However, 2 Sections Still Remain Warm; Break In Weather Thought Temporary

(By The Associated Press)
The entire country except two sweltering sections enjoyed at least a temporary relief from soaring temperatures today. One of those areas was comprised of Indiana and Western Ohio. The other was made up of Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. Not only the inhabitants are suffering in these sections but the corn crop is being and an alarming danger from drought is reported. While the East and Northwest enjoyed a temporary break in their temperatures, there were predictions that the high humidity would remain and that equally torturing heat would return for another week.

Deaths attributable to heat in California's Imperial valley where the mercury reached 130 degrees, before dropping Wednesday; occurred were in the Salt River valley of Arizona and two were in Iowa.

California was relieved by cool ocean currents and further drops in temperature were predicted. Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota and North Dakota were cooler. At White, N. D., which had a high of 104 Sunday, the temperature of 77 was registered early Wednesday. A 15-mile an hour wind off Lake Michigan swept Chicago and cooled the heat wave there. Southern Ohio yielded under a breezy drop and rains were beginning. The thermometer in Milwaukee dropped 20 degrees from yesterday's high and parts of Iowa cooled to 70.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Just a quick glance at the result of the Card-Braves game yesterday which ended in a 1-0 win for the Cards, who got only six hits while the Braves got 8, might lead one to think that our Ben Castwell was on the mound for the Braves, losing one of his hard luck games again. That's what we thought when we got the news over the radio last night, but seconds later we heard the announcer say, Batteries for St. Louis Haines and Wilson, for Boston, Zachary and Spohrer. A long fly from the bat of Flowers scored Sparky Adams with the only run of the game in the eighth, and the Cards advanced a step nearer the flag.

By the way, experts have figured that the race in both leagues is all out and over. Both the Athletics and Cards stand to win only half their games and yet win the pennants, while any other club would have to play 800 ball to get close even. While we sort of figured the Athletics would go in many, we never did believe that the Cards had the stuff of which camps were made. We still tag along with the Robins, darn 'em.

Speaking about the Robins, the Reds slammed them into the dirt again by a 5 to 4 score, although Lopez and Herman had appeared to tie the score in the ninth. The Reds came right back in their half. Cullop doubled, Hendrick was purposely walked, and then Cullop scored on Cuculino's fourth hit of the game. The Reds now hold a 2 to 1 margin in the series, and have so far outplayed all the efforts of the Robins.

While Carl Hubbell pitched a rather weak game for the Giants, his big bat came to the rescue of the club on two different occasions, and as a result he batted the Giants to a 6 to 3 win over the Pirates. Herby Hrame pitched a strong game for the losers for six innings, but the Giants got going, and from then on they pounded out hits aplenty, 16 altogether. The Pirates thus came to the end of their five-game win streak.

A fine pitcher's duel between Collins and Root of the Phillies and Cubs was blasted in the eighth inning of that game when the Cubs got to Collins for three runs to give them a 6 to 3 verdict over the Phillies. Collins was in great form, but weakened at an inopportune moment. Blaine Hamaley hit homers for the winners.

Gains Second Place In Race For League Batting Title, 2nd Half

By PETER SCHAAL
League Statistics

Al Rogero, the Gator ace who is doing a nice job of second basing and hurling for the Sanford Celery Feds Sunday afternoon established himself as a potential candidate for second half batting honors in the Central Florida League when, polling out four hits in six tries, he jumped into second place in standings, even superseding Allan Mobley, the Islanders' great catcher, who fell to a mark of .451. Rogero is now batting .485, just 10 points back of Manager Coolee, of the Saints, who fell to .445 from his .462 mark of last Thursday.

Wally Shannon, the DeLand second sacker, and Babe Weaver, chunky Islander outfielder are the only other .400 batters, coming through Sunday's games with plants of hits.

Team batting fell off in four cases, mainly because of fine pitching performance by Hutto, Murdock, Ferrazzi, Whately and Strickland. Only Sanford and St. Augustine, as teams, were able to gain percentage.

The first place Daytona outfit remains at home Thursday to meet the scrappy Cocoa team again, and a great battle is expected. Sanford and Winter Park will meet at the latter city to decide who is to occupy cellar position, and St. Augustine visits DeLand, with both those teams having a chance to go into a tie for first place if Daytona loses.

CHASE OUTFIT DEFEATED 12-11 BY INDEPENDENTS

Another hard-fought and closely contested game was played Tuesday night when the Independent Merchants team defeated Chase 12 to 11.

Palmer was on the mound for the winners and hurled a mighty good game, striking out six, walking only three and yielding up 13 hits, for 11 runs.

Hodge, who had pitched the night before in the Sanford-DeLand game, pitched for Chase, and was very ineffective in the first inning, walking one, and giving up four hits in this inning, one of them a home run with men on bases. This, connected with two errors at third base, allowed the Independents to score six runs before the side could be retired.

Chase's team was able to put over only one run in the first. However, it came through with four runs in the second, two in the third and four in the fifth to forge ahead, 11 to 0. However, as stated above, the Independents put over three in the sixth, and as the Chase team was unable to put over a run in the last two innings, the Independents came out on the long end of a 13 to 11 victory.

Bender had a perfect night at bat, getting three out of three times up, a double and two singles. McLellan, of the Independents, and Cordell and Hodge, for Chase each hit for the circuit.

Ripley, in his "believe it or not" column several weeks ago asked the question: Was it possible for a player to be credited with a hit after three were out. This was forcibly demonstrated last night. After Wilkins and Toole had been retired, Bach was given his base on balls; Ravenal singled, advancing Bach to second. Bender hit the first pitched ball to short.

Bach, starting to third, was hit by the batted ball before Bender reached first, thus making the third out. However, Bender gets credit for a hit.

Mr. C. E. Varner, supervisor of reception in Orlando, was in Sanford last night and took in the game.

MacDonald States High Tariff Walls Mean Bankruptcy

Confidence that Germany will weather her economic crisis was expressed yesterday by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, on his return to England after a two-day visit to the German capital.

"But," he said, "the problem of the Reich is to return to work." He indicated that, in his opinion, Germany needs money but will be unable to gain the credits she must have eventually until she re-establishes confidence. This, he said, she cannot do by continuing a plaintive role.

The secretary said he found no indications that Germany was on "the brink of revolution." Germany's problem, he said, is essentially her own and not until she helps herself, will the help she needs be forthcoming from the rest of the world.

He described his view of the German situation as "very encouraging." Problems of the approaching disarmament conference were discussed in some detail during his visit to Berlin, he said, and the German ministers told him the country is arming even less than the limits prescribed by the Versailles treaty.

Comment indicating a widespread and growing desire for friendly relations with France was heard everywhere, he said, and he said he believed some arrangement may be made in the near future.

Secretary Stimson will go to Scotland Friday for the opening of the grouse shooting season.

ordinary repairs and maintenance of plant, and taxes. This is the lowest since the first quarter of 1915. It is the lowest for the second quarter of the year for any year in more than 20 years. It compared with $19,444,838 in the first quarter of this year, and was little more than a quarter of the earnings for the like period of 1930, when $47,001,304 was reported.

Subtracted from the total earnings was $12,111,569 for depletion, depreciation and obsolescence of plant. This was $88,267 more than the similar charges for the preceding quarter.

After these deductions, together with deduction for interest on bonds, there was left net income from operations of only $20,389, equal to only six cents a share on the preferred stock, on which the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared. To find smaller net earnings from operations than these, the records must be searched back of 1907, to the early years of the corporation's history. It was founded in 1901.

The corporation had a windfall during the quarter, however, which it was able to report as special income, and make the final showing considerably better. This consisted of $7,160,966 from the recent sales of the Gary Light, Heat & Water Co. It brought the final net income for the quarter up to $27,549,855, equal to 12 cents per common share.

Including this special income, the net income was slightly larger than that of the preceding quarter. The total for that quarter, entirely from operations, was $2,304,916, equal after preferred dividends to only five cents per common share.

The showing was but a fraction of that of the corresponding quarter of 1930, however, when the corporation reported net income of $32,126,717, or $3.02 a common share.

These earnings failed by a wide margin to provide for the reduced common dividend of $1 and it was necessary to take $7,817,856 from surplus. In the preceding quarter, when the directors ordered a common dividend of $1.75, it was necessary to take $14,763,240 from surplus.

The corporation has not earned its common dividend for three successive quarters. In the last quarter of last year, when net fell below dividend disbursements for the first time since the final quarter of 1924, the sum of $9,144,997 was taken from surplus.

Two Women Are Taking Parts In Spanish Regime

Then both were elected to the new national assembly. Women could not vote in the June 23 elections. But the republic made them eligible for election to the assembly. It seems probable that later on the republic will establish woman's suffrage.

Born in Malaga, Victoria Kent is the granddaughter of an English business man. She was the first woman to plead in Spanish courts, and was also the first woman to appear as attorney before a Spanish court martial. She defended Alcala Zamora and most of the men who later composed the cabinet of the republic when they were in jail, charged with rebellion.

They were acquitted, and when the April revolution made them chiefs of government, they did not forget the women who had worked for them and for the republic.

Senorita Kent had enough money for her education, but Senorita Camposom had to earn everything she has had. Born in San Sebastian, she decided when a girl not to be deterred by lack of family fortune in her ambition for an education. She worked in factories, she learned stenography and typewriting and got a government job in the department of education.

Before long she was handling editorial rooms, getting occasional assignments. Living very cheaply, often enduring hardships, she managed to carry herself through the law school of Madrid university.

After working her way through the university, there came dreary and difficult years, especially difficult in a land where "woman's place was the home." But she persevered and built up a good practice.

The assembly in which these two women will sit is perhaps the most important body of its kind Spain has ever known. It is to rewrite the fundamental law of the land, make Spain a constitutional republic, and decide a dozen of the gravest problems the country faces.

"Women will, more and more, play an important part in the Republican government," says Senorita Camposom. "They will have the vote, in time. Victoria Kent shares those sentiments.

"The republic was the only thing that could have saved Spain," she said.

The corporation reported net income of $32,126,717, or $3.02 a common share.

These earnings failed by a wide margin to provide for the reduced common dividend of $1 and it was necessary to take $7,817,856 from surplus. In the preceding quarter, when the directors ordered a common dividend of $1.75, it was necessary to take $14,763,240 from surplus.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(A.P.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left Anacostia here at 1:17 P. M. for North Haven, Maine.

From there, the "Lone Eagle" had mapped a course over trackless Canadian forests and desolate Arctic wastelands.

Some time early next month they expect to reach Tokyo, but the men hope on the itinerary are to be made by easy stages, and no definite schedule has been fixed.

Several hundred persons gathered at the air station, and the cops on duty there devoted itself to bidding the famous flying couple good luck.

The Lindberghs flew here Tuesday to attend to final details and obtain visas from the Japanese embassy. These arrangements were made sooner than expected, and early in the forenoon they were preparing their plans for its long flight.

Shortly after noon a test with Long Beach, N. Y., showed the radio in order.

Colonel Lindbergh turned to other details. Naval attendants had filled the large pontoons with gas, but with a measuring stick, the colonel himself tested each tank.

Finally the colonel was satisfied. Declining a luncheon invitation from Capt. W. G. Child, commanding officer of the station, the couple climbed down from the plane for the first time and posed for photographers with David S. Nagals, assistant secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics. Then they resumed their places in the plane.

Venue Is Called In Pending Trial Of Luke Lea And Son

LAUDERDALE, N. C., July 20.—(A.P.)—From Haywood county on the border of the Great Smoky Mountain National park, will come the trial of Luke Lea and son, charged with the Central Bank & Trust company here of $1,200,000.

Judge M. V. Barnhill yesterday opened a special venire of 125 men from the Haywood county to report in Buncombe superior court Friday when selection of a jury is expected to get under way.

His order was issued after a decision for a change of venue was denied. It came as the trial to three days of defense testimony, all of which, except for a few particulars, were denied.

On trial with Luke Lea, Sr., and E. P. Charles, officials of the company, and Wallace B. Dyer, president of the district bank, who is already under a five-year prison sentence for publishing a false report of the bank's condition before it closed.

Yesterday the judge denied various defense motions, which sought to have the indictments quashed after prosecution counsel had failed to show that the state had a prima facie case against Lea and Charles.

Gainesville, Taking Steps To Hold Big Gattle Exhibition

GAINESVILLE.—Members of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, at a called meeting held recently at Chamber of Commerce headquarters, went on record as being willing to get behind whatever arrangements may be necessary to secure for Gainesville and Alachua county the first show of pure-bred Hereford cattle ever held in the South.

President Oscar Thomas explained in detail the reasons why officials of the National Hereford Breeders' Association were willing to bring their annual show into the South, one of the most important being the location here of the agricultural experiment station and in what is now a tick-free county. He said previous sales of pure-bred stock in the county had also drawn favorable attention to Florida, considered to be one of the best fields for introduction of the Hereford strain in countries where the tick has been banished.

The proposal is to bring the show to Gainesville direct from Denver, along about the middle of February. It would mean the exhibition of not less than three hundred head of stock and the bringing here of at least that many attendants in connection with the show itself to say nothing of stock breeders and fanciers from all sections of the United States.

telligent Americans that we want such a system in this country." Green painted a sombre picture of unemployment based on the federation's figures for July. He estimated that in July 6,200,000 persons were without work and that if the usual seasonal unemployment comes after the fall pickup 7,000,000 will be unable to find work next winter.

The federation president said the crucial need is for shorter hours.

"This is the only permanent solution to the unemployment problem when we consider that with modern machines work which took the average man 52 hours in 1919 he can now do in 34 hours, and that the average work hours have only been reduced from 52 to 50 hours a week, we understand why spare time has become unemployment instead of leisure."

Payno said all the agencies of the federal government, the states, counties and municipalities were working to the same end, and that the movement, which the president began yesterday looks to having them cooperate more fully than heretofore.

The Red Cross, he said, under its charter, cannot do unemployment relief work.

Surveys made at his suggestion by the Association of Community Chests were used as a basis for Green's statement that the burden next winter would be doubled.

Green related yesterday the federation's program for unemployment relief. It was divided into the following four groups:

Shortening hours of labor for all workers to avoid as much laying off as possible.

Every employer assuring employment to the minimum force needed from November to April. All industry, it was said, would benefit as the mental attitude of the worker would be better if he knew his job was assured.

Creation of work through public employment in parks, on public buildings and roads where possible; private work in homes and employment by welfare organizations.

Securing of funds for relief, both municipal and private.

Miami Beach Bond Debt Situation Is Reported As Good

MIAMI BEACH.—Miami Beach's bonded indebtedness has been reduced $474,000 during the 12 months ending June 30, a financial report submitted to the council by C. W. Tomlinson, city clerk, shows.

Since July 1, an additional $16,000 in bonds has been retired, reducing the bonded indebtedness to $5,317,000.

It has not been necessary for the city to issue any bonds since May 1, 1930. The city never has defaulted in payment of interest or principal on any bond obligation, nor has it been necessary to issue refunding bonds to meet such obligations, Claude A. Renshaw, city manager, said.

During the last four years the city has retired before maturity bonds aggregating $533,000, causing a saving of $1,774 in principal and $53,552.12 in interest. Since 1920 bonds amounting to $2,376,000, of which $1,246,000 were for public improvements, have been retired.

The report showed that the city's assets of $10,244,982.01 exceeded its liabilities by $4,912,399.17. The assets, June 30, 1930, exceeded the liabilities by $3,850,978.13.

A total of 66.56 per cent of the tax bill was paid by June 30, 30 days before the tax sale, as compared to 65.07 per cent last year. A total of $7.00 per cent has been collected to date.

Mr. Renshaw pointed out that municipal improvements costing $100,000 are being constructed. These include $60,000 for bridges, $20,000 for park developments and $20,000 for small extensions including sewers and sidewalks.

U. S. Will Maintain Hands-Off Policy In Latin America

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(A.P.)—The American government has decided upon a hands-off policy in the Latin-American economic situation.

High administration officials well acquainted with the financial problems of Latin-American countries said last night the whole situation was being watched closely. The Washington government, however, has decided it cannot participate actively, it was said.

Some Latin-American countries have approached New York private bankers for credit extensions. The bankers asked the informal opinion of the administration. The state department was said to be willing to furnish the bankers with all of their available reports from the countries concerned, but to have decided to reserve judgment on the merits of the individual requests.

The department has adopted the general attitude that the problem was essentially a banking one.

Total Bond Default Of Ormond Reported

ORMOND.—Ormond bonds totalling $91,000 have defaulted this year, of which $57,000 were in default before Apr. 30, according to an audit of the city presented to the council recently by William O. Gentry.

Bond requirements in Ormond for the next year, according to the audit, amount to $103,000 and $31,850 interest, part of which Gentry recommends be refunded since the city apparently will not be in a position to make payments promptly.

Other liabilities of the city shown by the audit consist of $28,198 in notes payable, of which all except $7,623 have been overdue since May and June, 1929.

The total liabilities of the city are listed at $407,758 of which $663,500 represents the bonded debt, $117,469 represents moneys due certain funds, and $28,198 the notes payable.

LONDON, July 20.—(A.P.)—

Seemingly cheerful and beaming with optimism, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald yesterday returned to England by air from Berlin, where he said he had "a most satisfactory visit."

The prime minister made only one stop at Rotterdam for lunch on the way to London, where he landed yesterday afternoon.

While not even intimating that the German financial problem was near a solution, he expressed confidence that the Germans ultimately would overcome their difficulties, although he stressed the statement that "other nations must help by means of international settlements."

In an interview at Rotterdam, the British prime minister said, "The will and power of the German people guarantee that they will overcome the difficulties of the moment." He added that other nations must lend a helping hand in the present crisis and that there was no reason to lose confidence in the German nation.

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson also returned from Berlin yesterday, but chose a train as his transportation.

Dollar Today Seen Worth 2 Dollars During Boom Year

CLERMONT.—Geo. E. Hoamer, editor of the Euclid Lake Region, last week published a most interesting article concerning the changes in price of everyday commodities. The figures gathered by Mr. Hoamer from files of the Lake Region are practically the same as would prevail in any city.

"The dollar which the average man had in his pocket in mid-summer of 1931," Mr. Hoamer states, "is worth as much as two dollars was at the same time of the year in 1926."

"How much more it is worth is shown by comparing the prices of commodities as listed in the advertisements in the Lake Region of last week, with the advertisements of the same firms in the same paper in 1926."

Article 1926 1931
Sugar, per lb. .048 .019
Butter, per lb. 7 1/2c 5c
Onions, per lb. 8 1/2c 4 1/2c
Bananas, per lb. 8 1/2c 2 1/2c
Lettuce, per head 18c 8 1/2c
Breakfast Bacon, lb. 51c 21c
Butter, lb. 53c 29c
Flour, 24 lbs. $1.61 67c

"From the above list, which furnishes a fairly good indication of all the necessities of life, it can be readily seen that the dollar of today will buy about twice as much as it would five years ago. As far as these things are concerned the dollar is worth two dollars as compared with the summer of 1926."

County Will Be Asked For Levy For Trade Body

nearly 30 years experience as a worker in chamber of commerce work, Mr. Lehmann offered the group a number of suggestions all of which were directed at the one thought of presenting what he termed the "unlimited possibilities of this section" to the world.

The need for rigid economy and the absolute necessity of securing 100 cents in value for every dollar spent in a program of advertising and education, were the principal points stressed in Mr. Lehmann's talk.

He expressed the opinion that Sanford's future would always be closely associated with its agricultural development and that there was a possibility that Sanford's industrial life would also be developed as a branch industry.

More diversified farming and fewer idler growers were pictured as among the more important needs along agricultural lines, while the development of tourist attractions throughout the county was seen as hardly scratched. "Tourist trade in this section can easily be built up," he said, "for there are any number of attractions in this county which, if brought to the attention of the state and nation, would insure a steady stream of visitors."

That his talk was appreciated by the group was evidenced by the fact that at the conclusion of the meeting, and just before Mr. Lehmann met with the Board of Directors in private conference, many of those present came forward to congratulate him for his part in bringing the group close together.

Mr. Papworth said this morning that plans were now under way whereby the trade body might secure the services of a secretary and begin at once on a carefully planned and conservative program which would be aimed at placing this section in the front ranks of prosperous communities.

He anticipated that in order to insure the successful carrying out of the program for one year, that a fund of possibly $7500 would be needed, $2500 of which would be set aside for emergency use. He declared that his committee, expected to realize $6000 from the county alone, while a delegation which expects to visit the City Commissioners on a similar errand, hopes to secure further assistance.

Among those present at the meeting were: John Melick, W. P. Hagan, Geo. W. McRory, L. M. Haynes, H. J. Lehman, C. A. Byrd, J. L. Marentz, P. P. Forster, John E. Fox, Alex. R. Johnson, C. F. Hathaway, R. J. Holly, Linton P. Allen, and Harry M. Papworth.

LAUDERDALE GROWERS Seeking Warehouse

FORT LAUDERDALE.—Fort Lauderdale Citrus Growers association with enough of a crop to come off this summer and next winter to necessitate a warehouse with about 5,000 square feet of grading and packing machinery space approached the Broward County Port Authority for use of the Fort Everglades warehouse at meeting of the port board last week.

It was estimated by the spokesman that within four years the association will ship 100,000 boxes a year through the Florida Citrus Exchange and then will be entitled to 60 per cent financing for a precooling plant. It was intimated that the port is the ideal site for such a plant. The port industrial board will meet with association representatives at a called meeting.
