was the 11th by the Reds.
The Allies have denied or ignored all previous charges.
The U. S. command statement said a plane detected by Allied radar in the Kaesong area at the time of the Red report strafing turned out to be a U. S. bomber.
The statement continued: "Continuing radar plot including a directed identification turn and subsequent transmission indicates plane was one from third bomb group. The pilot reports having strafed lights at 1:36 A.M. in what he believed to be a different area but which in view of the radar plot must have been Kaesong.
"Faulty navigation on pilot's part led to error."
Earlier the Communists warned the Allies to accept Red terms for resuming stalled Korean truce talks in Kaesong or "bear the full responsibility for all the consequences."

Shortages of copper and aluminum are important, too, he said, but "steel is still king, and scrap is the crown prince."
Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann told the meeting earlier that scrap collections may be the key to mobilization and possibly will spell the difference "between victory and defeat."
"Steel is no longer a shortage, it is an emergency," Fleischmann said.

was in it. North said, they testified, that he went to Wauchula with Mrs. Albritton when the will was drawn.
They testified that North declared Henry Albritton was killed all his mother's property and that he (North) "was supposed to look after Henry."
The Polk county circuit court jury which has been listening to the case since Sept. 4 has two medical theories before it as to how Mrs. Albritton met her death.
The State contends she died of throat wounds which were administered by force and are like those caused by strangulation.
The defense says she died at her rural home of a heart attack and possible of a kidney ailment.
Rogers and Keen gave this story of their interview with Mrs. Albritton met her death.
North traced his relationship with the Albritton family, explaining how he and Mrs. Albritton's husband had entered the cattle business. North said the cattle partnership was profitable and on one deal alone they made a $8,000 profit.

Arson Case
day into triple arrests after two men died in a thunderous, million-dollar blast and fire.
The victims were a city detective and one of the alleged arsonists he had trailed into a nine-story Manhattan business building last night. The structure was wrecked when 65 gallons of gasoline blew up.
Another detective was blown through a wall, and a second accused "torch" was thrown five stories down an elevator shaft, landing in the basement atop an elevator car. Both were seriously hurt.
The terrific explosion, which police said fumbling arsonists had planned as only a minor one, shattered windows for block around. The fire raged out of control for more than three hours.
The building was on West 18th Street, just off Fifth Avenue.

Senator Asks Revived Crime Investigation

Capehart Wants Commerce Committee To Take Over Of Defunct Group

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A group of Republicans asked the Senate today to set up a special watch dog committee to keep a close check on the billions of dollars being spent for defense. Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) made the proposal in an amendment to the $61,000,000 defense bill, which was being debated in the Senate for the third day.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) said he would ask the Senate today to set up a $150,000 committee to revive a nationwide investigation of organized crime.

Under his proposal, the Senate Commerce Committee would take over the job from the now-defunct special Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Capehart offered his proposal at a closed meeting of the Commerce Committee this morning. He decided to put it as a resolution before the Senate. Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) of the Commerce Committee promised prompt action.

The Senate Rules Committee, meanwhile, voted an investigation of crime and law enforcement in the District of Columbia, seat of the U. S. Government.

The resolution may be called up for Senate action tomorrow, Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) told reporters.

It would assign the inquiry to the Senate District of Columbia Committee headed by Senator Neely (D-W. Va.) with instructions to complete the report by Jan. 31.

The special Senate crime problem committee, long headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) went out of existence on Sept. 1, 1949, after a 15-month investigation.

The Sanford Pilot Club voted unanimously last night at its meeting in the Yacht Club to cooperate with Mack Cleveland, Jr., Seminole County Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, in a plan of action to secure signatures on the Freedom Scroll and contributions for the purpose of building Freedom Stations. The 1951 Crusade for Freedom has a goal of securing a total of 25,000,000 signatures and the raising of $3,500,000 to build two more Freedom Stations for overseas broadcast.

A letter was read from the Business and Professional Women's Club, inviting the club to a joint civic luncheon on Sept. 26.

Plans were made to hold a summer picnic on Saturday, Oct. 13, in the Puckett and Royal Furniture Store on Sanford Avenue.

Members were requested by Mrs. O. W. Touchton, chairman, to bring clothing to Stine Machine Shop prior to the next business meeting of the club on Oct. 9 or 10. It is to be marked and ready to put on sale on Oct. 18.

Attention was called to the Fall Council Meeting of District 28, which is being held this weekend at Oklawaha Springs. The meeting will be presided over by the recently elected district governor, Mrs. Les Tavarez of Panama City.

Mrs. W. E. Hollyhead, chairman of the new second vice president, taking the place of Mrs. Gordon Sweeney who is on leave of absence and Mrs. R. M. Ball, who has been absent because of illness for sometime, was welcomed at the meeting.

Mrs. V. C. Messenger presided over the meeting which was attended by 18 members.

Jaycee Directors Write Judge, Protest "Mrs. America" Selection

MIAMI, Sept. 12.—(AP)—No matter who won the "Mrs. America" contest, it was a Florida girl, Mrs. Peggy Duncan of New York City, declared the winner. But the judges said Mrs. Peggy Creel of St. Petersburg, Fla., actually got the most votes. Miss Helen Polka, owner of the Miami Jungle Club, said Mrs. Duncan used to do a strip tease dance there under the name of Penny Baker. Later, she went to New York to become a "Power" model. Now, she spends the winter in Miami and dances at the Chee Paro Club. Mayor Samuel G. Johnson of St. Petersburg has demanded an official recount of the contest votes.

Joining the rising chorus of protest against the verdict of the directors of the recent "Mrs. America" contest in placing Florida's entry, Mrs. Peggy Creel of St. Petersburg, third, the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce last night deplored this action.

Richard Farrell, secretary, pointed out that Mrs. Creel, winner of the "Mrs. Central Florida" contest at Sanlando Springs, was said to have been selected a first place winner by 23 of the 24 judges at the "Mrs. America" contest recently held at Ashbury Park, N. J.

The Jaycee directors, including John Knier, who presided at the meeting at Tourist Hut, directed that Mr. Farrell send a letter to Wendell Corey, motion picture actor and the judge who brought the alleged injustice to light, commending him for his intelligence and fairness in choosing Mrs. Creel for first place on the basis of her beauty and talent.

The letter stated, "We have long recognized that Sanford and Central Florida produce not only the best beauty in the world, but also the most beautiful women. Now you have brought to light how some of these contests are rigged.

"We urge you to continue your investigation of this matter and do your utmost to ascertain the reasons that the sponsor ignored the selection made by our judges."

The Jaycees are expected to take further action on the matter at their meeting tomorrow at 12:30 P. M. at the Yacht Club.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Bert Nevins, director of the "Mrs. America" contest, says the claim that the judges had selected "Mrs. Central Florida" as their choice is (Continued On Page Two)

Star Witness In Policeman Graft Trial Disappears

Cross's Family Receives Threatening Letters Over Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Harry Gross, missing graft trial star witness sought throughout the nation, received letters threatening the lives of his wife and children before he escaped from police custody. District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said today.

The dapper, perfumed Gross fled as the mass trial of 18 policemen accused of accepting graft from Gross to cover up the gambler's $20,000,000 syndicate finished its second day yesterday.

McDonald made his announcement in the courtroom of Judge Samuel H. Leshowitz, who is conducting the trial that Gross was to have been the chief prosecution witness.

McDonald read the letters, which were addressed to Mrs. Gross. He emphasized that he did not claim the letters were connected with the 18 policemen on trial, but said they indicated the frame of mind that led Gross to escape policemen guarding him.

Gross had been free in $20,000 bail, although Leshowitz had said during previous hearings in the case that the gambler's life would be in great danger if he were free. He had been under protective custody.

Gross slipped away from two patrolmen at his Long Island home last night, and dropped from sight. He was believed to have fled by automobile.

Peiping Radio Says Apology By UN Absurd

Hopes For Peace In Korea Delicately Balanced On Communist Reactions

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Peiping radio hinted today the Communists might reject an Allied apology for the accidental strafing of the Kaesong neutral zone Monday.

It called a dispatch from a Communist correspondent at Kaesong saying the Allied "claim" that the strafing was a mistake "is absurd."

While this was no official statement, the dispatches of Communist correspondents frequently foreshadow the line of official reaction will take.

The hope of peace for Korea balanced gingerly on the Red reaction to the apology. There had been considerable optimism here that the Reds would accept the apology.

Sources close to the U.N. command were optimistic that the talks would be resumed.

These sources said the Supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, has shown his good faith by readily admitting this violation.

But they emphasized he has no intention of being "raisonnable" in the eyes of the Communist charge that has no basis of fact.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Peiping radio today declared U.S. forces "are now openly clamoring for war" through "new military adventures."

A broadcast monitored here by the Associated Press simply quoted a variety of U.S. press reports as a source for its thesis.

The new "military adventures" were the series of sharp thrusts launched by the Allies in Korea in an attempt to keep the communists off balance.

The broadcast termed "jingoism" the U.S. attitude.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Army today alerted the 37th and 44th Infantry Divisions for active service next year.

They are the 37th Infantry Division of Ohio and the 44th of Illinois, commanded respectively by Maj. Gen. Leo Krueger and Maj. Gen. Harry L. Holen.

The 37th will report to Camp Polk, La., about Jan. 16 and the 44th to Camp Cooke, Calif., about Feb. 16, the Army said.

General Marshall Resigns As Secretary Of Defense; Lovett Named Successor

New Head Of Department Is Old Hand In Government And Gets Things Done

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Robert A. Lovett, picked today to be Secretary of Defense, is an old hand in the government with a reputation for getting things done quickly with little fuss.

He earned that record over a 10-year span as Assistant Secretary of War for Air, as Undersecretary of State and as Deputy Secretary of Defense. In between stints in the government, he was a New York investment banker.

In all his government posts, Lovett has worked with Gen. George C. Marshall—the man he was chosen to succeed as head of the defense establishment.

The new post will be a birthday gift for Lovett. He will be 56 on Friday.

Lovett is tall, lean and bald; pleasant and friendly despite his record as a hard-working, efficient administrator.

The late President Roosevelt tapped him in 1940 for the job as Assistant Secretary of War for Air.

Lovett took over the seemingly impossible task of boosting bombing U.S. forces from three or four months to 600, then 775 and finally 1,000 a month. His success was hailed as one of the great achievements of World War II.

He left the old war department post in 1945 to return to the New York banking firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co. but (Continued On Page Two)

North Trial Is Stenstrom Raps Expected To Go To Growing Menace Jury Late Today Of Communism

DEFENSE SAYS STATE SEeks Conviction On Half Truths

Attorney John R. Parkhill said today that conviction was on sight and he had her husband's claim that her body and caused marks to be left on it.

North, a 35-year-old undertaker, is charged with checking and heading her to death.

The trial began Sept. 4. The case probably will go to the jury this afternoon.

William K. Love, serving as assistant state attorney, said North in all his "artificial eloquence" was evasive of the Abbot family wealth. North was killed at the 57-year-old widow's property, estimated at more than $50,000.

North was 80 years in eluding the state when he was sent down to Hardee county the day after her death to count them, Love declared.

Love said Mrs. Abbot died of a heart attack after North assaulted her. Love emphasized the state's evidence that bruises were found on her face and throat and that North offered a $5 reward to shut back at our lawyer, taking her to do a good job of covering them up.

Love also said North went to the up Mrs. Abbot's body but was stopped when an investigation (Continued On Page Six)

Resignation Is Tendered To Truman Presumably For Personal Reasons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—George C. Marshall resigned today as Secretary of Defense. He said he was succeeded by the present Deputy Secretary, Robert A. Lovett.

Marshall, 70, was appointed Defense Secretary one year ago today. He is quitting "for very personal reasons."

The soldier-statesman, a five-star general, was Army Chief of Staff in World War II and later was Secretary of State. He sponsored the European Recovery Program which became known throughout the world as the Marshall Plan.

Upon the resignation of Defense Secretary Louis Johnson a year ago, Marshall came out of retirement to become the first professional military man to head a U. S. military department since 1916.

Marshall himself announced his resignation today in a statement to the news until a White House announcement at 1 P. M. (EST).

President Truman accepted Marshall's resignation "with the greatest reluctance" and effective immediately.

He named William C. Forster, Economic Cooperation Administration, to succeed Lovett as Deputy Secretary and Thomas A. Blount, Jr., Deputy Administrator, as Acting ECA Administrator, succeeding Forster to head the Marshall Plan agency.

Shortly before today's White House announcement, Marshall summoned Pentagon reporters to his office and told them: "My resignation from the Secretary of Defense takes effect at 11 (EST) this morning."

He said he was "resigning for very personal reasons." An aide said later that Marshall's health was a determining factor.

He and his family are in a Delaware town. (Continued On Page Two)

President Names Chester Bowles Envoy To India

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—President Truman today named Chester Bowles, former Governor of Connecticut and World War II pilot hero, as Ambassador to India.

Loy Henderson, the present envoy to India, was nominated to be ambassador to Iran, succeeding Henry P. Grady. Grady's resignation was accepted with the greatest reluctance.

Army Alerts More Guard Divisions For Active Duty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Army today alerted the 37th and 44th Infantry Divisions for active service next year.

They are the 37th Infantry Division of Ohio and the 44th of Illinois, commanded respectively by Maj. Gen. Leo Krueger and Maj. Gen. Harry L. Holen.

The 37th will report to Camp Polk, La., about Jan. 16 and the 44th to Camp Cooke, Calif., about Feb. 16, the Army said.

The still unnamed Guard Division that is earmarked for duty next year will be given at least four months notice before being called up, the Army added.

Restless Draft Boards Classify Married Men I-A

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A ticklish question of the reclassification of new Selective Service regulations.

Meanwhile, some draft boards are delaying adoption of new Selective Service regulations.

These regulations, some of them dating back to early U. S. history, contain agreements that each signer will refrain from inducting nationals of the other into military service.

A ruling from the Attorney General is expected this week. Once the issue has been settled, President Truman is expected to issue the new regulations promptly, possibly next week.

The new regulations, in addition to providing for the registration of aliens and the reclassification of childrens married men, lower the physical standards for those of February 1945—lowest in World War II—and reduce the draft age from 19 to 18½ years.

Col. Daniel O. Omer, general counsel of the Selective Service System, told a reporter that a few local boards already have (Continued On Page Two)

Girl Stabbed In Church, Near Death

DES MOINES, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A 12-year-old girl, Theresa O'Connor, remained near death today from knife wounds inflicted by a rejected suitor as she walked toward the communion rail at St. Ambrose Cathedral yesterday.

The attractive brunette, a clerk for an electrical supply firm here, suffered two deep stab wounds in the back and a severe wrist cut. A hospital attendant said she was "barely holding her own."

JUDGE APOLOGIZES TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A federal judge today apologized to opera singer Lauris Wheeler for having to fine him $50 for accepting southern hospitality and taking too many gift cases back north.

Six-Year-Old Child Crushed By Truck

MELBOURNE, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Six-year-old Eric Arnold Smith of Eau Gallie won't celebrate his birthday Saturday.

The child was crushed beneath the wheels of a truck in Eau Gallie yesterday as he attempted to cross the street near an elementary school speed zone. He died at St. Bernard hospital today.

Sgt. H. E. Douglas of the Florida Highway Patrol identified the driver of the truck as Willie Clinton, 41, of Jacksonville. Douglas said the child was driving between 10 and 15 miles an hour when the child drove across the street and ran into the side of the truck.

Unite Under One Flag To Fight Communism, Pope Tells Christians

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius called upon all Christians today to unite "under one flag"—the Roman Catholic Church—to fight Communism.

An encyclical letter, described in an official Vatican summary as "of great importance from historical, doctrinal and pastoral viewpoints," was issued by the Pope on the occasion of the 15th centenary of the Council of Chalcedon, which outlined aspects of the nature of Jesus Christ.

The encyclical, entitled from its first two Latin words, "Eternal Kings," reaffirmed the Catholic Church's doctrine that Jesus Christ had been human and divine nature, and reasserted its belief in the primacy of the Pope, the bishop of Rome.

BEEN PRICES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Price Director Michael V. DeSalle says his Office of Price Stabilization is doing its best to get out promptly an order which will let beef prices go up. DeSalle said the order is being delayed by hundreds of computations necessary to figure out new retail beef prices on the basis of higher wholesale prices to be permitted.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 12, 1951

The Southern Bell Telephone Co. wants to erect a new building in Sanford and install the dial system. At least they are seeking a site for such a building from the City Commission. We hear rumors of many other big construction jobs in the making, some of which will surprise you. It looks as if a good year is ahead of us for Sanford, perhaps several good years.

It is good to hear that Seminole High School now has 64 boys out for football, that there will be regular A and B squads and a freshman team, on which some eighth graders may be permitted to play. This sounds as if Seminole High is getting ready for a real first class football season. It may not win all its games, but there will be more football for more people than ever before. And after all, that is what counts.

Are you afraid of growing old? Well, keep active then. Dr. Vogt Schwarzwald told the International Gerontological Congress in St. Louis the other day that people who retire early in life grow old faster than those who keep busy. If you want to keep an active body, keep active. If you want to keep an active mind, use it. Nothing so deteriorates body or mind as lack of use.

Federal spending this year is expected to reach $100 billion, according to a Budget Bureau survey. That compares with an annual federal expenditure of about four billion dollars prior to the New Deal. President Truman's explanation is that it is necessary on account of defense preparations which everyone favors. Much of it, however, is caused by nothing less than graft and corruption.

The weapons are getting heavier and more deadly on the Korean front. The Chinese Reds are reported to be using 132-millimeter Russian-made rockets now for the first time in this war. Russian-made jets are also appearing in increasing numbers over Allied lines. Still we cannot attack even Chinese targets, much less Russian targets, across the Yalu River. It is like fighting with one hand tied behind our backs. We do not dare to bomb Chinese cities for fear of making them mad at us. It is the strangest war in all history.

Our old friend Claude Pepper was in Tampa yesterday making noises which sounded strange as if he is planning to run against Senator Holland for the U.S. Senate next year. It is a hard job to keep a good man down, or Claude either, and anyone with as much following as he has among minority groups of one kind and another, just up to come backing up again every time he gets the chance. "Congress" has accused him of being almost callous in allowing prices to rise so high. Pepper knows as well as anyone that high prices are caused by excessive government spending and that as long as that continues there is nothing Congress or anyone else can do about it. And as one would hold louder than Claude Pepper if anyone suggested reducing government spending.

Although we don't know exactly what his significance is, we do know that he has been around with some of the right of speech of Communist flags being from the members of passing automobiles. Every time we see one of these things, we see the stories of the recent defense of Fred Schaber and Petersburg, and of how the Lee Jackson, Kenneth E. Kenner, Kenner and Jackson, but we know that we are not to be misled by the news of a politician's activities.

Battle Strategy

In Russia it is unsafe to cite the weather as a reason for success or failure. Eugene Tarle, the most conspicuous of the Soviet historians, once rashly attributed Napoleon's disastrous defeat at Moscow to the winter cold, as well as to the country's great distances, which lured him to the destruction. Tarle is now attacked by a rival historian, S. Kozhykov, for emphasizing these factors instead of the genius of the Russian commander, Marshal Kutuzov, and the heroism of his soldiers. Kozhykov's criticisms may be inspired by professional jealousy, but in Russia all criticisms are dangerous; and Tarle would do well to be alarmed.

As a matter of fact all historians do emphasize the stubborn fighting of the Russian armies, and the shrewdness of Kutuzov in evading battle when possible and in constantly retreating. Some say that this policy, however, was not his idea, but that of his predecessor as head of the Russian army, Barclay de Tolly, a Scot who showed his race's prudence in his cautious strategy. The retreat angered the Czar to remove Barclay and substitute the Russian Kutuzov. At least partial credit for the victory really belongs to Barclay, but super-patriotism would not then or now permit this to be recognized in Russia.

That same sentiment may prevail today. It may still be dangerous in Russia to admit that any but a pure-bred Russian can achieve anything.

Change In Uruguay

Uruguay, the South American republic with the fewest revolutions, is none the less willing to try experiments in government. For some time it has had a provision requiring the president to include in his cabinet some members of the opposition party. Recently it has elected its president by a rule giving the office to the party getting the most votes, and to that individual within the winning party who got more ballots than his competitors. That rule in 1949 elected President Trubian, although a candidate of a rival party actually got more votes than he.

Now an even more drastic change is in prospect. Both parties have agreed to abolish the traditional presidency altogether, substituting a nine-man federal council on the Swiss model. In Switzerland a council of seven carries on all executive work. Each year it chooses one of its members as president, a purely honorary office with immediate reelection forbidden. The success of the Swiss in maintaining peace and prosperity amid the most difficult years evidently attracts the Uruguayans.

For Latin-American nations, where the presidents frequently have seized power by force and used force to keep themselves in office, the Swiss plan may be the logical one. It should be considerably harder for a council of seven or nine to decide on a plan of dictatorship than for one president to get the idea and put it into practice.

Water Shortages

Some of our comforts have become so much a part of our lives that we no longer notice them. When something interferes with them or when they grow short or are threatened, we suddenly realize how important they are to us. Every summer some locality suffers from drought. Sometimes the water shortage does not become acute and restrictions on sprinkling lawns and washing sidewalks are enough to conserve the water until the rains come and replenish the supply. Other times the shortage may require strict conservation measures.

Whether or not a water shortage affects us directly, the knowledge that some people cannot have all the water they want brings home the wonderful thing it is to have enough of it. The cool sweet taste of good water, the refreshing sting of a shower on a hot day and the pleasure of watching the sprinkler keep the lawn fresh and green can really be appreciated when one realizes what it would be like if water grew permanently scarce.

As dangerous as a water shortage is water contamination. That is something which seriously concerns us here in Florida.

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY

Attending a meeting of the Committee on Public Information of the Governor's Safety Conference, I listened for several hours to an earnest discussion of what can be done to reduce the terrible death toll on our highways and impress upon the public consciousness the need for the cooperation of every individual in an effort to reduce this toll.

People who wouldn't think of playing with a stick of dynamite poking their finger into a buzz saw or fumbling a rattlesnake, think nothing of climbing into the driver's seat of a high-powered motor car and risking their necks as reckless drivers. The press and radio is constantly jabbing warning and urging motorists to drive carefully, but it seems folks have become hardened to such advice. The daily accounts of terrible accidents and the horror pictures of the results of reckless driving fail to impress them. They think that accidents are something that can only happen to OTHER PEOPLE!

Reports of traffic officers, highway patrolmen, judges and others show clearly the public indifference to danger. Heavy fines and even jail sentences don't seem to have any effect.

One thing stood out as more effective than anything else in dealing with traffic violators: PUBLICITY and loss of DRIVER'S LICENSE. Time after time motorists will plead guilty, pay a heavy fine and return to the road, but they will not be reported in the public press or not result in the loss of their driver's license.

In cooperation with safety officials and in an effort to curb automobile accidents in Newark, N.J., the local newspapers decided to fight the evil with what seemed to be the most powerful weapon at their command—PUBLICITY.

It takes real courage for an editor or publisher to mention in a small news paper to publish the name and make the picture of a local man who had been caught driving with a suspended license.

rap with the newspapers. If they were guilty the newspaper made sure that the whole town knew about it, and photographers haunted the traffic courts snapping pictures of the culprits.

With this powerful newspaper backing, the police and traffic officials clamped down. They used the next most powerful weapon and recorded the offense on the culprit's driver's license or, when justified, saw to it that the license was revoked.

After this campaign had been in progress a short time the number of accidents and arrests dropped sharply and Newark became one of the safest cities in the nation for both motorist and pedestrian.

A few Florida papers make a practice of publishing the names of those convicted of drunken or reckless driving or causing an accident. This is always helpful if every culprit is treated alike regardless of his station in life, wealth or political influence.

One Florida daily recently published the fact that its managing editor was arrested and convicted. The people of a community where alert newspapers publish such information without fear or favor become acutely conscious. It was reported by one publisher that in several instances where accidents occurred and names were not printed because they had not been shown on police records, suits were called us to sue the paper and gave names and full information. Investigation revealed that the editor had headed the plea of the motorist and failed to report the case. PUBLICITY put a stop to this and now the people of the community are AFRAID, not of the real danger but rather the PUBLICITY.

It takes real courage for an editor or publisher to mention in a small news paper to publish the name and make the picture of a local man who had been caught driving with a suspended license.

"completely false information."

There have been protests against the announcement of Mrs. Penny Duncan, New York City, as winner of the annual contest at Asbury Park, N. J., last week-end. "Mrs. Central Florida"—Mrs. Peggy E. Creel of St. Petersburg—placed third.

Nevin said last night he had replied to a telegram of protest from Mayor Samuel G. Johnson, of St. Petersburg, who figured that the Florida entry won but was counted out by the promoters.

Nevin said he had sent the "completely false" answer to the mayor.

Mrs. Creel, Nevin said, was given the most votes in the beauty division, but was outscored "in other brackets."

Nevin declared the contestants were judged in four categories, totaling 400 per cent. He said Mrs. Duncan of New York City had 348 per cent, Mrs. Penny Ivanova had 332 per cent and Mrs. Central Florida, 316 per cent.

In Plainville, Mass., Mrs. Betty Pensavalle said she might shake and the contestants felt the contest was "cut and dried" before they arrived at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Pensavalle, who represented Massachusetts, said she felt Mrs. Creel should have been declared the winner. "Most of the other contestants felt the same way," she added.

from among the new directors.

At a called meeting of the new directors to be held before the end of this month, nominations for new officers of the Chamber of Commerce will be submitted.

Mr. Hall submitted to the directors the question of what to do with the tourists and the Navy, pointing out that both cannot be accommodated at one time at the Tourist Center.

He stated that the Naval Affairs Committee, headed by Carlyle Housholder, would meet today to discuss the problem.

Mr. Hall pointed out that if all the facilities of the City Hall, Armory and Tourist Center are used, it will go a long way toward solving the problem.

Clifford H. Bennett, city manager, suggested that the Tourist Building, Magnolia Avenue and Second Street, might be used as a Naval recreation center.

H. B. Pope of the County Commission proposed in obtaining a wayside picnic park on Seminole Boulevard, due to the generous offer of land by W. A. Leffler, and stated that Mr. C. Hagan is making a survey of the site.

The offer of a park site by the Overseas Club near the Tree Park and at the spring, in process of negotiation, said Mr. Pope. Efforts are being made to determine if the roadside spring is the Overseas parcel offered, he added.

Mr. Pope stated that the County Commission in its budget started reclassifying childless married men as I-A—that is, immediately eligible for induction.

"Whenever we get a chance to say so, we suggest that the local boards await the regulations," Omer said. "We admit frankly that this is not complete uniformity, but to our knowledge no erroneous induction has resulted."

Mr. W. Spencer pointed out that the boys of Seminole High School are showing much renewed interest in football under their new coaches, Bill Fleming and Fred Flanagan. He said that the two coaches are being properly compensated for their coaching work and declared the team lacks proper football equipment.

Mr. Spencer said that $1,000 being saved by the school district on the salary of the former coach, and $4,000 a year which had been intended for Coach Mooney who recently resigned.

Present at the meeting, which was held in the auditorium, were Jack Hall, Miss Bruce, G. W. Spencer, H. B. Coleman, George Sline, H. M. Gleason, J. L. Ingley, Harry Lee, M. B. Smith, John L. Editor of The Sanford Herald

Sanford, Florida

Dear Mr. Dean,
I am feeling so good today, I had to write and tell you and the people of Sanford and Seminole County, that I had changed for the better things in life.

I wish to take this means of expression of appreciation to each and all of you. For your kindness, consideration, and understanding to me.

I shall now say a few things about this US Vets Home in Thomasville, Ga. I have met a lot of nice people in the town. Among others I have seen and talked to Capt. Byrd Hudson, formerly of the Sanford Citadel, and now at Valdosta, Ga., who has been very kind to me.

Now for our VA Home, we have the very best of eats three times daily, we eat the best ice cream two and three times a week, two good doctors, an infirmary, several nurses, and attendants, good beds, clean linens as needed, free laundry service, canteen service, barber shop, pool room, library with all the best books, a recreation hall, recreation director, music director, our own orchestra and string band, a bank for those who will put this for me, give my draw money, supply house, guard house, fire house and civil service employees as firemen and guards, also baggage room, and all kinds of card games.

Now I have learned to call on Jehovah God our Father and to stop and think of both sides of any issue that may arise. I find the solution is very simple to solve in most cases. I hope you will publish this for me, give my old mother, a paper with this letter in it, and if you will send me two copies of the issue.

I wish to thank the entire personnel of the Sanford Herald for smiling and a kind word. Please tell all the carriers I am still singing, and am living the life of a king in a palace, Good-bye to you all. Thank you for everything. I'll keep you in my thoughts.

I am yours very truly,

Rage Conviction

Blamed On Civil Rights Pressure

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Conviction of a white man for raping a Negro girl was blamed on "propaganda" about the Truman Civil Rights program yesterday as his attorneys pleaded with the Florida Pardon Board to keep the defendant from going to jail.

The Pardon Board took no immediate action, except to ask the Parole Commission to investigate the case.

Meanwhile, Enoch Hilliard, three-married 27-year-old bulldozer operator, remains out of prison on a 30-day reprieve granted a few days ago by Governor Warren.

He has served only about a month on his 15-year sentence, given by circuit court jury in rural Levy County in the spring of 1950. Then he was released under bond during appeal to the Supreme Court. His conviction was upheld recently.

Zach H. Douglas told the Pardon Board he thought the Hilliard when the prosecutor warned if the case was regarded as a laughing matter the jurors might flip the civil rights program crammed down their throats.

Douglas said the Pardon Board must be aware of the feeling that was raised in the South by the President's program.

Attorney General Richard Ervin asked whether the conviction might not show the South in making some progress and that "you can get a conviction both ways" in a rape case.

Hilliard's lawyer replied that would be true, but there also was an element of mistaken identity.

Marshall Resigns

Robert Lovett

less than two years later, he was called back to the government to serve as Under Secretary of State.

Although just recovering from a serious operation, he took the State Department post at the insistence of his old friend Marshall, then Secretary.

As a diplomat in the cold war, Lovett adopted a get-tough, show-me-policy toward Russia. He insisted that Moscow give proof, through acts instead of words, that it desired peace.

When he resigned from the State Department in 1949, President Truman praised him for "outstanding ability and selfless devotion to the public interest."

Lovett returned again to the banking business. But when Marshall became Secretary of Defense a year ago, he accepted a call to serve as Deputy Secretary. President Truman telephoned him early in the morning at his home at Locust Valley, N. Y., offered him the job and got a quick acceptance.

Lovett was born in Huntville, Tex., on Sept. 14, 1895. His father, Judge Robert Scott Lovett, was head of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Lovett entered Yale, but broke off his studies in his junior year to enter the Navy Flying Service in World War I. He served overseas, won the Navy Cross for heroism and left the service as a lieutenant commander.

Afterwards, he went back to Yale, got his B. A. degree and studied law for a year at Harvard. He began his banking career in 1921 as a bank clerk, rising in a few years to a partnership in Brown Brothers.

He was married in 1919 to Adele Quartley Brown. They have two children—a daughter, Evelyn; and a son, Robert.

Lake Mary
By LAURIE P. ANDERSON
The Chamber of Commerce, met Sept. 8 with C. P. Brasington, presiding. In reporting for the Road Committee, P. D. Anderson pointed out that the County Road Department was without an engineer and superintendent and that requested repairs and maintenance of Lake Mary roads had been impossible, according to O. E. Frazier, commissioner for this district.

In connection with Lake Mary road signs which have been either mutilated or destroyed, H. M. Gleason said that the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce had requested the State Road Department to replace such signs. Due to a broken mower, W. T. Halley had been able to cut grass only six hours during the past month, according to the report of Benoit, the commissioner.

H. M. Gleason moved that the organization give Rev. and Mrs. Jas. M. Thompson, former residents of Lake Mary, who have returned here, Life Memberships. Frank Evans seconded the motion which was carried. Next, a secretary was discussed. Various members requested to volunteer, all of whom declined. President Brasington appointed nominating committee, composed of the Mayor and H. M. Gleason, who will report at October meeting. Mrs. P. D. Anderson, retiring secretary agreed to act for the October meeting. It was learned that Lt. Tate, who was to have taken charge of the Boy Scouts had suffered a back injury which will probably prevent such an activity for some time. Following adjournment, pie and tea were served by members of the Beautification Committee.

Mrs. Emma Wing, who visited friends in Eustis recently, is at home again.

Lake Mary

By LAURIE P. ANDERSON

The Chamber of Commerce, met Sept. 8 with C. P. Brasington, presiding. In reporting for the Road Committee, P. D. Anderson pointed out that the County Road Department was without an engineer and superintendent and that requested repairs and maintenance of Lake Mary roads had been impossible, according to O. E. Frazier, commissioner for this district.

In connection with Lake Mary road signs which have been either mutilated or destroyed, H. M. Gleason said that the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce had requested the State Road Department to replace such signs. Due to a broken mower, W. T. Halley had been able to cut grass only six hours during the past month, according to the report of Benoit, the commissioner.

H. M. Gleason moved that the organization give Rev. and Mrs. Jas. M. Thompson, former residents of Lake Mary, who have returned here, Life Memberships. Frank Evans seconded the motion which was carried. Next, a secretary was discussed. Various members requested to volunteer, all of whom declined. President Brasington appointed nominating committee, composed of the Mayor and H. M. Gleason, who will report at October meeting. Mrs. P. D. Anderson, retiring secretary agreed to act for the October meeting. It was learned that Lt. Tate, who was to have taken charge of the Boy Scouts had suffered a back injury which will probably prevent such an activity for some time. Following adjournment, pie and tea were served by members of the Beautification Committee.

Mrs. Emma Wing, who visited friends in Eustis recently, is at home again.

Mrs. Frank Minshew and daughter, Mrs. Ralph Williams and Myrna and Melanie Williams accompanied Mrs. Howard Boteler, Jr. as far as East Point, Ga., where they stopped to visit Mrs. Minshew's sister, Mrs. C. S. Drick. Mrs. Boteler continued on to Atlanta.

Sunday afternoon callers at the W. P. Burke home were Mr. and Mrs. M. Flanders, Mr. and Mrs. B. Morgan and two daughters, Patricia and Carolyn all of Winter Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Holly have moved into the Harmon house.

of the infernal enemy." It asked: "Who is not horrified by the hatred and the ferocity with which the enemies of God, in many countries of the world, threaten to destroy or try to uproot all that there is of divine and Christian?"

The encyclical, issued from Chalcodon, held in 451, concerned itself primarily with christological doctrine—doctrine on the nature of Jesus Christ.

"Divided and dispersed, Christians cannot continue to lose time against the combined hosts" of their enemies, the encyclical said. It urged all Christians to unite to meet "the ferocity of the enemies of God."

It called upon all Christians to recognize the authority of the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

"All those, especially in Eastern countries, who because of the inequality of the times are separated from the bosom and unity of the church, should render without hesitation the due and homages to this primacy, following the example of the footsteps of their fathers," said the encyclical.

Such a unity, it said, would conform with the desire of Jesus Christ in his prayers at the Last Supper that "all would be one."

The encyclical deals principally with the study by the Council of Chalcedon which resulted in the definition that Jesus Christ united the human and the divine nature in one person—"truly the Son of God and truly the Son of Man."

It appealed to those who follow monophysitism—believers in a doctrine that Christ had only one nature. There are many of these in Egypt, Syria, Ethiopia and Armenia. The encyclical pointed out and it appealed to them to recognize the doctrine as laid down by the bishops at the Council of Chalcedon by 500 bishops, all present, presided over by papal legates. The anniversary of the Council of Chalcedon is Oct. 8, and the program for its celebration, as announced by the Vatican Press Office, will include a pontifical mass in St. John's Lateran, Oct. 14 by Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, Patriarch of the Armenians.

The program also includes the lighting of a candle on the Great Church of St. Leo the Great, Pope of the Chalcedon Council, Oct. 18; commemoration of the council, Oct. 28, and a papal mass in St. Peter's, Nov. 1.

The council was held from Oct. 8 to Nov. 1, in the year 451, at Chalcedon, a city of Bithynia in Asia Minor, opposite what today is Istanbul. The delegates met in the Basilica of St. Euphemia. The

The defense attorney asked the jury why the State didn't bring in bankers to show North's financial condition if he was in need of money.

Parkhill claimed North made no move whatever to cover up any of the suspicious circumstances surrounding the death.

Perpetrating freely and shouting loudly in the packed courtroom Parkhill accused the State of "trying to railroad to prison" an innocent man.

Mrs. Albritton died at her lonely farm home near Frostproof the night of June 25-26, North, who had been in the cattle business with her husband and was helping handle the estate, was alone with her at the time.

current encyclical calls upon St. Euphemia for intercession for the unity of all Christians.

The Catholic encyclopedia says the purpose of the Council of Chalcedon was to assert the orthodox Catholic doctrine against heresies of the monophysites and of eutyches, a priest and superior of a near east monastery who contended that Jesus Christ had only a divine nature.

Referring to the Kefauver crime report, he warned of the growing power of racketeers and their constant efforts to control the political life of the states. He also lashed out against taxation that takes from citizens one out of every five dollars of income and that, he argued, would lead to the economic collapse of the nation.

He noted the P. B. I. to the effect that whereas there were 15 years ago about 15,000 Communists in this country, there are now more than 500,000. He urged citizens to vote, stating that fewer than 50 percent of Americans vote in the last presidential election, compared to 83 percent for England, 80 percent for France, 76 percent for Britain, 74 percent for Canada and 60 percent for Japan.

He stated that Communism has been a successful business since the Nov. 1948 general election in which 25 people in this county voted for the U. S. Army.

Korean War

istic recent remarks of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United Nations Ground Force Commander in Korea. Van Fleet has said that his job is to fight, not to negotiate. The task of negotiating is carried out on a higher military-diplomatic level.

Said the Peiping radio: "The American invaders have tried, by sub-rattling with their naval and air 'superiority' to push a military demarcation line into our positions north of the 38th Parallel."

"When these impudent efforts failed in the end, they set to creating one provocative incident after another to torpedo the armistice talks. As this too has proved futile they resort to openly advocating new military gambles."

"Thus the American invaders have exposed their hostility to peace to the world and have proved that every provocation since the start of negotiations was nothing but a result of their premeditated plan."

tion of the Nation's underworld. But the voluminous files and powers of the special crime committee passed, under previous Senate instructions, to the Commerce Committee. The question is what the Commerce Committee will do with them.

O'Connor and two other senators who served on the Crime Committee, Hunt (D-Wyo.) and Tobey (R-N.H.), are members of the commerce group.

In the final report to the Senate, the Crime Committee expressed hope that "the study of organized crime will continue."

It also strongly recommended a thorough investigation of crime conditions in the nation's capital and adjoining areas of Maryland and Virginia. The senate district of Columbia committee has put in a bid for that job and is asking $50,000 for it.

Meanwhile the House ended a three-week recess with a "no business" session and a prediction by its Republican leader that it will be in session until the end of November.

While senators, who had no comparable holiday, are shooting for an Oct. 1 adjournment of the entire Congress, House GOP leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts said he couldn't see it that way.

Martin said in an interview he has no doubt that Congress could sit for keeps by Oct. 1 if it really wanted to, but he questioned whether it will then be in an adjournment mood.

"I think Congress will be in session until around the first of December," he said. "Washington provides too good a forum for members to make speeches in. I don't think they are ready to go home and be unable to adjourn until they are."

His reference to the speech-making was, he said in reply to questions, was to some senators. Since all House members desiring to retain their seats must stand for election next year, most of them are anxious to get home and tend to their political fences. For that reason, Martin said, he expects the House to have some prolonged holidays between now and final adjournment of this session.

Only a few major legislative matters await disposition and the House, judging from its past performances when it wants to go home, could clean them up quickly.

American Husbands Are Kept In Dark By Cautious, Canny Wives

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—An American husband came home from work in the middle of the day, complaining of a headache.

"You're so thoughtless, dear," his wife grumbled. "You should know better than to be sick today. You know this is the day I'm having a bridge party for the girls."

She absent-mindedly gave him a bottle of caffeine tablets instead of aspirin. He gulped down two, and she put him to bed.

Instead of falling asleep he tossed restlessly, wide awake. And these were the sounds that soon floated in to him from the hen party in the living room:

First voice: "What do you think a wife ought to tell her husband anyway?"

Second voice: "Tell him hello. Let's play bridge."

First voice: "No, I'm serious. How much should you let a man know?"

Third voice: "Before or after marriage?"

First voice: "Before marriage."

Third voice (sneering): "Whatta ya got to tell him, dearie?"

First voice: "No, I mean after marriage. Excuse me. Who did what?"

Second voice (grimly): "Let's play bridge."

Third voice: "All I tell my husband is the time of day. But, I make him ask twice."

Second voice: "That's right—never give in to a man's whims. Now can we play bridge?"

First voice: "I mean about money, and what we do with it. How much do you think we ought to let them know?"

Third voice: "You haven't been married long, have you? Tell him he can have the second min't out in the family, and to go out and earn it. But don't worry—even if he did, it wouldn't fit him. You could always make a steak out of it."

First voice: "We-I-I, I just don't know what to tell my husband sometimes. He keeps wanting to know where the money goes."

Third voice: "Tell him he's old enough to know he can't take it with him. A lot of famous men have been buried with mortuaries on their chests. In the old days it was kind of a sentimental gesture. You know—live and let live."

Fourth voice (the householder's wife): "Would anyone like to have a bite to eat?"

Second voice: "Why not? We aren't playing bridge. Talk, talk, talk! Just like a bunch of old women."

The husband in the next room soon after that heard three squeals of feminine delight: "Steak? Why, how thoughtful!"

Editor's note: No, no, no! They don't eat steak while we're work-

Britain Signs Contract For Russian Grain

Trade With Red Bloc Is Essential To Rearmament Plans Morrison Contends

LONDON, Sept. 13—(AP)—Britain today stopped British ships from delivering cargoes to Iran. Board of Trade spokesman disclosed tonight carrying "certain" scarce materials to Iran have been directed. The ban, which is in line with a British treaty statement which earlier this week cancelled financial and economic concessions to the Tehran government.

LONDON, Sept. 13—(AP)—Britain announced tonight she had signed a contract to buy 1,000,000 tons of grain from Russia. The announcement by the Food Ministry said the grains were from this year's Russian harvest and that deliveries are expected to begin shortly.

The breakdown on the one million tons was given this way:
Wheat: 200,000 tons; barley, 425,000 tons; corn, 300,000 tons, and oats, 75,000 tons.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said today Britain must continue trade with the Russian bloc if it is to carry its share of the West's rearmament burden. He said to halt such trade now might "cut off our nose to spite our face."

Addressing the National Press Club with Eastern Europe is a real addition to our strength and health. The stronger and healthier we are, the more independent we are, and the more independent we are, the more we are as an ally.

The respected Foreign Secretary had just completed a four-day conference with Secretary of State Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. "There is some difference of opinion" between Britain and the United States, he said.

Hurricane News Hinders Trade, Says Hotel Man

MIAMI, Sept. 13—(AP)—Do Miami hotelmen on hurricane stories help or hinder hotel business in this area?

The answer to that question was kicking up a verbal storm today.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau, said that "the hurricane warning service, under a Miami dateline, has given Miami more publicity throughout the world than any other thing."

Warren C. Freeman, general manager of a Miami Beach Hotel (Macraden Deauville) didn't agree.

"The chambers of commerce of both Miami and Miami Beach are spending thousands of dollars to bring business here, as are a great many other agencies," he said. "All the money that is spent and all the efforts being put forth are being defeated by the practice of carrying the Miami dateline."

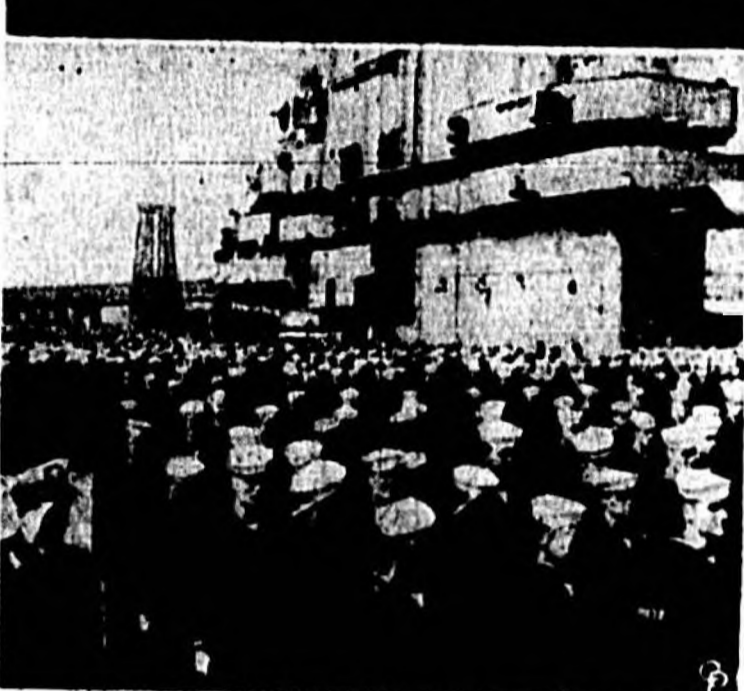

Freeman wrote a letter to city officials suggesting that a mythical place called "Weatherville" be created from which hurricane bulletins could be issued.

Guided Missile $750 Is Allocated Squadron Formed To Football Team At Cocoa Center By School Board

Unit Is Expected To Use Matador B-61 Rocket Bomber

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Air Force disclosed today it is forming its first guided missile squadron, equipped with a new "piloted bomber" type of weapon apparently intended for tactical use in warfare.

An announcement said the "bomber" squadron is being formed at the Guided Missile Center, Cocoa, Fla., on Oct. 1 and that it "will be the first operational unit of its kind in the Air Force."

The squadron, the announcement said, will be equipped initially with the "Matador, B-61 piloted bomber, now in production."

Worship Services Are Being Held In Air Station Chapel

Worship services are now being held in the chapel at the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station. Chaplain Bourcier announced today.

The opening of the chapel followed several weeks of intensive work by station personnel, assisted by the station maintenance force.

When funds are made available for the landscaping that will be done when the exterior of the building is repaired.

"We will be happy to receive gifts of shrubbery and potted plants so that the chapel can be made what it should be, the prettiest spot on the station," he stated.

He pointed out that when the station was reactivated last April there were no facilities for church services, so Capt. John Chittenden, commanding officer, requested permission from the Navy Department to convert the former Waves barracks into a chapel, Chaplain's office and library.

This change was approved and funds are to be allocated for this purpose, but Navy worshippers, meeting in the lobby of one of the unoccupied buildings, decided that they might as well be meeting in the "Chapel," so the work was begun.

Reds Demand UN Admit All Charges True

Single Mustang Shot Down By Three Enemy Jet Fighters In Korean Battle

TOKYO, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Peiping radio threw out a hint tonight the price for resuming Korean truce talks would be Allied admission that all Red truce violation charges are true.

The United Nations command has rejected all of a long string of Red charges except one. It has admitted the accidental strafing of the Kaesong neutral zone Monday.

The Peiping radio quoted a Communist correspondent at Kaesong as declaring:

"The cease-fire talks could start again immediately and agreement could be reached in a short time if the Americans accepted the military realities" and took the responsibility for all the alleged neutrality violations.

The U. N. command for the moment was saying nothing. It would not even say what was in the latest Red note handed Allied Nations officers Wednesday.

The Allied officers had just handed the Reds a note apologizing for the accidental strafing of the Kaesong neutral zone by an Allied B-26 bomber on Monday.

The U. N. command has not made the Red note public, and has refused to comment on it. The command usually releases copies of such notes as soon as they are received from the U. N. advance headquarters at Munsan.

U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 13—(AP)—Three Russian built MIG-15 jet fighters shot down an American propeller driven P-51 Mustang today in the fifth straight day of aerial battles over northwest Korea.

The Mustang plane, caught as it was going up from a bomb run, was hopelessly outmatched by the MIGs.

"There was no chance of pilot survival," the Fifth Air Force reported.

The downed Mustang was part of a flight that had been bombing a rail target deep in "MIG" territory.

"The MIGs caught us as we pulled up from our bomb run," explained Lt. Wallace L. Parks, Portland, Ore.

"They made at least 10 firing passes at us."

The MIGs raced in aggressively against the Mustang, but showed no such spirit when 30 F-86 Sabre jets made a sweep over the same territory.

The American jets sighted about 40 MIGs, but could not get close enough to join battle. The five day score now stands:

White House Influence Was Sought On RFC Loans, Says Witness In Boyle Inquiry

Approval Is Given Super-Highway By Road Board

McKethan Says Toll Road Only Way To Solve Traffic Jam

TLEWISTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Florida road board gave unanimous approval today to a preliminary survey of a toll super-highway linking Jacksonville and Miami.

Chairman Alfred A. McKethan said the traffic situation from Jacksonville to the lower East Coast was the board's "greatest problem" and the turnpike is "the only answer."

McKethan emphasized that the preliminary survey was only to determine the feasibility of such a project, adding that "it must stand on its own; it must pay for itself."

Taking note of opposition to the turnpike, he said it would "in no way hinder present plans for rehabilitation of U. S. 1 and State A-1-A."

McKethan said the board had tried in every way to solve the East Coast traffic jam.

"The only money the State has for general road building purposes comes from the 4-cent gas tax," he said. "There wouldn't be enough money realized from this source in our lifetime to four-lane U. S. 1."

The chairman admitted that there had been increases from gas tax in recent years, but he added that the road department dollar, like everybody else's, is worth only 50 cent compared with 10 years ago.

In advocating a toll highway which would be paid for through self-amortizing bonds, McKethan remarked that the board had been having some trouble in obtaining rights-of-way to widen U. S. 1 and A-1-A.

"The cost of acquiring rights-of-way sometimes is more than the cost of the road," he said.

Hugh Peter, chairman of the Duval county commission, told the board "we are solitly behind this project."

Only opposition, voiced at the meeting came from a Daytona Beach delegation, Louis G. Burges, chairman of the group.

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 13—(AP)—Three judges of the Mrs. America contest saw selection of Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York City was proper.

Replying to charges by movie actor Wendell Corey that the choice was prearranged and biased and that of other judges for Mrs. Central Florida, Peggy E. Crael, was ignored, the three last night defended the method of picking Mrs. America.

Illustrator Russell Patterson said he personally had judged over 5,000 contestants and "the system used at the Mrs. America contest is the fairest and the truest winner selected."

Bert Nevins, managing director of the contest has denied any pre-arranging and called Corey's protest a "publicity stunt."

Arsonists' Blast Kills Two

A VIOLENT EXPLOSION and fire, touched off by arsonists, in a New York building killed one detective and a suspect, sending another suspect, Jack Weiss, to hospital, where he is examined (top) by Dr. Clara Stein. At bottom, firemen pour water into the burning building. A tenant of the hotel is alleged by police to have confessed to being the arsonist, who was killed in the scene by three detectives. One of the latter, James L. Duggan, died in the blast but his companions arrested Jack Maynard of Brooklyn, as he fled from the burning building. (Continued on Page Six)

J. Kader Resigns Czech Flights As President Of Junior Chamber Over Germany Are Prohibited

Plan Is Announced To Offer As Candidate In Coming Election

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13—(AP)—Eighty Czechs left by bus for their homeland today after a runway train ride into Germany. They were passengers aboard the commandeered train that broke out of their Communist homeland Tuesday with 111 persons aboard. Remaining behind in western Germany were 31 others.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13—(AP)—American authorities in Germany announced today that 86 Czechs, unwilling passengers on a "Freedom Train" flight into Germany Tuesday, will be allowed to go back to Czechoslovakia if they want to. "These persons are now in custody of the U. S. Army, and High Commission officials have notified the Army to make arrangements for their return," a commission announcement said. Twenty-five others, including the train's engineer, were in on the plot to drive the train from Prague into Germany instead of stopping at the border station at Aush. The High Commission has granted them political asylum.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Allied High Commission has barred all Czech airline flights across west Germany, high Commission officials disclosed today. Officials gave no reason for the action.

An American official said the United States, Britain and France had concurred in the joint action in barring the Czechoslovak plane flights, effective last Tuesday midnight.

Asked whether the decision had been reached on Page Six.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 13—(AP)—A 40-year-old man wrecked his automobile yesterday, escaped with minor injuries and then killed himself.

Det. Sgt. C. W. Heath and R. E. Whittington said Morgan Cranford Rains went home after the minor accident, shut himself in a bathroom and fired a bullet into his head with a pistol. The detectives said members of the family told them Rains had been suffering from nervous fatigue.

He is survived by a widow, a son, a daughter, his father and mother, a sister and two brothers. (Continued on Page Six)

Democratic National Chairman Was Attorney For Firm That Got $645,000 Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—A witness week before that the head of American Lithofold Corp. asked him to call the White House in an effort to get some high influence in favor of a government loan for the firm.

The witness was E. J. Boyle, former treasurer of Lithofold at St. Louis, putting forward testimony in a Senate investigation of the charges that William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national chairman, wielded political influence on the RFC.

Boyle identified an attorney from a diary in which he noted his conversations with the firm application. The passage read:

"I haven't heard from RFB since this day, when he was pressing, yes, in doing, on having Cecil Tuley call the White House in an effort to get some high influence to moderate the approval to our loan."

"I thought Boyle and Green agreed not to do it. A. J. told him we had been receiving complete cooperation from the RFC (the Reconstruction Finance Corporation) official."

Boyle identified Boyle as R. P. Blumner, then president of Lithofold, and said the conversation took place Feb. 2, 1949.

The Cecil Tuley mentioned in Boyle's diary never was immediately identified.

American Lithofold received $645,000 in Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans after Boyle was retained by the firm. Previously it had failed in three attempts to get RFC loans. Boyle has denied bringing any influence on RFC on behalf of the firm.

Boyle's testimony also brought in the names of James P. Finnegan, former collector of Internal Revenue at St. Louis, and of Edward Prime, recently dismissed as chief bank manager for PFC, as well as other present or former officials of the government lending agency.

Boyle himself has never been employed by another government lending agency, the now defunct United States Planting Corporation, and testified that he himself got a $42,000 SWPC loan for American Lithofold shortly before he became an official of the printing firm in 1941.

He and Finnegan exchanged an interest in the reconstruction of Lithofold's RFC loan, saying "I had something was going on Lithofold, but I don't feel Finnegan was trying to help Blumner in some way."

Boyle also identified a variation in his diary which read:

"I was with Fred Prince, who promised to help us in the power to help us get the loan. Prince is a relative of Ben Boyton (D-Ala.) who has asked a Senate investigation of charges of getting an RFC loan for an Als."

M. I. T. Professor Fired On Charge Of Being Commie

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 13—(AP)—Fred D. I. Strick was reported fired from duties at Massachusetts Institute of Technology last night shortly after he was indicted on a charge of advocating overthrow of the government of the United States and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The indictment charged that "on May 1, 1948, by speech, exhibition, distribution and promulgation of certain written and printed documents, papers and editorial representations, he did advocate, advise, counsel and incite the overthrow of the government of the United States and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts by force and violence."

A similar indictment was returned against Harry E. Winner, rubber company employee. They were accused of conspiring with Martha M. Fletcher of Boston and Margaret Gilbert of Cambridge. Charges were not brought against the women.

Dr. James R. Kilian, M. I. T. president, said Strick's suspension is "in line with our announced policy."

Strick could not be reached for comment. Winner said the charge against him is wholly untrue. (Continued on Page Six)
