promptly at 3:00 that the program might begin on time.

The joint meeting of the Welfare Department and the Junior Civic League Wednesday, March 31.

Members of the department are requested to come prepared to respond to the roll call with either a quotation on birds or the name of a Florida bird. The meeting promises to be very interesting with its entire program on birds.

Members of the Polly Primrose Cast are requested to send the name of their guest for the dance April 8 to Mrs. W. L. Morgan without delay.

Choir and Quire.

The word "quire," as applied to a chorus of singers is rare. The proper word is "choir."

What the League Did

Meeting at St. Augustine last week was one of the best ever held in this state.

The meeting held at St. Augustine last week to talk over the new classification of grapefruit, by the railroads, with a view to granting a lower rate was one of the best meetings of the kind ever held in this state. The leading distributors, with their traffic managers were present, as well as a number of the large growers and operators. The attendance of railroad officials was one of the largest at any meeting held in this state.

The finest thing about the meeting was the good will and feeling shown by the railroad officials toward the work in hand. They were willing to listen to the presentation of facts showing the conditions existing in the grapefruit industry, and paid close attention to all that was said. While they could not promise any immediate relief at the meeting they are all going to use their best efforts to help the grapefruit growers to make a profit on their investment, if a lower rate will help.

Among those present, taking part in the League's presentation of their case were L. D. Skinner, L. D. Jones, Dr. J. H. Ross, A. J. Nye, Walter Preston, J. C. Chree, Jefferson Thomas, George Williams, J. F. Thomas of the H. C. Schrader Co., Mr. Tenny and Mr. Hoskins of the Growers and Shippers League.

The following officials and the roads they represented were in attendance. The Growers and Shippers League deserves much credit for getting up such a fine attendance. It proves the value of the League to the growers.

FLORIDA PRESS GANG RETURN FROM MIAMI

CHRIS CODRINGTON MADE PRESIDENT AND OSCAR CONKLIN WAS MADE VICE-PRESIDENT

One of the most successful meetings of the Florida Press Association was held in Miami last Thursday, Friday and Saturday and the attendance was good considering the great distance that many had to travel from all parts of the state. The program as arranged divided business with pleasure and the good ladies of Miami through the Woman's Club and other organizations assisted in making the visitors feel at home. A trip to the beach and to the Davie farm in the Everglades were among the side trips given the editors. The banquet on Saturday night at the Royal Palm hotel was one of the sweetest affairs that the editors have ever had at their meetings and the fine menu and toasts were greatly enjoyed.

The editors left Miami with the feeling that they had been among friends for the four days and that the welcome was so hearty it would be perpetual and every guest feels that in Miami there are no strangers.

A description of Miami or a list of the many interesting trips and the lavish hospitality of Miami people cannot be given in today's issue but will be given in a later article. The editor of The Herald and his wife and all the Sanford people who were there feel that words would not express their appreciation but we also feel that nothing less than a description of Miami and first impressions can accurately cover the ground and this will be given later.

At this annual election of officers the following were elected:

C. O. Codrington, DeLand News, President.

Oscar T. Conklin, Miami Herald, Vice President.

T. J. Appleyard, Tallahassee School Exponent, Secretary.

W. J. White, Fraternal Record, Jacksonville, Treasurer.

Harry L. Brown, Record, St. Augustine, National Delegate.

After a spirited fight between Kissimmee and Key West the former was chosen and at Kissimmee next year the clans will again gather to have the green corn dance and smoke the peace pipe.

B. Y. P. U. Notes

The meeting last Sunday evening was the most interesting and helpful we have had during the first quarter.

Group No. 3 was in charge of the meeting with Miss Laing, captain and Mr. Thompson, leader.

The subject was Patriotism and the program was as follows:

Scripture Lesson, found in 1 Peter, 2:13-18.

Prayer—Several members of the group.

Introduction—Mr. Thompson.

The Meaning of Patriotism—Miss Laing.

Song—America.

Has Patriotism Developed?—Mr. Chase.

The Soldier's Work—Mr. Davis.

Scripture Quotations by several Members of Group.

A Clean and Wholesome Citizenship—Mr. Franklin.

Reading—Loyalty, by Miss Linda Connelly.

Baptist History—Mr. Jinkins.

History of our National Song, "The Star Spangled Banner"—Mrs. Gatchel.

Violin Solo, "The Star Spangled Banner"—Mr. Walters.

Next Sunday evening we will use our new B. Y. P. U. room for the first time. We welcome all visitors and strangers.

Beautiful Yacht Here

Mr. and Mrs. George Stephan on their beautiful yacht, The Loiterer II are here today on a trip from Jacksonville to Lake Harney. This is their first trip to Sanford on the St. Johns and they are so much in love with this part of the state that they intend to make it part of their winter itinerary each year. There are two other yachts to be in today. Mr. and Mrs. Stephan are from Delta, Colorado, where Mr. Stephan is a prominent attorney.

Make Fine Pictures

Osborne Herndon, manager of the Star and Imperial Theatres has added a new invention to his picture show in the shape of a machine that changes the alternating current of electricity to direct making the pictures much clearer and better. The machine was tried last night in showing the Sea Wolf at the Star and the audience noted the change with evident signs of satisfaction. This machine is expensive but Manager Herndon believes in giving the public the best that money can purchase and will make many other improvements during the summer months. He expects to make a specialty of high class reels during the summer months for the benefit of the many Sanford summer widowers made desolate by the departure of the wives for summer resorts.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR SUBMARINE F4

CREW HAD DIED IN THEIR SUBMERGED STEEL ENCASED DEATH TRAP

Washington, D. C., Mar. 30.—The last remote hope that any of the submarines F-4's crew might be alive has been abandoned by the navy department. Today Acting Secretary Blue ordered Rear Admiral Moore, commanding the Honolulu naval station to report the exact location of the sunken boat and the depth at which she lies that the department may estimate the probability of salvaging the hull and recovering the bodies of her commander and crew.

No advices on the disaster have come to the department since Friday night, when Admiral Moore reported that the boat was in fifty fathoms of water.

What the researchers supposed was the hull of the F-4, to which cables were attached on Saturday, proved to be merely an old anchor, a huge affair which it is believed is the one lost by the battleship Oregon in this harbor some time ago. This necessitated a new search and the hull of the F-4 was finally located at a 300-foot depth some distance away.

Portions of the superstructure of the F-4 have been dragged to the surface which would indicate that the submarine is partly destroyed. The plan for today was to dredge California to drag the bottom in the hope of grappling the submarine and hauling her into shallower water.

"The Crucifixion"

A large audience assembled at the Congregational church last Sunday night to listen to the rendition of John Stainer's masterpiece, "The Crucifixion." Those composing the choir were director and soprano, Miss Lillian Aspinwall; alto, Mrs. Strong; tenor, Mr. C. L. Polk and basso Mr. Cameron Gullette of Athens, Ohio. "The Crucifixion" is a musical meditation on the sacred passion of our Lord, and very closely follows the gospel story. The solo parts were taken entirely by the men. Mr. Polk needs no introduction to a Sanford audience for most people are acquainted with his sweet and sympathetic tenor voice; especially did it show to its best in the solo, "How Sweet is the Grace of His Sacred Face." Mr. Gullette, though a stranger to most has already made for himself a reputation; he has a voice of most unusual power and promise. His rendition of the solo, "The Agony in the Garden" was especially effective. It is to be regretted that this talented young singer is so soon to leave for his home in the north.

The choruses "Fling Wide the Gates" and "The Appeal of the Crucified" were dramatic and thrilling, holding the audience in rapt attention, especially when the climax, "Crucify" was reached. Great credit is due to the director, Miss Aspinwall for giving a Sanford congregation the privilege of hearing this artistic production. Her own beautiful voice and the perfect accompaniments played by Miss Frances Aspinwall were never heard to better effect.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the Baptist church at 8:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. All are requested to be present. Hereafter the meetings will be held on the first Thursday of each month. Members will please take notice.

Denham, Jacksonville; member nominating committee American Bankers Association, C. A. Faircloth, Gainesville; alternate, W. E. Bell, Trenton; vice president, trust company section American Bankers' Association, H. G. Aird, Jacksonville; vice president savings bank section American Bankers Association, D. J. Herrin, Jacksonville; vice president clearing house section American Bankers Association, R. E. Wheeler, Jacksonville.

One of the distinguished guests of the convention was Col. Fred E. Farnsworth, general secretary of the American Bankers Association; another was Joseph A. McCord, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

Following yesterday afternoon's session the visitors were taken to the camphor farm in automobiles, which proved a most pleasing and enjoyable diversion.

The reception, musical and dance at the Putnam House last night was largely attended by both visitors and townspeople. The event was a brilliant one. The splendid musical program by Chattaway's orchestra and some of Palatka's best vocal and instrumental artists follows.

Overture, Chattaway's orchestra. Flower Rain, Mrs. Lewis Smith. My Little Love (Hawley), Mr. N. J. Tilghman, Jr.

Magic Song (Myer-Helmund), Miss Miss Leib (violin, Mr. Barstow).

The Lorelei (Listz), Miss Hutchingson.

Barcarolle (Offenbach), Mrs. Haile and Mr. Tilghman.

Song, selected, Miss Elizabeth Brown.

Accompanists, Miss Hutchinson Mrs. Quick, Mrs. Haile.

Geneva Notes

The members of the Cheerful class of the Methodist church and the members of Miss Stone's class of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Daniels for the regular social of the Cheerful Workers. After the business session the following games were played: Dollar, Bean, Bird and Fish, Hot Potato and Joining the Sugar Trust, the latter causing many to bite hastily and regret instantly, for instead of sugar they got salt. We all regretted that it soon came time to leave as we were having a good time. We wish to thank Miss Corjine Raulerson for the excellent program. Those present were Miss Thusa Tarbell, Elizabeth Stone, Abbie Doudney, Callace Grant, Lois Grant, Kate Flynt, Corinne Raulerson, Edna Geiger, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. C. W. Culpepper and Messrs. Paul Dooley, Ralph Geiger, Orma Dewhurst, C. W. Culpepper and Messrs. Paul Dooley, William Kilbee, Payne Daniels and Edwin Raulerson.

NEW DIRECTORY FOR THE COUNTY OF SEMINOLE

SUCH A WORK IS NEEDED AND IT WILL BE PRINTED BY THE HERALD PRINTING COMPANY

Sanford is in need of a good city directory and knowing this need the Sanford Herald will arrange, compile and print a new city directory and have it ready by the first of May. We have a corps of assistants who will make an accurate and thorough survey of the city and county and the directory when finished will be a complete compendium of the city and county, not only containing the names of every one living in the city and county but will also give other valuable information.

The new directory will be the source of information that a real directory should be and the stranger in Sanford or in any other part of the county can pick up the directory and find out just who is who and where they live.

This work will not be possible unless the business men of the county want it and after a canvass the advertising will be counted up and the directory made, providing enough advertising can be obtained to pay for the printing. In the years gone by the directory business has been operated for profit but the new directory will be printed because the Herald recognizes the vital need of a reliable directory and all that this firm wants is sufficient advertising to pay for the cost of compilation and printing.

If the directory suits the people and is all that they desire it will be printed every two years which is as long as any city should exist with an old directory. Sanford and Seminole county is changing so rapidly that a new directory is really needed every year.

A Country Editor's View

The Herald operates a job printing department in connection with the paper, and an inspection of the books will show that the job department supports the paper. In other words the paper is not self supporting and could not exist upon its present income were it not for the job department. In view of this fact, and the fact that the Herald is always boosting for the upbuilding of the town and county, you can imagine our feelings when some one comes in with a lug write up of some insignificant social affair or some entertainment for individual profit and we find the said copy written upon stationery printed out of town, or at other times when we are asked to bid against some print shop in another town on a piece of small work and at the same time furnished with enough copy to fill a column and a half of the Herald. Sometimes "patience ceases to be a virtue and becomes a burden."—Perry Herald.

On the European Plan

The Sanford House will re-open on April first on the European plan and the management expects to make some changes in the building looking toward the betterment of the same. Announcements will be made later, after the plans are perfected.

Have Returned Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly, A. Dornier, Mrs. George Hoy and Miss Laura Fish have returned home from Miami, where they spent several days enjoying the sights of the Magic City and attending the many functions of the Florida Press Association.

Church of the Holy Cross

Services in Church of the Holy Cross will be as follows: Monday, Tuesday and Saturday, 4:00 p. m. Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. Maundy Thursday, 6:30 a. m., 4:00 p. m. On Good Friday there will be service at 11:30 a. m. and at 12 m. will begin the three hour service commemorative of the Savior's agony on the cross. Evening service at 7:30 p. m. It is always a pleasure to have with us at any of these services our friends of other churches.

First Car Potatoes

The Hastings Herald says: The first of this season's crop of potatoes to be placed on the market in this section was dug yesterday and will go forward today (Friday.) The growers who are making this early start are Epps & Padgett, who planted a ten acre field in potatoes several days before Christmas 1914, and it is the products of that field that is receiving this early attention.

The first car is consigned to John Nix & Co., of New York, and the growers are expecting a fancy price for this car of goods.

Mr. Epps estimates the yield at about a forty barrel crop.

This shipment of potatoes is made fully one month in advance of the shipment of potatoes from any other crop in general.

"WHO IS WHO" ADS IN TODAY'S PAPER

CORRECT NAMES OF FIRMS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN ISSUE OF APRIL 6

Today is "Who's Who" day in Sanford. Twenty-nine leading advertisers will appear in masquerade on page 3. You have doubtless transacted business with all of them at different times, and you should be able to recognize them on the "Who's Who" page without seeing their name in any part of the advertisement. Be sure to read No. 1 and then you will want to read every one on the page.

In next Tuesday's issue the correct names of all the firms will be published opposite the number corresponding to the advertisements as they appear in this issue, so if you make any mistake in any of your answers you will be set right next Tuesday.

For the interest you show in reading the page the following prizes will be awarded:

A prize of $5.00 in gold will be awarded to the contestant making the greatest number of correct answers to the entire page.

A second prize of a yearly subscription to The Herald will be awarded to the contestant making the second greatest number of correct answers to the entire page.

You must accompany your answers by a composition of not more than fifty words, telling which of all the firms in Sanford is your favorite and why. These letters will later be published in the paper with your permission and that of the advertiser.

The following rules must be observed in making your answers:

1. You must make an answer to every ad on the page, setting forth the name of the firm you think is represented opposite the number of each. The ads. will be numbered for your convenience.

2. All answers must be addressed to the "Who is Who" editor of The Herald.

3. Each list of answers must be accompanied by a composition of not more than fifty words telling which is your favorite firm and why.

4. The correct name of each firm (that is the name under which each firm does business and which appears on their bill heads, letter heads, etc.) must be written opposite the number of each.

5. No reader's list of answers will be considered unless an answer is made to every ad on the page.

All answers must be on the editor's desk not later than Monday, April 5th.

New Ice Cream Parlor

G. Nickolopoulos will open an ice cream parlor in the store next to the Peoples Bank and expects to have the place fitted up within the next week ready for business. He will carry a line of candies and cigars and expects to do a thriving business.

W. O. W. Attention

W. O. W., Attention! There will be a special meeting Wednesday evening, March 31 to act on a large number of applications. All members are requested to be present. F. L. Miller, Clerk.

On the Stork Express

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wallace on Celery avenue, twins.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Robson on Sanford Heights, a fine baby girl.

CONDITIONS ARE BETTER IN THE STOCK MARKET

FINANCIERS THINK THAT A REACTION FROM THE WAR SCARE IS NOW TAKING PLACE

New York, Mar. 29.—Redundant money and more hopeful views in regard to the war are working out their inevitable influence upon financial sentiment. Sharp advances occurred this week in a number of leading industrial concerns benefiting from war contracts and a few of the leading railroad shares. Some recessions followed, owing to the disposition to take handsome profits; but aside from this development there is an unquestionable change for the better in the financial undertone.

The prime cause of this betterment is the remarkable monetary outlook of the United States. Four influences are at work promoting ease in the credit situation. These are (1) a return of currency from the interior, (2) continued gold imports, (3) the lessened requirements of business, and (4) the great expansion of lending power among the banks resulting from the new federal reserve system. A week ago the clearing house bank reserves in this city had reached almost $140,000,000 and this in spite of a big expansion in loans, which now stand at $2,377,000,000 against $2,079,000,000 a year ago. As this heavy expansion of $300,000,000 in loans is certainly not due to commercial reasons, it must be credited to important financial operations in which those of an international character play an important part. This is another illustration of the dominating effect of the war upon this market.

Our foreign trade is still exceedingly abnormal. Our imports are very light, while current exports are heavy; the net result being a phenomenal excess of exports, which is being settled partly by return of securities; partly by gold imports, which have amounted to $40,000,000 on this movement, and partly by the granting of liberal credits on foreign account.

This upheaval in our foreign trade relations promises to continue for some months to come, or at least until the end of the war is clearly in sight. The foreign exchange situation is also remarkable because of the conditions just referred to; the quotations for sterling being about 5 cents in the pound below the gold importing point. More gold will doubtless follow. We have already taken back two-thirds of the amount we sent to Canada last year. This country already holds an excessive supply of gold, estimated at over $1,800,000,000.

Such a sum is vastly beyond our requirements, and has much to do with the current low interest rates, which if maintained will bring on a period of active inflation.

Preachers in Palm Beach Suits

At the regular weekly meeting of the Pastors' Conference, composed of the pastors of the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian churches it was decided that Palm Beach suits should be worn during the summer months in the pulpit. These men are human and have shown that they have their own personal comfort at heart as well as the spiritual welfare of their constituency. These pastors have the idea that they are a part of the people and that the long coat is not necessary in order for them to be preachers. You can see a smile on their faces now because simply with the resolution passed they are beginning to feel comfortable.

Welfare Meeting Womens Club

Members of the Welfare Department are reminded of the meeting at the club rooms Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be a joint meeting with the Junior Civic League and will be on "Birds." Members are requested to respond to the roll call with a quotation on birds or the name of a Florida bird. The program will consist of a fine paper on birds written by Prof. Nehrling of Gotha, several vocal and instrumental numbers and probably recitations. A cordial invitation is extended to all club members to be present.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

A RESUME GIVEN EACH WEEK OF THE SUNDAY SERMONS

ELMER E. ROGERS, Reporter

Sunday, March 21, 1915.
Church visited: The Methodist.
Pastor, Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer.
Morning text: "Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued (supplied) with power from on high."

The Bible student, yea even the casual reader of the New Testament will recall that Jesus showed Himself three times to certain of His disciples after he was risen from the dead, and that upon the third and last appearance to any one on earth He led His disciples from His last place of appearance to Bethany, and having blessed them and assured them of the promise of His Father he enjoined them to go to Jerusalem to begin instructing the inhabitants thereof concerning the gospel.

Jerusalem was the principal city of Israel, and being a city whose people were saturated with much iniquity; leavened with the false teaching of the Scribes; Pharisees and hypocrites, blind leaders of the blind, Jesus realized that only those who were PREPARED to do His bidding could accomplish the great and glorious task of bringing forth His Father's kingdom on earth. Jesus therefore requested His disciples to tarry (to wait) until, through a prayerful period of PREPARATION they might become endued (filled or supplied) with the Holy Spirit. Only in this way could they fully and effectively bear witness of God's grace and power among men to deliver them from their miseries and otherwise sorrowful plight.

It is to be observed that we may today gather from these painstaking instructions of Jesus to His disciples that the Christian religion is in the highest sense very practical, very capable of being DEMONSTRATED; that it IS as efficacious in the creation of good will among all classes of men and peoples on earth as it is to transport them unto God's heavenly kingdom. But to realize God's kingdom on earth as a firm foundation to realize His heavenly kingdom it is absolutely necessary to PREPARE.

This PREPARATION must be individually accomplished through fervent PRAYER.

One must feel and know through soul or spiritual understanding, God's promise, as well as have FAITH in God's DESIRE to reveal Himself to those who will but place themselves in spiritual touch with Him.

Heavenly guidance, as well as deliverance from sin and sorrow is as capable of demonstrative proof to each individual for himself as a problem in Euclid or as a problem in long division. But to prove a problem, even in long division one must know something of the principles of simple arithmetic. He must know something of addition, subtraction and multiplication, and before one can acquire knowledge of arithmetic he must first have a yearning, almost prayerful desire. So it is if one would bear witness to God's eternal truths, God's promise of good will to man, he must pray while he tarries (waits) to know, through joyous FEELING, God's bountiful blessings for him.

Since there is no other road to salvation (deliverance from sin and eternal darkness); since only joy and eternal gladness is promised through salvation; since joy and gladness is really the only thing sought by man, why should we not at once accept God's plan revealed to us in the gospel through Jesus Christ? It is plainly evident from testimony that is found in the history of nations as well as of individuals that we MUST embrace God's plan given to us or be lost, cast, as it were, into utter darkness.

We should accept God's plan ere our brain cells are forever rendered callous and insensible through indifference or through impure living, thus cutting off God's communication with our souls, the only eternal thing we possess.

There is certainly no objection to God's way to salvation. It is clean, it is wholesome, it is life sustaining, it is the only way to eternal uplift. If we repeat the Lord's prayer with meaning, with FEELING in our souls, we are asking for His kingdom, for it is something to be deeply cherished, yea it is the one thing, the ALL, for it is a perfect state of mankind with God on His throne and every one of His children in conscious oneness with His Father.

Let us not supinely tarry serving darkness passively or actively during the best part of our lives until we are driven spiritually blind, but let us accept Jesus, the Light of the World, the only practical promise in this world of sorrow, distress, iniquity.

Accept Him, and you will find, to your satisfied surprise that there is as much social joy, as much genuine happiness in His church as there is in the world, and without a "dark brown taste either in your mouth or in your soul the morning after."

But Christ Jesus, through the Gospel does not make an appeal alone to the person who has experienced the "dark brown taste the morning after." He makes his appeal to the deist, the infidel, the indifferent one or the agnostic, and it is written that he has less patience (though of infinite patience) with agnostic (the don't knower) and the indifferent person than He has for either the infidel or the deist. For while maintaining that God is the most knowable the agnostic and the indifferent one make no prayerful effort to master the "thought high ways" leading to a knowledge of God as found in the Gospel.

Dr. Steinmeyer gave a number of graphic word pictures illustrating and clinching the interpretation of his text.

His evening service was the first of a series on "The Christian in Modern Life." He took his text from 2nd Genesis, 20-24 and presented the historic value of the family as the unit in society.

The sanctity of marriage and the marriage relation was dwelt upon most effectively. Dr. Steinmeyer proved by past and current history that God's will as found in the Old Testament and emphasized by Christ Jesus (Matt. 5:27, 33) may not be defied without utter destruction not only to the immediate parties concerned but to the highest morals of the human race.

The family is the very UNIT of society, hence anything that destroys the unit destroys society.

We have but to look about us to be convinced that all that is vital; all that is sustaining to the human race is found in the PATTERN laid down by Christ Jesus, the precepts of whom if understood and demonstrated prove Him, beyond all doubt, the one "only" Savior of mankind.

It is especially urged that all those in and out of the Church who truly desire "to tarry in the city of Jerusalem" and become "endued with power from on high," all those who desire to personally test the efficacy of God's word, enter into prayer at the Cottage Prayer Meetings being held every night this week in all parts of the city. A program may be had by asking any Protestant pastor.

The topic for next Tuesday's issue will be "Monasticism," the sermon theme of Rev. Brownlee of the Presbyterian church Sunday, Mar. 28th, 1915.

Dr. Brownlee developed the narrative and philosophical history of monasticism and all persons whether church members or not should acquaint themselves with both the historic facts and the historic lesson to the human race as presented in this truly wonderful sermon.

To the Citizens of Sanford and Vicinity

For fully thirty five (35) years the L. & M. Semi-Mixed Real Paints have been extensively used throughout the United States and also in South America. They have therefore been subjected to the tests of every sort of climatic conditions—most successfully—thereby proving their extreme durability and superior value.

See our advertisement on other page, telling property owners how to make their own paint, and thereby save sixty cents a gallon on every gallon used.

Statement of Insurance

W. L. Thorndyke of the Palm Beach Post is anxious to have the insurance companies of the state file their statements in the papers of each county and submitted the following to the State Press Association members at their meeting in Miami: In the state of South Dakota in the year of '87 or '88 the Press Association of the state formulated and had enacted by the legislature a bill regarding the annual publication of statements by all insurance companies doing business in the state.

I recently sent to the insurance commissioner for a certified copy of the law—and here it is. I make the suggestion that this association carefully consider the matter of urging the coming legislature to enact a like law. The carrying out of the stipulations of the law not only keeps the public posted as to the condition of the companies, but it resolves into a way whereby a small percent of the money grabbed by the companies may be returned to the state—without going through the cumbersome method of setting a fire.

Every insurance company doing business in this state must transmit to the commissioner of insurance a statement of its condition and business for the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December, which shall be rendered on the first day of January in each year, or within two months thereafter, except that foreign insurance companies shall transmit their statements of business, other than that taken in the United States prior to the following first day of May. The commissioner of insurance shall cause a summary, condensed from the annual statement of each company, to be published at least three times, at the expense of the company, at legal rates, in a legal newspaper, print and published in each judicial circuit of the state in which the insurance company shall have policies issued. Condensed statements for publication shall be made out on blanks furnished by the commissioner of insurance which shall be uniform in the information sought to be conveyed to the public, which shall, when set in nonpareil type, together with the annual certificate of authority of the company, constitute a printed statement uniformly of ten inches in length. The printers' affidavit of the fact, in duplicate, shall be filed with the commissioner of insurance in all cases, which affidavit shall state said insurance company has paid such newspaper the authorized rate for publishing legal notices, and that the full amount named inures to the sole benefit of the publisher or publishers thereof, and that no agreement or understanding for the division thereof has been made with any person, and that no part thereof has been agreed to be paid to any person whatsoever, and every affidavit of publication shall state in plain terms that the full amount authorized has been charged and collected for such publication.

It shall be the duty of the commissioner of insurance to cause the publication of such statements to be made within sixty days from the end of the limit of time by law provided to the companies for filing such annual statements and he shall, thereafter, provide for publication of the annual statements in such judicial circuits as shall be occupied by the appointment of an agent after the first statements shall have been assigned: Provided, that the commissioner of insurance shall supply at least one such statement to each legal newspaper published in each judicial circuit, if there are a sufficient number of such statements to be published to so supply each newspaper, and no newspaper shall receive a second statement for publication until each newspaper (legal) in each circuit has been furnished at least one such statement for publication. If there are sufficient statements to supply all newspapers in one year, then the statements for the succeeding year shall be first supplied to those newspapers not supplied the previous year, and they shall be supplied in each succeeding year. The publisher of any legal newspaper in the state of South Dakota who desires his publication to be recognized in the distribution of annual statements, shall each year, on or before the first day of April, furnish to the commissioner of insurance an affidavit that the newspaper he seeks to have recognized is a legal newspaper. Nothing in this act which relates to the publication of statements shall apply to any fraternal or benevolent life association transaction business in the state of South Dakota, or to any mutual insurance company or association organized under the laws of this state.

When, then, an officer of either branch of the service, who has received free of cost to himself a splendid education to fit himself for special duties who has a position assured for life or during good behavior and is retired on ample pension at an age when men in civil life are still fighting for their daily bread, refuses to receive this treatment for the reason that he considers it an invasion of personal liberty, and when he regards the welfare and discipline of his fellow soldiers of less importance than his real or fancied personal liberty, there is strong suspicion that the service is well rid of a man unfitted to be a good soldier.

In a wider sense and beyond the limits of military or naval service, responsibility is imposed by position, by education, by superior opportunity. The grand principle, Noblesse Oblige, the idea of personal responsibility conferred by personal advantage are opposed to personal selfishness and disregard of others.

No man can live unto himself and escape the consequences, and they are as sure as death and taxes.

In the matter of health and sanitation there is a responsibility resting upon the intelligent people of Florida, which is neglected mainly because those upon whom it rests do not realize it. With the unmatched conditions that conserve health and low sick and death rates, Florida is not prominent in these respects. Nature has done everything she could. Man through his neglect or ignorance is depriving the state of many of its natural advantages.

How?

By refusing or neglecting to adopt precautions that ward off preventable diseases, by permitting insanitary surroundings, by neglecting to screen dwellings, earth closets and foods, by refusing vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever, in short by failing or refusing to follow the simple instructions of medical science that have been demonstrative as effective in a thousand or a million instances.

If ever Florida shall reach the acme of its possible perfection, it will be because the leaders lead the way.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

By STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Personal liberty versus personal responsibility!

Recent news dispatches tell that an officer in the United States navy has resigned his position rather than submit to required vaccination against typhoid fever. He regarded the requirement as an infringement on his personal rights.

That's his side of it. There's another side. The War Department insists that every man in the United States army shall be thus protected against the disease. The result has been that in 1913 only a few mild cases occurred in the army, and not a single death from the disease. The experience of the Department in the past has been that typhoid fever is one of the worst enemies that an army encounters in active warfare, and this was proved notably in the Spanish-American war in 1898. The United States navy has adopted the same treatment making it compulsory.

It would be unfair to require acceptance of the treatment by the private and to except the commissioned officer in either service. Every good soldier recognizes the fact that rank confers no right to exemption from discipline.

If this particular requirement involved personal inconvenience or even slight suffering, the principle would remain the same. On the contrary it is practically without inconvenience and it brings an immunity against a disease that has been, and without it, is, one of the problems most difficult of solution that army men everywhere have to meet. It is a treatment that is finding wide adoption in civil life, where it is accepted voluntarily because of its proved efficiency.

When, then, an officer of either branch of the service, who has received free of cost to himself a splendid education to fit himself for special duties who has a position assured for life or during good behavior and is retired on ample pension at an age when men in civil life are still fighting for their daily bread, refuses to receive this treatment for the reason that he considers it an invasion of personal liberty, and when he regards the welfare and discipline of his fellow soldiers of less importance than his real or fancied personal liberty, there is strong suspicion that the service is well rid of a man unfitted to be a good soldier.

In a wider sense and beyond the limits of military or naval service, responsibility is imposed by position, by education, by superior opportunity. The grand principle, Noblesse Oblige, the idea of personal responsibility conferred by personal advantage are opposed to personal selfishness and disregard of others.

No man can live unto himself and escape the consequences, and they are as sure as death and taxes.

BABY ELEPHANT SHED TEARS

"Cried and Took On Something Terrible" Throughout Sea Trip, Says Keeper.

Alfred Austyn arrived in this port yesterday from his home city, London, England, because some blighter had stopped him on the dock in London and awaked him to look after a bloomin' baby elephant which had quarters in the hold of the liner Minnewaska.

Austyn told ship news reporters yesterday when the Minnewaska docked that 'e couldn't leave the blawsted brute a moment on the trip or 'e would begin moanin' fit to die. 'E said that every time 'e did leave it the beast cried and took on something terrible.

Last Sunday, 'e continued, 'e thought the divine service on board might restore 'is peace of mind, so he went to the services, leavin' the little elephant taking a nap and lookin' sweet enough to kiss.

But as soon as Austyn got to divine worship there was a terrible moanin' from the hold, which got so loud that officers of the boat awaked him to please get back down to that blighted beast and stay with 'im till the voyage ended.

Austyn went down to the elephant and found 'im weepin' real tears. 'E was feelin' sorry for the poor little animal, when it sucked up a trunk of water from a bucket and blew it in 'is face. 'E was glad then it was only a baby elephant.

"And that's all 'e's been doin' all the way over," said Austyn yesterday. "When 'e wasn't moanin' 'e was throwin' water all over me and everything else, and if I should leave 'im a minute 'e would scream fit to kill. The officers said I didn't appreciate 'is love for me. I don't even know who 'e's goin' to or what 'is name is and I don't care, if 'e will only find someone else to fall in love with. I think 'e was taken away from his mother, too soon, don't you?"—New York World.

Testing English French. Numerous opportunities for the testing of British-spoken French occur nowadays, writes a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, and I have no doubt very simple things will often prove a stumbling block. I remember an experience of my own. It happened at Rouen during a little tour in France with a couple of friends. I managed to act as interpreter for the party and got on very well until, as I paid the bill at a Rouen hotel, the lady who took the money observed "Fay boo-tong." I smiled sadly. She with an even sadder smile repeated the observation. She gave a receipt, so it could not have been anything of financial importance, but I looked up "bouton," and found that it meant in addition to "button" such other things as "bud" and even "pimple."

Neither word could have been what she meant, of that I was sure; but not until four hours later, as our train approached Paris, did it dawn upon me that the lady had simply been saying it was a fine day—"Fait beau temps." But she really said, "Boo," not "Bo," and that was the cause of the trouble.

Defined as "Burglary." The supreme court of Washington

In State vs. Corcoran holds that a clerk in a store who enters with a key furnished by his employer and takes away goods is guilty of burglary and larceny, since his act of entering under such circumstances constitutes a "breaking." The court said: "If the appellant had the right to enter the store by the use of his key at any time in the day or night, that is, had an unrestricted and unlimited right of entrance, he could not be guilty of the crime of burglary, even though he carried away the goods from the store. In such event the crime would be larceny, and not burglary. But if his right to enter was limited to the usual hours of employment, and after hours of employment he used the key for the purpose of entering the store with intent unlawfully to take articles therefrom, he was clearly guilty of burglary."

Sound to Be Popular. "Doppel has invented an automobile horn that is going to make him immensely rich." "What sort of sound does it make?" "A perfect imitation of a panther's scream."

If surface indications mean anything the election of Forrest Lake of this city as speaker of the next house of representatives is assured.

Sanford was honored in Palatka last week by the election of Forrest Lake as vice president of the State Bankers Association.

When you leave Sanford and see the many good hotels that are in Florida you want to kick and kick hard for the erection of a suitable hotel in this city.

Chris. O. Codrington, editor of the DeLand News is the new president of the Florida Press Association and the Herald congratulates him upon obtaining this high office.

SANFORD WAS THERE

Sanford was again placed on the map in the convention of the Florida Press Association at Miami last week.

OSCAR CONKLIN

Every member of the Florida Press Association who attended the meeting at Miami feels that much of the success of the meeting was due to Oscar Conklin, that indefatigable worker who was on the job early and late and who is the life of every meeting of the press gang.

THE LIQUOR JOKE

Grace A. Townsend, of Interlachen who has furnished the newspapers of the state for years with a weekly letter on Christian Endeavor topics has written to many papers of the state, including the Sun, pleading with the press not to jest of jibe on the liquor question.

Age, and the mother-in-law is just as sweet and necessary as she ever was. He has paraphrased the weather and climate long before the freeze of 1895, and ever since, and the weather goes on as if the newspaper man was not in existence.

So it is all down the line? And having had our say allow us just one more paragraph: "Is there anything personal in the fact that the county solicitor of Dade county has caused the Elks Club of Miami to close its bar commencing this week, when the Florida Press Association meets there in annual session?"—Clearwater Sun.

OUR CONGRESSMAN

Hon. W. J. Sears, Congressman of the Fourth District was an honored guest of the Florida Press Association at the meeting in Miami last week and responded to the toast, "What's What" at the banquet at the Royal Palm hotel on Saturday night.

High honors have not turned our congressman's head and to his many friends he is still Joe Sears and when he returns to his duties at Washington he will be Joe Sears to the people of Florida when they meet him at the nation's capital.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

People who receive the Congressional Record probably have the impression that recent issues of the same have been much bulkier than usual.

This is the conventional rigmarole. An obscure member from an unknown district rises, with tremblings in his heart, to deliver a speech that shall make the stock markets tremble.

There is a real need for an account of the things really said in Congress. The newspapers probably underestimate the number of people who would like a better account of the give and take of that body.

If the Record could be cut down to the limits of an actual report, and extracts from books, newspapers and political platforms cut out, it would not cost so much to distribute it.

Florida Audubon Society

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Florida Audubon Society was held at "Hawatha," the winter residence of Mr. A. L. Dommerich of New York, at Maitland on Thursday, March 11th.

The president of the society, Dr. W. F. Blackman, president of Rollins College called the meeting to order at 3:00 p. m., and made a brief address with reference to the present condition of the cause of bird protection in this and other states.

An original bird story, "A Tragedy in the Adiron dacks," was read by Mrs. Minnie Moore Wilson. A very interesting letter read by Mrs. Calude B. Douglass of the Seminole Ranch near Fort Myers was read asking advice as to what ought to be done by a lover of birds with the droves of quail, cardinals, bluebirds, meadowlarks, killdeer, robins, doves, pigeons, yellowthroats, blackbirds, crows and other species which infest newly plowed fields, and injure the crops, and this problem was discussed to some extent.

A statement of the president was made in regard to a bill which it is proposed to interduce into the next legislature, removing legal protection from the turkey buzzard and the black vulture, and offering a bounty for their destruction on the ground that these birds spread hog cholera, and sometimes injure or kill young lambs and pigs, besides contaminating cisterns and streams.

The proposed bill was discussed to some extent by those present, and letters concerning it were read from Mrs. Katherine Tippett's of St. Petersburg, and Mr. Oscar E. Baynard of Clearwater, after which it was unanimously voted "That the Florida Audubon Society put on record its opposition to the removal by the Florida legislature of legal protection from turkey buzzards and black vultures and its emphatic opposition to a bounty being offered for their destruction."

The blushing statesman is allowed to pronounce a few sentences of his speech on the understanding that all the rest is to be printed in the Congressional Record. Innocent people imagine those lofty words of burning eloquence were delivered in the hushed assemblage of the nation's solons.

Mrs. L. P. Bronson of Maitland, who has acted for many years as treasurer of the society asked to be relieved from this office on account of ill health; the president paid a warm and deserved tribute to Mrs. Bronson's faithful and intelligent and helpful service.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, William F. Blackman, Winter Park; secretary, Mrs. I. Vanderpool, Maitland; treasurer, C. D. Powell, Winter Park.

Natural Ice Mine. In the Alleghenies, just beyond Condersport, Pa., there is a cave a few feet below the surface which is a natural ice mine, the ceiling walls and floor being covered with ice perpetually. Curiously, during summer the ice is thicker than in winter. The origin of this ice mine is mystery to scientists.

Germany's Flower City. Erfurt is appropriately called the "Blumenstadt" or Flower City, of Germany. Almost three per cent of the population is engaged in commercial horticulture. While vegetables and flowers for sale are grown on a large scale, of much vaster proportions is the business in flower and vegetable seed. The largest Erfurt seed firms ship to almost all parts of the civilized world, the United States importing large quantities of Erfurt horticultural products.

Really Hard Thing to Do. It is no great matter to associate with the good and gentle, for this is naturally pleasing to all, and even one willingly enjoyeth peace and loveth those best that agree with him. But to be able to live peaceably with hard and perverse persons, or with the disorderly, or with such as are contrary to us, is a great grace and a most commendable and manly thing.—Thomas a Kempis.

Ups and Downs. This life is composed of ups and downs; I might give myself as an example. Of course, I prefer to win, but if not I won't be dissatisfied. I have had my share of successes and reverses; successes I have endeavored to meet without elation, reverses without depression, and whenever I have fallen it has been my motto, and I think it has been a good one, to try again the following day.—Sir Wfrid Laurier.

Optimistic Thought. Sometimes when we ask advice we mean approbation.

First Bank Notes. The Chinese were the first people to issue bank notes. This started in this business 27 centuries before the birth of Christ. One of these bank notes may still be seen in the Vostok museum, Petrograd. It is printed in blue, on white paper made from mulberry tree fiber. Round the margin is a motto which rather indicates that the first Chinese banker was of Scotch origin. It reads: "However much you may possess, strive to be thrifty."

Satisfying One's Conscience. Never pass by or palter with the clear voice of conscience, with the plain command of duty, for let it be doubtful to your own mind whether you belong to the right or wrong, whether you are a true soldier or a false traitor. Never deliberate about what is clearly wrong, and try to persuade yourself that it is not.—Frederick Temple.

Afternoon Tea

Mrs. A. E. Hill entertained yesterday with a charming little afternoon tea in honor of Mrs. Chadderdon of Bridgeport, Conn., and Mrs. and Miss Cooley of Paola. Other guests were Mrs. W. W. Long, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Eldridge.

Informal Sewing Party

Mrs. R. C. Bowers was the charming hostess at a delightful little sewing party Monday afternoon, complimentary to her house guest, Miss Jeanne Butler. A dainty salad course was served and a pleasant time enjoyed by those present. Mrs. Bowers' guests were Miss Butler, Mesdames W. E. Watson, W. L. Morgan, R. A. Carse, Braxton Perkins, R. R. Deas, Geo. Bishop, Harry Ward and Miss Laura Fish.

Class Meeting

A very delightful meeting of the Daughters of Wesley was held with Mrs. L. R. Phillips as hostess last week. Shakespearean fortunes told by Mrs. L. R. Phillips was one of the enjoyable pleasures of the evening and a "Tree Contest" in which all guessers were given ten minutes only to answer each question was most amusing. Miss Elizabeth Musson won the first prize, an orange wood paper knife and Miss Katherine Searing won the hooby an Easter rabbit. Cake and ice cream was served. Enjoying the charming hospitality of Miss Farnsworth were Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Mrs. L. R. Phillips, Mrs. T. D. Hayes, Misses Kathleen Steinmayer, Lola Evans, Nell Evans, Katherine Searing, Bessie Rayton, Eleanor Roberts, Nita Moore, Elizabeth Musson and Bessie Zachary.

Wedding Announcement

The following announcement received by many in Sanford will be of interest to the many friends of the contracting parties:

Mrs. John Sauls requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her goddaughter, Miss Sue Alberta Sister to Mr. Ralph John Bodine Sauls on Thursday morning, April the eighth, at ten o'clock All Saints' Church, Enterprise, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Woodruff, who with their son, Charles H. left Sanford a fortnight since on a motoring trip to the Beaches, St. Augustine and elsewhere will enjoy Easter music and festivities with friends in Jacksonville. Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will be at home again a week or so hence, Charles H. returning northward.

Book Lovers Club

Mrs. E. D. Browner entertained the members of the Book Lovers Club Friday afternoon with an Easter egg hunt that was greatly enjoyed by those present. The innovation was one of those pleasant surprises that sometimes peep out from the ordinary, everyday course in life and while suggestive of one of the most prosaic duties of the housewife nevertheless furnished a delightful hour of amusement and merriment. Darning eggs had been hidden in various places about the house, useful little favors that when found bore the inscription, "A stitch in time saves nine." Following this was the "eggstravaganza" contest. Each guest was given an egg shaped card, on which the answers to the egg questions were to be written. The answers were illustrated in the first "What is the chief requirement necessary to answer these questions? Egg-sagittude," etc., etc. It was very funny and altogether amusing.

The idea was further suggested in the refreshments which were chicken salad, devilled eggs, banquet wafers, olives, white cake and strawberries with whipped cream.

Mrs. Browner's guests were Mesdames Geo. Fox, R. E. Tolar, E. N. Luke, W. W. Abernathy, Fred Williams, J. C. Bennett, Henry McLaulin, Harry Ward, Wallace and Mrs. Wingate of Jacksonville.

Sew-Sew Club

The members of the Sew-Sew Club enjoyed a happy afternoon as guests of Mrs. C. H. Dinger Thursday afternoon. This is one of the merriest, gayest clubs in the city, the members always enjoying the afternoons spent in such congenial company. Delicious chicken salad, hot rolls and coffee were served by the gracious hostess. Those present were Mesdames Wm. McKinnon, C. E. Henry, R. L. Peck, Henry McLaulin, O. L. Taylor, Frank Woodruff, B. A. Howard, J. S. Wilson and Miss Devlin, members of the club. Other guests were Mrs. W. M. Haynes, A. K. Powers, J. Davis Hart, S. Symes-Wallace and Mrs. Weidert, the house guest of Mrs. Henry. The club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Henry McLaulin.

Personal Mention

Running a Government

Politics occupy a position subordinate to business, and engages on the whole, a lower order of ability and character than business does. Go into any community you like and you will seldom find men of the best ability and character much engaged in politics. The congressman will very likely be lawyer but hardly ever the leading lawyer of the district—sometimes one who is a suitor to the leading lawyer for advice and influence. If it is a city, probably the delegation in the state legislature will consist mostly of persons whose individual weight in the community is small—a decidedly third-chop sort, who sit in the ante-rooms of those who really count.

There is, of course, a United States senator; but if each state, without the entanglement of partisan machinery, were to choose two citizens of the highest ability and character for a national parthoon, in how many cases would the choice fall on a senator?

If any big trade from banking to wholesaling to use the alphabetical arranging of the census—should send four hundred delegates to an important national conference, and the delegates were bailed into a composite individual, we should expect him to be a soldier person in ability and character than the composite congressman—one whose opinion on any personal matter a good judge of human nature would sooner take.

one in whom a good judge would sooner repose a personal trust. It is unquestionable that politics is still a word of suspicion and disrespect among the people.

One trouble is the multiplicity of elective offices. We believe the short ballot idea will raise the tone of politics. Another trouble is the constant subjection of government to party spoilsmanship, which makes of many public offices a mere tail to some politician's kite, and prevents public business from offering the same opportunities to ability and character that private business does. —Saturday Evening Post.

The Romanoffs

The founder of the Russian royal house, known as the "Romanoffs," was Michael Feodorovitch, who was elected czar in 1613 at the age of sixteen. It is claimed that Michael, the founder of the strong, autocratic rule in Russia, was forced by the duma that elected him to take a constitutional oath—a formula that was but lightly regarded.

Certainly Suggestive

Perhaps the old fellow who first pointed out that a man's home is his castle has in mind the way it is almost constantly beleaguered by persons wishing to sell you brooms, potatoes and other commodities that you don't want any more of than you already have. Columbus (Ohio) Journal

She Was a Voter

Visiting New York friends is an Illinois girl, young and sweet and pretty. One evening she was out with a party of young men, and after the theater someone suggested that they go to a rather lively restaurant and dance awhile. The others objected on the ground that it might not be the proper place for a young and unsophisticated girl like Miss Blank.

"Oh," she said with quite an air, "you needn't bother about my youth or my unsophistication. I am twenty-one years of age and I voted at the November election."

No other woman in the party had a record like that and the Illinois girl was taken along without further question.

Start Fishing for Cats

There have been so many cat operas and back fence serenades at Atlantic City of late that peaceful slumber is next to impossible.

The city fathers have decided in consequence to war on toms and tabbies, and fish peddlers have been ordered to the front. These peddlers will go about the streets wailing "Fresh feesh; fresh feesh," and the cats are expected to appear, leap on the peddler carts and have nets thrown over them.

The cat catchers will get 50 cents for every tom and tabby brought to the pound.

BOWLBY'S RETURN
An Easter Lily Story
By LESLIE G. SHANNON

He stood on the outskirts of a crowd surrounding a group of Salvation Army people. No one paid the slightest heed to this man with the livid face and ashamed eyes. Everyone was craning his neck to gaze at the girl in the blue poke bonnet, who had just begun to sing in a wonderful contralto voice:

I've found a friend in Jesus;
He's everything to me.
He's the Father of the poor, and to my soul,
The Lily of the Valley.
In Him alone I see
All I need to cleanse and make me fully whole.

The martial swing of the music blew up like a tide. It may be that the measured rhythm upon the stones of the street with their feet. The hymn was plainly a favorite.

The man with the haggard, blanched face and the eyes that avoided other eyes felt something roll down his cheek. He put up his hand and to his great surpriso brushed away a tear.
He immediately walked away, wondering at himself. He had not wept in years.

He walked aimlessly on, coming at last to a public square where benches were placed. Here he sat down.

Next day, he went up and down the sordid streets looking for work. There was none for him. By some mysterious power, everyone to whom he applied was aware that he had just come from prison. He had often heard his fellow convicts talk of the "hounding of the police." He realized that he was now experiencing that ordeal.
He grew more and more bitter as he met each fresh rebuff. "It's just as they told me," he said savagely to himself, "no place in the world for a jailed."

As day by day went by without any prospect of better fortunes, his seared heart grew like granite. He came to hate everything and everybody; to realize in the depths of his soul that he was not only an outcast, but an Ishmaelite, his hand against every man. He began to wonder how soon it would be before he would go back to prison; who had worked next his desk in the bank; who knew where the money went. There had been hours in his cell when he had said coldly to himself, "When I get out--"

The sinister thought began now to haunt him again. If he was to go back, he said, it might as well be for murder as for anything else, better,

Here He Sat and Thought.

perhaps; for his misery would be the sooner over.

So he began now to look in crowds for a face. He had watched the bank and discovered that the other man was no longer there. He said to himself that when he found the face he would follow it. It should not hide from him. He laughed grimly at the idea. There were no walls thick enough, no doors strong enough, to keep him from his enemy when once he had found him.

It was the end of Holy week, and the florists' windows were a glory.
Roses, Annunciation lilies, violets, jonquills—a mass of beauty and perfume tempted the eyes of all passers-by.

Even the man—the Ishmaelite, the jailed—paused and looked in at the banks of bloom in the window of a shop. His somber eyes roamed over the flaming tulips, the stately roses, and rested on a cluster of tiny white flowers, modestly hiding under their waxen leaves. Yes, there they were—his mother's flowers—the flowers his young wife had loved.

"O-o-oh!" sighed a childish voice by him.
Bowlby, the jailed, looked down. A little slip of a girl stood there looking in the window at the elaborate floral display. She was a tiny little girl, although her clothing was worn and thin. She had solemn eyes and a quaintly demure air. One poor, scrawny little finger was pointing at the flowers. "That's mine," she was murmuring, "an' that's mine," the finger shifted, "an' that—oh! an' that!" She drew a long breath as if the cup of her joy was overflowing and pressed her solemn little face closer to the window.

The man looked sharply at her. He found himself smiling at her enthusiasm. Then he thought differently about it and scowled. But still he lingered watching the child. Something about her went to his lonely, seared heart. At last he spoke. "So you own them all, do you, little girl?"
he asked, and was amazed at the sound of his own voice.

The child looked up. "I was just making believe," she said shyly.

"Would you like to own them all?"
he asked, still wondering why he should speak to anyone.

"I love flowers," she hesitated.

"Tell me," said the man, "if you had to choose, which would you take?"

She looked earnestly in the window again, and once more the little clawlike finger came into play. It wandered meditatively from flower to flow-

"I Didn't Treat You Square."

er, until it paused at the lilies of the valley. "I'd choose them," she said.

The man gave a little start. "Why?"
he questioned, not unkindly.

"Oh," said the child, "because they are such weeny little things—fairly flowers, I think; but," she added, primly and with a strangely old air,
"flowers do not become me."

"Why not?"

"Because," replied the child, turning her eyes resolutely away from the window, "we are too poor."

The man slowly drew his hand out of the pocket of his rough frieze coat and glanced at the silver in his palm.
"You stay here a minute, little girl," he said.

He went into the florist's. "How much for a bunch of lilies of the valley?" he asked the pert, buxom young woman behind the counter.

"Dollar a dozen during Easter," she replied.

Oh, Easter, that was it! He had forgotten there was such an institution.
"Well, do the best you can for 50 cents," he answered, laying the money on the counter.

When he came out with the lilies in his hand, his quaint little friend was still flattening her face against the window. "Here, child," he said,
"take these."

She did not speak at first, but her thin hands trembled with excitement as he bent to give the flowers to her.
She took them, and for a moment held them close against her face. "How good you are!" she said.

"Now, I'd better walk along with you," he said gently, "or some other thief may molest you."

They came to a tenement, before which the child paused. "This is where I live," she said. "Please, sir," she murmured timidly, "will you go up to our door with me? There is a dreadful boy on the floor below us, and I am afraid he might take my flowers."

Together they mounted the dark stairway. On the third floor there was a sudden rush and a whoop; but the man soon settled the "dreadful boy," who returned to his lair, nursing a sore head and burling with wrath.

As the two were mounting the last flight of stairs, the sound of a glorious voice was heard singing:

He'll never, never leave me,
Nor yet forsake me here;
He's the Lily of the Valley.

"It's Captain Grace!" the child cried joyously, "from the Salvation Army. She comes every week and tidies us up," she explained, "and she sings, oh, so beautifully!" She rushed through a half-open door, calling excitedly: "Papa, Captain Grace, look!"

The man caught a glimpse of a young woman in a blue gown, on her knees scrubbing the floor. Then he heard a man's voice say: "Back again, dear!" And at that voice the heart of the jailed trembled in its rockbewn tomb.

Never the walls so thick, never the doors so strong as to keep him from his enemy when once he had found him! Well, he had unwittingly trailed him. There he was, in there, none, with a helpless woman and child. Why did he hesitate?

"Where did you get your flowers?"
the voice went on.

"A man bought them for me," the child answered—"a kind man, who fetched me home. Come in!" she called, running back to the door, and seizing the jailed's hand—"come in and see my papa." She pulled him across the threshold. The two men looked at each other.

The jailed's first thought was,

Now let the heavens be joyful.
Let earth her song begin.
Let the round world keep triumph,
And all that is therein.
Invisible and visible,
Each does let all things bend,
For Christ the Lord hath risen,
Our joy that hath no end.

"You can't kill a dying man," for the man in the room, who sat bolted up in bed, and who looked at him with startled eyes, was manifestly ill.

"Why, Tom," he stammered. "So you're out?" Well, I'm mighty glad.
And you found my little girl? She's all I've got. Tom. My money, home, wife, health—all gone. I've only her left."

The Salvation Army girl had stopped scrubbing. She was still on her knees watching the two men. She had witnessed too many tragedies of the slums not to realize that she was face to face with a crisis. The visitor's silence was ominous. His heavy eyes were fixed intently on his enemy as a vision of all his suffering passed before him.

The sick man put out an imploring hand. "Tom," he pleaded, "I didn't treat you square. And I've had my pay. It was I who ruined you, who sent you up, and I perjured—"

The intensity of her father's speech, the pallor of his face, alarmed the child, who ran to him and throwing her arms about him, cried: "Papa, papa! Don't you look like that!"
The jailed looked at the trembling little creature clinging to her battered wreck of a father. And as she looked, suddenly the stone was rolled away from the sepulcher of his soul and an angel sat there.

Reaching out his hand he took that of the sick man. "It's all right, Bill!"
he said huskily. "Don't say another word—a smile transfigured his masklike face—"before the child."

"Glory to God!" cried the Salvation Army girl in an ecstasy. "He's got the victory!"

An hour later as he reached the street door Captain Grace was waiting for him. She touched him gently on the arm. "Come down to the barracks with me, brother," she said.
"The commander will be glad to see you."

As Ordinance Requiring the Grading and Paving of Magnolia Avenue with Vitriol Brick from the Intersection of Tenth Street to the Intersection of Tenth Street

Section 1. That Magnolia avenue shall be graded and paved with vitriol brick from the intersection of Seventh street to the intersection of Tenth street, and brick pavement to be a width of twenty-six feet, said paving to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, submitted to the city engineer by the contractor, and now on file in the office of the city clerk of Sanford, Florida, the paving of said street shall be begun within sixty days from and after the ordinance hereinabove provided for, and said ordinance shall become effective, that should any property owner, owning property abutting on said street to be paved as aforesaid, fail, within the time above provided to have said street in front of their respective property in accordance with the terms of this ordinance and with the plans and specifications therefor hereinafter prepared by the City Engineer, said work shall be done under and by direction of the city of Sanford, and the proprietor, owner, or contractor shall be assessed for the cost of the work which said paving shall be done, and the city shall have a lien therefor, enforceable in like manner as other liens.

Section 2. That upon the failure of any property owner to make the improvements hereinabove provided for, said work shall be done by the city of Sanford, or shall be let by a contract by the city of Sanford, to the lowest and most responsible bidder, in accordance with the plans and specifications with reference to said work, and two thirds of the cost of such grading, opening, curbing, paving, improving and repairing said street from the date of the completion of the work shall be a lien, superior to all other liens, except only liens for taxes, on the lots or property fronting or abutting upon the street hereinabove described on graded, opened, paved, curbed, improved or repaired, and the remaining one third of such cost shall be a lien, superior to all other liens, except only liens for taxes, on the lots or property fronting or abutting upon the street hereinabove described.

Section 3. The estimated cost of paving per square yard for the paving of the street aforesaid is $1.88 per square yard, and the estimated total cost of the paving of that portion of Magnolia avenue above described is $5788.80, and the estimated cost to lot owners per foot front on Magnolia avenue is $2.43; the said estimate, with the plans and specifications therefor, shall be on file in the office of the city clerk of Sanford, Florida and opened to public inspection during reasonable office hours, for the benefit of the public.

Section 4. The city engineer is hereby required, within ten days after the first publication of this ordinance, to prepare and file an estimate of the amount of the lien for such paving which the city will claim against each of the lots fronting or abutting upon the street to be so paved, which estimate shall be based upon the estimated cost of said work and upon the frontage of lots upon the street to be paved.

Section 5. Any person owning any interest in any of said property, abutting on that portion of Magnolia avenue above paved, as aforesaid, shall have the right at any time, within thirty days after the filing of said estimates, as aforesaid, with the city clerk of Sanford, Florida, to file a sworn petition to be presented to the city council, setting forth, that in the opinion of the petitioner, the estimated amount of such lien upon such lot is incorrect, showing wherein it is incorrect, or why it will exceed the special benefit accruing from the work and paving to be done in front of said lot.

Notice of Application for Tax Deed Under Section 573 of the General Statutes. Notice is hereby given that Carroll A. Mahoney, purchaser of Tax Certificate No. 2007, dated the 3rd day of June, A. D. 1912, has filed said certificate in my office and has made application for tax deed to issue in accordance with law. Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

It is time for progressive farmers, especially those with small places near town, to get ready for money making with fruits. These products properly belong in any thorough system of mixed farming, and they can be made to pay $200 to $400 an acre net.

Small fruit growing is peculiarly adapted to those having large families. Small fruits well planted in perfectly straight rows and kept well cultivated make a most pleasing picture as well as a profitable crop. A fruit garden connected with any home can be made an attractive object.

From a commercial standpoint for the beginner there is no crop that will roll back the corners of a mortgage quicker than the strawberry bed if enough be planted so that the whole family and the neighbors can be employed, especially in picking time. Fit the ground early in April the same as for corn. Mark one way as for corn; then set the plants about sixteen inches apart and cultivate as for corn and hoe whenever there is a sign of weeds or grassy soil. It takes about 7,000 plants per acre when set as directed. When the blossoms appear the first summer pluck them off. Do not try to secure fruit from the plants until the second season.

As cold weather comes on be ready to give the strawberry field a thorough mulching. If it is done too early the plants will be smothered and hurt. It is not applied altogether as a winter protection, for strawberries are deficient of cold. It is the mulch that equalizes alternate freezings and thawings which upheave the plants.

The material to use in covering the beds or rows of plants is anything in the way of coarse vegetation that is free from weed seeds. Clean straw and coarse grass are of this character, but there may be weeds in the straw or grass. Timothy hay is always from blossom because of the seed it contains and coarse manure that has any considerable proportion of timothy is objectionable on that account. Marsh grass or cattail flags are free from anything that is troublesome. The refuse from sorghum mills can be used with good results. It lies close to the ground and if not put on too thickly will serve the purpose of keeping the strawberry plants from feeling the violent changes of winter, retain the moisture in the soil and keep the berries clean the following summer. Corn stalks, pine needles, tanbark and cut topped hulls can be utilized in this way.

There is a growing market for goose berries and a bright future for all that will be raised. This fruit does best on a good sandy loam. Plants should be set six by eight feet, thus requiring 1,210 plants per acre. The first season potatoes, beans or any low growing crop may be planted between the rows. Give thorough but shallow cultivation. As to varieties, the Downing gives best satisfaction. Buy only extra good year old plants. Profits are fully as good and often better than with strawberries. They should bear some fruit the second year from planting.

Blackberries are profitable if rust does not attack the canes. There seems to be no cure for rust. Set the plants 4 by 6 and give deep culture. We prefer the Kittatiny, as they seem more hardy than others. Blackberries do best on a lightish and rather sandy soil. They must be planted in rows and kept well cultivated. The pruning of the blackberry is different from that of most other small fruits. If you cut back the canes severely you are likely to remove a large portion of the season's crop. But you can thin out the shoots where they are numerous and cut out the dead shoots.

Red and black raspberries should be set 6 by 6, which will require 1,210 plants per acre. These plants must have shallow culture, as their roots are all near the surface. Many fine plantations are almost ruined by deep culture. The crop is profitable when picked on time and neatly marketed. A grower can pay for his land in a single season with a good crop of berries. Currants are easy to grow and market. They pay at the rate of $300 to $500 an acre. The average price should be $3 per bushel, and 100 bushels to the acre is only a fair crop. Each currant bush ought to pay 25 to 50 cents above the cost of picking.

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"---SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

¶ Sometime ago I noted that a Sanford merchant would place his business upon a cash basis and hereafter nothing but the cash would go. The time is coming when all the merchants will do likewise and every other business will be cash down on delivery. When this is done all of us can take stock every night and find out just where we are in this life. The sooner the great American public gets on a cash basis the sooner the country will be upon a solid basis. George Fitch sizes up the situation as follows:

"Charge it" is the great slogan of the great American consumer.

Americans are great on peace, but they are also the most gallant chargers in the world. An American who cannot sleep for fear our standing in the world will have the country will rise early in the morning and charge meat, potatoes, shoes, gasoline automobile tires and diamond rings with an intrepidity which would cause unlimited awe in a Frenchman.

"Charge it" is the greatest substitute for money ever invented. It enables a man to spend his next month's salary with ease and safety, to ride in an automobile because he hasn't the ready cash to pay for street car fare and to cash his hopes of wealth into a large bale of "Balance Due" and "Please Remit" statements, renewed monthly.

"Charge it" is the modern Ala. Baba lamp. The worried citizen says "Charge it" and appears five minutes in joyful raiment, thus transferring the worry to the merchant. Armed with these two precious words an American citizen with a fairly good reputation can get down town with an empty pocket book and return home reeking with luxury.

It is now possible to buy food, houses, clothing, steam threshers, sealskin coats, corner lots, American beauty roses, baths, haircuts, operations, publicity, and balloons on account. It is also possible, though not always easy, to pay cash for shoes, coal, prunes, water, beefsteak and underwear. It is unusually easy to tell the difference between the man who says "Charge it" and the man who says "How much, please?" The former is better dressed, but the latter is much more visible on the first of the month.

¶ The people of Sanford should investigate the commission form of government and if it seems good and urge the board of aldermen to submit the new form to the legislature. Many Florida cities are climbing into the commission class and it seems good for them and they are not attempting to change into the old order of things. Among the latest to what is known the commission form is Gainesville and the Sun has the following to say on the subject:

Is Gainesville going to let another session of the legislature pass into history without having a commission form of government? It looks that way, as no one of the hundreds of taxpayers who have expressed themselves in favor of the change has manifested sufficient interest to take the lead towards accomplishing the desired object, and the old saying that "what's everybody's business is nobody's business" in Gainesville is as true as the gospel truth. However, the people of Gainesville have the power, under the present charter, to adopt a commission form of government without further action by the legislature in this respect. What is needed is a board of aldermen who will submit such new form of government to the voters, but it is not likely that such a body will ever initiate the same. Representative Adkins could not do the people of Gainesville a greater service than to pass a bill through the legislature submitting to the voters of this city a commission form of government along the lines adopted by the people of Orlando and the Sun trusts he will do so. We know he will if the people petition him in the matter, and it is to be hoped that someone will manifest enough interest in the cause of commission government to get busy and secure a petition praying the legislature to pass such a bill for the ratification or rejection of the voters. Who will take the lead in this movement to give Gainesville a practical business government and save the taxpayers from burdensome taxation?

The people are ready to follow the lead of a Moses who will champion their cause.

¶ It gives me great satisfaction indeed to read in The Herald that the Sanford cemetery will be improved and that this good work will continue until Sanford has one of the most beautiful burial grounds in this part of the state. Too long have we neglected the city of the dead. Taken up with our active duties of the living we have overlooked this necessity and this duty to our dead and it is high time that each and every one of us take up this work and assist in making it one of the beauty spots in Sanford. A cemetery should not be a neglected place of horrors. It should not be the place where we literally dump the remains into a shallow grave and depart from the place as a scourge spot. We should not form the idea that the cemetery is a place shunned and shunned until the time comes when we are forced against our will to attend the obsequies of a departed friend or a dear relative. We should not have the thought or the nightmare that at some future date our own remains will be interred at a place where even our friends would not like to visit and give their attention.

A cemetery should be one of the most beautiful spots that the city could show to the visitor. It should be a place where the visitors gather on Sunday afternoons or other days for a visit. It must be a place where the beautiful in nature is magnified by the hand of man to cooperate in making it a city of the dead. Our own city is not neglected to this extent and the cemetery should receive the same careful attention that a city park or a private park or the grounds around a residence receive.

In the years gone by the Sanford cemetery has not been the city of the dead except in name. Those who had it in charge probably did their best but your best is never up to the standard unless it has the sanction and support of all the citizens. All of us have neglected this duty and now that we have awakened to our duty the Sanford cemetery will receive the attention that it deserves. Let us all take the same pride and the same interest in the cemetery and it will become as beautiful as our living city has become. For many years I have resided in Sanford and it has been the dream of my life that my remains would repose in a decent cemetery in this city after death, but the thought has been abhorrent when I beheld the cemetery as it formerly appeared. I have decided time and time again to make my last request embody the burial of my remains in some other city that has a more respectable burial ground but now our new cemetery will be all that my heart could desire and Sanford will not only be good enough to live in but all right to die and be buried in and there is nothing more to be desired.

Let this great work go on and let every citizen assist in making our cemetery the most beautiful grounds in and around this city.

¶ In conversing with a party of friends the other day about the European war I made the statement that it was costing several million dollars per day to pay the expenses of the war. They did not concur with me on the figures thinking they were too large, but the following authentic figures have been compiled upon the subject and if any of these doubting friends will investigate the matter they will see that I was right, only my figures were small compared to the actual amount.

The cost of the war, estimated in the second month of the war at $32,000,000 a day, has now risen, according to official estimates, to $50,000,000 a day for the ten powers, and the figures are still going up.

All the nations are living upon their accumulated savings and wasting them at a rate unprecedented in the world's history.

The measureless human suffering and bloodshed cannot be estimated. It will affect all nations for generations to come. It is only on the material side that losses can be even approximately stated, and these are staggering.

The French minister of finance, M. Ribot, officially announced that the Bank of France has advanced to the government "for extraordinary war expenses, $580,000,000, and the Bank of Algeria has loaned France $20,000,000. These sums proved insufficient for the expenses of the campaign up to December 1."

The French finance minister they

CELEBRATION IN GREEK COUNTRIES

Intense Fervor and Devotion Shown in Easter Ceremonies—Places of Pilgrimage Numerous.

In all the Greek orthodox countries—Russia, Roumania, Greece, Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro, and a large part of Austria-Hungary—Easter is celebrated with great fervor and devotion. The Easter kiss is a well-known incident of these celebrations. A curious story is told of Czar Nicholas II and the Easter kiss. On leaving his apartments one Easter morning he kissed the guard outside with the usual salutation, "Christ is risen," to which the response is, "He is truly risen." But the man answered, coolly, "He is not risen." The emperor was aghast, and shouted, furiously, "He is risen!" But the man, with the utmost composure, repeated his denial. He was a Jew! Only the emperor's sense of humor saved him.

Russia, as the premier Greek Orthodox nation, is very much in evidence in the Holy Land, and of late years has asserted her supremacy in the Christendom of the Orient in many ways—not only by generous contributions in magnificent buildings and financially, but also politically in strengthening the position of the Greek church. Especially at Easter it is interesting to observe the contrasts which take on a certain political hue between Latins, asked for authority to borrow $1,200,000,000. Great Britain, according to George Lloyd, is spending more than France. Germany has issued one war loan of $845,000,000 treasury bills for $375,000,000 more, making $1,175,000,000 in five months.

The smaller powers engaged are living in part upon the richer nations, whose steak is so much greater. England and France have advanced $100,000,000 to Belgium; France, $18,000,000 to Servia and $10,000,000 to Greece; England is financing Roumania to get her ready to put 600,000 men in the field when they are needed. Italy has an understanding with England, France and Russia, and is assured such financial aid as she will need.

Modern war depends as much upon gold as upon men. Each of the five principal powers involved can easily draw upon its own people for the first thousand million dollars. The second thousand million, already authorized in Germany and Great Britain, will be readily paid by the united people of those countries from their seemingly inexhaustible resources. It will be the third and fourth thousand millions that will come hard!

From a complete compilation of the war issues of all the powers it appears to date the war bills actually paid have averaged $1,600,000,000 a month. They are mounting up at the rate of $2,000,000 an hour, day and night, Sundays and holidays.

Greeks, Protestants and Gregorians (Armenians).

Protestant religious activity in Jerusalem, which at one time was largely English, has of late years been much strengthened by the influx of German colonists, especially Swabians.

Away from the ecclesiastical ceremonial the pilgrim in Easter time seeks the traditional places where our Lord spent his last days and nights. Of these Gethsemane is the principal goal, and here the difference in creed among the many visitors is obliterated by an earnest and quiet devotion which is unexpectedly free from the emotional.

Another figure has a prominent place in Easter celebrations in Jerusalem; that of Moses, whose liberation of the Jewish people from the yoke of Egypt is commemorated in the ancient Hebrew paschal feast. But it is not the Passover celebrated by the various Jewish colonies of Palestine—the older Spanish-speaking, the Turkish-speaking people from Bokhara and other central Asiatic regions, the Arabic-speaking Jews from Yemen, and the Polish, Russian and German Jews of Yiddish tongue. It is not the Jewish Passover that is the most remarkable celebration in honor of the great leader and the Exodus.

There is a very little known Mohammedan celebration which, though no longer so general as formerly, is still a most interesting one. To the Mohammedan, it must be remembered, Jerusalem is a holy city, like Mecca and Medina, and there is a saying among Arabs, "Syria is the blessed country, Palestine the holy land, and Jerusalem, the holy city, is the holy of holies."

The tradition is that Ommi Selma, wife of the prophet, heard these words one day from Mohammed, "He who makes the pilgrimage from Jerusalem to Mecca will obtain forgiveness of sins, past and future, and will earn paradise."

There is a pilgrimage at Easter time which does not go quite as far from Jerusalem as Mecca, but whose goal is the burial place of Moses—Nebi Musa—between the city and the Dead sea. Although, according to Christian and Hebrew belief, the Lord buried Moses, and his grave is hidden from posterity, the Mohammedans regard a certain ruined sanctuary, some three or four hours' distance from Jerusalem, as covering the remains of the prophet.

In cosmopolitan charm Easter in Constantinople almost equals that in Jerusalem. The capital of the Turkish empire is, of course, in itself highly cosmopolitan, and there is no other city in the world where so many languages are heard in the streets, not by foreigners but by the variegated native population. The background here is not Jewish and Mohammedan, as in Jerusalem, but Mohammedan and Christian, with a strong tinge of Spanish Jewry.

Of the native Christians the Greeks predominate, but there has always been a very numerous Armenian element in Constantinople. The magnificent Greek Orthodox ceremonial well reflects the towering strength of that church in the Levant, which for centuries, under the absolute rule of the Ottoman sultans, acted in the capacity of imperial overseer of the Christian peoples under Turkish sway. Until the comparatively recent rise of the Balkan nationalities—Roumanian, Ser-

And Greek intellectual, social and political control through the unifying power of the Greek church was more complete under Ottoman rule than it had been under the Byzantine emperors.

Recent events have once more shown the force of the people of Greek speech. Through the breaking away of the Bulgarian church and the erection of a Bulgarian exarchate, Greek in religion, but Bulgarian in speech and political aims, it had been temporarily weakened.

CO. COMMISSIONERS INSPECT DRAINAGE

BLACK HAMMOCK DRAINAGE DISTRICT HAS BEEN COMPLETED

County Commissioners L. P. Hagan, L. A. Brumley, C. W. Hinzinger, J. T. McLain and J. A. Clark, Engineer Fred Williams and Editor Holly of The Herald spent Thursday in Black Hammock inspecting the district drainage system that now traverses every part of that fine body of land. Black Hammock begins near Oviedo and extends to the shores of Lake Jessup and the drainage district comprises 572 acres of what is undoubtedly the finest soil in the United States. The drainage operations have been in operation for one and one-half years, the contract having been let to W. B. Williams of St. Petersburg, who has made one of the best drainage systems in this part of the state and the canals are perfect and should be a monument to the honesty and integrity of Contractor Williams, who gave the people more than they paid for in good substantial ditches. As the work is completed the board of county commissioners wanted to see the ditches at first hand, thence the trip Thursday over about twelve miles of rough travelling on foot. The board expects to finish the work today, but if they do they will be minus an editor. It is too early for mountain climbing and after going over that vast territory yesterday we are fully convinced that the ditches are all right and as far as we are concerned the rest of the system is all that the contract specifies. The history of this magnificent system of drainage and Black Hammock lands will be given in a later issue of The Herald, as space will not permit it in today's paper. With the party yesterday on the inspection tour were Messrs. Wheeler, Browning, Swope, Beazley and McKenzie of Oviedo and Contractor Williams. The entire party camped at noon on the main canal and had dinner with Mr. Williams in true out of doors style and it was greatly enjoyed. The trip was a revelation to those who have seen Black Hammock in the wild state mostly under water and to see it now since the drainage canals have been cut out.

Temple Brotherhood Class

The Temple Brotherhood Class of the Baptist Sunday school had a very interesting meeting Sunday morning. Several new members were enrolled and great interest was taken by the entire class. Supt. Ezell makes the lesson very interesting.

Sunday evening the officers of the class were installed and the following program was carried out.

Address by Jno. D. Jenkins, "Our Sunday School."

Address by W. E. Scoggan, "Our Class."

Address by Prof. B. F. Ezell, "Our Text Book."

Address by Rev. George Hyman, "Our Officers."

Class song, as follows: Temple Brotherhood is for men. Temple Brotherhood stands 'gainst sin, Come be with us, we'll do you good; Temple Brotherhood is for you.

Presbyterian Church

Sabbath morning Dr. Brownlee will preach on "The Death of Jesus" and the Lord's Supper will be celebrated.

At the evening service, 7:30, the subject will be "The Resurrection." The following musical program will be rendered:

Morning: Anthem, "Bow Down Thy Ear, Oh Lord," Hughes.

Offertory, violin solo, "Cavaleria Rusticana" by Earl Paxton.

Evening: Anthem, "I am the Resurrection"

Hine.

Offertory, "Jesus is Risen," Martin.

Duet by Mrs. Higgins and Miss Smith.

The Sabbath school begins at 9:45 at the Imperial Theatre. There are special classes for men and women. The church building is progressing nicely and great enthusiasm is being aroused.

A souvenir picture of the church will be given to each worshipper Sabbath morning.

BRICK ROADS START IN SANFORD DISTRICT

THE WEST SIDE, CELERY AND SANFORD AVENUES WILL BE COMPLETED

The road builders are gathering in Sanford again and the brick roads have started on the west side. This will be good news not only to the people of this district but the whole county and the people who are compelled to use this road in travelling to and from the East Coast. For almost a year now this road work had been delayed by injunctions and other impediments but now that all these matters have been adjusted satisfactorily the brick roads will be finished in record time. Better brick has been shipped and the roads will be built in good shape as the contractors have all their machinery on the ground or will have it by the end of this week and all is in readiness for the work.

The brick on the west side will be laid nine feet wide for the greater distance and some of it fourteen feet wide. As soon as this part of the district has been finished the gang will go to Celery avenue and Sanford avenue and finish up the work and in a few months all the brick roads in the Sanford special district will have been completed.

This will give Sanford district about twenty five miles of brick roads and carry out the original length of roads. As soon as this work is completed the question of connecting with Orange county will be taken up as this is most important.

Orange county is starting the brick roads this way and when completed to the Seminole county line there will be a stretch of road intervening between the special Sanford district and the Orange county line of about eight miles. As there is no provision for this stretch to be bridged the question arises about whether this part of the county can bond for enough or not and the idea of bonding the entire county will again occupy the attention of the tax payers. Many are in favor of the entire county bonding for sufficient to build this road and also to build brick roads to Geneva and Oviedo and to the Lake county line, but the sentiment was against additional bonds until the Sanford district could settle the difficulties that seemed to block progress. Now that this is settled and the work is in a fair way to be completed the county will probably investigate the bond issue idea for the completion of all the county roads.

It is certainly gratifying to the people of this section and especially to the people of Sanford to see the work on the brick roads resumed, as it has been rather difficult to explain to the visitors and the people travelling through the district just why there appears good stretches of brick roads and then a lot of sandy roads in the middle of the district. This condition will soon give way to a completed chain of good brick roads and the Sanford district will again assume the appearance of a civilized community.

More Cold Weather Just about the time that straw hats and Palm Beach suits were the order of the day the weather report called them all in again by a warning of frost for Wednesday night. It was a light attack but the night was chilly enough to dispel all thoughts of summer weather and the clothing stores are in despair of educating the public into buying summer suits in March. The following reports from other parts of the country show that the cold wave seemed to be general throughout the country.

Columbia, S. C., April 1.—A new record for late snowfall was recorded in Columbia this morning, when three-fourths of an inch fell before 8 o'clock. The local United States weather bureau, established in 1887, has no record of a snow fall so late in March as that which fell this morning.

Reports from widely scattered sections of the state indicate that the snow and sleet was general throughout the state.

Augusta, Ga., April 1.—A fall of snow, lasting between 45 minutes and an hour, occurred here between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning. There was considerable sleet before the snow. However, the temperature was considerably above freezing and the snow and sleet melted as it fell.

Washington, April 1.—Another wintry storm swept the southeastern states and early today, bringing Sanford People in Miami While in Miami last week the editor of The Herald was a very busy man but had time to see Charlie Leffler, A. C. Martin, Miss Adams and several other Sanford people whose names cannot be recalled. Charlie Leffler went to Miami several years ago and has grown up with the Magic City, being a prominent business man and identified with all the progressive movements. He is vice president of the Board of Trade and is a Miami booster.

Gaines-McCall The following is clipped from the Lake City Citizen-Reporter: The following wedding invitation has been issued announcing the wedding of Miss Mary Gaines, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Gaines of this city: Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Gaines announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Evelyn to Mr. James Pinkard McCall of Quincy, Fla. The wedding to take place on the evening of April 22nd in the First Methodist church of Lake City. Miss Gaines will be remembered by the people of Sanford as the family resided here several years ago, while Rev. Gaines was pastor of the Methodist church. Miss Gaines was a musician and soloist and had many friends here who wish her all the happiness that this world contains.

Buying Fine Cattle Mr. Doyle, manager of Dr. W. F. Blackman's Wekiwa ranch has just returned from a trip to Adek Ga., where he purchased 171 beef cattle at an average price of $38.75 per head. These cattle were selected from many herds, and in Mr. Doyle's opinion are among the best beef cattle in Georgia. It is Dr. Blackman's intention to stock his ranch with only the best grade of cattle. His equipment is such that he can put beef on the market that will compare to the western products. Our local market men will no doubt take advantage of the class of beef that Dr. Blackman will be able to furnish them and give the consumer the benefit of this saving.

New Laundry Agency Next Week George Wise, formerly with the Sanford Progress Laundry will open an agency for the Towne Steam Laundry of Tampa with headquarters in the Imperial building with D. L. Perkins.

George will at once put on a wagon for delivery and collection of laundry which will go to all parts of the city. Being a former resident of the city and well known here it goes without saying that he will do well in his line in Sanford.

The St. Agnes Guild Supper The St. Agnes Guild will have a chicken supper the 10th of April, the Saturday after Easter.

This is for the benefit of the Pipe Organ Fund.

Father Bresnahan to Leave Sanford Next Sunday Father Bresnahan, who for almost five years has been pastor for the local Catholic church will officiate here for the last time as pastor.

The Right Rev. M. J. Curley, during his recent visit requested him to return to the mission field, which is at present in need of an experienced workman and missionary. Father will make headquarters either in Jacksonville or Tallahassee.

His place here will be taken by Father O'Riordan, who has been stationed in Jacksonville for some years.

Father Bresnahan is loth to leave his many friends in Sanford but like all Catholic priests, when the Lord calls and his church orders he is ready to obey. He is glad that such a good zealous priest as Father O'Riordan is, will come here to take his place. The latter is expected to preach here for the first time on Easter Sunday night.

CITRUS FRUIT PRICES WILL BE BETTER

CHANCES ARE GOOD FOR MARKET TO IMPROVE NEXT MONTH

Tampa, April 2.—Continued improvement in the northern markets leads to a hopeful outlook on the part of the Florida Citrus Exchange that better prices will be secured during the remainder of the season.

At the present time the prices are better than they have been at any time previously this year. F. L. Skelly, sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, declares:

"During the past week the markets throughout the country have all become very active on both oranges and grapefruit, and we have advanced our prices accordingly. The sales being made are more satisfactory than at any time before this season; this being particularly true in the southern territory, where the demand is very active.

"There does not seem to be any reason for a decline from the present price on oranges; in fact, a further advance would be more probable. Florida oranges are arriving in the markets in very satisfactory condition—there being little or no decay and the eating quality far surpasses the California orange. As long as this condition lasts, the trade will continue to demand Floridas.

"Florida midseason oranges will be practically cleaned up by April 1 to 10, after which time the Valencia will move. There is every indication at the present time of a good market for Valencia oranges.

"While the shipments of oranges from Florida the past week have been light, California continues to ship freely and are selling at fifty cents to $1.00 per box below what is being realized for Floridas.

"The exchange probably controls half a million or more of the oranges left in the state (this includes the Valencia) and from 200,000 to 250,000 boxes of grapefruit. It is generally conceded that the exchange controls, by far, the larger percentages of the oranges left in the state.

"There is a considerably better feeling in the grapefruit market and the demand is very active. If shipments are moved out moderately from now on there should be no reason for a decline in prices, but, if everybody rush off their grapefruit, and gets it on the market at the same time, there will doubtless be a reaction.

"On account of the extremely cold weather which has prevailed through out the southern states, which will retard the maturing of early fruits, it looks as though we will have an extremely long season on grapefruit; and it is probable that the best prices of the season will be realized in April and May, and possibly up into June. Those having grapefruit should move them cautiously and not overcrowd the markets."

Buying Fine Cattle Mr. Doyle, manager of Dr. W. F. Blackman's Wekiwa ranch has just returned from a trip to Adek Ga., where he purchased 171 beef cattle at an average price of $38.75 per head.
