Discovery Makes Orbit After Short Blastoff Delay

By Al Rossiter Jr. UPI Science Editor

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - The new shuttle Discovery streaked into orbit like a veteran today, carrying a crew of six on an oft-delayed mission to get the space program back on track and earn a record $34 million by launching three satellites.

It took four tries over 10 weeks, but America's third space freighter finally got off the ground at 8:42 a.m. EDT, after a seven-minute delay caused by two unidentified airplanes in the safety zone around the spaceport.

Discovery accelerated toward space atop a now-familiar column of fire and smoke. The white geyser-like plume was visible in the clear Florida. sky as far away as Tampa, 130 miles to the west.

Astronauts Henry Hartsfield, Michael Coats, Richard Mullane, Judy Resnik, Steven Hawley and Charles Walker are scheduled to circle Earth 97 times and glide to a landing Wednesday at Edwards Air Force Base in the Southern California desert.

Minutes before liftoff, flight commander Hartsfield - the only spaceflight veteran aboard Discovery - thanked ground crewmen for their efforts "getting this thing ready to go again."

The brand new ship shed its twin booster rockets two minutes after liftoff and proceeded toward orbit under the push of its three hydrogen six days were NASA's plan to conduct a flight a congines. It was an identical engine that caused Discovery to fizzle on the ground June 26.

The main engines shut down as planned almost nine minutes after blastoff and then the empty external fuel tank was jettlsoned to drop into the Indian Ocean. Then Discovery's maneuvering engines fired twice, pushing Discovery and its record 47,682-pound payload into a 184-milehigh orbit.

That's great news," said John Blaha in mission control in Houston after Coats reported a successful orbit change.

The astronauts' revised mission, costing NASA an estimated $150 million, combines key oblectives of Discovery's abortive June launch with what was to be a second mission this week. The new flight plan called for Hawley to put out the first of the Discovery's three communications stations eight hours after blastoff. The second is to be launched Friday and the third Saturday.

The first satellite is SBS 4, a 2,500-pound spacecraft owned by Satellite Business Systems and insured for $100 million. It is equipped to transmit television directly to small rooftop antennas and expand the company's longdistance telephone services.

It and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s Telstar 3 to be launched Friday use rocket motors with nozzles of the type that failed twice in February, leaving two similar satellites in useless orbits. AT&T and SBS officials expressed confidence that new X-ray techniques have

Ron Boeth, executive director of the Seminole Education Association (teachers union), will give his recommendations on one time bonuses, merit schools and equipment and supplies to school district representatives at the Lake Mary High School bargaining table at 5 p.m.. today.

The new negotiations were called to discuss how the $488,000 allocated to Seminole County by the state for "meritorious schools" will be spent.

Boeth will be among the negotiators for the four unions representing all public school employees at today's session with Cowley and other school administration representatives.

Boeth said all 41 of the deemed meritorious, noting that Seminole County students from all schools rank among the highest in the state in test scores and other factors used to measure excellent public school education.

"All of Seminole County's public schools are doing a superb job and should be commended, not just one quarter of them." Boeth said. "E vervlady should be rewarded."

"To do anything less than recognizing all the schools would be a tragedy," he said. If only a quarter of the schools are named meritorious, Boeth predicts there will be a "public outery" from parents who will want their children transferred to those "incritorious schools.

"This sort of thing does not create harmony and cohesion among faculties and will hurt the educational process," he Boeth said if school negotia-

Teacher In Space?

Some Seminole Educators Say It's Great; Others See Empty Gesture

Reaction is mixed among Seminole County teachers to President Ronald Reagan's order to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to include a school teacher on a shuttle mission within 18 months.

Comments range from "It's fantastic" to "it's a grand stand play" by Reagan.

And Ron Boeth, executive director of the Seminole Education Association (teachers union) said, "It's just another one of the empty gestures Reagan has made toward solving the nation's educational problems. If he wants to help education, why has he not taken advantage of the opportunity of funding schools."

Reagan told NASA carly this week to "choose as the first citizen- passenger in the history of our space program one of America's finest, a teacher.'

NASA administrator James Beggs said the agency will announce in October how a teacher may apply to make the shuttle flight. Two elementary or secondary school teachers from each state who meet relaxed medical standards will be selected by their peers for more evaluation.

The state winners then will be narrowed to 10 by a national peer review group. Those 10 will be evaluated by a NASA committee and Beggs will select the winner and his or her backup from the final five candidates.

The teacher will be given eight weeks of basic training in shuttle procedures and then will be assigned to NASA for one year after the flight to describe the experience to other educators and students. NASA will reimburse the teacher's employer for a year's salary. Pat Burkett, environmental science teacher at Seminole County's environmental center near Winter Springs, said. 'I think it's fantastic.

Burkett said,"I would dearly love to go. I think it is very appropriate to have a teacher as an observer since everyone who has gone into space has had a teacher who at one time meant something to them."

Bill Dailey, a biology instructor at Seminole High School, said Reagan "is making a grand stand play" and that the gesture "doesn't answer the problems of Elaine O'Neal, a social studies and science teacher to fifth graders at Spring Lake Elementary, said as an educator, she thinks "this is fantastic."

"Since teachers provide an inspiration to their students, this will certainly elevate the position of teachers in the eyes of their pupils.

"I'm glad to see teachers get this recognition." she said.

Rick Johnson, an American history teacher at Sanford Middle School, said. Personally I would love to go. But this is all sort of a vote-getting idea by Reagan because he is not popular with the teacher organizations."

Karen Coleman, coordinator of community relations and public information for the Seminole County School District, said, "We (the school system) invite the selection committee to visit Seminole County. We believe whenever achievement and dedication are considered our district's teachers can compete with the best and exceed the rest.

Speaking for herself, Mrs. Coleman, a teacher in the classroom for 14 years and Seminole County and Florida's "teacher of the year in 1979," said, "I think it would be an exciting adventure and I would probably apply with sweaty palms and shaky knees.

Boeth said, during Reagan's term there has been a 30-to-35 percent reduction in federal funding for education. "Why doesn't the president address some good issues rather than playing

"If he were not being nonsensical, I would think it was great if a teacher got to go up. In reality, everything done by this administration is totally contrary to supporting public schools. UAW Threatens Strike At Ford And General Motors

DETROIT (UPI) - The United Auto Workers have a green light to strike both General Motors and Ford on Sept. 14 if the companies do not improve their current contract

Union President Owen Bieber said both firms were chosen because the union was dissatisfied with contract proposals delivered Tuesday that did not address the UAW's twin goals of job security and substantial wage

GM offered workers lump sum payments of $600 in the first year of a contract and $300 in the second year, but no payment in the third year. Ford's proposal said workers would have to be satisfied with current profit-sharing plans in lieu of wage raises.

Workers two years ago agreed to $4 billion in concessions at the two firms that included wage and benefit freezes. Last year, however, both GM and Ford posted record profits and they are off to even better starts

The New York Times quoted anonymous law enforcement officials as saying a federal grand jury is investigating whether the mayor committed perjury when he denied under oath he used cocaine or got the drug from a convicted dealer.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Feds Ask Banks To Help Halt Drug Money Laundering

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Federal drug agents are enlisting Florida's bankers to help control money laundering operations that go along with the United States' $80 billion a year illegal drug trade.

Agents from Operation Greenback, a federal task force organized to combat money laundering. Wednesday began a four-day series of meetings to acquaint bankers with the controls and ask their support.

Authorities did not disclose the nature of the controls. which were designed in a study commissioned by the American Bankers Association.

Making money laundering more difficult makes it easier for authorities to track the operations down, according to Arthur T. Sumrall, a U.S. Customs Service Agent assigned to Operation Greenback. He said stopping moneylaundering operations in U.S. banks will force dealers to ship the cash outside the country, making them more vulnerable to capture.

Office Leases Called Too Costly

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Florida taxpayers may lose $250,000 in investment earnings because of two office lease agreements that require the state to pay $850,000 much earlier than a convential contract would, a private budget group claims.

Florida TaxWatch Inc., formerly known as the Citizens Council for Budget Research, said "front-end loaded" leases in Palatka and Gainesville were significantly higher than the second-place bids.

In the Gainesville case, the group said the winning bid was $2.95 per square foot, or 29 percent, more than the second place offer; in Palatka the winning bid was $5.05 per square foot, or 56 percent, more than the runner-up

Only 24 of the state's current 900 office lease agreements are similar to the Palatka and Gainesville leases which may be cheaper in the long run but require more money earlier in the agreement period, the group said.

Dade County Bar Assn. have names directly to the president. censured Sen. Paula Hawkins. She explained in a statement her local acreening process for considerations and the urgent nominating federal judges.

"We strongly condemned the action of Senator Hawkins in bypassing her own Judicial Nomination Commission." Dade Bar President A. J. Barranco reported after a late Wednesday special meeting of the directors of the 7,400-member associa-

"It was the first unanimous vote I've ever seen." Barranco said. "We feel that it is imperative we speak out now. We will ask the president and Senator Hawkins that she withdraw these candidates so we can get the most qualified people."

South Florida, which has one of the heaviest case loads in the federal court system, has three new judges authorized.

Barranco accused Mrs. Hawkins of practicing "pure unadulterated politics" in attempting to nail down the judicial appointments for the Reagan administration before the Nov: 6 general election by ignoring the local advisory panel.

Gerald Richman, president of the Florida Bar Assn., also objected to the senator's action.

"The speed with which this whole process has occurred raises questions in my mind." Richman said. "You have to find the time and take the time. That's more important than haste when you are talking about something this important.

Figuring Out The Germans

Signs that Moscow is having trouble controlling its Eastern Europe satellites ordinarily are considered good news. It is a tenet of U.S. foreign policy that Soviet domination of Eastern Europe should not be taken for granted, and that any show of independence by the satellite states should be encouraged. Thus there was an especially warm welcome in Los Angeles for the Romanian athletes whose government was willing to ignore Moscow's call for a boycott of the Summer Olympics.

But the willingness of East Germany to move toward a closer relationship with West Germany is harder to figure out. If East German leader Erich Honecker goes ahead with his plan to visit Bonn next month, it will be a historic event, but one with an ambiguous significance for East-West rela-

Moscow at first appeared to be encouraging the effort by Berlin and Bonn to keep their own detente alive while relations between Moscow and Washington were going sour. Eastern European countries profit by their trade with the West and their access to credit from Western banks and to Western technology. This gives Moscow a practical reason to encourage traffic through the Iron Curtain, even though it has its liabilities in making Eastern Europeans more conscious of the disparities between their controlled economies and the freedom and opportunity in the West.

More to the point, an improvement in relations between the two Germanies would seem to fit Moscow's strategy of encouraging neutralist sentiment in West Germany. It has been a long-standing goal of Soviet foreign policy to weaken the West German commitment to the NATO alliance - a goal it pursued with fervor last year in trying to get West Germany to reject the stationing of new U.S. missiles on its soil.

Now those interpretations have gone awry with a propaganda blast from Moscow accusing West German Chancellor Helmut Kohi of trying to revive German nationalism at the expense of Fast Germany's independence, feeding hopes of a possible reunification of the two Germanies. While Pravda aimed its venom at West Germany, there was a strong implication of criticism toward East Germany for allowing itself to be drawn into Kohl's scheme.

At this point, the Kremlin appears to be worried about where a rapprochement between the two Germanies might lead. Feeding neutralist sentiment in West Germany is fine, but at what cost to the solidarity of the Eastern bloc?

As for the United States and the other

Western allies, they have no reason to doubt Kohl's loyalty to their united cause, after his government's firm stand on the missile issue last year. At the same time, however, they must also be aware of the potential danger of reunification seizing the imagination of Germans on both sides of the border that has divided their old fatherland for nearly 40

A new generation of Germans yearning to reunite their country could be as challenging a diplomatic problem for Western leaders as for the Russians. This is not to say that the Germans do not have a right to entertain such aspirations. But with West Germany the front-line state in the strategy for defense of Western Europe, and with East Germany the strongest military power in the Soviet-sponsored Warsaw Pact, the superpowers have a vital stake to any emerging new relationship between the two Germanies whether they like it or not.

Concern for the safety of children is on the increase following reports from across the country of neglect. abductions and physical and sexual abuse. Fingerprinting programs have been established to aid in the identification of missing children, including a session scheduled by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department at Flea World Saturday Sept. 1. But there are other threats to children that shouldn't be forgotten.

Abandoned refrigerators still pose a threat to the curious child who might crawl inside and suffocate during a game of hide-and-seek. All old refrigerators with self-latching mechanisms should be made child proof.

warns the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

This can be done by removing the door or padlocking the door closed. The self-latching mechanism could also be disabled so it won't catch or wooden blocks can be screwed to the door to prevent closing.

Leaving shelves in the unit discourages children from crawling inside. Local authorities should be called in to remove any abandoned refrigerators found on public property, the Commission says.

All refrigerators marketed since Oct. 30, 1958 have been produced with a required mechamism, such as a magnet, which will allow a child to open the door from inside the refrigerator if he or she becomes closed up inside. So it's older models that cause the greatest concern.

Another threat to children's safety has been revealed by the Murray bicycle manufacturing company. Murray is recalling BMX bleycles that were made with defective handle bars in their Tennessee plant between August, 1982 and May, 1983.

The handle bars have not been welded properly and can fall off. If you want to check to see if your Murray bicycle is a model being recalled look for the identification number on the bike's frame and call Murray at 1-800-251-9991 to ask if it's included in the recall.

Recovery: Why It's Happening

The Reagan administration has just issued the last official economic forecast it will make before the presidential election, and it is a glorious one, as one might expect from public officials who hope to keep their jobs.

The economy is projected to grow at a rate of 6.5 percent from the fourth quarter of 1983 through the last quarter of this year, after adjusting for inflation. Inflation is pegged at only 4.4 percent. Un-employment, now at 7.4 percent, is hoped to be at 6.8 percent in December.

The Reagan forecast, while rosy, is probably close to the truth. Errors on the cautionary side have been the rule for sophisticated economists in and out of government for two years.

Why did the economy recover. when nearly everyone expected continued decline? Economic growth for 1982 had been a minus 1.4 percent, and unemployment climbed to 10.7 percent by November of that year.

On July 16, 1982, the Federal Reserve lowered the discount rate the rate it charges banks for loans from 12 to 11.5 percent. Just about them, President Reagan's tax cuts were beginning to take effect. In August, the stock market started on a historic rise. Recovery had begun.

It is still difficult for President Reagan's enemies - and some of his friends — to understand how the economy deficts could come roaring back in 1983, with interest rates and budget deficits at stratospheric heights. But rates began to come down way back in January 1981. The prime rate moved from the Carter-era high of 21.5 percent that Despite skyrocketing federal spen-month until it reached bottom at 10.5 percent in February 1983. ding, the recession pulled rates down - too harshly, some say - by drying up capital borrowing by business. When the Fed opened the money supply tap a bit in mid-1981. private loan demand remained too low to clash with the government's credit needs.

The economy quickly showed us that what is a scary interest rate to an academic or Wall Street economist is but one of many costs to a businessman. Rates are high, but thanks to reduced inflation. other costs are relatively lower. So too, are taxes, thanks to Mr. Reagan. Thus higher interest rates are less a deterrent to capital investment. And businessmen have continued to invest - and hire and buy, and produce. At the same time, rates are high enough to attract foreign investors, who are lending money to the U.S. and to the U.S. government. Thus the demands of the Treasury are met and inflation remains modest.

No-Impact Movement

Like the dog that failed to bark in the Sherlock Holmes story, the nuclear freeze movement has been making very little impact on the presidential campaign and is virtually invisible in the society at large. Alan Cranston, who attempted to make the freeze his issue, got nowhere in the primaries. Walter Mondale has endorsed the freeze, and he mentions it from time to time, but he does so almost ritualistically and he certainly is not making it the centerpiece of his campaign. The fact that Mondale supports the freeze and Reagan opposes it is making no discernable difference in the campaign. Ferraro's financing has much more Impact. What the freeze movement could put a couple of hundred thousand protesters into the streets of Manhattan. Freeze teach-ins were all over the campuses, and the Catholic bishops climbed on the freeze bandwagon with a anti-nuclear pronunciamento. But it all seems to be gone, like the famous shows of yesteryear in Villon's poem.

One explanation might be that the movement was always a collection of factions that buried their differences for a few months but are actually mutually antagonistic and unable to organize on an enduring basis. Idealists and clergymen, Trotskyists and ecologists, Leninists and feminists, pacifists and communists, bohemians and housewives, college students and people wearing love beads - they all might march together and listen to the same speeches, but when the momentum slows it becomes clear that they do not in any way make up a "movement."

A man like E.P. Thompson, who was a communist until 1956 and still prefers the Soviet Union to the United States, has little in common with the Yuppie housewife whose car bears a bumper sticker saying "Split wood, not atoms.

Another factor is related to this heterogeneity. In its immediate goal, the freeze movement failed. m and the NATO countries fact are being deployed in Europe. A political party can lose an election and prepare to fight the next one. But a heterogeneous protest movement does not have the same staying power. And this is especially true when the future prospects do not look very good. If the movement failed to stop the Pershing II. what prospects does it have of stopping the Pershing III or the Pershing IV? Especially since the Soviets show not the slightest sign of cooperating by cutting back their own deploy-

It may also be the perception is spreading that the freeze, in its most acceptable formulation - that it be "mutual" and "verifiable" - is a fraud. Very few people, even in the freeze movement, would support unilateral disarmament. The Soviet system is just too ugly to risk such a thing being imposed here or in Western Europe. But it would be impossible to verify Soviet adherence to a freeze. Who could guarantee that the Soviets would not be developing further nuclear weapons in a clandestine way? Who would seriously bet that they were not? The freeze is a fraud, and perhaps people know it.

It also seems to be true that protesters have a limited attention span. The freeze was yesterday's issue. Today's in Central America.

Marcos Is Still In Charge

I would not have believed it a year

Following the assassination of Benigno Aquino, I thought Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos' lease on power was about to run out. But the first anniversary of Aquino's death has come and gone and Marcos is still in charge, as he' has been for 19 years

Not that it hasn't been a rough' year. The commission Marcos set up to look into the Aquino killing quickly changed from a cover-up operation to a forum for Marcos opponents. Still, the panel hasn't succeeded in implicating him directly. The best thinking is that Aquino, an extled opposition leader, was shot at by someone probably in the military, who wanted to do the president and more likely themselves a favor.

They certainly didn't do Marcos any immediate favors. Because of Aguino's murder, the White House canceled a scheduled Reagan visit. to the Philippines.

Then the economy took a nose: dive. Not that it was in such great. shape before. Marcos' economics had been called "crony capitalism," with lucrative contracts and posts going to a small group of friends and relatives of Marcos and his manipulative wife, Imelda.

Then came elections this spring in: which the opposition - possibly to: its own surprise as much as anyv one's - picked up something like as majority and the power to rule by: decree. But his rule is now subject. to more than token scrutiny.

Nevertheless, the Philippines are at a crossroads, with some observers comparing it with South Vietnam in the early '60s and

Frugality Can Prevent New Taxes

'Hi, we're a couple of Reagan's rich, country club friends the Democrats keep talking about."

WASHINGTON - Like a great vacuum machine, the federal government sucks up money at the rate of $4.7 million a minute. Every disappearing dollar is painfully extracted from the taxpayers, who don't begrudge money for the nation's needs but hate to see it wasted. Yet appailing sums are squandered, with reckless abandon.

The government's voracious appetite for greenbacks has stirred alarm across the country. Economists warn that federal extravagance is draining raw materials and skilled labor from the economy, that the astronomical deficits are driving up interest rates. that our political leaders must drastically change their wasteful Massive waste has been uncovered by Peter Grace, a tough, outspoken financial curmudgeon. with a take-charge manner. He heads a presidential commission that has been investigating the government's wasteful practices and procedures.

Behind his grizzled exterior and gruff amiability is perhaps the canniest financial talent ever turned loose in the government's counting rooms. He has used his analytical powers to penetrate the collusions between free-spending bureaucrats and budget-breaking congressmen.

He has found enough possible savings to eliminate the deficit and balance the budget. He has found 3-cent screws that were palmed off on the government for $91, $15 hammers purchased by the Pen-tagon for $400, $235 million worth of firewood that was given away.

With our money, the government has subsidized the rich and pandered the poor. Refrigerators have been given to Eskimos; tubes of toothpaste have been shipped to foreigners with no toothbrushes. Millions have been appropriated to persuade people to stop smoking and, at the same time, millions have been used to promote tobacco sales.

Uncle Sam also purchases with his right hand what he already holds in his left. The procurement people have a cavalier attitude toward government funds. Enough is never sufficient; they must always have more.

Browsing among the billions. Grace has discovered that fraud and abuse are costing the government over $25 billion a year because of weaknesses in financial controls. He has also found $38 billion in overdue bills that are owed to the government. Yet the federal bookkeepers are indifferent to collecting the overdue money; it's less bother just to raise taxes.

Grace's exposures have caused members of Congress to become jittery over the spending excesses. But they're holding in abeyance their next move, lest the goose be killed with many a golden egg yet to

They would prefer to postpone any political inconvenience until their re-election is safely past.

Meanwhile, the bureaucrata have built a cordon sanitaire around their spending programs. It will take an outery to overcome the congressional flummery and the bureaucratic resistance.

You are invited to join in the

Please sign the following taxpayers' declaration opposing wast in government and mail it to Citizens Against Waste, P.O. Box 1000, Ben Franklin Station, Washington, D.C. 20044:

"As the true owners of the U.S. government, we protest the appall. ing waste of our money by those we'entrust to spend it. We demand action, not discussion, to stop the excessive and unnecessary squandering of government funds for fooliah projects, wasteful programs and inefficient operations. We want corrective measures taken against, those in Congress and the federal bureaucracy who irresponsibly authorize and misspend our tax dollara."

We will deliver this petition to the next president and the new congressional leaders in January.

Magazine Rates Various Shoes For Runners

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Adidas. Brooks, Sako, Nike and Tiger make the best models for the money when it comes to running shoes for the average athlete, according to this year's Running Times ratings.

In its seventh annual footwear rating, to be included in the October ssue, the magazine's editors examped 200 models in seven categories. he issue, published in suburban Voodbridge, Va., goes on sale Sept.

For the average runner, the magazine's editors said these five shoes offer the best value for the money: Adidas Phantom $50, Brooks Genesis $53, Sako Tri-Eva $60. Nike Contrail $70 and Tiger Epirus $80.

The two most important factors in picking a running shoe, magazine editor Ed Ayres said, are running type - including speed, mileage and style - and body type - including weight and foot structure. Ayres said women can wear men's shoes, and vice versa. as long as they fit correctly.

The best shoes for the money in the six other categories, according to the magazine, included:

-For lighter weight runners: Reebok Marce 1500 Trainer $40. Brooks Graphlex $47. Converse Equinox $55. Nike Terra Trainer $60 and New Balance 700, $60.

-For heavier or larger runners: Nike Epic $100, Puma TX-3 $60, Brooks Chariot $62. Nike Equinox $70 and

New Balance 990, $100. -For runners who need motion control: Turntec Anatomical Quantum $50, Converse Force 5 $62, Nike Equinox $65, Tiger RX $70 and Adidas ZX500 880.

-For runners who need extra cushioning: New Balance 1300 $130; Nike Epic $100, Etonic Quasar $65. Saucony Dixon Trainer $65 and Avia 581, $50

-For runners who want very durable shoes: Vans 5000 $64, Avia RT680 $80, New Balance 1300 $130 and Nike Equinox $70.

-Best all-around shoes under $40 for runners with no major problems: Adidas Centaur (men) and Peachtree (women) $35. Brooks Renegade $35.95. Nike Trophi $36.95. Recbok Marce 1500 $39.95 and Tiger Extender $39.95.

The magazine this year dropped its ratings of "state-of-the-art" shoes, a category Ayres said put high technology ahead of individual runners' needs

In an article accompanying the ratings, the magazine's editors said manufacturers are showing "renewed interest in the 'average' runner who needs neither a tank nor a Cadillac" after the past few years of "heavy promotion of 'ultimate' shoes."

Many runners are better off with a shoe that offers less anti-motion reinforcement, cushioning and weight than "state-of-the-art" models, the magazine said.

The best-rated shoes ranged in cost from Kangaroos Smoke, at $32 a pair. to made-to-order Hersey Custom DPS, which sell for $165 by mail order.

The average price for running shoes that will really do the job is $50. Ayres said.

Puzzling Quasars Almost As Old As The Universe

WASHINGTON (UPI) - New evidence suggests many of the bright star-like objects called quasars, a puzzle since their discovery 21 years ago, are among the oldest and most distant objects in the universe.

Some astronomers have argued quasars are relatively close to Earth, but a team of scientists affiliated with four universities says evidence shows quasars are on the edge of the observable universe and many are so far away they can barely be detected.

Quasars, short for quasi-stellar objects, were first observed in 1963. What causes them remains a mystery.

They are believed to be the center of galaxies, emitting so much energy — up to 1,000 billion times that of the sun that they drown out the galaxies'

Some of the light from quasars apparently left them 12 or 13 billion years ago, said Timothy Heckman, an assistant professor in the department of physics and astronomy at the University of Maryland and co-author of the report in The Astronomical Journal.

Since the universe itself is an estimated 15 billion years old. the evidence shows quasars are among the oldest objects in the galaxy, the scientists said.

The scientists based their conclusions on the currently accepted theory that the universe is expanding - that is, objects are moving away from one another.

Under current astronomical theories, the faster an object appears to be moving, the farther away it is. As an object moves away, the wavelength of light it emits changes.

The quality of light from quasars appeared to indicate the objects were extremely far away. Some astronomers argued, however, this could be due to some unique property of the quasars themselves, not their distance.

In the latest study, the scientists located galaxies extremely close to the quasars they were studying and found the galaxies had exactly the same light wavelengths. This indicated the quasars were indeed far distant and extremely ancient.

The observations were made at the National Optical Astronomy Observatories at Kitt Peak, Ariz., and in Cerro Tololo, Chile.

Besides Heckman, the team included Eric Smith of the University of Maryland, Gregory Bothun of the California Institute of Technology and Bruce Balick of the University of Washington and Leiden University in the Netherlands.

Their work was supported by the National Science Foundation, which announced their discovery.

Iraq Holds Upper Hand In Gulf War, New Study Claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Persian Gulf war is unlikely to lead to hostilities between the United States and Soviet Union because the two superpowers have some common goals in the region, according to a Senate

The study, written by a bipartisan group of Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff members who visited eight Middle East countries last month, also said the military balance in the Persian Gulf war has shifted in Iraq's favor, and an Iranian assault on Iraq would probably fatl.

In its 40-page report, the staff said there is "greater calm in most Gulf countries" and in the international oil market than most observers predicted a few months ago.

The Soviets - seeking to expand their influence in the region - "have tilted toward Iraq, as has the United States." while increasing its military support to Iran's ally, Syria, and keeping its communctation with fran oben.

"While fundamental U.S. and Soviet interests remain at odds in the gulf, both have some immediate goals in common." the report said. "Both support Iraq to some extent in the war. Both prefer to see a negotiated settlement to the conflict.

"As a result," the report said, "there is no serious concern that the current fran-fraq war could engage the superpowers in hostilities."

The staff also said, "The Iran-iraq military balance has shifted in Iraq's favor during the past year as a result of the worldwide arms embargo on Iran and massive arms sales to Iraq by the Soviets and French.

"It is our assessment that an Iranian assault on Iraq would probably lead to a defeat for Iran unless fragi morale collapses."

Neighboring Iran and Iraq have been at war for nearly four years. Efforts to mediate the war have fatled and ships are being attacked in the Persian Gulf.

The report said Iran has the capability to close the Persian Gulf to oil tanker traffic, but the Western nations could reopen it with devastating air strikes on Iranian ports and airbases.

"While the United States might find it necessary to take such action, it could provide political and military opportunities for the Soviets in Iran," the study warned. "Therefore, a high priority of U.S. diplomacy should be to promote a settlement of the war."

Politically, the report said, "Several key Iranian leaders appear to be reaching the conclusion that the costs of continuing military efforts are becoming too great. There is no indication, however, that Ayatalloh Khomeini has changed his basic position in support of the war."

Queens Calling

NEW YORK (UPI) — Telephone customers in Queens, Brooklyn and Staten Island will soon have to dial a different area code to reach people in the rest of the

The 1.7 million phone customers in the three "outer boroughs" of New York City will get a new area code - 718 and will have to dial 212 to call any of the 1.2 million customers in Manhattan and the Bronx.

New York Telephone officials said the new area code was needed because the city was running out of numbers on the 212 exchanges.

The phone company says calls within the city will not be billed as long distance, but some customers were concerned that some day the promise may no longer be valid.

There's good news and bad news this summer for those who are into sinkholes. Heavy seasonal rainfall has filled underground aquifers, reducing the state's incidence of the phenomena. The exception is the Citrus County area where shallow soils over limestone continue to lead to numerous small depressions.

The general respite has given scientists at the University of Central Florida the opportunity to tally reported sinkholes, a task coordinated through the Florida Sinkhole Research Institute. Hustler Hopes To Turn Tables On Falwell

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Hustler magazine is suing the Rev. Jerry Falwell, claiming he violated copyright laws by using the sex publication to solicit donations on his TV show.

In a federal court suit filed Tuesday, magazine attorneys said Falwell showed a parody advertisement, headlined "Jerry Falwell talks about his first time." on telecasts of the "Old Time Gospel Hour" to raise money to "fight Larry Flynt and Hustler magazine."

The suit also names the Moral Majority and the TV show as defendants. Attorneys are asking the court to stop Falwell from publicly displaying the parody from Hustler's November 1983 issue and to award unspecified

Alan Issacman, an attorney for Hustler, said Falwell has also used the ad in a mailing sent to thousands of people throughout the country to raise money for the Moral Majority.

"It's the same thing as someone taking an author's book and making copies of it and asking to make money from it," Issacman said.

"Even though the magazine is out in the public, it is copyrighted material. It is clear there is a copyright, and it is clear the Rev. Falwell has no ownership or interest in that copyright.

He said the magazine also wants to reclaim any money raised by Falwell and the Moral Majority as a result of his campaign using the Hustler parody.

Falwell earlier sued Hustler for libel over publication of the parody. The suit, seeking $25 million, is scheduled to go to trial Dec. 3 in federal court in Lynchburg. Va., Issacman

IN BRIEF

Oil Leak Must Be Controlled Before Radioactive Gas Removed

OSTEND, Belgium (UPI) - Belgian authorities say they will try to control an oil leak from a sunken French freighter before trying to remove its cargo of radioactive liquified gas.

Firmin Aerts, secretary of state for public health, indicated Wednesday the rapidly spreading oil slick, half a mile long and 200 yards wide, was considered a greater threat than the drums of radioactive gas, which could explode if mixed with water.

'Removal of the oil should now get absolute priority," Aerts said, adding that divers would be sent down to the Mont Louis - a French ship submerged in the North Sea 12 miles off the Belgian coast - to try to stop the fuel leak.

Belgium's beaches attract thousands of tourists during the summer months and officials fear winds will blow the oil slick toward the Belgian coast.

Jet Fire Kills 'Several'

DOUALA, Cameroon (UPI) - A fire possibly caused by a bomb swept through an airliner on the airport runway today, killing several of the 108 passengers, officials said.

An official at the control tower in the Cameroonian capital of Yaounde said he received information indicating some 70 people may have died in the fire on the Boeing 737 as it taxled before take off.

Cameroon Airlines would confirm only that there had been an accident on the morning flight and there were 'several" deaths.

Five hours after the blaze, an anonymous caller telephoned the Gabon-based radio station Africa No. 1, to say a bomb was planted on the plane. He said a group calling itself the Cameroon Patriotic Front said it had intended to destroy the plane before passengers boarded. The caller gave no motive for the attack.

Tropical Storm Kills 19

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) - President Ferdinand Marcos today declared disaster areas in 21 provinces hit by tropical storm June, which swept across the country in a destructive rampage leaving 19 people dead and more than 30,000 homeless.

The storm, packing winds of up to 59 mph, struck a group of tiny islands in the northern Philippines. unleashing floods as far away as Mindanao, the southernmost of the main Philippine islands.

June also damaged 3,362 houses, uprooted crops. snapped power and communications lines, and washed away roads and bridges.

U.S. Airman Guilty Of Spying

KAISERSLAUTERN, West Germany (UPI) - A U.S. Air Force sergeant convicted of espionage said he sold defense secrets to the East bloc to make Soviet intelligence believe he was a spy so he could become a double agent.

Sgt. Francisco de Asis Mira, 24, a computer specialist, was sentenced by an Air Force court martial Tuesday to 10 years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge, an Air Force spokesman said today.

A board of five officers found him guilty of selling East bloc agents photographs of code books and maintenance schedules for air defense radar installations in West Germany. The court martial did not clarify whether the agents were Soviet or East German.

Russian Weapon The Best Jane's Rates New AK-74 Assault Rifle

AK-74 assault rifle, an improved version of its advanced AK-47, is possibly "a halfgeneration ahead" of any rifle used by Western forces, the British defense publication Jane's said today.

The 5.45 mm AK-74 is a smaller caliber version of the still widely used 7.62 mm Kalashnikov AK-47, which came into service in 1951 and is described by the authoritative defense publication as the "most outstandingly successful rife in service since the second world war.

The latest edition of Jane's Infantry Weapons annual said the smaller AK-74 assault rifle is "light, tough, and easy to shoot" - ideal for the Soviet style of infantry fighting, which uses bursts of sustained fire rather than carefully aimed training that is done in the Western regular armies." noted Jane's.

The new Kalashnikov gives Soviet troops a cheap weapons system "which is at least the equal of anything in the West, and perhaps one that is a half-generation ahead," Jane's said.

The AK-74 has all the "reliability of its predecessors and their outstanding ability to withstand rough handling and abuse. Jane's said.

It said the newer rifle appears to be universal issue to Soviet forces "though so far as we ascertain, it has not spread into other Warsaw Pact forces as yet.

The AK-74 makes use of the greatest possible number of existing Kalashnikov components, has the same 30-round capaci- M-1 and was heavily used in Vietnam.

"Most Soviet soldiers are not good shots, ty and a shorter range but "not below that nor are they given the same careful weapon which is considered to be normal infantry fighting ranges," Jane's said.

Jane's editor lan V. Hogg said two variations of the AK-74 - a shortened one and a silenced version - have been found in Afghanistan, where Soviet forces have been fighting a 41/2 year war with Afghan guerril-

World Series Was Neat... With Friends

Editor's note: Chris Martino is a member of the Altamonte Springs Little League team which finished second in the World Series at Williamsport. Pa. Chris is a seventh grader at Rock Lake Mtddle School.)

Probably one of the neatest things about playing at the Little League World Series is when you return home. All your friends come up to you and say, "Hey, I saw you on TV. You should have won.

I don't think playing in the World Series is any fun unless you have someone to enjoy it with. I was pretty lonesome the first few days up there, but things got a lot better when my mom (Mary Ann) came up Tuesday. Boy, was I glad to see

When we first got to Williamsport, it was kind of neat sleeping in the cabins. We'd play ping-pong and the food was pretty good, so we had a lot of fun. But that started getting a little old. The mattresses weren't that good and the living conditions weren't too hot either. I guess I've got it too good at home.

At the end of the week, though, was when I got sick and almost missed the championship game. I think it I actually started getting tonsilitis or the strep throat Thursday when we played Southport, Ind.

I thought that we would beat them easily, but we didn't. It was, a real tense game. I know because I don't have any fingernails left. I starting getting nervous during the early part of the game when we weren't

When Chris Radeliff hit the home run to win it (4-2), I started to cry. I think everybody started to cry. It was just a very to the championship game of the World Scries. What a great feeling. And what a great hit by Chris.

On Friday, though, I got the chills. My body temperature was very hot. I went to sleep for about an hour and one-half, but I woke up in a cold sweat. Uncle Ray (one of our hosts) took me to see the physician. He looked me over and gave me some medicene. He said he didn't know if I could play Saturday.

I guess I had tonstitts or strep throat because my throat was real sore. I had to stay in the emergency room. I felt real bad, but my teammates came to see me and that cheered me up. The coaches came later and that made me feel better yet.

Before I went to the hospital, I heard a rumor that Skip Diehl was coming up. Skip was with our team in the district and sectional. He hit three homers in one game of the district, but then he couldn't come because his allergies were bad. He hadn't been with us for two tournaments, but we heard he might fly up to Williamsport. All of us thought that would be neat. The coaches said they didn't know if he was coming, but I think they were just trying to surprise us.

Anyway, Skip did come and he got to go out and get the game ball from the paracuter and present it to the umpire. That was neat for him. It was good to have all of us back together again. I was still feeling sick Saturday, but I wanted to go anyway. I was sucking on ice and before the game I folded up the banners from our Southern Region championship and slept on that. I started feeling better right before the game and got introduced with the team. I was batboy for the first inning, then I went back to the banners and went to sleep for three innings, 1 came back to be batboy for the last two innings. The thing I will remember about the World Series is playing South Korea for the championship and having my mom and dad (Louis). The World Series was a lot of fun, but it was even more fun when someone you love is there to watch you.

Slack: 'Kinks' In Armor Martino Won't Hold Back Knights

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO - While Dana Thybsen is the senior leader and starting quarterback for the University of Central Florida Knights, freshman Darin Slack is currently holding down the backup QB spot.

Slack, a third-team all-stater and first team allcounty performer at Lake Howell last year, is also the holder for extra points and field goals.

The 6-3 rifle-armed frosh is happy to be where he's at now, but he said the transition from high school to college is the biggest objective. "It's not unbelievably hard, but there is so much more to learn." Slack said. "But I'm picking up on it really well and looking forward to the season starting."

Thybsen, a DeLand High graduate, has been a big influence on Slack in presenson practice.

"Dana and Lare real close friends," Slack said. "He's had a lot of success here and I'm learning a lot from Slack is getting as much knowledge as possible in his freshman year and he has a good shot at starting in 1985. But, right now, Slack's main concern is contributing to the 1984 Knights and he feels the team has the talent to be a winner.

Recently, the Knights have received a huge dent in their armour due to injuries and ineligibilities and UCF may have to pull off a few miracles if it wants to better last year's 5-6 mark.

"I think we'll do well if we pull ourselves together," Slack said about the recent kinks. "We have a lot of tough competition and it's going to take a full out effort. We're a young team, but we have the talent, how well we do is all up to us.

UCF groved up to Division 1-AA competition for the 1984 season and that means tougher opponents such as national power Eastern Kentucky and I-AA powers like Illinois State, Indiana State and Furman. In fact, five of the Knights' 11 opponents are ranked in the top 10 in Division 1-AA.

The Knights open the season this Saturday against Bethune-Cookman College at Orlando Stadium (formerly the Tangerine Bowl) in Orlando. Game time has been swheled from 7:30 p.m. to 1 p.m. so the game doesn't conflict with the Florida-Miami blockbuster in Tampa

The ineligibility problem started last week as a number of players were ruled academically ineligible after failing to meet academic requirements. Among those players were some of UCF's standouts from a year ago including senior defensive back Greg Atterberry, sophomore receiver Kelvin Collins (18 receptions for 296 yards and three TD's) and sophomore running back Lorenza "Chicken" Rivers

'Dana (Thyhsen) and I are real close friends. He's had a lot of success here and I'm learning a lot from him."

(249 yards, four touchdowns).

UCF coach Lou Saban said poor recruiting was the cause of the incligibilities and that this year's is the highest number of academic failures in his college coaching career.

UCF has also lost some of its key players to injuries including junior offensive tackle Preston Roberts and sophomore center Brad Davis, who was a standout two-way lineman for Daytona Beach Mainland. Sophomore running back Elgin Davis, last year's leading rusher with 804 yards, is nurturing an injured ankle but is expected to play Saturday.

While the Knights are a youthful squad in 1984, they will look to senior. Thyhsen for leadership. Thyhsen threw for 2,058 yards and 19 touchdowns last season.

Thyhsen and Davis will carry a lot of the offensive burden for the Knights in 1984. Keeping Davis at 100 percent will be a key for UCF. As a freshman, Davis set a UCF career rushing record with 804 yards and he also ran for nine touchdowns.

Among the defensive leaders are linemen Charles Lincoln and Darrell Rudd, Rudd, a senior noseguard, led the team in tackles last season with 124

Other Seminole County graduates playing for the Knights in 1984 include Oviedo's Tom Johnson and Lake Brantley's Brian Hamman.

Johnson, a 6-3, 235-pound sophomore, has been switched from linebacker to offensive guard but has picked up quicklyat his new position. Johnson was an all-county linebacker at Oviedo High.

See HAMMAN, Page 11A.

Lou Saban barks an order during a practice session. Saban and his UCF Knights begin the 1984 season with a toughy as they open against Bethune-Cookman College Saturday at Orlando Stadium. Game time is 1 p.m. UCF's main priority Saturday will be to control the Wildcats' impressive air attack led by Bernard Hawk.

Dizney Makes Move, Is Paulucci Involved?

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

I've met Don Dizney just once the impression that he is someone that gets the job done. So, it comes as no surprise that Orlando is on the verge of professional football (USFL) once Dizney met with principal Washington Federal owner Berl Bernhard on Tuesday, and sources said that Bernhard and his partners will approve the deal this week for the limboed Feds. The purchase price is believed to be $5 million.

In the past, franchises in Orlando have been disasters. It's not that they weren't any good - they just weren't appreciated by the locals. Jack Pardee put an excellent squad together called the Orlando Blazers.

Orlando's first effort was the Panthers. This was a collection of former greats which included Don Jonas, Sanford's Gee Knight, Sam Weir and numerous Neither of these teams had the backing or business expertise, however, of one Donald R. Dizney. Dizney, who runs his United Medical Corp. in Orlando. is a 42-year-old wizard who made his pile early.

Some of you may remember his son, David, who was a three-sport standout at Orlando's Bishop Moore High School. He excelled at football, basketball and golf. He now attenda Flagler College.

Dizney, who just lights up at the mention of football, is also a minority owner of the Tampa Bay Bandits. It was during a gathering at Steve Slack's house that he came up with one of the greatest lines of the football

Another newspaper in this area ran a poll on whether to throw Buc coach John McKay in Tampa Bay or keep him dry for another season. Overwhelmingly, the fans voted to dunk John. Something like 95 percent voted in favor of his ouster.

Dizney, whose Bandits were eating up all the bad publicity for the Bucs with record season ticket sales, quipped. "Who do you think phoned in the other five percent?" Dizney, a former Eastern Kentucky footballer. Pro Football said he is still very fond of McKay — as long as the Bucs arelosing. Anyway, Dizney is serious about his football, which is good for Orlando. He also has the money to back up his seriousness. Right now, he is assembling investors for the venture. And some pretty big names are being tossed around.

Jeno Paulucci. Sanford developer and entrepreneur, for one. Jim Tillis, Paulucci's public relations chief, said he hasn't heard anything from his boss on the subject, but he did label that other newspaper's running of Paulucci's picture as "premature."

Regardless, the venture is nearing completion and apparently the key to this whole scenario is the head coach. He is none other than Howard Schnellenberger. And what a eatch he would be. Schnellenberger, after guiding the Miami Hurricanes to the national championship last year, has become the hottest property among the ranks of whistle blowers

Schnellenberger is supposed to be drawing X's and O's for the Miami Federals right now. He was signed to a personal services contract by Sherwood "Woody" Weiser. Schnellenberger figured the Miami area was ripe for the USFL during the spring. When the league voted to go the the fall in 1986, though, Weiser and Schnellenberger decided Miami wasn't so ripe and bailed out.

Schnellenberger, who had a fabulous five-year $3 million deal worked out with Weiser, is sitting pretty. A coach of his caliber has to be. Although he was very successful at Miami and is also being considered for the Florida job, it appears he wants a bigger piece of the football action. He wants to be general manager and coach.

Dizney would like to make him both, although Schnellenberger is still mulling things over. Exasperated that one USFL deal fell through already. Schnellenberger recently said jokingly. "I guess I'm a glutton for punishment."

If he is. Dizney and Orlando will be the benefactors.

Meter Box Bounces Back From Deathbed To Win Future Champion Stakes

Super Seminole's $15,000 Future Champion Stakes Race is over and we have a future champion by the name of Meter Box. He makes the Wayne Strong Kennel a double winner as last year their Rooster's Spur won the Future Champions Stake Race.

Many racing fans were wondering why the Future Champion had only three previous wins and had only nine starts. Meter Box arrived at Super Seminole the last week in May from the farm in Kansas.

Within a few days David Strong knew something was wrong with Meter Box but couldn't find out the answer. He was taken to the veternarian where he was put on intravelnous feeding immediately. For the next week, he was near death. He spent 10 days in the vet's care and lost 10 or 11 pounds. When he was well enough to go back to the kennel he weighed 63 pounds and was way under his racing weight. It took over a month to gain back his lost weight. On July 16 in the fourth race. Meter Box ran his first official race from the two box and broke eighth, but finish second with a burst of speed.

On the July 21 in a matinee maiden race. he drew inside again and was third all around the track. On July 29 in the ninth race, Meter Box broke his maiden by winning from the eight box. He broke last but won by 2 1/3 lengths. He won his next start in D winning out of the seven box.

His next four starts were in C grade and the best he could do was second, fifth, fifth, and seventh. Back in D again he won from the six hole. A quick check of the program or back notes shows that outside Meter Box can run and run well.

We felt all along that Meter Box was as good a greyhound as Been Gonna." sald Strong about his tough-luck greyhound. Because on the farm he would run Been Gonna down and for that reason alone he felt that he would win the Future Champions Stake this year." - Happy Ison

"He's a lot bigger and stronger than last year." UCF offensive line coach Jerry Anderson said. 'We feel he will contribute to this year's team. There's an awful lot of competition at the positions and it's still to early to tell who's going to see a lot of action."

Hamman is working out at center and, like Slack, is trying to make the transition from high school to college. Hamman was an all-county lineman for Lake Brantley last season.

"Brian exhibits some great potential," Anderson said of Hamman. "He's a freshman this year so he has a lot to learn, but we feel he'll definitely be helping us in the future."

UCF will now try to pull together and prepare for Saturday's battle with Bethune-Cookman. In three previous meetings, B-CC has won all three including a 31-22 decision last year in a game that was scheduled for mid-season but was rained out and eventually played at season's end.

'We're so young, it's hard to say what's going to happen Saturday." Anderson said. "You don't know what to expect from young kids. They can be great under pressure and then turn around and make a lot of mistakes. A lot of freshmen and sophomores are going to have to become juniors and seniors. We'll have a little better idea where we're at after Saturday's game."

Brian Hamman ...Patriot product

Tom Johnson ...offensive move

Bethune-Cookman should be strong again this year and will be the definite favorite Saturday. Among its top players are quarterback Bernard Hawk, touted as an All-America candidate and a pair of massive defensive linemen. Steve Collier (6-7, 290) and Robert McGuire (6-6, 290), B-CC has 13 starters returning from last year's team.

Rowdies Win, 5-4

TAMPA - Roy Wegerle scored two goals, including the gamewinner, to lead the Rowdies to a 5.4 victory over Golden Bay despite a hat trick by Steve Zungul

NEW YORK (UPI) - As much as he enjoyed winning the U.S. Open last year, Jimmy Connors would just as soon put it out of

For John McEnroe, however, the more he can remember his Wimbledon romp of two months ago, the happier he will be.

The two talented left-handers, who between them have shared the last six Open crowns, both got off to devastating starts Wednesday in the $2.5 million competition.

McEnroe, the top seed, crushed Colin Dowdeswell of Britain, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, in 62 minutes during the afternoon, and Connors followed on Center Court at night with an equally impressive 6-3, 6-0, 6-2 victory over Matt Mitchell.

Connors, a five-time Open champion, conceded only 14 points in the second set and 12 in the third. In that final set. Mitchell managed three points in the last five games.

"It's an advantage coming into any tournament knowing you played well the year before," Connors said, but he made it clear that whatever happened in the past had little real bearing on the present.

"To be introduced as defending champion, that was last year, he said, "It's over, I have to do it again. You only live on a tournament reputation for one

"My being introduced as the defending champton from last year sure doesn't make any difference to Matt Mitchell. He probably says 'who the hell cares.' I won the tournament last

I'm trying to get back to that, to how I played at Wimbledon," said McEnroe, who has won 60 matches this year and lost only two. "It's mental, just mentally getting my mind back on the court, and hopefully just being the same way I was at Wimbledon so I'm able to really concentrate on my tennis."

McEnroe faces a tough second round match against Olympic champion Stefan Edberg of Sweden, but he says, "I still think if I play well, then I'm going to do well. If I don't play well, then anything can

Martina Navratilova, the women's defending champion and top seed this year, and Ivan Lendl, seeded No. 2 among the men, also won handily Wednesday to reach the second

Navratilova stretched her winning string to 49 matches by beating Lea Antonoplis, 6-4, 6-2, while Lendl topped Brian Teachcr. 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. Navratilova has suffered only two losses since January 1983 and has captured 232 of her last 237 matches.

Both Navratilova and Lendi were scheduled to return to action for second round matches today. Navratilova against Andrea Leand and Lendi against Eddle Edwards at night.

Of the 18 seeded players in action Wednesday, only one was climinated. Kathy Horvath, seeded 11th among the women. raced to a 5-3 lead against Susan Mascarin but was beaten, 7-6

Other first round winners in Mats Wilander, No. 6 Jimmy Arias, No. 11 Juan Aguilera, No. 13 Tomas Smid, No. 14 Anders Jarryd and No. 16 Joakim Nystrom.

Seeded women to advance Wednesday were No. 4 Pam Shriver, No. 5 Kathy Jordan, No. 8 Claudia Kohde, No. 9 Lisa Bonder, No. 12 Bonnie Gadusek, No. 13 Wendy Turnbull and No. 15 Barbara Potter.

Boyd 2-Hits Twins

The "Oil Can" got greased up and fired up, and the result was a crushing two-hitter over the first-place Minnesota Twins.

"I lost some tight ones early on," said rookie Dennis "Oll Can" Boyd Wednesday night in Minneapolis after he helped the Boston Red Sox stifle the Twins 4-0. Boyd has lost three fourhitters this season.

"They told me early in the year I was gonna lose some tough ones. I got to accept losing close ballgames, but I figure you will win them later on. I try not to have too many bad days, just concentrating on getting the ball In there, You can't do better than that."

Boyd struck out six and walked four to improve to 9-9.

"I've been around a little bit more now and I've gotten to know the batters a little bit better." he said. "I've gotten comfortable with some of them and I'm concentrating more on setting them up.

The Twins put only one runner on third base and no one else got past first.

Royals 4, Rangers 1

At Kansas City, Mo., Hai McRae had a solo home run and an RBI triple and Bud Black pitched a six-hitter to spark the Royals. Black, 14-10, shut out the Rangers after giving up Gary Ward's first-inning solo homer. his 16th. The left-hander struck out five and walked none in outducking Frank Tanana. 14-12.

Angels 7, Orioles 5 At Anaheim, Calif., Fred Lynn and Brian Downing delivered back-to-back home runs with two out in the eighth to power the Angels. After loser Mike Boddicker, 16-9, retired the first two batters in the eighth, Lynn hit the next pitch over the right-field wall for his 16th homer. Boddicker then surrendered Downing's 17th. Thurmond's Tidy Effort Quiets Phils' Guns, 2-0

United Press International

The guns of August have gone silent in Philadelphia. In their previous three games the Phillies scored 30 runs and on Kevin McReynolds' sacrifice cracked 35 hits. But quiet was fly restored at Veterans Stadium Wednesday night as Mark Thurmond pitched a three-hitter in carrying the San Diego Padres to a 2-0 victory.

They hit the ball pretty good the last two nights." Thurmond said. "During the day, I knew I had a job to do. I was pretty quiet all day. I was really concentrating before the game. visualizing the Phillies' hitters and their strengths and weaknesses. The 27-year-old left-hander needed only 85 pitches in recording the first shutout of his career and running his record to 11-7. The tidy performance produced a game of just an hour and 48 minutes, fastest in the National League this season.

The loss dropped the Phillies seven games behind first-place Chicago in the NL East. New York is 5 1/2 out.

"What a job he did," San Diego manager Dick Williams said of Thurmond. "He changed the speeds of his pitches and kept ahead of the hitters all night. He kept (Juan) Samuel off base, which is the key to beating this ballclub. He's a gutty pitch-

Thurmond retired the first 11 men before Von Hayes singled in the fourth. He struck out two and walked one. Thurmond's first strikeout was the more significant of the two as he fanned pinch hitter Mike Schmidt on a fastball in the eighth with two out and a runner on first.

Philadelphia's John Denny. 6.5, pitched eight innings and allowed four hits - three in the first inning when the Padres scored on a double play. San Diego added a run in the seventh

Teen Learns Painful Lesson: His Troubles Are His Fault

DEAR ABBY: I'm enclosing one of your articles. In it is a terrific lesson for every young person. Please run it again. It is more needed today than it was when I clipped it from your column in 1970.

YOUR FAN IN STEUBENVILLE, OHIO

DEAR FAN: I agree, and here

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and in a pack of trouble. I was arrested for burglary and other charges. This was not my first time, so I am locked up in Cambridge, Minn., awaiting trial. I would like to express some of the things I have learned in the 121 days I have been here.

One is that you should listen to your parents, as they will never steer you wrong. I never got along too good with my dad. Every time he tried to talk to me we got into a heated argument. but now I realize if I had listened to him, I wouldn't be here.

I would also like to tell kids. don't quit school to go out and make money. I did, and look where I ended up.

Also, there are no shortcuts. A guy needs all the education he can get. And another thing. Don't blame your mistakes on other people. My friends showed me how to break the law, but I am the one who now must take full responsibility for my own actions. I will probably get sent up to St. Cloud's, but thanks, Abby, for letting me say this. Also, I want to thank Sheriff Erickson. He is a swell guy. He let me use his typewriter to write to you. Sincerely,

"THE CAMBRIDGE BUM"

DEAR SIR: You're young yet. so don't go calling yourself a "bum." You can pay your debt and still amount to something if you really want to. I talked to Sheriff Erickson, and he told me you had already been sent to St. Cloud. He said he certainly hoped you would straighten yourself out because you had a lot of good in you, in addition to being exceptionally smart. I believe him. I wish you luck:

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a woman who has had her tubes tied two years ago to get pregnant by a man who said he had a vancciomy?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: If the tubes were not properly tied and the

vasectomy was not properly performed, it's possible, though statistically unlikely.

More often than not, the woman is victimized by a man who claims to have been vasectomized but wasn't.

DEAR ABBY: Now that school will soon resume, as a teacher in an elementary school, I am submitting some dos and dont's for parents. I hope you think they're important enough to

MISS B., TRENTON, N.J. DEAR MISS B: They are:

Do make every effort to attend all conferences and back-toschool nights.

Do not forget to ask your child if he/she has any homework; then check to see if it is done.

Do not throw any of you child's papers without his/her permission.

Do let the teacher know about any home situation that might affect your child's behavior or

Do send your child to school with clean clothes, face, hands,

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend says she will break up with me if I don't quit cracking my knuckles.

She said it will give me arthritis. I think she's wrong. If she is, please tell us what causes

ALL CRACKED UP DEAR CRACKED UP: Brieflyk arthritis is an inflammation of the joints. The theory that arthritis is caused by cracking one's knuckles is an old wives'

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who stops in to visit me regularly. She always brings her dog on a leash, making the comment that she hopes I don't mind.

I do not wish to discourage her visits because she's a good friend, but I do wish she would leave her dog at home.

You would be doing many of us a favor. Abby, if you would suggest to dog owners that other people might own dogs themselves if they wanted dogs

Educator Offers Study Hints

UPI Education Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - Hanging onto a pen or pencil while the teacher writes notes on the board or lectures is not a good idea. Neither is holding a penwhile studying.

'The trouble with keeping a pen in hand at such times is that kids play with it; doodle with it; chew on It.

Such distractions interfere with learning and result in taking poor notes, maybe even in scrawling down every utterance, says Philadelphia education consultant Richard P. Gallagher, a former teacher.

The rule - do not hold the pen (all the time) - was among 12 study-skill tips Gallagher passed on in the "Gifted Children Newsletter," edited by James Alvino in Sewell, N.J.

Alvino said the newsletter tips can be beneficial to most school children, not just those identified

"There is great controversy over the definition of gifted and some definitions are almost laughable," he said.

"Generally, we say if your child does things a little better, a little easier and usually a little differently, there's a good chance your child is gifted."

The "do not hold the pen" rule was in the note-taking section of Qallagher's study tips.

"Listen and write only when you understand," Gallagher advised students.

"'You will take fewer and better notes." Students should pick up pen to write notes only when there is something worthwhile to write: when it has been thought out. Once your child gets out of the habit of taking everything down and holding the pen all the time. here is a simple form Gallagher

High School Dropouts More Likely To Die Of Heart Attacks

BOSTON (UPI) - High school dropouts are more likely to die following a heart attack than their better-educated counterparts, a study released today says.

Men with higher levels of stress and social isolation are four times as likely to die after an attack, a study of over 2,000 heart attack victims showed. It also found men who dropped out of high school tended to have higher levels of both

Since 1978 doctors have known that heart attack victims with less than 10 years of education are more likely to die within three years of their first heart attack, but they were not

'We found that less education was usually a marker that patients were exposed to greater stress and at the same time could less easily cope with a variety of stresses," said Dr. William Ruberman, principal author of the study, published in the New England Journal of

Other studies have shown that less educated men are also more likely to have heart attacks and die during them.

The study concluded the patient had trouble communicating if he did not talk with his doctor about changing his lifestyle; was not a member of any social or religious organization; or did not visit friends or relatives.

It concluded that a patient had high stress if he was retired but preferred to be working; was in a low-status job; did not like his job; had recently been mugged, robbed or in an accident; or if he had been through a divorce.
