

Fifteen Per Cent Of Nation's Wealth Taken Annually in Payment of Taxes

BY HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—Back of President Coolidge's insistence on "economy" in both public and private expenditures is his appreciation of the extent to which the nation's income is mortgaged for taxes.

Despite a 25 per cent reduction in federal assessments last year, taxes—federal, state, county and municipal—look to take 15 per cent of the total national wealth.

The fact is that public debts, state and national, have reached such enormous proportions that interest and sinking fund charges alone constitute a burden of approximately $100 per family per year, on the average, for every household in America.

If the total public debt, for instance, was prorated equally among the heads of families in America, each family would be called upon to meet an interest-bearing debt of $1,600. This is about six times the per family share of 10 years ago.

Before commercial airplane lines can be established, Keys believes, a period of public co-operation and assistance, similar to that originally given railroads, etc., will be necessary.

"Landing fields, suitable for the landing of heavily loaded ships, must be provided at comparative short intervals," he says.

"Then there are certain things the national government should supply, just as the government supplies lighthouses and channels for ships, in the interest of commerce.

"At present, the cost of transportation by air is from 10 to 25 times the cost of present established means of carrying the same articles. The present service is sufficiently satisfactory to make it difficult to induce people to change. Such change, when it comes, will be by slow degrees—by evolution.

Stockholm Evicting Tenants Who Become Richer Than Others

STOCKHOLM, Apr. 15.—A landlord who puts out his tenants when they become too prosperous, in order to make room for poorer ones, preferably those with children, is the curious spectacle presented by the city of Stockholm.

As there is a shortage in housing, the city has ordered those who can afford to pay higher rents to move in order to provide homes for those with less means, many of whom are now living in temporary shelters.

It is only after careful investigation, however, that the city authorities give a tenant notice. Thus, out of 600 families proposed for eviction this year, only 200 have been selected.

These are chiefly bachelors or childless couples whose incomes are out of all proportion to the low rent they pay, and special consideration has been shown for aged couples who have lived for a long time in the same quarters.

By next fall the city hopes to have almost 2,000 dwellings for all the war-time squatters.

Detroit Is Planning Building, 35 Stories, To Be City's Tallest

DETROIT, Apr. 15.—A decade or so ago a quiet residential street today a thriving business artery, is the transition of Washington Boulevard, a short thoroughfare starting at Michigan avenue in this city, and terminating four blocks distant at Park Boulevard.

Another unit in the transitory progress is to come with the erection of a 35-story annex to the present Book Building. At the intersection of Washington Boulevard and Grand River Avenue, the new structure will be the tallest building in Michigan, and is but another unit in the plan to make the boulevard, Detroit's "Fifth Avenue."

Among other projects announced is the new town house of the Aviation Town and Country Club, also a skyscraper, to be erected on the present site of the Y. W. C. A. at the corner of Clifford Street and Washington Boulevard.

THE HOWARD LETTER
Copy of an Actual Letter from a Man Facing Death.
A tragic, heartfelt study. Probably the most sensational and widely discussed letter ever written on Life Insurance.

Read it. Study it. And then follow the impulse it creates.
Dear Bill:
Acknowledging your letter of yesterday, I would gladly increase my life insurance—$50,000, if you could place it. But you couldn't. For tomorrow I am to be operated on for cancer, and the doctors tell me that my chance of survival is one in twenty.

This news will surprise you, since it is less than a year ago that your examiner passed me—the fourth time in ten years. I am trying to be hopeful, but there is an oppressive solemnity in the thought that this may be my last day on earth.

I have been putting my house in order. It did not require an expert accountant. My assets are: (1) Cash in bank, $341; (2) Household and personal effects, not worth selling; (3) Life insurance, $20,240.

Liabilities as follows: (1) Mortgage on house, $4,500; (2) Household monthly bills, $195.

This is my financial exhibit after sixteen years in business. Not a strong showing for a man of 37! But I began on nothing, and had to work my way up. Just as things are beginning to come my way, I find myself on the brink of the unknown.

My only comfort in this crisis is my life insurance, and I honestly thank you, Bill, for your counsel and persistence. Some times I have almost hated you for loading me with such a burden. On a yearly income never higher than $3,800, it has been a big strain to carry $30,240. Last year out of every dollar I earned 16 cents went for life insurance premiums.

But it was worth the sacrifice! What else would I be leaving behind today? If I had banked the amount of the premiums my savings would have been less than $4,000. And I doubt if I would have saved even that much, for some times it was a terrific struggle to pay the premium, and only for the fear of forfeiture forced me to do it.

But now I thank Heaven that I took the insurance and kept it, for it enables me to go into the operating room with anxiety only for myself, and none for Nell and Buster.

If I do not come out alive, the funeral expenses may be paid by that weekly premium policy of $240 which I have carried just for that purpose; and the $5,000 policy I took when I built my house will wipe off the mortgage, leaving $25,000 clear. This even at 4 per cent, would yield an income of $1,000, which with no house rent to pay, should make Nell and the boy fairly comfortable.

I face the uncertainty of tomorrow with neither remorse nor worry, and I owe this peace of mind largely to you. You helped me choose the wiser course. Ten years ago I confidently looked forward to riches and old age. Tomorrow, life and its opportunities may be cut off. My air castles will have tumbled, and my cherished hopes as dead as my flesh!

However, through life insurance, my family will receive some of the money I did not live long enough to make. They will have a home and a sure income for life—things which even had I lived, I could not have guaranteed to them because of the uncertainties of health and of business. Life insurance has done for my family what I could not do myself. My own experience is a conclusive demonstration of its blessed service to humanity.

It may seem strange for me to write you thus from the graveside, as it were, but I wanted you to know of my heartfelt gratitude to you and the great cause you represent.

Yours sincerely,
HOWARD.

BILL WOULD BAN FREE-HUNTING COP ON STATE ROADS

Representative Doby, of Henry, introduces measure requiring officers uniformed and show their badges

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 16.—A measure to prohibit traveling Florida by traffic officers whose names are derived by making arrests would be checked under provisions of the bill introduced in the house last week by Representative Doby of Henry county, for the regulation of traffic on improved highways. The measure follows the lines recommended by Governor Martin in his message to the legislature.

The bill provides that "it shall be unlawful for any traffic officer, sheriff, deputy sheriff, or any other to perform the duties of a traffic officer on the highways of this state, unless dressed in a distinctive uniform and wearing a badge, plainly visible, indicating his official capacity." Neither would a traffic officer be allowed to operate upon any of the improved highways of the state or upon the streets of any incorporated city or town except he be paid a salary, and that his remuneration be in no way contingent upon the revenue derived from the official activities.

TORNADO CAUSES ARE PECULIAR TO MID-WEST AREAS

Scientist Tells of Configuration Which Brings About Violent Rotating Storms of Small Dimensions in Valley

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—The cause of tornadoes, one variety of which occur in the middle west, has almost completely baffled the scientists of science. The suddenness with which they strike and the destructive force of their attack has made scientific study difficult.

Dr. William J. Humphreys, of the weather bureau, describes a tornado as "a violent rotating column of small dimensions." The name, he says, that not once in a 100 years would a tornado strike the same spot twice. The same tornado originally was applied to a violent thunderstorm in the west coast of Africa. The name, however, is according to the Mississippi valley region of the United States, and rarely occurs in any other part of the world. The Humphreys records show that it does not occur west of Denver; it is found only occasionally in northern Canada; is rare in eastern part of the United States, and is not destructive in or east of the Alleghany mountains, except in Alabama and Georgia. The explanation is that the Rocky mountains extending generally north and south, divide the wind blowing to the south from the north. The warm winds of the Gulf of Mexico and parts north across the United States. The meeting of these cold and warm currents of air starts up a rotation between them. Humphreys explains, "The wind is not other part of the world, but the geographic configuration existing in the Rocky-Gulf area. The passage of these currents establishes violent rotation at well down to the bottom, usually from a level of less than a mile above the earth, to the ground."

BONDS FAVORED BY LAKE MARY, SAYS CHAMBER

"It will be noted in the minutes that the writer in Route No. three suggested the very road that this self-appointed committee is now in favor of. The writer also tried to get one of this self-appointed committee to officiate at the meeting, and another was present at this meeting and cast his vote for the hard road as asked for by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce. The third member of this self-appointed committee is a new resident of Florida, having located here the first of the year, purchasing a small tract of land on the road which he wants hard-surfaced, or as a member of this self-appointed committee of three, he will defeat the bond issue. Think of this! A new resident trying to clog the progressive plans of Seminole county on which the county as a whole has been working for nearly two years.

"It is also interesting to know that it was March 3, 1924, when the hard surface road in question was first recommended. Second, about six months later, C. W. Ensminger, county commissioner, who represents our district, requested the Longwood Chamber of Commerce to call a joint meeting. Lake Mary was asked to send a committee, for the purpose of further discussing the hard road question, which was concluded with. At this time, the committee was perfectly satisfied with the decision made at the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce meeting, Mar. 23.

"Third, that committee was instructed to have a committee meet with the Good Roads Committee of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce and give a final report on the wishes of the people as to the routing of the road to be hard surfaced for Lake Mary to be included in the bond issue. Some of the self-appointed self-appointed committee of three were present at that meeting, and not a dissenting objection was made.

"The writer was not present at these two later meetings, but vouches that these statements are authentic.

"Now, after the hard road routes in Seminole county have been settled, this new resident, one of the self-appointed committee of three, has the nerve to stand up at a mass meeting under the auspices of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, Mar. 29, 1925, at Lake Mary Casino, and state that 'the people had it put over their very heads'.

"As president of the Chamber of Commerce of Lake Mary, to which office I have been elected for the third year, I believe that I know the sentiment of the people in Lake Mary, and that they do not believe that the county commissioner, or any county commissioner, any individuals or any individual have put it over on anybody, but know that they have cooperated with Lake Mary and are giving Lake Mary just what they asked for, and all you have to do is to wait until May 5th, and you will find that the only opposition to the bond issue is from the self-appointed committee of three."

An excerpt from the minutes of a chamber of commerce meeting, which went on record as approving the road included in the bond issue, was also submitted as follows:

"Location for hard road was next discussed and three points were designated by the president. "Number one—from golf links, up First street, out Crystal Avenue, to Third Street, up Third to a point beyond Mr. Evans' two small houses on Third Street, turning east at this point across the V. C. L. Railway tracks and running south parallel along the sand railroad south to Robinson Springs.

"Number two—from golf links up First Street, across railroad tracks and Crystal Avenue, turning south and passing in front of Durant's store out to Robinson Springs.

"Number three—from Paola road on Railroad Avenue, as now paved, out Crystal Avenue, up Fifth Street, south on East of Avenue, then due east past Spoolon's saw mill and the crate mill as now styled the Orlando road.

"Moved and seconded these proposed routes be voted on separately. Number one was put before the meeting and duly seconded. Number two was also put up. On a rising vote on Number one, it was not found necessary to vote further on Number two or Number three. Those in favor of Number two at the start deciding to make Number one unanimous.

Views favoring the bond issue as it now stands have been expressed by several of the leading citizens of Lake Mary as follows: A. E. Sjoblom: "I have resided in Lake Mary for over 40 years, and knowing conditions here, I believe 50 per cent of the citizens will be for the bond issue, although the road does not suit all."

Chas. S. Flowers: "Having lived in Volusia and Seminole counties for the past 40 years, and now in business in Lake Mary, I am in favor and believe that nearly all of the people want the road to go as stipulated by county commissioners."

Albert Whitaker: "I with my family lived permanently in Lake Mary three years ago, and have kept in touch with local affairs. I believe that a very large majority favor enthusiastically the road as stipulated by county commissioners and the bond issue."

W. V. Dunn: "The opposition to the bond issue is not the sentiment of the Lake Mary people. Having been school trustee for years and a resident of Lake Mary for over 20 years, I believe that I am competent to say that the road from the golf links to Robinson Springs, as county commissioners have agreed upon, is by far the best for Lake Mary and Seminole county."

M. V. Evans: "I believe that I am the oldest resident in Lake Mary, living here with my family for 43 years. Here in the local cemetery lies my husband, beneath the sand, who as mayor of Sanford in the old days was mayor of Orange county's most public spirited citizens. It is my wish that when the time comes, I, too, may be laid beside him here among the lakes and the country I love so well. I honestly believe that all decisions made by our present county commissioners are from men as competent as Seminole county can produce, and are in keeping with the progress and spirit of the time. We elected them to run our county, and I for one stand ready to vote for the bond issue as outlined by them."

The wood of the balsa tree from South America is so light it has been substituted for cork. From common swamp cattails, scientists have already made both food and cloth.

SPRING SONG OF AN INSURANCE PROSPECT

Oh, not for me the rose's blush Or bluebird's vernal lay; The April thrush will I bid "Hush!" For gloom has come this day: Insurance men in "selling" me Disclosed Life's little joke—"Of all the men three-score and ten Five out of six are broke."

I thought at 20 I had zip, Vim, vigor and Youth's glow, But rickets, grip, pneumonia, pip, I learn, will lay me low, If them I should escape, what then? This thought I can't revoke: "Of all the men three-score and ten Five out of six are broke."

How can I, holding thoughts like these, Cry to the spring, "Hurrah!"—A silly wheeze, when Heart Disease Is muttering "Ha Ha!" By forty I should be extinct, Or living, all in soak—Ain't life immense? "Of all old gents Five out of six are broke."

Let robins sing, if sing they must; Let sap sing in each tree, But please I trust, if I'm to bust Expect no song from he! Woe cometh when insurance sharks Begin their dismal croak, Hark! Hark! the larks: "Of patriarchy Five out of six are broke!" Gordon Seagrave—in Chicago Tribune.

Plan That Vacation Now

And what about your summer vacation? How much time will you be able to give to recreation? Will it be a trip? Will it be a sojourn at some summer resort? Will it be in the state or out of the state? Where, and how, and why—especially "Why"?

The Herald uses that word, "why," advisedly. There should be some well-thought out reasons back of vacation plans, if those plans mature with satisfactory results. The vacation weeks should bring genuine benefits; but they often represent time spent to poor advantage. And this, because the vacationist does not consider the many sides that should be viewed with understanding.

Let us take first, the money side of a vacation. How much money do you think it wise to spend on the trip? That settled: Where and how can you get the best value for that money?

The best value will be determined, naturally, by what you desire the vacation to do for you. If you want it to build up your physical health, choose a vacation that will give you the rest and the food and the water and the pleasures that are needed for the improvement of your physical condition. If it is mental tonic that you need, if you are fagged in mind and soul, choose something that will give you a new line of thought, or some inspiration in the lines that you are following in your wearying rut.

And along with the money consideration of vacation plans, the needs of your body and mind, is the important thought of how your vacation will fit into the plans of co-workers, or of relatives and friends.

Altogether it is quite as important to make intelligent plans for the vacation days as it is to take the vacation when the time for it arrives. Some of the happiest holidays ever known have been worked out in family conclaves, where agreements were reached to spend the vacation period at home, with all sorts of extra home pleasures to give the variety and complete change in daily routine that are essential to the right kind of vacation benefits.

Sanford families and individuals in general could devise some delightful ways to spend their summer vacations without the expense nor the risk of long trips and random accommodations at unknown summer resorts.

By all means have that summer vacation, if it is only a day now and then completely away from thoughts of the duties and the business that keep you too close—too close and too self-centered.

"National Music Week"

May 3 to 9 will be observed as "National Music Week." In every community where there are music clubs, or much musical talent, the "Week" will be made memorable by programs that will provide entertainment, and inspiration for each day.

In the public schools of the country, there will be especial attention paid that week to folk music. The folk songs of the United States will be given first place; then the best-loved songs of other nations will be studied, the idea being to make school children familiar with the music that has done so much to shape national life.

Already much preparation for this week is underway. In some communities music contests have been planned. Prizes are to be given for the best knowledge shown of compositions, composers, and the nationality of each. Boys and girls are learning to listen to high-grade records on the school victrolas, and to recognize the compositions played. Schubert and Crieg and Litz and Mendelssohn—the list is too long to print here—are becoming familiar names to school children fortunate enough to have a well-conducted music course in their schools.

And during "National Music Week," many children will begin an interest in good music that will continue all their lives, bringing comfort and pleasure that could be acquired in no other way.

The "Week," too, will provide an opportunity for music leaders to provide programs that will arouse community interest. There will be "Big Songs," with everybody invited to come and try their voices in the songs they love. There will be orchestral programs so arranged that all may come and hear. And there will be countless group programs for the benefit of music lovers who like to get together for communion with the great masters.

In Florida where it will be possible to hold many of the music programs in the open air, it would seem that "National Music Week" could be celebrated in ideal fashion. The "Week" was designed for the purpose of arousing the people of America to the paramount value of music in a nation's life. And nothing could be more in keeping with the spirit of the occasion than to bring the people together for community singing.

Why not an especially fine celebration of "National Music Week" in Sanford this year?

SAY TO THEM that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not, God is your strength.—Isaiah 35:4.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

Twelve years ago when I was a reporter on the New York Evening World, the body of a young woman, expensively dressed, was found in a thicket in a lonely and remote part of Long Island. She had been murdered—shot through the head. Harry Stowe of our staff, since deceased, was the first reporter to reach the place. The body had not been moved; and in searching about it Stowe happened upon something the local coroner had overlooked—a scrap of discolored paper, bearing printed and written words in German upon it. Stowe quietly slipped the paper into his pocket and caught the first train for town. He couldn't read German himself, so he took his find to the office of the German consul. There he met an elderly, spectacled, exceedingly serious-looking undersecretary, who translated the printed and written inscriptions for him. Then the secretary wanted to know what it was all about. Stowe told him, explaining that the identity of the murdered woman was still a profound mystery—that nobody could guess who or what she was. He described her clothing in some detail.

Ford's First Air Route. Lamont Studies Italy. You Can't Judge Youth. Balfour Escaped. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

HENRY FORD has started his first regular flying machine route. The first all metal monoplane of the air route arrived from Dearborn in Chicago yesterday, making the trip in 2 hours 49 minutes.

Crowds cheered the arrival of the airplane, and well they might. Having built that one, you can rely on Henry Ford and his son to build 10,000 more.

Those 10,000 airplanes will wake up capital, including capital invested in railroads. The American airship problem will be solved and the country will have the protection it needs.

POSTMASTER GENERAL New announces that all but foreigners will be encouraged to organize flying machine routes and allowed to carry mail under Government contract, as railroads carry it.

That is excellent news. Both the Postmaster General and President Coolidge are to be congratulated on their effort to establish real flying in the United States. Flying machines owned by aliens will be barred by the Postoffice authorities, as we bar aliens ships in coastwise trade.

THOMAS W. LAMONT, of Morgan & Co., now in Rome, is said to have discussed with Mussolini a considerable loan to be made to Italy by the Italian government here. Dispatches say that Mr. Lamont is investigating "the prospect of Italy's economic future."

Being a very intelligent citizen, Mr. Lamont will have no difficulty in estimating the future of Italy. She has millions of the world's best workers. From men that work industrially on the land and in factories to a genius such as Marconi in science, or a man of power in Government like Mussolini.

FOR 2,000 YEARS and much longer the Italian race has demonstrated its power. Venice, one Italian city, built on a marsh, ruled the commerce of the world. From Rome, all the kings and emperors have taken their orders at one time or another. Italy produced power of all kinds. Columbus, the navigator; Galileo, celestial genius; Michelangelo, greatest artist; and so on. Italy has produced more than any other nation in the world. Italy has produced more than any other nation in the world.

IF MR. LAMONT wants to know whether such a country as Italy deserves a loan, his answer is YES, and it ought to be a loan on fair terms with reasonable 7 percent charge. We ought to make a dividend out of loans to the country that has succeeded us.

IN CHICAGO, E. H. Frost, only from some jumps to his death in the lake. First he shot himself, and all because "this was a fair day." The probability is that he was certainly taken.

A little more patience and courage might have brought him into the world a successful lawyer without a single case, all one time or another. No one can say he is a failure until he has tried.

THE FLOOD of the Helms, Napoleon said that if he had had the good fortune to die in the sea, he would have been called one of the world's greatest generals and a great success.

THE MORE is trying to clean up his box, one that can be used for the most useful edition of 1925. Such a collection is impossible. The box with the best name in Chicago is now the subject of least attention today.

NEWTON, the greatest mathematical mind ever born on earth, was called dull when, as a new child, he was working out mathematical problems that would have puzzled his teachers.

WASHINGTON, as a young man, after he had undertaken impossible tasks, declared himself a failure. Demosthenes, greatest of orators, stuttered and stammered as a youth.

LORD BALFOUR is out of the museum, and safely on his way home. He narrowly escaped the attack of an Arab mob of 5000, as they tried to besiege his hotel and was saved by the prompt action of the police.

"Maybe Our Invitation Was a Little Inopportune."

DAN DOBBS SAYS

Being lucky is often a sign of bad luck. It takes all kinds of people to ruin a world. Vaccinations and vacations don't always take. The more dishwasher a wedding ring sees the longer it seems to last. Things could be worse. Bills are usually mailed instead of sent by wire. A hot headed person is usually the quickest to cool down after an argument. Picnickers should be saving up old papers and trash to scatter around the picnic grounds. If there is any trouble the Irish want their share. A Dublin paper is printing cross-word puzzles. Perhaps this cut rate war among New York taxi drivers might be called a 10,000-meter race. "Through with men," says a famous actress. Maybe it's about time. She has finished five of them. This $38,000,000 which Doherty got for his oil well is more money than a bootlegger could make in a month. Sports are a large part of college life, the well formed man being more popular than the well informed man. The fact that there are so few young people in church on Sunday night doesn't mean that they are not loving one another.

A COMPLIMENT TO FLORIDA

LAMPA TRIBUNE

Henry Ford, Florida land owner, builder of a well known, widely used and more or less maligned automobile, and publisher of a newspaper of national circulation, also publishes a "house organ" containing a variety of reading matter touching on a wide range of topics, and a feature is "A Page for Women." In the April issue of the publication, on the page for women is the recipe: "Orange Salad: Lay thin slices of California oranges on a bed of white lettuce; sprinkle delicately with a bit of finely scraped onion and dress with French dressing. Don't feel sure that you won't fancy this; it is perfectly delicious." Some Floridians have taken umbrage at the specification in this recipe of California oranges but to the enlightened it is apparent that Mr. Ford's editor conveyed therein a subtle and delicate compliment to the oranges of Florida. Who, knowing the nectar of a sun-ripened and "sun-drenched" Florida orange, would deprecate that delicate fruit with ever so tiny a bit of finely scraped onion or anything else, or would drench it with dressing, French, Russian or mayonnaise? Would the gods pollute ambrosia with "a bit of finely scraped" garlic, one inquires? But the California orange is another thing. A deluge of French dressing or some fluid substitute is necessary to afford the moisture the oranges of the Golden State lack; more than a bit of finely scraped onion or something of equally powerful aroma is needed to supply some sort of flavor to the otherwise savorsless flesh hidden deep within the rhinoceros-skinned globs of deception, the Dead Sea fruits "that tempt the eye, but turn to ashes on the lips" that Native Sons and Daughters mistakenly call oranges. We feel certain that an careful reading of "Fordson's" orange salad recipe Floridians will realize that if one really must have orange salad, one must compound it of California oranges and not those of Florida—California oranges flavored with finely scraped onion and French dressing. After all, it is the spirit and not the letter of the recipe that counts.

Florida Tax Titles Should Be Bettered

PALATKA NEWS

Year after year Florida continues to lose in a financial way because of the weakness of the "tax title" which, in the majority of cases, is considered the best and strongest right of ownership that is to be found. Season after season of the best future property, when taxation is looked for in this respect, and no nothing done to better the situation. There is progress to be made, however, at the coming session, although there are but some successful attempts to develop the issue. Approximately the state has passed an amended tax title certificate, and a large proportion of these are worthless, it is claimed, because of some trifling irregularity in the assessment, the advertising, or the sale of the property. Therefore, the state appears to be holding a hand of waiting for all the land described in these tax titles, but excepting taxes, an obligation that must be made on the part of those who pay taxes, a condition that tends to make a notable increase in the burden, especially by those who are doing a legitimate business. Having no good title for themselves, they transfer from the various counties to the state, it follows that Florida can be given no clear title to any piece or parcel of land which some prospective buyer is anxious to secure. Other states have passed laws by which a tax title clears the property from all liens of every sort, and the possessor of such an instrument, after the three years of grace allowed the previous owner for redemption, has a clear title in the eyes of the law—every encumbrance having been cleared. There is hope expressed in many quarters that action will be taken by the next session of the legislature to localize and perfect all tax titles, so far as the prerogative of that body shall extend, and that steps shall be taken to create a law by which the tax title shall be considered a perfect instrument. Had such a condition existed in the past there is little likelihood that the state would have ever been forced to buy any delinquent property, because of the fact that thousands in the north and west would have flooded the various counties with representatives at such time as the advertised sales were conducted and these men would have taken advantage of opportunities for good investments; good investments if the properties are redeemed within the three years, and better investments should the title remain permanent, by invested in them.

Snowden Holds Smokers As His Teammates Get Shower of Hits Off Tampa's Pitchers for Total of 16

TAMPA, Fla., Apr. 16.—The Sanford team continued its heavy hitting yesterday and beat the Smokers in the last game of the series by a score of 10 to 6.

Eddeman went into the box for Tampa at first but was rapped for five hits in succession and three runs in the first inning. When Sanford connected with his delivery for four hits which, assisted by three bases on balls, resulted in four more runs he gave way to Fisher, who gave up two runs while he was on the mound.

FLORIDA'S LEGION SEEKS RECORD IN DRIVE FOR FUND

State Adjutant Says Splendid Start Being Made to Raise Share of $5,000,000 For War Orphans of Nation

PALATKA, Apr. 16.—"Florida will make a record in The American Legion national $5,000,000 endowment fund campaign. This prediction was made today by C. Howard Rowton, adjutant of the department. His statement was based on early reports of gifts and pledges to the Legion movement to aid disabled veterans and orphans.

The endowment movement gained momentum at the department convention of the Legion held at St. Augustine recently. Adjutant Rowton said. Among the gifts announced was one by James C. Brown, of Sarasota, for $200. Eleven members of the Miami Civic Club's pledge of $700 was announced. The eleven Miami Legionnaires and their pledges were as follows: C. H. Gosner, $500; Joe Frank, $100; Harry Goldstein, $100; George Duncan, $50; Conville McWhorter, $50; J. J. Koubek, $100; Charles P. Neider, $100; Charles A. Mills, $250; W. A. Snow, $100; T. J. Davenport, $100 and Newton Trenham, $50.

State Witness

Dr. George Thompson of Chicago who testified that Mrs. McIntock, a nurse, had a bearing protest, has told a doctor that no necessary medicines were given to Mrs. McIntock during her fatal illness. An autopsy on the body shows traces of methyl-mercury. The autopsy was part of an investigation being made by the state in the case of young William Shipman, a 17-year-old boy, who was charged with the death of Mrs. McIntock.

realize that America has 35,000 war orphans and that the number of disabled veterans who need the help of a grateful country now is many times 35,000. The Legion has laid down a concrete program of relief for both the disabled veterans and the orphans of men who died either in service or as a result of it. That program calls for the opportunity of rehabilitation for every disabled ex-soldier and for a home for every war orphan. What the Legion wants for these two classes—the war veterans and the orphans—is what every genuine, true-minded American citizen wants—that to have a square deal.

"We expect to spend a few weeks organizing committees for the campaign in every community where there is a post of the Legion. These committees will be composed of leading citizens, Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary. After the committees have been named, an intensive period of campaigning will take place. During that period, we expect to raise the modest part asked of Florida in this great national undertaking."

THE DANGER SIGNAL!

When a passenger train was speeding along in the night, unaware of a broken bridge ahead, a boy climbed out on the bridge, waved a lantern and saved the train from wreck. Over fifty years of experience, Dr. R. V. Pierce, a distinguished physician, knew of the danger symptoms that threaten humanity—loss of appetite, languor, lack of strength, and being a student of the medicinal value of herbs, compounded a wonderful remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a tonic and blood purifier. Vim, Vigor, Vitality follow its use. Try it! Don't forget the Danged Signal!

TO CLEAR SKIN

SULPHUR IS BEST

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has even been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream. (Adv.)

A Trained Worm

Hon. Ed. Walthall,
 Care Semblante Hudson-Essex Co.,
 Sanford, Florida.

Dear Ed—

The illustrious editor of the Savannah Press is authority for the statement that a man down in Savannah has a trained fable.

Well there is nothing so remarkable about that. In these days of trained geese, trained pigs and trained fleas, it doesn't make a fellow strain his belief to talk in that story about the trained worm that turns a back somersault and skins the cat on a horizontal bar.

But the most wonderful feat of animal or insect training that has ever come under my personal observation is a trained cod worm that my friend, Hank Doughlass, owns.

Hank is a great fisherman. He used to fish half his time and die half the other half, until he got tired of digging bait and then this idea occurred to him.

He selected a precocious young cod worm, one that was agile and looked intelligent, and began his work of training it. He first trained the worm to tie itself in a knot around a fish hook and stretch out along the point so as to conceal it, and agitate its tail violently so as to attract the fish.

That was easy, Hank says, but the next step was harder. That was to get the worm to swim up to the hook and run up the line to safety just as the fish bit, leaving an easy hook for the fish to swallow.

Hank said he always heard a worm would turn, but it was hard to train this worm to turn just at the right moment. Several serious accidents came near costing the worm its life during this period of training.

But Hank now claims to have the only educated cod worm that is in operation in Sanford. He has a 200 ft. line using the worm. For 3 years now and has caught 3,877 fish with it.

Hank says the really remarkable part about it all is that the worm seems to love to fish even better than he does. Whenever he awakes himself in the morning, the worm crawls up in his bed and ticks his him under the nose with his tail until he wakes up. And when he sets up and takes down his fishing pole the worm jumps up and down in great glee and wags its tail like a pointer dog staring at a hunt.

Hank says money couldn't buy his worm, but if he could find some fellow with an Essex Coach that had been driven more than 2,000 miles and was, therefore, in perfect mechanical condition, he would be tempted to trade.

Yours,
 BILLY.
