Sanford To Vote Again On Drainage Improvements

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A drainage improvement plan will be put before Sanford's voters this year for the third time.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles was instructed by the City Commission on Monday night to "dust off the plans for drainage improvements and to update cost estimates" with the idea of giving city voters another opportunity to consider approval.

The city will be seeking authorization from the voters to float a bond issue for the improvements.

Sanford voters on Dec. 7, 1971, turned down a $4 million bond issue for citywide drainage improvements. Again on Nov. 5, 1974, the voters turned down a $6.5 million bond issue for drainage improvements.

City Engineer Mack LaZebny estimates the cost of providing citywide drainage today would be at least $13 million—double the 1974 cost.

The idea of dusting off the plans and trying again came from City Commissioner David Farr, after residents of W. 14th Street complained of continual flooding of their homes.

Farr said that with the recent rains still fresh on people's minds, perhaps the drainage bond issue will gain voter approval this time.

Edna Burden, 1112 W. 14th St., brought the flooding problem in her neighborhood to the commission's attention. She said that at times drainage water in front of her home is three to four feet deep and that over the years nothing has been done to curb or correct the flooding.

She said she has "twice had to flee my home" because of high water since moving the house to the site in 1977. Because of standing drainage water, she said, her home is plagued with leeches, snakes, frogs and mosquitoes.

Mrs. Burden said flood waters flow into her neighborhood all the way from 25th Street.

"I feel this is negligence on the part of those in charge," she said.

Knowles said Mrs. Burden was cautioned that her area was flood-prone before she moved the house there. He said the 14th Street area is part of a natural drainage basin in the city that extends from Lake Monroe to 25th Street. "She moved into the area knowing ahead of time it would flood," he said.

Mrs. Burden insisted the city has deliberately curbed the drainage to direct the water to 14th Street. Knowles responded that drainage goes to that area by the natural contour of the land and not by manmade structures.

He said the city cannot correct the drainage just in the 14th Street area, adding that it is the major basin of the five basins in the city and would require the largest expenditure of money to correct.

"Twice the city voters have turned down drainage bond issues. They will continue to turn them down unless we can time an election during heavy rains," Knowles said.

"Not only me but five other families have had to be evacuated in the area," Mrs. Burden said. She insisted the drainage problem should be taken care of on an annual basis without having to go to a vote.

Catherine Terrell, a native of Sanford, said she moved back to the city in 1977 "just in time to be washed out." She added that while she currently rents her home, there are no others available at a reasonable rental fee. "There is nowhere to move," she said.

Knowles said the plans will be updated and ready to submit to the commission within 30 days.

Sanford Crackdown On Male Strippers

By TOM GIORDANO
Herald Managing Editor

There'll be no more male strippers performing at Molly Magee's restaurant-lounge in Sanford.

That was the promise made by Bob Beske, owner of the Park Drive facility, following a warning this morning by city police.

And while Beske promised to cooperate with local police and the city administration, he says he is upset that the Sanford community will not support his business.

Beske said he hired the male dancers on two separate occasions about a month apart and had them perform on Sunday, a day the restaurant-lounge normally is closed, to a women-only audience following a lingerie show performed by five professional models. The lingerie show also may violate the city ordinance prohibiting any nude or semi-nude dancing or display in Sanford at establishments where alcoholic beverages are served, according to an assistant state attorney.

Sanford police, according to Chief Ben Butler, were made aware of the male strip show by "an undercover, confidential informant." Butler said he does not know whether the informant is female, "but I assume so."

The matter was discussed Monday night at a City Commission meeting when Butler reported "police intelligence revealed incidents of male strippers performing" at Molly Magee's in violation of the city ordinance.

Beske said he first considered hiring the male dancers and the professional models for the lingerie show because he was not getting much support from the Sanford community.

"I've got half a million invested here, and I've tried to give the community a fine restaurant and lounge to be proud of, but they just won't support it. That's what put Mr. P's under, and that's what's going to put me under," he said.

Beske insisted the male dancers did not strip, and that they danced with bikinis, although Assistant State Attorney Steve Brady pointed out that semi-nude dancing, which is in violation of the city's ordinance, occurs when certain parts of the anatomy are exposed or "displayed." That can occur with a bikini, he noted.

And, Brady added, the ordinance does not refer to gender, thereby prohibiting both males and females from displaying certain parts of the body.

Brady said the matter was first brought to his attention Monday by a Sanford detective, and that Brady told the detective an ordinance similar to Sanford's was upheld last month by the U.S. Supreme Court as valid. He also said he suggested the police speak with the restaurant-lounge's owner before taking action, because "I had heard that he was planning to use female strippers next."

Beske vehemently denied he intends to use female strippers. "My intent has always been to have a quality facility here, and I never planned on having female strippers. And if police say the male dancers violate the law, then so be it. I won't use them anymore. I don't want to do anything against police, the city administration or the people in this community," he said.

Beske said he also is angry with himself "for not having the foresight to invite the City Commission to view the lingerie show and the male dancers. Then, if they had told me they felt it violated the city ordinance, I would have stopped. But I don't think that would have been the case. They are professional dancers and models who perform at major restaurant-lounges throughout Florida.

"I'm not trying to make this a Club Juana North, but I had to come up with some kind of promotional ideas to keep my business going. I spent a lot of money on Sundays hiring clowns with balloons, trying to get a family day started, but it just didn't work. The people in Sanford lie back and don't support me. Funny part of this thing is, when I hired the male dancers and had the first show, I recognized a lot of Sanford women. I'd say the average age was 40. But for the second show, most of the women came from the south end of the county. That tells me it wasn't lewd enough the first time to suit the ladies," he said.

Longwood Man Killed By Train In Accident South Of DeBary

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A string of automobile accidents over the last three days has resulted in the death of a Longwood man in Volusia County and injuries to seven people in Seminole County.

State troopers said Raymond Thibodeau, 48, of Longwood Hill Road, was pronounced dead at Seminole Memorial Hospital after his 1975 Chevrolet truck, which was traveling at a speed of about 20 to 25 m.p.h., crashed into a Seaboard Coast Line train at Barwick Road, two miles south of DeBary. Troopers added that there is no signal gate at the crossing, near U.S. Highway 17-92, and that Thibodeau's vehicle failed to stop for the train.

Troopers estimated damage at $3,000 to the truck and $1,200 to the train.

W.A. Rowand Jr., of Deltona, the train engineer, was not injured in the crash.

Meanwhile, a woman and her child injured in a weekend crash east of Sanford are still being treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sanford.

Ruth Johnston, 33, of Holly Hill is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit with a broken hip, arms and legs, while her two-year-old daughter, Lowry, is listed in satisfactory condition with a broken hip, hospital officials said.

Also injured in the two-car accident, which occurred at about 10 a.m. Sunday on State Road 415A, north of SR 46, was Richard Browne, 31, of 257 Spartan Drive, Maitland. Browne is listed in fair condition at Florida Hospital-Orlando with head injuries and a cut knee, hospital officials said.

Browne was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after he reportedly attempted to pass a car while northbound on SR 415A and crashed head-on into Johnston's vehicle, troopers said.

In another incident, three persons were injured in a three-car accident on County Road 427 near Longwood, just west of County Road 15, Saturday night.

Troopers said a car driven by Joel E. Peisner, 20, of 283 Marjorie Ave., Longwood, was traveling west on CR 427 when it crossed the center line and hit a car driven by Bill Hall, 36, of 134 Holderness St., Longwood.

Peisner's vehicle reportedly continued a short distance and collided head-on with a car driven by Chris Spotts, 26, of 551 E. SR 436, Fern Park, troopers said.

Ms. Spotts and Peisner were treated for cuts and bruises and released from Florida Hospital-Altamonte. Grady Cone, 29, also of 551 E. SR 436, Fern Park, who was a passenger in Ms. Spotts' car, was slightly injured, while Hall was not hurt, troopers said.

Peisner was charged with failure to drive in a single lane, troopers said.

A Naples woman was slightly injured when she reportedly fell asleep at the wheel, ran off the roadway, crashed into a speed-limit sign, ran over a concrete culvert and through a ditch, collided with a sign at Semoran North Condominiums and finally crashed into a Pizza Hut restaurant, troopers said.

The accident occurred at about 6:45 a.m. on SR 436 just south of Howell Branch Road in Casselberry, troopers said. Anne Reed Talley, 31, was charged with failure to use due care in the accident, which reportedly caused $30,000 damage to the restaurant and about $10,000 damage to Ms. Talley's 1981 Toyota, troopers said.

Donovan Foe Wins Big Lottery

NW YORK (UPI) — A former union official who accused Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan of witnessing a payoff won $2.5 million in the state lottery and says he plans to use part of it to establish a union dissidents' trust fund.

Mario Montuoro, 44, former secretary-treasurer of Laborers Union Local 29, confirmed Monday he will share in the $5 million top prize in the state's "Lotto" game.

Montuoro has accused Donovan of being present during the payoff of the president of his union local at a New York restaurant in 1977. A special prosecutor is investigating the charge.

Lottery officials declined Monday to confirm Montuoro was a winner. They scheduled a news conference for today to formally announce the winners' names. But Montuoro and Susan Jennik, an employee of the law firm representing Montuoro, said state lottery officials confirmed Montuoro held the winning number at a Monday meeting.

"I'm going to set up a trust fund for union dissidents," Montuoro said. "I'm going to help the people who are going through what I've been through."

Montuoro said he had played the same number in the Lotto game for five months and had watched his number drawn on television during the weekend.

EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY...

... But Benji, the pet of Leona Orcutt (at right, photo above) isn't so sure this is the day to be washed at Phi Delta Theta fraternity's dog wash to benefit the Seminole County Humane Society. It happened Saturday at Southeast National Bank in Sanford, where fraternity men Jim Burney (left) and Jon Doering were present to lend a hand to Ms. Orcutt, a bank employee. At right, Doering makes sure all the soap has been washed out of Benji's eyes.

Residents Balk But Longwood May Pave Street

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood residents packed City Hall on Monday night to protest the proposed paving of Orange Avenue. But those who came to protest at the equalization hearing won't know whether their cries fell on deaf ears until May 10, when city engineers review nine bids for the paving job and bring their recommendations back to the City Commission.

After an hour of hearing nothing but negative input from some 30 Orange Avenue residents, Commissioner Steven Uskert asked for a hand vote for those in favor of the paving. Not one hand went up. And when he asked for a show of hands for those opposed to the paving, the response was clear-cut.

"It seems the city and county want the road paved more than the residents do," said one Orange Avenue resident.

"At least 80 percent of the people at this meeting tonight are from Orange Avenue, and we've made it clear that we don't want the street paved. We don't want it and we don't want to pay for it. If you want it paved, you pay for it," the homeowner told the commission.

Other residents pointed to the fact that the road could be used as a cut-through from County Road 437 to State Road 434 and that the paving would welcome speeding motorists in search of shortcuts between the two roads.

One resident, although not affected by the proposed paving assessment, which would run Orange Avenue residents approximately $10.50 per linear foot, perhaps summed up the feeling of those involved in the paving question best.

"I don't live on Orange Avenue," said Jimmy Ross, 429 Wildmere Ave. "But I have a strong interest in how local government works and how it responds to the wishes of its people. And I think you're making a grave error in going against the wishes of the people."

Mayor June Lormann responded by saying, "Mr. Ross brought up some good points, but the commission has to decide whether to let the city grow or keep it as it is."

"We keep hearing about how the city isn't paving streets. Now we're trying to do something. The longer we put off paving, the more expensive it becomes," said Mrs. Lormann.

Uskert, dissatisfied at the negative response to the proposed paving, closed the hearing, saying, "If the people don't want the paving, I'm of the opinion to spend the money somewhere else."

Mrs. Lormann unveiled nine sealed bids for the proposed paving job, ranging from a high of $71,971 to a low of $19,952.50.

City Administrator David Chacey pointed out that the residents would be assessed only for the paving of the street and that the city would pick up an estimated $25,000 for drainage work, but that did little to change the minds of affected residents.

Palettes To Pamper The Palate

Just as good design is essential to fashion, eye-catching presentation is important to the full enjoyment of food. And fresh fruits and vegetables make it easy for any cook to earn designer status at the table.

There's wide variety of fresh produce available at the supermarket which offers contrast in color, texture and flavor, limitless possibilities for your imagination in designing food combinations that are a tribute to your artistic as well as culinary skills.

To help you on your way, here are two recipes for seasonal fresh produce platters: one is a dramatic pastiche of vegetables as a quick main dish; the other is a speedy, colorful fruit dessert.

Nutrient-packed Fresh Antipasto Platter, for example, makes for a revitalizing, light supper for two or a salad course for four. Brilliant strips of red pepper contrast with tender mushrooms, crunchy carrots and shimmering juicy grapes, accompanied by a creamy-fresh garlic dressing. There's no limit to the combinations of tastes and textures with this platter—add zucchini, tomatoes or other fresh seasonal vegetables, if you wish.

A perfect way to top off a meal is with Fresh Fruit Fantasia, a Nouvelle cuisine dessert that's as delightful to the taste buds as it is to the eyes. Dip zesty kiwi, papaya and pineapple wedges, all providing vitamin C, into a lightly sweetened yogurt-and-strawberry sauce. Here, too, you can be creative with other seasonal fruits.

When purchasing fruits, look for: strawberries that are firm, plump and full-colored, with their hulls intact; oranges that are firm and heavy for their size; papayas that are well-colored (at least half-yellow), smooth and unbruised; kiwi that are light-brown, "furry," and for maturity, soft as a ripe pear; and pineapples that are heavy for their size and with dark green and fresh-looking crown leaves.

FRESH ANTIPASTO PLATTER

- 10 to 12 fresh asparagus spears
- 1 1/2 cups baby carrots
- Boston or romaine lettuce leaves
- 1/2 pound medium mushrooms, quartered
- 1 small red pepper, sliced
- 1/4 pound green grapes
- 2-3rd cup thinly sliced radishes
- 1/2 pound Cheddar cheese, cut into 1/4-inch pieces
- 1/2 cup toasted, whole almonds

Select asparagus that are green and tender. Tips should be well formed and tightly closed. To prepare, break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Wash thoroughly to release any sand. Pare the stalk thinly with a vegetable parer. Lay stalks flat in a large skillet. Add 1 inch boiling, salted water. Cover. Cook 8 to 10 minutes or until lower parts of stalks are tender and firm. Drain. Chill. Cook carrots in 1 inch boiling salted water 10 to 15 minutes or until tender. Drain. Chill. Line 2 dinner plates with lettuce leaves. Arrange asparagus, mushrooms, red pepper, clusters of green grapes, carrots, radishes, Cheddar cheese and almonds on each plate. Serve with Garlic Dressing (below). MAKES: 2 servings. NOTE: Can use any variety of fresh produce according to seasonal availability.

GARLIC DRESSING:

- 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/2 cup freshly squeezed lemon or lime juice
 - 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
 - 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 - 1 small clove garlic, minced
- In small bowl combine all ingredients; mix well. Cover. Refrigerate 2 to 3 hours to blend flavors. MAKES: 1 cup dressing.

FRESH FRUIT FANTASIA

- 1 cup fresh strawberries, washed
 - 1 small papaya, peeled, seeded and sliced
 - 1 kiwi, peeled and sliced
 - Fresh pineapple chunks
 - 1 orange
- Divide strawberries, papaya slices, kiwi slices and pineapple chunks and arrange on 2 dessert plates. Cut top off orange; scallop the edge with a small, sharp knife. Hollow out with a spoon. Fill orange shell with GINGERED Strawberry Sauce (below). Serve sauce over fresh fruit. MAKES: 2 servings. NOTE: Any variety of fresh fruits can be used according to seasonal availability.

GINGERED STRAWBERRY SAUCE

- 1 cup plain yogurt
 - 1 cup fresh strawberries, washed
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons honey
 - 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger root
- In small bowl combine yogurt, strawberries, honey and ginger root. Cover. Chill well before serving. MAKES: 1 1/2 cups.

They'll Ask For More Cake

When the Streusel Brunch Cake is all gone, they'll ask for more! The cake's moistness and tenderness makes for repeat orders and the cook won't mind because of the recipe's one-bowl ease-of-preparation.

Streusel Brunch Cake, developed by Land O'Lakes Kitchens, features a streusel mixture of coconut, brown sugar and margarine on top and in the middle. An added treat inside is mandarin orange slices.

A third of the batter is spread in baking pan, then topped with the oranges and half the streusel mixture. The remaining batter carefully tops the mandarin oranges, and the rest of the streusel crumbs are sprinkled over all.

STREUSEL BRUNCH CAKE

- Streusel:
- 1 cup flaked coconut
 - 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 - 2 tbsp. margarine, softened
- Cake:
- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup margarine, softened
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 2 eggs
 - 2 tsp. baking powder
 - 1 (11-oz.) can mandarin oranges, well drained

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In small bowl combine all streusel ingredients until crumbly; set aside. In 3-qt. mixer bowl combine all cake ingredients. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 min). Spread one-third of batter into greased 9" sq. baking pan.

Place oranges and half of streusel mixture over batter. Carefully spread remaining batter over oranges. Sprinkle top with remaining streusel. Bake for 35 to 40 minutes or until wood pick inserted in center comes out clean. Yield: 9 servings.

The variety of fresh and nutritious fruits and vegetables available offer limitless possibilities to any plate.

Fresh Fruit Fantasia, a Nouvelle cuisine dessert, is delightful to both the eyes and taste buds.

Chicken, chuck steak and kebabs were born for barbecuing.

Barbecue

No Fancy Airs — Just Plain Good Eating

Considering it's the oldest form of cooking known, outdoor barbecuing has rarely put on fancy airs. Few treat it with reverence, or speak of its mystique. In fact most people think of barbecuing not as an ancient and venerable art, but as just plain good eating. In many homes, barbecuing is the speciality of the backyard chef. It is a shining hour when the stove is traded for the outdoor grill, and the family chef conjures up wonderful aromatic whiffs and tantalizing musical sizzles, all to please the happy, grateful eaters.

As relaxed a cooking method as barbecuing can be, it still pays to plan ahead. Good equipment is important. A grill, with easy adjustment for heat and coals, is a must. Also important are long-handled tongs, fork, spatula and brush, long-armed mitts and a spray can of water — for dousing flare-ups.

It also pays to plan the menu and its preparation ahead of time. Nearly any meal can be barbecued. But since barbecuing is a dry and relatively quick-cooking method almost all meats improve when marinated or liberally brushed with a sauce during the cooking.

Most marinades and basting sauces are oil-based and include an acid ingredient such as vinegar or lemon. Many people like to add corn syrup, either light or dark, to their marinades and sauces, because corn syrup balances and blends flavors, helps the sauce cling to the food and lends a shiny glaze to the finished foods.

Some foods, burgers and "dogs," for instance, might have been born to the barbecue. They're excellent starters for the novice outdoor chef because they cook easily without a perfectly fine-tuned fire.

LEMON-MARINATED CHUCK STEAK

1 (2-1/2 to 3 pound) boneless beef chuck roast or steak, cut 2 inches thick

- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 cup corn oil
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place meat in shallow baking dish. In small bowl stir together corn syrup, lemon rind, lemon juice, corn oil, onions, salt and pepper until well mixed. Pour over meat. Cover; refrigerate overnight, turning occasionally. Remove meat from marinade. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, basting frequently, 40 to 50 minutes, turning as needed, or until desired doneness. Slice diagonally across grain into thin slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SPARERIBS MILWAUKEE STYLE

4 pounds country-style spareribs, trimmed, cut in serving pieces

- 1 can (12 oz.) beer
- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- One-third cup prepared mustard
- 1/4 cup corn oil
- 1 to 2 tablespoons chili powder
- 2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed

Place ribs in large shallow baking dish. In medium bowl stir together beer, corn syrup, onion, mustard, corn oil, chili powder and garlic. Pour over ribs. Cover; refrigerate overnight, turning occasionally. Remove ribs from marinade. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, turning and basting frequently, about 40 to 45 minutes or until tender. Makes 4 servings.

CHILDREN'S

- 1 pound ground beef round
- 2 cups chopped onion
- 1 cup catsup
- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup prepared spicy brown mustard
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon crushed dried red pepper
- 12 frankfurters
- 12 frankfurter buns

In large skillet cook beef and onion over medium heat until browned. Drain off excess fat. Stir in catsup, corn syrup, mustard, vinegar, chili powder and red pepper. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, 30 minutes. (Chili Sauce may be frozen. Defrost and reheat gently over low heat.) Serve over frankfurters in buns. Makes about 12 servings.

CRANBERRY GRILLED CHICKEN

- 1 can (16 oz.) jellied cranberry sauce
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon corn oil
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts

In small bowl with wire whisk beat together cranberry sauce, corn syrup, vinegar, corn oil, cinnamon and salt until well blended. Grill chicken 6 inches from source of heat, turning frequently, 30 minutes. Brush with cranberry mixture. Grill, brushing with cranberry mixture and turning frequently, about 15 minutes longer or until chicken is fork tender. Heat remaining cranberry mixture and serve with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry Grilled Short Ribs: Trim excess fat from 4 pounds beef short ribs, cut in serving-size pieces. Place ribs in 5-quart dutch oven or saucepot; add water to cover. Cover; bring to boil over high heat. Reduce heat and simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Drain ribs well. Brush with cranberry mixture. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, brushing with cranberry mixture and turning frequently, about 20 minutes or until browned. Heat remaining cranberry mixture and serve with ribs. Makes 4 servings.

GRILLED CORNISH HENS

- 2 (1 lb. each) Cornish hens, split
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- One-third cup red wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place hens in shallow baking dish. In small bowl stir together corn syrup, orange juice concentrate, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, corn oil, salt and pepper. Pour over hens. Cover; refrigerate several hours or overnight, turning occasionally. Remove from marinade. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, turning and basting with marinade frequently, 50 to 60 minutes or until tender. Makes 4 servings.

PINEAPPLE PORK KABOBS

- 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks in own juice
- One-third cup dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 pound lean boneless pork, cut into 32 (1-inch) cubes
- 3 medium zucchini, cut in 24 (1-inch) slices
- 3 carrots, parboiled, cut in 24 (1-inch) slices
- 16 pearl white onions, parboiled

Drain pineapple; reserve juice. In medium bowl stir together pineapple juice, corn syrup, soy sauce, mustard, garlic and pepper. Add pork and zucchini; toss to coat evenly. Cover; refrigerate several hours or overnight. Remove pork and zucchini from marinade. On each of 8 skewers, alternately thread pork, zucchini, pineapple chunks, carrots and onions. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, basting with marinade and turning frequently, about 15 minutes or until pork is tender. Makes 4 servings.

ORIENTAL BURGERS

- 1 pound ground beef round
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh gingerroot, or 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed, or 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- Shape beef into 4 burgers; place in shallow dish. In small bowl stir together soy sauce, corn syrup, Worcestershire sauce, ginger and garlic until well mixed. Pour over burgers. Cover; refrigerate 3 hours, turning occasionally. Remove burgers from marinade. Grill, turning and basting frequently, 6 to 8 minutes or until desired doneness. Makes 4.

No Surgery For Severe Bronchitis

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor tells me I have severe bronchitis and there is nothing to be done for me. He says I'll just have to live with it. When I had a cold recently the cough turned into a bloody secretion that was so bad I could not lie flat to sleep. This went on for two days and nights then gradually cleared up. The doctor gives me vitamin K and antibiotics to clear up the infection. At times I have a short spell of spitting up blood but it only lasts a few minutes. If I get a cold it's much worse. Isn't there some form of surgery that can be done for people like me? I cannot accept the fact that nothing can be done.

DEAR READER — You are having something done for your chronic bronchitis. The antibiotic treatment is one very important example.

If you had a localized bleeder in the lungs it might be possible to seal it off. But the big problem is the fundamental inflammatory changes in the air passages in your lungs.

You should take every precaution possible to avoid exposure to respiratory infections. That includes exposure to the common cold. Getting flu shots each year to prevent flu if possible is important as well.

Some doctors feel that exercise can be helpful but this certainly has to be individualized. If your lung function permits, daily walks are at least important psychologically and for the rest of your body.

For people with rather severe pulmonary problems from chronic bronchitis and emphysema I like them to have an evaluation by a pulmonary specialist who does lung functions studies. The information is often helpful in deciding what course of management works best for that patient. Your doctor can refer you to such a physician; since you are from a fairly large community I am confident there is one in your city.

Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 17-8, Chronic Bronchitis and Emphysema. It also emphasizes the importance of avoiding pollutants including cigarette smoke. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Does poor circulation go with the menopause? The last few years I have had to keep changing sleeping positions because my arms go to sleep.

Now my arms go to sleep and get that prickly sensation during the day as well. I'm fit and have always been very healthy and I have never smoked. I hate to waste the doctor's time when I feel so healthy. I am a few pounds overweight.

DEAR READER — That is not likely poor circulation as caused by obstruction inside the arteries to your arms. You are more likely to have some pressure on the nerves that go to your arm or on the arteries to your arms. This pressure could be caused by a neck muscle pressing on the nerve or artery, or from changes in your cervical spine.

Depending on what your symptoms really are, you could even have a carpal tunnel syndrome, pressure on your nerves and arteries in your wrist. It will require an examination to define what the source of pressure really is.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Try not to do things in fits and starts today. If you do, you'll have little to show for your efforts. Focus on pertinent projects.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
To expedite personal ventures you might throw caution to the winds today and fall to use your best judgment. Study each move wisely.

matters that you leave to chance could go awry.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Keep a tight rein on your purse or wallet today and make an effort to avoid nonessential expenditures. Later you'll appreciate your prudence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You have the ability today to successfully accomplish matters which may overwhelm your peers, but if you perform no as to make them feel inferior they'll resent you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Unexpected changes will awaken your resourcefulness today. You'll be able to handle them well, yet you might let an opportunity slip past you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
In business or career matters you should come out on the plus side today. However, social involvements could cause headaches.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
The balance between success and failure is very delicate today in areas affecting your self-interests. Use your best judgment at all times.

WIN AT BRIDGE

dummy's king in order to lead a club. West wins with the ace or king. That doesn't matter. His problem is to decide what to lead.

East will have played the deuce of clubs so a club lead is out. What's wrong with leading the ace of hearts apart from the fact that it gives South his contract? Didn't East bid three hearts?

Nothing wrong with that heart lead except that if East is alert he will have told you not to lead a heart if you hold the ace. East will have discarded his queen of hearts on the second spade. This play is conventional. When you want to signal with several equal cards, always signal with the highest.

Therefore, West knows to lead a diamond. If South holds the ace-queen it will be suicidal, but West knows a heart or club lead is sure death.

Couldn't East have asked for that diamond lead by discarding the nine?

Yes—he could have! However, East did not know that he wanted a diamond lead. Give West the king instead of the ace of hearts and the ace instead of the king of diamonds and East would want a heart lead. The queen of hearts discard gave East the best of all possible worlds.

Microwave Magic

Roll Cheese Into Italian Meat Loaf

When I'm at a loss as to what to serve for dinner that is quick, sure to please and easy on the budget, I usually prepare something Italian.

One of our favorites is an Italian meat loaf. This is a stuffed meat loaf that can be varied with several different fillings.

ITALIAN MEAT LOAF

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground chuck (lean)
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 egg
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese

1. Mix well ground chuck, bread crumbs, half the tomato sauce, egg, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, salt and pepper.
2. On wax paper, pat into a rectangle 1/2 inch thick. Sprinkle with mozzarella cheese.
3. Roll up by starting on short side. Lift paper until meat begins to roll tightly. Keep paper free from rolling with the meat loaf. Continue to complete roll. Seal edges and place in microwave safe loaf pan.

Midge Mycoff
Home Economist
Seminole Community College

4. Microwave at 100 percent power 8-10 minutes. Reduce power to 50 percent power (medium). Microwave 10-14 minutes or until meat loses most of its pink color. Drain.
5. Combine remaining tomato sauce, oregano and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Pour over meat loaf. Microwave 2 minutes to heat sauce. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Variation: Thinly sliced ham and sautéed green peppers and onions can be substituted for the mozzarella cheese. Place the ham on the meat rectangle, spread the pepper and onions on the ham. Roll. This combination is especially attractive if green and red peppers are used. To complete the meal, try parsley potatoes, a crisp tossed salad, bread sticks and tortoni for dessert.

Hint: If your microwave is not equipped with a carousel, be sure to rotate your loaf several times during the cooking. You may also find it necessary to shield the corners of the loaf pan with foil to prevent over cooking.

The less-expensive ground beef is not a wise purchase in that it has a greater percentage of fat that is cooked out and drained. A ground chuck has good flavor and less fat.

BOILING POTATOES—PARSLEY POTATOES
Scrub, but do not peel whole new potatoes. Prick twice with fork. Place in a 2-quart casserole with 2 tablespoons water. Cover. Microwave at 100 percent power until fork tender. Stir to rearrange. Eight whole red potatoes take approximately 8-10 minutes. Sprinkle with fresh chopped parsley and melted butter.

TORTONI
Stir 1 quart of vanilla ice cream to soften. Add 1/2 cup diced candied fruit, 1/2 cup light raisins, 1/2 cup finely chopped blanched almonds, toasted. Stir in rum flavoring to suit taste. Spoon into 8-9 souffle cups. Freeze firmly. Top with cherries and cookie crumbs.

Pineapple Caramel is a delicious dessert that's ready in less than 20 minutes. It features wedges of pineapple topped with a golden caramel sauce.

Fresh Fruit Flavors Fast Fancy Fare

If you're in a hurry about dinner, nothing surpasses fresh, fast-fruit desserts in taste, speed of preparation or convenience. And at the end of a hectic day a soothing reward can be nutritious, readily available and economical fruit. (There are simply no substitutes.)

One dessert that's ready in less than 20 minutes is Pineapple Caramel, with lustrous wedges of fruit in a golden caramel sauce. Another pops out of the oven in 30 minutes: Banana Rhubarb Crisp, a spicy and fragrant composite that will remind you of grandmother's kitchen.

According to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, pineapple is available all year long and is a fair source of vitamin C. It is also low in sodium and calories. Pineapples are picked at the peak of ripeness and flavor, and do not ripen after harvest. Select one that is plump, fresh-looking and as large as possible; the larger the fruit, the more flesh that is edible.

Remember the lovely, rosy rhubarb of your grandparent's garden? Bring it back! Although botanically classified a vegetable, rhubarb is considered a fruit because of its flavor and acidity. Fine-quality fruit is fresh, firm, crisp and tender, either cherry-red or pink in color. Stalks should be fairly thick with fresh-looking leaves. Keep in mind that only the stalk is edible and not the leaves.

One of the most popular flavors of all is banana. This year-round fruit has supplies of vitamins B6 and C, and also potassium, iron and other minerals. Select plump, firm, unblemished and brightly colored bunches. Green or semi-green bananas will ripen three to five days at room temperature. But you can use green-tipped bananas — they're great for sauteeing, broiling or baking.

PINEAPPLE CARAMEL
1 large, fresh pineapple
one-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
one-third cup butter or margarine
one-third cup heavy cream
1/4 cup broken walnuts

Cut off crown and stem end of pineapple. Stand pineapple upright and cut off rind in lengthwise strips. Remove eyes with pointed knife. Cut pineapple into 1/4-inch thick slices. Cut each slice in quarters. Remove core. In small saucepan combine sugar, butter and cream. Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved and mixture comes to a boil. Strimmer 3 minutes. Add walnuts. Arrange pineapple pieces on serving platter. Spoon hot sauce over pineapple. Makes: 4 to 6 servings.

BANANA RHUBARB CRISP
1 1/4 pounds fresh rhubarb, cut into 1-inch pieces (about 4 cups)
2 ripe bananas, sliced 1/4-inch thick
1/4 cup freshly squeezed orange juice
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
one-third cup all-purpose flour
one-third cup quick oats
1 tablespoon freshly grated ginger root or 1 1/4 teaspoons ground ginger

3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3/4 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
In 3-quart, ungreased casserole combine rhubarb, bananas and orange juice. In small bowl combine brown sugar, flour, oats, ginger and cinnamon. With pastry blender or 2 knives cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs; sprinkle over fruit. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serve with vanilla ice cream or heavy cream, if desired. Makes: 4 servings.

Cashew Butter Tops Pan Trout

Pan-fried trout is easy to do. The delicate fish takes on added flavor when served with a special nut butter that you make yourself.
Serve with spring potatoes boiled in dill, broiled tomatoes and a fresh strawberry pie for dessert.
FRIED TROUT WITH NUT BUTTER
2 pounds pan-dressed trout, fresh or frozen
salt and pepper
flour

shortening, salad oil or butter
Nut Butter:
1/2 cup butter
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/4 cup finely chopped cashews
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cream butter until fluffy; blend in garlic, parsley, nuts and salt. Let stand about an hour or at room temperature before serving. Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash and dry fish. Season with salt and pepper. Roll trout in flour. In heavy 10-inch frypan, slowly heat enough fat to cover bottom well; put in trout. Fry at moderate heat for 4 to 5 minutes or until golden brown. Turn carefully. Fry 4 to 5 minutes longer or until fish are nicely browned and flake easily when tested with a fork. Drain on absorbent paper. To serve, put trout on warm platter; top each with some of Nut Butter; pass rest of butter. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Party Fare Ideas

Graduation is approaching and with it there is a flurry of bridal showers for those who still believe in late spring-early summer weddings.

Orange fritters and Spanish rice fritters fit well into an afternoon bridal shower when served with tea or a fruit punch.

ORANGE FRITTERS
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice
Grated rind of 1 orange
1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
Fat or oil at least 2 inches deep, heated to 360 degrees
In a bowl, cream butter and sugar until well blended. Stir in eggs. Stir in orange juice and rind. Stir in bitters, flour, salt and baking powder. Beat until smooth.

Drop mixture by heaping teaspoons into preheated fat. Fry 2 to 3 minutes or until brown, turn and brown on the other side. Drain on absorbent paper. Cool. Roll in confectioners' sugar just before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 fritters.

SPANISH RICE FINGERS
1 cup regular (not converted) rice
3 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon saffron
Dash salt
2 teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Fat or oil 2 inches deep, heated to 360 degrees
In a saucepan, combine rice, milk, saffron, salt and bitters. Simmer stirring occasionally until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in sugar, egg and cinnamon.

Spread mixture into an 8-by-12-inch oblong on a sheet of foil. Chill for several hours or until firm. Cut into 2-by-1-inch strips. Carefully drop strips into preheated fat and fry until brown on one side, about 5 to 6 minutes. Turn and brown on the other side about 5 to 6 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and serve warm. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 48 pieces.

HONEY GLAZED BAKED CHICKEN QUARTERS
3 to 3 1/2 pound chicken, quartered
One-third cup flour
1 teaspoon garlic salt
Dash pepper
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup honey
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Dash ground ginger
Coat chicken quarters thoroughly with a mixture of flour, garlic salt and pepper. As oven preheats to 350-degrees, melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a shallow baking dish just large enough to hold the chicken in a single layer. Arrange chicken, skin side down, in melted butter. Bake, uncovered, 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt remaining 4 tablespoons butter with honey, lemon juice, soy sauce and ginger. When chicken has baked 30 minutes, turn and evenly pour on butter mixture. Continue baking, brushing occasionally with sauce, for about 30 to 40 minutes longer, until chicken is tender and richly browned.

Scratch Cooking Can Be Quick

Scratch cooking — or making a dish from the beginning and not from a can or box — can be quick and economical. This different combination of food turns out a budget supper that will appeal to a taste for Italian food.

GRAPEFRUIT-SAUSAGE SUPPER
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 pound Italian sweet sausage, cut in chunks

1 can (28 ounces) whole tomatoes, drained, reserve juice
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dried leaf chervil
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 green pepper, seeded, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 grapefruits, sectioned

Heat oil in large skillet; brown sausage over low heat. Drain off excess fat. Add tomatoes, garlic, salt and chervil. Bring to a boil; cover and reduce heat to simmer 10 minutes.

Combine cornstarch and reserved tomato juice and add to sausage mixture. Bring to a boil, stirring. Add green pepper; reduce heat and cook 5 minutes longer. Add grapefruit sections. Heat through.

Spuds Cinch To Fix

For busy, working couples, an efficient kitchen set-up and a good collection of simple menus could mean big savings in food preparation time and energy.

Here are some practical pointers to get you started on the right foot. First store equipment close to the area where food preparation and cooking take place. Next, arrange similar kitchen tools like knives together in one place to avoid frantic hunting. Keep your pantry well-stocked with the basics — flour, sugar, coffee, seasonings, etc., to avoid last minute dashes to the market, and have a variety of quality "convenience foods" on hand for those times when no one wants to cook.

GNOUCHI WITH SAUCE VERDE
1 cup water
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
2-3rd cup instants-mashed potatoes
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
3 egg yolks
1½ to 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

In large saucepan combine water, milk, salt and hot pepper sauce; heat just to a boil. Remove from heat. With fork or wire whisk quickly blend in instant mashed potatoes and Parmesan cheese. Add egg yolks, one at a time, blending until smooth. Beat in flour with a wooden spoon until dough is smooth and not sticky. Divide dough into 8 pieces. Work with one piece at a time, keeping other pieces covered with wax paper. On lightly floured board, roll dough into log ½-inch thick. Cut into ½-inch pieces. Pinch each piece toward center (see note). Place in boiling, salted water. Boil 3 to 5 minutes. Drain well. Serve with Sauce Verde (below). YIELD: 6 to 8 main dish servings. (8 dozen pieces)

Note: At this point, Gnocchi may be frozen. To freeze: Toss Gnocchi with cornmeal or flour and arrange in single layers in airtight container. To cook: place frozen Gnocchi in boiling salted water. Boil 5 minutes; drain.

Sauce Verde:
1 cup tightly-packed, fresh parsley leaves
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

¼ cup sliced almonds or pine nuts
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon dried leaf basil
1 clove garlic
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

In container of electric blender combine parsley, Parmesan cheese, almonds, olive oil, basil, garlic, salt and pepper. Cover. Process 30 seconds until smooth. YIELD: ½ cup sauce.

IDAHO POTATO-DILLO
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 medium onion, chopped (½ cup chopped)

2 cloves garlic, minced
¾ pound ground beef
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce

¼ cup raisins
¼ cup sliced almonds
1 teaspoon ground cumin
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

¼ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups frozen southern-style hash-brown potatoes
½ cup frozen peas

In large skillet heat oil; saute onion and garlic until tender. Add ground beef. Cook until evenly browned. Drain excess fat. Add tomato sauce, raisins, almonds, cumin, salt, cinnamon, cloves and pepper. Simmer, uncovered, 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add potatoes and peas; cook 5 minutes longer. YIELD: 4 servings.

Smoky Oysters A Gourmet Treat

Smoke cooking on the grill lends a unique flavor to foods and adds interest for the seasoned outdoor chef. Any grill equipment with a hood can be used. Wet hardwood chips placed over glowing charcoal or heated ceramic tiles produce both the aromatic smoke and lower temperature essential for smoking. The Florida Department of Natural Resources notes that fish and shellfish are especially recommended for smoking because they are naturally tender, delicately flavored, and cook quickly. SMOKY OYSTERS SUPREME is an excellent recipe for beginning "smokers." The procedure is simple, but the results are simply outstanding.

SMOKY OYSTERS SUPREME

- 36 shell oysters
- 1/2 cup melted margarine or cooking oil
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped pimento
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon liquid hot pepper sauce

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, April 10, 1982—38

- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Shuck and drain oysters. Place oysters on deep half of shells. Saute onion in melted margarine or cooking oil until tender but not brown. Add remaining ingredients. Spoon sauce over oysters. Place oysters on grill in smoke oven, 300 degrees F. and cook slowly for 20 to 25 minutes or until edges of oysters begin to curl. Makes 6 servings.

Quick Food Art

The Chinese were the first to make an art of cooking, and their cuisine still exemplifies how to cook quickly but gently so that the food retains its natural flavors.

Chicken Orientale marinates sliced breast of chicken in a delectable garlicky tomato sauce, pungent with ginger, musky with soy sauce and highlighted with Florida grapefruit juice. Shredded green cabbage, mushrooms, red pepper and bamboo shoots are cooked in minutes just till tender-crisp while succulent grapefruit sections lend a welcome contrast. SWEET AND SOUR CHICKEN AND GRAPEFRUIT

- 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice
- 1/2 cup tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 1/2 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut into thin strips
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil, divided
- 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 cup shredded, green cabbage
- 1 red pepper, cored, seeded and cut into 2 x 1/4-inch strips
- 2 cups fresh chinese pea pods or 1 package (8 ounces) frozen pea pods, thawed
- 1 can (8 ounces) sliced bamboo shoots, drained
- 2 Florida grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
- Hot cooked rice
- Scallions for garnish (optional)

In a large bowl mix grapefruit juice, tomato sauce, vinegar, sugar, soy sauce, garlic and ginger. Add chicken breasts; cover; let marinate 1 hour at room temperature. Drain chicken thoroughly. Reserve marinade. Mix cornstarch with 1/2 cup reserved marinade; set aside. In a large skillet or wok heat 2 tablespoons oil over high heat. Stir-fry chicken 1 to 2 minutes, until chicken loses its pink color. Remove from skillet; wipe skillet clean. Add remaining 2 tablespoons oil; stir-fry mushrooms, cabbage, red pepper and pea pods 1 to 2 minutes or until tender-crisp. Return chicken to skillet; add bamboo shoots and remaining marinade. Stir in cornstarch mixture; bring to a boil, cook 1 minute longer. Add grapefruit sections and heat gently. Serve over hot rice and garnish with scallions, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

ODD COUPLE STIR-FRY
one-third cup - Florida grapefruit juice

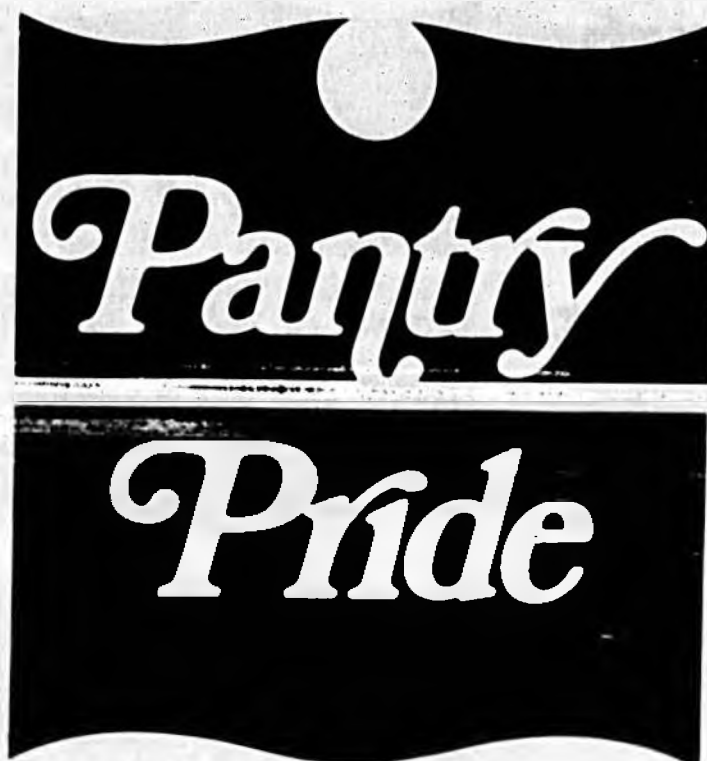

- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 pound boneless pork loin, cut into very thin strips
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4-pound sea scallops, cut into thin slices
- 1 cup green onions or scallions, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 23 Florida grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
- Hot, cooked rice
- Green pepper strips (optional)

In a small bowl combine grapefruit juice, soy sauce, 1 tablespoon oil and ginger. Add pork strips; cover and let marinate 1 hour at room temperature. Drain pork. Combine marinade and cornstarch; set aside. In a large skillet or wok, heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil over high heat. Add pork and stir-fry 2 to 3 minutes until browned. Add scallops and continue stir-frying another 2 minutes. Add reserved marinade mixture and green onions, continue stirring until sauce boils and thickens. Gently stir in grapefruit sections. Serve over hot rice. Garnish with strips of green pepper if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Cook Of The Week

Favorite Recipes Passed From Mother To Daughter

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Most good cooks cook because they love it. Jan Foyer cooks out of necessity.

"When I married Kent," she explains, "we had a combined family of six children, and we have a daughter to that number." When you have a "large crew" you don't eat out too often.

Even though Jan doesn't consider cooking her "main thing" in life, she does enjoy her country kitchen in Chuluota. It is well arranged for convenience cooking. She adds, "I'm what you could call a spell cooker — I go for a week at a time wearing my oven out, then give it a good rest."

Four of the Foyer children are "on their own," two married, and two in college. That leaves DeLinda, 18, Scott, 17, and Danielle, 6, to enjoy their mother's cooking.

"Many of my recipes came from my mom," Jan comments. "Our family likes Mom's original recipe for baked beans."

Apparently, Jan's mother couldn't stand plain, canned pork-'n-beans, so she found a way to really doctor them up.

Another recipe Jan borrowed from her mother that has become a favorite in her own household is Strawberry Soda Cake. Jan says, "When you bite into this cake, you think you've just eaten real strawberries."

Jan admits her husband, owner of Ultima Business Maintenance and Janitorial Contracting in Chuluota, is plenty tired when he comes home in the evenings. And, he is a meat and potatoes man. But, that doesn't stop Jan from becoming a little inventive with her cooking once in awhile.

"I like to experiment sometimes," she says, "and two of my favorite dishes are Chicken Walkiki Beach and Shrimp

Scampi.

Jan says she is really looking forward to the Summer months because she is a "people person" — and, it's a good thing. Her house is turned into a "party place" for the neighborhood kids who take advantage of the Foyer pool. "It will be back to basics in the kitchen again," says Jan. No Shrimp Scampi for a few months.

BAKED BEANS

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped bell pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 pound can tomatoes or tomato sauce
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 clove of minced garlic
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 tablespoon brown sugar
salt and pepper to taste
2 1/2-pound cans pork-'n-beans

Cook meat in its own fat. Add peppers, onions and celery. Cook until meat is brown and vegetables are tender. Stir in tomatoes, water, vinegar, garlic, mustard, brown sugar, salt and pepper. Cook 10 to 15 minutes. Put beans into pan. Spoon meat mixture over beans. DO NOT STIR. Bake in a 375-degree oven 45 minutes.

STRAWBERRY SODA CAKE

Bake a yellow cake mix according to box directions. While hot, punch holes all over and pour jello-soda mixture over cake immediately.

Jello-Soda Mixture:

Topping:
1 1/2 cups cold milk
1 small package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 small carton frozen non-dairy topping
Fold all ingredients together and chill. When cake is cooled, ice with this topping.

CHICKEN WAIKIKI BEACH

1 large fryer, cut into serving pieces
1/2 cup flour
one-third cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Sauce:
1 can (20-ounce size) sliced pineapple, drained, reserve syrup
1 cup sugar
2 1/2-blepspoons cornstarch
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 large green pepper, cut crosswise in 1/4-inch circles
1. Wash chicken; pat dry with paper towel. Coat chicken with flour.

Jan Foyer says she likes to experiment in the kitchen.

2. Heat oil in large skillet. Add chicken, a few pieces at a time, browning on all sides. As browned, remove to shallow roasting pan, arranging pieces skin side up. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

3. Preheat oven to 350 degrees and bake chicken 45 minutes, or until fork tender.

4. Make sauce. Add enough water to reserved pineapple juice to make 1 1/2 cups. In medium saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch, pineapple syrup, soy sauce, ginger and bouillon cube. Simmer until thickened.

5. Arrange chicken on bed of rice. Pour sauce over all and decorate with pineapple slices and green pepper circles.

SHRIMP SCAMPI

1 1/2 pounds fresh shelled and deveined large shrimp
4 large garlic cloves
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup chopped parsley
lemon wedges for garnish

About 20 minutes before serving, preheat broiler. Place shrimp in single layer in bottom of broiling pan. With garlic press, crush garlic cloves into small saucepan. Add butter, lemon juice, salt, oregano and pepper. Over low heat, cook until butter is melted. Pour mixture over shrimp, turning shrimp to coat evenly. Broil 5 to 8 minutes until shrimp are pink.

Spoon shrimp and mixture onto platter and sprinkle with parsley; garnish with lemon wedges. Yield: 6 servings.

Audubon Society Elects Officers

Seminole Chapter of Florida Audubon Society had a slide program and talk on

"Florida Wildflowers," elected officers for next year and made plans for field trips and bird identification classes at the April meeting.

Dorcas Brigham, Mt. Dora, a botanist and ecologist for the Oklawaha Valley Chapter of Florida Audubon, gave the program. She spoke about the practice of burning for land clearing and told how it destroys wildflowers as well as many birds and nesting sites.

Officers elected for 1982-83 are as follows: president, Raymond Bowers, DeBary; vice president, Eva Hunt, Sanford; recording secretary, Wilma Knecht, Sanford; treasurer, Freida Gielow, Sanford; Newsletter editor, Edie Winchell, DeBary; field trip chairman, Edward Friend, DeBary; hospitality chairman, Lisa Goepel, DeBary; membership chairman, Catherine Pennox, Sanford; Sunshine chairman, Marion Wilson, DeBary; scrapbook chairman, Olive Wood, DeBary; devotions chairman, Dorothy Winkler, DeLand; and publicity chairman, Grace Friend, DeBary.

The next meeting on May 20th will be a covered dish picnic at Fort Lane Park in Geneva, at 11 a.m., to install new officers. Lunch will be served at noon. Bring a covered dish, silver and a place setting. Direction signs will be placed on State Route 46 and Jungle Road.

Seminole Chapter welcomes members from both Seminole and Volusia Counties. Meetings are usually held on the fourth Thursday of each month at 2 p.m. in the Sunshine Room of the Florida Power and Light Co., Myrtle Avenue, Sanford.

Organization Of American States: Is It Paralyzed?

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Soon after Simon Bolivar led the insurrection that chased the Spanish from South America, he dreamed of even greater considerations. "God grant," he said, "that some day we may install an august congress... to deal with subjects of vital concern to the people of the Americas." The congress was created in 1890.
 Today it's called the Organization of American States. It has 28 member nations and it's headquartered in Washington. It's in the news these days because of the conflict between Britain and Argentina over the Falkland Islands.
 But Bolivar might not recognize it. For the OAS is "an organization from the active and authoritarian assembly he wanted. The group is charged with responsibilities for promoting peace and dignity from the Arctic Circle to the Scotia Sea, but there is evidence that it is failing on both counts.
 El Salvador is an example. The civil war there has been raging for more than two years, yet the OAS have done nothing of consequence to intercede. Although the organization's governing body meets annually on matters of hemispheric concern, El Salvador has not even been formally discussed.
 Then there is the ripening guerrilla conflict in Guatemala, the border skirmishes between Honduras and Nicaragua, and the U.S. claims of Communist intervention in the area. There is unprecedented turmoil throughout the whole of Central America, but critics say the OAS is powerless to help.
 And to some extent the OAS agrees. Officials here at the Constitution Avenue headquarters say the organization is the oldest of its kind in the world, but one of the most bureaucratic.

In other words, the officials say the organization is often paralyzed by its own routines and formalities.

One formality is that specific problems cannot be considered unless they are introduced by member nations. And that's what has happened in the case of Central America. An OAS spokesman puts it this way: 'Nobody has complained about El Salvador. And we can't talk about it unless they do.' Why don't they complain? The spokesman says it's a matter of self-interest.

One formality is that specific problems cannot be considered unless they are introduced by member nations. And that's what has happened in the case of Central America. An OAS spokesman puts it this way: "Nobody has complained about El Salvador. And we can't talk about it unless they do."
 Why don't they complain? The spokesman says it's a matter of self-interest. The states do not like to get involved in each other's affairs, because that would leave them vulnerable to reciprocal action. "No one is without sin," the spokesman says, "so no one likes to throw stones."

This doesn't mean the states have never interfered with one another's activities. They have. In 1959, for instance, when disagreement over a game of soccer led to bloody fighting between El Salvador and Honduras, the OAS imposed the negotiations that eventually led to a cease-fire and peace.
 Then there was the Dominican Republic in 1965. When agitators there threatened to turn out the established government, the OAS joined a U.S. effort to stop it. The United States sent in a team of Marines, and the OAS gave it credence by calling it an international peace-keeping force.
 In all, the organization has helped stop actual or threatened violence on 20 occasions during the period between 1950 and 1970. And the activity was instrumental in creating a region that used to be generally known as the most peaceful in the world in terms of inter-state relations.
 But that success may have become something of the fading past. Today OAS officers admit privately that the hostilities in the Americas are virtually beyond control. Particularly OAS control. The officers say they do not have enough men, money or real authority to keep the peace.
 Regarding men, the OAS staff has been reduced from 1,500 to 1,200 in recent years. And the money situation is even tighter. The budget is now close to $100 million a year, but it is not keeping up with inflation; to do that, veteran employees insist that it should be at least doubled.
 As for the lack of authority, the officials say the OAS may be a victim of its own structure. It cannot act without a general consensus among the members, yet nationalism and political divisions often combine to prevent it. One employee says flatly that "it's a perfect formula for failure."

 Graduates of the course learned how to install and repair aircraft air conditioning, heating and related systems, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.
 Szilvay will now serve at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, N.C.

CHARLES L. CRAWFORD
 Charles Leigh Crawford, son of Mrs. Leigh Ann Strout of 1128 Rosetta Drive, Daytona, has enlisted in the United States Marine Corps.
 Crawford will depart June 18 for 11 weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. Upon completion of recruit training, Crawford will be home for a 10 day leave before going on for further technical training in a formal Marine Corps school.
 Crawford enlisted for four years with a guaranteed assignment in the technical support program. Prior to enlisting, Crawford worked for Starline Enterprises and attended Deland High School until June 1981.

We'd Like To Help Out, But...

It isn't often that our large neighbor of Orange County comes to us here in Seminole, hat in hand asking for help.

But that's just what is happening now with Orange and Orlando requesting an increased share of the capacity of the soon-to-be expanded Iron Bridge Sewage Treatment Plant near Oviedo.

Being good neighbors, we would like to help out, but we really can't afford such generosity. And to comply with Orlando's request, we would have to be very generous.

As proposed, the Iron Bridge facility is to be enlarged from a 24-million-gallon-per-day capacity plant to one treating 40 million gallons of effluent per day, a net daily gain of 16 million gallons.

Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick's calculator apparently wasn't working the day he was figuring up how much of the expansion his city would like to have. He appeared before the Seminole County Commission to request 24 million gallons of Iron Bridge's proposed expansion.

Never mind that Seminole County, Casselberry, Maitland, and Winter Park, which share in the plant's current capacity, plan to eat up most, if not all, of the planned expansion.

Frederick's mathematical error was undoubtedly a product of desperation. Orlando is under pressure from the state to stop dumping treated sewage from the east side of Orange County into the Little Econlockhatchee River by 1984.

While the proposed expansion at Iron Bridge is not likely to be finished by then, Frederick thinks that if Orlando can get some guarantee as to gaining a portion of the increased capacity, the state might consider postponing the deadline.

We can sympathize with Orlando's plight, but we echo the sentiments of Seminole County Commission Chairman Robert Sturm who said it's nice to be good neighbors, but we have to think about our own needs and what they will be down the road.

Currently, Seminole has a daily capacity of 500,000 gallons, plus a 1.75 million gallon per day (MGD) reserve. Casselberry's existing capacity is 2.8 MGD; Maitland, 1.1 MGD; Winter Park, 4.96 MGD; Orlando, 12.5 MGD Orange County, 375,000 gallons per day; and Winter Springs, 100,000 gallons per day.

Seminole certainly isn't going to barter away its share (3.8 million gallons per day) of the expansion project. Doubtless, the other cities won't either. So, it boils down to a matter of how much capacity Seminole et al. will need and then seeing if there's anything left over to give Orlando and Orange County.

Fetal Brain Damage

A new study shows how alcohol consumption by pregnant or nursing mothers can harm fetuses and newborn infants.

Women have been advised for years to reduce alcohol intake during pregnancy, but a study conducted by Dr. Arun Rawat, a University of Toledo biochemist, indicates any alcohol ingested is cycled through the developing fetus and impairs vital brain development.

Dr. Rawat conducted his research on laboratory rats over a period of 15 months. He said results can be projected to indicate 20 percent of the children in America's mental retardation centers are victims of the fetal alcohol syndrome.

In his report to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, Rawat said drinking alcohol, particularly in the first three months of pregnancy, hinders brain development.

The study also showed that nursing mothers who drink may be endangering their baby's mental health, because alcohol greatly reduces the rate of protein formation in the infant's brain.

The study by the biochemist should be investigated by the federal government, and if it is confirmed efforts to warn pregnant women against drinking should be intensified.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I guess you could say I'm in for CREATIVE FINANCING."

By TENI YARBOROUGH

Sanford no longer exists. By a two-thirds majority vote, the residents of the whistle stop town voted themselves out of existence.

But, wait. Before you get all shook up and wonder what in the world you missed at the last Sanford city commission meeting, let me explain.

The Sanford talked about in this article is, or more appropriately, was Sanford, Mich.

The tiny northern village, incorporated as a village 19 years ago to allow its residents to tap into the Midland County Water District, is bordered by the Tittabawassee River and unused railroad tracks. Its residents, some 875 retirees and Midland commuters, voted this month to throw in the towel on the town by a vote of 240-102, following a two year fight. It has six months to balance its books before becoming a part of the neighboring Jerome Township farmland.

Some officials in that state say this may be the first time in Michigan history that a village has voted to dissolve. However, transportation authorities say it probably will remain on the official state map.

With its disincorporation, it will lose eligibility for state and federal funds, which equalled about $70,000 last year. In addition, residents of the small town reportedly feel they can live without the government money, shift of police protection and other services to Midland County and save $8 on every $1,000 assessed property value taxes.

But why did they do it? Why did they vote for non-existence?

The key issue in the campaign to dissolve reportedly is taxes. Reports indicate the tax rate for the village, named for the 19th century settler, rose from zero to 13 times its inception. But, even with disincorporation, the former-Sanford residents will still be required to pay an $8 per $1,000 assessed property value toward a county water bond.

While many of the town-less people reportedly are saddened and even angered by the abolition of Sanford, others who voted for the action say they feel the small village will probably go on as always.

But, what does this have to do with Sanford, Fla., other than the fact the name is the same and we have railroad tracks, too? Nothing, really. Just thought you might like to know.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

New York's Kawasaki Subway?

The New York subway is as American as apple pie. Or it used to be. In the future, it will be stamped "made in Japan."

Generations of New Yorkers traveled to work or home to the Bronx, Brooklyn or Queens on underground railway cars that seemed to symbolize the energy and pace of life in America's great metropolis. They were noisy, crowded, often dirty and, in recent years, dangerous, but they were part of America.

Well, New York City is giving up on American-made subway cars. The Metropolitan Transit Authority plans to spend some $1.4 billion on 325 new subway cars made by Kawasaki Heavy Industries, one of Japan's major industrial concerns. The reason the city is buying the cars is that they will be delivered at an early date and, more importantly, because the Japanese have offered a bargain loan on part of the order, with the backing of Japan's Export-Import Bank.

The New York Times editorial on the purchase said the city had to make the best deal possible. It failed to provide one key piece of information, namely that Kawasaki receives a subsidy from the Japanese National Railway, which is state-owned. The lone U.S. manufacturer of this type of equipment can't hope to compete against what is a government subsidized company.

The Times, New York City authorities, and Congress should ponder the long-range effect of subsidized competition. How can American companies compete against foreign countries? Obviously, they can't. Sooner or later, Japan's government-subsidized, directed and guided industries will take away the business enjoyed by American companies in many fields.

The political leadership of New York City — and its leading newspaper as well — profess to be deeply concerned about unemployment in the United States. Yet they don't raise a fuss when a foreign-subsidized industry takes jobs away from American workers. The purchase of Japanese subway cars by New York's transit authority will deny employment to the skilled American workmen who build such cars. The deal has a short-range advantage for New York City, but will hurt Americans elsewhere. It is this type of deal, repeated again and again, that is causing a serious decline in the country's industrial system. How short-sighted can a great city be?

It isn't only in heavy industrial products that this situation is causing a crunch. Textile and apparel imports were up 18 percent last year — largely from Asian countries — while the domestic industry is in a severe slump. One reads of long-established textile plants closing in the Carolinas.

The Japanese also are moving into the grain exporting business. Time Magazine recently reported that gigantic Japanese trading houses such as Misue & Co. and Metubishi Corp. "have quietly bought some two dozen grain elevators to store crops for export, and now handle an estimated 10 percent of all American grain sales abroad." One wonders where the Japanese will go in this business. A decade hence they may have the position in U.S. grain exports that they now have in automobile sales in America.

Americans aren't looking closely at this situation. They speak of free trade, while ignoring Japan's system of subsidization.

The Case Of The Rotten Cantaloupes

WASHINGTON — The federal government is swarming with investigators constantly searching for waste and fraud. Sometimes they wind up spending dollars to retrieve nickles and dimes.

Take the case of Frank Smith, an Air Force produce manager. Government hawkshaws spent $50,000 or more to investigate the possible waste of a few hundred dollars' worth of cantaloupes. And a conscientious employee's career had been placed in jeopardy as a result of overzealous efforts to uncover what would, at best, have been a picaresque waste of the taxpayers' money.

Smith is an expert in the uncertain business of ordering the right amount of perishable fruits and vegetables for large numbers of people before the stuff goes bad. He piled his trade at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., the suburban airfield that is home base for Air Force One and other VIP aircraft.

Something went wrong with 14 cases of cantaloupes that were to be served to Air Force personnel at Andrews. Maybe they

JEFFREY HART

Tuition-Tax Credits

In a speech in Chicago last week, the president put his administration behind the idea of tuition tax credits for the parents of children in private elementary and secondary schools.

Reagan's plan, which in essentials resembles a tuition tax credit plan put forward by Senators Moynihan and Packwood, would phase in, over a three-year period, up to $500 per child in tax credits.

The National Education Association, representing public school teachers, is mobilizing its considerable clout to block credits, and powerful ideological allies have come forward in the press.

For the New York Times, for example, credits represent "an awful idea."

Why? Because competition with private schools will damage the public schools, for one thing. "Non public schools already have an edge because they admit whom they please and expel troublemakers or slow learners. Public schools must take all who enroll and find it hard to throw anyone out."

That statement has some descriptive truth in it, but is there no way the public schools could deal with that situation? Public schools often experiment with a multiple "track" system in which the best students move at a much faster pace than other "tracks," and sometimes need not be much aware of the "troublemakers" who are off on some slow track elsewhere in the building. Again, ought the public schools not be given greater authority to discipline or expel? It is not written in the stars that we must continue to warehouse oafs and dopes for 12 years.

As Senator Moynihan has argued, "We do not build and maintain strong and vibrant public schools by turning them into educational monopolies."

That seems to me to be self-evidently true. Attempts by the education lobby to refute it always sound terribly defensive, as if conceding that the public schools cannot possibly compete by improving their performance. If the very defenders of the public schools enter the argument with a concession of that magnitude, then all they are doing is inviting us to re-examine the whole notion of public education.

As a matter of fact, the public schools can compete.

During the '60s, I sent my two oldest children to a private school, and at considerably more expense than the proposed $500 credit. I did so for two reasons. At the local public school — partly because of the '60s, but also because of indiscipline — the atmosphere was very poor. Marijuana, dope, funky dress and funky attitudes were commonplace. And, in the name of "innovative education," the students were being denied a sound education.

But today I am pleased to have my two younger students attend the same public school, or, rather, a different public school run in the same building. A brilliant, no-nonsense new principal has transformed the place, improving the staff and greatly upgrading the curriculum. I have no incentive to look elsewhere for a private school. That public school is competing very successfully.

A curious sentence occurs in the Times's editorial blast against credits. "Then, too, Mr. Reagan's tax subsidies were being denied to fanatic cults and blatant racists."

A couple of points on that. Tax credits are not "subsidies." They permit more of a person's own money to remain in his or her own pocket. The Times use of the word "subsidies" gives away one of its habitually false assumptions: that the government somehow creates or owns that money.

Fanatics and bigots? Well, maybe, but perhaps a method of accrediting schools could be devised which would meet the problem. And in any event the appeal of the schools run by bigots and fanatics would not be very large in any case.

The liberals at the Times and in the education lobby are good at thinking up reasons to deny parents a bit of freedom, but not very good at it.

Diplomacy: Shuttle Style

These tense weeks have all the makings of Al Haig's finest hour.

And goodness knows he can certainly use it. He has been, during the past year plus, possibly the most embattled secretary of state in the nation's recent history.

His particular problem is that most of his battling is with domestic rather than foreign adversaries. When he isn't skirmishing with the White House staff or leading a charge against skeptical committees on Capitol Hill, he's being upstaged on the world stage by Caspar Weinberger, unquestionably the most peripatetic defense secretary in the nation's history.

The Falklands crisis, however, has given Haig the opportunity he has been seeking since before the Reagan inauguration. He has taken undisputed charge of foreign policy — or at least the issue of the hour.

And in the most showy possible way — as a shuttle diplomat.

There is much he can contribute in the role. A deft intermediary who has the confidence of both sides and comprehends their interests and sensitivities can often see solutions the impassioned adversaries are blind to. At the very least, he can be the medium of reaching a face-saving compromise perfectly apparent to both sides but a way out that national pride, left unassisted, might block.

On the other hand, shuttle diplomacy can have its disadvantages. The highly publicized shuttling between capitals precludes any possibility of settling a dispute quietly through normal diplomatic channels. It may encourage, or impel, the involved governments to harden their public positions. It distracts attention and energy from issues of considerably more long-term importance to the world's peace and prosperity and if it fails, the intermediary and his government are losers along with the original antagonists.

History provides evidence for both possibilities.

As a shuttle diplomat, Haig's mentor, Henry Kissinger, was in a class by himself — with which evaluation he undoubtedly would be the first to agree. He reveled in the role, to the extent that if crises of sufficient magnitude had not come readymade during his era it might be suspected that some would have had to have been manufactured to keep his energies and interest adequately engaged.

Kissinger was more than an intermediary. He was a powerful personality dealing, usually, with powerful personalities, a full participant who more often than not dominated the show. He had his setbacks, and the verdict of history in a longer run may be that the world would have been better off if he had stayed at home. But at this point, his achievements remain impressive.

The prototype shuttler is another matter. John Foster Dulles was less a diplomat than a crusader. He spent most of the '50s airborne in the great cause of containing communism — blocking Soviet expansion in every direction and isolating People's China from the rest of the world, or vice versa.

But the basic and enduring bastion of the free world — the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — preceded him. His self-designed monuments — the Middle East Treaty Organization and Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — were built on sand and have long since washed away. And while the secretary was in flight, his State Department was abandoned to the McCarthy inquisition.

the OSI declined to bring criminal charges against Smith.

The hidden cameras did record some incriminating evidence. But it incriminated the Air Force, not Smith.

What the cameras recorded was shocking: Air Force personnel, struggling to feed their families, were filmed searching through the trash in the dumpster for edible food — in much the way that starving women and children used to pick through GI garbage as far back as World War II.

When the identifiable scavengers were questioned by the OSI, they said it was common practice to go through the Andrews dumpsters. It was a humiliating but necessary way to make ends meet on an Air Force salary.

That was enough for Smith's boss. The hungry garbage scavengers were "proof" that Smith had been throwing out edible cantaloupes. They would not be picking through the swill, the brass reasoned, if Smith were not dumping edible food. He was ac-used of stealing government property.

The extent of Smith's alleged "crimes" might have run into a few hundred dollars. Sources close to the investigation told my associate Donald Goldberg that the OSI spent upwards of $50,000 to make their case.

This ridiculous Case of the Crummy Cantaloupes has worked serious harm on Frank Smith. After nine years in the produce department at Andrews, he is being treated like one of his rotten melons. He has spent the last several months sitting at home with his two young sons, hoping to be told he can return to work.

Meanwhile, there is no sign that the Air Force is doing anything about the plight of impoverished personnel who must raid garbage dumps to feed their families — other than recording their embarrassment with hidden cameras at a cost of thousands of dollars.

Footnote: Air Force officials refused to discuss the Smith case on the grounds it is still under investigation.

Reagan, O'Neill Meet Today To Discuss The '83 Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who offered to go "the extra mile" to reach a budget compromise, agreed to travel 18 blocks today for a Capitol Hill meeting with his chief budget adversary, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill.

Senate GOP leader Howard Baker also was to attend the session, which will seek to break the lengthy budget stalemate focusing on taxes and Social Security.

Hinckley Jury Being Chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The judge in the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr. is trying to pick a jury "free of bias," although nearly every candidate for the panel was touched by massive publicity about the shooting of President Reagan.

"A juror need not be totally ignorant of the facts involved" to render a fair verdict, U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker stressed Tuesday, opening the historic trial where Reagan may testify about his wound.

Town Bully's Killer Named

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The widow of a town bully who was killed vigilante-style in front of dozens of witnesses named his alleged slayer to a federal grand jury investigating the case.

"I saw Del Clement get the gun out of the pickup and shoot," Trena McElroy, 28, said she told the grand jury Tuesday in the killing of Kenneth Rex McElroy.

New Leukemia Treatment

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — A huge increase in the dosage of a standard medication for the common form of adult leukemia can more than triple the disease's remission rate, cancer researchers say.

Dr. Robert L. Capizzi, professor of medicine and pharmacology at the University of North Carolina's Cancer Research Center, said Tuesday that clinical trials with the treatment — a combination of drugs derived in part from sea sponges in dosages 30 times higher than usual — brought about remission in 15 patients who had failed all other types of treatment.

Screening Clinic May 7 In Oviedo

The Seminole County School Board and Child Find will co-sponsor a screening clinic on May 7 at the First Baptist Church of Oviedo, 45 West Broadway St.

The clinic will be open from 9 until 11 a.m. and from 1:15 to until 3:30 p.m. The testing is free for infants and children up to school age.

The children will be screened for problems in the areas of speech and language, vision, hearing and pre-academic skills. For further information, contact the Seminole County School Exceptional Education Office at 322-1252.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy thunderstorms raked the South, stirring a tornado in North Carolina, dumping 4-inch hail from the Carolinas through Georgia and soaking Florida for the sixth straight day. A vicious little twister hit briefly in suburban Charlotte, N.C., Tuesday evening, damaging the roof of a bank. No injuries were reported. Showers and thunderstorms, all that remained of a powerful storm system that blasted the South with nearly a dozen tornadoes and hail the size of baseballs, also dotted the Central Plains through Nebraska and Texas and into Georgia today. Cool temperatures accompanied the rain in the Central Plains, where a trace of snow dusted Nebraska. Temperatures dipped into the 30s over the upper Ohio Valley and Great Lakes and a freeze warning was posted today for Michigan, where the mercury plunged into the 20s. The freezes also chilled the western Great Lakes and the northern two-thirds of the Rocky Mountains.

Motorist Dragged From Car And Robbed

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An Altamonte Springs man was robbed by two men who stopped their vehicle in front of his, got out of their car, dragged him from his automobile, beat him up and stole his wallet.

Angel Manuel Zayas, 20, of 628 Sabal Palm Circle, told deputies he had stopped his car behind another vehicle on State Road 437 at Lyman Street in Longwood at about 10 a.m. Sunday. Two men in the other vehicle got out of their car, opened Zayas' car door, dragged him out into the street, hit him in the head with their fists and stole his wallet, deputies said.

Zayas said the two men, whom he had never seen before, then got back into their vehicle and drove off, deputies reported. The thugs reportedly stole about $130 cash, a Puerto Rican driver's license and Zayas' vehicle registration.

Zayas was not seriously injured in the incident, deputies said.

RUMBLE IN CASSELBERRY

After receiving an anonymous tip of a possible fight on Citrus Road near Red Bug Road in Casselberry Friday afternoon, deputies arrived on the scene and dispersed 23-25 teenagers, some of whom were carrying weapons.

Deputies said the crowd included teenagers, ranging in ages from 12 to 17 years old. Two girls were riding horseback, one girl was on a mini-bike, two boys were in a small car and numerous other youths were on foot, deputies said.

Deputies added that three pairs of mauls, a martial arts weapon made of two wooden sticks tied together with chain or rope, were confiscated and the crowd dispersed.

JEWELRY SWIPPED

Robert G. Mezzadri 41, of 140 Ronnie Drive, Altamonte Springs, reported someone broke through his bedroom window sometime Thursday night and took an 800 gold ring, pear ring valued at $1,000; 25 pairs of earrings valued at $250 and two jewelry boxes.

GIRL ESCAPES RAPE ATTEMPT

A Fern Park girl managed to escape from a would-be rapist's car Thursday night and call for help from a nearby Altamonte Springs home.

The 17-year-old girl told deputies she was walking along the 600-block of U.S. Highway 17-42 about 10 p.m. when a man pulled up in his car, pulled her in and drove to Pennsylvania Avenue in Altamonte Springs.

The man told the girl he wanted to have sex with her, but while he was removing his pants, she fled from the car to a nearby home and called police, deputies said.

Altamonte Springs police turned the investigation over to sheriff's deputies who are now seeking the would-be assailant.

LEESBURG WOMEN ARRESTED

One Leesburg woman is behind held in the Seminole County jail while two others have been released on bond after the trio was arrested Thursday on charges of grand theft.

Patricia Ann Gray, 31, is being held on $5,000 bond while Francisca Wright, 32, and Mary Elizabeth Mathis, 22, all of Leesburg, were released on bond.

The three women were arrested at about 2:11 p.m. when a Jefferson Ward department store security guard at the Interstate Mall observed three women putting merchandise in their purses and under their clothing, then leaving the store without paying for the items, deputies said.

Upon investigation, deputies discovered about $238 worth of property stolen from several stores in the shopping center in one of the women's cars, deputies said.

GENEVA MAN SENTENCED

A Geneva man was given a suspended sentence Monday, placed on one year probation and ordered to pay a $50 fine following his conviction of possessing the wings, talons and tail feathers of a bald eagle.

U.S. District Judge John Reed, in Orlando, sentenced Fred R. Baker, 43, after he was convicted this month of the charges surrounding the killing of a young eagle, an endangered species and the national symbol, by the 13-year-old stepson of Baker's wife. Baker testified earlier the bird was shot by mistake during a hunting trip.

BEDROOM ASSAULT

Ruth Nathan, 71, of 1714 Tangerine Drive, Sanford, reported a young man with a lot of hair and wearing a green plaid shirt or jacket climbed through her bedroom window and grabbed her leg about 6:30 a.m. Saturday. When she called out he fled according to a sheriff's department report.

HUNGRY THIEF

Carl S. Joiner, owner of Carl's Market at 606 W. 11th St., Sanford, told police that sometime Thursday night or early Friday someone pried the lock off a gate and broke the plexiglass to enter his business and take an undetermined amount of meats, beer and soft drinks.

GUNMAN ROBS TOY STORE

Two Altamonte Springs toy store clerks knew it wasn't fun and games when a lone gunman walked into Toy King, 607 E. State Road 436, Wednesday night and stole several toys and an undisclosed amount of money.

Marlene Riegle, 22 and Suzanne Story, 30, told police the armed man came into the store at about 6:30 p.m. browsed around until the store was clear of customers, then approached the cash register.

The man held up two packages of toys and ordered the clerks to "Put these in a bag and money too," police said. He shoved a gun into Ms. Story's back as Riegle complied with his demands. He then forced the women into a restroom and fled.

FRIENDS OF THE ARMY

Robert Daehn, chairman of the advisory board of the Seminole County Salvation Army (right), presents a plaque of appreciation to guest speaker Harris T. Remley at the second annual Friends of the Army banquet held Tuesday night at the Sanford Civic Center. Remley, an executive with the Family Lines Rail System, liberally laced his patriotic message with jokes that kept the 200 persons attending the fund-raiser laughing. Also participating in the program were Major Fred Smith, commander of the Orange County Salvation Army; Capt. Carl Phillips, local corps commander; and the Salvation Army Band.

Collective Bargaining Explained At Chamber Meet

The school bus drivers union and negotiators for the Seminole County public school administration will go to the bargaining tables Thursday to try and hammer out a new contract.

As a prelude to those talks, the administration's chief negotiator, Ernest Cowley, explained the collective bargaining system to members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's Education Committee this morning.

Cowley explained that the ritual of collective bargaining begins with union leaders asking for as much money and as few hours as possible for their members while the system asks for as many hours at as little money as possible.

Chief negotiator for the school administration with school employees unions for the past six years, Cowley said that by the end of the bargaining sessions both sides have adopted a more middle-of-the-road position.

Cowley said the union leadership's greatest desire is to gain as many managerial rights as it can.

He said that he and his team of negotiators before granting union requests, consider three major questions: Whether the taxpayers can afford it? Whether it can be administered? And whether it is good for the boys and girls of the school system?

Outlining the history of collective bargaining in the public sector, Cowley said that it was included as a labor right under the 1958 Constitution. In 1974, the Florida Legislature implemented the constitutional provision by passing a law setting procedures for collective bargaining by public employees.

While the employees have the right to bargain, and the employer cannot refuse to bargain, the public employees are forbidden to strike, Cowley said.

He said the subjects of negotiations at the bargaining table include hours, wages and terms and conditions of employment. The latter is a miscellaneous catch-all that can include almost anything, he said.

"If we refuse to talk about any issue, that is an unfair labor practice and forbidden by law," Cowley said.

Lavigne To Run For House

Casselberry City Councilman Jim Lavigne has announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for the state House of Representatives Seat 34 now held by Jason Steele, R-Rockledge.

The district encompasses eastern Seminole and eastern Orange counties and southern Brevard County. Cities included in the district are Casselberry, Winter Springs, Oviedo, parts of Sanford, Longwood, and Rockledge.

Florida law will allow Lavigne to continue serving on the Casselberry council until he qualifies for the new seat or his successor is qualified whichever occurs first.

council in December, 1980, Lavigne is a member of and legal counsel for the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee and the Seminole County Young Republican Club. He serves on the Casselberry Board of Adjustment and is a member of the Casselberry Kiwanis Club.

"I've enjoyed serving the citizens of Casselberry and look forward to the opportunity to serve the citizens of the new district," Lavigne said. "I hope to use my education, background, experience and knowledge of local affairs and concerns to represent the people of District 34."

Lavigne, whose law office is in Winter Park, served as chairman of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce Legislative Committee in 1980 and 1981.

British Fleet Poised For Falklands Strike

United Press International

The British task force in the South Atlantic will impose a total air and sea blockade on the Argentine-held Falkland Islands, including the airport at the capital of Port Stanley, effective Friday at 7 a.m. EDT, the British Defense Ministry announced today.

The Defense Ministry said the new blockade zone will cover the same 200-mile radius around the Falkland Islands as the original sea blockade established April 12.

"From the time indicated, the exclusion zone will apply not only to Argentine warships and Argentine naval auxiliaries, but also to any other ship, whether naval or merchant vessel, which is operating in support of the illegal occupation of the Falkland Islands by Argentine forces," the ministry said.

"The exclusion zone will also apply to any aircraft whether military or civilian, which is operating in support of the illegal operation." The ministry said ships and aircraft that are found within the zone after the blockade is imposed "will be regarded as operating in support of the illegal occupation and will therefore be regarded as hostile and will be liable to be attacked by British forces."

"Also from the time indicated Port Stanley airport will be closed and any aircraft on the ground in the Falkland Islands will be regarded as present in support of the illegal occupation and accordingly is liable to be attacked."

The ministry warned the blockade would be imposed "without prejudice to the right of the United Kingdom to take whatever additional measures are needed in support of the right of self-defense under the U.N. charter."

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher held emergency talks with her full Cabinet amid indications that Britain plans an imminent attack on the Falklands.

In Buenos Aires, naval sources warned that the British fleet would be within striking distance of the Falklands by this afternoon "at the latest."

Britain has imposed a near total blackout on battle preparations but Mrs. Thatcher ominously told Parliament Tuesday Argentina was unlikely to withdraw from the Falklands "unless we bring military pressure to bear."

As both sides went on war footing, Secretary of State Alexander Haig made a last stab at heading off an armed confrontation by sending a new proposal to Argentina and Britain. A Buenos Aires news agency said it was rejected as "unacceptable."

Haig reportedly warned Argentine

President Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri Britain was "deadly serious" about retaking its colony of 149 years and the United States was bound by treaties to support its NATO ally.

The Organization of American States, meeting into the early hours today, approved, 17-0, with four abstentions, a resolution recognizing Argentine sovereignty over the disputed islands and calling for an "immediate truce." The United States abstained.

Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez told the emergency OAS session Tuesday Britain's battle fleet would attack the Falklands in "28 to 48" hours.

But in Buenos Aires naval sources said main units of the British fleet of more than 60 ships would be in position to attack the Falklands by this afternoon "at the latest," the news agency Noticias Argentinas reported from Buenos Aires.

The sources also confirmed for the first time elite British commandos may already be probing Argentina's defenses on the Falklands, 450 miles east of Argentina in the South Atlantic.

"The (Argentine) fleet is ready to enter combat and will open fire when the circumstances so demand," one military official said. Argentina has 16 warships, including an aging aircraft carrier and three submarines. A British submarine was crippled Sunday when the British fleet retook South Georgia Island, a Falklands dependency 800 miles east, and forced the surrender of 180 Argentine troops who seized it April 3.

Military analysts in London predicted the British would stage swift commando assaults on the Falklands to isolate the main Argentine force quartered in the capital, Port Stanley.

They speculated British bombers would pound the airstrip of the capital to cut off supplies to the 9,000 Argentine troops dug in on the islands, while assault teams establish beachheads on nearby West Falkland.

The Defense Ministry said it had sent 1,000 troops and two more ships since Monday to join the South Atlantic task force. The fleet now contains 5,500 marines and paratroopers.

Argentina's military junta, meanwhile, issued a "yellow alert" in its southern coastal region, putting police, firemen and doctors on 24-hour call. Hospitals reportedly were emptied of all but the critically ill.

The junta also warned military reservists that anyone not reporting for duty could be executed, and banned journalists from southern ports used as jumping off points for the Falklands.

State Economy On The Way Up And Graham Takes The Credit

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham says Florida's economy will rebound next year and probably experience a boom in 1984 and he deserves much of the credit.

Florida is in a recession as is the country as a whole, but it has fared better than most other states and probably will enjoy a stronger recovery, Graham said Tuesday.

The reason is that his administration and the Legislature have refused to let the future of the Florida economy be determined solely by the national economy and President Reagan. Graham's comments, which sounded a bit like a re-election campaign speech, were made before the Associated General Contractors of Northeast Florida.

"I can't stand here today and tell you the economic picture in Florida is rosy. I can't tell you our unemployment rate has never been lower," Graham said. "Nor can I say that our building starts are at an all-time high. What I can tell you, however, is that we have held our own during this time of adverse economic conditions."

"A major reason for this stability, I believe, has been aggressive efforts of this state in the past three years. Florida has sought to expand and diversify its economy and it has done so."

The Legislature recently passed a bill allowing investment of money from the $4.5

billion state pension fund in real estate which will create much-needed construction financing money, Graham said.

Legislators appropriated $50 million for state construction projects, construction that is necessary to provide public services but also will mean work for the lagging building industry.

Construction money also will be available from the Florida Housing Finance Agency, which is now gearing up after being established by a constitutional amendment in 1980.

"The agency has two goals," he said. One goal is "to offer low and middle income housing at below mortgage rates by taking advantage of the state's tax exempt bond status." The other is to "provide more jobs and construction in the vital building industry."

He and the Cabinet have not ignored the needs of the tourism industry, which, along with agri-business and construction, has been a mainstay of the Florida economy. The use of $784,000 for emergency tourism advertising was recently approved.

"Florida can expect to rebound vigorously in 1983 and should even experience a boom in 1984," he said.

Attorney General Says Redistricting Plan Fair

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The legislative reapportionment plan drawn by the Legislature is fair and based on a one-man, one vote principle, according to Attorney General Jim Smith.

Smith filed a 50-page brief with the Florida Supreme Court on Tuesday urging the justices to accept the plan as proposed by lawmakers. Under the plan, the state would be carved into single-member House and Senate districts, and blacks and Hispanics would have a better chance for election.

Church Seeks Probe Block

TAMPA (UPI) — U.S. District Judge William Castagna has been asked to enjoin the city of Clearwater from conducting public hearings next month into the operation of the Church of Scientology.

The city has advertised its intention to begin hearings May 5, asking people possessing information "concerning violations of federal, state and local laws" by the Church of Scientology in Clearwater or involving Clearwater to contact Boston lawyer Michael Flynn.

No Night Ball In Pembroke

PEMBROKE PINES (UPI) — There is no joy in Pembroke Pines today after federal officials put out the lights for the town's little league teams.

Supporters of America's favorite sport say they have just begun to fight the Federal Aviation Administration order to turn off lights at the city's Kennedy Park because they reportedly distract pilots landing at a nearby airfield.

Red Cross Assistance Deadline Is Thursday

The deadline for application for American Red Cross emergency assistance for victims of the tornado earlier this month will be 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the Seminole County office at 350 N. Highway 17-92, Casselberry.

National disaster caseworkers are in the office to assist with applications for emergency food, clothing and shelter aid.

Daytona Beach Man Dies In Plane Crash

DELAND (UPI) — A student pilot was killed Tuesday when a single-engine plane he built crashed into a muddy field near the DeLand Municipal Airport, authorities said.

Bradley John Moore, 28, of Daytona Beach was testing the small plane he assembled from a kit when it plunged to the ground shortly after takeoff, police said.

Moore was alone in the plane at the time of the crash. The Federal Aviation Administration has been called in to investigate the cause of the crash.

Police said the plane had just taken off the runway at the DeLand airport about 11:40 a.m., heading northwest when it banked to the left.

Moore apparently attempted to straighten the aircraft, but the plane nose-dived into a muddy field 200 to 300 yards west of the runway, police said.

Before Casselberry Council

Commercial Rezoning Sparks Heated Debate

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

While some residents along Casselberry's Seminola Boulevard claim the area is no longer a "fit neighborhood to live in" because of commercial growth, others argue that the street is their home and they have no desire to "sell out."

A standing-room-only crowd filled City Council chambers Monday night to debate a proposed change in the city's land-use map which would allow commercial zoning between Winter Park and Lake drives on the south side of the street. Only eight property owners spoke on the issue — six opposed to the rezoning, and two for it.

Former City Councilman Dr. John Zacco, who hopes to build an office building in the area, led the move in support of rezoning, saying the area is plagued with traffic congestion and commercial development and no longer a true residential area.

Councilman Frank Schutte countered that he could not see how changing the zoning would help alleviate the traffic and development in the area.

"Wouldn't commercial zoning bring even more traffic in the area and aggravate an already bad situation?" Schutte asked.

"I agree with Dr. Zacco," said Kathy Harris, of 1177 Seminola Blvd. "Five years ago when I bought this property it was a neighborhood. It is not the same neighborhood now. The dog track brings constant traffic and I have a roofing company located across from my home and all I smell is tar all day long."

"I've lived on Seminola Boulevard for seven years," said another resident. "I want to sell the house and the only way to sell it now is if it goes commercial."

"I don't want the south side of Seminola to be commercial," said Marri Duncan, of 1240 Seminola Blvd. "There's enough commercialization on the other side. Three years ago when we bought our home, we did so to raise our family. I have one child and another on the way. We didn't buy our home for a commercial purpose."

Archie Hanson, of 1230 Seminola Blvd., summed up his feelings against rezoning with a simple, "No thank you."

Zacco also presented the council with a petition signed by 13 of the 18 property owners on the block, an area currently zoned for residential use. He said the signees have indicated their support of the rezoning.

Zacco's name appears twice on the petition as an owner of two properties, and several other names of property owners and their spouses appear repeatedly on the petition indicating ownership of multiple tracts.

Also presented to council was a list of 19 area petitioners who signed form letters to Mayor Owen Sheppard and the Planning and Zoning Commission stating their opposition to rezoning.

City Planner Dale MacMahan told the council he supports the proposed change and said the rezoning would be compatible with commercial and manufacturing zoning to the north.

Councilman John Leighty argued that he has received input against the change from area residents who claim such action would "open that whole area up to become commercial."

The council is expected to consider authorizing the change by ordinance in two weeks, along with Zacco's second request that the council rezone almost an acre off Seminola Boulevard near Winter Park Drive from residential to commercial where he plans to construct an office building.

Heiress Killed In $100 Holdup

STUART (UPI) — The 18-year-old heiress to the Evinrude outboard motor fortune promised her parents she was working her last overnight shift at a convenience store — the lonely hours frightened her.

But Frances Julia Slater never finished the shift. The granddaughter of a millionaire was abducted and killed Tuesday in a $100 holdup.

An autopsy was to be performed today, but authorities said she appeared to have been stabbed in the neck.

A customer stopped at the store at 3 a.m. to buy a pack of cigarettes and found no one there.

"There were no signs of a struggle but her purse, keys and car were still there and we know she was forcibly taken from the store," said Stuart Police Sgt. Joanne Waldron. "The cash register was cleaned out."

The attractive brunette granddaughter of multi-millionaire, outboard-motor manufacturer Ralph Evinrude and retired actress Frances Langford was found by a man driving a tractor down a road about 12 miles from the store.
