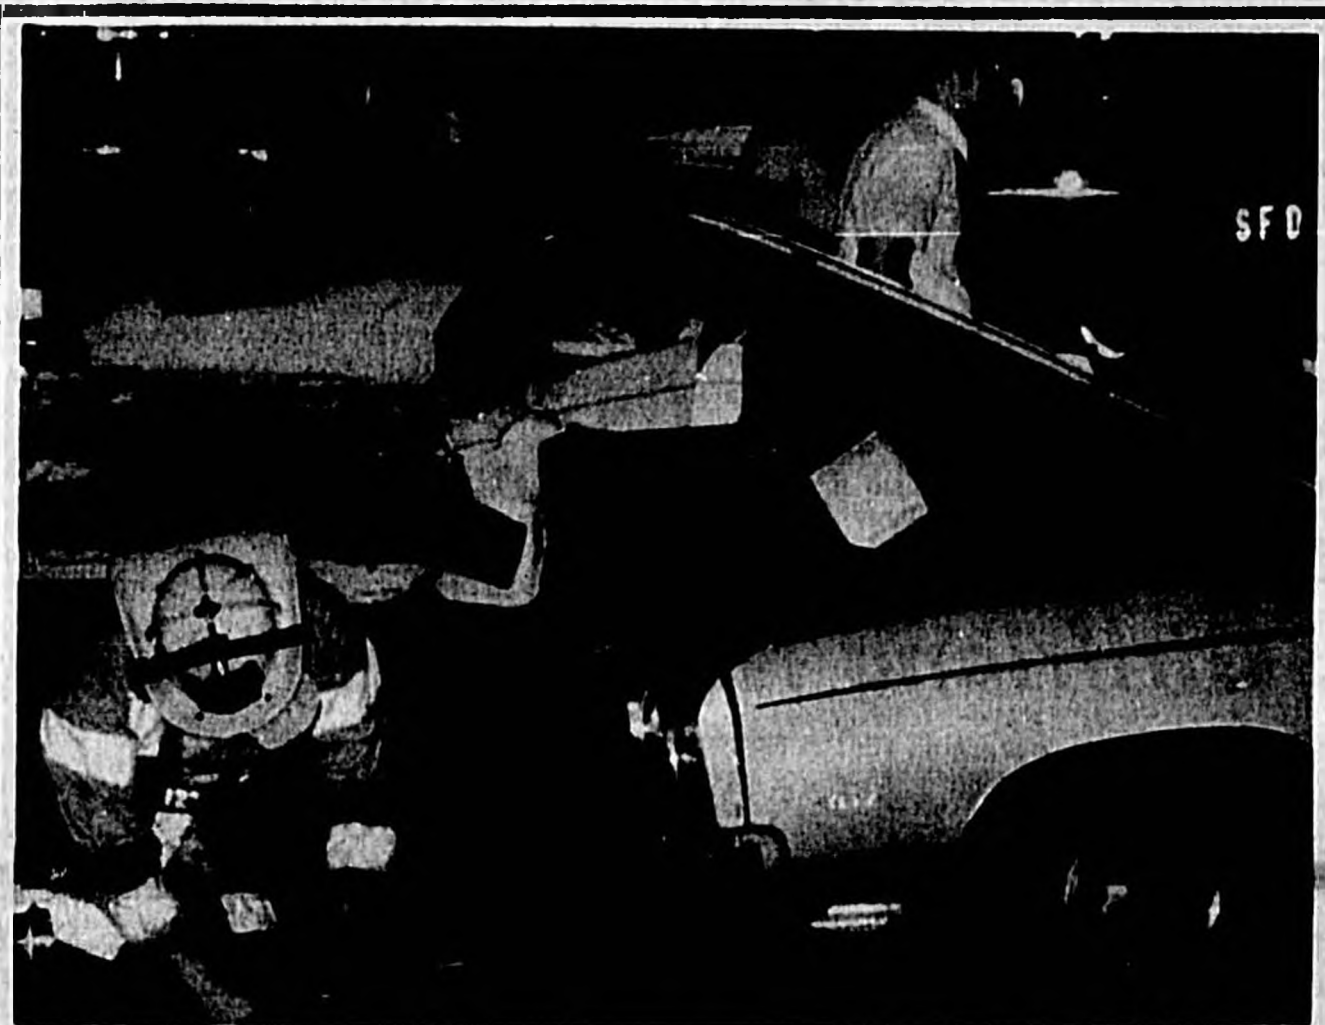

He said apparently Rep. Thomas Hazouri, D-Jacksonville, chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Personnel and Retirement, passed the word to Rep. Sid Martin, D-Hawthorne, the subcommittee chairman not to let the bill out of the subcommittee.

"We both got to speak and then the chairman proceeded to cut legs out from under us and called for the vote. It was strictly a steam roller job by the subcommittee chairman to kill the bill," Knowles said.

"We hope now to try and resurrect the bill through the Senate," he said.

"The state retirement system is using municipal money to fund past state (employees') service," the Sanford city manager said. "And they don't want to let that money go because if they do other groups, like the university system professors, will also want to leave the state plan."

Four Are Injured

A Sanford fireman prepares to pack up his tools and leave the scene of an accident Wednesday night that resulted in three persons being injured. Archie McCormick, 47, of 222 Columbia Road, DeBary, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol following an accident Wednesday night on County Road 427 near Sanford. Four people, including McCormick, were taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford for treatment. Hospital officials said Michael Ross, 30, of 322 Pacer Court, Sanford, was treated and released. Pat Derogatis, 17, of 913 Spring Lake Road, Altamonte Springs, was treated for multiple abrasions and released. Jeffrey Burris, 20, of 604 Arvern Drive, Altamonte Springs, is listed in satisfactory condition. Sanford police have not released details of the accident pending further investigation.

Land Deals Bog Down School Board

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County School Board member Jean Bryant has taken a firm stand against a school staff suggestion that the board sell 20 acres of land in the south Sanford area's Sunland Estates.

During Wednesday night's board meeting, she also put her foot down on a staff request for permission to negotiate for the purchase of 80 acres off Rinehart Road across from the Stromberg-Carlson plant. But Mrs. Bryant's motion to reject the proposal did not get a second and died.

Board member Pat Telson then suggested that the staff seek 50-acre sites, but her motion also died for lack of a second and the issue of trying to find adequate space for various school departments was tabled until the May 11 meeting when a full board is expected to be present. Board Chairman Roland Williams was absent last night, still enroute from the National Association of School Boards convention in San Francisco.

Board member Nancy Warren, who also attended the convention, made it back in time for the meeting and filled in as acting chairman.

Glenn Stands Alone On Gas Tax Use

Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn stands alone.

"The other members of the (County) Commission do not support the so-called 1-1-1 plan" for distribution of revenues between the unincorporated areas and the cities if the county decides to levy a local gas tax.

This was made clear to the city delegates at the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County meeting at the courthouse in Sanford Wednesday night by county delegate County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff.

Kirchhoff said the majority of the commission would like to see revenues from the tax support a road network in the county including roads through the cities. He said the taxpayers don't care whether a road goes through a city or is in the unincorporated area. "He (the taxpayer) wants to know the roads are going to be fixed," the county commissioner said.

"The way I look at it, if the tax is levied, it should be used to fix up certain type roads," Kirchhoff said, adding Public Works Director Jack Schuder and County Engineer Bill Bush are already compiling the list of those most heavily traveled roads.

A law passed during the special session of the Legislature several months ago gives counties the authority to levy up to four additional cents of gas tax per gallon and calls for splitting the money between the county and the cities. The split is to be based on a formula jointly devised and approved by the county and cities. If a formula can't be reached among the governing bodies, the law says the money must be shared according to a state formula used for sharing one-half cent of sales tax revenues between cities and counties.

The law permits the counties to levy a 2-cent tax on a simple majority vote of three and two additional cents with an extraordinary four positive votes.

Mrs. Glenn, meanwhile, has said she favors levying three cents tax with the resulting revenues split in the following manner: 1 cent to the county for roads in the unincorporated areas, 1 cent to be returned to the cities for their use on city streets and a third cent to the county for use on county roads that go through cities. The city of Sanford has adopted a resolution supporting Mrs. Glenn's proposal which is the so-called 1-1-1 plan which Kirchhoff referred to.

Kirchhoff said this plan would not be equitable, noting that city residents in effect would get benefit of two cents of the tax while unincorporated residents who compose slightly more than half the population would get benefit of only one-third of the tax.

"It doesn't matter what the amount is; it should be spread equitably over the county connector roads," Kirchhoff insisted.

Kirchhoff said as an example the entire revenue from the tax in one year could be used to three-lane or four-lane Maitland Avenue in Altamonte Springs or the money could be divided among several projects.

Other roads for which the money could be used, he said, are Celery Avenue and 13th Street and Airport Boulevard in Sanford or Seminola Boulevard and Red Bug Road in Casselberry.

Sanford City Commissioner Eddie Keith asked if the county were going to completely take over the proposed new gas tax revenue without

More Free Cheese Will Be Given Away On Friday

Surplus cheese from the U.S. Department of Agriculture is being distributed to the poor and elderly this week at the Seminole Community Action center and the distribution will continue Friday from 9 until 11 a.m. as long as the 5 pound bars are available, said Rev. Amos Jones, executive director of Seminole Community Action.

Earlier this week 1-pound blocks of butter were also distributed until that commodity was depleted, Jones said. The distribution center is the Community Action office at 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford.

He said discolorations were seen on some of the blocks of butter, but he explained that sometimes happens. "It's a superficial thing," Jones said, adding that it can be scraped off. "It is not detrimental to ones health," he said.

Jones said he doesn't know how the discoloration can be avoided. SCA at first was able to store the food commodities in the Kasiner warehouse and the same thing happened.

"Really, these commodities have been gotten out to the poor and elderly in a crash manner. There was no provision made for anything by the federal government. It is an extra task we have to do without manpower, money, or equipment. Nothing has been provided, except the food. We at SCA are trying to deal with this and it's a kind of frustrating until some resources are made available," he said.

"If we had a highly refrigerated area of a few hundred square feet we could store the butter," he said, noting the choice has been handling the program as it is being done or not having the program.

NATION IN BRIEF

Effort Being Made To Put 'Baby Doe' Rules In Effect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is rewriting its "Baby Doe" handicapped infants rule to meet a judge's objection, but also is pursuing legal action to put the challenged regulation into effect, officials say.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell in Washington blocked the rule April 14, saying the government did not follow the proper procedural steps. An appeals court last week refused to set aside Gesell's order.

Administration officials, who requested anonymously, said an administration task force is considering how to meet Gesell's objections through administrative action so the rule can be put into effect largely unchanged.

But they stressed that does not preclude further legal action, including an expected appeal of Gesell's order and an answer to a second lawsuit filed in New York. The rule was challenged by hospitals and other health care groups.

The regulation says hospitals cannot stop feeding or giving other care to handicapped infants. It ordered notices posted in hospital wards and set up a 24-hour hotline to take complaints. Hospitals that violated the rule could lose their federal Medicare and Medicaid funding.

The rule was prompted by the case of a severely handicapped Indiana baby, known as "Baby Doe," who died last year after being denied food on his parent's orders.

Tax Cut Will Be Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leaders predict they will preserve the 10 percent tax cut scheduled for July 1, despite a deep rift within their ranks that threatens passage of a 1984 budget plan President Reagan can support.

Senate Republicans, however, failed during a private meeting later to resolve their differences over taxes or defense spending for fiscal 1984, and GOP leaders were forced to create a special ad hoc committee to try to break the impasse.

The nine-member panel, composed of conservatives who want no new taxes next year and moderates who want to raise a nominal amount of taxes, is to meet this week to seek a compromise and report back to the Republican leadership Monday.

On U.S. Role In Central America

Reagan Speech Not Enough To Sway Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's urgent appeal for more military aid to El Salvador got a cordial reception, but early indications are it failed to bridge the deep divisions over the administration's policy in Central America.

Reagan, addressing a joint session of Congress Wednesday night, urged America to "hold the line" against Soviet-Cuban backed subversion in the region.

Seeking bipartisan congressional and public support, Reagan argued that not only is the security of all the Americas at stake, but United States' credibility and commitment in Europe and Asia as well.

"Central America's problems go directly affect the security and well being of our own people," he said.

He cited as goals support of democracy, reform and human freedom; economic development; security for the threatened nations and negotiations among the nations in the region.

The president sparked a standing ovation when he said: "I do not believe there is a majority in the Congress or in the country that counsels passivity, resignation, defeatism in the face of this challenge to freedom and security in our hemisphere."

Reagan said that El Salvador still has major problems regarding human rights, the criminal justice system and violence against civilians, but he blamed the ruthless, professionally trained guerrillas for the country's turmoil.

Sen. Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Charles Percy, R-Ill., called the speech "logical. I think it appealed to the American people."

House Republican leader Bob Michel said he thought "it could very well cause some members to reassess."

Assistant House Republican leader Trent Lott of Mississippi predicted "Congress will now move expeditiously" to approve aid. "I think we'll have action in 10 days to two weeks, at the most."

But Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee that cut Reagan's $60 million aid request in half this week was doubtful. Asked about Lott's prediction that Congress would act swiftly, Long shook his head and said, "I don't see it. I don't see it."

An hour after Reagan spoke, the White House recorded 1200 telephone calls, an above average volume with 789 registering a favorable response and 300 on the negative side.

The president's remarks were interrupted 10 times by applause, with the greatest sustained ovation, particularly from the Democratic side, greeting his declaration the struggle in Central America would not become another Vietnam.

"Let me say, to those who invoke the memory of Vietnam: There is no thought of sending American combat troops to Central America. They are not needed," Reagan vowed.

There was no applause, however, when Reagan said he is standing firm in his request for nearly $200 million in military aid for El Salvador this year. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., a presidential candidate, said Reagan's speech is "not going to serve the cause of stability in Central America."

"Unless the government of El Salvador shapes up" by improving its human rights record, "there is no way to prop up that government. We are pouring money down a rat hole."

After delivering the 34-minute speech, Reagan made his way up the aisle crowded by well-wishers, and left the high-ceilinged room with a thumbs-up sign.

He reminded his audience that El Salvador is closer to Texas than Texas is to Massachusetts, and recalled Nazi attacks on Allied shipping around the Panama Canal during World War II.

"I say to you tonight there can be no question: the national security of all the Americas is at stake in Central America. If we cannot defend ourselves there, we cannot expect to prevail elsewhere."

Sanford Salvation Army Corps Commander Capt. Mike Waters, left, presents Bell Ringer trophy to Tom Hobbs, president of the Kiwanis Club of Sanford, which has raised the most money of any organization for three out of the past four years in the SA's annual Christmas kettle drive. The presentation was made at the "Friends of the Army" banquet Tuesday night at the Sanford Civic Center.

Retirement Pullout Gets No Help

Knowles said about 100 Florida cities now have their employees, except for police and firefighters, in the state system, paying the state about $5.5 million annually, but only 13 percent of the municipal employees ever reach the 10-year vesting requirement before they can receive benefits, adding these statistics hold true for Sanford as well.

"The state has a revenue plum it wants to keep on the tree," Knowles said, noting if that plum falls from the tree, "it will show up the giveaway program of past years in the Florida Retirement System and what it is costing."

"Our interest is in setting up a local retirement plan for general employees, not police and firefighters, that would provide the same benefits at less cost to the taxpayers and the state ain't going to let us do it," he said.

Under the proposal, current city employees, except police and firefighters, would stay in FRS, but all new employees, again except police and firefighters, would go under a new local municipal retirement plan. Knowles said.

There is one in the making now that would be self-administered by the Florida League of Cities, where cities have control of their own funds, the city manager said.

Knowles said when a city employee terminates his employment with the city before the end of the 10-year vesting, the state keeps the money which has been paid into the system by the city. He said the cities are required to pay 10.93 percent of all general employees' salaries into the state retirement fund. He estimated this costs Sanford more than $200,000 a year.

"We (the cities of the state) want to keep the money. We want to use that money to provide a retirement plan at less cost and the private pension industry can do that," he said.

The state system, Knowles said, is bogged down from 10, 20 and 30 years ago with obligations to pay retirement money.

Knowles noted that police and firefighters are under a different state plan that "hasn't had all this past service liability and it pays better benefits than FRS." He added the cities have no desire to change the state pension plan for police and firefighters.

Streetman Vs. Feather

Friends and supporters of Fred Streetman will celebrate Streetman's announcement as a candidate for the Seminole County Commission at a party at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Jim and Alice Weinberg, 1705 Alvarado Court, Wingfield Reserve, Longwood.

Co-hosting the event with the Weinbergs are: U.S. Rep. and Mrs. Bill McCollum, state Rep. and Mrs. Bobby Brantley, County Commissioner Bob Sturm and Republican state committeewoman Maryanne Morse.

Streetman, who has announced he will be running against incumbent Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather, is currently GOP state committeeman for Seminole County. Both Feather and Streetman are Republicans.

Feather, who served previously on the Seminole County School Board, is completing his first term on the County Commission. He will be up for re-election in 1984 and Feather has announced he will run again.

Biker, Girlfriend Not Talking About Shooting

Rebecca DiMartino, 24, of 2803 Lakeview Drive, Fern Park, woke not to an alarm clock or even a rooster crowing this morning. She woke to the sound of gunshots.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigating the shots and are trying to determine who owns a car that was parked in her driveway shortly after 7 a.m.

But investigators said they are not being helped by Miss DiMartino, or her boyfriend, Danny Ray Flynn, 32, of DeLand, a member of the Grim Reaper motorcycle gang, who was wounded by a gunshot.

Flynn was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte for a laceration and puncture wounds he received in the incident which took place at 7:03 a.m.

Bullet cartridges at the scene were confiscated by investigators.

CHEMICAL DUMPED

About 1,600 gallons of a chemical deodorizer were released from a Sanlando Utilities sewage treatment facility between noon Monday and 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said a fenced-in facility at Red Bay Drive in The Springs, Longwood, was broken into. A spout was opened and the chemical, which leaves an orange stain, was dumped onto the ground. The chemical was valued at about $900.

Police said a tennis shoe track, probably belonging to a 10 or 12-year-old, was discovered at the scene.

BIKES STOLEN, ANOTHER RETURNED

Carol Beagle, 51, of 124 Sunset Drive, Longwood, said a 10-speed bicycle, valued at $90, was stolen from a bicycle rack at Rock Lake Middle School Tuesday between 3:20 and 8:10 p.m.

Mrs. Beagle said the bike was not locked. A 3-speed bike belonging to Tammy Turner, 24, of 401 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, was reported stolen Tuesday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Miss Turner said the bike is worth $50. Another bike was returned to its owner Tuesday after it was recovered Monday.

Frank David Clark, 1418 Bear Lake Road, telephoned police to report that the bike was missing when they told him the bike had been found by John Dufour, 30, of 1403 Bear Lake Road, a day earlier.

PEACOCK A PROBLEM
First it was the smell and noise from from Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant, now it's a peacock that's causing problems for some Oviedo residents. Jeanne Heidelmeier, 56, of 3035 Lowery Drive, Oviedo, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies at 8 a.m. Tuesday that a neighbor's peacock has been screaming at all hours of the day and night. Deputies observed the peacock but took no action to muzzle the animal.

COUPLE ARRESTED
A Forest City man and a Sanford woman were charged with retail theft from two Sanford stores Tuesday night. Lynn Anderson, 34, of 6321 Forest City Road, and Winfred Daniels, 33, of 1709 W. 11th St., were arrested outside Pantry Pride at the Zayre Plaza for allegedly taking meat from the store without paying for it. The meat was found under the seat of Ms. Daniels' car. Also found in the car was $27 worth of merchandise from a nearby drug store.

Anderson was charged with two counts of retail theft and obstruction by giving false information. He was freed from the Seminole County Jail on $500 bond. Ms. Daniels was charged with two counts of retail theft. She was released on $100 bond.

DELTONA COUPLE FREED
A Deltona couple has been released from the Seminole County Jail on $8,000 bond each after their arrest for cocaine possession. Randall Judkins, 25, and his wife Donna, 22, of 1110 Hastings Ave., were arrested April 22 outside a Sanford night spot.

Police said they saw Randall Judkins inject something into his arm while in the parking lot of Uncle Nick's Liquor and Oyster Bar, 2605 Park Drive, Sanford. When the pair was arrested, cocaine was discovered in their car.

Board Balks

Board member Nancy Warren, acting as chairman, said she agrees Gallagher and Bassett have served the board well but understands Kroll's point.

"I'm not sure holding the contract over their heads is the way to handle this," she said.

Julian said Gallagher Bassett doesn't have any authority in the matter but can go back to Lloyds of London and Actna and say "this is the board's position, can you reconsider?"

Excess risk insurance can't be placed with just any local agent, he added.

Although Kroll says Watson and Co. were not responsible for the damage to the Lyman gym, repair of which is estimated to cost between $500,000 and $1 million, Julian said the insurance companies have a legal opportunity to recover money from the people who caused the damage. That fact could complicate any desire to hire Watson and Co. for the repair work, he said.

Risk manager Meriwether said after the meeting Gallagher "has done such a tremendous job I hope we can continue with them."

"We haven't paid a penny more than we should have on any claims since Gallagher Bassett has been processing our insurance."

Land Sale, Purchase Tabled

John Colbert, the schools' director of budgeting, told the four board members the staff has determined the district will need a site of more than 40 acres to consolidate departments that are now inadequately housed.

The consolidation is seen as a means to make the administration system more efficient and less expensive, he said.

Departments expected to be consolidated include transportation, maintenance, and food service.

For example, Colbert said the schools' food service office is located on a property less than half a city block.

"We're trying to be efficient and buy in quantity and they're in a building that looks like the floor is going to cave in," Colbert said today.

He said several departments maintain their own repair crews but if all were at a central location only one group of mechanics, for instance, would be necessary.

Mrs. Bryant said she had no quarrel with consolidation for efficiency, but was appalled at the $14,000 or $15,000 per-acre asking price of the Rinehart Road site.

"We do not have to pay that kind of money," she said.

"I'd like to have all the realtors in the area notified of what we want and will pay. Let them do the scouting for us."

Colbert said school staff have looked at several sites. Some were too small, involved crossing a railroad track, which would affect usability as a bus depot, or were rejected for other reasons. The Rinehart Road site is "to our liking," he said.

"To come up with a sizeable site in Seminole County isn't easy anymore," he added.

As for declaring the Sunland Estates 20 acres surplus, Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent for administrative services, said the property would not make a good school site.

He said the means of entering and exiting the property are not sufficient for a school site and growth isn't in that area anyway.

"I understand that," Mrs. Bryant said. "But I also look at the Hidden Lake area and other areas that are expanding so fast. I wonder if we won't need another elementary school in that (Sunland Estates) area."

"We don't have a crystal ball, but the growth is not expected to be in that area," McCarron said.

"I still don't like to give it up because it would be harder to obtain a replacement at a later date," Mrs. Bryant said.

After the meeting, Mrs. Bryant said she does not think the property is worth the $300,000 the staff thinks it is.

During the meeting, when the board moved to define the attendance zones between Lake Mary and Idyllwilde elementaries and predicted further growth might change the zones next year, Mrs. Bryant said:

"That goes back to what I was saying about not letting Sunland go. I'm of the opinion a 20-acre parcel we own anyplace should not be given up."

The issue will come up again on May 11 when the board is scheduled to consider all the staff's requests for parcels to be declared surplus, including the district's bus garage on Timucuan Way in Longwood, maintenance, food service and textbook buildings and Westside Annex in Sanford, Monroe Elementary in Lake Monroe.

"I don't see how we can declare surplus a bus garage, maintenance site and the like until we have someplace for them to go," Mrs. Bryant said.

School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. said declaring them surplus only indicates that they may be sold at some future date. It puts a plan in progress, he said, but the board can change its mind.

any input from the cities.

Allamonic Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine, who is the council chairman, said Mrs. Glenn has a proposal and is asking each of the cities to give her time to explain on future city meeting agendas.

Constantine said Kirchhoff was voicing his opinion and Mrs. Glenn would voice hers. He added Mrs.

Glenn would like to see the Council of Local Governments work out a final agreement between the cities and the county. Constantine said Mrs. Glenn will provide the program on this matter for the June 1 Council of Governments meeting in Winter Springs.

And Longwood Mayor June Lormann added that Muliland Avenue is not the road she sees as the most important to be improved. She pointed to County Road 427

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Hawkins To Run Again, Maybe Against Graham

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Despite back injuries and a possible challenge by Gov. Bob Graham, Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., plans to run for re-election in 1988.

Mrs. Hawkins said in a prepared statement distributed by her Tallahassee office Wednesday that she had filed a "statement of candidacy" with the secretary of the senate. Within 10 days, she plans to file a "statement of organization" with the Federal Elections Commission.

Last year, Mrs. Hawkins said during a stop at Pensacola she was aware of speculation that Graham would challenge her. She vowed to defeat him.

Earlier in her term, the former state public service commissioner was severely injured when studio equipment fell on her back at an Orlando television station.

Homes Fight Regulation

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Most church-operated children's homes in Florida are licensed by the state and they welcome it, but about a dozen are fiercely fighting to avoid being regulated.

The Senate Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee voted 6-1 Wednesday for a bill (SB 361) continuing state regulation of residential children's care, scheduled to expire later this year under the Sunset Act, and broadening it to include all children's homes.

HRS committee members made it clear to the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, however, that there is to be no interference with religious teachings or other church activities by the children's homes.

The proposal goes to the full Senate now.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Andropov Opposes Arms Race In Outer Space

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Yuri Andropov said Moscow will try its best to stop the expansion of the arms race into outer space and encouraged American scientists to keep "the cosmos forever free" of weapons.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman responded by saying that the Soviet Union is the leader in developing a killer satellite, despite denials by Andropov.

"The Soviets possess the world's only operational ASAT (anti-satellite) interceptor, which they continue to test," Alan Romberg said.

"That plus the wide scope of their other military activities in space belie their pose as champions of peace in outer space. Other than a commitment to develop an ASAT capability to match the Soviets, we are not planning any space weapons systems."

U.S. Marines Open Fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — U.S. Marines at high alert for the visit of Secretary of State George Shultz fired on a car speeding through a checkpoint today near the shattered U.S. Embassy. Marine officials and Lebanese soldiers said.

The shooting, which Lebanese soldiers said wounded one of the passengers, came hours before Shultz' visit and 10 days after a bomb blew up at the U.S. Embassy, killing 61 people.

It marked the first time a member of the Marine contingent in the multinational peace-keeping force in Beirut had shot at or wounded a Lebanese citizen, officials said.

The soldiers ordered the two men out of the car, and searched it for explosives but found none. The car's driver and his passenger apparently were drunk, the soldiers said.

Senate Committee Approves Tougher School Requirements

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Senate President Curtis Peterson believes his controversial "RAISE" bill to improve the public schools has been vindicated by a presidential commission.

The plan, establishing state high school graduation and curriculum requirements that are tougher than most that have been set by local school boards, cleared the Senate Education Committee Wednesday.

The bill, nicknamed "RAISE" for "Raise Achievement in Secondary Education," was approved unanimously by the committee, which spent most of the first three-and-a-half weeks of the session working on it. It (SB 357) now goes to the appropriations committee.

The most visible difference between the two chambers' approaches is that the Senate wants to establish specific, statewide high school curriculum requirements, while the House wants to leave this to the school boards.

The presidential commission report issued earlier this week indicted national public education much as the controversial Brown Commission indicted Florida schools last year.

It called for tougher academic standards, longer school days, more homework for students and higher pay and training standards for teachers.

Amal Fanatics Must Be Dealt With

Even as the dead and wounded were being extricated from the bomb-shattered U.S. Embassy in Beirut, President Reagan vigorously affirmed this country's determination to persevere in Mideast peace efforts. To his credit, he lost no time in denying to the terrorist perpetrators their announced goal of driving Americans from Lebanon. The administration has properly served notice that it will not yield its peacekeeping responsibility either to terrorism or to any hue and cry from Congress or the streets.

The worst disaster ever to be visited upon a U.S. installation abroad in peacetime left at least 47 dead, including several Americans, many of whom were Marines. More U.S. citizens are missing and presumed dead. More than 100 were wounded, many critically. The death toll is bound to mount.

This mindless violence was the confessed work of "the Amal group" a pro-Iranian militia of the Lebanese Shiite Moslems. These fanatics claim credit for previous ambushes against the multinational peacekeeping forces in which five Marines were wounded.

Retaliatory punishment for such outrages, about which too little is being heard, must accompany perseverance if Lebanon's disorders are to be dealt with. The multinational peacekeeping force — or the U.S. Marines alone if necessary — should track down the Amal fanatics and bring them to justice. Terrorists must not believe they can act with impunity or their destructions will surely increase.

Reflecting a restless reaction in Congress to the tragedy, Sen. Barry Goldwater took wide, rambling aim and missed the mark by demanding that U.S. peacekeeping forces in Lebanon be brought home immediately. The attack, he apparently forgot, was against the U.S. Embassy in Beirut and the peacekeeping Marines there. The bombing could and would have happened with or without U.S. peacekeeping forces, and indeed might have come sooner and in greater degree without them.

The Beirut bombing is a horrible signal confirming the shift of the world's focus from failed negotiations over the future of the Palestinians in the occupied West Bank back to Lebanon. This ravaged country is the real cockpit, as it has been for sometime. It is the dangerous flash point where Israeli, Syrian, and PLO armies confront each other, flanked by Western and Soviet forces.

A most ominous development is the growing Soviet military presence in Syria. Not only have the Russians resupplied the tanks, planes, and missiles lost by Syria in battles with the Israelis last year but, in growing numbers, they are now manning advanced missile systems, the first ever to be deployed outside the Soviet Union.

Thus emboldened, the militant Syrians have renounced the concept of a simultaneous withdrawal of Syrian, Israeli and PLO forces from Lebanon; they insist Syria will not pull out until after Israel does. The Soviet-Syrian axis is, therefore, an increasingly destabilizing factor in the Middle East. Indeed, responsible Lebanese officials have implicated Syria and the Soviet Union in the embassy bombing, which the Lebanese correctly regard as being also against themselves.

With President Reagan's West Bank proposal on the shelf, U.S. diplomacy should concentrate now on defusing the volatile Lebanese situation. The obvious goal in this is an early withdrawal of all foreign forces. But if the heavy Soviet presence in Syria precludes a pullback of Syrian and PLO forces, as now appears to be the case, the United States may have to rethink its position about pushing for Israel's withdrawal. Barring a semi-permanent stationing of U.S. troops and other forces there, how else can order be maintained between murderous Lebanese factions except by the Israelis? And, except for a continuing Israeli presence, what is to prevent all of Lebanon from falling again under the military control of Syria and the PLO?

Which is by way of saying that, in the Middle East today, realism must embrace even more pessimism than usual.

"Glimmie a call in a couple of hours, THEN let's decide if we're gonna play or not."

By Jane Casselberry

Representing the Seminole County League of Women Voters at the Florida League of Women Voters convention being held Thursday through Saturday in Plantation will be Helen C. Smith, president; Beryl Colbourn, first vice-president; Patty Cowherd, treasurer; and Polly Miller of the Natural Resources committee.

Gov. Robert Graham, Nat Reed, businessman environmentalist, and Dorothy Ridings, president of the League of Women Voters of the United States, will be the featured speakers.

In addition to conducting such official convention business as election of officers and selection of a state program, delegates will also attend a variety of workshops on topics ranging from the state's budget to stress management and public relations.

On Saturday, May 7, the 4-H Clubs of Seminole County are having a 4-H Exhibit Day at the Agricultural Center located at the Seminole County Operations Center at 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford. A wide open Pet Fair including, but not limited to, dogs, cats, goats, pigs, steers and other living things, will be on exhibit.

Inside, 4-H members will show off items they have made or baked, cooked, or canned, and posters depicting their 4-H projects.

A horse-judging demonstration will be held at 10:30 a.m., followed by a 4-H Fashion Revue at 11:30 a.m.

The public is invited to view these exhibits from 10:30 a.m. until noon, according to Fred A. Roberts, county 4-H program assistant.

If the performance of the Longwood Woman's Club "Potpourri" variety show being presented Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lyman High School auditorium is nearly as hilarious as the rehearsal Friday night, it will be a laugh riot, according to Casselberry Mayor Charlie Glascock, who is in the star-studded cast. He said he laughed so hard he nearly lost his supper while sitting in the audience of cast members and watching the practice.

It's great to see former Herald correspondent and dancer Eida Nichols back in action again as producer-director of the extravaganza. She has somehow managed to bring out of the closet a rather distinguished collection of frustrated entertainers.

The cast sounds like a "Who's Who" of politicians, law enforcement officials, school principals, and civic leaders in Seminole County. Where else can you find the likes of State Representative Art Grindie, Bobby Hattaway, Sheriff John Polk, Longwood Mayor June Lormann, Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn, Lyman Principal Carlton Henley, and County Commissioner Barbara Christensen throwing their inhibitions to the winds to perform together on stage?

With all that ham, it may not be Kosher, but it sounds like a fun evening.

Bumper Strip-tease: "I brake for hallucinations."

Politics Require Patience

Americans who in 1980 supported a shift from liberal to conservative public policies are divided today over the pace and character of change under the Reagan administration.

Many conservative activists express dismay that the President has not gone all out in advocating every item on their agenda. Lewis Lehrman, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for Governor of New York, is among those who is unhappy with the President's approach. He favors citizen initiatives such as Proposition 13 in California, advocates a return to the gold standard, and urges adoption of a flat tax rate.

The activists thought they would get wholesale change — a true revolution — as a result of a Reagan presidency, and they find change painfully slow.

In general, the Lehrman-type conservatives favor what can be described as a populist conservatism. This brand of conservatism isn't favored by other elements who espouse different conservative reforms. Many business conservatives, for example, are distressed that the Reagan administration is unwilling to tackle union monopoly power, and resent the cozy relationship the White House has with the Teamsters Union. The discord reflects the division in conservative ranks.

One can sympathize with President Reagan because he has a difficult time harmonizing the disparate views of his supporters. They should be able to recognize the principal objectives the President has pursued.

Mr. Reagan has been absolutely firm in pressing for rebuilding of America's deteriorated defenses. This is an effort that all conservatives should support to the fullest degree. They also should recognize that Mr. Reagan has attempted to reverse hurtful public policies. He has strongly supported Secretary of the Interior James Watt who believes the U.S. should make effective use of its natural resources and not lock them away forever. Mr. Reagan cannot have things all his own way, as the Economist recently noted. He cannot prevent his Cabinet officers — Secretary Watt is a prime example — from being subjected to the liberals' Big Lie technique.

A fact of political life is that liberals control the U.S. House of Representatives and are strong in the Senate. Some degree of pragmatism is necessary if the President is to get a part of what he wants. The activists refuse to face up to this reality. On the other hand, super-pragmatists on the White House staff want the President to be more yielding than is necessary.

On the whole, Mr. Reagan's administration is a world away from the Carter administration. Not every federal appointee is a pure conservative, but there are many of them in important posts.

Conservative activists cannot then expect the President to act as though the country were 100 percent behind him.

Justice Dragged Feet In Drug Case

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William French Smith has said his No. 1 priority is cracking down on illegal drug traffic. He might be interested to learn that some of his own Justice Department people have been less than enthusiastic about the investigation of drug dealing in the halls of Congress.

For months, while a federal grand jury has been hearing testimony about narcotics sales to members of Congress and their staffs, Justice Department officials have been playing down the explosive evidence.

But with the extradition from Australia of two suspected ringleaders, Douglas Marshall and Troy Todd, the foot-dragging officials will soon have no place to hide. The heat is on the Justice Department — and the prominent politicians who have been accused of purchasing narcotics.

Perhaps the first question the attorney general should ask his subordinates is why Marshall and Todd were allowed to skip the country 10 months ago.

Uncover detectives caught them red-handed, selling $15,000 worth of cocaine in the home of Marshall's father, Sylvan, a prominent Washington lawyer. Yet the charges against the two were suddenly dropped, allowing them to flee to Australia.

Another matter the attorney general should ask about is the mysterious withdrawal by prosecutors of a crucial grand jury subpoena issued to Capitol Police Chief James Powell. His men had collected information about drug use in the Capitol, but the grand jury's subpoena was withdrawn after it had been served — because of a phone call from Powell to prosecutor Daniel Bernstein.

Part of the evidence the grand jury wanted has apparently disappeared. A secret investigative document seen by my associates Jack Mitchell and Indy Badwar states, "It has been indicated that these records (the Capitol Police data) are no longer complete, and that the U.S. Attorney's office will withdraw its subpoena." This, of course, is precisely what happened.

Sources close to the case estimated that a thorough follow-up on the allegations given to the prosecutor could have resulted in as many as 100 witnesses being called before the grand jury. There was no such effort to break the case.

A year ago, an eyes-only memorandum prepared for the attorney general's signature ordered his lieutenants to form "Law Enforcement Coordinating Committees ... to focus on the social environment which has helped to create the vast market for illegal drugs."

But it's apparently the political environment that has been the decisive factor in the investigation of the Capitol cocaine club.

Attorney General Smith has personally ordered Justice Department officials to abandon their usual policy in this sensitive case and prosecute users as well as pushers. The reason is obvious: Those who make the nation's laws should be held strictly accountable when they themselves break those laws.

On The Broom Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although 1982 was a bad year for some segments of the economy, Americans bought about as many broomcorn brooms as ever.

Make what you will of this statistic, pointing out, if you must, that there were no sweeping changes in the broom market.

I personally suspect the nation was sweeping more dirt under the rug than usual, but that is neither here nor there. Even though the Gross National Product has been going up, Americans as a whole clearly are not as gross as they might be.

The raw figures on broom production and consumption just released by the U.S. International Trade Commission should be viewed as heartening. President Reagan, to whom the report was addressed, undoubtedly was buoyed by it.

Reagan, you know, is wont to blame previous administrations for creating an economic mess. Despite high unemployment and other dispiriting trends, however, there has been no flagging of the people's willingness to clean up after themselves.

Before getting into the details, let us spend a moment defining our terms.

Contrary to what the name might imply, broomcorn is not a type of corn. It only looks that way.

A commission spokesman identified broomcorn brooms as the "common kitchen variety" that most sweepers think of as made of straw.

All clear on that point? Very well. Let us proceed.

Last year, by the commission's count, Americans wore out 2 million dozen broomcorn brooms, "including whiskbrooms." That was about the same number we made stubble of in 1981.

Nor was there any wholesale shifting to cheaper brooms, generally made with plastic and other synthetic fibers. Consumption of what the commission calls "competitive brooms" remained virtually unchanged at 1.6 million dozen.

Meanwhile, production was up about 4 percent and the domestic broom industry, unlike the domestic auto industry, was not hard hit by imports.

Although most broomcorn is imported from Mexico, international trading in the finished product was pretty much of a standoff.

A commission spokesman expressed surprise that the broom industry did as well as it did during a recessionary period. Sales had previously declined and broom manufacturers were expecting another slump last year.

A good broom, by the way, now costs $5 to $8, no small item in some household budgets.

"What with outdoor-indoor carpeting, electric brooms and the like, there's never going to be real explosive growth," one market analyst told me.

Nevertheless, the outlook is fairly bright. Including whiskbrooms.

ROBERT WALTERS

A Hydropower Revival

HAYDENVILLE, Mass. (NEA) — The small dam spanning the Mill River here hasn't been used for at least three decades, but by the end of this year it will be generating 300,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

Most of that power will be used to provide electricity to an adjacent building constructed in 1875 as a factory to manufacture brass plumbing fixtures. The factory is now virtually abandoned and has been in disrepair for many years.

When Marken Properties, Inc., a Massachusetts real estate development firm, decided last year to purchase and renovate the sprawling factory as an office and light manufacturing complex, it included the dam in its rehabilitation plans.

Similar decisions are being made all across the nation by both private developers and utility companies specializing in the production of electricity, thus marking a dramatic revival of hydropower as a significant source of energy.

Hydro last year edged out nuclear as the country's third largest source of electric energy. (Coal is used to generate 52 percent of all electricity, while natural gas, hydro and nuclear are responsible for about 13 to 14 percent apiece. Other forms of renewable energy and oil account for a total 7 to 9 percent.)

The key to the resurgence of small-scale hydropower (as well as windmills, cogeneration systems and other alternative energy sources) was the passage of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, a federal law which requires utility companies to sell power to small producers when they are unable to generate adequate electricity and to buy power from them when they have excess production.

When PURPA was enacted into law, there were only 18 applications on file with regulatory agencies to build or revive small hydro facilities throughout the country. Today, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has more than 2,000 license and permit requests pending.

A FERC study predicts that the law will encourage the production of approximately 12,000 megawatts of additional electric capacity annually by 1995, with hydropower responsible for about 3,500 megawatts per year.

Hydropower has been a source of energy in this country for more than a century, dating back to 1882 when the first hydropower facility (generating only 200 watts of electricity) went into operation in Appleton, Wis.

In the ensuing decades, thousands of small hydroelectric facilities were constructed, especially here in New England, to provide power to mills, factories and towns. Massive dams and generating stations were built in other regions of the country, notably the Pacific Northwest.

Those large facilities remain an integral part of the nation's power supply, but virtually all of the smaller dams were abandoned with the 20th century advent of centralized power plants which used coal or oil as a boiler fuel.

While the numbers may be a matter of contention, there is no dispute about the fact that there are thousands of hydro sites which can be rehabilitated at reasonable cost to provide a substantial amount of clean, cheap and safe energy.

Hydropower is renewable, non-polluting and aesthetically attractive.

Errors Cost Rams In District Lapse

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

GISSIMMEE — Just when Lake Mary appeared to be in the driver's seat, the Rams got stuck in reverse and couldn't recover in time to avoid losing control. Lake Mary had taken a 4-3 lead in the top of the sixth inning, tying the game on a solo home run by Mark Chasey and taking advantage of two Osceola KISSIMMEE errors to score the go-ahead run.

But, in the bottom of the sixth, the Rams made two costly errors which enabled the Kowboys to score two runs and go on to a 5-4 victory in the opening round of the 3A-8 District Tournament Wednesday at Osceola.

"Those two errors cost us," Lake Mary coach Don Smith said. "If we had made either play, we could have gone on and won the ball game."

Because of the weather, Lake Mary and Osceola never met in the regular season and neither coach knew what to expect Wednesday. The Kowboys, a hard-hitting club, rapped out 10 hits off Lake Mary freshman ace Mike Schmit while the Rams slugged nine hits off a pair of Osceola hurlers.

"We didn't get any hits at the right time," Smith said. "We left too many men on base in the first five innings. We had runners on first and second and one out twice but didn't score. You've got to have the key hits."

After a scoreless first inning, the Rams rallied for two runs with two out in the top of the second. Chasey singled to right center off Osceola's big-right-handed starter Troy Girdner and Kevin Hill ripped Girdner's

Watkins Blanks Eustis

Lake Mary's Lady Rams flashed brilliance in the field Wednesday and got clutch hitting from Kim Averill and Liz Stone en route to a 3-0 blanking of Eustis' Lady Panthers in the opening game of the 3A-8 District Softball Tournament at Eustis. The Lady Rams advance to today's 3 p.m. semi-finals against Osceola at Leesburg. Top-seeded Leesburg goes against St. Cloud, a 4-3 winner over Oviedo, at 1 p.m.

"We looked really sharp in the field," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "We didn't make any errors and Beth Watkins pitched extremely well."

Lake Mary, 13-13, took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second as Lisa Simkins reached on an error. Melinda Kidd advanced her with a single and Simkins scored on a single by Stone.

The Rams added another run in the third when Averill singled and scored on the same play when the Eustis outfield failed to come up with the ball. Averill tripled and scored when Lisa Gregory reached on an error to give the Lady Rams a 3-0 lead in the fifth.

Eustis managed only four hits off Watkins' high arch and the Lady Panthers committed six errors. Eustis only threatened once in the game, that being in the first inning when a runner reached third but failed to score. No Eustis runner made it past second base after the first inning as Lake Mary's tough defense took control of the game.

Oviedo baseball coach Howard Mable appears to be looking for a flaw in the baseball. Or, he could be trying to decide between lefty Dave Butterfield or right-hander Dwayne Johnson for today's semifinal District 3A-8 Baseball Tournament game at Leesburg.

Rusty Keeling walked with the bases loaded to force in Patrick Daugherty with the winning run as Adcock Roofing edged Seminole Ford, 9-8, Wednesday in Sanford Little American League action at Bay Ave. Field.

Trailing 8-7 going into the bottom of the fifth, Von Eric Small and Daugherty each singled for Adcock Roofing to load the bases with two outs. Bernard Mitchell walked to force in Small with the tying run and Keeling walked to force in the winning run.

Kyle Faulkner and Doug Spain halt two hits each for Seminole Ford while Daugherty and Jay Adcock had two hits each for Adcock Roofing. "Steady" Eddie Charles struck out the side in the bottom of the fifth and picked up the pitching victory in relief of Small while Spain suffered the loss for Seminole Ford.

In other action Wednesday, Tye Koke, Redman Ingram and Travis Pickens each rapped three hits as Flagship Bank routed Sanford Recreation, 14-5.

Flagship put the game out of reach in the sixth inning when it scored six runs. The key blows were two-run doubles by Ronald Cox and Keith Arinondi. Cox also had a big three-run homer in the fourth inning along with another double and a single. Ruben Blake had a double and a single and Arinondi also had two hits.

Mike Taylor had two of the six SRD hits and Troy Rollins clouted a home run. Cox picked up the mound victory while Anton Reid took the loss.

Dwayne Willis singled home two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning Wednesday night to lift Kiwanis past the Knights of Columbus in an exciting

Sanford Junior League game at Chase Park. In the first game, Moose clobbered the Elks, 18-5.

KOC jumped to a commanding lead in the first two innings by scoring eight runs. David Rape slugged a two-run homer in the first and Lawrence Aires followed with a two-run single for a 4-0 lead. In the second, Shelton Slater, Alonzo Gainey and Curtis Rudolph all chased home runs to push the lead to 8-0.

In the bottom of the second, Kiwanis started bouncing back. Harrison Hampton and Dexter Debose each singled home a run to cut the margin. Kiwanis added eight more tallies in the third as winning pitcher Arthur Hersey drove home two runs with a double while Pete Courias and Debose had RBI-singles. Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy capped the scoring with a two-run base hit to tie the game at 10-10.

After Willis' clutch single gave Kiwanis a 13-11 lead entering the sixth, losing pitcher Todd Revels stole home (Todd?) to pull KOC within one, but Hersey induced Gainey to pop out to second for the final out.

In the first game, Terry "The Cat" Miller drilled two home runs, one a grand slam, and drove in eight runs as Moose built an 18-0 lead and coasted home.

Miller ripped a three-run shot in the first after a single by John Lewis and a walk to Garry Derr. In the third, he tripled and in the fourth Miller slugged his grand slam after consecutive singles by Keith Denton, Lewis and Derr.

Miller was just as spectacular on the mound, limiting Elks to just two hits and striking out 12. The Elks scored five times in the fifth as Reginald Lawrence and Tony Smith had RBI-singles. Joey Sheehan was the losing pitcher.

Last Year Forgotten, Lady Hawks Paste Patriots

DELAND — Last year the Lake Howell Silver Hawks were favored to win the District 4A-9 Softball Tournament. They captured the first Five-Star Conference title in the school's history and went into the tournament a confident club.

Maybe too confident.

The Lady Hawks were upset by the no. 8 seed in the first round.

Lake Howell has another good team this year, and most of its girls have had a season to think about last year's disappointment. Coach Jo Luciano probably didn't need to remind them about it either.

With that in mind, the Silver Hawks broke loose for five runs in the third inning to blitz Lake Brantley, 9-1, in the first round of the district. Lake Howell was the lone Seminole County team to advance.

Today at 2, the Hawks take on DeLand, a 7-2 winner over Lyman. Seminole, seeded eighth after winning just one game during the season, was crushed by no. 1 seed Apopka, 13-0. Daytona Beach Mainland handled Spruce Creek, 7-3. Mainland will play powerful Apopka, also at 2 p.m., on field 2. The two winners play Friday for the title.

Lake Brantley jumped on the board first against Howell in the second inning when Dana Gebhardt singled to right with one out. Teresa Stever flied to center but Amy O'Brien reached on an error and Laura Davis walked to load the bases. Rhonda Vazquez followed with a base hit to score Gebhardt.

The Silver Hawks came back with a run to tie it when Eileen Thiebauth reached on an error and eventually scored on a single by Barbara Heim.

The Hawks slipped ahead for good in the third when Sandy Gillies walked and Mary Johnson singled. Judy Milholen popped out, but Erin Duffy lifted a short pop fly which dropped in the infield near the third-base line and scored Johnson for a 2-1 lead.

Lake Howell blew the game open in the third. Heim walked and Rose Fry reached on a miscue. Stacey Carpenter loaded the bases with an infield single. Beth Saunders hit a shot through the second baseman to score two runs and one out later, Johnson rapped a single to chase home two more. Milholen followed with a base hit for a 7-1 lead.

The tying came an inning later when Heim plated a run with a single and Fry drove in another with a healthy fly ball to right field.

The defensive gem came in the top of the seventh. Pinch-hitter Marsha Daubert doubled to open the inning. Sherry "Ice" Asplen hit a ground ball to third baseman Milholen who tossed to Fry for the out. Daubert tried to advance to second and Fry gunned her down for a twin killing.

Milholen went 3-for-3 and drove in one run. Johnson ripped two hits good for two RBI. Heim picked up the win, allowing just five hits. Gebhardt was nicked for nine and suffered the loss.

In the Seminole-Apopka game, the Tribe stayed fairly close, 5-0, until the flood gates opened in the fifth and the Blue Darters scored five runs to put the game out of reach.

Seminole's biggest scoring threat came in the seventh when Winnola Grigley walked and was forced at second by Alecia Dixon. Angie Carpenter walked and Dex Goebelbecker followed with an infield single to load the bases. Katie Barbour hit a hard liner to center but it was pulled in to end the Tribe's season.

Apopka pitcher Mary Holt survived a minor crisis in the fourth inning — her tongue was stuck in her braces — to pick up the win. Christy Gonzales, up from the Crooms Panthers, suffered the loss.

Lyman, meanwhile, ran into a well-drilled DeLand team which turned in several double plays to shortcircuit Lady Greyhound rallies. The Lady Bulldogs jumped to a 5-0 lead and never looked back.

Contrast Expected In 3A, 4A District

Conference and District are spelled differently, but that may be the only dissimilarity when the District 4A-9 teams get together Friday at Lake Howell. The prelims go at 3 p.m. with the finals at 7 p.m.

Daytona Beach Seabreeze, the only 3A smearer in the Five Star Conference, will be absent, but there shouldn't be too much difference in the final standings — with or without the Sand Crabs.

Both Lyman's girls and Mainland's boys were easy winners in last week's conference meeting at Lyman. Seminole's boys and girls ran second in each division and about the same is expected to happen this time around.

Lyman just has too much versatility with sprinter-hurdler Schowanda Williams, sprinter-jumper Lori Carroll and discus-thrower Angie French. Tom in a revived Anjanette Cleveland and you have a pretty solid package.

Mainland's boys can fly. Emerson Williams won the 100 and 220 dashes last week and Jeremiah Scott won the long jump and 120 hurdles. Seminole's Dion

Prep Track

Jackson hopes to reclaim the top spot in the long jump and win the triple jump, too, as he did in the conference.

Lake Howell's superb distance runner Keeny Cheeseman won the triple (880, mile and two mile) last week and can probably do it again if he attempts it.

While the 4A meet may not produce any changes, the 3A may be drastically different. Oviedo boys blew away the competition to win the Orange Belt Conference again, but they may have a rough go with nonconference Lake Mary at Lake Mary on Friday beginning at 5 p.m. with the prelims and the finals at 7 p.m.

The last time Oviedo and Lake Mary went head-to-head, the Lions pulled out a 12-point victory. "But," cautions Oviedo coach Ken Kroog, "Lake Mary ran without Pat Murray and he's worth 15 points."

Murray will make a difference this time and the absence of one of Oviedo's best all-around performers, Howard Lingard, could hurt the Lions, too. Lingard's brother passed away recently in Pennsylvania and his availability is unknown at this time. The talented junior won the 440, placed in the long jump and triple jump and helped the mile and medley relays to wins at the conference.

"I'd say Howard was worth from 10-15 points," said Kroog. "But we have other problems, too. Bill McCartney and J.W. Yarborough both have pulled hamstrings and we don't know how they'll be able to perform."

Two pluses Oviedo does have are sprinter Leonard Hadden and hurdler Danny Lott. Hadden will take on St. Cloud's dynamo Brent Fullwood in the sprints and Lott should take both hurdles, as he did in the conference.

Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson is looking for a solid showing from sprinters Murray and Charlie Lucarelli to claim the Rams' first district title. High jumper-hurdler Mike Rouse, distance ace Derek Tangeman and weightman Jeff Hopkins should help make up the 12-point difference. — SAM COOK.

Oviedo strongman Bobby Lomax unleashes.

Bucks Blow Away Boston's Garden

BOSTON (UPI) — It isn't normal for the Celtics to lose by 21 points at Boston Garden in the playoffs. But they did. The Milwaukee Bucks routed Boston 116-95 Wednesday in the opening game of their Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series. It was the Celtics' worst home playoff defeat since April 13, 1972 when they lost 116-94 to the New York Knicks.

"This is just one of those abnormal days," said Bucks veteran center Bob Lanier, who scored 21 points on 10-of-12 shooting and grabbed 10 rebounds. "Even at 34, you have abnormal days."

"This is a first for us," Bucks coach Don Nelson said. "We've beaten them before in here, but they've always been close games."

The results almost produced a first for Boston coach Bill Fitch.

"I don't drink, but this could drive me to it," Fitch said after his team shot 41 percent and his top three guards combined for 13-of-36 from the field. "It was a stinker. That's the best way to describe it."

Sidney Moncrief led Milwaukee's attack with 22 points, including 15 as the Bucks outscored Boston 62-47 in the second half.

Marques Johnson had 17 for the Bucks while Junior Bridgeman had 14, Brian Winters 13 and Paul Presley 10. Nate Archibald led the Celtics with 23 points while Parish added 20 and Larry Bird 17.

Game 2 is Friday night at Boston.

In other playoff games, Philadelphia tripped New York 98-91 and San Antonio crushed Denver 126-109.

first offering to left for a single. A passed ball moved the runners to second and third and Keith Wallace, the ninth hitter in the order, chopped a single over the third baseman's head to chase home both runs.

Oseola got the two runs back with two swings of the bat in the bottom of the second. Joe Chavel led off with a single up the middle and Danny Weber clouted a home run to left center to tie the game at 2-2.

With one out in the top of the third, Schmit blooped a single to left center and Rod Metz followed with a solid single between short and third. Schmit and Metz were stranded though as Barry Hysell flew out to left and Donald Grayson went down swinging for the third out.

The Kowboys took the lead for the first time with a single run in the bottom of the third. Darrell Jones led off with a single to right center and Sam Miles dropped a bunt down the first base line that Schmit couldn't make a play on. One out later, Bobby Kiser ripped a single to left and Oseola took a 3-2 lead.

Neither team scored in the fourth inning and the Rams staged a two-out threat in the fifth. Schmit and Metz both singled but Hysell popped up to second to end the inning.

Oseola had a threat of its own in the bottom of the fifth, but Schmit did a nice job in pitching out of the jam. With one out, Dan Tolly, Kiser and Chavel all singled to load the bases. Schmit then struck out Weber and caught Tom Chase looking at a third strike for the third out (it was the third time Chase was caught looking at a third strike).

Schmit's pitching display in the fifth fired up the Rams offense in the top of the sixth. With one out and a count of one ball and no strikes, Chase blasted a fastball well over the 325 mark in right field for his first homer of the year and a 3-3 tie in the game. Hill then reached on an error and Wallace's hot shot to third went through Weber's legs sending pinch runner John Gerry to third. Girdner was then taken out and Oseola went to Weber in relief. Scott Underwood greeted Weber with a deep fly ball to right center to score Gerry as the Rams took a 4-3 lead.

Oseola started its game winning rally with one out in the bottom of the sixth. Leo Peraza hit a slow grounder up the middle that Hysell cut out but made an errant throw and Peraza was safe on an error. Jones then dropped down a bunt that was hit hard enough that Schmit had a play at second. Schmit's throw, however, sailed and both runners were safe with still only one out.

Sam Miles followed with a perfect bunt single down the third base line to load the bases. Schmit quickly got behind the next hitter, Tolly, with three balls. Schmit settled down and battled back to make the count 3-2. The payoff pitch was wide, though, forcing in the tying run with still only one out. Kiser then knocked in the eventual winning run as he lifted a sacrifice fly to center field to score Jones.

Weber retired the side in order in the top of the seventh to send the Kowboys into the district semi-finals against Oviedo today at 4:30 p.m. at Leesburg.

Weber got the win in relief. Girdner went five and a third innings, struck out five and walked none. Schmit, struck out seven and walked only one for 10-11 Lake Mary.

"Nobody likes to lose the last one," Smith said. "I thought we played well the second half of the season and I think the team will move on and develop into a fine ballclub."

It was not only Smith's last game of the 1983 season, but his last game as head coach of the Rams. Allen Tuttle, the junior varsity coach at Lake Mary, will be the varsity mentor next season and Smith will go into administration.

Baseball Resumes Today

Lake Howell first baseman Vic Roberts goes up in the air to pull in a high throw and nail Lake Brantley's Scott Anez for the out. Lake Howell, which beat the Patriots, 4-2, goes against top-seeded Apopka today at 4:30 in the District 4A-9 Baseball Tournament at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Sophomore Jim Daniel will be on the mound for the Hawks while Steve Thomason goes for Apopka. In the other semifinal game, Lyman sophomore Derek Livernois goes against DeLand's Steve Woide at 7:30 p.m. The two winners meet Friday for the championship at 8 p.m.

Ryan Fans Mills To Break Record

MONTREAL (UPI) — Nolan Ryan, already the holder of baseball's career record of five no-hitters, broke Walter Johnson's all-time strikeout record Wednesday with a five-strikeout performance that raised his total to 3,509 and gave the Houston Astros a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The crowd of 19,309 roared as Ryan opened the eighth inning by striking out Tim Blackwell for his fourth strikeout of the game, tying him with Johnson's 3,508 total set in 1927. Moments later the crowd rose in a thunderous standing ovation when Ryan struck out pinch hitter Brad Mills for the record.

Dickie Thon and Phil Garner knocked in two runs apiece to give Ryan the offensive support he needed.

Ryan went eight innings raising his record to 2-1.

The Olympic Stadium crowd, which pushed the Expos' home attendance over the 20 million mark since they started here in 1969, was rewarded for its ovation when Ryan tipped his cap to acknowledge the tribute.

Ryan was replaced by pinch hitter Tony Scott leading off the ninth. He allowed five hits and walked one. Frank LaCorte pitched the ninth for his first save of the season.

Omar Moreno led off the game with a triple off Scott Sanderson, 3-1, and scored on Thon's sacrifice fly to left. Garner followed with his second home run of the year to put Houston ahead 2-0.

Montreal scored in the bottom of the inning as Tim Raines singled, stole second and went to third on a throwing error by catcher Alan Ashby. Raines came home on Andre Dawson's sacrifice fly.

Cardinals, 7, Dodgers 6
At St. Louis, Darrell Porter, who entered the game in the seventh, greeted reliever Steve Howe with an RBI single with one out in the eighth to lift the Cardinals. Bruce Sutter, 2-0, was the winner. Jose Morales' pinch two-run homer in the seventh had given Los Angeles a 6-5 lead before George Hendrick, who had a three-run homer earlier, tied the game in the bottom of the inning with an RBI single.

Giants 3, Pirates 2
At Pittsburgh, Milt May and Tom O'Malley had RBI singles and Darrell Evans added a solo homer in the sixth as San Francisco held off the Pirates. Bill Laskey, 1-4, went 7 1/3 innings before Gary Lavelle and Greg Minton finished up. Jason Thompson hit a two-run homer for the Pirates in the eighth.

Baseball Roundup

Mets 2, Reds 1
At Cincinnati, pinch-hitter Danny Heep hit a sacrifice fly in the ninth to help the Mets to their first road victory in 10 attempts. Mike Torrez, who drove in the Mets' first run with a single.

Cubs 5, Padres 4
At Chicago, Larry Bowa delivered an RBI double with one out in the 10th to lead the Cubs. Bill Campbell, 1-0, pitched the final two innings for the win.

Phillies 6, Braves 2
Atlanta, Dick Ruthven, 1-0, Porfi Altamirano and Ron Reed combined on a six-hitter as Philadelphia snapped the Braves' 10-game home winning streak. The Phillies scored two runs in the second off Phil Niekro, 0-2, an RBI single by Ivan DeJesus and an error, added two more in the sixth on run-scoring singles by Tony Perez and Garry Maddox and capped their scoring with Pete Rose's two-run single in the eighth.

Brewers 6, White Sox 2
The Milwaukee Brewers are starting to click a new pair of castanets.

"We're getting the big base hits, very good pitching and we're fielding very well," said Milwaukee manager Harvey Kuenn after the Brewers won their fourth straight game, a 6-2 decision over Chicago Wednesday night. "If pitchers get the big outs and batters get the big hits you're going to win some ball games."

Ben Oglivie cracked a solo home run and an RBI single to carry Milwaukee. Oglivie, who hit 34 homers for the defending American League champions last year, capped a two-run first inning with his single and hit his second homer in as many nights — and his second of the season — in the seventh.

"Things are picking up for us," said Oglivie. "We're playing sound baseball now and there's no reason we can't keep it going."

Rookie Tom Tellmann, 2-0, the second of three Milwaukee pitchers, registered the triumph. Tellmann worked 5 1/3 innings in relief of starter Jerry Augustine, who left the game in the second after he was hit by a line drive off the bat of Carlton Fisk. Rookie Bob Gibson went the final 2 1/3 innings to earn his first major-league save.

Chicago manager Tony LaRussa was impressed with the Brewers' diverse talents.

"You've got to like the Brewer ballclub," he said. "They have the power to hit the ball out of the park but they do so many other things well. They have speed and they know how to advance runners."

In the first, Ted Simmons delivered a two-out RBI single and, after Gorman Thomas walked, Oglivie singled home Simmons.

Twins 5, Indians 3
At Cleveland, John Castino's sixth homer of the season, a two-run shot, triggered a four-run eighth inning and sparked Minnesota. Reliever Al Williams, who took over with one out in the sixth and got Chris Bando to hit into an inning-ending double play.

Yankees 6, Royals 0
At New York, Bob Shirley scattered eight hits en route to his second career shutout and Steve Kemp singled in two runs to boost the Yankees. Shirley, making his first start since April 6 after signing with the Yankees over the winter as a free agent, allowed two hits in each of the first two innings and then held Kansas City at bay to even his record at 1-1.

Blue Jays 3, Rangers 2
At Arlington, Texas, Rance Mulliniks' double scored Garth Iorg from second base with one out in the top of the ninth inning to break a 2-2 tie and lift Toronto. Mulliniks went 3-for-4 and also had an RBI double in the seventh.

Red Sox 2, Mariners 1
At Seattle, Dennis Eckersley, 2-1, allowed five hits over eight innings and Boston scored its runs in the sixth inning on a sacrifice fly by Jim Rice and a throwing error by Seattle's Dave Edler.

Orioles 6, A's 0
At Oakland, Mike Flanagan, 3-0, and Sammy Stewart combined on a six-hit shutout and Gary Roenicke drove in three runs to propel Baltimore. The Orioles five runs in the sixth.

Angels 13, Tigers 3
At Anaheim, Calif., Fred Lynn and rookie Daryl Sconiers each hit grand slams to highlight a 16-hit attack and power the Angels. Lynn's second career grand slam and sixth homer of the year triggered a five-run Angel outburst in the third inning to end loser Milt Wilcox's scoreless string at 20 innings.

'Hard Times' Scheme Sets Wife Wondering

DEAR ABBY: The present economy (hard times) has hit us to the point where my husband has been voicing some rather bizarre ideas on how to make some money. His most recent scheme still has me reeling.

He suggested that we take out large amounts of life insurance on some of our relatives. We pay the premiums and name ourselves as sole beneficiaries. My husband had in mind insuring relatives who are either sick or elderly. In other words, those who probably won't have too many years left to live. One is my father!

I told my husband I would have no part in such a scheme. I also accused him of being insensitive and immoral. He said I was being silly — that his plan was something like "gambling." He assured me that my father would feel good about leaving me $50,000 or so when he died.

Abby, what kind of a man am I married to?

WONDERING IN MISSOURI

DEAR WONDERING: He is both naive and unrealistic — in addition to several other adjectives that come to mind.

One visit with an insurance salesman would straighten your husband out. An elderly and sick person who is not long for this world is not so easily insured. And please give your husband this message for me: "The saddest day in the life of a man is when he's sure he's discovered a way to make money without working for it."

DEAR ABBY: When I read about the woman who had been treated for herpes, and all that was wrong with her was an allergy to colored, scented toilet paper, I had to write.

I have been married for many years, but the first year of my marriage I was in and out of doctors' offices all the time. The itching and burning were unbearable! I thought maybe I was allergic to sex. I was told that I had "some kind of infection," but nobody told me what kind. The pain was so bad at times I could hardly walk.

Finally, a nurse asked me if I ever used colored toilet paper, and I told her yes. She told me to stop using it and see if that helped.

In less than one week after I switched to plain white, unscented toilet paper, I was 100 percent well again!

Now, whenever I see colored toilet paper in the home of a friend, I warn her. Many have thanked me and admitted that they also had that kind of trouble too, but never knew what caused it. Thanks, Abby. You did a lot of good with one letter.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I was amazed at the number of letters I received from readers whose experience was the same as yours. Thanks (all of you) for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 51-year-old advertising man who spends half his life on the telephone.

In the last two or three years, I find that when I identify myself to young women on the phone, they immediately begin calling me by my first name. I don't know their names and can't find out without making a specific request. These are the girls who want to be called "women," who resent being called "Miss," and who object to undue familiarity from male colleagues on the job.

Call me "Mister." OK? I'll call you "Ms."

ALL BUSINESS IN BOSTON

DEAR ALL BUSINESS: If being addressed by your first name rankles, omit your first name and introduce yourself as "Mr." Problem solved.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Theodore

Miss Collins, S.C. Theodore Repeat Vows

Katherine Jean Collins and Steven Craig Theodore were married March 26, at 6:30 p.m., at Winter Park Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Dr. Ken Schick performed the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Collins, Sanford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Theodore, Orlando.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown lavishly embellished with re-embroidered Venise lace. She carried a cascade of white silk sweetheart roses and miniature azaleas centered with a fresh Cattleya orchid.

Cathy Tedder served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of forest pink tulle with a matching chiffon cape. She carried a nosegay of miniature pink roses, azaleas, larkspur and baby's breath.

Bridemaids were Velta Golden and Christi Theodore. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Tim Ready served the bridegroom as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Todd Theodore, Frank Miller and Collin Hall.

The reception was held at the Winter Park Garden Club. Following a skilling wedding trip to Colorado the couple are making their home in Orlando. The bride is employed by Southern Bell and the bridegroom is employed by Gentry Associates Inc.

Bob Jones Dean's List

Kathleen Ann Stegner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Charles Stegner, 129 Altamonte Spings, is among the 58 Florida students at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., who made the Dean's List. She is a junior in the School of Religion.

Police Arrest 6 Persons On Drunk Driving Charge

The following people have been arrested in Seminole County on the charge of driving under the influence (DUI):

—Wayne Paul, 28, of 135 Hattaway Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested Monday at 11:01 p.m. after police observed him traveling at a high speed on State Road 434. He was charged with DUI and driving with an improper license plate.

—James Kremer, 44, of 1308 Lake Asher Circle, Apopka, was arrested at 4:32 a.m. Wednesday after he was observed traveling north in the southbound lane of Bear Lake Road. Kremer was charged with DUI, resisting arrest without violence and failure to sign the citation.

—Cathy Genevie, 27, Valrico, Fla., was arrested Wednesday at 3:30 a.m. on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford. She was charged with DUI, and refusal to sign the citation. Police said Ms. Genevie wouldn't dim her lights and was traveling about 60 miles per hour in a 45 mph zone.

—April Johnson, 37, of 222 Eldorado Drive, Debarry, was arrested at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday on Interstate 4 in Lake Mary. Police said Ms. Johnson drove off the road four times within two miles prior to her arrest.

—Russell Goempel, 19, of 919 Poplar Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 12:34 a.m. Wednesday on Howell Branch Road near Lake Ann Road. He was charged with DUI, disorderly intoxication, improper passing and resisting arrest without violence after police witnessed a near-collision involving Goempel's car. Police said a car ran off the road to avoid hitting Goempel as he was passing another vehicle. Police said Goempel was profane and abusive after his arrest and additional deputies had to be called to restrain him as well as a passenger in the car. The passenger, Catherine Rodarte, 21, of Rt 3, Oviedo, was charged with disorderly intoxication. Both were released on $500 bond.

—Ernest Baumeister, 35, was arrested at 12:20 a.m. Wednesday on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood. He was charged with DUI, driving with a suspended license and resisting arrest without violence after police observed him driving 67 miles per hour in a 50 mph zone.

Lake Mary Girl In Running For Florida House Page

Joy Austin, daughter of Mrs. Connie Austin, 2 Island Drive, Lake Mary, is being sponsored by state Rep. Art Grindie, R-Altamonte Springs, as a page in the Florida House of Representatives next week.

Joy is a ninth grader at Trinity Preparatory School and was chosen to represent her class in the Homecoming court.

She is a member of the pep team, and her hobbies include modeling, art and dancing. Joy also teaches Sunday School at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford.

Prisons Agency Can Be Sued

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A state appeal court has ruled that the Department of Corrections can be sued in certain cases when an inmate escapes and injures another person.

The suit arose after first degree murderer Franklin Delano Prince escaped for a second time in March 1978 and three months later kidnapped and shot Charles W. Smith during a robbery.

The court also rejected the department's claim that it was protected by sovereign immunity.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

More Vitamins Lost The Longer You Cook

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am concerned about the nutritional value of food like a quart of fresh or frozen vegetables when they reach the boiling point. How many minutes can they be cooked without destroying so many vitamins? What percent is left if cooked 30 to 45 minutes?

Which meat has the most protein or builders for red blood and muscles—beef, chicken or turkey? DEAR READER—The simple truth is that the longer you cook vegetables and fruits the more vitamins will be lost. The three vitamins most susceptible to cooking are vitamin C, thiamin and folic acid. Just preparing raw vegetables can cause a significant loss of vitamin C. Fortunately, the RDA (Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances) are high enough that reasonable food preparation will not result in vitamin deficiencies.

Just storing food will result in loss of vitamins in time. That also applies to frozen foods.

Water-soluble vitamins are lost during washing and soaking. This is a good reason not to soak foods and not to use a lot of water in preparing fresh vegetables.

You can help improve the vitamin content of your foods by saving and using the fluids from cooking or the drippings from meat.

I have included general guidelines about this problem in The Health Letter 20-8, How Food Processing Affects Nutritive Values, which I am sending you.

The protein in the various meats is about the same. Meats are a good source of complete protein and are important for your blood cells and muscles as well as for your whole body function. Pork contains more thiamine than the muscle from other meats. The heme iron which comes from animal tissues is a more effective iron source than iron from most other foods.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Often the specific qualitative need for various vitamins is based on the amount of protein, carbohydrate and fat an individual consumes. Furthermore, if the role of vitamins is primarily one of a catalyst then the logical deduction would be that someone on a diet would have a reduced requirement for vitamins. However, this does not appear to be the message conveyed in today's literature and advertising. Your comments please.

DEAR READER—Since one of the main functions of vitamins is as a catalyst, it means that they can be used over and over again. As you probably know, a catalyst merely facilitates a reaction and is supposed to be the same after the reaction as it was before the reaction. Vitamins are a catalyst to help your metabolic system break down foods to release the energy in the foods.

Your deductions are logical. But the body loses chemical efficiency in certain conditions, including during poor diets. However, the RDA (Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances) are set high enough to provide a good margin and in healthy people this amount is sufficient regardless of the number of calories consumed of fat, protein or carbohydrate.

Unless a person has a medical condition that increases vitamin requirements, there is seldom any reason to consume in food or pills more than the RDA values.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY APRIL 29, 1983

Joint interests and investments could be your areas of greatest opportunities this coming year. When persons in the know come to you with proposals, at least hear them out.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have what it takes today to inspire associates to step out and do things they know need doing. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Persons you meet for the first time today will be impressed by your warm and ingratiating manner. They'll be encouraged to develop a relationship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Stick to tasks or projects today which require a quick burst of energy rather than long, concerted effort. You'll have brief moments of brilliance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Because you'll be willing to run risks in areas others may shy away from, you could reap dividends today. However, don't press your luck too far.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things might not be all that quiet on the home front today. Unexpected drops are likely, but you'll relish playing the role of host or hostess.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can be remarkably resourceful today in situations about which you feel enthusiastic. More importantly, you'll know how to win support.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is a day when unusual situations could be engineered into something personally profitable. The results may be quite large.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you may be tempted to do otherwise, it's best to manage important situations yourself today. You're lucky when handling the helm.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Happenings could make you feel as though you are pressed in a corner today, but don't fret. You'll perform like a champion when your back is to the wall.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Pals who didn't seem to have time for you yesterday could be fawning all over you today. Relax, enjoy their company and let bygones be bygones.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Set your sights high today. Lady Luck will assist wherever she can to further your aims, provided you light the fuse.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Opportunity smiles on you today, but fleetingly. Rapid reactions will be necessary to capitalize on your luck. Avoid deliberating too long.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand layout showing North, South, West, and East cards and dealer information.

three hearts to score his game, so he led dummy's four of hearts at trick two.

East had been doing some thinking of his own while South was counting. He knew that South held no more than three hearts. One had to be the king. If another was the 10 it was as sure as death and taxes that South would play it on East's nine. If West held that 10, however, then East's nine and jack were equals, and a little bit of false-carding seemed to be in order.

East played his jack of hearts! South's king held the trick and now South led his ten of hearts. It lost to East's ace, as expected, and back came a spade.

South's side entries in dummy were gone, but South thought he was on safe ground for three heart tricks.

He never got even a second heart trick. He came to his hand with a diamond, led his three of hearts, finessed dummy's eight against the nine spot he was sure was over in the West hand and went down two.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

South didn't appreciate the spade lead. The defense had started to attack his most vulnerable spot. He could count two spades, three diamonds and one club as his immediately available tricks. It looked as if he would need
