BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

SOME CALL THIS THE SUBCONSCIOUS MIND, BUT WE FEAR THE VERY THING MEN FEVERISHLY SEEK. HOW TO TAP INFINITE INTELLIGENCE, AND IN WHAT WAY? But we shall receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you.—Acts 1:8.

Miami is getting ready for the biggest tourist season on record in spite of the fact that it has no place to put its visitors.

The first Florida frosts of the year were reported yesterday in the Gainesville district. In the Sanford area the little cold snap made everyone feel good.

We suppose some people believe these statements that raising wages won't raise prices, but the wise guys on Wall Street indicate by the rising stock market quotations what the long view of it is.

The town of Cocoa has increased its city tax mileage by 75 cents, part of the revenue from which will be used to hire a city manager. If they can find a good manager it will be money well spent.

Politics are starting to simmer in Florida with the pot just now half-filled with a concoction of potential candidates for United States Senator. From the names mentioned, that soup is going to be plenty hot.—Missouri Times.

With all these doctors coming back from the war where they have learned to fight for what they want, the movement for a new hospital should receive a decided impetus. They know the need for it perhaps better than anyone else.

According to the War Shipping Administration, strikes on the Pacific coast are delaying the return home of thousands of American troops who have been fighting the Japanese. We have an idea that if these veterans knew about it, they might be irked against the men who are responsible for these strikes.

When the New York public was permitted aboard the mighty battleship Missouri when the Japanese surrender documents were signed, souvenir hunters brought their pliers and blow torches with them to take away parts of the hull, anything moveable, to keep as a souvenir. We suppose they were mostly taxpayers trying to get their money's worth, but the kamikaze raids of the Pacific still could have been written about any one of hundreds of thousands of young men who are eager to get home to their sweethearts.

Sam Byrd, who once wrote a book about Sanford once too often, has written a new book. It is called "Hurry Home to My Heart," and was written while he was sweating it out on Oklawaha where he was something of a professional beachmaster after participating in the Normandy invasion as scoutmaster of an assault team. It is a simple love story and could have been written about any one of hundreds of thousands of young men who are eager to get home to their sweethearts.

President Truman insists that labor and management should work together. How? Well, that's their problem. It may not be so simple though for government to escape its fair share of the responsibility after releasing virtually every phrase of a labor operation, including wages and prices, for four years. And many of those regulations, including prices, still in operation. It is hard to run a business which someone else tells how to run but who assumes the responsibility for its success.

Winter in Finland

The immediate months ahead hold a terrifying prospect for Finland, according to Prof. Douglas Steere of Haverford College, who has recently visited the Scandinavian countries as a member of the American Friends Service Committee. The Finns, spiritually and politically confused by attacks from both sides during this war, are shockingly in need of shelter, food and clothing.

Conditions are worst in the northern or Lapland area. A city there, Rovaniemi, once an attractive modern community of 9,000, is a tangled mass of chimneys, ashes and twisted metal. Citizens pouring back sleep in temporary barracks, ten in one windowless room, in card board packing boxes or in cellars. Food allowances average 1,187 calories per day, hardly half enough for nourishment in a cold country. The list is confined to oatmeal, black bread, dried peas, a few vegetables and a monthly limit of eight cents' worth of meat and half a pound of cooking fat. Destroyed railroads, highways and bridges make it difficult to distribute the limited supplies on hand.

Retreating German soldiers spitefully carried off systematic waste, finishing off each-house they came to, demolishing farms, burning barns and even hay stacks. This has turned the Finns finally and bitterly against Germany, and given them a great longing to re-discover ties with America.

Irresponsibility

Is Uncle Sam, after fighting two great wars at once and winning magnificently, going to throw away the fruits of victory again as he did so blindly a quarter of a century ago? There is fear of such recklessness in many quarters. General George C. Marshall himself warns the American people that there has begun not only disintegration of the armed forces, but a loss "apparently of all conception of world responsibility."

In short, our present mood and procedure seem already to have started frittering away the benefits of these last five years with their supposed gains in national strength and safety and our supposed progress for the future.

It is easy enough to understand the let-down of a war-weary world after so great a struggle. But no responsible nation, particularly in so uncertain a world as the present, lures turn its back upon basic realities. For the only possible outcome for such a rash and frivolous procedure would be first to revive and encourage our beaten enemies, and then a little later to find ourselves fighting all over again for our lives and possessions. Can we be again so tragically irresponsible as that?

Teen - Towns

Teen-towns are reducing youthful crime. This is the finding of the government report, just released, on these newly established youth centers, of which there are about 3,000 in 34 states.

While dancing might be thought the chief activity of the centers, it is far from being the only one. Dramatics, orchestras, arts and crafts and hobby groups take up much of the young people's time.

The results are wholly good. From Spokane, Wash., to Muncie, Ind., and Bangor, Me., the same reports come of reduced youthful delinquency and fewer youngsters on the streets at night.

Who starts these centers? Public recreation departments, war committees, "Y's", church and school groups, and just plain unattached good citizens. Any of these in communities lacking Teen-towns might think about organizing them.

WASHINGTON Report

Mrs. Truman—Has Hair-Do First Lady, Now Rationing Appointment Between Texas Is Over, Drives Own Motor

By HELEN ESSARY Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—The other morning the phone at a beauty parlor on upper Connecticut avenue rang. The White House was calling. Mrs. Truman was on the wire.

"Good morning," said the First Lady in a slightly hurried voice. "Can you give me an appointment some time this afternoon? Oh, dear, you can't! What am I to do? I always come to you. I've got two teas this afternoon and my hair is simply dreadful. What did you say? You can work me in somehow between the teas? Great! I'll be there whenever you say."

About five o'clock Mrs. Truman arrived. "I'm a little excited," she said, as she sank into an operator's chair. "This is the first time I've driven my car since gas rationing ended. There's so much more traffic on the streets than there used to be. It makes me nervous."

After the quick hair-do, Mrs. Truman went out into the maze of the rush hour, found her car and drove off to the second tea.

When Mrs. Roosevelt announced that she was going to drive her blue roadster herself and neither depend on official limousines nor need secret service chaperonage, this departure from the ways of previous First Ladies startled the country. Obviously Mrs. Truman is going her own unprotected way. Without even realizing that she is doing it.

Further note on the beauty parlor habits of the ladies of the White House: Miss Margaret Truman usually arrives ahead of her appointment with the hairdresser. Gets herself one of those log-covered magazines that live too long in beauty parlors. Then sits calmly reading until her turn comes.

HAD A LETTER TODAY from the University of North Carolina Veterans' association in Chapel Hill, one of the loveliest spots in the south in spite of its high academic standing. I print it exactly:

"Dear Mrs. Essary It has occurred to me that you would help veterans in college who wish to buy jeeps from the war department. The present ruling of the Surplus Property Custodian places these jeeps only at the disposal of business men.

"Many veterans here are anxious to own jeeps. But before any action is taken, it will be necessary to change the present ruling. Will you please look into this and help us in any way you can—Blount Stewart, secretary, Veterans' Association."

I have looked into the matter, sir. My report is not too concise. However, the war department tells me that if a group of veterans wants to go into business, by way of the jeeps, they must consult the Small War Plants Corporation. Or if they want jeeps for their own personal use, they may buy in the open market.

This means buying from a dealer who has bought wholesale. The war department does not sell surplus commodities. The department of commerce is this sales agency.

I did not get the impression that there was an actual ruling against the purchase of jeeps by individuals.

STILL ON THE COLLEGE THEME, here's a kind word for the efforts of the Wellesley and Vassar clubs to raise money for scholarship funds.

The North Window (From American Weave)

Our house stands on a northern slope, Old maple trees on either side. Tall lilacs, planted years ago, Have grown to frame the weathered door.

And over it, in spring their blooms Flood fragrance in the low-ceiled rooms. Here oftentimes grandfather stood

To look through little panes At hills and woods and growing crops, To pasture where the cattle grazed.

And wondered which, if any, son Would till the ground as he had done.

Here, too, perhaps my father stood And hoped that some among his boys Would be so rooted to the soil

That no appeal from outer world Could draw them from the sacred land.

And now I come, and humbly stand To gaze at barns and sheds and fields And pray that changing fate of war

May leave some son to carry on, To love these fields as we have done, To leave strong sons who, in their turn, Deep love of home and land may learn.

The house, oak-framed, will stand for long, Though lives of men may come and go. The everlasting hills will lift Their heads to clouds that float along.

But will my sons come back to prove The sure devotion of their love? —EDWIN W. PROCTOR.

NOTICE

I expect to be in Sanford on Friday Nov. 9 and will be in the Chamber of Commerce Office at 2 P.M.

I will be glad to see anyone who has business to take up with me. Joe Hendricks

Chapter Entertained By Mrs. Hodgkin

The St. Monica Chapter of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church met last evening at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Mayme Hodgkin on Lake Orono for a buffet supper and business meeting.

With Mrs. Hodgkin conducting the meeting, it was decided that Mrs. Jack McDonald and Mrs. James Crapps should attend the district meeting of the Women's Auxiliary which will be held at the Mayfair Hotel on Nov. 21.

The Rev. Mark Carpenter read aloud the latest edition of the chapter's newspaper, "Hells of St. Monica" written by Mrs. John Tatum and Miss Cecelia Truluck which is sent to service men in and out of the United States. It was decided that Mrs. Tatum and Mrs. Raymond Lundquist would edit the next paper.

A "Treasure Chest" to be used for a building fund to improve the interior of the church was explained by the Rev. Carpenter. St. Monica Chapter was requested to participate in "Public Opinion" sales to add to the treasure chest. Members were also requested to join the chapter.

Those attending were: Rev. and Mrs. Moses Carpenter, Mrs. Mayme Hodgkin, Mrs. Irving Feinberg, Mrs. Raymond Lundquist, Mrs. John Tatum, Mrs. James Crapps, Mrs. John Tatum, Mrs. Carol Stone, Mrs. James H. Jones, Mrs. Ava Wright, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Dyson, Mrs. M. L. Boyd, Mrs. Mildred Roberts, Mrs. Barbara Rapoport, Mrs. Robley Bruce, Mrs. H. TERRACE TALK

The NEW Country Club is all the rage and as far as conversation goes and as far as conversation will go it goes the "young generation" talk of a good looking club with a Mr. Von... of architecture at the front overlooking the ninth hole. We have heard rumors of removing the sand-spurs, installing a sprinkling system, but let's put some columns in front of the present building and make it look like something to be proud to be a member of and too... couldn't the Chamber of Commerce use an attractive Seminole Country Club in its attractive companion for tourists in Sanford?

The combination dinner and bridge party given Sunday evening at the HQ at the Naval Air Station was ultra successful. Sixty guests remained after the dinner to play bridge. The high scores were: LIEUTS. BOOD (REAL) and TANGEMAN.

Spills, thrills and what have you occurred Sunday at the Motorcycle Races which were held at the Seminole Driving Park. With 5,000 spectators screaming as the motors churned around the tracks at 110 miles per hour excitement was contagious. After looking over the spectators at sunset for my job and helmet.

They said it in one line: "GEORGE WILLIAM CURTISS. The pride of ancestry increased in the ratio of distance." ROBERT M. HUTCHINSON. "Whenever I feel like exercise I lie down until the feeling passes." SAMUEL JOHNSON. "No man was ever great by imitation." RALPH WALLEMERSON. "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it." ALEXANDER POPE. "Those best can hear reproof who merit praise."

Texas Has Women As Well As Cattle

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
NEW YORK—Texas has beautiful women as well as fine cattle. And we can take some beauty cues from these strong-boned, bright-cheeked maids of the Lone-Star State.

Besides all the fresh air the average Texas girl makes sure she gets, she is also a good eater. She doesn't nibble on bunny food such as lettuce and carrots to keep her beauty. Of course she eats carrots, but she makes sure she eats a good solid meal too.

It's the quality and not the quantity that helps keep her slim and pretty.

Eating with the Texas girls who are here for the rodeo, one gasps at their amazing appetites. But, they don't load up on carbohydrates such as spaghetti and bread. Nor, on the other hand, do they neglect to eat potatoes, which aren't as fattening, taken in moderation, as some people seem to think.

Texas girls are meat-and-vegetable fans. They attribute their strong bones to meat and their good coloring to vegetables.

Of course, there are all sorts of vegetables—and wilted looking ones or those that have been cooked until they are devilamplified are not going to do anybody a bit of good.

If you want to get the most out of your vegetables, make sure they are fresh from the soil, frozen or otherwise in excellent condition.

Be sure to get your quota of meat and drink plenty of milk. Exercise will help too, to bring

Florida Gators Are Training For Georgia

(Gainesville, Nov. 6. (Special) A crippled University of Florida Gator Football squad settled down to daily drills here this week to prepare for their annual football classic with the University of Georgia Bulldogs and Charlie JaTrippi at Municipal Stadium in Jacksonville.

Minus two first string guards in Kenny Hamilton, injured in the Auburn game last Saturday, and an emergency appendectomy just before the Auburn game, Head Coach Tom Lieb said that the big question this week is whether the Gators can recuperate enough to put them in condition for the game Saturday.

Lieb's only comment on the Auburn-Gator tilt which saw the Flainemen roll up a 13-0 victory in the last half was that, "They just had a better ball club than we did."

Although Lieb isn't optimistic about the game this Saturday afternoon, he isn't cringing either. "We'll do our best with the material we have—and we'll let Georgia know we're on the field," he remarked.

The Gator's aerial attack, expected for Auburn, was in for drill again this week. A wet field and drizzle kept the attack grounded at Auburn, but bar-rin more wet weather Saturday, the Gators will definitely take to the air.
Main sparkplug in the Gator's defense at Auburn was Jack White, veteran tackle, who has ball. In the backfield Coach Bob Fitman will be calling on the excellent services of Fred Hoger, Fivie Dupree, Angus Williams and Tom Vancelas and Tony Ochiruz, to take over the major assignments this week and 1945—NEW G-E 100-MILLION-VOLT "BETATRON"!

This 130-ton giant whirls electrons, tiniest parts of atoms, faster than man has ever been able to speed them before. So fast that they make the nearly 17-foot circular orbit of a doughnut-shaped vacuum tube 250,000 times in 1/240th of a second, and, striking a tungsten target, produce x-rays of 100-million-electron volts!
Dr. E. E. Charlton, left, and W. F. Westendorp, G-E scientists, designed this new machine, which generates x-rays over a thousand times as intense as the early Coolidge tube—with a wave length of 0.00025 Angstrom units, up in the cosmic ray band! These rays will penetrate a thickness of metal considerably greater than even the 2,000,000-volt x-ray unit.

But more important still may be the uses of these super x-ray machines in medical and atomic research. G. E. is making them available to medical science for experimental therapy. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

1895—Roentgen, in Germany, discovers mysterious powerful ray, names it "X"—the unknown. One year later, W. D. Coolidge, student at M.I.T., begins experimenting with x-rays. His x-ray tubes were about 25,000 volts.

1913—Dr. W. D. Coolidge, at General Electric, invents revolutionary new x-ray tube. First reliable method of controlling x-rays. This tube was 100,000 volts.

1920—Coolidge designs completely demountable tube and transformer for an x-ray unit. The first wholly self-contained and adequate dental x-ray outfit came out of this.

1923—Coolidge develops "200,000-volt" deep therapy" tube with water-cooled target. This higher voltage tube greatly reduced time required for x-ray treatments.

1933—General Electric builds multi-section tube producing 800,000-volt x-rays. Installed in Mercy Hospital, Chicago, and Swedish Hospital, Seattle; these units have been in constant use ever since.

1940—First 1,000,000-volt unit, plus portability, making x-rays more useful to medicine and industry. Fifty-six of these units built by G-E X-Ray Corporation used in U.S. war production—over 6000 in England. In 1943 General Electric scientists and engineers developed the first portable 2,000,000-volt x-ray.

THE FIRST of 2000 Japs charged with being war criminals will be brought in trial within 60 days, according to Col. Alvin C. Carpenter (above), Ft. Wayne, Ind., chief of the legal section in Gen. MacArthur's command. He is pictured in his office in Tokyo where he also declared that "nothing under two years will be the time necessary to try war criminals." (International)

HAPPY about the whole thing, Capt. Thomas Ambrose of Chicago smiles after learning that the Mutual Life Insurance Company had to write him off the books. The 96-year-old G.I. R. veteran reached the point on the expectancy table where his policy is fully payable. (Date continued)

FOLLOWING COLLAPSE OF NEGOTIATIONS for a new contract, about 4,000 Greyhound Bus Company employees went on strike, crippling bus travel in the Atlantic Coast region as far west as the Mississippi River. Here a bus is unloading passengers on the street side of a picket line in Washington, D. C., so that the driver wouldn't have to move through the line. The strike affected about 1,000 buses.
