PASTURES GAINING IN ACREAGE, ATTENTION AND FEED PRODUCTION
 The war period, with its heavy demand for meat and its short supply of feed, has brought home to Florida farmers the fact that pastures, properly fertilized and managed, produce lots of feed, and it's the cheapest feed they can obtain. Pasture grasses are crops, just like any other plants grown. They respond to fertilization and proper management just as other plants do.

Since the Agricultural Adjustment Agency makes payments for seed harvesting, seeding and fertilizing pastures, as well as for water control and weed control, cattlemen and dairymen are making rapid strides with pasture development in Florida. The AAA reports that 61,000 acres of new pasture were established in 1944, and that 68,000 pounds of seed were used in reseeding pastures. In addition, 202,000 acres were moved to control weeds and noxious growth, and 4,600,000 feet of surface water control ditches were constructed on pasture.

The new grasses, particularly Pangola, Coastal Bermuda and Pensacola Bahia, are continuing to prove their merit. Pensacola Bahia stands a little more cold than the others, is the last to go down in the fall and the first to come out in the spring. Pangola seems to be second in this regard. Pensacola sows well, and is proving popular with farmers who have tried it. It suffers less from dry weather than many other grasses.

A. F. Rich, Leon County farmer, has found that Coastal Bermuda, left ungrazed after early July, and given some nitrate topdressing at that time, produces good yields of grass which cattle relish during winter, after it has been Effective now too, is the plan that all gonorrhoea cases be treated locally, while all syphilitic cases are to be sent to the three rapid treatment hospitals.

The wonder drug is also available without cost to private physicians for the treatment of gonorrhoea through the State Board of Health.

The drug acts rapidly and a patient infected with gonorrhoea can be given 200,000 units in a period of four hours, three injections at two hour intervals. This simple procedure and the recommended dosage of 200,000 units cures most cases of the disease.

The treatment of syphilitic, however, is not so simple. Patients are now treated only at rapid treatment centers, and an estimated time of eight to ten days is necessary for the complete cure.

To take care of this treatment at the centers, the Bureau of Venereal Disease Control this month distributed one and one half billion units of penicillin to the three centers.

Water is a good conductor of sound.

Veneral Treatments Show Improvement

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 25.—(Special) The State Board of Health reported this week that the three Rapid Treatment Centers had admitted almost as many venereal disease patients in the past three months as were accepted for the previous 20 months dating from March, 1943.

The tremendous turnover is credited entirely to the use of penicillin according to Dr. R. F. Sponaug, director of the Bureau of Venereal Disease Control. Since Jan. 1 as many as 4,981 men and women have been treated at the rapid treatment hospitals at Jacksonville, Ocala and Pensacola.

There was a time when it was often necessary for patients treated with the five day drip and heat therapy schedules, to stay at the centers from 10 to 12 weeks. Now, with penicillin, their average stay is from three to 10 days.

Also back on the days when patients were treated weekly for a year and had to be hospitalized, the local clinics only a percent completed their treatment. Now, with the use of penicillin in combination with other anti-syphilitic drugs, the syphilitic patients treated at the various centers reveals the following: treatment completed 98 percent; For Jacksonville, 98 percent; Ocala, 96 percent; Pensacola, 95 percent; and Wakulla (before it was closed December 31), 29 percent. This is even better than the national average.

All local health units, this month received their first shipment of penicillin in the amount of 1,000,000 units. This amount is sufficient to treat 200,000 units of each gonorrhoea patient.

Germans Surrender Unconditionally In Italy, Austria; German Armies Are Split And Trapped By Three Allies

Nazi Field Marshal Is Taken In Bath; Patton And Clark Are Near Junction

(By Associated Press)
The American Third Army driving for a junction with the Russians and a Czechoslovakian encirclement, advanced 25 miles into Austria. British and Russian forces in similar blows, compressed the width of the northern German Nazi pocket to 63 miles.
Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, commander of the German forces on the western front until March, was captured in a hospital while taking a bath. Allied headquarters announced 1,500,000 Germans were captured in April. Grand Admiral Karl Donitz, inexperienced in ground operations, has been named Hitler's successor.
The three-army Allied drive into the Alpine redoubt reached within 100 miles of Gen. Mark Clark's troops in Italy. Donitz, Hitler's Austrian birthplace, was also captured by Patton's Third Army.
The Paris radio said Red army troops have hoisted their flag over the Reichstag, where the German army died. British troops north of the (Continued on Page Two)

II Duce And Hitler At Pass

After Mussolini and Hitler had decided to link their destinies, the two dictators met frequently at the Brenner Pass at the Italian-Austrian border to discuss the fortunes of war. Here they are shown as they shake hands and exchange greetings in October 1940. Both are now reported dead. (International)

Adolf Hitler Is Reported Killed In Berlin Fight

Adm. Doenitz Takes Over Leadership In Strange Ceremony

LONDON, May 2, (AP) — The Hamburg Nazi radio said last night that Adolf Hitler had died in the afternoon in Berlin and had been succeeded by Admiral Karl Doenitz, his personal choice as commander of the German nation.
The report from the headquarters in Berlin said that the late Adolf Hitler, fighting to the last, had been shot in the back of the head in his headquarters in the "Fuehrerbunker" in Berlin. The German broadcast announcement, received by the Associated Press, was made in London at 10:27 P. M. (EST) Eastern War Time.
On April 30 the Fuehrer appointed Grand Admiral Doenitz his successor. The grand admiral, who had been the German navy's commander in chief, was named as the German people's "Provisional Leader."
Doenitz, identifying himself as Doenitz, then addressed the German people. For this aim, he said, he had to save the German people from the horrors of a total annihilation by the Allies and the Americans. He shall be forced to carry out the military struggle con-

U.S. Fifth Army And British Eighth Win Climactic Victory On Italian Peninsula

(By Associated Press)
German military forces in northern Italy and western Austria surrendered today, bringing a climactic victory to the Allied troops of many nations who fought a bitter campaign up the length of the Italian peninsula.
The work of the U.S. Fifth Army and the British Eighth Army, which opened the southern gate of the Nazi-Axis, probably already under attack from the north, and a climactic Allied forces in Italy with the three armies of General Eisenhower's southern Germany and in Austria might be expected soon.
Some military decisions, or remnants of the once successful German Fifth Army, were involved in the surrender. It was the P. M. Rome Times said. Eastern War Time. (Continued on Page Three)

Southside Primary Children Praised For Gift To English

Praise for aid given English children in the form of a Christmas gift box donated by pupils of the class of Miss Zillah N. Yarnall of the Southside Primary School was given in the following letter received recently by Miss Walsh and the class from the American Friends of the British.
"I was just reading a copy of 'The Sanford Herald' which I received in the mail. It was very interesting and I noted the story about the letter of thanks received from an Englishwoman for a Christmas gift box you sent to the children of English prisoners of war in the Far East. Before I came to France for continental operations after the invasion, I spent some months in England and during the periods spent in both countries, I've found the same conditions existing among the little children. Probably the French children have undergone a little more suffering. But just the same, the hearts of the American soldiers have continued to pour out kindness and good cheer to those little children in both nations.
"In France, the little boys and girls sometimes do not have leather shoes and have to wear wooden shoes that are not comfortable. Many of the little children, particularly those born about the time the war began and since that time, did not know what candy (bon-bons) were until the Americans came and shared their scanty PX rations with them. In England, candy was available at times but rationed, and the small quantity permitted only a slight amount. The same with clothes, too, as they're rationed.
"The little American children have lots to be thankful for. It is the prayers of every American soldier, sailor, marine or coast guardman that the children of our nation will never be forced to endure the hardships of war and tyranny as has been about by the German nation during the last decade.
"In my travels in England, I passed several times through Barry St. Edmunds in Suffolk. Although I knew on one there, you can be sure that the light of happiness and gladness, when they received your packages, that shown on their faces would have endured in your hearts and minds forever. It would have repaid you a thousand times for your efforts."

Mayor Higgins Asks Fair Return For Landlords

Referencing to the OPA's rent regulation plan for Sanford with a rent control area, Mayor Edward Higgins today addressed a letter to the Herald in which he pointed out the excessively low rents prevailing before the war and the need for increasing these rents if people were to continue to own property within the city and to pay taxes for the support of the City government.
"Referring to the article appearing in your paper on April 30 regarding rent control in the City of Sanford, (Continued on Page Three)

MAKING TWO BLADES GROW

In recent years, farmers of the South have literally fulfilled their ambition to make two blades grow where one grew before. Through the use of improved varieties, crop rotation, soil improvement, more judicious use of fertilizers and better cultural methods, crop yields have been greatly increased.

This is real progress. But southern agriculture has not stopped there. Diversification is the order of the day, so that the South is no longer tied down to the one-crop system.

Large credit for the South's progress in agriculture is due to the State Colleges, agricultural experiment stations, county agents, the Soil Conservation Service and others who have toiled through the years for the improved methods now so much in evidence.

The Seaboard Railway, through its Agricultural Development Service, has made effective contribution to the South's agriculture. Along the Seaboard's lines new crops have been introduced, farmers have been aided in solving production problems and assisted in finding profitable markets. Hand-in-hand with other constructive forces in our territory, Seaboard will continue to work for greater prosperity among our friends and patrons on the farms of the South.

German Armies Are Split And Trapped By Three Allies

Members of parliament and others expressed skepticism, fearing that perhaps the dramatic death broadcast was but an elaborate hoax.

At the British foreign office the report of Hitler's death was accepted as true but official sources refused to comment on the possible accuracy of the Hamburg account of how he died.

It was positive in any event that as soon as the European war was ended the Allies would demand that Hitler's body be produced to remove all doubt.

A spokesman for Scotland Yard declined to confirm or deny reports that British police or the secret service had dental records, measurements and fingerprints of Hitler already on file so that identification would be possible even long after death.

Russian View
The Russians in the past have said repeatedly that they believed Hitler long ago had fled from Berlin and possibly left a "double" to "die in action" there to maintain Hitler's name as a Nazi martyr. The Germans have insisted many times daily, however, that he was in Berlin personally directing its faltering defense.

The Germans furnished the report of Hitler's death tonight with all the trappings of drama of their command.

At 9:45 P. M. (3:43 P. M. E. W. T.) the Hamburg radio instructed all Germans to keep tuned in on an important announcement. One minute later the renegade Englishman who throughout the war has broadcast Nazi propaganda as "Lord Haw Haw" reiterated the standby order.

Then, 43 minutes afterward, there was a ruff of drama on the air and the unidentified announcer gave the report of Hitler's death and introduced Doenitz.

Three days after the execution of Hitler's fallen Axis partner, Benito Mussolini, as the hands of Italian patriots in northern Italy.

The announcement came just as American tanks plunged into the Inn river village of Braunau, Austria, where Adolf Hitler was born on April 20, 1889.

Brief Pleer
Doenitz, the tough, 72-year-old ex-officer, who made his reputation as Hitler's subordinate and then was elevated to command of the dwindling German navy, made a brief, unaccompanied plea to the German people to continue the struggle, concluding, "If we do all that is in our power, God will not forsake us after so much suffering and sacrifice."

Then the radio played the German national anthem, Deutschland Ueber Alles and the Nazi party anthem, the Horst Wessel Lied. There followed three minutes of silence, then a special order of the day was read from Doenitz to the German military service.

Re-echoing the end of his speech to the whole people, he had added the line:

"For every single one of you the oath of loyalty to the Fuehrer is transferred straight to my person as the Fuehrer's appointed successor."

Sugar rations have been cut another 25 percent. The first thing we know we'll be buying it by the grain.

"Hitler," writes Martin Anderson, "is that he lived so long." Greater tragedy than that was that he was ever born.

Molotov is having a rugged time at the Frisco conference. He fights for the recognition of the Russian-sponsored Polish government and can't get it. He fights against the Fascist-minded Argentine government and it is recognized. But we hope he doesn't take his hat and go home.

When Count Bernadotte, returned to Sweden after a conference with Heinrich Himmler in Germany and was asked by reporters, "Did you bring peace back with you?" he replied, "Good morning." How much better way that is of handling the press when things are confidential than to tell them some lie.

Sanford landlords have apparently killed the goose that was laying the golden eggs. Raising rents higher than any other city in the United States, according to the OPA, they have been ordered to reduce them to the level of July 1, 1943. That's going to be a big saving to tenants, a big loss to some landlords.

In the first election held in France since the liberation, a surprising victory won by many cities throughout the country by the communists. Of the total vote more than 25 percent were for the communists, the rest divided between the socialists, the social democrats, the conservatives, the royalists and perhaps a dozen other parties.

Germany announces that Hitler is dead and nobody believes it. One of the great disadvantages of telling lies is that the time soon comes when nobody will believe you even when you are telling the truth. Hitler may not be dead. If Hitler were going underground to escape the consequences for his many crimes, he would certainly want everyone to believe he was dead. And yet in recent weeks and months he may well be contemplated to have produced a coup, a fatal wound from a Russian weapon, or a suicide. But whether dead or not, his day is done as Germany's leader.

We day in this country will be celebrated, according to present indications, by sober rejoicing but not with the riotous orgy of enthusiasm which marked the end of the last World War. There will be no drunkenness this time, no mass street demonstrations with their wanton destruction of property. That is not the kind of celebration called for by persons who have lost a son in the service, by women whose husbands are still fighting the Japs in the Pacific, by those who have friends and loved ones in Europe soon to be transferred to other fighting fronts. A quiet service in the church with prayers for the future safety of American boys is more in keeping with the spirit of the times.

We have a great deal these days about the utility of trying to prevent wars as long as mankind, cruelty, hatred and vengeance exist in this world. And most Americans, we believe, want to prevent wars. Such a vain hope is not in our scheme of things at all. And then we read where Benito Mussolini was dragged from his hideout by a howling mob, shot to death and his body kicked in a public square where he was kicked by a bleeding body and spat on him. And we see a picture of German atrocities and we wonder if it is any worse for the Germans to burn the Poles than for us to burn the Germans, and whether there is any chance of getting rid of cruelty, hatred and vengeance in this world.

Frisco Background

In order to understand what is taking place these days at San Francisco, it is well to refresh our memories on what has been done with respect to American foreign policy during this war. Following a period of national isolation for nearly two decades in which we refused to join the League of Nations or to assume any leadership in international affairs, we suddenly reversed the trend shortly before Pearl Harbor and repealed the Neutrality Act and passed the Lend-Lease Act.

Fourth followed a series of important conferences and national commitments. Four months before the raid on Pearl Harbor President Roosevelt met with Prime Minister Churchill in mid-Atlantic and issued a declaration of principles which has become known as the Atlantic Charter. This consisted of eight statements on general policies which have been summarized into what is called the Four Freedoms: freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear.

In November of 1943 the foreign secretaries of Great Britain, the United States and Russia met in Moscow and reached a number of important agreements with respect to the war. They agreed in principle that the collaboration among them begun during the war should continue after the war in the interest of permanent peace, that a free and independent Austria should be re-established, that German government officials and German army officers, guilty of atrocities or crimes against other nations, should be returned to the nations in which the crimes were committed, and there tried and punished, and that the war should be continued against Germany by all three Allied powers until unconditional surrender could be achieved.

In December of the same year, the Cairo Conference took place among Roosevelt, Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek declaring in favor of unconditional surrender of Japan and pledging each other against any territorial aggrandizement and demanding the liberation of all conquered territory from Japan and the freedom of Korea. The Tehran Conference met a few days later with Chiang Kai-Shek absent and Marshal Stalin present. There, the substance of the Moscow Conference was reiterated, especially with respect to the prosecution of the war against Germany and collaboration after the war in the promotion of peace.

On Oct. 7, 1944, delegates of the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China met in Washington and drew up the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals, providing for a world organization devoted to the maintenance of peace and security, which are the basis of the conference now being held at San Francisco. A charter was actually drawn and agreed upon by the Big Four calling for the establishment of a Security Council of 11 members and a General Assembly of representatives from all of the United Nations, as well as for the creation of a General Staff Committee composed of the military leaders of the five major powers.

Later these proposals were amended at the Crimea Conference held at Yalta in February of this year at which Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin agreed that all members of the Security Council should have one vote each and that seven votes, including those of the Big Five, would be required on any action involving the use of force. It was also agreed that Russia should have three votes in the General Assembly and Britain six with all other nations having only one.

The question of Poland was also considered at this time and it was agreed that the eastern frontier of Poland should follow the Curzon Line, established by a British commission shortly after the last war but never recognized by Poland, and that compensation to Poland for this loss of territory should be made up by concessions from Germany on the western frontier. It was also agreed at the Crimea Conference that Poland should be represented at the forthcoming San Francisco conference but that the representatives should be chosen not by the Russian-sponsored Lublin government, or the Polish Government in Exile at London, but by a new Government of National Unity to include members of all factions. This government has not yet been formed and furnishes the basis for the present controversy at San Francisco.

In addition, there have been many lesser conferences and agreements looking to the ultimate stabilization of the world, such as the Bretton Woods Proposals which recommend the creation of an International Bank of Reconstruction and Development financed by the major powers and devoted to the reconstruction of war-devastated areas and the re-establishment of a sound economy in liberated nations, as well as the creation of a huge international monetary fund for the purpose of stabilizing the currencies of the world.

In a democracy it is important that the people themselves study and understand these problems since they in the long run are the ones who will have to pass on them.

Home - Seekers

Columnist Dorothy Thompson writes from London that 90 per cent of the people are demanding detached or semi-detached houses. They don't want "tenements" but up-and-down stairs, with "their own door keys and a hedged-in plot of garden, however small."

In short, the English people want privacy. And Americans mostly want the same thing. It may not seem so, in these war times, when there has been such a vast movement of people from small towns to cities, drawn by war plants and the livelihood connected with them. But it is really a rare person who doesn't like at least a little plot of ground to putter around in, with a bit of lawn and a few flowers and vegetables.

We are likely to see a considerable expansion of such gentle and neighborly activities after the war, with millions of people looking for a little imitation of the bucolic life, and probably transportation to and from the country better than it has ever been before.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

It is fitting as we watch with eager hopefulness the conference now in progress in San Francisco that we, as individual citizens, give sober and serious thought to the purpose that occasioned its assembly.

The fruitlessness and bitter agony of WAR is recognized by all sane thinking individuals. The desire for peace is strong in the hearts of mankind, yet because we have long smothered our sanity and reason with blankets of selfishness, greed and hate and built our world house on such insecure foundation we find ourselves engaged in the most brutal and destructive conflict in man's pitiful history.

We will again fail to establish lasting world peace unless the people of the world unite their prayers and their sincere unselfish efforts to that end. A step in this direction and one that gives genuine promise of eventual success, is the move to establish a "Federation of the World."

On April 26, the Florida Legislature became the 13th State to pass a resolution memorializing Congress on World Federation. The plan, advanced originally by Robert Lee Hunter of Greenville, N.C., is simple and workable. It recognizes the world as one great unified body of mankind, with the various nations making up its states or subdivisions. Our difficulties have all arisen because the world as such has never had a real government of law that could operate on democratic principles.

While every individual on the face of the earth is a citizen of this world, no effort has been made to develop in the individual a true sense of a responsibility of such citizenship with its attendant obligations. We have set up municipal, state and national governments and established laws for each that protect and safeguard the individual through government of laws. When a citizen of such government units commits a crime or violates a law against the city, state or nation, he is arrested, tried and if found guilty, punished.

If a citizen of Miami, for example, were to murder a citizen of Tampa, these two communities would not declare WAR on each other and attempt to establish justice through the death and destruction of both cities and their inhabitants. We seek out and punish the guilty. We follow the same course, Florida as an other, when we are able to establish justice through the death and destruction of both cities and their inhabitants. We seek out and punish the guilty. We follow the same course, Florida as an other, when we are able to establish justice through the death and destruction of both cities and their inhabitants.

If we want world peace, we must establish a World Federation, made up of all nations regardless of race, creed or nationality and set up a code of International Law, not for Nations, but for all individuals, then we will be able to punish the law-breakers and protect the innocent and law-abiding. We now recognize a citizen of Seattle, Washington, Bangor, Maine, or Miami, Florida as an American. We respect his rights and privileges as such whatever he may be, so long as he remains law-abiding. — We don't care what his race, color or creed may be, but accept him as equal.

Churchwomen Sponsor Fellowship Service

The Council of Church Women of Sanford is sponsoring a Fellowship Day Friday at 4:00 P.M. at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church. It was announced today that similar meetings will be held all over the United States on this day and all the women of this locality are urged to attend and make this meeting one of real fellowship.

The theme of the program is "Our Town." It is an attempt to present a glimpse of pressing problems existing in most towns of the United States. It is a challenge to Christian women throughout the Nation in a great year of destiny.

Pearl S. Buck has said: "I see in women the greatest force for peace and good will in the world."

In women there is the spiritual realization of the value of life, the precious quality of the individual. . . I plead with you as Christian women to take the leadership in human brotherhood. There are none who have had your opportunities for knowing what is right and good, none who have the power that you have to put right and good into action."

Mrs. Nonnie Williams Honored With Party

Surprise birthday parties for Mrs. Nonnie Williams were given by the church women of the First Baptist Church, Sanford, Fla., on Tuesday, May 4.

Upon arrival the guests were ushered into the dining room where were entertained by Mrs. Williams with luncheon of delicious refreshments, including a variety of flowers, sent by friends earlier in the day.

As the honoree requested the singing room, the friends sang "Happy Birthday." After receiving congratulations and wishes, the honoree presented a gift of a complete set of Mrs. W. H. Thiel's and Mrs. J. H. Crawford's new book, "The Songs, Readings, and Prayers for the Evening After Church." Mrs. Williams' friends were entertained by Mrs. Williams with luncheon of delicious refreshments, including a variety of flowers, sent by friends earlier in the day.

IF YOU ARE AN AUTOMOBILE OWNER READ THIS
 So often in automobile accidents the occupants' hospital, medical and funeral expenses far exceeds the cost of repairing the automobile and we are glad to call your attention to the Medical Payment Coverage.
 After explaining this coverage to our customers, nearly all requested us to add this feature to their automobile liability policy as the cost is reasonable for these added benefits.
 This coverage is added to your automobile liability policy and we suggest you have the agent writing your automobile liability insurance add this coverage. May we at an early date add your name to our list of satisfied customers?

Nazis Fleeing Germany In Confusion Toward Norway; Hostilities Cease In Holland; British Enter Denmark

Barges, Transports Sunk By Bombers In Action Worse Than Dunkerque

(By Associated Press)
Swedish reports today said the British have invaded Denmark, surging past the "open cities" of Kiel and Flensburg. To the south, the American Seventh Army joined the Fifth Army at Vipiteno, ten miles inside Italy in the snowy Brenner Pass.
Salzburg surrendered unconditionally and 500,000 Germans surrendered within 48 hours in the north. The Nazis are holding out north of fallen Hamburg in chaotic flight by land and sea toward Norway.
Planes, tanks and artillery turned the German flight into a debacle of burning ships and wrecked land transports. An unconfirmed Swedish dispatch, quoted in the southern Jutland reports, said only slight resistance was met, chiefly at the border city of Aabenraa.
On the southern anchor of the front a late British broadcast (heard by NBC) tells of the surrender of Innsbruck in Austria. The American Seventh Army has joined with the Fifth Army at Vipiteno, ten miles inside Italy in the snowy Brenner Pass.
The General Eisenhower sent his personal congratulations to the Allied commander in chief of the Mediterranean theater on the surrender of the German army in Italy. The General—in his informal note—told Field Marshal Alexander that the Marshal and his great command should consider themselves the toast of the United Nations.
General Ike then added this comment: "Your brilliant successes should give even the stupid German final proof that he is defeated."
Danish patriots were reported posting proclamations throughout Copenhagen urging the Nazis to Denmark to capitulate. The British were reported across the Danish frontier in several places. Another unconfirmed report, broadcast by the Germans, said hostilities had ended in western Holland.

At Salzburg, the U.S. Seventh Army got within a dozen miles of Berchtesgaden. The Third Army invading Austria and Czechoslovakia laid siege to Linz with ten miles of the Russian front. The capture of Germany is virtually complete. The only parts of the Reich still in Nazi hands consisted of narrowing pockets with a total population of 10,000,000. (Continued on Page Two)

Stenstrom Called Night Owl Burning Midnight Oil

"A night owl burning midnight oil" is the term applied to M. Sgt. Julian Stenstrom of Langford, by his co-editor Sgt. Fred Schwartz in an editorial in the mimeographed "Cartridge Case" published every Sunday by the 61st Ordnance Ammunition Battalion in France.
The following Apr. 22 editorial under the heading "Spotlight" reveals the "secret night owl" of M. Sgt. Stenstrom.
"M. Sgt. Julian L. Stenstrom, the Sergeant Major of the 61st Ordnance Battalion and of the Depot, late of Sanford, Florida, has been a member of the USO in France, and top ranking non-com of the BN, is a man stepped in administrative functions and flanked with a staff of clerks and file men, telephones, in and out baskets, files of notes and end-less pencils and clips.
"The boss is the jovial, genial and who comes forward with information on most personnel and administrative matters in hand, being taken man between the BN CO and the personnel of this organization.
"He's been at the helm of the BN for the past two and a half years and doing a bang on job at the same time.
"Sgt. Stenstrom is what is currently termed a night-owl, burning the midnight oil, most nights at his desk and planning the next day's duties, orders and properly managed affairs of the battalion's office. He has seen six years in the service and is a two week master at that.
"The lad is a migrating member of the mass lead where the kitchen staff cheerfully hand jobs of everything on his mental on sled. They called him "Boss" Stenstrom at one time but now he's up at the first crack of dawn and operating as all good Sgt. Majors should. Sgt. Stenstrom attends his personal crew but has every political and financial medium of this nation."

Sgt. William Colbert Visiting His Parents

Sgt. William Colbert Jr., who was wounded in action in Germany on Feb. 9 while serving with the First Army, arrived Thursday afternoon for a 90 day visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Colbert, 218 East Eighteenth Street.
Sgt. Colbert, who came here on leave from an Army hospital at Memphis, Tenn., was accompanied by Mrs. Colbert. He arrived at New York on April 13, after having been hospitalized in Paris, Belgium and England, and was then transferred to Memphis after being hospitalized a short time in New York.
Overseas he participated in battle on the Belgian, British and in the push of the First Army toward Cologne. He has been in the service since July 1942 and received training with the Infantry at Ft. McPherson, Ga. and Camp Pickett, Va. He graduated from Seminole High School in 1933 and from the University of Georgia in 1942.
Sgt. Colbert has been awarded the decoration of the Purple Heart, the steel combat ribbon, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster and combat expert badge.

George Arnold Freed From Germans

Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold of Route 2, Sanford, who on Apr. 20 received a telegram reporting that her husband, Sgt. George W. Arnold, Jr., had been missing in action since Apr. 2, when he was serving with the First Army in Germany, received a letter Tuesday dated Apr. 16 from her husband, stating he was no longer a prisoner of war.
"I had a few lines to let you hear from me as I am fine and hope you and little Sammy are the same," he wrote. "I suppose you have gotten a notice that I am a prisoner of war. Well, I was, but am not one now. I had 14 days of it, and that was awful for it isn't any fun either. I got captured on the Monday after Easter Sunday, but I was not by myself, but I am O. K. and all the rest are too."

German Doctor Admits Killing 21,000 Himself

UNITED STATES 12TH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, May 3. (AP)—Dr. Gustav Wilhelm Schuebe said recently the Nazi annihilation institute at Kiel killed from 110,000 to 140,000 persons "unworthy to live" during the nine months he worked there.
Schuebe, a crippled drug addict captured by 1st Army troops recently admitted he had murdered about 21,000 persons. He told his story voluntarily and showed no feeling of guilt, but occasionally became evasive when he appeared to sense that his actions might be viewed as crimes.
The annihilation institute was established after the Germans captured Kiev in 1941. Schuebe was there about five months before he became head of it. He remained at the institute until (Continued on Page Two)

Chinese Launch New Attack To Rout Japanese

Suzuki Cabinet Gets Severe Criticism For New Reverses

(By Associated Press)
A general Chinese counter-offensive to rout the four-pronged threat to the American Changkiang air base threw the Japanese armies into reverse on every front today. One city was recaptured and 3,000 Nipponese were killed in the initial thrust by the Chinese including American-equipped armor troops.
Japanese reverses are so widespread that the Suzuki cabinet was subjected to newspaper criticism similar to that preceding the downfall of previous Tokyo governments.
The Yanks captured Davao City in the southern Philippines, along with two airfields. Minor gains were reported against the Naha line on Okinawa. Two light U.S. warships were sunk and others damaged by suicide aircraft, bombers and boats. Superfortresses struck southern Japan again.
The initial gains were reported at 10:30 p.m. The heavily fortified Naha, the Chinese outer perimeter which has cost American forces 16,000 casualties, including 2,200 dead. This compares with approximately 21,000 Japanese killed in Okinawa and U.S. casualties of 12,938 on two Jima, including 4,189 dead.
American losses were boosted by a new announcement of naval casualties for six ships, 5,551, including 1,111 killed, 3,000 missing, 2,440 wounded. This does not include casualties on two light naval transports and others damaged in a combined attack last night by suicide planes and boats and high flying bombers.
Paratrooper led British and Indian forces slogging through heavy rain were reported successfully wiping out the Japanese hangar in the capital and the city of Burma which they entered yesterday. The Nipponese have been fleeing the city for weeks and supporting American jets reported a rooftop sign which said "Japs gone."
Whatever Japanese remained in the vicinity of Rangoon were reportedly trapped by yesterday's landing of the Bay of Bengal at the mouth of the river.

All Of Seminole County Included In Rent Control

Ceiling So Far Applies Only To Houses, Not To Stores

All of Seminole County is included in the area of rent control, it was announced today by W. L. Long, county administrator.
Mr. Jones explained that he was making this statement in order to clarify some confusion as to the scope of the rent control act. He said that the act applies to all houses, but that it does not apply to stores.
Housing regulations do not affect rentals for commercial purposes at the present time, said Mr. Jones.
He added that rent control was strictly a war time measure and is not expected to extend further than the duration. From 25 to 30 persons a day have interviewed him since he established his office in the Army this week.

Returning Soldier Is Subject Of Talk

D. A. Cheney, field director of the American Red Cross at AAFAC in Orlando will speak at the Methodist Church Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock on the "Returning Soldier Man".
The Rev. Joe A. Tolls announced today.
Pointing out that nearly 400 men have already returned from army service to Seminole County alone, the Rev. Tolls said that "This matter of readjustment will not be an easy one and the time is at hand when we need to know how to meet it. We hope the public will take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mr. Cheney who will speak from the point of view of one who returns with some kind of handicap."

Former Serviceman Here Praises USO

That servicemen formerly located here, miss the USO and the kindnesses shown them there by the people of Sanford, is evidenced by the many letters received by USO Director Joe Hall, expressing thanks for the courtesy shown them during their stay here.
The following letter from Rudolph J. Teschke, Anna Seifert, of the Sanford Naval Air Station, and later transferred to another locality, expresses in a whimsical manner how much he misses the Sanford USO.
"Mr. Hall, I sure miss your place," he wrote I said place, not face—Ha! ha! But I do miss that face of yours too.
"I haven't even visited off the base yet, because I know what kind of girl this town is. Nothing like beautiful little Sanford and its USO.
"If I ever get the time, I'll bring my clumsy carcass to Sanford and set all over your USO again and drink all your coffee. I miss the kindness of the people there. I really was made to feel at home there. If some of them remember me, tell them I miss them all and thank them again for their kindness.
"Give my regards to your wife and little one, and thanks again to you and the USO for making my life away from home more enjoyable."
