

NUMBER OF RAILROADS REFUSE THE NEW PLAN FOR SETTLEMENT STRIKE

BASIS OF SEPARATE AND INDIVIDUAL AGREEMENTS FULL OF UNCERTAINTY

BIG ONES REFUSE

Over Fifty of the Various Railways Have Agreed to Put Men Back to Work

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The refusal by a number of the country's largest railway systems to enter into the Warfield-Willard-Jewell plan for ending the shopmen's strike on a basis of separate and individual agreements developed an element that contains considerable uncertainty today over the scope and effectiveness of the program. While some of the larger systems flatly rejected the plan, others, however, notably the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, virtually completed arrangements for restoring strikers at once to their former jobs under the terms of a separate settlement plan.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—With negotiations reported under way with several railways in an effort to obtain immediate ratification of the peace agreement adopted by the general policy committee of the striking shopcrafts yesterday, the hope was expressed by union officials tonight that the men would be back at work at several points tomorrow.

The Chicago Northwestern led the way in parleys which W. H. Finlay, president of the road, said would be a "mere formality." He added that he expected his men to begin to return to work by tomorrow. Next in line was the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, B. B. Greer, vice-president, declaring at the close of a meeting with the system chairman that it was hoped that some 150,000 men would be back at their jobs by tomorrow night over the entire system.

In the case of the Rock Island, a committee of shopmen, called upon J. E. Gorman, president of the road, in an effort to persuade him from the stand he had announced earlier in the day when he said it was unnecessary for his road to negotiate, as it had severely per cent of its usual shop forces at work. The conference continued for four and a half hours, at the end of which time, Mr. Gorman told the Associated Press:

"I told them I could not accept. I think that covers it and there is nothing more that can be said at this time." Meanwhile the executive council of the shopcrafts met at a north side hotel to make arrangements for the separate negotiations. None of the leaders would discuss the situation in detail, the general opinion seeming to be voiced by R. M. Jewell, strike leader, who said:

"There's been too much publicity already. We won't have anything more to say for several days."

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Continued peace between the railroads and at least two of the big brotherhoods which man their trains seemed in sure prospect today when it was announced that the New York Central lines had practically agreed to renew their present arrangements with the trainmen and conductors.

This announcement, coming from W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was followed by the report that the Pennsylvania, Erie, Lackawanna and other Eastern trunk lines, were also ready to continue the wage scale, the working conditions and rules under which the trainmen and conductors are now employed.

Chieftains of these two brotherhoods and officials of the 12 roads making up the New York Central system, probably will sign the renewal agreement tomorrow, Mr. Lee said. The only undetermined question today, he explained, was whether the new agreement would be for one year or two.

The agreements in prospect will automatically remove from the United States labor board the task of deciding upon the pay and working conditions for trainmen. When the brotherhoods and the Eastern carriers sev-

VICTIM THIRD TIME IN CAR ACCIDENT MIAMI SCHOOL TEACHER

(By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, Sept. 15.—The victim of her third accident since coming to Miami a year ago, Miss Kate Flynn, school teacher, of Chicago, is in the city hospital as a result of being struck last night by a passenger train engine at a street crossing. She was watching a freight train near the crossing and failed to see the other engine approaching.

Several months ago failed to reach an agreement, the matter was put before the board, but now the trainmen and conductors seem about to settle the matter themselves with the separate roads.

Mr. Lee said tonight he did not know what plans for settling the wage question had been made by the other two big brotherhoods—the engineers and firemen.

LETTER FROM PROF OGILVIE

Who is studying law at Harvard and would like to be in Sanford: Dear "Bob" Holly:

Excuse my familiarity, but that's just the way I feel tonight, please. Just a note to say hello, and how do you do? I know my note might have been a little sooner but it isn't. So I'm now saying I'm mighty glad that the Sanford schools had such a successful year and the prospects for the coming term are even brighter. To me, the Sanford schools mean Sanford. I feel that they did so much for me that they can never be forgotten.

Well, so much for the sad stuff! (For it is sad stuff to a fellow to be a long way off, and to be wishing he was all the way back). And, too, I'm coming back some time.

My school year was a very pleasant one and I hope, successful. You know that I'm studying law, and I'm telling you it's as clear as mud in some places, too. I'm beginning to picture the difficulty of my being a "Philadelphia lawyer." I just received my grades for last year about two weeks ago. They told me I could come back next year—you know, a fellow is kicked out, never to return, if he flunks two studies during his first year. I passed everything with a little margin to my credit. Will begin studying again September 26th.

Have spent the entire summer tutoring three kids here in Cohasset, Mass. This is an exclusive summer beach resort (that's the reason I'm here). Anyway, it's a pretty nice place. But if the choice was mine I'd go to Florida instead. I left home (Gainesville) last September and haven't been back since, but I'm going back when I find some money in a horse's track.

By the way, you might tell the S. H. S. boys and girls that I used to think they were a stupid bunch at times, but I've changed my mind since trying my pedagogy on these three kids here in Cohasset.

Old Top, if you ever have a line to spare in the "Bugle," I'd like for you to say hello to everybody for me, for which I will thank you very much until you're better paid.

Sincerely, CLAUDE OGILVIE, 391 Hyde Park Ave., Boston, Mass.

Strike will soon be over and the men will be back on the job.

And the greatest season in the history of Sanford will be upon us in full force. This is the time to get ready.

Governor Tom Hardwick has been defeated in Georgia and Tom Watson is still king of all he surveys.

There is nothing gained by strikes and all those who have been through this one will agree to this.

SHOPMEN AND DYNAMITERS

Two of the Jacksonville dynamiters admit the crime according to the officers who have questioned them and say there is a "master mind" who plotted the blowing up of bridges and trains and other property.

Recently one man who was an admirer of the professional beggars and who had been formed in New York City to wage warfare upon the professional beggar, something more than a nuisance, if you take the word of the men and women back of the movement.

There is but one Florida. September is swiftly passing and October is trading fast on its heels. Up in the northland the farmers have garnered beautiful crops.

Officers did their duty. There is some criticism being levelled at the heads of the city officers and especially upon Sheriff Hand for whisking away the negro murderer of Deputy Sheriff Jacobs yesterday.

VAGRANTS. Vagrants are not only a source of annoyance to the householders but they are a menace to the public in a thousand different ways and at their feet in the flesh of the city and county.

was not a relative of the deceased. And yet Sheriff Hand had given to the duty of upholding the law and he took the negro murderer out of the city while they were yet there.

golden, yellow, fiery reds and somber browns. They will offer a gorgeous feast to the greedy eyes of the birdlover, but it will not be a lasting one.

Every year and especially during the winter months there are hundreds of professional beggars on the streets of Sanford. They are allowed to be on the streets because the city officials do not seem to know just how to prevent it.

There is nothing gained by strikes and all those who have been through this one will agree to this. The place for the workman to get justice is at the polls with the ballot box.

INLET WORK STARTS FROM OCEAN TO RIVER AT SAN SEBASTIAN

(By The Associated Press)
FORT PIERCE, Sept. 15.—The time limit in which further litigation might develop having expired, the bonds aggregating $100,000, voted for the construction of an inlet from the Atlantic Ocean to the Indian river, will be put on the market, September 18, the commissioners in charge have announced.

Two counties are involved in the project, the San Sebastian inlet district, comprising the third and fourth part of the fourth commissioner's district of Brevard county and the first district of St. Lucie county. The bond issue was voted August 30, 1919, but the decree validating them was not signed until July 7, of this year.

The legality of the issue was contested by the Consolidated Land Co., George W. Hopkins an other interests, who claimed that the inlet would be of no benefit to them. After Judge Perkins ruled against the complainants and validated the bonds on July 7 it was thought that the contest would be carried to the supreme court. The time limit for the filing of the appeal, however, has now expired, and it is expected to start work on the inlet shortly after the bonds are sold.

BETTER MEN CAN BE MADE SAYS BURBANK

WIZARD WITH PLANTS SAYS SOME OF RULES WILL APPLY

(By The Associated Press)
SANTA ROSA, Calif., Sept. 15.—If fulfillment comes to the hopes and ideals of Luther Burbank, foremost plant breeder of the world, history also will record his influence in the developing of better men, as well as better plants, for he regards improvement of mankind as a greater work than improvement of plant species.

"I hope that the same laws, as far as practicable, which I have discovered and demonstrated in plant life will be applied to the improvement of human life," said the dean of plant scientists in his Santa Rosa home.

"This is a measure, can, must and will be done," he asserted.

Although every possible minute of Burbank's day is given to his plant experiments, he is glad to give time to civic affairs, especially to the Boy Scouts, playground activities and school doings, for in these he sees the beginning of the application to mankind of his principles of plant breeding.

"My time is all too short to do all I wish and hope yet to do," he says.

The improvement of plants, according to Burbank, is in its earliest infancy, but "the possibilities are limitless," he declares.

"In mechanics and electricity great progress already has been made, as every scientist knows, it is hardly a beginning," says Burbank, in comparing mechanical and plant knowledge.

After sixty years of plant breeding he enunciates the principle, "Plants are pliable and amenable to the will of man, but this has never been surmised by the general public until the last twenty-five years."

Agriculturists a few years ago reported to Burbank that the tall stalks on which sunflowers grew made it unhandy to harvest the seeds. Burbank set to work on the problem, and this year is marketing seeds of a new sunflower, which grows on a three foot stalk. The bloom has been so greatly enlarged that it is a heavier producer of seeds than other varieties and the seeds are white.

Next year he will give the world six new peaches, a new plum which does not need to be dipped before drying, a new plum and a new nectarine. He has also been working several years on potatoes in the hope of producing a new variety which will rival his famous "Burbank", grown and used in greater quantity than any other, and after countless experiments has narrowed his experimental varieties down to sixty, from which he will eventually bring out one or more varieties for the world.

The Santa Rosa plant scientist, having produced many fruits, berries, vegetables, grasses and grains of great benefit to mankind, is today giving a bit more of his attention than ever before to the development of beautiful plants and blossoms, although no measure giving up his work and interest in food, clothing and timber producing plants.

But it is in the development of striking colors in plants and flowers, of pleasing flower fragrance and new flavors in fruits that his experiments today show breadth of imagination. Hundreds of visitors stop in amazement each day at the low fences surrounding his experimental plots in this city and gaze enraptured at the shades of some glorified popular flower—some new zinnia, poppy, gladiolus or larkspur.

Burbank has a hundred thousand new color shades and varieties of the gladiolus, in every conceivable color and combination of color and of unequalled size and freedom of bloom.

His new amaranthus "Molten Fire" is his newest pride. It is a plant from three to four feet in height and three feet across and whose leaves develop an iridescent, fiery, crimson, salmon color, a hue never before seen on land or sea, in any plant or anything else except the intense heat of the electric furnace. It retains its brilliance of color for three months. Two years ago there was only one of these plants in the world.

Constantly increasing publicity for Burbank's work has resulted in his experimental grounds here becoming the Mecca for thousands of scientists and world notables in every profession. He receives as many of these as possible, but the unnumbered thousands who come cannot, of course, be admitted to the grounds, or his work soon would have to be discontinued. He has now an average of 150 callers a day, of whom he can see but few. On a recent Sunday afternoon automobiles were parked three deep in the street for the length of a block beside his gardens.

"I would willingly entertain all who wish to visit my grounds, yet the very nature of my work requires absolute freedom from interruption," he says.

All of Burbank's business is carried on by mail only, a necessary measure because of the demands made upon his time.

Mother Finds Son After Three Years Search For Him

Tampa Mother, Lost Son in War and Finds Him in an Asylum

(By The Associated Press)
TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Emma C. Cline, of this city, after a search of more than three years for her son, Joseph Cline, who served with the American naval air forces in France during the world war, has found the youth, according to word received here by friends. He is in a hospital for the insane at Elgin, Ill.

Joseph enlisted in 1917 and was sent to the naval air station at Pensacola for training. From Pensacola he went to France and his mother had letters from him regularly for a time. Then they stopped coming. A search of navy department records failed to show him in the casualty list and further investigation developed that as an ensign he had resigned in 1920.

Two years ago Mrs. Cline learned that he was employed as chauffeur by a family in Cleveland, Ohio, and she solicited the aid of the American Red Cross. Word came that he had left his position.

He next was located in the naval service at San Diego, Calif., but upon being interviewed by Red Cross officials he denied he ever had been in Florida and said that the woman, in search of him apparently was an impostor. Finger prints established his identification and his actions led officials to believe him to be of unsound mind.

Mrs. Cline was advised recently that he was to be discharged from the navy at Chicago and she went to that city. She finally found her boy in the hospital at Elgin. Although insane, he recognized her.

SPREADING UP CASE AGAINST R. R. STRIKERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The government today speeded up its case against the striking railroad crafts in an effort to complete the evidence in support of Attorney General Daugherty's injunction bill by Saturday at noon.
While the assistant attorneys, General Blackburn Esterlin, assistant to the solicitor general, asked in relays reading additional affidavits of violence during the progress of the strike, the defense announced it could seek to show the railroad executives were in a conspiracy to force a strike in an effort to wreck the unions.
"The government has sought to show presumption of a conspiracy among the shopmen to carry out acts of violence," attorneys for the defense said. "We will show a strong presumption that certain rail executives were in conspiracy to destroy the unions."
"We will show they first sought to bring on a strike and then did everything in their power to prevent peace."

Evidence which the unions could not produce heretofore because it might hurt their peace negotiations with Daniel Willard and other rail presidents can now be brought forward, it was said.
If the government completes its case by Saturday noon, four days will be left for the defense, before the expiration of the present restraining order next Thursday night.
Permission was unofficially given the unions today to stage tag days in Chicago and other cities to raise funds for the relief of families of strikers. Donald R. Richberg and Frank Mulhollen, attorneys for B. M. Jewell and John Scott, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the railway employees department, American Federation of Labor, raised the question of whether such tag day campaigns would violate the restraining order. Judge Wilkerson said he knew nothing in the order which would prevent tag campaigns and the government's attorneys assured the defense attorneys they had the government's permission to go ahead.

FT. MYERS PREPARES FOR HORSE SHOES, CHECKERS, DOMINOES

(By The Associated Press)
FORT MYERS, Sept. 14.—A new and elaborate horseshoe pitching court has recently been completed by C. R. Watkins, who is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of "barn yard golf" in Fort Myers. There will be separate courts for women. And it is believed that during the coming season this court will be patronized quite as much as that laid out for the masculine "slipper slammers."
In addition to the two horseshoe courts, Mr. Watkins will place a number of domino and checker tables at the grounds. The grounds will be shady at all times, owing to the numerous trees surrounding the plot and prospects for a large following of this game during the coming season are bright.

WHEN MOTOR MEETS WILDCAT—WHAT THEN? THAT IS QUESTION

(By The Associated Press)
DE LAND, Sept. 15.—The question of the proper thing to do when a wild cat is encountered by a motorist traveling along the highway at night is left open. Here is what four De Land men did, so the story goes:
The four of them—Bert Higginbotham, Norman Smith, Elmer Hayman and Jack Durrelle—were en route by automobile to Daytona. Suddenly out of the darkness there came a noise that might be likened to the war submarine screech in mid-ocean. The foot on the gas accelerator stiffened, grew faint and refused to accelerate. The car came to a halt. The cold beads of perspiration took their places on the respective countenances of the four men involved, while the cat walked majestically onto the highway.
Blinded by the headlights of the car, the ferocious feline stopped astride the road.
Life had returned to the motor party and consultations were in progress as to what should be done. This is what was done, so the story goes:
The four men left the car and approached the cat stealthily. Two seized the animal by the neck while the other two did likewise at its feet. In this position the cat was carried to a negro's house nearby where it was placed in a sack and the journey continued.

The issue of 'The Light' under date of September contains a news item stating that George Robinson, a member of the staff of caretakers at the school intends to install "a new patented feature" on his sliver.
"It is a contraption to register the danger point in speed," writes the youthful editor. "So far as could be gathered, it is a sort of phonograph arrangement that will automatically start playing 'Nearer My God to Thee' when forty miles is reached."
The editor adds that Robinson has assured him "that he will never hear more than the first note of the hymn."
