

PROHIBITION AMENDMENT DEFEATED IN SENATE

FAILS TO CARRY IN UPPER HOUSE BY ONE VOTE ON TUESDAY

Tallahassee, Fla., April 16.—A vote on the prohibition amendment was taken in the senate Tuesday, resulting in 19 yeas and 12 nays. The roll call showed the following vote:

Mr. President (Chas. E. Davis), nay. Senators Adkins, 15th district; Blitch, 21st district, yea; Brown, 29th district, yea; Collins, 16th district, nay; Cooper, 27th district, yea; Donegan, 19th district, yea; Drane, 7th district, yea; Farris, 18th district, nay; Fogarty, 24th district, yea; Gorton, 12th district, nay; Greene, 30th district, yea; Himes, 11th district, yea; Himes, 11th district, nay; Hudson, 13th district, yea; Igou, 23rd district, yea; Johnson, 17th district, nay; Jones, 2nd district, nay; Lindsey, 3rd district, yea; McClellan, 25th district, nay; McEachern, 22nd district, yea; McGeechey, 1st district, yea; Middleton, 26th district, yea; Plympton, 14th district, yea; Roddenberry, 5th district, nay; Roland, 32nd district, yea; Stringer, 9th district, yea; Terrill, 20th district, yea; Watson, 6th district, yea; Wells, 8th district, nay; Wills, 4th district, nay; Zim, 31st district, nay.

Blitch opening the debate presented submission as a Democratic measure and the appealed for right of the people to decide in reasonable intervals especially in the name of the 25,000 new voters since the last submission in 1910.

The old arguments of local self government and the right of counties to decide their own affairs, was made by Johnson, Himes, Farris, Davis, Gorton, Wills.

Roland argued that the state is the unit and the people the masters of public sentiment.

Blitch gave notice that if the amendment was defeated he would introduce ten or more prohibition bills. Blitch changed his vote to nay and gave notice of a vote to reconsider it tomorrow.

In order to submit a constitutional amendment it is necessary for the resolution proposing it to receive three-fifths of the full membership of each house. There are 33 members in each house and while the amendment received a straight majority of yeas, votes it lacked one vote of having a three-fifths majority. If the amendment had received twenty votes it would have carried in the senate.

Telegraph Poles

About two o'clock Tuesday afternoon a large Postal Telegraph pole on First street near the railroad yards fell carrying four others on the street with it. The five poles were all in the block between Myrtle and Laurel and the wonder is that several people were not killed by the poles. W. R. Pell was near Myrtle with his horse and wagon and seeing the pole falling whipped up and escaped the pole but the wire hit him and he escaped by a very narrow margin. Several other narrow escapes were reported.

All five of the poles were absolutely rotten and totally unsafe and the Postal and all other corporations that have these rotten poles in the city limits should be made to replace them at once with good ones. No one ever suspected that these poles were so badly decayed and only the accident of Tuesday betrayed that fact. The danger of such a catastrophe is apparent at once and the city council should order the companies to place good poles at once.

This demonstrates that all poles should be abolished in the city limits and the underground system used.

Pure Homeicide

Several days ago a negro man and wife in this city engaged in an altercation and in the mix up the woman cut the man with a razor and he died the following day. The negro hands working in a celery field the day after were heard in the following conversation:

"Say, did you hear bout dat homeicide lass night?"

"No, what you mean, homeicide?"

"Niggah, done get cut by his wife and died."

"How cum you call dat homeicide?"

"Kase hit happen in de home, you fool niggah."

As the explanation seemed logical enough there was no more conversation about the "homeicide" and the one who explained it is now looked upon as a scholar.

Clean Up Day

The date is Thursday, April 22nd. Let every public spirited citizen, male and female, young and old take part in the work. Collect together all your useless things, put in oil bottles, tin cans or any receptacle in which water might remain, make arrangements that no stagnant water can be retained which will cause a breeding place for mosquitoes. If you will begin now the work will be easy. In some places that four or five days ago were covered with refuse, today they are clean and beautiful.

Let the beauty go forth hand in hand in all public utterances, so that our campaign will merit our good citizenship.

Olivet Commandery of Orlando had the largest representation at the convolve and occupied the post of honor in the parade. Mr. Frank B. Stoneman of Miami was made deputy grand commander.

NEW JITNEY BUS WILL OPERATE HERE

BUSINESS MEN FAVOR THE NEW TRANSPORTATION MOVEMENT

That the jitney bus would be a good thing for the city of Sanford was so decided at a meeting of the Merchants' Transportation League last Wednesday. The league met for the purpose of discussing the continuance of the efforts to induce trade to come to Sanford by the free transportation methods employed all last season and it was proven by many of the merchants present that the transportation problem was one of the drawbacks to the trade of Sanford. Ever since the depot was moved a mile from the business portion of the city the country trade has been handicapped by the 50 cents hack fare from the depot to the business portion of Sanford and in order to alleviate the situation the league was formed to give the customers free transportation. The increase in trade conditions more than justified the outlay in expense and the merchants will continue the plan this summer. The question of the jitney bus was taken up and a member of the new firm that will operate the new jitney busses was present to explain the plan to the merchants. There will be several busses of the Ford type installed and each one of them will hold eight passengers. Regular schedules will be made and the cars will operate from given stations on the streets, giving the city a regular car service at the low rate of ten cents. The merchants endorsed the jitney busses and promised to give the new company their support in every way possible.

Located Submarine

Headed by a U. S. Fish Commission Marine officer, a 250-foot under water boat today walked along the top of the submarine F. I. which disappeared March 25. The depth of the boat is said to be a world's diving record.

While diving the F. I. found on a smooth, sandy bottom with no coral growth to impede boating operations. She lay on her starboard side, her bow pointing shoreward. Two parts of her were found attached to the bottom.

The diver went down in an ordinary diving suit and the recompression chamber designed to reduce pressure on him was not used.

SUFFRAGETTES NEXT IN THE LEGISLATURE

BEFORE THE COMMITTEE YESTERDAY AND FIGHT STARTS TOMORROW

Tallahassee, April 15.—Suffrage workers in Tallahassee in the interest of the resolution providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment giving the women right to vote in the state of Florida had their first hearing before a committee Thursday afternoon, when the senate committee on constitutional amendments, of which Senator J. B. Jones of Escambia is chairman met.

The suffrage amendment is the next important issue to be thrashed out by the legislature and it is expected that the fight will begin to take on real form during the latter part of this week.

The suffragists are here in goodly numbers and are working hard for the passage of their resolution. It is pretty generally believed, however, that the resolution will not be looked on with favor by the legislature on the whole. Whether it will receive a favorable report at the hands of the committees is a question.

Tallahassee, April 15.—Senator Jones of Escambia county would have the present legislature create a state library at Tallahassee. During the session Wednesday morning he introduced a measure providing for the establishment of a state library, providing for a state librarian and a board of trustees for the state library.

Mr. Jones explained that the purpose of his bill is to fix it so that in the future it will be possible to go to some central point in the capital for information on any subject of state interest as desired and there secure it. He declares that it is necessary to run from one office to another to secure information desired. A similar bill was passed by one branch of the last legislature, but died in a committee room of the other before it could be reached.

Tallahassee, April 15.—If a committee report receives favorable attention at the hands of the legislature, the bill from the future will be put on the floor for consideration.

Whether or not the $200,000 high cost of living prompted the sheriffs to ask for increased fees for feeding prisoners, or whether or not it is their intention to give the inmates of county jails better meals from which to nurse their measles, is a question. It is a fact, however, that at a committee meeting held last night in the city hall, the sheriff proposed to charge $1.00 per meal for the feeding of prisoners to the number of ten, and forty cents per meal for the feeding of prisoners in excess of the number of ten. They now receive thirty and forty cents per meal, respectively.

Tallahassee, April 15.—In anticipation of a session of the insurance committees of both houses this afternoon late, insurance men from every section of the state are reaching the capital. Thirty administration measures introduced in the house by Representative Adkins of Alachua county will come up before the committee for discussion, and insurance men interested have been invited to appear and participate in the discussion.

There is a bare possibility that the meeting may be postponed owing to the absence of the member who proposed the measures and in order to allow other insurance men to reach the capital.

Tallahassee, April 15.—Senator H. B. Lindsey of Bonifay, representing the 3rd senatorial district, which embraces the counties of Holmes and Walton, will probably shortly offer a bill providing for the creation of two additional counties in West Florida. Mr. Lindsey is in receipt of numerous requests calling for the establishment of a new county taking three townships in the eastern side of Santa Rosa county and as many on the western side of Walton county. Similar requests have come from people residing on the eastern edge of Walton county and the western side of Holmes. It is suggested that Ponce de Leon would possibly be the seat of the county created of Walton and Santa Rosa portions. No site for the other proposed county has been decided upon.

Tallahassee, April 15.—Fish dealers from many sections of the state reached Tallahassee Wednesday for the purpose of appearing before a joint meeting of the senate and house committees on fisheries in connection with proposed legislation placing salt water fish under the shell fish commissioner and also placing a tax on alien fishermen and their boats, and other legislation concerning them.

For several days past the fisheries committees of both houses in joint sessions have been wrestling with the legislation touching on the fishing industry of the state. Among some of the things decided upon—and which will have a favorable report when presented is a bill providing for a tax of ten dollars on all aliens engaged in fishing within the three mile limit. A tax on tonnage on all vessels engaged in the fish business within the state's limits is also favored.

The proposed tax on aliens raises the question of constitutionality but the committee, after having dealt at length on the matter reached the conclusion that this is within the legislature's power.

Tallahassee, April 15. Florida may have her own Harrison anti-narcotic act. If Representative Harrison of Duval secures the passage of a measure entitled an act relating to the dispensing and sale of habit-forming drugs, there will be written on the statute books of the state an act which will be known as the Harrison anti-narcotic act, which would make it unlawful for any druggist or others to dispose of habit-forming drugs without a written prescription from a duly licensed physician or dentist or veterinary surgeon as provided in the bill.

Florida Federation of Womans Clubs Department of Public Health, Dr. E. J. Dowell, secretary. Chairman.

The Child Hygiene Committee of the Florida Federation of Womans Clubs has suggested an outline of work on that subject which we have adopted for Florida. It is concise, yet capable of such enlargement as time and interest suggests, and is planned to cover the months of March, April and May.

The health of a home, and of a community, depends to a great extent upon the quality of the air which we breathe. It is not enough for most homes to be well kept in every particular, because one small spot of infection may spread over a wide territory, and even invade the most sanitary home.

Eternal vigilance is the price of health, as well as of life. What is needed is a campaign of instruction for most people are willing to mend indifference and negligence once they are convinced it is a vital matter. This statement "Tuberculosis is a disease of childhood, and caught for the most part in the home before the age of fifteen years" is eloquent with suggestion. In taking up this child hygiene program which follows, especial attention is urged to the protection of the child from transmissible disease in the home. Give the children their rights, the first of which is a sound body.

March Care of the Baby:

(a) In the home. Feeding, clothing, bathing, sleeping.

(b) By the community: Clean milk, protection from transmissible disease, sanitary surroundings.

April Care of the Young Child:

(a) In the home. Mental, moral, physical.

(b) By the community: Education (Kindergarten, Montessori); recreation (games, playgrounds).

May—Prenatal conditions:

(a) Hereditary, midwifery, visiting nurse.

(b) Birth and death registration.

The first step in any campaign of education is publicity. You are urged to hold meetings on these subjects, and open them to all mothers. Ask your school mothers organization to join you in these meetings. And first of all, print this letter in your town newspaper. A list of books and pamphlets on the subjects suggested will be mailed to any one requesting it from the committee chairman. Very sincerely, Mrs. Laura V. McCullough, Lake Worth, Fla. Chairman Committee on Child Hygiene, Dept. Public Health, F. F. W. C.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY CONTINUES TO MOVE

TWIN AUCTIONEERS STIR UP THE BUYERS AND SELL MANY LOTS

Sanford real estate is moving. Ordinarily Sanford real estate moves by its own volition but just now it is being hastened by the activities of Penny Bros., and Thomas Bros. Twin Auctioneers who are here to awaken interest in the real estate line and call attention to the superior advantages of Sanford dirt as an investment.

The Twin Auctioneers woke up the city yesterday with a good band on the streets and carried the crowd to the lots at Midway, the new town for colored people. Here a free fish fry and other attractions kept the large crowd in good humor, supplemented by the great line of talk handed out by the twins and many lots were sold not only to the colored people who want homes but to white people who expect to build homes to rent to the colored tenants. The sale was very successful in every particular.

Today the Twins are busy trying to populate Markham Heights with a high class of residents and this fine piece of property will soon be filled with houses if the sale is any barometer of conditions.

The Twin Auctioneers are good ones and the manner in which they conduct a sale is satisfactory in every particular. Of course the Sanford property is good and the investors recognize this fact, but the Twins are irresistible and they assist the buyer in making up his mind to purchase.

Sanford ought to take on a first class building boom in the suburbs after the two sales days and there will be many new homes built during the summer months as the result of the auction sale.

Temple Brotherhood

That a cordial interest dominates the Temple Brotherhood class of men is manifested by the rapid growth in the enrollment and the excellent percentage in attendance. Last Sunday with an enrollment of 100 there was forty-two percent attendance. A letter addressed to the future. Prof. Ezell, leader, is making the class interesting and developing a class spirit that is very gratifying. "The Other Fellow" has been adopted as the motto.

Death of Mrs. Delamater

Mrs. Delamater, wife of Dr. Delamater died at her home on West First street yesterday morning after an illness of several months. The funeral took place this morning at ten o'clock. Rev. Strong of the Congregational church officiating. Interment was made in Lakeside cemetery.

A Wise Man Speaks

Oscar Underwood, probably the ablest man in our public life today spoke to newspaper men a few days ago, as he was leaving Orlando after a brief sojourn.

Mr. Underwood said that, with a little more development Florida would be able to feed half the people of the United States.

This strikes a key note. Why shouldn't Florida be the great supply station for the American public? Tampa Tribune.

Funeral of Nelson

Kanaw City, April 15.—Funeral services for William R. Nelson, editor of the Kanaw City Star, who died early yesterday will be buried today.

Bishop Cameron Mann of Orlando, Episcopal bishop of Florida will have charge of the services. Bishop Mann and Mr. Nelson had been personal friends since young manhood.

On Reapportionment

Tallahassee, Fla., April 15.—The matter of census and after that reapportionment of the representatives and senators of the state is following closely on the heels of the talk about constitutional convention.

There are many counties in the state with but one representative and no senator which are getting restive under the unfair manner in which the people of the county are deprived of representation provided by the constitution.

BILL SHOULD BE KILLED

Already the Reporter-Star has entered tentative approval of the right kind of an immigration bureau but at the same time it expressed the hope that only the right kind would be passed.

This bill makes it obligatory upon every man who has a subdivision to sell to register the same with the immigration bureau, with maps and descriptions and pay a fee for same, which shall be known as the registration and inspection fee.

"WE PRINT, YOU PROSPER"

A short time ago there came to this office a letter from one of the small printing offices of the state. On the letterhead was this striking line, summing up in language as terse as could express the idea, "We print, You Prosper."

Whether original with this Florida printer or not, we do not know, but four words could not be selected in the English language to more clearly express the seeming purpose and destiny of the printing art.

Through the art of printing the world has emerged from darkness and ignorance into light and civilization. By the medium of the press, every trade, every occupation that engages the talents and attention of man has been extended and prospered to a boundless degree.

But while the printer has furnished the means for the salvation of almost every other business, in a staggering number of instances he is unable to save his own.

Interest, depreciation and overhead expense are rocks often hidden to the master of the printing craft until they accomplish his destruction. There are hundreds of printers in Florida and other parts of the country who are operating at constant loss, but blissfully ignorant of their condition until bankruptcy mercifully forces them into some other means of making a living.

"We print, You prosper," is surely a good motto for the Florida printing profession.—Plant City Courier.

The Perry Herald says that Bob Holly is grooming himself for governor. We have known Holly for many a year and the Herald must be mistaken. He wouldn't do a thing to spoil our chances for the position.—Clearwater Sun.

No, indeed. Any time that you want the position just say the word and we will retire in your favor. A few more of those "fables" will land you in the Governor's chair or the electric chair.

Although it has been cool for the middle of April and the winds have been blowing something like is expected in March, crops are coming along nicely in all sections.

If you sleep, we will have less flies, less mosquitoes and much less sickness, by a general clean up day. We can have all of this and more—a beautiful city.

THE GROWERS LEAGUE ACTIVE

The Florida Growers and Shippers League in annual session at Tampa had a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening.

Manager Lloyd S. Tenny made his annual report, detailing the work accomplished during the past year, especially in the traffic department.

Mr. Tenny prefaced his report by saying that few people understand the work of the League, and reviewed the manner in which the League is operated. It is controlled by an executive committee consisting of nine members, three from the northern section, three from middle Florida and three from the southern part of the state.

Three new members were elected from the committee last night one from each section as follows: W. M. Gist of McIntosh, Dr. J. H. Ross of Florence Villa, and W. J. Krome of Homestead. D. S. Borland, of Ft. Myers was elected to succeed H. E. Heitman, also of Ft. Myers, who resigned on account of ill health and consequent inability to attend the meetings.

Various lines of activity undertaken by the Florida Growers & Shippers' League were outlined. Its members now number 1,153. Publicity notices are sent out to the newspapers every Monday, giving valuable information concerning rate changes and other pertinent matters. These notices are supplemented by the issuance of quarterly reports. Thus far the League has issued one bulletin. It deals with citrus canker. Three thousand copies have been distributed.

Standard packages will eventually be defined by law, believes Mr. Tenny. This conclusion is based on the legal contents for a barrel already established. Another legal phase, pure food regulations, dealing with misbranding and artificial coloring are also coming into effect.

Must Popularize Grapefruit

Great necessity for a popularizing campaign to increase the demand for grapefruit was stressed. This, too, Mr. Tenny said, is a critical situation. The Florida Growers and Shippers League has set about remedying it to some extent by prevailing on the railroads to reduce the price of grapefruit on dining cars. Most of them have complied. The price on the Seaboard is ten cents for a half; fifteen cents for a whole grapefruit.

Thousands of dollars have been saved the state, declared Mr. Tenny, through the work of the department. This department was started a year ago. It is managed by one of the most competent traffic experts in the south, E. C. Hoskins, formerly of Tampa. Among the valuable accomplishments of the traffic department is its success in persuading the railroads to publish through rates. Demurrage charges have been cut more than one-half.

Probably $10,000 a year is saved the growers by one item alone the withdrawal of a two-dollar fee for reconsigning and diverting, which was suspended through the efforts of the League. Also, much money was saved the growers when the league, through Mr. Hoskins prevailed on the railroads to withdraw the proposed charge for refrigerator equipment, when moved under ventilators.

A claim department has also been established in connection with the traffic department, all managed by Mr. Hoskins. This department handles only those claims which are against transportation companies, and does not pretend to collect claims against private dealers, as that phase of collection has to do with marketing. The Florida Growers and Shippers League is not a marketing agency.

Much of the work of this department is in obtaining from the railroads a refund for overcharges. Whenever a change in the rates is obtained it is announced through press notices and bulletins.

Organizing Freight Rate Service

A freight rate guide service is one of the valuable features to be inaugurated by Traffic Manager Hoskins next season. Loose leaf books will be sold to the growers showing rates from every shipping point in Florida to 3,000 markets. This book will be constantly revised, as rates are lowered or raised. It will be simple so that the grower and shipper can have a reference that will be absolutely correct.

State of the league's finances was announced in the report of Dr. J. H. Ross. According to the schedule prepared by Mr. Tenny, the league needs $12,210 to carry on its work next season. All but $3,710 of this has been raised. Dr. Ross urged all to get new members.

Citrus Canker Discussed

All of yesterday afternoon was spent in a consideration of various phases of citrus canker and the steps being taken to eradicate it. The first speaker was Prof. H. E. Stevens of Gainesville, who subject was "The Nature and Cause of Citrus Canker." He gave the history of the fight in the state and declared that the only way to eradicate the disease is by burning the infected trees, the plan that has been generally adopted in this state. Dr. E. W. Berger, state nursery inspector, spoke on the "Origin, Distribution and Spread of Citrus Canker." He declared that the disease originated in Japan and was brought to the Gulf states on nursery stock. The first active infection in Florida was discovered in Monticello in 1912 and since that time other infections have been discovered in Dade county and other parts of the state.

Dr. Berger said that the disease is transmitted in many ways, as it is very virulent and the germs may travel for long distances. Among the ways in which it is spread are on farm tools by human beings coming into contact with it, possibly by birds, but the principal means is by the transportation of infected nursery stock. In order that the state may be protected against the disease in the future, Dr. Berger said, it will be necessary to secure legislation authorizing the employment of a larger corps of nursery inspectors and to have inspectors stationed at all ports of entry to examine incoming nursery stock. Not only the fruit grower, but the trucker and the general farmer should be interested in this movement, he declared, as insect pests brought from foreign countries threaten them also. The merchant, too, has a vital interest in the situation, as the destruction of the prosperity of the surrounding country will also cause him to suffer.

Frank Stirling of Miami, inspector in charge of the work of eradicating the disease in Dade county, where it is most prevalent, gave an interesting idea of the extent of the disease, stating that up to April 1, $26,000 had been expended with 112 inspectors at work at a cost of $250 per day. The women have also assisted by giving fairs and bazaars. Most of the money used in fighting the disease has been raised locally. Mr. Stirling said, but recently growers over the state have awakened and are assisting, and the Federal government has made an appropriation available. Since the disease was first discovered 13,000 grove trees have been burned and approximately 300,000 nursery trees and the loss to the growers has not been less than $50,000.

Mr. Henry, an inspector under Mr. Stirling, went more into detail as to the methods employed. He stated that the corps of inspectors are under as stern a discipline as soldiers and that they are divided into separate squads. One squad inspects the groves that are actually known to be infected and another inspects groves where no infection has been discovered. In this way there is no opportunity for the disease to be carried from infected to non-infected groves by the inspectors themselves. In addition, the inspectors engaged in infected groves wear linen suits, which are disinfected after leaving each grove. Moreover, no inspector is allowed to touch a tree with his hands or clothing. GENEVA NEWS

All nature has put on her spring robes, and the trees which were bare, and apparently dead, are putting forth their delicate buds and tender leaves and shouting new life. This is the season of resurrection.

We all rejoice at the news that the brick road to Sanford is to be completed. What will add more to the development of Florida than good roads? Who would object to them? The "kicker," did you say? Well, let him kick; his "knock" rebounds so that he is the fellow who gets the force of the blow.

The rain Tuesday was of inestimable value. Some one said it rained two feet in ten minutes. I think, though, he was a traveling man! However, it rained about two inches in an hour. Thanks!

Mr. Peters, Sr., has been quite ill for the past ten days but we are glad that he is much improved at this time.

Mr. Crostwait with Mr. and Mrs. Frisby of Bloomington, Ill., were here looking over the Geneva vicinity recently. The latter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dooley Sunday.

The Chase Packing Co. recently loaded four cars of fruit, making a total of about 100 cars this season. The Geneva school is having a well bored.

Mr. and Mrs. Curlett motored to Orlando Monday in their "Universal car" and back to "Prospect City."

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wicks was struck by a swiftly flying ball on the school grounds the other day and rendered unconscious by the blow. He has recovered.

GENEVA
One of the best musical treats we have had the pleasure of hearing for a number of years was that given at the Methodist church on last Sunday afternoon by Professors Tharp, Berry and Adams.

These young men possess remarkable musical talent and are traveling in the interest of their profession. They are composers of some of the best songs, also of instrumental music. Among the numbers of their productions is one entitled "Wonderful Love," and "Going Down the Valley, One by One," which was well rendered, and each a gem in itself. To listen to them sing proves what can be accomplished by the human voice. They have organized classes in neighboring towns, which can testify to their ability and efficiency as teachers of instrumental and vocal music.

Most of our young people are interested in the study of music, and we trust they may organize a class in Geneva at an early date.

MOORE'S STATION

Rev. Bartlette of Enterprise is expected here to preach Sunday, the 18th.

W. E. Squires died at his home on Cameron avenue the 12th of April. The funeral was held at his late home on the 13th, interment at Lakeview cemetery. Much sympathy is expressed for his family. More particulars in next issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Bridges and children are in Titusville the first of the week, attending the funeral of Mrs. Bridge's father, John Jones. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McClelland attended Ebenezer church and visited friends near there last Sunday.

F. L. Green, our mail man is now driving a fine new Saxon auto delivering mail. His car has a commodious place for parcel post packages and altogether looks pretty nifty.

H. S. Iamon, who came here from Chicago some time ago and purchased improved land in Cameron city expects Mrs. Iamon and their daughter, Marian soon to join him here to make their home.

James Hixon is the latest celery avenue celery grower we know of who with his family are enjoying a new auto.

James and Duncan Mitchell are camping at Clifton Springs turtle hunting for profit and pleasure. There were 210 cars of celery delta products shipped out of Sanford last week, 199 of which was celery. It is estimated there will be a greater number of cars this week.

Freak Legislation

Tallahassee, April 14.—At the last session of the legislature Senator Adkins of Bradford county introduced a bill regulating the sale of produce or other things of value on commission. He passed it through the senate, but it died on the house calendar at the close of the session. He has already re-introduced the measure and hopes to get it over to the house in time for that body to act upon it before the expiration of the sixty days. The matters involved in the bill are of such great importance that it is here given in full:
Section 1. That all persons, firms and corporations in this state who sell any produce or other article on commission in this state, shall, if the produce or other thing of value be shipped to them by any person, firm or corporation, from any place in the state of Florida, when the same is sold by them, issue in duplicate sales account which shall describe the kind, quantity, quality and price received for the produce or article sold, and with check shall cause same to be delivered by mail, or otherwise within seven days of such sale, to the party furnishing the produce or article for sale, and should such sale be unsatisfactory to the party furnishing said produce or article for sale, then at his request the commission house shall furnish to him within three days the name or names and residence, to whom said produce or article has been sold; he shall also have access to the original sales papers and books showing the name and address of the purchaser of the produce or article, to the commission house selling said produce or article, and every reasonable assistance extended to his satisfaction in the matter.

Sec 2. That no shipper shall consign any produce or other article to any person, firm or corporation to be sold on commission without first obtaining their consent in writing to furnish same, unless said shipper has a standing order with the person, firm or corporation handling produce or other article on commission for the shipment of said produce or other article.

Sec 3. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or sentenced to the county jail for a period of not longer than six months, or by both, such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect upon its passage and approval by the governor.

Ed. Note: Did you notice Sec. 2? Mr. Shipper will have to get the consent of a commission firm in writing to permit him to ship his fruit or vegetables or he will be liable to a fine of something up to $500 or a term in jail for not getting the firm's consent to let him ship. Can you beat such freak legislation as that? If this is a sample of what those fellows are going to do at Tallahassee they had better shut up shop and come back home before the rest of the country will learn what a bright lot of men we have up there. The only trouble with Section 1 is, the father of the freak bill forgot to put in, "And the shipper will forever after receive a check every month to pay for his support, the same as a wife receives alimony. Possibly it is not too late to get something tacked on.

The celery movement is still heavy. About 250 cars rolled last week. The cutting is heavier than was expected and the quality is better than it was. Some cauliflower and beets are going out. Cabbage and lettuce are about all gone. The young beans and cukes are coming on splendidly, growing rapidly and will soon be ready to ship. The late frost did not kill many of the peppers or tomatoes and both of these show up well. Some early peppers have bloom on as well as some young peppers.

Good Manners to Help Boys.

Good manners attract and please, and should be cultivated by every boy who expects to win success and make his life interesting to others. In the home, on the street, in the school, in the workshop or the office, or wherever one may be, his relation to others should be characterized as gentle, courteous and thoughtful. These are virtues and graces that make life easier and pleasanter for all.—Boy Scout Handbook.

Work.

Man must work. That is a certain fact. He may work grudgingly or he may work gratefully, he may work as a man or he may work as a machine. He cannot always choose his work, but he can do it in a generous temper and with an up-looking heart. There is no work so rude that he may not exult in it; there is no work so unpassive that he may not breathe a soul into it; there is no work so dull that he may not enjoy it.—Henry Giles.

CIVIC PROGRAM FOR SANFORD CITY

WOMAN'S CLUB INTERESTED IN A CLEAN-UP DAY FOR BETTER CITY

All over the country the movement for clean-up days is gaining ground. These have been successfully carried out in Sanford for two previous years, but this spring the civic interests of the Woman's Club have enlarged the idea, and instead of one clean up day, they purpose to have three days on wrong civic appeal. It is desired that we may see our city in its very best Sunday clothes, so every home maker is urged to set apart April 22nd as a day for tidying the home premises, and making the verandas just as inviting and pretty as possible. The city government is supporting the idea by an especial effort toward park, street and alley tidiness. On Friday, April 23rd a committee of gentlemen from out of town will inspect the premises in the six districts, awarding two prizes in each district—one for the most attractive grounds, with especial reference to spring bloom, and the other for veranda plants, including boxes and pots. If in any instances the better showing is made by a back yard, or some place not easily visible from the street, a word to that effect should be sent Mrs. G. D. Bishop, secretary of the City Beautiful committee and she will arrange for special inspection. The districts are divided as follows:

District 1. Running from east to west, the streets lying west of French avenue to the city limits.

District 2. Streets east of French avenue to Myrtle, from the lake, south to Ninth street.

District 3. Commercial avenue to Fifth street, Sanford avenue to Myrtle.

District 4. From Fifth to Ninth streets, Sanford avenue to Myrtle.

District 5. From Ninth street to city limits, north.

District 6. From Sanford avenue, to city limits, east.

On the afternoon and evening of Saturday, April 24, there will be a flower show at the Hines building, beginning at 9 o'clock. Parties exhibiting cut flowers or plants may offer them for sale, if so desired. There will be a fine exhibition of Amryllis blooms for sale. The magnificent flowers are grown in quantity by Mr. Meade of Oaxedo.

The following is the prize list for cut flowers and plants:

Best fern. A handsome palm given by Reasoner Bros.

Best fern. Specimen Gold fern, given by Mr. Meade.

Best Begonia. Collection three Rex Begonias given by Mr. Meade.

Best Geranium. Collection six fancy Calladiums given by Prof. H. Nehrling.

Sew-Sew All Day Party

Altogether enjoyable and one of the days to be remembered with pleasure was the spend-the-day party of the Sew-Sew Club Tuesday at the suburban home of Mrs. B. A. Howard. Given as a farewell party for Miss Mamie Devlin it was a day filled with halcyon joys and that will live long in the memories of this guy little band of congenial friends. Going out in the machines about 9:30 the party remained until the late afternoon, for Mrs. Howard is an ideal hostess and the guests were loth to depart. Every minute of the day was filled with amusement and laughter. Music, dancing and various games were indulged in for Time had certainly "turned backward" in its flight upon this happy occasion. The delicious dinner served consisted of baked chicken, scalloped potatoes, potato salad, home made bread, devilled eggs, pickles, olives, ice cream, cake and coffee. Those present were Mesdames F. L. Woodruff, Henry McLaughlin, R. J. Holly, C. E. Henry, R. L. Peck, O. L. Taylor, C. H. Dinger, J. S. Wilson, E. D. Birthday Party

Miss Alberta Aycock was the charming young hostess to a number of friends last Friday in celebration of her thirteenth birthday. The merry group enjoyed a gas time playing games and romping upon the lawn. Dainty refreshments were served. Many pretty gifts were presented the young lady by her young friends.

Welfare Dept. Program

The Welfare Department will entertain at the club rooms Wednesday afternoon, April 21 with the annual program to the club. An interesting program will be presented. Judge Herring will deliver an address on the "Ideal Citizen" and other attractive numbers will be rendered. The department cordially invites the club members and their house guests to be with them upon this occasion.

The "Reds" of the Congregational Endeavor Society will hold a cooked food sale at Irwin & Giles store Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Home made bread, pies, cakes, doughnuts, salads, baked beans and cookies will be offered. Come and get something good for the Sunday dinner.

Auction Box Social

On Friday evening next at the home of Mrs. Anna Walker, 800 Magnolia avenue the ladies of the Congregational church will give an auction box social. Each lady is expected to prepare a box of lunch, enough for two people. These will be sold to the highest bidder and the final purchaser will share the box with the original owner. Great fun is anticipated in the novel entertainment. In addition there will be a pleasing program.

Junior Pupils' Recital

Saturday afternoon, April 24, at 3:15 the junior pupils of Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson will give a recital at the studio to which the public is invited. The young people will be assisted by Mrs. Ida Hoy soprano and Mrs. Carl Ferran of Eustis, reader. The recitals at the Munson studio are always delightful and this promises to be one of the most delightful of a successful series. A small offering may be left at the door, to assist in defraying expenses.

Breakfast on the Meyler

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brady and their guest, Miss Lucille Bradley were the breakfast guests of Capt. Meyer on the J. J. Meyler, U. S. Engineering Corps Monday morning. Covers were laid for six, including the officers of the Meyler and their guests. A delicious breakfast, bountiful and tempting was enjoyed while en route to Blue Springs, where the Sanford party disembarked returning to the city on the Clyde Lane steamer.

For Magnolia Fund

Next Thursday night, April 22, at the Baptist Temple a fine program of music and readings will be presented for the benefit of the magazine fund of the Sanford Public Library. Tickets will be at popular prices and can be bought of the committee or at Phillips drug store. Reservations can also be made at Phillips drug store. There will be no extra charge for reserved seats. A charming program is being arranged by Mrs. Geo. Hoy, and whose attention will be the musical features.

Miss Goodhue will direct the readings and will herself give a dramatic reading from Maeterlinck's Blue Bird. Every indication points to a very successful affair. The object is one that should appeal to every public spirited man and woman in Sanford for our library is a public benefactor.

Called Off

The reception of the W. C. T. U. which was to have been held this evening has been postponed.

The Ten-Ten social to be given at the home of Mrs. Frank on the Heights has been called off until a later date.

Lycium Attraction

One of the very best of the Alkahest Lycium attractions was presented at the Baptist Temple last evening by the noted Boston Lyricists, a clever trio of artists, who rendered a program of splendid merit. There was not a moment during the time that was not thoroughly enjoyable.

Miss Wells and Mr. Jordan have an offering that is full of interest and filled with many novel features. The Lyricists are entertainers of the highest order and a little different from the usual performers. They present a new line of comedy and songs and are probably the best of their kind ever seen in Sanford. To see them is to laugh and their singing is tuneful and catchy. Their little sketch, a short scene from the Chinese Honeymoon is irresistible. Miss Wells is a gifted reader and cleverly portrays character parts, while Mr. Jordan, in addition to his splendid baritone voice and ability as a cartoonist is himself a clever actor. Mrs. Jordan, who is the piano accompanist does excellent work on the program. The instrumental numbers on the piano, slide trombone and cornet were particularly good, while the performance of Miss Wells and Mr. Jordan on the marimbaphone was an entirely new feature in Sanford. A group of numbers of this instrument embraced operatic airs from the "Poet and Peasant" in low tones, "The Anvil Chorus," "The Sextette from Lucia and the "Bell Song" from the Chimes of Normandy. A pleasing feature of the entire program was the novel manner in which each number was introduced by one or other of the artists. The opening number, Mendelssohn's "Love Song" was rendered on the trombone, cornet and piano. This was followed by a dramatic reading by Miss Wells and illustrated by Mr. Jordan, the cartoonist. In response to an encore "The Story of a Clothes Line," a humorous reading was given. A very fine number was Mr. Jordan's Italian song from Faust, "You'll Get Heaps of Lickings" especially for the boys, was the encore. The story of an old Georgia slave set to music by Mr. Jordan was one of the best of the evening's songs. A marimbaphone number, "Heart Whispers" by Miss Wells and Mr. Jordan was excellent. Another of the group was "A Venetian Boat Song."

Two laughable monologues were given by Miss Wells, "The First Baby" and "Her First Ride in an Automobile" were very amusing. A group of character songs followed in rapid succession, "The Futility of Giving Advice to the Rising Generation," "Tipperary" and "Lucky Jim," all of which brought forth gales of laughter. Other delightful numbers were readings, "In Aready," accompanied by the cartoonist, Rudyard Kipling's "Envoi" given in the original by Miss Wells and parodied by Mr. Jordan was fine. "The White Rose," a charming little poem by Ella Lee Higginson, closed the readings and the scene from the Chinese Honeymoon ended a program that made up an entertainment of rare pleasure and again emphasized the wisdom of the Baptist people in making their selections.

Mrs. N. H. Garner entertained the members of the Priscilla Club with a charming afternoon of pleasure yesterday. Miss Seay, Mrs. Garner's niece rendered several vocal selections that were much enjoyed. A color scheme of pink and white was used in the decorations, the refreshments also having the same pretty combination of colors. Charlotte russe, cake, coffee with cream and mints were served by the gracious hostess. Those enjoying Mrs.

Handling of Striped Materials

It seems that everything is woven in stripes this year, and the frock of gingham for the half-grown schoolgirl may show them as well managed as they are in the visiting gown made for her mother. The handling of striped fabrics is not a particularly simple matter, but when well done the results are something to be proud of.

A good model for a dress of striped material is shown in the picture. It is in every way commendable for the girl of from nine to fourteen years and merits the attention of those who must provide clothes that shall be attractive for girls of the awkward age. One of the strongest points in favor of striped fabrics for children's wear lies in the fact that they allow simplicity and variety at the same time. By the simple expedient of changing the direction of the stripes the trimming is provided of the same material as the frock.

The model shown is so good that it should be followed exactly as it is, by the copyists who use it. The bodice is cut with long shoulders and large arm's-eye, and the simplest of neck openings. In it the stripes run up and down and the slight fullness gathered in at the waist line gives them the right direction. They slant toward the middle of the belt at the back and front. At each side a band of the material, having the stripes running horizontally, makes a neat decorative feature and adds to the shapeliness of the waist. In the elbow-length sleeves the stripes run lengthwise.

The neck and sleeves are finished with an embroidered edging, in a simple, well-made design. Pearl buttons, two at each side and simulated buttonholes of narrow braid, are effective little touches on the front of the waist.

The skirt is moderately full with panel at the front and plaits at the sides and back. Above the three-inch hem a band of the material, with the stripes running horizontally gives the skirt a neat finish and a desirable flare at the same time.

The belt may be of patent leather or suede or of some heavy fabric. Altogether, this dress follows many good points in the modes of spring for grownups and at the same time contrives to be prettily childish and very practical. It is meant to be developed in wash fabrics and is easy to launder.

New Combination Garment

A new combination has appeared among undermuslins and has proved a great success in the spring displays. It has appealed to the senses of utility, economy and daintiness, which women exercise when outfitting themselves with summer underwear. This garment is called the "envelope chemise" and is engagingly pretty as well as practical.

To cut the new combination, one has only to vary the lower part of a chemise pattern by sloping the side seams outward to provide for a flare at the bottom. Also the back breadth is cut longer than the front breadth and with a tab at the center of the lower edge. This tab is more or less narrow and is provided with buttonholes which fasten over small, flat pearl buttons sewed to the bottom edge of the front breadth.

This arrangement divides the skirt of the chemise, making it as easy to walk in as muslin or silk pants and giving the appearance of a short under petticoat.

The envelope chemise is developed in nainsook or other thin cotton fabrics and in wash silk or crepe de chine. It is trimmed with the usual lingerie laces. The corset cover, pants and short skirt may be dispensed with when this chemise is adopted, since it takes the place of each of them.

In the picture two developments of this new garment are shown, one with lace sleeves and lace trimmings and the other made with small hand-run tucks at the front, a narrow handmade edging about the bottom and top and finishing the arm's-eye. Any needlewoman can make this chemise and it is a very simple matter to launder it. It is cool for summer wear, for it dispenses with at least one piece of underwear.

Smart Outing Costumes.
For smart country club costumes in Norfolk style there is a new silk material called khaki-kool, which comes in various crisp weaves resembling shantung and rajah pongees and in smart shades of sand, putty, dresden gray and in pearl and oyster white. These costumes are very simple and very smartly tailored with belted coats above wide circular skirts. The natural shade of the khaki-kool is sometimes matched by natural silk stockings; stockings to match the dark and light gray shades are also carefully selected for wear with black pumps or boots. This khaki-kool has a virtue of springing up; however it is crushed, and will, without doubt, be fanned also for summer motor coats.

TRENCHES ONE TURN

Hospital Next for Some of Canadian Soldiers.

Could Neither Sit Nor Stand in Mud-Filled Ditches Under Heavy Fire for Three Weary Nights and Days.

London.—The discomfort and even actual suffering caused by doing only one turn in the trenches is described by a Canadian soldier in Princess Patricia's Light Infantry in a letter written at the front. Such was the condition of the troops that some of the men hardly were able to crawl from the trenches when the relief hour arrived. With too much mud to sit down and the trench too shallow to stand up straight, the troop was in a difficult position. The letter, which was printed in the London Times, says:

"We left the place from which I last wrote, marched 15 miles and billeted in a barn. The following day we marched 12 miles to within about three miles of the trenches, which we entered late at night, relieving some French troops. We stayed 48 hours in the trenches, or rather ditches, as they're little better, and such a time I never experienced in my life.

"It was raining most of the time, sniping was going on all night, and in the daytime we were subjected to a most awful bombardment, especially on the first day, shells exploding near my trench sometimes in bunches of six. Mud and pieces of shrapnel fell quite close several times. The shells from the German big guns burst with a terrible din and fairly made the earth quake, our trenches caving in in many places from the severe concussion.

"We of my platoon consider ourselves very lucky indeed, as we suffered the hottest shell fire along the line occupied by the battalion, but fortunately the German gunners had too much elevation, which resulted in the shells, with two or three exceptions, falling over and clear of the trenches. The German trenches opposite our position were only 120 yards away but very little rifle fire was indulged in, everyone on both sides keeping well under cover.

"The bottom of the trenches in most places is just a shallow mud. We sat on our equipment, which was soon smothered in wet, cold mud, and in a deplorable state. But it saved us from actually sitting in the mud, and one could not stand upright, as the trench was not deep enough. Of course sleep was practically impossible, though most of us negotiated 40 winks at intervals when not on watch.

"Our feet were wet through the whole time also our mether garments. During the long nights we just longed for daylight, although we knew it would bring a renewal of the bombardment. Some of our men were hardly able to crawl out of the trenches when our turn came to be relieved.

"I hardly think human flesh could possibly stand the conditions prevailing more than three days at the most. The night we came out and into billets I put on dry socks. I had the most peculiar sensations in my feet all that night—a kind of pins and needles. This, I suppose, was the returning of circulation.

"My hands were also much swollen, but two days' rest soon put me all right again. I feel absolutely none the worse for my experience, but some of the men had to go to hospital, and others were unfit to march and had to ride in transports. I myself have been able to stay with the best of them, although I am the oldest man in the section.

"We occupied the trenches on the night of the fifth and were relieved on the night of the eighth. Twenty of us are billeted in what you would call a country public house and sleep in the kitchen on the floor, by far the most comfortable digs we have had so far.

"I was much struck by the behavior of the boys who had never been under fire before; in fact, I was surprised. Of course we all realize that we carry our lives in our hands and I think the most of us don't worry. We found time to laugh and joke while the shells were bursting overhead and quite a few uncomplimentary remarks were addressed at the German gunners on their indifferent marksmanship."

RABBITS KILL FRUIT TREES

Much Damage Done to Wisconsin Orchards by Hungry Tribe of Molly Cottontails.

Beaver Dam, Wis.—You've heard of the Kansas grasshopper which destroys trees by kicking them to pieces, but Beaver Dam has a tribe of rabbits that is killing fruit trees and berry bushes by devouring them. Of course, they don't masticate the whole thing, but they are gnawing the bark away in rings and the trees and bushes are sure to die. The severe cold weather and deep snow of a short time ago is blamed for their voracious appetites. Several hundred dollars' damage has been done already.

He Tried to Please.

OPENING OF DARDANELLES MAY HAVE WIDE REACHING EFFECTS

Development of Indicated Operations Seems to Purpose Expulsion of Turks From Constantinople—Allies in West End Need Oil and Grain, While Russia Desires Southern Ingress to Her Territory for Her War Shipments.

New York.—The Herald's naval correspondent writes: The most striking characteristic of this great war is the rapidity with which its main interest centers first in one part of the world and then in another. Something like eight thousand miles separated the scene of the battle off the Falkland islands and that off the Dogger bank, while on land attention is riveted at one time on the Belgian coast or the campaign in Lorraine, and at another in the Carpathians or on a life-and-death struggle in Poland. This week the minds of both naval and military watchers of the conflict have been directed to the Dardanelles, the gates of Asia. There another phase of the world-wide war is opening, the effect of which no man can tell.

Each of the contending empires in the conflict possesses an advantage which in a measure compensates one the other. While Britain holds the command of the sea, Germany has the interior position on land, which enables her to strike alternately heavy blows on either front. She also has been able, with the assistance of Austria and Turkey, and aided by the geographical conditions, to drive a wedge between the communications of her enemies which extends from the North sea almost to the Indian ocean. The movement in the Mediterranean indicates the determination on the part of the superior sea power to cut that wedge in two.

The strategic importance of the straits between Europe and Asia has been recognized from very ancient times. It was on the Chersonese, the peninsula on the western side of the straits, that the Turks got their first foothold in Europe. It may very well be that if it now falls into the hands of Great Britain its occupation by British troops will mean the uprooting of the last vestige of Ottoman rule in the northern continent. There are at least indications of the development of a far-reaching operation from both ends of the Sea of Marmora, having for its purpose the expulsion of the Turk from Constantinople.

There are other objects of first class importance to be obtained from a successful attack on the Dardanelles. Now that the Archangel route is closed by sea communication between Russia and her allies has almost entirely ceased. There is no outlet for the immense supplies of corn and oil of which they are in want and which she could furnish, and, on the other hand, the only source of supply of the munitions of war, which she cannot manufacture herself, must be brought over the long and difficult road from Vladivostok and Harbin. The opening of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus must have, therefore, an immediate and important effect both in the western and eastern theaters of war. Nor can it be doubted that a substantial gain of this character to Germany's foes would directly influence the nations which have been for so long hesitating about entering the war. All the Balkan States would be affected considerably, and while Greece could scarcely stand still with Russia at the gates of Constantinople, Italy might well feel that this sharp stroke removed the last doubt as regarding the side with which she should be acting.

Of the operation itself, although the Dardanelles have long been regarded as impregnable, it is more than likely that as other fortresses have failed to maintain their security against the modern materials of war, so those in the straits will be overwhelmed by the mass of explosives hurled upon them from the long range artillery of the battleships of today. When the forts in the straits were planned ships were dependent upon the wind and they carried guns which could not compare in power with those mounted in the land batteries. When Vice-Admiral Duckworth took a British squadron through the straits in 1807 his vessels were assailed with huge shots, some of them weighing 800 pounds, but even these heavy missiles did little damage. Today the British ships will throw shells filled with high explosives, each more than double the weight of the shot thrown at Vice-Admiral Duckworth's ships, and the destruction wrought by such missiles will be immeasurably greater.

Moreover, it is unnecessary for the ships themselves to approach near enough to be injured by the shore batteries, even if the guns in these have been somewhat augmented from German sources. It is already announced that the forts at the mouth of the straits, about two miles apart, have been crumbled into atoms, and those in the narrows, further up, can be similarly treated at ranges at which the ships themselves will be comparatively immune. There remain other obstructions in the shape of mines in the channel, but that these have been located by the British submarines is certain, and their removal should be no difficult task. Once the passage is clear for the ships of war, and these are off Gallipoli, the remainder of the business is simple.

With the numbers and composition of the Turkish garrison in the Gallipoli peninsula the British authorities must be acquainted, and, the forts being destroyed, a force of sufficient strength doubtless will be landed, if necessary under the fire of the guns. The configuration of the mainland by a narrow isthmus not four miles wide at Bulair, and open to bombardment from the sea at either side, makes the occupation and holding of it by the stronger sea power easy. The possession of the peninsula, as the late admiral of the fleet, Sir Geoffrey Hornby, said in 1877, when he took an ironclad fleet through, guarantees a safe passage, not only for the ships of war, but for their auxiliaries as well. The appearance of a Franco-British fleet off Constantinople and the consequent wiplog out of the Ottoman navy, even with its German reinforcement, will make the task of Russia at the Bosphorus end a light one. At ready, it is said, Russian forces are assembling at Odessa and the transports are available whenever required, so, in the opinion of many astute onlookers, the ultimate success of this undertaking is scarcely in doubt. It will be one more lesson of the ubiquitous exercise of sea power.

NOW FISH TOWS A FISHERMAN

One Captive Propels Boat While Other Is Played and Landed by Florida Sportman.

Palm Beach.—Reginald Durant of Saratoga had a fishing experience out of the usual recently. He had two lines out from a small boat in the Gulf stream, a Jewish taking one and a sailfish the other at the same time. He tied the Jewish to the bow and let him tow the boat a couple of miles while he played the sailfish.

The Jewish was the sire of the original porpoise and weighed 275 pounds. The sailfish was four and a half feet long too small to get into the sailfish club contest.

An amusing incident of the bathing beach was the appearance on shore of a pelican, so tame it allowed George Singer and others to stroke its head and neck. Sinclair Bordan of Toledo, an authority on game, said the bird was a victim of mental aberration.

Unique Surgical Operation to Relieve Fracture of Thigh Bone May Prove Successful.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Marie Graham, thirty-six years old, of No 1521 Marcus avenue, was operated on by City Hospital surgeons for a fracture of the neck of the right femur, or bone, of the upper leg, and a peg of ivory four inches long was driven through the neck and into the head of the femur.

Mrs. Graham slipped and fell on the ice February 8 and the resultant fracture failed to heal.

WAVE DOES HOUSE MOVING

Huge Breaker Accomplishes Work So Gently Milk and Coffee Are Not Spilled.

Los Angeles, Cal. C. H. Jennison of Alamitos Bay, near Long Beach, planned to move his home back 20 feet. Before he started a big storm struck.

A huge breaker picked up the house and moved it back 20 feet, setting it down squarely on the ground so gently that a pall of milk and pot of coffee on the table in the house were not spilled. Mrs. Jennison and her two children were not in the house at the time. The house was placed on its new foundations the next day.

Laura Jean Libbey's Talks on Heart Topics

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. LOVE PROMISES GIRLS ACCEPT OR EXCUSE.

I want (who does not want) a wife, affectionate and fair, to solemize all the woes of life, and all its joys to share;—of lamps, sweetest, glowing with the soft, yet glad mind; With all my faults to love me still, With sentiment refined.

No matter how many promises a man may make in the hours of joyous wooing the girl of his heart puts blind faith in him. She would not be very much in love if she sorted them out, accepting this and that as a promise and rejecting that which common sense told her was among the impossibilities.

It is very natural for her to believe that she is the only girl he ever loved and his promise that he will never look at another as long as he lives if he should lose her. She should excuse him from making a solemn vow as to his earnestness and the fulfilling of his intentions.

The more extravagant a lover is with his promises, the less apt is he to even remember them after marriage. It is the man who promises little who surprises his better half by accomplishing worthy results in her behalf later on.

The lover who has vowed that he would never admire another, he should ever so fair, develops into the married man who becomes a despicable male flirt. He who had a pleasant word for all of the girls was a good natured, happy-go-lucky fellow among them, chooses one for a life partner, and to that one he is faithful. He pledged no more than he was sure he could carry out. If a man promises a girl that he will take all of her burdens on his strong shoulders, that her people shall be his people, that he will gladly support all of them, the wise girl should know that the words are mere lip service with him. She might excuse his exuberance of promises, but it would be well for her to put no faith in them. The lover who paints the most rosy glow of a sunny future in the man who would insist upon her making her own bonnets and gowns, doing her own housework, and, if she has an idle hour, he expects her to run over to his folks and help them with their. If he promises that her evenings after marriage should be one round of gaiety, he is usually the one who will sneak out of the house when he is a benedict, immediately after dinner and snore back in the early hours of the gray dawn. He has fooled her so many times that he is confident she will accept his lame excuses. If a girl is trying to make up her mind between two wooers, let her give heed to the one who does not strive to gain her by wild extravagant promises. If she chooses the boastful one, she will have to reject more promises than she finds fulfilled. It is what a man does for a wife, not that which he promises that counts for prosperity.

Every girl in this world has an equal chance—no matter what her surroundings be, her joys, or sorrows that have been, every innocent heart is equal in the sight of God. The same opportunity should be theirs to meet a loving heart mate, enter into marriage, make a happy home life for a good man. Unfortunate daughters shrink from encouraging lovers lest they lose their love and respect when they later out their pitiful story. This is a wrong view to take. Love is not love which alters when it finds excuse for its fense. Many a man has found that there are no better, truer, more loving helpmates than these wags who have known such need, had such longing for honorable love and husband's protection. The attitude of other women to unfortunate daughters makes or mars their lives. A life of wealth and happy surroundings is accountable for every thorn she flings in the girl's path whose weary, faltering feet strive pitifully to keep in the right path. It takes encouragement to show her there may be brightness for her if she forces her nature to overcome past influences and memories. Everyone should admire the girl for right doing, no matter what those who hint of hereditary failings may think. Keep your name and heart bright and untarnished, and the lamp of hope ever lighted. Your reward will surely come if you have patience—refusing to despair.

THE HEART OF AN UNFORTUNATE GIRL.

God made the rich and he made the poor, But I never could quite understand Why the path of one is filled with flowers, And the other he filled with sand.

Why is that love, which was made to enrich the world and gladden lives, is a blessing to many who hardly need it and a poignant grief to others whose hungry hearts starve for it?

Some are born into the world midst great rejoicing, with the allegorical spoon in their rosy-bud mouths. Others are ushered into this cold, cruel world unwanted, amid the bitter lamentations. Over one child both father and mother gaze with their hearts in their happy glance, a silent prayer of thankfulness for their lips.

Only one pair of eyes rest on the other child, they are suffused with bitter regret. The child of one grows to girlhood surrounded by all that devotion and love can give her. The other is an outcast, homeless, adrift on the world, fighting her way for the inch of ground she stands on, the tenement roof that covers her and crust of bread to keep her frail body from starving.

There are noble women whom men admire for their Christianity. They are the hills of the world. Men revere and wed them. Another class, in promise, race, but never meant to be kept, to ill or misfortune. They never hear the sweet word "wife" breathed in their ears by lips they love. They are the poppies of the world. The first chilling blast is their undoing.

Such parents' child, with no voice in coming into the world, should not be cast aside by noble women; their bruised hearts should not be trampled on the more.

Every girl in this world has an equal chance—no matter what her surroundings be, her joys, or sorrows that have been, every innocent heart is equal in the sight of God. The same opportunity should be theirs to meet a loving heart mate, enter into marriage, make a happy home life for a good man. Unfortunate daughters shrink from encouraging lovers lest they lose their love and respect when they later out their pitiful story. This is a wrong view to take. Love is not love which alters when it finds excuse for its fense. Many a man has found that there are no better, truer, more loving helpmates than these wags who have known such need, had such longing for honorable love and husband's protection. The attitude of other women to unfortunate daughters makes or mars their lives. A life of wealth and happy surroundings is accountable for every thorn she flings in the girl's path whose weary, faltering feet strive pitifully to keep in the right path. It takes encouragement to show her there may be brightness for her if she forces her nature to overcome past influences and memories. Everyone should admire the girl for right doing, no matter what those who hint of hereditary failings may think. Keep your name and heart bright and untarnished, and the lamp of hope ever lighted. WHEN COMPANY IS WORSE THAN NONE.

Shall we break the ties that bind us, Thou and I? Shall we put those days behind us, Thou and I? God has wed with grief and pain, Shall we prove that union vain? Shall we go our ways again, Thou and I?

"It's Jim or nobody," a girl remarked discontentedly when she was taken to task for entertaining a young man the other evening whom she confessed she hardly liked. "If he didn't come, I'd be sitting here moping alone," she declared. "I've invited plenty of other young men to call, but they don't seem to care to come. I do not appeal to them and am not attractive in their eyes. I encourage Jim's coming because he takes me out very often and spends a lot of money on me. Of course he would have proposed a dozen times, but I turn the conversation so cleverly that he does not know it, and waits for a more propitious occasion."

Girls of this kind think they are wanting precious time, not only of their own, but of the young man's as well. Even a man who was intensely in love with a young woman would not call if he knew beyond all doubt that she was waiting to shake him off a better opportunity presented itself. The same time and money which he spends in giving her a good time could be used to better advantage by giving pleasure to one who would appreciate and care for him.

It is not right for any girl to consider a man simply as a soda water and ice cream chaser, or as a free pass to theaters and car rides. In such cases, his company is worse than none. There is an unsettled feeling in both hearts. How can a man expect to make a young woman happy if she married him without love? Oh, how can a wife expect to live a satisfied married life if she is yoked to a man whom she cares for only to the extent of having some one to pay her bills? Courtesy is supposedly for the purpose of each finding out the others' likes and dislikes, disposition, hopes and aspirations.

No man or woman off the stage is so clever an actor or actress as to successfully conceal indifference when it is present. Youthful persons as well as other ones need companionship to gladden their hearts as the flowers need sun to bring out blossoms, but they should choose with care. If good fellowship is not mutual, company coming to fill in time is worse than none at all.

Seeing that a young woman has steady company often keeps away other young men who stand looking at her from afar. Thus she proves to be her own worst enemy. Girls who never have a beau until they are well along in the marrying age may be considered wiser than the girl who has flitted away her time with a dozen or more only to find fault with each. She becomes dissatisfied with men in general and ends by marrying the poorest stick of them all.

Vessel Always "She."

The feminine gender of boats and ships is a matter of immemorial tradition. People say of the Columbus, for instance, that "she" will sail on a certain date, and it follows that they may speak of her as the fleet's "giantess." The gender is fixed in people's minds, not by the name of the ship, but by the fact that it is a ship. The matter, however, is of little consequence, and it is open to any individual to drop the tradition of the ship's gender, and speak of a boat—be its name masculine, feminine, or neuter—as simply "it."

Needed the Stimulant.

One of the most astonishing cyclone experiences ever related is that of Henry Collins. He is said to have been standing in a saloon when the "aster" came rushing into St. Louis. He had a glass of whisky in his hand when the saloon was hit, and although he was lifted by the wind, whirled heels over head, and turned three complete "cartwheels," half of the whisky remained in the glass after the performance. This he immediately drank, as he had broken his shoulder during his aerial acrobatics.

Ceremony and Cannon Balls.

There is a tale told about an officer who was conversing with Marlborough during a hot engagement; and insisted on taking off his hat and bowing profoundly every time he spoke to the duke. That great man suggested that at such a time they might very well waive all ceremony. But the officer bowed deeply to his commander's suggestion, and just as he was bending down a cannon ball cleared him and took off the head of a comrade. The officer, on coming up again, and seeing what had happened, remarked calmly: "Your grace perceives that one loses nothing by politeness." - London News.

Capacity Always Within Call.

It is certainly true that no one knows the resources of his own mind and body until some great sense of duty comes to him, rousing him to play his part well in the work of life. There are unused capacities in brain and nervous system, in mind and moral nature that are capable of development and effective use. Who knows the potentiality of life force in himself until he gives it opportunity for full expression? - Exchange.

Certainly Suggestive.

Perhaps the old fellow who first pointed out that a man's home is his castle had in mind the way it's almost constantly beleaguered by persons wishing to sell you brooms, potatoes and other commodities that you don't want any more of than you already have. - Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

Negro Bella Customers Alcohol for Drinking, Obtained From Hospital Pickling Jars.

Cumberland, Md.—Many drinkers in Willis Creek section of Randolph county, W. Va., are excited because Flanders Twilley, a negro, sold them preserved alcohol, which he obtained at a hospital in Elkins, where he had been employed.

Only that Twilley is in the Tucker county jail for six months for violating the anti-liquor law saved him from rough treatment at the hands of his infuriated customers.

The alcohol sold by Twilley was taken from bottles in which hospital surgeons had preserved tumors, cancers, appendices and abnormal growths. The horror at the discovery by his victims of the kind of intoxicant he had sold them has tended to make the section drier than ever.

SHOULD HE TAKE ONE DRINK?

It Will Cost Him $4,000 Placed as Conditional Forfeit to Obtain His Release.

Tacoma, Wash.—One drink will cost Thomas Cannally $4,000—that is, if he takes it. Six weeks ago Cannally was sentenced to six months in jail for stealing $4 while intoxicated.

After serving a month of his sentence Cannally appealed to Police Justice Evans to be released, offering to deposit $4,000 in cash, to be forfeited in case he took a drink before his term would have expired. Justice Evans agreed, and placed the money on deposit in a local bank.

The money was still in the bank today drawing 3 per cent interest and Cannally was occupying a seat high on the "water wagon."

Real Wisdom. Since courtesy cannot be made compulsory, the next best course is to avoid rudeness, the second best is to overlook it. It is hardly worth while to resent the behavior of those whom we may never meet again, is it? We should be wise enough to avoid positions where we avoid rudeness to be expected; we avoid streets with a bad reputation because we have a rather clear idea of the experience we might meet if we ventured in them, especially after dark.

Church Semi-Oriental. The Russian church, which terms itself orthodox—pravoslavny—differs considerably from all the other Christian temples by its semi-oriental style that is half Tartar, half Byzantine, yet possesses its distinctly Slavonic element. With its gilded cupola, bright-colored roofs and ornaments, white glaring walls, it has more of a mythologic and legendary character than the stately gothic or romanesque cathedrals.

Busy Individual. An old man in the Potato Hill neighborhood is quoted as saying: "All I have to do now is to pull sheets off the calendar pad; I have all day to pull off the Thursday sheet, and make the pad read Friday, but sometimes I get three or four days behind. After I get the sheet on the pad changed, it is time to look for my glasses, which are usually lost. You may think old people have little to do, but they are really quite busy."—Kansas City Star.

Church Titles. There is no such thing as the Church of England in the annual Budget of Great Britain. The church derives most of her income from titles. There were 211 titles in the church by her children and grand children but the whole has been a portion of their property or given to her for ever. The church has suffered the loss of many titles which have caused her to be queathing them.

A Saving Person. "What are you calling us to break up?" "It's only five o'clock, folks." "The minute heard it, she said, and she told us to hurry and eat breakfast before the milk cooled."

THIRD WEEK GRIND AT STATE CAPITAL

LEGISLATURE BUSY WITH A FLOOD OF BILLS POURING UPON THEM

Tallahassee, April 19.—The oyster season for the year 1914-1915 has come to an official close and, according to Shell Fish Commissioner Hodges, the oyster industry passed through its most successful year in the history of the state. More than two hundred thousand barrels of oysters were shipped out of the state during the season and the oyster fields are in better condition today than ever before as a result of the conservation policy which had its inception with the passage of the act by the 1913 legislature, providing for the creation of the shell fish department.

Plans are embodied in a bill which has the approval of the committee on fisheries to further conserve the growing industry of the state. It proposes an appropriation of $25,000 for the purchase of necessary equipment to patrol the coast properly and a further appropriation of $10,000 to administer the affairs of the office. These sums will be made necessary by the fact that the salt water fish will be placed under this department.

The measure embodies provisions covering revenues to be collected and it is expected that more than $125,000 will be collected by the department during the next twelve months. Among other things the bill provides for shorter closed season on mullet, from November 30 to January 30, a closed season on shad between December and April, a wholesale license of $10 and a retailer's license of $5, a tax of $1 on boats under 16 feet in length and four feet beam and twenty cents additional on each foot of length and beam, as well as a ten dollar tax on each alien engaged on each boat.

Legislators Eat Oysters

An Apalachicola oyster dealer, through Representative T. H. Cook of Franklin county, remembered the legislature with an oyster feast at the Leon Hotel Friday night. A letter from the Bay City Packing Co. appeared on the hotel menu for the benefit of legislators and others as a reminder of the quality of Apalachicola oysters and as a reminder that no more oysters would be offered for sale until next September 15.

Tallahassee, April 20. It is anticipated here that when the governor's suspension from office of Sheriff Spencer of Hillsborough and Sheriff Baker of Palm Beach counties comes up for approval or disapproval in the senate the chief executive's act will meet with decided opposition. It is not expected that the senate will take up the matter until the men, whose suspension becomes effective on May 30, are able to appear and defend themselves.

The Mapoles Pure Shoe Bill is before the committee on miscellaneous legislation and if it gets out of the committee safely will bring on considerable discussion before the house.

County division fights are occupying the entire attention of one committee today. Scores of people from Marion, Levy, Alachua, Washington, Jackson and Holmes counties are in the city today to appear in behalf of their several interests. A bitter fight is being waged by people residing in the proposed Bloxham county, which would be carved out of portions of Marion, Levy and Alachua counties.

All during Sunday members of the legislature were deluged with telegrams and letters from people residing in portions of Jackson, Walton and Holmes counties, to be affected by changing portions of the boundary lines to these counties. These commonwealths, to remedy the unusual situations obtaining at Chipley and Bonifay propose to alter the county lines. The bill passed the senate, but when it reached the house Mr. Lewis of Jackson blocked its passage and caused recommitment.

A big delegation is here from Graceville to place a "rider" on the bill providing that six sections of Holmes county be given to Jackson, in the Graceville district in exchange for fifty odd sections opposite Chipley, to go to Washington county. Holmes would take in a similar amount from Washington, opposite Bonifay.

Another county division measure proposing the creation of Pine county out of Santa Rosa also is up but it is not expected the bill will be reached in committee today.

Hotel Inspector Messer has secured a favorable report on his measure at the hands of the house committee on miscellaneous legislation. The measure was introduced in the house by Representative Griffin of Orange county, and in the senate by Senator Hudson of the Thirteenth district.

Moving Pictures at Parish House. The Senior Chapter of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew have arranged a series of the best and most well known plays and operas, which have been featured in New York City for Monday and Saturday nights in Holy Cross Parish House.

This Saturday night, April 24th there will be given "The Wizard of Oz," a most pleasing light opera, which had such a run on Broadway, New York City; and on the following Monday night, April 26th will be given "The Pageant of San Francisco," featuring the Panama Exposition.

For awhile there will be similar features every Saturday and Monday nights at the Parish House, beginning at 7 p. m. The usual admission of 10 cents will be charged on these nights.

It should be that the people of the city generally very liberally would desire to patronize this undertaking for it means the possibility of many advantages, educational, religious and socially, which otherwise would not be obtainable. The young men of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, a band of about twenty, have done all this through their own efforts and personal work. All are invited.

Odd Fellows Meet. Gainesville, April 19. With promises on the part of the weather bureau of continued fair skies, indications are that the opening day of the sixtieth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Florida, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the Florida Rebekah assembly will be auspicious in every respect.

Might Have Been Costly Joke. Legislative jokes are very amusing, except to the man who has the joke played on him, but sometimes there is a come-back on the part of the unfortunate. In the following instance will illustrate.

Mr. Mapoles, won't you vote for Forrest Lake for speaker of the house, he has had considerable experience and would make a most excellent presiding officer? "Who? That Forrest Lake who was in the house last time?" exclaimed Mr. Mapoles, who faithfully fought for a pure shoe bill in the last session. "No, sir, I won't vote for him. Why, he is the man who wanted to amend my pure shoe bill by inserting the word 'horse' in front of the word 'shoe.'" Jacksonville State.

Marketing Bureau Likely. Tallahassee, April 19. At a meeting of the committee on agriculture the Henderson bill providing for the creation of a state marketing bureau received a favorable report, and it is expected that this measure, which has the endorsement of various trade boards and growers throughout the state will be rushed through the house and senate.

Death of J. O. Bonevita. The Sanford friends of Mr. J. O. Bonevita will regret to hear of his death which occurred at Knoxville, Tenn., Saturday morning. He was buried in Knoxville on Saturday. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss. Mr. Bonevita was quite well known in Sanford, having spent several months here last winter as one of the train dispatchers of the A. C. L.

Card of Thanks

The home of Marshal Arie of Oviedo was destroyed by fire last week and he lost everything he had in the home. Kind neighbors assisted in every way and he wishes to thank the good people of Oviedo and Geneva who turned in and built another home and donated furniture for the same. Such acts of kindness demonstrate that the milk of human kindness is still paramount and the people of Oviedo and Geneva are among the salt of the earth.

Takes Tampa Office

M. P. Lipe has taken charge of the Tampa office of the L. C. Smith Typewriter Co., and will make that city his headquarters for the time being. Mr. Lipe has been on the road for some time in the interest of the L. C. Smith typewriter and the Tampa office becoming vacant he was put in charge but does not know whether it will be permanent or not as the change would necessitate his removal from Sanford, and Lipe is a Sanford booster at all times. The office in Tampa is a promotion for Mr. Lipe and his Sanford friends are glad to learn of his rapid advancement.

THE SUPREME COURT DENIES FRANK PLEA

CELEBRATED CASE TO COME BACK TO GEORGIA FOR THE LAST ROUND

Washington, D. C., April 20.—The United States Supreme Court today denied the application of Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Phagan, for a writ of habeas corpus. The Georgia federal court previously had denied an application seeking the same end. As a result of the decision it is believed by the legal authorities here that only the state pardon officials of Georgia can save Frank from being hanged.

Seven members of the court concurred in the decision while two, Justices Holmes and Hughes dissented. Justice Pitney read the majority opinion. Holmes read the minority opinion. Frank's petition rested allegations of disorder in the trial which were alleged to amount to mob violence and Frank's absence from the court room when the verdict was returned. The Supreme Court held he had not been deprived of any right.

Atlanta, Ga., April 20. I am very much disappointed over the supreme court's decision, but I will keep up the fight," said Leo M. Frank today, when informed that the application for a writ of habeas corpus had been denied. Frank's attorney said they probably would ask the Georgia Prison Commission for clemency for Frank.

Fish Are Biting

Trout and bass are being brought in every day and the fishermen are getting their tackle ready for the fray. The lakes and the rivers and the many creeks in this vicinity are full of fish and now is the time to have the greatest sport of the season. The winter visitors who like to fish are going back too early and they would all visit the Sanford section ere returning home and indulge in the greatest sport in the world. With a new tourist hotel in Sanford next season the disciples of Isaac Walton can indulge in the sport all during the winter months and Sanford will be the mecca for the sports of the country next winter.

Famous Paintings at Parish House

At the Parish House for Wednesday (tomorrow) night, the pictures will be "The Life of Christ," reproduced in full original color of the masterpieces of the art galleries and cathedrals of Europe. There will be a special feature of the service, an illustrated hymn, in several parts, "Just as I Am."

An ever increasing number are attending these midweek services, which are destined to become more popular as time goes on. As some one who had not been in the habit of coming to Holy Cross Parish House has said: "There is no one who can afford to miss these privileges which are being given."

There is no charge for admission made on Wednesday night, each one making whatever offering he may desire. All are invited.

Negro Gamblers Hooked

Eighteen negro gamblers were hooked by the local police force and the sheriff's office yesterday and before Mayor Thrasher received fines of ten dollars and costs each. This is the proper dose wherever gambling is discovered.

Remember there is health in this Clean-Up Day. Try it and see how many less mosquitoes and flies we can have.

Woodland Park Notes

Sunday, April 11th was the first nice park day of the season and a good number of visitors came. Capt. Pagehantz brought a good "load" on the Mamie and another launch and a row boat landed parties. Vehicles kept coming from different places and a big portion of the Monroe population walked over. There was considerable bathing and the amusements and music were enjoyed by all. Wednesday, April 14 the Monroe fish fry brought basket parties from everywhere. Thanks are due to Jim Oglesby and son for a bountiful supply of fine shad, cleaned and ready for the pan. Not satisfied with this they offered to furnish another lot of fish for the picnic of the Monroe school, which is to be at Woodland Park Saturday the 24th. The Paola school has been invited also and this promises to be a big day. Thursday evening those dancers from Dancerville, the "Suits Me" Club entertained at Woodland Park with a fine supper and dance. They arrived in autos at 8 p. m. and waited their way in from the door of the hall. A short intermission for supper and they went at it again until midnight. The girls wanted to keep on till daylight but some of the men were getting faint and had to almost use force to make them quit dancing. The orchestra came near having a hot box and still they demanded "A little faster, please." There was no such thing as intermission during the last three hours. They seemed to be stored full of high explosives and the longer they danced the more they were worked up. Every kind of dancing was indulged in. That was one lively bunch.

At Rest

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary DeLaMater was held Friday at 10 a. m., April 16, from the home on West First street, Rev. F. P. Strong of the Congregational church conducting the service.

Mrs. Mary French DeLaMater was born in Northeast, Penn., September 13th, 1845. She was the daughter of John and Nancy French, eldest daughter of ten children. Her childhood days were spent in Northeast and Binghamton, N. Y. At the latter place she studied music under Prof. Heimberger. In 1876, Centennial year at Northeast, Penn., she married Dr. Walter DeL. Matter of Philadelphia, Pa. The marriage was of their married life they spent in England. In 1883 they moved to Sanford. Here they have spent their youth, age now calling them to rest. Mrs. DeLaMater was a devoted wife, for many months having entire care of her feeble husband. Her health suddenly failing her she went to her sister at Mt. Dora eight weeks ago, thinking a change would be beneficial, but she gradually grew worse. At 5 to 10 April 16th the Great Healer called her. Inconsciously her hand reached out to clasp the Faithful Pilot who never fails the Christian. Besides her husband, Dr. W. DeLaMater she is survived by four brothers and one sister, Chas. M. French of Era, Penn.; Arthur J. J. F. and LaFayette, all of Northeast, Penn.; Mrs. Lillie N. Cross, of Mt. Dora.

Farewell, a little time and we who knew thee well and led thee here.

One after one shall follow thee As pilgrims through the gates of fate.

Which opens on Eternity. Yet shall we cherish not the less All that is left our hearts meanwhile, And all thou lovedst of earth and sky.

Seem sacred to thy memory, Beautiful in her casket amid the flowers which loving friends surrounded here, she sleeps in Lakeview cemetery.

Early Michigan Celery

The following clipping from a Kalamazoo paper was sent to the Herald by an unknown party probably with the idea of letting us know that Kalamazoo would be in the market early this season.

Three thousand celery plants were set out Thursday by a well known Alamo avenue celery grower. This is the first that has been set out this season, and as far as can be learned this is the earliest celery that has been planted in this city in years. The unusually open winter and the early spring has made it practical to plant the crop two weeks earlier than ever before. This means that the first celery will be ready for market about July 10.

ORATORICAL DEBATE WAS WON BY STETSON

SANFORD'S YOUNG ORATORS WERE THERE AT EVERY POINT IN ARGUMENTS

The oratorical contest between the Sanford High School and the Stetson College of DeLand was well attended last Friday night and those who did attend were given a treat. The orators that represented the two schools reflected great credit upon their respective institute and their instructors.

The question for debate was one well calculated to carry the contestants far afield in search of knowledge and one that has worried many statesmen trying to solve for the benefit of the country and those who are most affected.

The subject of Resolved that the present immigration laws are adequate if properly enforced gave the orators great scope in history and facts about foreign countries and the United States. The affirmative side was taken by the Stetson orators, composed of Messrs. Roebuck and Ziegler and Miss Smith and the negative side by the Sanford boys composed of Ernest Shepherd, Sherman Routh and Albert Fry. Hume Rumph was alternate.

Every one of the contestants demonstrated their ability not only in oratorical pyrotechnics but in the research for facts concerning the immigration laws and their effect. The audience learned more about the immigration laws of America than they ever knew before and the debate was not only an oratorical treat but highly instructive as well. The subject was covered from every angle and in rebuttal the contestants were especially good, showing that they had not only had prepared for the subject but had also prepared for the arguments of the opponents. The debate was decided by the points and at the close of the arguments the judges decided that Stetson was slightly ahead, although the decision was very close. Sanford feels highly elated over the contest for it demonstrates that our school has some very fine young orators who have talent and brains.

Bird Protection to be Enforced

In view of the fact that there is evidence that not only the public, in many instances the press of the country also is under the impression that the decision just rendered by Judge John C. Pollock of the Federal district court at Topeka, Kansas in which he holds the Federal law for the protection of migratory birds to be unconstitutional is the final abandonment on that statute, the following statement correcting this erroneous impression has been issued by President John B. Burnham of the American Game Protective Association.

"Conservationists need feel no alarm over the Kansas decision. The Supreme Court of the United States now has before it on appeal a case from Arkansas in which the constitutionality of the law will be finally passed upon. That case lacks certain important elements, favorable to the sustaining of the law, which the Kansas case, which will be incorporated with it will provide. In a sense, then, Judge Pollock's decision is a welcome one to those who are working to avert the destruction of the wild life of the country.

"The Kansas decision is the third that has been rendered by Federal judges on the law. In Arkansas Judge Jacob C. Tricher on May 23, 1914, held the measure unconstitutional, while in South Dakota, Judge J. D. Elliot on April 18, 1914 held it constitutional. It is to be remembered that the law is in full force and effect and will doubtless be vigorously enforced by the United States Bureau of Biological Survey everywhere in the United States, with the exception of the jurisdictions of Judges Trieber and Pollock.

"The Solicitor General of the United States has asked the Supreme Court for an early consideration for the test case as is possible, but it may be that it will not be reached before next fall. We are hoping to have it passed upon this spring.

"The federal law provides protection not only for game birds, but for most of the country's most valuable song and insectivorous species as well."
