

SHOLTZ AGAIN AFFIRMS STAND ON SALES TAX

Re-Iterates Previous Contention That He Will Oppose Moves For Any New Levies

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—While both houses of the Legislature were in weekend recess, Governor Sholtz today announced he has not changed his position on a general sales tax or specialized sales taxes and will be opposed to any efforts to increase the tax burden by levying on new sources of revenue.

He recently said he would veto a general sales tax bill if one were passed and today said he is opposed to the House bill in levy a tax of 20 percent on cigars and cigarettes.

He repeated his declaration contained in his message to the Legislature that adjustment of the public bond question and economy Florida cities and counties are prohibited from imposing licenses in state and local governments will eliminate all the need of new and heavier taxes.

While bills to legalize the manufacture and sale of 3.2 beer and wine awaited the approval of the Senate after having passed the House, House committees had before them a proposal to redirect the state into five congressional districts. Both houses convene again at 4:00 o'clock Monday.

On breweries, beer wholesalers or jobbers or retailers, greater than 50 percent of the schedule of state licenses by the terms of the Beer Revenue bill passed by the House yesterday.

This section of the bill, if it is not amended by the Senate, will compel Tampa's board of aldermen to rewrite the proposed beer license ordinance that has been prepared by the board's rules and ordinance committee. The Tampa plan provides for a city license on brewers of $150, sets up a fee of $100 for wholesalers and jobbers and fixes $25 licenses for retailers.

The beer revenue bill, however, sets up the following licenses: brewers, $250; wholesalers or jobbers, $100; and retailers, $15. Consequently, the city of Sanford is prohibited by the bill from collecting more than $112 from breweries, $50 from wholesalers or jobbers or $7.50 from retailers. Furthermore, the bill makes the 50 percent limitation apply to all cities, regardless of the license sections of their charters and takes precedence over all special acts now in effect.

Reasons underlying the 50 percent limitation were explained here yesterday by Walter of Tallahassee, a member of the committee that drew the beer revenue bill.

"We realized that municipalities might impose unreasonable licenses on brewers, wholesalers and retailers in a (Continued On Page Four)

2 Cent Rail Rate Will Be Standard, Says Clark Howell

ATLANTA, Ga.—The 2-cent railroad passenger rate will become standard, said Mr. Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution and a member of the national transportation commission appointed to study the railroad problem, in a speech before the Atlanta Rotary Club here recently.

"Serving on this same transportation commission were Messrs. Bernard M. Baruch, Alfred G. Smith, Alexander Leung and Calvin Coolidge. The commission was formed by insurance companies, savings banks and other institutions and persons making heavy investments in railroad bonds. Speaking of the recommendations suggested by the commission, Mr. Howell said: "Some of the recommendations have been enacted into law. Others have been adopted by one branch of Congress, but still others have been introduced and will probably become law."

Plot To Wreck Train Of Daniels Averted

MEXICO, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Police disclosed today an attempt was made yesterday to wreck the train on which Josephus Daniels, new United States ambassador, is en route here. The plot was discovered in time and the train, although delayed was not damaged. A section of rail was removed near Morales and an investigation was immediately started. The scene was in an entirely deserted district, 100 miles from the sections in which there has been some antagonism to Daniels' appointment. Police today, armed with rifles, guarded the American embassy an 200 p.m. in a clothesmen were on duty at the railroad station. A special train carrying police left here to meet the ambassador's train outside the city.

WAR PROPHECIES MADE IN ROW ON ARMS EMBARGO

President Would Be Given Authority To Prevent Shipments

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Prophecies of war and internal dissension mingled yesterday with bitter words charging personal interest and concealment of facts as the House prepared to wind up debate on the resolution which would empower the President to stop the shipment of munitions to fighting nations.

Despite what appeared to be growing opposition, Democratic leaders predicted the resolution would be passed on the roll call vote set for Monday.

The relief for safety on the huge Democratic majority, and in order to keep that in line, Chairman McReynolds of the foreign affairs committee read on the floor a letter from Secretary Hull saying the legislation would "strengthen the position of this government in its international relations."

The opposition, led by Representative Fish, Republican, New York, centered on the Republican side, but it found some Democrats swinging away as numerous minority speakers sailed into the measure.

McFadden, Republican, Pennsylvania, who was cast out of party councils because of his opposition to President Hoover's foreign policy, was in agreement with many Republicans on the embargo resolution. The Pennsylvania insisted the embargo plan "is of British origin" and predicted that 30 days after it is enacted "we will witness a declaration of war against the United States by Japan."

To this Bloom, Democrat, New York, replied "tommyrot," adding that the state department did not have in mind Japan or any other nation.

Representative Wadsworth, Republican, New York, former senator, declared he foresaw domestic difficulties should the President decide a foreign nation was an aggressor and invoke an embargo against it.

"Clothe the President with the power to decide which nation should be disciplined and you invite all the sympathizers in this country or that nation to resist," Wadsworth said. This thing means dissension among the people of the United States. Go very slowly gentlemen, before you endanger the contentment and happiness of the American people."

Severe Rain, Winds Strike Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—A severe rain storm driven by winds that reached gale force, disrupted communication lines, flooded low sections in this vicinity today. Apalachicola reported a maximum wind of 48 miles an hour and heavy rain. High tides caused slight damage to the waterfront and power and communication lines there were temporarily disrupted. Communication lines between here and Madison were interrupted and more than three and a half inches of rain fell here.

NAVAL INQUIRY INTO DIRIGIBLE CRASH ENDED

Findings Of Court Are Not Disclosed But Will Be Handed To Secretary Swanson

LAKELAND, N. J., Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—A navy court of inquiry, investigating the destruction of the Akron and the subsequent loss of the blimp J-3, adjourned today closing its study of the twin disasters. The findings in both cases were not reported, but will be made to the secretary of the navy.

Officers of the naval air station told the court of inquiry yesterday they were ready to testify to survivors of the Akron who they heard were clinging to her floating hull at sea.

Yesterday's session of the inquiry was devoted to an investigation of the blimp's loss with the death of two men during the search after the Akron's crash.

A fair report of the 40 survivors, the court heard, led to a decision to send out the remaining ship in the face of weather that was "unfavorable" but that did not make her operation "impossible."

Lieut. Com. Jesse L. Kenworthy, Jr., acting commander of the station, had himself designated an interested party because it was on his authority that the ship went aloft.

Kenworthy told the court that in his opinion "circumstances other" than the unfavorable weather caused the blimp's destruction.

The ship's five survivors subsequently testified that the port engine was moving in its outboard mount because the plate holding it in the supporting struts had sheared completely across. This was discovered on route back from the little sea search, and the blimp, facing the danger of having the motor drop into the sea, impeded back to the coast for an emergency landing, that ended disastrously.

Lieut. J. M. Thornton, of the J-3, said he did not think the crippled motor affected the emergency landing, "but with engines stopped we would have had a reasonable chance of returning safely."

A graphic picture was sketched for the court by the various witnesses who described the scene in Kenworthy's office prior to the order for the blimp to join the surface craft searching the sea near the Akron's grave. Use of the ship had been considered a desperate measure, but cross hanger winds and bad weather had kept her on the ground. Airplane pilots returning from the coast reported it could operate at low altitudes and carry three equipment.

For a long time it was testified, Lieut. Com. B. E. Connor, skipper of the blimp, who was killed in her wreck, "was doubtful of the advisability of taking the ship out."

Body Of Slain Youth Brought To Mother

MIAMI, Fla., Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Mrs. I. W. Miller told police today that a man brought the body of her son to her home last night and told her he was shot in an attempted holdup at Montgomery 35 days previous. Later the man, arrested at Fort Lauderdale, told them he was Gordon Turner, 22, of Black Shear, Georgia, and that he had made a wild ride through three states to keep the promise made to his cousin, after he was fatally wounded in a holdup, that he delivered the body to his slain mother. He gave the name of the dead cousin as William Turner. Gordon was detained at Fort Lauderdale for questioning.

Roosevelt Selects Solicitor General

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today nominated James Blyess, North Carolina, to be solicitor general and sent the nomination of John Collier, of California, to be commissioner of Indian affairs, to the Senate. He also withdrew the nomination of Mayor James Curley, Boston, to be ambassador to Poland as the major requester yesterday.

More Than Three-Fourths Of Federal Reserve Bank Members Doing Business

NEW YORK, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Surveys of the banking situation throughout the nation last night showed that far more than three-fourths of the federal reserve member banks and well over half the state banks are open and doing business on an unrestricted basis.

Before the bank holiday there were 6500 federal reserve member institutions in operation in the 12 districts.

Today 5447 were open without restrictions, 606 were open with restrictions, and 513 had not yet been licensed.

There were 11,496 state banks doing business before the holiday in the 47 states for which figures are now available.

To-day, in those 47 states, 7654 of these banks were open without restrictions, 3012 were open with

CHILD'S FATHER CAPITULATES TO IDEA OF SURGERY

Mother Still Resists Efforts Of Doctors To Operate On Eye

HASTINGS, N. Y., Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—The family of John Vascio, father of a young girl, yesterday capitulated to the father's sense of duty and a mother's love for her young daughter.

Through it all, two-year-old Helen Vascio played with her doll, unaware of the strife she has caused since doctors found her afflicted with a tumor on her left eye, which, they say, will cause her death unless it is removed.

Reluctant at last to the pleas of physicians that the operation on her eye be performed, John Vascio, the father, said he was willing that it be done; but the mother remained obstinate. She still believes that the doctors were wrong, and that her "baby" would be all right without the aid of a surgeon's knife.

In the meantime the appellate division of the supreme court was considering an appeal against an order of the Westchester children's court authorizing the operation. Although the court was in recess until May 1, its decision was expected shortly, in deference to the request of Judge George W. Smyth, of the children's court so that the operation might not be delayed if the higher court so orders.

Yves, a recent immigrant, removed the barricade to his home which he and his wife had erected to prevent authorities and physicians from seeing their children—Helen and her twin sister, Anna. Anna had contracted a sudden fever and when a doctor and a policeman sought to see the child, they found the Vascios barred to them. Yesterday Anna was taken to her grave.

"The law knows best," Vascio said, "of the law says take the child's eye, I say all right."

He added that he had tried to get away from yesterday in order to convince Helen's mother that the operation should be performed.

The little girl's affliction was described as a glioma or tumor on the retina of her eye. Physicians said that if it were not removed it would cause blindness and possibly death. It was said that removal of the tumor would not necessarily mean loss of the eye, but that blindness in the left eye would result as it is the retina on which the optical image is received.

Funeral Services Are Held For Mrs. Prouty

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Prouty, 73, who died at the home of Mrs. F. L. Nixon, on Apr. 14, after a long illness, were held at the graveside in Lakeview cemetery yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The Smith Church of the First Methodist Church officiated in the presence of a small group of friends.

Mrs. Prouty had lived in Sanford intermittently for over 20 years. She was a native of New York state and was buried beside the body of her husband who died here in 1919. Her surviving relatives are residents of the East.

BRITON TERMS SOVIET TRIAL AS FRAME-UP

Monkhouse Makes Dramatic Protest To Court Against Way Case Was Handled

NEW YORK, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Allan Monkhouse, chief of six British engineers, in a trial here on charges of sabotage, sponsored and bitterly denunciated the Soviet court today that the Metropolitan Vickers Company engineers based on evidence of terrorized prisoners.

The court interrupted Monkhouse's statement, and ordered the trial to continue.

A Russian witness, charged last night by L. C. Thornton, British engineer, organized a plot which in case of war, would have paralyzed the large Moscow electric station serving the Kremlin, important factories and powerful wireless stations.

The accusation was made by L. A. Sukoruchkin, who was manager of the Moscow station and is now one of the Russians facing trial with six British engineers on charges of sabotage, and espionage.

Thornton promptly denied the charge, declaring to the court that never had he as much as talked to Sukoruchkin.

In his confession, the Russian plant manager asserted that he had sabotaged machinery and had concealed defects in equipment. Thornton had given him in Detroit, in 1932, and he assured the court that he and Thornton had planned to disable the station completely in the event of war.

For his work, Sukoruchkin said, Thornton paid him $25,000 paper rubles and 350 gold rubles. Translation of these sums into American money is difficult as there is no official quotation. The value of the old gold ruble was about 31 1/2 cents.

In reply to the charges, Thornton declared that although Metropolitan Vickers' machinery was used in the plant and he visited it occasionally in the course of his work, he never talked to Sukoruchkin and gave him no money.

Yesterday's session of the court was completed for the most part by direct accusations of bribery made by Russian witnesses who asserted that they had been bribed to damage and interfere with the operation of electrical equipment supplied by the Metropolitan Vickers Company, for which the six British engineers worked.

One of the dramatic incidents of the day was a heated demand by A. W. Gregory, a little red-headed Welshman, that he be accorded an opportunity to prove his professional reputation from the charges made by the witnesses.

Zelot, chief of the Gregory and the other defendants, looked on the job when the great newsman stated that Gregory had power stations at the Russian, and understood the testimony, but it was translated for him by Allan Monkhouse, Moscow chief of the electrical company and also one of the defendants.

His face scarred, Gregory leaped to his feet and raised his hand, as though he were a pupil in a school-room. He faced Presiding Judge Ulrich.

The protest was translated through an interpreter the judge replied. "The court has listened to the witness and now it is your privilege to make a statement. Afterward it is the court's business to determine who shall be believed."

Catholic Rites Mark Conclusion Of Lent

ROME, Apr. 15.—(A.P.)—Tidings of joy were broadcast by Rome's church bells today for the 1900th time the glad message of Christ's resurrection went out to the Catholic world. It announced the end of Lent and a period of three mourning that began Holy Thursday. Tomorrow will see the return of one of the church's most important annual events, after 63 years of abandonment. Pope Pius will follow the custom of his old-time predecessors by saying a prayer for the people and blessing the populace outside from the balcony.

Ordinance Is Drawn By City Regulating Sanford Beer Sale

Final Reading Of New Municipal Statute Slated For Meeting To Be Held Apr. 24

With a seriousness of purpose that could leave but little doubt as to where they stand upon the matter, Sanford City Commissioners met last night to make a quick survey of City Attorney Fred R. Wilson's draft of an ordinance licensing and regulating the sale of light wines and beer in Sanford if and when it becomes a state law, and adjourned until Monday night, Apr. 24.

Offered to the Commissioners at the end of a long but interesting session devoted to endorsement or rejection of Senate and House bills that have already been presented at Tallahassee, the proposed ordinance was handled hesitantly at the start because the Commissioners were still unacquainted with the details of the beer bill passed in the House yesterday.

Some of the Commissioners were leaving the room when Attorney Wilson brought up the matter, but when someone said "We might as well look this thing over and at least place it on a first reading," they went at it without further comment.

Smiles wreathed the faces of the Commissioners as City Clerk F. S. Lamson began the reading. There was a certain element of the unusual in the situation and the Commissioners seemed to sense it. Even Commissioner S. O. Shinkler, laughed loudly at an early reference to a "bona fide club" as being a club organized for "intellectual improvement."

Commissioner Latham had questions, what local interpretation might be put on this clause.

That many points were left open for attack from both those who are for and against the sale of beer in Sanford, goes without question. For instance, the ordinance says that beer may be sold in Sanford, but also prohibits its sale "within 500 feet of a school or church."

That means that practically every grocery store, drug store, restaurant or hotel in the business district is barred for the reason that almost all of them are within 500 feet of the First Presbyterian church, the Salvation Army and headquarters, which may be closed on a Sunday, several streets on Sanford Avenue, and Mrs. James Murphy.

These and other amendments totaling upward of a score will delay a final vote on the bill until next week, as several controversial changes yet must be acted on.

Just before Long and Wheeler raised the inflation issue, the Senate agreed to finish work on the provisions of the bill seeking to (Continued On Page Four)

Landowners Unite In Spain Against Republican Laws

MADRID.—Some 3000 landowners and farmers, led by a congress recently formed to protest against the agrarian laws of the Land Reform Bill.

Landowners are strongly opposed to the regime which has swept away the almost feudal practices they held until the advent of the Republic, and it is held that such an important sector of the Spanish conservative class shows signs of something in traditional industry to unite in a common front.

A result of the conference is hoped to form a national organization to support the rights of landowners against the state. The landowners claim that the Agrarian Reform Law desired to revolutionize agricultural Spain is unworkable, but it is only four months since the complicated and extensive law first entered into operation.

Recognition of land at the valuation according to taxation first was strongly resented as most proprietors had greatly increased their lands in order to pay less taxes.

That the state on Fascist lines still has supporters in Spain despite the failure of the dictatorship was shown by the favorable reception of several speakers at the congress, who said that agriculturalists should form a great corporation of proprietors with a view to the future formation of the state on these lines.

Liquor Can't Be Sold In One New York Community

BUFAFIO, N. Y.—Come what may in prohibition, there is one village in this state which will always be dry. It is Cattaraugus, in Cattaraugus county, founded in 1852 by Joseph Plumb, a firm believer in abstinence. Mr. Plumb decided a tract of land as the site of the village to the village itself.

Each purchaser of property thereafter got a deed containing a clause that "never so long as water flows in the streams and grass grows shall liquor be sold as a beverage in the village."

The liquor ban was backed by a penalty which provided that in event of violation of the terms of the deed by a property owner, the land should be forfeited and revert to the original owner.

Only once since Mr. Plumb's time have the terms of the deed been questioned. A nation was established in the village, but after a long legal fight, the State Court of Appeals upheld the provisions of the deed and the property owner in question was forced to forfeit his property.

New Construction Planned By Spain To Check Idleness

MADRID—A program of public works construction is being pushed by Senor Indalecio Prieto, Spain's Socialist Minister of Public Works, with a view to alleviating unemployment and increasing national production.

The largest departmental appropriation in Spain's 1933 budget is that allotted to the main-try of public works, and the most important since 1918 is the ministry's allotment for irrigation. Along the Ebro River, which winds across the northeastern corner of Spain and flows into the Mediterranean, the combined definitely projected and initiated irrigation works are capable of storing 5,000,000,000 cubic meters of water, to irrigate more than 1,000,000 hectares—a hectare is 2.47 acres—of hitherto undercultivated but rich land.

The above figures are those of Senor Felix de los Rios, director of Ebro irrigation works construc-

CENTRAL LEAGUE PLAYERS STUDY OLD LOOP MARKS

Rookies, Veterans, To Assault Records Of League's 1932 Stars

By PETER SCHAAAL

When the Central Florida Baseball League opens its 1933 season in games at Orlando and Daytona Beach Saturday afternoon, players will have their eyes not only on victory in the inaugural, but upon several 1932 batting and fielding records which they will try to break or at least equal.

A survey of 1931 and 1932 Central Florida Baseball League records indicates that in almost every case batting and fielding records made in 1931 were broken in 1932 so that the official records contained in the tabulation below represent the efforts of players who set out to specialize in various departments of play.

If the nearly 80 Central Florida Baseball League players of 1933 want to gain extra recognition as outstanding members of the teams, they need to break any of the following official nine-inning game marks:

PITCHING—11 chances without error, handled by Pat Sullivan, New Smyrna, right-hander on Apr. 28, 1932.

CATCHING—11 chances without error, handled by Bert Chapman, Sanford, on Sept. 4, 1932.

FIRST BASE—21 chances with only one error, handled by Mutt Wilson, Winter Park, on June 30, 1932.

SECOND BASE—13 chances without error, handled by Jack Sanford, of Sanford, on July 21.

THIRD BASE—Nine chances without error, record held by Hermus Prime of Cocoa and Jim Robertson of DeLand.

SHORTSTOP—11 chances without error, handled by Bob Pittman, Sanford, May 8.

OUTFIELD—Eight chances, one error, handled by Red Johnson, Winter Park centerfielder, on Sept. 4.

SINGLE GAME BATTING RECORDS—MOST HOMERS—Olin Hutto, two against Sanford twice during 1932.

MOST TRIPLES—Joiner and Wall of Cocoa, Hutton of Daytona, Robertson of DeLand and Frisbie of Sanford, each made two in one game during 1932.

MOST DOUBLES—Possum Lewis of Cocoa and Jack Sanford of Sanford made three in one game during 1932.

MOST HITS—Five in five tries, made by Alan Mobley three different times, and by Johnnie Culbreth of Cocoa once.

MOST SACRIFICE HITS—Three, by Culbreth of Cocoa, or May 1.

MOST RUNS—Four, scored by Prime of Cocoa, Shannon, Daytona, Martha, Sanford.

MOST STOLEN BASES—Four, stolen by Q. L. Roberts, DeLand on Sept. 4.

Other Records.—LONGEST CONSECUTIVE GAME BATTING STREAK—16 games, record held by Eddie Moore of Sanford, Starting May

LOCAL TEAM ALL SET FOR GAME IN ORLANDO SUNDAY

Ball Players Nearing End Of Two Weeks Of Stiff Training

Throughout the Central Florida Baseball League today players were nearing the end of two weeks of intensive, although rain-interrupted, training for the 1933 season's opening games at Orlando and Daytona Beach Sunday afternoon.

The same condition which prevails here in Sanford where Manager Joe Barnes says his team is ready, also prevails at Cocoa, Orlando, and Daytona Beach, according to available reports.

Barnes has used up every available hour for strenuous practice purposes. With an almost brand new team, he has made every effort to bring the boys together so that they will not only develop deep friendships but a smooth working combination both in the field and at bat.

When he released his players' list of 17 men at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, he declared the team "set." The starting line-up is almost sure to be as follows: Minor, p; Chapman, c; Barnes, 1st; Maltby, 2nd; Arioli, short; Moore, 3rd; Harrison, left; Newcomb, center; Abbott, right. Other names on the players' list include Pat Schirrad, Cal Dennis, Homer Tillis, John Higgin, Bill Torrible, Otis Curry, and Jim Mahaffey, the last named a brother of the Athletics pitcher Mahaffey.

Sunday's game at Orlando is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock, according to Jim Harper, co-manager of that outfit. Tinker Field will be decorated for the occasion, and admission price for the opener and for all games at Orlando until future notice is twenty-five cents for men and women and 15 cents for children.

He did not give his starting line-up but he did say that Sam Flora, a left-hander, will start on the mound, and that Walby Peel will play first, and that Manager Squire Godbold will catch.

From Cocoa comes word that the starting line-up there will find Edge, catching; Lefty Baker, pitching; Heasley at first; Harrell, 2nd; Brown, short; Prime, 3rd; Wall Hill and Provost in the outfield. Ed Lee, Hutton, Bill Strickland, Possum Lewis, and Johnnie Culbreth of the 1932 team will not be with Cocoa this year.

Manager Al Baker at Daytona announces that he has a great collection of players and that he has just signed Early Joiner, of Cocoa.

Lefty Line, Daytona Beach hurler, had more unique distinctions during the 1932 Central Florida Baseball League season than did any other hurler. He started and finished 17 games, winning 14 and losing three. In all those games he walked but 18 men, and he struck out 101 men to lead all pitchers in that department. He turned in 15 straight victories, and all three of his season's defeats were 1 to 0 losses.

The Daytona Beach Islanders certainly knew where to hit extra base hits while playing at home during the Central Florida Baseball League's 1932 season. The Islanders batted out 13 homers, 14 triples and 26 doubles at home during the year.

The 10 leading batters in the Central Florida Baseball League during 1932, in the order in which they finished after having played more than 30 games are A. Mobley, Daytona, 408; Red Martin, Sanford, 393; B. Alan Mobley, Daytona Beach catcher who led the Central Florida Baseball League's 1932 season in batting with a mark of 408, also holds several other league batting marks for the year. He secured the most hits, 73; the most doubles, 12; the most runs batted in, 41, and he scored a total of 101 bases.

OXYGEN THIEVERY... THE CAUSE OF MANY HEADACHES!

TRY this little experiment. Place a glass over a lighted candle and out it goes. The flame requires oxygen and when all the oxygen in the glass is used, the flame goes out. An electric cigar lighter under the same glass will burn indefinitely. The glowing heat of electricity requires no oxygen.

That tiredness after cooking on a flame-type range is caused by oxygen thievery. The flames steal the oxygen from the air you breathe. The stale air that is left, causes headaches and exhaustion.

Electric cookery leaves the air in your kitchen clean, cool and pure. No more cookery headaches when you cook the electric way. Ask any employee or your favorite electric dealer about this healthful way to cook.

PETITION ASKING LONG'S REMOVAL CENTER OF ROW

Senator Seeks Way To Avoid Publication Of Such Matters

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—(AP)

A proposed change in the Senate rules governing receipt of petitions assailing the reputation of its members was under formation last night by Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, after he had branded on the floor as "a trap" the charges by a group of Louisianians who petitioned Thursday to remove him.

The rule amendment probably will be submitted Monday to the judiciary committee, to which the Senate yesterday referred the anti-Long petition for study as to whether it or similar ones in the future should be treated as a privileged matter and thus made available for publication.

The Louisiana petition, signed by former Gov. John M. Parker and a score of others was addressed to Vice President Garner and referred Thursday by him to the elections committee. It thus became public property.

Long said in his speech in the Senate yesterday that a study of the authorities had convinced him that such petitions were privileged and newspapers could not be blamed for printing their contents, but suggested the Senate should determine the question.

"I think that is a proper suggestion," said Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who moved the petition be taken from the elections committee and referred to the judiciary committee.

Robinson said Long had raised the question whether the Senate had a right to "receive such a petition."

"I think it is important," Long said, "that the Senate should determine whether or not docu- ments of this character sent here, are privileged. If they are, we should amend our rules. If they are not, then we should take such action as is appropriate."

Chairman Ashurst of the judi- ciary committee disagreed with Long's contention that the peti- tion was privileged, but added: "If in the Senate—and I apply this admission to myself—we were more careful respecting the tender subject of human char- acter and the reputation of other persons who cannot answer here we would have more sympathy extended to us when we find ourselves the objects of calumny, as we do now and then."

"I have not examined the ques- tion of the privilege of so-called privilege, if any, attaching to the communications sent to the Senate respecting the senator from Louisiana," Ashurst said, "but I should say as a sidewalk or curbstone opinion that I receive no privilege attaching to such communications. Those who publish so do at their own peril."

Austin Show Thrills Jacksonville Throng

By H. S. CLIFFORD

Jacksonville theater-goers have frequently paid many times what they paid to see Gens Austin's road show, but it is doubtful if they ever got as much or more for their money.

Come himself is forced to star in the show by design of the audience for encore after encore. He even sang a pink song in an effort to stop the tide of enthu- siasm at his performance at the Florida Theater, but it did no good. The audience saw through his trick and demanded more and more, until the tempo with the double voice was almost exhaust- ed.

His willingness to respond to demands for encores places him among the few stars who sit up- on pedestals erected by public ac- claim. This willingness was indi- cation of the class of the entire show. They seemed to be a genu- ine effort to give the people more than they paid for.

Each distinctive and talented, presented a conglomerate of shapely, songs, comedy, skits and vaudeville features deluxe. A fe- male orchestra known as The Bricktons, furnished incidental and special music of a caliber rarely heard here but highly appreciated notwithstanding. Nobody's ear- drums needed a rest after the show, as is the custom when the many jazz orchestra presents its raucous and latent junk.

A blues singer, a baritone, com- edy dancers, specialty dancers, a drunken comedian impersonating Philo Marx brothers, dance teams, song teams music and songs gal- lery, gave the several thousand who packed the house a theatric- al treat for less expense than they believed possible.

Next to the hapless Winter Park team in the 1932 Central Florida Baseball League, the New Smyrna Crackers were the poorest team and players. The Crack- ers won but six of the 21 games they played on the road during the year.

made scramble to make beer the grocer that lays the golden egg. Walker said. "We also were reminded of what happened to the goose. Unless restrictions were placed on the maximum licenses cities could impose on firms or persons engaged in the distribution of beer, many of the evils of the old saloon days would be revived. The Legislature wants to make possible widespread distribution of beer. This cannot be done unless proper safeguards are thrown around the license subsidies of the state, counties and municipalities." A reasonable license of beer retailers, Walker added, would make beer available at establishments able to pay the fee.

"With the state charging $15 and cities and counties together limited to imposing an additional $15 under the 50 percent limitation clause," he said, "the greatest license any retailer would pay would be $30 a year. This would enable operators of almost any filling station, hotel, restaurant, soda fountain, drug store or beer garden to sell beer at retail. It would make beer available at thousands of places instead of restricting distribution to a few places, whose proprietors might be controlled by the brewers as was the case when we had a high license on the old time saloons."

There is little likelihood that the Senate will amend the beer revenue bill to increase the license schedule approved by the House, because a majority of the Senate takes the view of the House committee that high licenses mean lower revenues and domination of retail distributors by the brewers.

ICEBERG PATROL WORK DESCRIBED BY U. S. OFFICIAL

Observations Made To Prevent Disasters Like Titanic Sinking

ST. JOHN'S, N. F.—The story of a nation's efforts to combat the springtime iceberg menace on the north Atlantic was told to Newfoundland people recently in a radio address by Floyd M. Soule, senior physical oceanographer of the United States coast guard.

Mr. Soule came here in the U. S. coast guard cutter General Greene en route to the ocean regions which he is to cover in the interests of the International Ice Observation service which precedes the regular patrol work ending July 1.

The United States undertook this service as the result of an international treaty formed soon after the sinking of the Titanic. Other maritime nations contribute to the annual service. This year the General Greene is making the preliminary cruise during which Mr. Soule is attempting to forecast the probable volume and drift of the ice as well as the time in which the southward flow will start. Later, larger cutters maintain watch over the icy fields of bergs and growlers, warning ships by radio of the exact position of the floating obstructions.

During the actual patrol season, the General Greene becomes an oceanographic vessel with the primary duty of supplying the patrol cutter with accurate and up-to-date charts of the iceberg areas. This material is prepared from data collected at various oceanographic stations which are well distributed over the area to be charted.

The oceanographers determine the vertical distribution of the density of the water down to the level where the water is motionless, which is about 1000 meters. The density is determined by measuring the temperature of the water and its salinity.
