ROME, Feb. 21. (AP)—U. S. 12th Air Force bombers made the war's first attack on targets in and near Hitler's fortress city of Berchtesgaden in attacks yesterday in the immediate vicinity of Hitler's mountain hideout. They knocked out a locomotive and eight rail cars.

Goch, the northern bastion of the Siegfried Line, was captured today by Scottish troops of the Canadian First Army as other Empire forces hammered deeper into the Nazi defenses before besieged Calcar.

To the south the U. S. Third Army in a broad sweep along the 50 mile front in the Eifel Mountains, rolled up gains of as much as five miles and seized eleven more German towns.

The Russian assault teams of infantry, tanks and mobile gun divisions westward in the wooded hills of Berlin's Brandenburg province against strong German positions at Guben and Forst. ## Red Cross Work Told Kiwanians By A. J. Kassay Vital work being done here and abroad by the American Red Cross and International Red Cross in order to aid and comfort the service and to explain their morale was today stressed in an address to Kiwanians at the Hotel Mayfair by Alexander J. Kassay, district director, chief of the American Red Cross.

Arthur Livingston, of the National Recreation Association of New York and former Jacksonville recreation director, who is conducting recreation training classes in Geneva this week, told of studies being made in Texas and Oklahoma which showed that Florida's recreation programs were something to be ashamed of in comparison with the advanced methods of people more interested in youth centers and that was memorably illustrated by a swimming pool in a recreation center for the blind.

Mr. Kassay said that his particular work was visiting hospitals and camps in central Florida and told of the recreational needs of the men. He compared the Red Cross service to a funnel in which the red cross, in the needed supplies at the top, and the Red Cross staff at the proper distribution.

He told of a recent order to a ton of paint from the Red Cross by men at Camp Blending in order to paint cheerful day rooms in which men could write letters home. Citizens of newly communities working through the Red Cross provided containers for the paint, and in order to give cheerful boys in military camps the amenities of regular army quarters. Army hospitals want such things as recording machines, juke boxes, radio entertainment, and in all gifts, cards and many other services rendered the hospital staff.

Other Russian troops hammered up the "Polish corridor" west of the Vistula on a 40-mile front, capturing Srahin, 43 miles southeast of the Baltic port. OPPORTUNITIES IN THE SOUTH.
 Mr. R. A. Brodener, President of Southern Dairies, sends us an excellent article on the South and its opportunities.

"No part of the Nation has done a greater war job than the South, and the South is always eagerly laying plans for the peace.

"Careful scrutiny shows many things: Natural resources, a mild climate and a population intelligent and able to take care of itself in any kind of problem that might confront it.

"Industrially, in small communities and large ones, there are now some 15,000 manufacturers who are turning out textiles, steel and other products for homes and factories—the things we need to live in peace and harmony.

"The dairy industry once purchased about 75% of its supplies from the North. The South, today, can produce its own needs right at home. It has the land, the climate and the people.

"Huge war industries have been located in former agricultural areas, and they have trained thousands of men. Today, we have what we once lacked—a large group of skilled workers. And, in addition to those, we will have our returning veterans, many of them with a highly developed mechanical skill and some of cooperation which was obtained in the military services.

"The home of small industry is in the South, and the opportunity to get into such activity is waiting for the men interested in it. It is a country of homes and American tradition where men can live in peace and harmony with their families and friends.

"Due to industrialization and diversified agriculture, the payrolls of the South have increased. These increased incomes will bring permanent benefits to the communities in which they are located.

"The farmer, the business man and the banker are ready to help work with any one who has the vision and the energy to work."

Robert E. Tolar Completes Fifty Years On Rails

(Continued From Page One) an iron nut on the high side of the curve. The fireman was crushed when the engine turned on its side, the baggage car was wrecked, and the conductor hurt. I was laid up for six weeks with a strained back.

"Another wreck occurred near DeLand when the engine struck a cow near the switch block. The engine turned over, the fireman was incapacitated, but all I got," he added, "was one little scratch."

"The last wreck I was at Campbell, four miles south of Kissimmee, when on No. 85. The engine split a switch and turned over on its side, with me under it between two cross ties. A master mechanic later said that if I had not been a small man I would not have lived. As it was, it took them a long time to dig me out."

"I had some cuts about my head, in fact," he chuckled, my brother, Dr. J.N. Tolar at the late Dr. Ralph Stevens declared the cuts formed a perfect figure 13 on my head."

Asked about his early career in railroading, Mr. Tolar said: "I came to Sanford in 1892 with my parents at the age of 16. My birthplace was Cairo, Ga., and I lived with my family in North and South Carolina."

"My first job was with the old J.T. and K.W. Railroad (Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West) now known as the north end between Jacksonville and Sanford. I was even a job firing a yard engine. In 1895 I was promoted to main line service between here and Jacksonville."

"At that time there were no coal burning engines in service, and all were wood burners. We used pine wood which I had to pick up with my hands, and quite often it was necessary to remove long splinters. No gloves would have lasted any time on that rough wood. We had to pick up the wood from wood racks located at different points along the railroad. I fired wood for six years before the coal burning period."

In 1908 this road was acquired by the Plant System. I was one of five firemen retained when this change was made. Later, I don't recall the exact date, the Plant System was merged into the A.C.L. I was promoted to engineer, Oct. 10, 1902," he declared.

Nearly 12 years of engineering, elapsed from the time Mr. Tolar stood behind the throttle of what today would appear a dinky engine puffing noisily as it pulled a heavy train loaded with grapefruit and oranges from Sanford, to the time when he last piloted a slick, streamlined Diesel Champus.

His last run came on July 31, 1944, when he became suddenly ill while piloting a passenger train to Jacksonville. True to railroad tradition, he summoned his remaining energy to get the train as far as the Jacksonville block, but did not have the strength left to back it into the depot.

Since that time, he has been living at home, tending his garden as his strength will permit.

Reminiscing about Sanford he said: "When I came here there were no paved streets, no water hydrants and no celery. Citrus growing was the biggest occupation, and many boats plied the St. Johns River. Hunting was good at that time in the region around Upsala."

His marriage to Miss Eva Gradick of Jacksonville, a school teacher, occurred not long after he heard her play the piano in the boarding house where he was staying. This was in 1902. They have one daughter, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Nance, and two grandsons, Nolley R. and Murray G.

An outline of the purposes, objectives and war work being done by International Red Cross was outlined by Alexander J. Kassoy, Jr., assistant field director for the American Red Cross, and stationed at Camp Blandine.

He compared the American Red Cross center in Switzerland to the hub of a great wheel, spokes of which radiated into many countries, and told of the food, supplies, letters and things necessary for prisoners of war which were sent to them. He revealed that last year, 19,000,000 packages containing these supplies were sent by the Red Cross to men overseas. Difficulties encountered by the Red Cross in organizing and retaining trained personnel in executing this work were stressed by Mr. Kassoy.

Every soldier has a Red Cross field man at his elbow to aid him in his personal problems, he added, and told of instances where soldiers whose wives had died and left children on their hands had been aided, and their morale

A Letter of Appreciation to the many friends of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" Chewing Gum

WRIGLEY'S CHEWING GUM MANUFACTURERS

We want to thank all the people here at home for the fine spirit of understanding shown us since we told you that, for as long as possible, all the very best gum we could make would go only to our Armed Forces and Merchant Sailors overseas and at sea.

With this in mind, and so that there can be no misunderstanding, we want you to know that we have now used up all our pre-war ingredients and that we have stopped making the well known trade-marked brands of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" even for the Armed Forces overseas.

There will be no more chewing gum of these three famous brands and flavors for anyone until we can again make gum worthy of these three trade-marked labels, which have always been your guarantee of uniform, finest quality and flavor.

Until we can bring back Wrigley standard brands we are making a plain but honest chewing gum to help take care of both military and civilian needs. We are offering this gum to the public only on its own merit and for that reason it is not associated with any Wrigley standard brand but has its own brand name and flavor.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO COMPROMISE WITH DEADLY MORAL GERMS. COMPLETE CLEANLINESS AND DECENTY ALONE SHOULD SATISFY A CHRISTIAN; Abstain from every form of evil.—1 Thes. 5:22.

Too many people seem to believe they have done their full duty by the war effort when they can say, "I have a son in the service." But the more sons they have in the service the more reason there is for them to see that everything possible is done on the home front to bring their boys home as quickly as possible.

John Temple Graves, who believes that "the New Deal is dead" thinks brains instead of money should be the qualifying test for the voter.

If you are planning to buy some azaleas in the plant sale tomorrow—and you should—they will give you little trouble and great pleasure.

The real estate business is picking up, says Ed Lane, prominent local realtor. And most properties are now being sold for cash.

Loud will be the howls of protest against the order closing night clubs at midnight, especially among those who are making more money out of the war than they ever made before in their lives, and can't wait to spend it.

Wallace supporters are making a terrible case out against Jesse Jones whom President Roosevelt hired as head of the RFC for 12 long years.

Governor Caldwell does not think much of the gambling racket in this state but he believes it is the duty of local officials and local civic leaders to try to eliminate them before they come running to Tallahassee asking the Governor to intervene.

The recent statement in any community permitting additional and flagrant violation of the law. Of course if the decent element wants gambling stopped, and is serious about it, it can

Psychosomatics

Everyone who is interested in good health, either for himself or for someone else, should read the article on "Psychosomatic Medicine" published in the February 19th issue of Life Magazine.

Everyone has known for a long time that certain types of illnesses can be produced, or cured, by the power of mind over matter.

But it has remained for the war and the development of psychosomatics in the treatment of what was known in the last war as "shell shock" and in this one psychoneurosis or battle fatigue, to bring to a high state of development, the treatment of many cases of heart trouble, indigestion, blindness, even colds, alcoholism, asthma, obesity and many similar ailments, on the assumption of their connection with emotional disturbances.

So great is the effect of the emotions upon the physical functions of the body that even so minor a mental conflict as a "white lie" can set up physical reactions which are recorded upon a machine.

Everyone knows that extreme fear such as barely escaping death in a horrible automobile accident is likely to produce such physical symptoms as trembling, turning white, palpitations of the heart, gooseflesh, cold sweat, and even nausea.

Life cites a lieutenant wounded in the stomach at Anzio. He was 23, decorated for bravery, without previous medical history. His wounds completely recovered but for some unknown reason he developed heart trouble.

Psychosomatic medicine promptly cured him as it would cure thousands of others, both in military and civilian life, if it could be properly applied.

Washington's Principles

On Feb. 22, 1832, 100 years after the birth of George Washington, Daniel Webster spoke at a Centennial dinner in the city of Washington.

"The principles of Washington's administration are not left doubtful. The success of the government under his administration is the highest proof of the soundness of these principles.

"His principle it was to act right, and to trust the people for support; his principle it was not to follow the lead of sinister and selfish ends, nor to rely on the little arts of party delusion to obtain public sanction for such a course.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor The Herald: Attached herewith is a tabulation of your Sixth War Loan advertising record as measured by the Advertising Checking Bureau.

While newspaper advertising in support of the Sixth War Loan fell short of the tremendous volume that backed up the Fifth War Loan, it still represented an outstanding job by newspaper advertising managers and the Treasury is most appreciative of your excellent support of this vital war financing program.

We hope you will also express our appreciation to your sponsors, who, with your help, made this advertising possible. More newspaper advertising support is needed now to keep War Bond sales sustained at a high level and your continued efforts in that direction will be most helpful indeed.

If there is any special assistance or cooperation that we can give you that will help build up your sponsored War Bond advertising, please let us know. Most cordially, S. George Little, Special Consultant, War Finance Division, Treasury Department.

experience in azalea growing, Mrs. Dickerson recommended that the soil should not be alkaline over "Ph 5.5" and suggested that a handful of cotton seed meal be given to each plant, and to give it plenty of water at the time of planting and thereafter.

"Azaleas require an acid soil, high in organic material, and rapidly decline if placed in an alkaline location," according to R. J. Wilcox, assistant horticulturist, Florida Experiment Station, in his Press Bulletin 603, available at the County Agent's office.

"Frequently the soil around new houses, brick, particularly, is contaminated with mortar from the walls or foundations," he wrote. "If there is any doubt, it should be removed, and the bed filled in with a mixture of leaf mold, peat, muck and loam, with perhaps some rotten cow manure mixed in."

"Yellowing and poor growth from the nursery can be moved at almost any time except when they are in active growth. Just before flowering is a favorite time. The soil around them should be well packed, and the whole bed covered with a mulch, preferably of oak leaves."

"Azaleas require a great deal of water during the blooming period and period of new growth, but will not tolerate a water-logged soil. A soil heavy in organic matter combined with the mulch will help to maintain the soil moisture. They are very shallow rooted. Moles frequently work through beds and lift small plants, causing them to dry out, and when this happens, the soil should be tamped down. Cultivation when necessary, should be very shallow."

"A fertilizer composed of 1 pound sulphate of ammonia, 2 pounds cotton seed meal, castor pomace or milleganite, 3.5 pounds superphosphate, 1.7 pounds sulphate of potash, and 1 pound sulphur or aluminum sulphate is recommended for home mixing. This is approximately a 4-6-8 mixture and should be well mixed. Using 10 times the amount listed of each ingredient, will give near 100 pounds of fertilizer."

"Seed and plant houses may carry a special azalea-casellella fertilizer which can be purchased ready-mixed. It should be applied just as soon as flowering is over at the rate of a double handful to a good sized plant and again in June if needed."

"Pruning and poor growth may indicate that the soil is alkaline. For quick results, an application of aluminum sulphate (alum) is recommended, but ordinary agricultural sulphur will correct the trouble in a reasonable length of time."

"Pruning, except to keep the plants shapely, is not necessary. If practiced, it should be done as soon as flowering is over and before the new growth emerges. Pruning back half-hardened new growth will promote heavier flowering."

Frenzied Japs Hurl Selves Into Volcano

Marines Scale Summit Of Suribachi While Others In North Repulse Two Attacks

By Associated Press
American Marines scaled the summit of the Suribachi volcano fortress on the southern tip of Iwo Island in the most dramatic feat of that costly campaign while the Japanese islander renewed their northward drive after repulsing two heavy night counterattacks.

The Japanese leaped to death from the rim of the volcanic crater as the Marines mopped up by-passed pockets with flame throwers.

In a futile gesture of defiance, Japanese swimmers landed on the southwest coast in an effort to attack the American rear.

Tokyo increased its claims of sinkings and damaging U.S. warships to 28 off Iwo.

In the Philippines American Infantrymen invaded Capul Island off the southern tip of Luzon. The tanks captured Manila's city hall and the Manila hotel after bloody duels.

American casualties in the bloody battle for Iwo Island have increased from 77 to more than 300 an hour, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed yesterday.

The intrepid American Marines continued their slow advance on the vital central airfield after stopping Japanese counterattacks.

Upwards of 45,000 Americans were fighting to the death against some 20,000 in an area of eight square miles. Japanese guns commanded every yard of the American positions. Enemy planes had started to break through and had damaged the invasion fleet. The beaches were strewn with wrecked American equipment.

Lions Club Backs Retired Railroad Establishment Of Man Succeeds At Trailer Camp Here Victory Gardening

Retired Delaware Machinist Is Ready To Launch Project

The Lions Club today went on record as approving establishment of a trailer camp here by Harry Crosson, retired machinist of Wilmington, Delaware on the City owned site on French Avenue between Fourth and Fifth Streets.

To this end, J. E. Rowland appointed a committee composed of W. B. Biting, L. J. Owen and James Robson to assist in any way possible the location of this camp.

Grady Duncan, city sanitary engineer, told the club that Mayor Higgins had conferred with Mr. Crosson about the project, had approved it and had instructed him (Mr. Duncan) to represent the city in placing the matter before the Lions.

Duncan stressed the need of such a trailer camp, and told of how he had often found it necessary, much to his regret, to have to move people in trailers from place to place for sanitary reasons.

Lieut. Raymond Kader Is Prisoner Of War

First Lieut. Raymond Kader, previously reported missing in action over the European continent, has now been declared a prisoner of war of the German government, J. A. Uilo, adjutant general, advised Mr. and Mrs. William Kader, parents of the young man.

The International Red Cross secured word from the Germans that Lieut. Kader, navigator of the number one plane in a group of B-17 bombers, was captured Dec. 29, 1940.

A friend of Lieut. Kader's telephone Mr. Kader here and explained that he was an eyewitness of the young man's mishap and stated that, when his plane was knocked out of formation, Lieut. Kader radioed he was forced to parachute. The spokesman told Mr. Kader he planned to visit him a few days in Sanford to tell him any other information he could.

Lieut. Kader had completed 33 missions over enemy territory when he was shot down.

Improvement Of St. Johns River Included In Bill

$290,000 Set Aside To Deepen Channel Palatka To Harney

Deepening and improvement of the St. Johns River channel from Palatka to Sanford, and surveys and reviews of additional improvements of the river from Palatka to Lake Harney, were among the projects authorized in the Rivers and Harbors bill, which, according to Representative Joe Hendricks, has just passed the House of Representatives and has now gone to the White House for the signature of the President.

The bill authorizes construction of projects in the amount of $2,000,000 for the State of Florida.

Mayor Edward Higgins, who has long been a proponent of improvement of the St. Johns River channel could not be reached this morning for comment on this bill, having left for Jacksonville.

However, he recently indicated that he strongly favored the bill. The St. Johns River is deepened from Palatka to Sanford from eight to 12 feet, instead of 10 feet as had been previously proposed.

To this end, conferences had been scheduled both here and in Jacksonville on March 13 and 14, but a recent telegram from Ed Higgins, consulting engineer with whom he was to have conferred on the subject, stated that the hearing had been postponed until April 2 and 3. The purpose of the hearing is to discuss advisability of the 12 foot river channel. The initial hearing on April 2 will be in Sanford, and the following day in Jacksonville.

A 12 foot channel, Mayor Higgins pointed out, would result in an inland waterway of this depth from Sanford to Trenton, N. J., a distance of 100 miles, without stopping and reducing freight costs. It would be the same depth as the East Coast Canal and the proposed Florida coast canal.

The St. Johns River improvements from Palatka to Sanford as based on a 10 foot channel plan are estimated to cost $1,921,000. This would include cut-offs and raising of banks, and includes a 10 foot channel to Enterprise on Lake Monroe. A five foot cut-off channel between Enterprise and Lake Monroe is included at a cost of $25,500, and would bring a fresh water current along the Sanford bulkhead with resultant sanitary improvement, Mayor Higgins recently stated.

The bill as passed includes inland canal improvements from Jacksonville to Miami, a 12 foot channel near Trenton, east of Panama Creek, and Panama River to or near Eau Gallie, side channel on the intra-coastal waterway at Titusville, Flagler Beach and New Smyrna. It also includes improvements at St. Augustine Harbor, and to the Oklawaha River and to tributaries of the Lake Basin Provision.

It is also made for deepening and widening the St. Johns River from Jacksonville to the ocean at a cost of $3,500,000.

Authorized also is a survey for the system of inland waterways sponsored by Central Florida Incorporated, a group organized for water control and conservation, of which Edward Higgins is secretary.

Lt. Harry Grimball Returns To U. S. On Gripsholm

Lieut. Harry Grimball, U. S. Army, returned to the United States on the Gripsholm, which was coming from Europe on the 21st, arrived Wednesday on the exchange ship Gripsholm, and was taken to General Halloran Hospital, State Island, where he was visited there by his father, H. M. Grimball of 1118 Magnolia Avenue, who later telephoned Mrs. Grimball that his son was able to walk without noticeable limp, despite three wounds in his right leg.

At 9:00 o'clock yesterday morning, Lieut. Grimball telephoned his mother and assured her that he was getting along fine and hoped to be sent to a Florida military hospital, also given leave of 30 days.

Lieut. Grimball, according to his father, was outstanding in his praise for the services rendered by the Red Cross to prisoners of war. He particularly referred to the vital aid of the food packages sent to the men by the Red Cross.

According to information received by Mrs. Grimball from the pilot of the Fortress of which Lieut. Grimball was a member of the crew, a swarm of German planes met the plane just about as it was about to launch its bombs on the target.

Lieut. Grimball, his leg severely wounded, managed to drag himself to the bomb bay doors and jump after all but he and the pilot had left the ship, and parachuted to the ground from a height of 19,600 feet. He was later found, and sent to a hospital near Paris, and on D-Day transferred by the Germans to Germany. He was released from there Jan. 3 under prisoner of war exchange agreements.

WEATHER
FLORIDA—Partly cloudy and mild in extreme south through Saturday. Mostly cloudy and moderately cool in north and central portions through Saturday.
