PERSONS DIE FLAMES OF FACTORY FIRE

Hazardous Explosion Is
Cause Of Conflagration
Which Sweeps Thru Five Dwellings

Are Buried In Falling Timbers

Three Victims Found In
Ruins Were Children
With Their Mother

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 8.—Ten persons, three of whom were children, were killed to-day when the fire following explosion in a celluloid and another factory wrecked the factory building and swept through five dwelling houses.

A dozen persons were injured, most of them children, preparing to go to school.

Most of the dead were men factory workers who were buried beneath the debris of falling timbers. Mrs. Mary Blaney and three children, who live in a home outside the factory, were the only victims of the explosion.

Two of the injured were factory workers, the man from the black building and its tumbling front walls with their clothing in flames, were badly burned and removed to Lynn Hospital. The others injured live in two houses outside the factory and in three across the street.

Police officials stated that they sought a lighted match carelessly dropped in the celluloid stored in a factory, caused the blaze. The scene of the explosion, and it was the Prokile Box Co. Company.

The six factory workers who were killed and the two others who were buried were putting on their coats preparatory to beginning their day's work when a blast shook the building. This was followed by a second explosion which blew out an entire front of the factory building.

Fire broke out and spread rapidly.

Fires of Lynn and Swampscott quickly had the flames under control and, aided by police and volunteers, turned their attention searching for bodies.

Curtis Returns To Capital To Receive Praise Of Friends

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—(INS)—Tired but happy and smiling, Senator Curtis of Kansas, vice-president-elect, came back to similar scenes today to receive the plaudits of friends and admirers over his election.

He was the center of an impressive reception in his office in the Senate Office Building. Friends crowded about him. A stack of telegrams three feet high was piled on his desk. He glanced hurriedly through them and said he would answer every one.

The strain of the campaign had told on him. He wants to rest. His right hand was strained from shaking hands with so many people during his tour of the country.

Senator Curtis did not amplify his statement of yesterday when he told how happy he was over the success of the Republican ticket. A woman, Miss Lola Williams, probably will be the new vice-president's secretary. She has served him in the Senate and was active in the campaign.

Market Continues In Bull Movement

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Though less spectacular in their market movements than in yesterday's furious drive, industrial stocks continued their aggressive upward pace today in a turnover only slightly less than the huge volume reported on Wednesday. Country-wide attention was called to the reported "beginning of the Hoover market" and buying orders flowed in more rapidly than they could be handled with comfort. The tape fell behind 49 minutes in the first two hours. The banks called in about $20,000,000 in the process of adjusting their week-end reserves, but there was no want of funds in the call loan market. The call rate continued at 6 per cent., with 5 1/2 per cent bid in the outside market both for call and time loans.

COUNTY BOARD OPPOSES LEVY BY CANAL BODY

Commissioners Will Seek Restraining
Order On Proposal
To Impose Mill Tax

Petitions From 5 Precincts Filed

Personal Pleas Also
Made On Opposition
To Tax Raising Fund

The County Commissioners, meeting yesterday in special session, took preliminary steps to prevent the Canal Board, representing the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District, from levying a one-mill tax on Seminole County property for the purpose of raising funds to defray expenses incurred before the proposed waterway project was definitely voted down a year ago.

Acting upon petitions submitted by citizens of five precincts, and upon personal appeals voiced by men representing other communities, the Commissioners instructed their attorney to proceed with the necessary legal action and empowered him to employ assistant counsel H. S. White, county attorney, announced today that Fred R. Wilson will be associated in the litigation.

The Commission received petitions from Geneva, Ovid, Longwood, Chuluota and Altamonte Springs. Among those appearing before the board in opposition to the proposed tax were W. S. and C. W. Eathminger of Longwood.

Although no announcement was forthcoming as to the procedure, it is believed that the County will ask for an injunction restraining the Canal Board from carrying out its intention of levying the tax. In the absence of formal notice, which had not been served on them today, members of the Board withheld comment. The members met here last week and agreed the assessment roll which was expected to bring in about $10,000.

It was learned today that the Canal Board has obligations amounting to nearly $18,000, most of which represent fees for engineers and attorneys and costs of a survey; made of the navigation district. Although the total debt, edging is nearly twice the amount that could have been raised by a one-mill tax, members of the board said they believed the obligations could have been settled for half their face value.

Since its formation under a legislative act in 1925, the Canal Board has been beset with much opposition. In 1926 it resorted to mandamus proceedings to compel the County Commissioners to permit the levying of a tax for the construction of the waterway. It won a decision in the local courts but on an appeal taken by the County to the Supreme Court that held, however, that the tax was illegal.

In the 1927 session of the state legislature several changes were made in the canal bill, which were expected to satisfy all objections. The measure also included a provision for the holding of a bond election to raise the money necessary to construct the waterway. The bond issue was defeated in August of last year and since that time the board has endeavored to raise enough funds to pay expenses incurred over the three-year period.

Hoover Leads Smith In Texas By 16,481

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 8—(INS)—With 554,622 votes counted, representing returns from 50 of the 52 counties of the state, 97 complete, Herbert Hoover was leading Governor Al Smith by 16,481 votes. Smith made some gains in late counts but it was expected to materially affect the result.

Electoral tabulations gave: Hoover, 554,622; Smith, 510,075, in the 10th Congressional District where early returns had promised an easy victory for August McMath, Democrat. Late returns from Birmingham meanwhile had placed the two closely in doubt, with Smith leading by a small margin.

Hoover's total vote in the state will be certified by the state election office here were on hand for press men.

After Hectic Times

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 8—(INS)—Herbert Hoover, president elect by the largest electoral majority in United States history, is pledged today to an administration based on simplicity and "common sense and ideals of the American people."

The simplicity keynote was sounded in Hoover's informal discussion of plans for the inauguration ceremonies in Washington, Ma. 4.

His pledge to follow the common will of the nation in dealing with the great problems before him was given on August 10 to the founders of the financial district, burglarized today by an admiring representative of California tourist bureau located in Chicago. Mr. Hutchinson said he learned that among numerous inquiries only three disclosed, among Florida visitors planning to go to California, the winter. Mr. Hutchinson interpreted this as an indication that northern people have not been materially influenced by exaggerated accounts of the recent Florida storm.

GREAT PROGRESS IS PREDICTED FOR AVIATION FUTURE TO ASSUME LEAD

Express Company Official
Envisions Wide
Use Of Air Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(INS)—Within five years I predict that a passenger on the commercial airways will eat his early morning breakfast in New York and land in the afternoon in Los Angeles," said Robert E. M. Cowie, president of the American Railway Express Company, in outlining for International News Service today the tremendous possibilities of commercial aviation.

The successful flight of the Graf Zeppelin to America demonstrated, among other things, according to Cowie, that larger and more powerful ships are needed to cross the Atlantic and he predicts that within a few years flying blimps twice as big as Captain Eckener's will be produced in American workshops. The conclusion coincides with that expressed by Captain Eckener since his return to Germany.

As head of the world's greatest package transportation enterprise, combining under one management all of the American Express Companies, Mr. Cowie has been a close student of developments in the aviation field. The best brains of the country, he said, have been focused on perfection of the elements of speed and safety in all transportation, whether for passengers or freight.

Jockey Club Head Is

The club has limited reservations or 200 although the stable have a capacity of 1,000. Purse amounts as announced by the club will be $1,400 with overnight purse of $2,500.

Hoover Leads Smith

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 8—(INS)—Vernon Smith, the state Governor, Smith has carried Alabama, and "winner of what's what" in the counting of bodies in this state were advanced by Senator Heflin, (D) of Alabama, who opposed Smith's election.

Complete unofficial returns gave Governor Smith a majority of 16,481 votes in Alabama. "Hoover should have a majority in Alabama of 16,481," said the attorney general of state. "Evidence of fraud, corruption and gross irregularities is everywhere. We expect a different result. These are not unusual situations. We are not alone."

CURTIS TO REST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—(INS)—Vice-President-elect Charles Curtis of Kansas, returned to Washington today for a rest. He arrived as early as 8:30 A. M. that morning his sister, Mrs. Edward E. Goss, and members of his family office here were on hand to greet him.

Governor Still "Happy Warrior"

But States He's Thru
With Politics And Is Ready For Business

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(INS)—The constantly awaiting "popular vote" of the two presidential candidates, as he believes, final returns drift in, today he sent Herbert Hoover's total vote to approximately 22,000,000 while Governor Smith appears to have drawn about 17,000,000.

The financial district, burglarized today by an admirer of the two presidential candidates, as he believes, final returns drift in, today he sent Herbert Hoover's total vote to approximately 22,000,000 while Governor Smith appears to have drawn about 17,000,000.

Both figures represent new all-time popular vote records. Smith even in defeat topped the total vote of any other candidate in history.

Even the Harding and Coolidge landslides of 1920 and 1924 failed to exceed the vote that it is estimated Smith has rolled up in the East.

The Governor goes back to Albany today to wind up his career in public life. In his own words, "I never expect to run for public office again."

He is still the "happy warrior" that Franklin D. Roosevelt picked to the Democratic Convention at Houston last June. Not even the worst electoral defeat ever suffered by a Democratic candidate in the history of the nation could drag down his irrepressible spirit. But here after he is determined that some one else is going to stand on the firing line and take the gaff.

"I've got all I can stand of it," he said. "I've given a good century of my life, to it. That's enough. I will never lose my interest in public affairs, but I am far from running for office again, that's cut."

Governor Smith leaves behind him, today, a stunned and still somewhat bewildered group of party leaders who are trying to peer into the future and ascertain what, if anything, it holds for the Democratic party.

They are frankly disconsolate. The one comfort whom they have

Smith Trails Herb By 30,000 In Polls Of North Carolina

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 8—(INS)—Herbert Hoover carried North Carolina by approximately 30,000 majority over Governor Smith, according to figures compiled today at Eastern Carolina Republican headquarters.

The Democrats apparently have lost two congressional seats to Republicans in yesterday's congressional elections. Democratic Headquarters Chairman Jonas (R) was leading Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle (D) in the ninth seat, George Pritchard (D) in the tenth, and Rep. Zeb Way (D) in the 11th.

While the legislative battle is overwhelmingly Democratic, the gubernatorial election is still uncertain, with the election of a Democratic state senator.

Dr. Linus Hilly, president of Stetson University, and Cary D. Lasselle, Delano attorney, will be the principal speakers. The meeting will begin at 3 o'clock and will be followed by a reception.

Among the organizations that have been asked to participate in the meeting are: Sanford Woman's Club, Ministerial Association, American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, Spanish War Veterans' Auxiliary, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the Seminole County Bar Association.

THEATER MAN IS SURE HE TALKED TO SHAKESPEARE

Sir Frank Benson Of London Also Claims
Talk With Aeschylus

LONDON, Nov. 5—(AP)—The startling claim that he is an sparker by word credits with Shakespeare and Aeschylus made here by Sir Frank Benson, the well-known theatrical manager and actor, who ranks high among the contemporary interpreters of Shakespearean drama.

Sir Frank, who has long been interested in spiritualism, gave the first hint of his astounding beliefs with three days ago, when he spoke at a lecture in a recently-published book on spiritualism. Reporters asked him his opinions, and he responded them with his startling claim.

"I am convinced and satisfied," Sir Frank declared, "that it was indeed Shakespeare who spoke to me truly through the spirit of a medium, for whom no sane man would advise."

"In a dialogue I was having with a more-doubtful than not Shakespeare-spook, he said,

"I know you are engaged with my spirit." Shakespeare said, "I am glad to go on."

"I asked no questions and spoke no words, but listened for the true voice. It was not like hearing Aeschylus, the Greek playwright, spoken.

"Shakespeare, who sent you to work on the stage before my great success, is still the voice I heard. 'The Work is on the same lines.'

By his statement, Aeschylus, Shakespeare, and Sir Frank's explanation of the manner of the message he had received at the stage originally in consequence of the success of the "Antony" while he played off with an undergraduate at Oxford. "Antony," of course, is one of the Greek tragedians best known plays.

"I am perfectly satisfied," Sir Frank continued, "that the communication came from the author of the play, and that Shakespeare himself, now per animum, is but natural to those here, but certain. Which are greater."

Mr. Frank declared that he has no means of connecting with the man who was killed in the past.

He says he was going to make a speech before the time he got Shakespeare again, but indicated he hoped that this interesting conversation might be reported at a later date.

He agreed with us that my talk may make a talking movie, so that all the world may know and understand how wonderful she is."

This statement, spoken in the presence of some of a newspaper crew here by Frank Hoffman, the world-famous violinist, who after he arrived here for a short tour, he was deeply interested over the mystery he had been told about his death. His name is Weller, the famous violinist, whom we met only a few weeks ago in New York.

Hoffman has had a number of successes in Canada, but nothing nearly equal to his recent meeting of class on the stage.

Frank, through me, I enough to allow my reporter to interview with very little trouble. Hoffman denied that he had any information, but he had a good deal of trouble to come up with it, because they were separated from each other for the month of the tour, and he could not remember the months he was away from home to make up this month.
