FARM STRIKE DATA LACKING AT CAPITAL

Johnson Terms Events As Natural Result, Predicting Fears Will Be Wiped Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Official circles were unadvised early this afternoon as to the outcome of a mid-western farm strike which Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, had called for today.

Almost at the same time the strike order was issued, President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet were gathered to discuss a plan to offer crop loans to farmers.

The strike was set for noon today as a climax in protest against low prices of farm products which already caused Gov. William Langer of North Dakota to order an embargo on wheat shipments.

As Reno, the militant leader of the farm strike movement, issued from St. Paul to Omaha to obtain support of business men for the movement and then to Des Moines to look over the Iowa situation.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska extended his sympathy to the purposes of the strike, and Gov. A. G. Chalmers, of Wisconsin, pledged his administration to assist in a forceful but dignified demand which will immediately get agriculture in Wisconsin on the road to restoration to its former high position.

The Omaha business men with whom Reno conferred acceded to his request with the pledge: "In the sense of this meeting that we favor guaranteeing the farmer cost of production."

To fortify his embargo against Gov. Langer ordered North Dakota sheriffs to stop shipments of wheat from the state by refusing to permit elevators in land grain.

Railroads resisted to serve the order, contending that federal laws governing interstate commerce demanded that they ship shipments of grain when offered.

The administration at Washington was concerned over the restlessness in the middle west and the situation was discussed at length in the cabinet meeting. The White House afterward gave out word that there would be no change in the government's policy seeking to bolster prices of farm commodities.

Secy. Wallace of agriculture said that "we may have something to announce shortly."

Specifically, the cabinet talked of making available federal loans to farmers which would enable them to hold their crops during the period of sagging prices.

Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, in a statement on the Nebraska farm situation to which attention was called by the resignation of Keith Neville, president of the state recovery board, said: "The recent events in the mid-west are more or less natural."

He added that when the full program of the recovery plan is in operation he was "quite sure that the forebodings expressed in the recovery enunciations will prove unfounded."

NRA Program In Farm States Termed "Tragic Failure" By Ex-Head Of Nebraska Body

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The NRA program in agricultural states yesterday was called a "tragic failure" by Keith Neville, a former governor who stood pat on his resignation as chairman of the state NRA board.

Meanwhile, Governor Bryan, also a Democrat, declared the farm strike is as justified as attempts to confine buying to blue eagle signers.

Farm holiday association leaders of the midwestern state announced Nebraska farmers would join in the nationwide strike, and every effort would be made to conduct it in orderly manner.

"No good purpose will be served by my continuing as chairman of state recovery board. No greater service can be rendered the public than bringing the administration to realize that in agricultural states the NRA is a tragic failure. Prices of farm commodities must be raised and men must be put to work through the public works program."

Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, asked Neville to reconsider his resignation, but Neville refused.

Bryan commented: "I do not believe the farmer could be criticized for withholding grain from the market in order to get better prices any more than the recommendations from Washington that the public should confine their buying only to those who signed the NRA."

"I could not approve any physical interference with those moving their crops to market who desire to, and I hope no such plan is contemplated or will be attempted," he added.

The governor explained he did not intend to criticize President Roosevelt's administration, and that he was directing his attack against "the profiting of the masses by organized business."

He said he wanted a soldiers' bonus paid immediately in new currency.

TAXES ON BEER BRING NATION 74 MILLIONS OFFICIAL NOTE OF NAZI ACTION GIVEN LEAGUE

Treasury Report For 6 Month Period Shows Huge Sum Collected On Legal Product

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—In the first six months of 1933, $4,161,000,000 of taxes on beer and liquor were collected by the Treasury by $74,000,000.

This was disclosed yesterday in the publication of Treasury figures bringing national revenue collections up to Oct. 1 in addition to the tax on beer and liquor.

The statistics also showed that the national revenue on beer and liquor for the first six months of 1933 was $4,161,000,000, an increase of 15% over the corresponding period of a year ago.

For the month of September, the Treasury reported that it collected $688,000,000 of beer and liquor taxes, an increase of 15% over the corresponding month of a year ago.

Of the latter total, $400,000,000 was accounted for by beer and $288,000,000 by liquor.

When the national revenue on beer and liquor for the first six months of 1933 is compared with the corresponding period of a year ago, it is found that the total revenue on these two commodities has increased by 15%.

The increase in revenue on beer and liquor is due to the fact that the price of these commodities has risen since the beginning of the year.

The Treasury also reported that it collected $1,100,000,000 of taxes on other commodities for the first six months of 1933, an increase of 10% over the corresponding period of a year ago.

Speedy Recognition Of Russia Predicted As Boon To Business

Text Of Weighty Letters To Russia To U. S.

"My Dear Mr. President: Since the beginning of my administration I have always considered the desirability of replacing the present abnormal relation between the hundred and twenty-five million people of the United States and the hundred and sixty million people of Russia."

"It is most regrettable that these great peoples between whom a happy traditional friendship has existed for more than a century in their mutual advantage, should now be without a practical method of communicating directly with each other."

"The difficulties that have created this anomalous situation are not in my opinion insurmountable and can be removed only by frank and friendly conversations."

"If you are of similar mind I am sure that we can explore with me personally all the possibilities of such a solution in the absence of such relations."

"I shall take the further liberty to express the opinion that the abnormal situation to which you allude is not in my view a correct one and that it should be corrected as soon as possible."

"I am sure that you will be glad to see the United States and Soviet Russia will evoke far greater representations in the Far East than in Europe."

"These experts on political trends believe that the most important immediate effect will be to bridge Japanese expansion on the mainland of Asia, so China's expense so far but possibly at Russia's in North Manchuria and Siberia, unless checked."

Many foreign affairs experts have gone further than this and surmise that the recent swing of the Asiatic balance of power in favor of Russia will be followed by a similar swing in the United States.

The move probably will not prove entirely popular in Europe as capitals in view of her recent strengthened friendship with Moscow following the rise of Nazi Germany, France may be looking among the major powers in looking favorably upon this reinforcement of Russia's world position.

At the same time in Moscow the exchange was made public. It was the first time since the overthrow of the czarist regime in 1917 that the press organs of the two great nations had been in direct communication.

Russia had long been to world peace and better trade relations the agreement with the United States to negotiate a non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union.

Events moved swiftly after President Kalinin announced he had accepted an invitation from President Roosevelt dated Oct. 10, and added he would send Foreign Commissioner Litvinoff to Washington. Plans are being rushed for Litvinoff to depart for the United States within a very few days.

Government officials gathered meanwhile in Washington conversations which would be centered around the subject of trade relations with the Soviet Union.

NEW BANK LAWS LABOR TROUBLES ARE TOO VAGUE PREDICTED SOON MORGAN STATES ALL OVER SOUTH

Acts Should Be Obeyed However, Financier Says Upon Return

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—F. Morgan back from Europe says he doesn't know what the new banking law means.

He arrived on the island yesterday and greeted a group of reporters on the beach, saying he has never done so before.

Stepping back on a deck chair in his suite as the boat steamed from quarantine to its dock, the banker crossed his knees, fished his hands and puffed on a Meersbaum pipe.

"When I went away three months ago," he related, "I didn't know what the new laws meant and that we would have to find out from them do what we are supposed to do."

The comment was given in reply to a question as to whether he felt private bankers would have to conform to the new laws.

"It is the business of banks to obey the law but I don't know what that means," he said.

Another banker had stated, he was told that the new law was "impossible and would have to be rewritten."

"If it makes banking impossible," Morgan said, "then it is hardly worth while to have banking, is it?"

He was in a high good humor as he listened to a series of questions that he wouldn't answer. Sometimes he waved his hand and said, "I can't answer that because I don't know what has been going on in America." Sometimes he just chuckled.

WALL STREET TO EASE CREDIT FOR SOVIET BUSINESS

Banks Also Ready To Make Loans Direct To Amtorg Company

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—With the announcement of the first meeting Roosevelt-Litvinoff negotiations, it was learned last night that several Wall Street banks are preparing to ease credit immediately for increased Soviet sales by discounting acceptances of the Amtorg Trading Corporation.

In addition to discounts some thing that Wall Street has chafed away from since the Soviet repudiation of debts, it was learned the banks stand ready to make loans direct to Amtorg, the Russian trading agency.

One of the biggest of the financial institutions has already indicated several such instances, on credit in trade with the Soviet Union.

Washington conversations will lead to a heavy extension of federal credit.

Among those who have traded with the Soviet Union in the past, the view was held that it is not too much to expect that sales through the next few years should again reach the peak period of 1930 when America exported $1,500 million to the value of $1,122,000,000 to Russia.

In 1932, the United States exports totaled only slightly more than $15,000,000.

Merchants Invited To Attend Meet To Consider Proposed "Sales Day"

Merchants of this city today were appealed to by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to attend a special merchants' meeting at the City Hall at 1:00 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon where they might indicate whether or not they are in accord with plans to stage a "NRA Sales Day" celebration in Sanford on Thursday, Nov. 2.

The affair has been in process of development for some time but its sponsors now are of the opinion that either merchants do not wish they are not fully aware of what it contemplates as a business stimulator.

25 Million Alloted For National Defense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration today alloted $25,000,000 to the army and navy for national defense.

The War Department received $10,000,000 for motorization, the program calling for the substitution of motor cars for horse power in non-combat service branches.

The sum of $15,000,000 is apportioned between the two departments for a nation construction. Further study is being made of the proposal that the War Administration finance a more extensive airplane program submitted by the department.

Probably Mistaken

A federal court in New York, with admiralty jurisdiction, was the scene recently of unprecedented litigation in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages from a steamship line on the allegation that one of its vessels failed to heed his cries of help, while adrift in a little open boat, and that as a result he was blown about in the open sea, the exposure to which brought on permanent disability.

The case is interesting both from the point of view of jurisdiction and from its bearing on traditions of the sea which have developed for centuries. The judge, in commenting on the case, said the complainant "had no status as a member of the crew of the steamship, but as a passenger, such as members of the steamship's crew or its passengers would have had. Uding a beggar, as an analogy, the judge contended: 'It may be my duty, if I see a beggar in need, to give him something, but if I don't, and he dies for lack of food, I cannot be held legally responsible.'

There is no law governing such cases, only the unwritten law of the sea which has always made seafaring men the quickest and most willing responders to appeals for help. And in this instance it is hard to believe that the allegations of heartless unheeding of the man's cries were true.

The ship in question was the Conte Blancamano of the Italian line and the contention was made that it passed so close to the drifting boat that passengers on deck conversed with its occupant. Despite the fact, it was flying distress signals, the big ship refused to stop, leaving him to an uncertain fate, so the complainant contends.

The shipping line had something to say in defense. It reminded the court that the plaintiff admitted he was in a semi-conscious condition at the time and that he first named another boat as the one which passed him by. It was also brought out that none of the passengers mentioned any such incidence when the customary interviews were had with reporters, who boarded the ship at quarantine.

We rather incline to the opinion that the complainant was mistaken, for in all maritime history there has not been a case reported where a ship deliberately failed to bring succor when it was possible, without undue danger to ship or passengers.

"They Can't Take It"

We sometimes hear people remark on the number of deaths which are occurring during the depression, giving the impression that because of the stress and strain of hard times the human body breaks down. It is true that the death list among notable men has been unusually large during the past few years but this fact does not form an accurate basis upon which to form the conclusion that increased mortality is a counterpart of depression.

As a matter of fact statistics compiled in England, a country much harder hit than our own, reveal that the health of the nation has improved and that the mortality rate has decreased. There is nothing to indicate that economic depression has proved so hygienically harmful as might be suspected.

On the other hand the figures over there show that suicides have increased and, although the facts are not available for this country, it is generally conceded that our rate of increase will exceed England's.

These statistics offer an interesting insight into the quality of human character and its reaction to material circumstances. They show that physically we are all getting along just as well or better than ever before, but that mentally we have suffered severe reverses. We have injured our nerves and worried destroy the proper balance between mind and body, until in some cases the thought of self destruction has overtaken and captured some. It is this aspect of the depression which is the saddest one of all, and it is fittingly described by a modern slang expression: "They can't take it."

STRIKE WAVE IS FACTOR IN DROP OFF IN TRADING

Apparent Calm On Top Of Business Tended Concealing Truths

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The major factor which is contributing to the perceptible slackening in trade, it has intimatedly been pointed out, is the strike wave in some industries virtually to a point of cessation, and preventing the rate of others from being advanced.

Dun & Bradstreet characterizes the apparent calm on the surface of business as misleading and one of the opinion that it conceals underlying currents beneath, which are destined to provide the needed agitation to push the wave of recovery nearer its goal.

These currents center chiefly around a more extensive control of labor, the releasing of deposits frozen in banks since March, the spending of some $3,000,000,000 for public works, and closer cooperation of banking institutions with the Administration to liberate funds to manufacturers and merchants. It is pointed out "for the difficulty of obtaining bank accommodations, despite the growing reserves lying unproductive in vaults, is being reflected in the cessation of industries to absorb additional workers and the inability of the public to continue buying goods at the high rate re-

END FIVE YEAR PLAN HAS FAILED IN THREE CASES

Heavy, Light Industry, Railroads Behind Planned Schedule

MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—Results of the first six months' operation of the Soviet Union's second five-year plan show that the three most important branches of industry have failed to measure up to the program.

Despite the fact that the general industrial plan for 1933 was much more ambitious than that for the preceding year, official figures show heavy industry, light industry and railroads substantially behind schedule.

Heavy industry, however, had the satisfaction of seeing a 7.4 percent gain in production compared to the same period in 1932.

Light industry, in which a wide increase was contemplated so as to give the populace daily needed manufactured goods such as clothing and household items, bettered last year's output by less than 10 percent.

Transportation fell behind its 1932 mark on the basis of car loadings.

Heavy industry carried out only 42 percent of the full year's production program, when its accomplishment would have been 67 percent; its troubles were attributed chiefly to shortcomings in iron and steel, although virtually every major branch was unable to accomplish its program.

Light industry production for the six months amounted to 39 percent of the year's schedule of 3,000,000 tons, although it showed an increase over the first half of 1932 of 7.3 percent.

Coal output reached 42.8 percent of the program of 81,000,000 tons for the whole year but it too, gained 3.9 percent over last year.

Machine building, which includes the tractor, automobile and agricultural combine factories, fulfilled 34.4 percent of the plan for the year of 50,000,000 rubles. Basic chemical manufacture reached 43.9 percent of the plan, non-ferrous metals 31.1 percent and building materials 57.7 percent.

Harlow, Tracy Combine Talent In Milane Film

For the first time Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy—two of the pic- ture world's most colorful per- sonalities—are starred together in the "Bombshell," the picturization of Hollywood film life which opens Sunday at the Milane Theater. Directed by Victor Fleming, veteran master of camera beauty, "Bombshell" presents one of the most unusual and hilariously hu- morous pictures that have come out of Hollywood. Jean Harlow as Lola Burns is a sensational and glamorous film star who has become made famous by the genius of her press agent, Lee Tracy. It is this publicity that plunges Miss Harlow into all of the woe that beset her throughout the action of the screen story—her headline love affairs, her revolve with the studio executives, her worries with her trouble making family and the additional woes heaped upon her by movie-crazed fanatics. The supporting cast is unform- ily excellent, featuring such com- petent players as Frank Morgan, Franchot Tone, Pat O'Brien, Una Merkel, Ted Healy, Ivan Lebedeff, Isobell Jewell, Louise Beavers, Leonard Carey, Mary Forbes, C. Aubrey Smith and June Brewster.

Mrs. Loucks Hostess At Afternoon Party

Gold and brown were the colors predominating in decorations and appointments at the bridge party given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Earle T. Loucks at her home in Pinehurst in honor of a number of her friends. Marigolds and cosmos, accentuating the chosen color motif, were arranged in vases and bowls about the rooms. Bridge games were enjoyed throughout the afternoon on the card tables overlaid with brown organza covers outlined in gold. High score prize, a gold colored sodam dish, went to Mrs. W. A. Adams while second high score prize, silk hose, was given to Mrs. M. S. Wiggins. Mrs. John Meisch, Jr. was lucky in cutting and received a pair of hose. At a late hour a salad and sweet course, also in gold and brown, was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward S. McCall, Mrs. Byron Stephens, and Mrs. Arthur Branan. Those present were: Mrs. W. A. Leffler, Mrs. B. D. Caswell, Mrs. C. W. Baker, Mrs. R. R. Deas, Mrs. H. B. Pope, Mrs. W. A. Adams, Mrs. Byron Stephens, Mrs. A. C. Chamorlain, Mrs. Arthur Branan, Mrs. G. J. Loucks, Mrs. Andrew Carraway, Mrs. M. S. Wiggins, Mrs. Edward S. McCall, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Jr., Mrs. John Meisch, Jr., Mrs. Wallace W. Bell, Mrs. E. M. Warren, Mrs. W. D. Gardner, Mrs. H. E. Morris, and Mrs. R. L. Cornett.
