

'Hap' Arnold Was A Pioneer Leader In Fight For U. S. Air Supremacy

NEW YORK (AP)—General Hap Arnold, dead at 63, once almost got the U. S. Army to make the carrier of the general airman who never lived a gun in his hand but commanded the mightiest air force in history—the glider-borne U. S. Army Air Force in the second world war.

The only sound he offered at the world war—his personal action to further the cause of the Army Air Force in the early days of the war.

Yet the American Air Force today stands as a monument to his pioneer courage and his leadership in the development of the glider-borne U. S. Army Air Force in the second world war.

As a young flier Arnold got his wings in the Army Air Corps in 1917. He was one of the first to fly solo. He was one of the first to fly solo. He was one of the first to fly solo.

In 1915 he commanded the Air Force that opposed a new Air Force that would have been a force of 10,000 planes.

The Air Force that he led in 1915 was a force of 10,000 planes. It was a force of 10,000 planes. It was a force of 10,000 planes.

More than 1,200 lives were lost in catastrophes - accidents in which five or more are killed - during 1949 in the United States, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The death toll was higher by about 160 than in 1948.

Although the Washington, D. C. plane collision in November resulted in the heaviest loss of life in a single crash in United States history - 55 deaths - civilian air transportation recorded only a slightly higher number of deaths than in 1948.

Increases were shown in 1949 over 1948 in the number of catastrophic deaths from motor vehicle accidents, fire and explosions, and from such natural disasters as tornadoes, floods, and blizzards. There were fewer deaths in major water transportation accidents, and no catastrophic accidents in mines.

Accidents taking 25 or more lives in the United States last year, ranked according to loss of life were:

Ettingham, Ill. hospital fire, April 3	75
Chainlike tornadoes in Arkansas and Louisiana, Jan. 3	69
(60 deaths in Warren, Ark.) Washington, D. C. scheduled transport plane collision with fighter plane, Nov. 1	55
California uncontrolled transport plane crash, Nov. 29	29
Blizzard, mountain states, Jan. 2-4	28

An Associated Press survey reveals that payroll alone for political jobs in the various subdivisions of government cost $2,000,000,000 (22 billion dollars) a year. And it takes 7,655 persons employed in government to perform that work.

Senator Pepper is quoted by the Tampa Times as saying that he can speak to Congress for the Smathers again on the subject of an announcement for the Senate last Thursday. We imagine Smathers would be glad to do so. However, doesn't it show something of Senator Pepper's character when he says he will not speak to a man who once spent him for office, who dares to differ with him on matters of high governmental policy? A truly big man would come questioning, and would be added this year to the Washington payroll.

Farmer Secretary of State James F. Brynes, when President Roosevelt was asked to sign the executive order, announces his candidacy for governor of South Carolina to succeed the present Governor, Strom Thurmond, who is running for the States Rights candidate for President in 1948.

When I left the office of the national government in 1947, I was told, "I fully intended not to return to actual participation in political affairs until I had seen the trend of political events caused me to express my views of political affairs in the state and nation." The policies were the Civil Rights bill and the Socialist trend in Washington.

If you want to vote in the coming Democratic primary for United States Senate, you will have to re-register, no matter how long you may have registered here in the past. A new law requires that anyone in Seminole County who has not re-registered, and who shall have to re-register, and you will not be allowed to vote in the next election if you don't. This does not apply to city elections, and the Socialist trend in Washington.

Martin Anderson slips up some punchy sayings in his column "Today". They are: "You cannot bring about property by dragging things." "You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong." "You cannot help the wage slave by pulling down the wage slave." "You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred."

How can we help the poor by destroying the job? "You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money." "You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn." "You cannot build character and success by having every man's hand on every man's pocket."

"You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they can do for themselves." "All of them are covered by Abraham Lincoln. They can be remembered (during financial calamities).

New Delhi - Prime Minister Jawahar Nehru's government has rejected a superior offer to the war-torn state of India. Nehru is not an auspicious date for launching the republic of India.

The government of India, without consulting the states that constitute the republic, is being launched at a most inauspicious time and under most unfavorable conditions.

The new state will come into being under a heavy burden of external pressure. The problems confronting the government are complex and unworkable.

Nevertheless, India's leaders say, the new state will come into being under a heavy burden of external pressure. The problems confronting the government are complex and unworkable.

The clouds that hang over the future of India are so many and so difficult to dispel that it is difficult to see a bright future. There are some of the more serious aspects of the situation.

India's dilemma is a complex one. It is a dilemma that has been inherited from generations past. It is a dilemma that is being inherited by the new state.

Hoffman Declares Aid To Europe Is First Line Defense

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Paul G. Hoffman today called the Marshall Plan "a first line of defense for western civilization."

Hoffman, Economic Cooperation Administrator and director of the Marshall Plan, pictured the aid program as "a combatant in the cold war with Russia."

He addressed the Poor Richard Club upon receipt of that organization's medal of achievement. Hoffman was described in a club citation as the "20th century patriot of Benjamin Franklin." Franklin is the patron saint of the club.

Hoffman said that when Vyacheslav Molotov walked out of the ECA organization meeting in 1947 "it was a declaration of a cold war. It was a declaration of war by world Communism against recovery in the free world."

"It appears that ECA today is not what it started out to be. It is much more than that."

"ECA has become not only a first line of defense for western civilization, but an instrumentality for advancing the cause of freedom not only America's freedoms and America's free institutions, but freedom and free institutions everywhere."

"To regard ECA as any less than that is to reveal a pitiful lack of knowledge about the meaning of the word 'war.'"

Hoffman's address was based on theoretical plan in Franklin to accept the principles of foreign aid.

"We have had a way in our history of doing the right thing for no other reason than that it was the right thing."

"And this desire on our part has been above selfishness and above self-interest. From the very beginning Americans had a sense of mission about America. They believed that the great and good society which they were founding here was not for their own good only, but for the good of all mankind."

Rotary Meeting

Mr. Dawson outlined the various steps in building a home from the acquisition of the property, and the hiring of an architect, and the securing of bids to the actual financing. He said that one of the first things any mortgage company wants to know before it decides to enter a town is what kind of taxes the home owners have to pay, and he said that homestead exemption is a very important factor but he cautioned against the imposition of other types of tax which reduce the ability of the home owner to meet his mortgage payments.

He also discussed the opportunities for jobs which exist in a community and the importance of being able to find another job when the present one is lost, the importance of resale values, the need for an adequate and dependable labor supply, the importance of quality in building materials and of reliable contractors. A number of facts are taken into consideration, he said, before the loan is made.

George Tully presided over the meeting. Visitors were introduced by Dr. W. W. Spiss as John Grant of Ft. Meade, Md. and Ledy Lawson of Ireland.

Americans, I don't believe that Franklin would stop a plan that should be carried through for its full four years.

"In all its long life it never got a job half done."

"To regard ECA as any less than that is to reveal a pitiful lack of knowledge about the meaning of the word 'war.'"

Hoffman's address was based on theoretical plan in Franklin to accept the principles of foreign aid.

12,000 Persons Ordered To Leave Mississippi Area

By Associated Press

The Army Engineers and the Red Cross ordered 12,000 persons to get out of a low floodway today as emergency plans went into effect to fight the biggest Mississippi flood threat in 18 years.

Forty army trucks from Charleston, Mo., rolled to the north end of the floodway, a gap between New Madrid and Birds Point, Mo. They were to pick up residents of that area.

"That is where a levee plug may be needed out. Muchly river waters will then flow into the low basin area. This will relieve the pressure on the river dikes downstream."

The decision to dynamite the plug was yet to be made. Engineers said the evacuation order was precautionary.

The floodway is 136,000 acres in extent.

The rain-swollen tributaries of the great river have made it rise slowly up its levees.

The Wabash and the Ohio Rivers were rising today. Swearing crews sandbagged in southern Indiana and Illinois to keep their levees walls above the lapping river crests.

Vincennes, Indiana, expects a flood crest of 24 1/2 to 26 feet by Friday. Army Engineers say they may save the town from inundation if the crest doesn't go above 30 feet.

The normal flood bulwarks are 25 feet high. Schoolbays helped other volunteers in sandbagging.

Hundreds are homeless—some of them quartered in box cars in Illinois, Indiana, and Arkansas. The victims are from the banks of the Wabash, the Little Wabash, and the Illinois shore of the Ohio. Snow-bound residents of northern Michigan plodded around in the mud. The Ohio River, swollen by rain, clouds, and drizzle, covered most of Texas but temperatures there were from the upper 40s to the 60s.

Young Mother Is Freed By Court Of Hatchet Murder

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A 23-year-old mother has come out of a long, horrible dream caused by the birth of her daughter.

While still in that dream world, called a post partum (after child birth) psychosis, Mrs. Jacqueline Marie Steinhauser was accused of slaying her 2-year-old baby, hatching him 51 times with a Boy Scout hatchet.

Yesterday Essex County Judge Joseph E. Conlon set aside a murder indictment against Mrs. Steinhauser on the advice of six psychiatrists and assistant county prosecutor Edward Gaultin.

They said she now is "completely recovered" and recommended her discharge from Trenton State hospital for the insane.

Mrs. Steinhauser has no recollection of the bloody scene in the kitchen of her home last year that ended in the death of her father, Edward A. McMahon, the state psychiatrist testified.

The doctors said her mental illness was caused by the birth of her daughter, Barbara Anne, last May. She suffered a type of amnesia from that time until she became aware of "waking up in the state hospital" after electric shock treatment, they said.

In setting aside the indictment, Judge Conlon said if Mrs. Steinhauser were brought to trial she would be entitled to acquittal on the ground that she was legally insane at the time of the slaying.

Truman-Congress

The coalition had grabbed the ball with a move for a quick vote in the House.

Meanwhile backers of straight-out repeal of oleomargarine taxes today beat a daily state substitute, 48 to 37, in a Senate test.

The margin indicated the oleomargarine repealer had control of the Senate and eventually would pass through their measure, already passed by the House.

Whose state is a big dairy producer, planned an effort to tack "civil rights" amendments to the repealer.

Debate on these could run at length and perhaps lead to defeat of the measure.

In the perhaps front, the Truman administration today asked Congress to expand the social security program to cover practically all employed persons—a broader extension than the House voted last year.

It also asked that benefits be increased more than the House bill provides.

These desires were outlined to the Senate Finance Committee by Arthur J. Altmeyer, the Social Security Administrator. He was the first witness at hearings expected to last 60 days.

Altmeyer also urged a bigger tax take for social security. He recommended that the tax be levied on the first $4,000 of a worker's annual income.

Under present law, the tax now is 1 1/2 percent (but will rise in later years) and applies to the first $2,000 of income. The House bill would apply it to the first $3,000.

On coverage, the present figures are those of the present law is $10 a month and the minimum around $15. Under the House bill, these figures would rise to $25 and $31 respectively for those already drawing benefits. For those who began drawing benefits later, the maximum would be $20 to start, but this would rise slowly, year-by-year to $41.

Sanford Schools To Celebrate Arbor Day

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 17.—(Special)—At least five schools in Seminole County will join with over 200 Florida schools in the observance of Arbor Day on Friday, January 20.

According to State Forester C. H. Conner, about 150 schools are planting trees and seedlings supplied by the Florida Forest Service. 20 schools in deep South Florida are planting tropical tree seedlings, and many others are planting trees secured locally. He said this observance of Arbor Day will exceed that in any recent years.

The schools to hold Arbor Day programs in Seminole County include: Lyman High School, Lake Mary Junior High School, Goldboro Primary School, Midway School, Sanford public schools.

One of the National Basketball Association's officials this year is Morris Aronovitch, ex-National League baseball slugger.

Hockey teams use about 750 hockey sticks a season.

Peruvian Teacher Visits State Colleges

LAKELAND, Jan. 17.—(Special)—Dr. Sofia Buckley, 1921, the oldest university in the Western Hemisphere.

While in this state she will also visit the University of Florida, Florida State University, Rollins College and the University of Miami. She then will tour Northern high schools, colleges and universities.

She is the principal of a girls high school in Lima, Peru, is visiting Florida Southern College here as part of a survey of American systems of education.

Despite her youth, the attractive Miss Buckley holds a Doctorate in Education degree from the University of Lima, founded in 1651, the oldest university in the Western Hemisphere.

While in this state she will also visit the University of Florida, Florida State University, Rollins College and the University of Miami. She then will tour Northern high schools, colleges and universities.

Saar Dispute

(Continued from Page One) went on, came only after France made a number of concessions, including agreeing to a slowdown of industrial dismantlement in West Germany.

Meanwhile in Berlin potential German unrest over the Saar loomed larger today as both France and West Germany stubbornly claimed special rights over the coal-rich border area.

France, occupying the 738-square-mile area and holding special trade and economic privileges there, is reportedly seeking to lease the Saar's valuable coal mines for 50 years.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a news conference yesterday he disagreed with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman on "many points" including French coal rights in the Saar. The Saar and its coal mines belong to West Germany, he declared.

The question of future control of the Saar, raised during Schuman's so-called goodwill visit to Germany, was brought into the open old bitterness between France and Germany. And it fanned the propaganda war between East and West Germany.

It had repercussions in London where sources close to the British government said the proposal to lease Saar coal mines to the French might "prejudice" the French peace treaty when it is finally written. Both Adenauer and Schuman agreed that the Saar's future would not be determined until the peace treaty is concluded, but in the meantime the French seemed set on developing their present economic union with the semi-autonomous Saar government which rules 80,000 Saarlanders.

Coal Walkouts

About 50,000 Pennsylvania soft coal diggers are staying at home out of the state's total of 100,000. Authorized bands of pickets extended the two Cambria County pits and strike into central Pennsylvania three in Indiana County were forced to close. The Cambria mines are owned by Bethlehem Steel Company.

In Elk County, Pennsylvania, a $75,000 steam shovel was damaged at a strip (surface) mine in a mysterious dynamite explosion. Owner Harry W. Finly of Pittsburgh said the mine had not been in operation recently.

Twenty state policemen were brought into the county to supplement a six man force detailed to patrol main roads. There have been numerous reports of roving pickets in the area.

One district official of the United Mine Workers is striving to get the miners back at work in line with UMW president John L. Lewis' suggestion they end their strike.

District four president Cecil J. Urbank called officers of 110 local unions to a Thursday meeting at Monongah, W. Va. He expressed confidence that when miners understand the program of the union they will return to work.

About 10,500 West Virginia miners are out in the strike which began a week ago yesterday over dissatisfaction with the UMW's inability to obtain a new contract.

Even as Urbank spreads the word of his meeting, miners formed new picket bands to spread idleness throughout the West Virginia field. Their numbers were swelled by pickets from adjacent Pennsylvania.

In western Pennsylvania, where 47,000 of the district's 55,000 miners stopped work, a mass meeting of miners was called at Brownsville Thursday. Committeeman Althons Brown of Maxwell local of the union refused to say why the meeting was called.

Brown said action of the Union Supply Company, a United States Steel Corporation subsidiary, in cutting off miners' credit at mining town stores is bringing new hardship to diggers' families.

"We had to send children off to school hungry around here today," Brown declared grimly.

Another UMW leader predicted the mine strike would spread.

Railroad Merger

(Continued from Page One) the case we have here is that of one railroad conveying and passing its power to a competing railroad company against the wishes of 98 per cent of its reputable owners."

The trial judge rejected the ICC plan of merger because "the charging does not permit a merger as is proposed."

He held that the merger was not one of force and that the St. Joe Paper Company as the principal landholder was not the true owner.

The dispute over the Florida railroad has been dragging for five years. First in hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission and then in the courts.

When the plan of merger was adopted by the ICC, the commissioners were split 6-to-6 in its favor.
