EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH
"HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER

The American Builder makes a forecast of 1914 building business that is glowing to say the least. Although 1913 was a satisfactory year in the field, the current year is to be much better, according to confidential reports from representative contractors and builders in every part of the United States and Canada expressly covered by that publication.

Every good citizen must hope that such will be the report when the year is completed. The way to have confidence in business is to keep up contact all along the line and be resolved to make the best of laws and of general situation. We start with the fact that the crops last year were on the whole magnificent. There was no failure in any direction and in some directions the output broke records.

Every one knows that the value of farm products amounted to seven or eight billion. Since a good food supply is the basis of business prosperity generally, there is no reason in the nature of things why the coming year should not be even more prosperous than the last one.

Every businessman helps who looks forward with confidence and contributes an element of cheer to the situation which is not half as bad as some affect to think and which, according to the reports from all, the great manufacturing centers is steadily improving by day.

Especially is this true of Sanford where the building fever seems to be prevalent even through the winter months. There are more houses being built and others contemplated than ever before and the year of 1914 will be a most prosperous one here. And one thing that will be taken into consideration is the confidence of the people both residents and winter visitors that Sanford is an ideal place to build a home and the future looks even brighter. With the building of the brick roads the suburbs will blossom out like magic and many a man will feel like living outside where he can have all the conveniences of the city and the comforts of the country.

The five cent piece is the day laborer of our coinage. It is the hardest working and most successful bit of money in use in these United States.

The twenty dollar gold piece is very popular and is usually sought after in the best of society; the five dollar bill has millions of friends, and the hard silver can be found nesting in the pocket of nearly every free born citizen. But none of these work like the five cent piece.

The humble nickel runs the streets of the nation provides it with cigar and soft water, buys most of its magazines, operates its slot machines and has made the moving picture more powerful than the political orator.

The nickel has built 100 acre breweries and $200,000,000 agave systems. Where the $2 bill has given up in despair the humble nickel has stepped in and operated vast theaters. The quarter ran the magazine for many years and made a mess of it. But when the nickel went into the game it put the magazine on every new stand and filled the American home so full of newspapers that father had to clear it out with pitch fork on Monday morning.

Place a dollar bill in the pocket and within ten minutes it has leaped nimble into the till of the nearest cigar store, soda fountain, or moving picture emporium.

Many of our newest and freshest millionaires are men who found India and quarters doing work which was unfitted for them and put nickels on the job in their places.

And many of our future millionaires will be men who discovered jobs not being run into the ground by the larger and fatter coins and who will put in cleats for tills and begin the accumulation of nickels as a life work. The nickel has not broken into the automobile business, and may never do so, but when every voter contributes a nickel to his party the troubles of the campaign committee will disappear and the large contributors, who have been running our political parties in the past, will be told to go to—

We pay the scientists and experts, but a few of us top them as we might. There is not a worm, a bug, a blight, a fungus, a disease, or a problem of the soil or its cultivation which is not studied by these men of ours, about which they are not anxious to tell us.

A man who studies a single question, like corn-root worm or fruit tree scale, knows more about it than any man who has other work to do. It would seem the part of wisdom for us who hire them to ask them to help us understand our troubles.

The state experiment station is always willing to help any farmer whether it be unusually fine dispensation, and when he came to Sunday morning, threw a bunch of flowers at the robins plant.

New England contemporary—I am ashamed to mention his name—"Why does the south continue to celebrate Lee's birthday?" Well, for one reason he was one of the best soldiers of this or any other age and as such ought to be the pride of everybody north and south. He was a fine Christian gentleman, an example such as have few equal. That's another reason. When will New England crawl out of its shell, anyway?

Well, the race is on and the candidates are coming out for offices in the county as thick as fleas! Now, let me see—did we promise to see that the country people would be considered in the race for office and do we intend to stick to that promise?

It seems very unseemly to me for the townspeople to make such a mad scramble for the different offices and never consider the people in the country in the election. Sanford is a big place and has the voting power and might, because we have the voting power in the very reason why we should curb our lust for offices this time and look about us and determine how many of our country friends would like to sit at the public table.

I am reserving my opinion of the candidates until I hear from my friends in the country, for they certainly are entitled to have a voice in the matter. Of course few people in the country care for the offices that would entail expense and a residence in town but they should be consulted in the matter and the idea of a whole politicians going in for everything without consulting any one is apt to get a severe rebuke at the polls.

The day of the peanut politician is waning and the manhood of the great United States will assert itself in no unmeasured terms from this time on.

Much the Simpler Task.

Birds Voracious Feeders.

As instances of the amount of food some birds consume, the Rev. C. T. But He Wouldn't Get Up.

There was not even standing room in the crowded electric car, but a young woman wedged her way along just inside the doorway. Each time the car took a sudden lurch forward she fell helplessly back, and three times she landed in the arms of a large, comfortable man.

"The third time it happened he said quietly: 'Hadn't you better stay here?'"—Exchange

Title of Pope.

It is uncertain when the title was first used. The earliest instance we can cite is that of Heraclius, Patriarch of Alexandria. In 1118 he assumed the ordinary title of patriarch priests in the eastern Greek church.

In the west, it continued, for several centuries to be applied to bishops generally, but it was restricted to the Roman pontiff by Gregory VII in a synod held at Rome in 1073.

Satisfaction in Life.

I would have nobody to control me. I would be absolute, and what but?

Now, in that is absolute, and what but? Now, in that is absolute, and what but?

He likes; but that can do what he likes. Can take his pleasure; but that can take his pleasure; can be content and be that can be content; have no desire; come what will come, I am satisfied.

Today.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. MAID OF THE MILL.

When the Clatter of the Seawakened Machinery Turned Into Music.

By HAROLD GARTER.

"Seems to me you young folks don't think of nothing but pleasure," said Mrs. Adams querulously, as she watched her daughter Lizzie put on her new hat. "I never had clothes like those you've bought since you've been in the mill."

"For the Lord's sake, mother, don't you want me to go out at all?" replied the other crossly. "There, I'm sorry," she added, as she stooped to kiss the invalid. "I won't be gone long."

"Well, see that S. Winton brings you back safe," grumbled the elder woman, watching her daughter enviously as she passed through the door and into the village street.

But Lizzie Adams was not thinking of S. Winton, whom her mother had selected as her beau. She was not unwilling that he should be the subject of parental approbation, for the Adams family was the first in the country, and it was a collateral branch; the Winthrop Adamses, who owned the big, new cotton mill which drew thousands of young people from the mountain districts to work there. Lizzie Adams, however, was of the poorer branch. Her small wage was all that sustained their family of two, and before that they had lived in the utmost penury. Their tiny cottage was at the end of the village street, and almost bare. Mrs. Adams grinded Lizzie the few dollars she withheld for clothes.

Lizzie Adams was not going to the village. Instead, she made her way toward the brand-new mill, in the shadow of her cousin Herbert, who had come from college the week before to take charge of the mill upon the occasion of his father's sudden demise. They had been sweethearts in the good old days, before Winthrop Adams had risen from a country store.

So Long as Mother Lived She Must Go Back.

keeper to a country magnate, by a shrewd investment. But doubtless Herbert had long ago forgotten her. For she had not seen him for four-five years, it must be. And her last memory of that stolen kiss under the maple, and how still more languid aquiescence in it, made her cheeks redder as she walked.

She was not hoping to meet Herbert; she was just taking a stroll, attired in her best hat and her opera wearables gone. And when she remembered his promise about some day returning—well, dangerous thoughts crept through her little head.

Those who seek find. Lizzie met Herbert, driving a smart trap, and by his side sat a young lady, dressed in what seemed to Lizzie the height of fashion. And because there was hardly room to pass the trap stopped, and Herbert recognized her and bowed and smiled and turned to the girl at his side and spoke. Then she smiled serenely, and the trap disappeared behind her.

"You haven't quarreled with S. Winton?" asked her mother, crossly, when Lizzie returned.

"No, I didn't meet him," answered the girl. Two minutes later she was stifling her sobs upon her bed in the little room adjoining the invalid's.

If Herbert had no thoughts for her upon the street, how would he greet her in the mill when dressed in her working clothes and covered with lint she toiled at the machine? She could not bear to drag herself into the place next morning. The girl gritted there, heavy-eyed, sullen of face, a fuming of Sunday and of their beauty.

"Now, then, don't stand dreaming there!" shouted Miss Jones, the forewoman, to Lizzie. "Seems to me you're the unhandiest girl in the mill. Don't you know how young Mr. Adams is coming today to inspect this place this morning?"

Lizzie turned suddenly to her mother. She had long ago learned that her distant relationship to the owner exposed her only to derision. Old Winthrop Adams had never liked the girl. The branches of the family had quarreled in the long ago, and he had justified his conscience by giving her a place in the mill.

It was toward noon when Herbert Adams came in, escorted by the foreman. He passed slowly along the line of machines, listening to his guide's explanation. Half way down he came upon Lizzie. He must have seen her. But he did not even look at her. Lizzie felt herself reddening; she heard Miss Jones snicker audibly behind her. "Herbert passed on."

"Seems to me some folks ought to know their places," Miss Jones remarked to one of her friends, "and not go making eyes at their betters."

Lizzie worked on in silence. The clatter of machinery seemed to torture her. She felt herself caught helplessly in the jaws of these monsters, just as the cotton was caught, shredded, and seeded. She was equally helpless. And the future stretched away, as far as she could see, equally hopeless. She would never be able to leave the mill—unless S. Winton.

At noon she crept away to spend the half hour's recess somewhere under the trees, away from the prying eyes of those who had seen the incident of the morning. The forest extended almost to the mill fence; it was part of the old Adams estate and sacred against the ax. In the distance, through the trees, Lizzie could see the red brick house. A thought came to her. Why should she not run away? Why not just walk and walk and walk into those green yonder trees, anywhere, so long as she never turned back?

No! So long as her mother lived she must go back, from day to day, to endure the jeers and scoffs and coarse speech of those others who recognized that she was not one of them, and envied and hated her.

Suddenly a shadow fell across her path and she found herself looking up into the face of a bronzed young man whose eyes were bent upon her with unmistakable interest.

"Lizzie!" exclaimed the mill owner, "I saw you leaving the grounds, and followed you. How do you do? I've often thought of you since we parted—let me see, years ago. It might be."

"You seemed to forget your politeness this morning in the mill," the girl retorted, struggling to keep back her tears.

"Why?" exclaimed the young man in astonishment, "really, I was so embarrassed—I thought it best—"

"Yes, you were embarrassed because I wasn't dressed like your friend yesterday," she blurted out, and could have bitten her tongue afterward.

"Miss Keith?" Why she—why, Lizzie, dear, she's the agent for the cotton company—just a business woman, who is negotiating for the year's output. You didn't think—"

Suddenly he caught her in his arms. "Lizzie," he whispered, with his face very close to hers, "did you think I had forgotten? Don't you know my father sent me away to college because I cared? I want you, Lizzie, just as I always did; I want a girl of my own country and my own people, not—Miss Keith!"

And the clatter of the reawakening mill suddenly turned into music.

TWO HOME WOMEN TALKED ABOUT HAIR

Two women met in our store the other day, when one of them said:

"My, how pretty your hair looks! What have you been doing to it?"

"Why, I have been using Harmony Hair Beautifier for the past two weeks," was the reply.

"Why, indeed!" replied the first woman, "that is just what I am using. Isn't it great, and don't you think my hair shows a lot of improvement?"

Harmony Hair Beautifier is becoming all the rage among both men and women who are particular in the care of their hair. It is just what it names—a hair beautifier. It seems to polish and burnish the hair, making it glossy, silky-soft, and more easy to put up in graceful, wavy folds that "stay put." Contains no oil, and will not change color of hair nor darken it. Simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lathering that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us.

Why Neglect the Old Groves

By W. L. Tyler
Yes, why neglect them, when with little time and expense they can be made to bear again and when the old bushes will be as full grown trees and not as young trees just starting to bear. It is a shame to see the old groves that were damaged by the freeze, but have grown up again, not given the proper attention. If you stop a minute to think, you will see that by grafting or budding on this strong old stock, you would soon have fine, large, healthy trees. There are hundreds of acres of old groves throughout this state that with care and proper attention would blossom out into profit bearing groves.

Taking out the dead wood will help wonderfully. After the dead wood is cut out, the strongest and most healthy limbs should be carefully prepared, and budded with the young stock that you wish to perpetuate. In the north here companies exist that do nothing but raise old and grafted apple "oranges." If they can afford to give their old Apple orchards, why can't we of Florida afford to save our old orange groves?

The Florida orange is far superior to any orange that grows and therefore should have the best of care. Our fruit is far superior to any could be marketed better and also would be in greater demand if more spraying was done. The fruit on a tree cannot be "perfect" unless the leaves are healthy and stay on the tree. A tree, no matter of what variety, gets one-third of its food from the air and all of that one-third through its leaves. Therefore, it only makes sense to reason that to have a healthy tree you must have healthy leaves. And you cannot have those unless you spray, you may say a tree, but you can never tell when a blight of some kind is going to infest your trees, therefore, care against this by spraying thoroughly and often.

They water demonstrated the re-potting of old trees in an orchard and had the care that any farmer has for his orchard - saw off all dead branches.

In the year 1913, one of these trees bore about five bushels of inferior apples and the other none to speak of. The trees were pruned and sprayed in the fall of the same year. In the spring of summer of 1914, the trees received proper attention and that year twenty bushels were sold from the first tree and ten from the second. The writer cares for these trees in the fall of 1914 and the spring of 1915. Although a great deal of the load of old trees is gone, many of the bushes and the tree stand twenty bushels in 1915. There is no fruit worth mentioning on the trees not cared for. The same result can be obtained from orange trees.

Walton care trees that are not bearing two or three boxes of fruit and that have a capacity of fifteen to twenty boxes and are bringing in no revenue could readily be put into shape to bring the owner handsome return from his investment.

Does Not Need a Hoe

Hoboes came up for discussion in Washington club the other night, and Senator Nathan P. Bryan of Florida told this anecdote along the way.

After getting a hobo mostly turned to the lawlessness of a suburban town for something to eat, he and his wife responded that they had no money on the house, so the boy providing he was not to be blamed for cleaning out the garden. The man agreed and when he got home through several days of travel to a feeling of happiness, long enough came out with a suitable tool.

"You won't have to go to the garden," said the housewife in the first instant, "I have a二十元 (about $1) in change in my purse."

"Save me a hoe," said the woman with a wondering expression.

"What do you want with a hoe?"

"No, madam," replied the boy, starting for the hallgate, "my method is pray for rain."

Scientific Discovery

A VEGETABLE ELEMENT THAT IS RAPIDLY DOING AWAY WITH THE USE OF CALOMEL.

H. Cydibors, druggist, is one of the first progressive chemists to offer for sale the new system of medicine that is fast supplanting the use of old fashioned calomel as a liver medicine.

Nearly every one knows how easily the liver becomes sluggish in this climate and how this sluggishness affects not only all the other physical organs but the mind as well.

The signal towers of this dread condition, which some call malaria are coated tongue, lack of energy, dull eyes, constipation, sallow complexion.

Taken with regularity this proven scientific liquid vegetable medicine in the form of Carwell's Liver-Aid will prevent or promptly relieve all liver troubles.

Defends Parcel Post

By W. L. Tyler
Washington, Feb. 18. Representative Lewis of Maryland filed a broadside at those members of the senate committee on post offices who voted to re-peal part of the parcel post law empowering the Postmaster General to change the rate, weight limits and other traffic conditions from time to time. The statement issued by Mr. Lewis today, coming from the father of this portion of the law, prefaced his fight to prevent changes in the act.

"Every man in the United States," said Mr. Lewis, "has the right to go to the Interstate Commerce Commission to have rates adjusted if they are too high, and now these people want to deny that right to the Postmaster General who is the biggest single shipper in the country."

"Congress has never undertaken to make either freight or express rates, but he [Lewis] left this duty to the administration of these agencies subject to the check of the commission, and in passing the parcel post law treated this as nothing in the spring way. Congress was right in all these cases. There is probably not a single member of either the house or senate post office committee sufficiently versed in both details to make a proper rate by post or express that would not either be needlessly high and kill the traffic, or needlessly low so as to produce a deficit, and this is what has happened from legislatively made mail rates, which are much less simple."

Lower Rates

It will be remembered to many of our readers that effective March 1st, the rates on vegetables from stations on the old S. & E. Railway will be the same as from Sanford, namely, 1½ per crate of 50 lbs., when moving under refrigeration. Heretofore, the rates on celery and lettuce from all stations was 1½ per crate with the exception of Brissomby which paid twice the rate of 1½ per crate. These rates will be quoted in San Francisco.

A. V. L. George, formerly Vice President of the S. & E. A. 2500.

Arabian Honey.

Arabian honey, which is frequently mentioned by historians as an important export from Aden in early times, is no longer an item in the export trade. Small quantities, however, continue to come from Nokalla, a village east of Aden, and it is also said that there is a market for it in India in small quantities. The蜜蜂 in the desert and wax industry has been used for centuries, and is attributed to a diminution in the rainfall. The honey that comes to market in Aden is packed in cans and cartons and sometimes in hollow gourds.

Man Who Is Half Sick.

A physician recently remarked that it was an awful punishment to be half sick and have nothing to do. He said who is really half sick, if he has nothing to occupy his attention, grows rapidly. Antroposcopy and diet are the chief remedy for such conditions. The condition of the body is a constant factor in the development of disease. The blood is the life of the body, and the body is the life of the blood. The blood is the life of the body, and the body is the life of the blood.

Prophet and Philanthropist.
A St. Louis man left a large fortune to be applied to relief of immigrants passing through the city. The man, who was a native of the city, was embarking on the last leg of his journey to California, where he had fortune and success in a new country. A man who undertakes to relieve poverty of immigrants and obligations has to be a prophet or a prophet as well as philanthropist. —Washington Star.

Found Way to Win.
I've found the key to success, but, you ask, how? I have bought twenty-five dollars' worth of books in the papers that I used to buy out in the stores. I used to be convicted of thievery, but was pardoned out because the governor liked one of my poems. Since that time no books have been sold among the best sellers.

Boy's Idea of Health Treatment.
A small boy who had been left in the care of a maiden aunt while his parents were abroad, was very indignant at the discipline he received. In reciting his grievances to his fond mother he exclaimed: "She made me eat bread and butter with everything, and even made me eat bread and butter with cake."

Definitions of Punch.
No beverage can properly be called "punch," which does not consist of five ingredients, the word belonging to the Marathi and Gurjari languages of India and signifying "five." It was introduced into England by the servants of the East India company about the end of the seventeenth century.

Best Time to Think.
To say "Think before you eat" sounds something like "Look before you leap," and there is really just as much reason for one as for the other, according to many authorities who have long studied mankind to learn when they were capable of their best thinking.

HOW TO SAVE SYSTEMATICALLY

Say, young man, and become respectable and respected. It is the surest way. If you would be wealthy think of saving as well as getting.—Benjamin Franklin.

Thrift means more than the average person thinks it does. In the first place it does not mean miserliness, grubbing, cheapskating, squeezing and saving every possible cent at the expense of self-respect, comfort and health.

At times, spending instead of saving may be the wisest. Thrift at once earns and saves, with a view to wholesome and profitable expenditure at a fitting time.

But the actual accumulation of money is the outward and visible sign that a man is really thrifty, and although thrift means more than just saving, to a large extent saving is the measure of a man's progress.

Money isn't everything. It can't always buy health and happiness, but if by your present thrift you are able to get into comfortable circumstances and banish the worry of debt, will you be doing something that will surely make for health and happiness?

While saving alone is not thrift, it is an indispensable part of it. However, no one should be encouraged to be stingy. Between saving money sparingly and being a genuine "tightwad" there is a vast difference.

Decide on some plan of regular saving and then stick to it.

KEEPING BEES IN FLORIDA

If the office of bees is increasing the yield from plants were fully understood, there would be many more apiculturists in Florida than there are at present. It is said that encouragement of bee-keeping in a certain district of Nebraska, where much alfalfa is grown, resulted in the addition of more than 200 per cent to the yield of good seed of high germinative powers. In the fields of that valuable legume and hay plant we have heard of a citrus grove in south Florida which bore well for some years. Yesterday his son discovered a bee tree near this grove, cut it down and thus dispersed the inhabitants. The following year the yield was doubled from that grove.

Not only fruit growers, but observant truckmen are aware that the vines much indebted to the bees. The little honey gatherer flies into the depths of a blossoming search for nectar, and, emulating, carries off much pollen on its fuzzy coat. Within the next blossom of the same species it visits it again, much of the pollen on the way aiding the fertilization of the ovules and the consequent ripening of fruits. A great fertilization is made more certain by the visits of the bees. So well is the useful service of the bees understood in many parts of the north that fruit growers marketing their crops in orchards, not so much for the honey, which is provided rather as a by-product, but in the sale of more than the yield of the trees.

If there is any way to stimulate a cult of the visitors, especially in the interior, there could be far more from the busy denizen of the hive be encouraged to thrive and multiply to a degree in which it can gather honey practically all the year; and in a land where fruit and vegetable growing is a great industry. There is practically not a day in most of our years when the bee cannot find some blossom from which to gather honey in a large part of Florida not a single day. This, therefore, should be a land of honey. Apiculture is so much easier following in Florida than in more northern latitudes—should be so much more remunerative—that we should have hundreds making it a livelihood.

MORE ABOUT EXPRESS RATES

At a meeting at Ocala of the South-Western Express officials and representatives from various trades bodies and business organizations throughout the state, the matter of express rates on fruit and vegetables from Florida points to the east, north and west was thoroughly discussed.

Considerable light was thrown upon the express rates and their application which resulted in much information being given to the express men illustrating the fact that no information had been furnished to the agents at many points in the state.

When this was fully explained there was a full understanding of rates that are now going into force for the commodities shipped from Florida. It was shown that less weight per box or one hundred pounds could be shipped on a much cheaper basis than the single-rate rate which has been the system in force up to February 1st, but which was abandoned through the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The express company will advise the new rates and the methods of figuring them throughout the state and will reimburse for any overcharge without the formality of filing claim.

In general the new rates are materially lower than the old ones and ultimately will be of great advantage to Florida express shippers.

The rates on cantaloupes and beets have been greatly increased but the express officials granted a new weight schedule on beets in barrel crates which reduces materially the rates on this commodity.

Christian Endeavor Life

This is the "Lincoln's Birthday" quotation which helps here: "If we do right, God will be with us, and if He is with us, we cannot fail." But that last word, "fail" sometimes seems to come to quiet best efforts. What we need at all times is the faith in God to trust that things are going to turn out right, if we do the best we can, and today this will all be clear to us, how moral comprehension.

Next Sunday Miss Ruth Collin, state Tenth Legion superintendent, will ask that our selected turn their attention to her department of work. There was a Quiet Hour day in January and it succeeded better than such plans have for a long while. Besides praying, rounded right off pull a note from my eye while they reflect to acknowledge the beam in their own.

On April 1st to Prohibition

The New York World sets no limit to the craze for prohibition. It says

additionally: "Yesterday 2,000 representative of the Anti-Saloon League and the Women's Christian Temperance Union marched to the Capitol in Washington to demand national prohibition by an amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

"Tomorrow it is likely to be the Anti-Cigarette League, still clamoring for a constitutional amendment to prohibit cigarette smoking, or the Anti-Profanity League that insists on a constitutional amendment to prevent swearing, or a Limerick Society that advocates a constitutional amendment to stop the birth of imperfect babies."

"Eventually there will be no need of laws or courts or churches or schools or founders or charities or prisons. Everybody will have made wise and good and industrious and healthy and prosperous by amendments to the Constitution."

Hobson and His Issue

The Independent, N. Y., the organ of the Congregational church, in its issue of December 4, editorially endorses Congressman Underwood against Congregrationalist Hobson. The editorial reader we have seen the advertisement for the latest work of the Anti-Saloon League has done; this is remarkable to see. Society they had a splendid C. E. meeting, large attendance and many visiting part. Then on Wednesday evening the Endeavor turned out to the church prayer meeting as they had not done in such numbers for a long time. And to make it a success, a "Christian Endeavor Week" in Sanford a business meeting was held, the best ever in the history of the society. During its special chapter was placed on prayer, prayer for co-workers everywhere and that Christ's spirit of love might effectively blot out from hearts of the younger people the sectarian narrowness sometimes so evident in those of older years. You have to know if pleased the state society hear the good report from the church which entertains such confidence in its pastor.

This is the Central district officers of the church as large delegations of the visitors, especially from New England, who came more than the busy denizen of the hive be encouraged to thrive and multiply to a degree in which it can gather honey practically all the year; and in a land where fruit and vegetable growing is a great industry. There is practically not a day in most of our years when the bee cannot find some blossom from which to gather honey in a large part of Florida not a single day. This, therefore, should be a land of honey. Apiculture is so much easier following in Florida than in more northern latitudes—should be so much more remunerative—that we should have hundreds making it a livelihood.

The Independent says of the action of the Council: "That effort is so hopeless a course is the best way to promote temperance we gravely doubt. Even the women suffragists have given up that chicanery in their behalf and turned to state action. That is the true policy for either reform."

TRICES TRUMPETEE

(Articles Published Under this Heading are published by M. P. A. Bureau, Jacksonville.)

This department will be a regular feature of this paper as long as the writer and the publisher can agree upon a satisfactory exchange for its publication. It carries what is to some may seem a pretentious heading, but it is not so show in the ordinary acceptation of that word. Its purpose is two-fold: first to show you the editor did not write what follows; and, secondly, to proclaim what its name signifies, that it is a trumpet upon the battlefield of life, calling to the sleeping armies of liberal thought to awake. Too long already have the soldiers of freedom slept, and while thus engrossed snatches more galling than those of the Crusade have been visited upon their mortality.

Before the first line is written for publication the "dogs of war" are "hot foot" upon my trail. But that only assures me that in the past I have said things which disturbed their narrow ranks, and they are looking for something in the future. I come, however, extending not a branch, but a whole olive-tree. Peace I would have, and serenity, while the battlements of tyranny and hypertension are stormed with the trumpet of reason.

Those who look here for coarse or ribald entertainment will be disappointed. That will be left to those who have no argument to make, but class a divine right to pull a note from my eye while they reflect to acknowledge the beam in their own.

It follows that they are weaklings, and how up the much advertised prosperity of Kansas. The bank commissioners of Kansas reports $125 as the average deposit for every individual in Kansas.

Personal Reliance and Control

(By John C. Trice)

Personal or self-reliance is not only a divine teaching, but it is the superlative of wise human characteristics. Only a few days ago the press despatches informed us of a young man who had comitted suicide and left a note giving as a reason for his rash act that he had always been taught to yield his opinions to those of others. Knowledge gained from the experience and observations of more mature years had shown him the folly of such an impossibility. It does teach individual responsibility, however, and through that teaching has had a wonderful restraining influence upon mankind.

All Park in This Georgia Town

According to the Pineville, Ga., Herald, there are some other things as di-gitated in that town in that prohibition law.

If we are going to stand for our women fathers wearing shadow skirts and slit skirts and transparent skirts, and our younger women learning to dance the bolero, waltz, the Texas Tommy,

the foxtrot, the tango, the bear dance, the hooch, the jive, the hambone, the puppy huddle, and go down the line, then the map folk night just as well five other saloons and the whole push go to it that it really itself is an offence all that is bad and ugly, while teaching is the strong arm of civil law to keep preachers cannot find any them good.

Law is not for the punishment of individuals for an overt act, not alone in the sense of retaliatory vengeance, but because of the restraining effect of such punishment upon persons with like evil intentions. This may be said to be the basic principle of all our criminal law, which embraces our moral statutes, and is founded upon the higher law. It cannot be denounced prohibition, because it does not prohibit and makes no pretense to such an impossibility. It does teach individual responsibility, however, and through that teaching has had a wonderful restraining influence upon mankind.

and Jeffigineous of those who are working to abolish the liquor traffic say, to the best of their knowledge,

GIVE THAT PUNY CHILD THIS GUARANTEED REMEDY

If your child is under-weight, listless, failing, liable to get sick easily, it needs a medicine to build its weight and strength. For this purpose there is nothing else we know of than the guaranteed Remedy as Recall Olive Oil Emulsion. The remarkable success of this wonderful medicine is due to the fact that it contains ingredients that tone the nerves, enrich the blood and furnish to the entire system the strength, weight and health-building substances it needs. And, it does all this without injuring the stomach. In fact, Recall Olive Oil Emulsion is not only pleasant to take, but even the most sensitive stomach is benefited by it, and the digestion improved. On the other hand, it contains no alcohol or stimulant-forming drugs, which most parents object to giving their children. It does its good work by taking hold of the weakness and lifting the body up to the natural strengths, at the same time making it strong to resist disease.

If Recall Olive Oil Emulsion doesn't build you child up like this strong, puny muscles, and make the little one lively, strong, well and full of the animal spirits children are recently known to have, come back and tell us and we'll refund your money. This is no mere fair, and it leaves you no cause to hesitate. For old people also—for convalescents—for all who are nervous, tired-out, run-down, no matter what the cause—we offer Recall Olive Oil Emulsion with the same assurance of entire satisfaction or money back. Sold only at the 7,000 Recall Stores. And in this town only at the L. R. PHILLIPS & CO.,
100 East First Street, Sanford, Florida.

You Need a Tonic

There are times in every woman's life when she needs a tonic to help her over the hard places. When that time comes to you, you know what tonic to take—Cardul, the woman's tonic. Cardul is composed of pure vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet surely, on the weakened womanly organs, and helps build them back to strength and health. It has benefited thousands and thousands of weak-siling women in its past half century of wonderful success, and it will do the same for you.

You can't make a mistake in taking

CARDUL The Woman's Tonic

Miss Amelia Wilson, R. F. D. No. 4, Alma, Ark., says: "I think Cardul is the greatest medicine on earth for women. Before I began to take Cardul, I was so weak and nervous, and had such awful dizzy spells and a poor appetite. Now I feel as well and as strong as I ever did, and can eat most anything." Begin taking Cardul today. Sold by all dealers.

Pecan Culture Means Ready Money for Farmers

Every farmer should have at least a few pecan trees. While coming into maturity, the trees will not interfere with other crops. They will begin to bear in five to seven years from planting and if properly grown will produce 25 to 30 pounds a tree by the tenth year.

The big pecan orchards may or may not prove profitable—much depends upon the management. There always will be a good market for pecan nuts, however, and the farmer who grows the trees along with other crops will find them a fine investment—a dependable source of ready money year in and year out.

Grieffings' 1914 Tree Book

This work shows how pecans may be made profitable—gives instructions as to planting, care and culture. It shows the original Big Z pecan tree and describes this grand new variety. Grieffings have introduced several splendid pecans but, in many respects Big Z is the best yet. Every farmer should plant it.

Other nuts that farmers should grow more generally have special attention in this book. It covers fully all the fruits that are adapted to the South, also shrubs, trees and plants for decorative purposes. The book is a complete planting guide—write today for a copy. AN ERRATIC REMINISCENCE

But He Saved the Old Farm
Merry Wedding Bells
Ring Out.

By GERTHULE MARY SHERIDAN.

"The sun beat in eight states now on the Pacific slope, and the equinoctial, brewing in the West Indies," said Willard's Mercer, putting down the evening paper and trying to give a cheerful aspect to the announcement.

"Yes, the trich will soon be on the punks' neighbor," observed Jim Brown. "Hope you've looked out for your winter woodpile."

"The fuel question is the last of my troubles," answered Mercer. "I must pay the ceiling is pretty well stocked, too. It's the payment on the eighty acres that troubles me, and you know it. Let's get down to business. Old Sharp is hard to attack. He's given me just thirty days to settle him or leave the farm. Will you loan me the money I need?"

"I know he means this chit. Then his arrow to his face. There was a covetous gleam in his little bead-like eyes.

"See here, Mercer," he said; "you and I married sisters, and naturally we have sort of mutual interests. Relationship isn't business, though, and when you talk of my helping you out, I must remember that I have a family of my own to care for. I don't approve of some of your ways. Last winter you pretty near carried off my family in the village. This winter you sent your daughter to a bawdry. You can't afford these things, you know."

"I can always afford to be charitable and do my best to give my children an education," declared Mercer, frowning up with suppressed indignation.

"Then pay the cost and don't grumble," advised Brown crustily. "As to the charity end of it, I don't believe in encouraging the lazy nor helping the shiftless. Why, just as I left home I heard my wife give sharp walking papers to a whining old fellow looking for shelter and a supper. There's no such thing as a miser, Mrs. Brown and I agree. They had enough when he had farmland and timber to visit him. He probably let out land, too, in exchange for services. He's pretty well along, as he walks out into the yard, to dress up the stable, etc."

"Hello! I evaluated as I came across a log. I just struck the end of the cane. What's the trouble?"

"I was wondering around now after you left. I pulled the newspaper out of the evening paper and trying to give a cheerful aspect to the announcement."

"That's all I can mutter," Mercer, a trifle bitter. "Well, stranger, the owner of the farm is dead and I am poor, but I never left without a homely person from my door, and I shan't begin now. You wait here a minute."

The kindly-hearted farmer went into the house, took out a box to fix up a bed in the attic, and went out into the yard again. To his surprise his visitor was a man, who was to be seen. Then he heard a groan. It proceeded from a rotted cellar he had been digging that day.

"Too bad," said Mercer, who saw the old man lying across the floor, bleeding at the bottom of the pit. "I had no business to bring him to wander around unwarned."

The old man was carried into the house and a doctor was sent for. The tramp, if such he was, had injured his head and was unconscious. They placed him in the spare bedroom. The doctor arrived, did what he could for the patient, and said he was not seriously hurt.

"You've got a queer customer, is there?" the physician told Mercer, as he ended his visit to his patient the next morning.

"How is that?" inquired Mercer.

"He has visited that local lawyer Jones and Mr. Brown up to him."

"Why, I understand that," remarked Mercer.

"No more can I put, will, and business, he is very persistent, and I'm going to humor him."

The lawyer arrived in company with Brown an hour later, both wondering and mystified. The patient informed that Mercer also should come into the room.

"Why, I explained Brown. "It's the old tramp."

"No more tramp than you," cried the sick man. "You crafty old sinner! I'm the uncle of your wife. I came down here to investigate. You bought the mortgage to evict your brother-in-law here, and this lawyer is preparing to evict it. Produce those notes. I'm going to pay them!"

"You're blundering maddened," said Mrs. Brown two days later. "You've made a nice mess of your smart scheme, hasn't you?"

It seemed so hideous for Uncle Bill to think that Mr. Mercer his heirloom old-time farm was saved, and mercifully being held long for pretty Ethel up her lover when the June issue of Stamps for Customer comes out on the 15th of this month.

Johnson grass does well in Florida. So does the legume, kudzu.

A wonderful product whose best habitat is Florida too, is Japanese sugar cane, a perennial with ten or fifteen stools or suckers, from each joint of the stalk

COMPARISON OF OTHER CITIES MADE BY DeLAND COMMITTEEWILL BE INTERESTING TO SANFORD AND OTHER CITIES

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

COST OF UTILITIES AND KINDS OF PAVING FORM AN INTER-ESTING TOPIC

A delegation of Deland citizens recently left their home town for a tour of inspection of different Florida cities to study the plans of street paving and public utilities and the comparison of the different cities inspected is worthy of more than a passing glance. In order to give our readers an idea of how other cities are progressing we give below the comparisons drawn by the DeLand committee:

"We started from DeLand on Saturday and visited Sanford and Orlando; Saturday night we spent in Lakeland; Sunday we motored to Tampa and from there to St. Petersburg by boat. We spent Sunday night in St. Petersburg and returned to Tampa Monday noon. Monday afternoon we visited Plant City and spent the night at Bartow; Tuesday morning we inspected the Florida acreage plant, and Tuesday afternoon visited Kissimmee; returning home at 6 p. m. Tuesday. We were going four days, visit seven towns traveling 330 miles by auto and 60 miles by boat.

To say we were amazed at the remarkable progress of the towns visited is putting it mildly. Our only wish is that every citizen of DeLand could see beautiful Lakeland, with its storm and sanitary sewerage, its beautiful paved streets and its brilliant white way, the electricity being turned on for the first time Saturday night.

We found that every town visited has lined boulders, that these ponds have been used for sanitary and storm sewage, street paving, water works, electric lights, etc.

We found that vitrified brick was the material mostly in use, in fact, generally used in all towns with the exception of Lakeland, where all the business streets are vitrified brick and the residence streets asphaltic concrete. There appears to be a great advantage in the latter material—for several reasons: (1) Its cleanliness, (2) Its noiselessness, (3) Its beauty. Whether or not the material will stand up under our climate remains to be proven. We believe that it will. It looks to us an improvement over brick.

We submit the following results of our investigations of the several towns:

Sanford. Town, Sanford; population 19,134; 5,000 to 6,000.

Governor, mayor, seven councilmen.

Mayor appoints chief of police, city clerk and collector, treasurer, and assessors.

Police force, voted $50,000 not yet sold to take up, vaults outstanding, interest 6 per cent. Bonds floated, $165,000 probably, run in southern states east of the Rocky Mountains.

The next disturbance to cross the country will cross the great central valleys about Wednesday and the eastern states Thursday. The disturbance will be attended by snow in northern and probably rain in southern states east of the Rocky Mountains.

Washinton. Feb. 23.—A violent storm sweeping the continent tonight, according to the weather bureau, will cause rains in the south, the lake regions and the North Atlantic states tomorrow and Tuesday.

This disturbance, the bureau bulletin said, "will be followed by a pronounced cold wave which will over-spread the Mississippi valley, the southeastern states and the lake region Monday and the eastern and southeastern states by Tuesday." Following this storm the weather will be fine and remain so for several days in the region east of the Rocky Mountains.

"A general change to warmer weather will set in over the northwestern states about Tuesday, spreading eastward over the great central valley by Wednesday and the eastern state by Wednesday or Thursday.

"The next disturbance to cross the country will cross the great central valleys about Wednesday and the eastern states Thursday. The disturbance will be attended by snow in northern and probably rain in southern states east of the Rocky Mountains.

Washinton. Feb. 23.—The Presbyterians will send 250 temperance workers into California, Colorado, Washington, and Oregon in an effort to swing those states into the dry column at the next fall election. They will take with them motion picture films teaching lessons against the sale of alcohol. Films for the crusade were effected today at a meeting of the Presbyterian board of temperance. Charles Sculson, secretary of the temperance commission of the Federal Council of Churches, to be held tomorrow in Philadelphia, he would ask the 30 religious denominations that belong to this organization to unite with the Presbyterian Board in this work.

All Officials Will Run.

The report started some time since that the four year term officials would not run in the spring primary but would hold over until 1916 was squashed by a wire from Governor Trammell, who emphatically stated that he had appointed the Seminole officials to hold office until January, 1915, which will make it incumbent upon all the officials to run for office again. The question arose on account of the four year term men who if elected at the spring primary will have to make the race again in two years, when in fact they are supposed to hold office for four years, but being appointed in the middle of the term gives them the rough end of it and they will have to take their two year term and be satisfied with same.

Florida Vegetables in New York

New York, Feb. 23.—Receipts of Florida vegetables were just about sufficient to meet the demand. Deliveries by express companies were held up for many hours owing to the blizzard which descended upon New York last Saturday and continued through a good part of this week. Heavy snow made it almost impossible for the horses to get through and also kept many buyers away and the demand was not quite in good shape as it has been for the past few weeks. Prices, however, on the live stock were well sustained. Peas were in moderate supply and sold from $2 to $4 per basket, according to quality and condition, top price being reached on large peas. Beans were in fairly heavy supply and brought from $2 to $4 per basket for green stock and $1.50 to $3.50 for peas. Lettuce was in lighter weight than it has been for some time past and there was an exceptionally wide range in prices, owing to quality and condition. General range on the live stock was from $2 to $4 per basket, though one car sold up to $4, while parts of other cars sold down as low as 50c. Romaine was in ample supply and as a rule was in slightly better condition and showed greater quality, consequently, brought better prices. The bulk of sales were reported up to $2. Eggplant was very scarce, but steady for fancy stock, which sold up to $4, though the general range was from $2 to $3 per nine till carries. Peppers were a little easier this week and somewhat lower. They ranged from $2.50 to $3 for nine till carriages and from $2.75 to $3.25 for large bulk boxes and from $2 to $2.50 per basket. N. Y. Packer.

CLAIM MODERN DANCES

ARE IMMORAL AND UNHOLY

MINISTERS OF GAINESVILLE DENOUNCE THE NEW DANCE STEPS

ONLY WALTZ AND TWO-STEP

WILL BE ALLOWED UNDER THE NEW RULINGS OF CHURCH AND STATE

Gainesville, Feb. 24.—The "modern" dance or dances was the theme or basis upon which several local pastors made strong addresses Sunday morning, and the congregations were among the largest of the winter season. A few days ago a petition, signed by the pastors and official boards of the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and Second Advent churches, pastors of the Episcopal and Catholic churches, the presidents or principals of a number of educational institutions, the superintendent of the board of public instruction and others who are endeavoring to mould sentiment for the betterment of humanity, was published in the Daily Sun, the petition being addressed to the young people at large, requesting them to refrain from participation in the so-called modern dances. The sermon Sunday morning were in furtherance of that petition, and the sentiment of the congregations, among whom were noted some who have, it is said, been devotees of the tango, etc., was shown. Voting was to be very strongly in favor of the new rules.

The local team was at a slight disadvantage by not being used to floor, but this was made up for by their fast and expert team work. The game opened with Sanford taking the lead, which they kept up during the first half of the last half Daytona team rallied and for a few minutes it looked as though the locals would get the little end of the deal, but the Sanford team took a stand and when the game ended the score was 27-23.

After the game the Sanford team was entertained by the girls of Daytona High and each player was presented with a box of candy made by the Domestic Science class of that school.

The line-up was as follows:

S. H. Gill, 19, Center; D. H. S. Taylor, 2, Field; R. G. Horn, 7, Right; L. G. Meligian, 11, Center; L. F. Gardner, 13, Right; R. F. Drake, 14, Left; R. F. Hart, 15, Left; R. G. Stratton, 6, Left; L. G. Keeting, 10, Right.

Robert W. Goodhart, one of the most widely known bank examiners in the country, will resign his position with the federal government to become president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Pensacola. The new institution is to have a capital stock of $100,000. It will apply for a charter at once.

One of the most important if not the largest, land deals in DeSoto county was consummated in Arcadia last week. We say one of the most important for the simple fact of the proposed development to be made and carried out by the purchasers of 400,000 acres of land acquired by the new company from the Arvada Land and Improvement Co. Their lands are known as the Thomas tract and lies between Nocatee and Ft. Ogden on the eastern side of the A. C. L. Ry. The tract consists of the very highest grade of citrus fruit and trucking lands and are considered by experts to be the finest in South Florida. Many orange groves and well developed farms scattered throughout this section bear out the claims of the owners of these lands to be fully up to the standard as wonderfully producing section.

DeSoto News.

At present the local team has no more games on its list but the manager will be glad to hear from any team that would like a match game.

The record of the team reflects great credit to their coach, Fred Wildman, who has been regular on the job since last November. Fred Wildman also has our confidence and has the reputation of being one of the best in the state. There has been no question about one of his decisions, the entire season which certainly shows that both the team entirely satisfied. Even the girls of Daytona shook hands with Prof. Wildman and complimented him on his refereeing, although they did not like his calling a foul.

When in New Smyrna the basket ball team was in danger of losing their captain. He caught sight of a French drake and it was only with great difficulty that he was persuaded to go on with the team.

When a person wants to know anything about charonics just ask our left guard, as all information as to the things for a member of a team may be received from him.

Mrs. O. W. Brady Entertains.

On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 19th, Mrs. O. W. Brady entertained the Audion, Every Week and Cameo Bridge Clubs in the parlors of the Sanford House.

The game was greatly enjoyed by a number of Sanford's ladies, the first prize, a box of hand embroidered linen handkerchiefs, was won by Mrs. Dr. Puleston.

The second prize, a small alabaster vase was won by Mrs. Goncalo, and the third prize, a beautiful novelty fan was won by Mrs. Flanagan.

Refreshments were served at the close of the game.

Easter Star.

The Eastern Star will meet at Masonic hall, Friday, Feb. 27th, at 7:30 p. m.

Candidates will be initiated, other business of importance to come before the chapter.

Members please attend promptly.

EXECUTION OF ENGLISHMAN

JINGOES ARE ANXIOUS REGARDING ATTITUDE OF UNITED STATES

NO STATEMENTS MADE

PRESIDENT WILSON AND SECRETARY RYAN ARE PROCEEDING WITH DUE CAUTION

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan today conferred briefly on the Mexican situation. No announcements were made after the conference but it is understood a complete report on the execution of Judge William S. Benton, will be made before the view of this government towards the incident is made known. It is understood that the British Ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, has expressed to the British Foreign office his pleasure at the promptness of the American government in seeking to ascertain the truth of the killing of the British subject. This they believe is due to the California deal drawing to a close, as well as to the fine quality of the Florida stock. Prices on Florida celery are reasonable. Chase & Co. say they have handled about one-fourth of the celery shipped out of Florida so far and will be heavy factors the remainder of the season. They report an active demand for grapefruit at satisfactory prices, but are still able to offer cars running heavy to second grade and large sizes. There is only a limited quantity of grapefruit left in the state. Demand for oranges is active and the market strong at high prices. Weather conditions in Florida are favorable and they believe that oranges shipped now will carry in good shape.

Basket Ball.

The basket ball team of the Sanford High School took two games last week, one that was won daily. Already we hear of a number who are planning to go extensively into the business.

The experiments have proven so conclusive that it can be successfully raised in the Sarasota district, that by this time next year, there will no doubt be a substantial effort made in raising strawberries that will not only advertise Sarasota but will have a revenue coming in from a source that will increase each season.
