Wage Controversy Involving More Than 600,000 Miners NO CHANGE MADE

BY UNION OFFICIALS IN THREE PREVIOUS CLAIMS OF 680,000 WORKERS IN STRIKE

(By The Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 1.—The second month of the nation-wide coal strike began today, with officials at miners headquarters here, declaring no settlement is in sight, for the wage controversy is involving more than six hundred thousand miners. No change has been made by the Union officials in their previous claim at least six hundred and eighty thousand workers joined the strike, the number including seventy-five thousand non-union miners.

COTTON CONSUMPTION WILL SOON WIPE OUT SURPLUS OF STAPLE

WASHINGTON, May 1.—World cotton consumption has returned to its pre-war level, after a five year period of low consumption, according to a survey of the international cotton situation and stocks as of April 1, made public Saturday by the commerce department.

The striking feature of the situation the department said "is an indicated consumption of 21,000,000 bales for the year ending July 31, 1922, approximately 6,000,000 bales more than was produced for the crop year."

The world carry-over, the department said from its survey will return to normal by August 1, 1922, while the outstanding feature of interest now is the degree to which world cotton production will return to the pre-war level or whether it will continue on the basis of the last five years average of 18,000,000 bales, much depends, the department declared on weather conditions and the extent to which the boll weevil proves to be a limiting factor.

From its survey, the department stated, it appeared that on August 1, 1921, the carry-over cotton was 14,135,000 bales world cotton period, for the 1921-22 season was 15,197,000 bales and the total supply for the 1921-22 season was 15,197,000 bales. Consumption from August 1, 1921, to March 31, 1922, was estimated at 14,429,000 bales, leaving an indicated supply on April 1 of 14,903,000 bales.

Cotton consumption, which the department continued reached the highest point of 22,000,000 in 1913-14 declined steadily to 17,000,000 bales in 1920-21. Production was also reduced during this period, the department said, though not to such an extent as consumption and hence, an accumulation of cotton stocks resulted in an enormous carry-over on August 1, 1921, of 14,990,000 bales.

CHILDREN'S CRUSADE TURNED DOWN COLD BY THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Checked somewhat by the failure to see President Harding, the "Children's Crusade," which invaded the capital thirty-seven strong Saturday on behalf of 114 war law violators now serving prison terms, got little encouragement from Attorney General Daugherty as to recommendation for executive clemency, and were uncertain of their next move.

Reaching Washington early Saturday morning the party, composed mostly of children under 12 or 13 years old, reached the white house gates shortly before 11 o'clock to be told that there was little possibility that the President would see them. Before their arrival Secretary Christian announced to correspondents that the president would not see the crusaders, but that they would be given "every consideration" by attorney General Daugherty. He told Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, of St. Louis, leader of the crusade, that he was "opposed to a general amnesty," but would take up "each case individually when application is made and give careful consideration on its merits."

ENGINEERING CLASS UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA OPERATED UTILITIES PLANT

(By The Associated Press)
PALATKA, May 1.—Members of the senior engineering class of the University of Florida in putting their theoretical knowledge to a practical test recently operated for 24 hours the electric and ice plant of the Southern Utilities Company here.

The students maintained a regular 24-hour shift without rest and did everything from coaling the furnaces to making tests and the exhaust gases. They weighed the water consumed by the boilers, registered the energy expended and kept statistical record in 15 minute periods throughout their tour.

Those who handled the plant under the direction of Prof. B. F. Gaines, included R. D. Atkinson, A. B. DeWolf, R. D. Redman, E. R. Baswell, L. A. Hogarth, V. D. Almond, Jr., and McCoy Hubbard.

While Manager Graham of the plant and some of his staff remained close by for any emergency, the emergency didn't develop and everything was left to the coming engineers.

Natwithstanding Un- friendly Attitude To- ward Russia

NO MILITARY SECT

IN ANY OF THE CLAUSES OF THE NEW TREATY BETWEEN GER- MANY AND RUSSIA

(By The Associated Press)
GENOA, May 1.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, head of the Russian delegation, has written a letter to Vice-Premier Barthou, of France, assuring him there is no secret military or political clauses in the Russo-German treaty and says Russia is not hostile toward France notwithstanding the unfriendly attitude of France toward Russia.

GENOA, May 1.—The powers have prepared the preamble of their magna charta for Russia; it outlines how Europe will give practical financial and economic help to permit that great country's restoration and reconstruction.

Across the Asiatic, Japan promises to contribute her portion of money to assist in the reorganization of Russia, and although the United States is not mentioned in the preamble, it is wide enough in scope to take in the whole world, for its framers voice the conviction that once confidence is felt that foreigners can normally engage in enterprises in Russia, the banks of all countries will willingly advance funds to their citizens to invest in Russia. Great Britain and Belgium, as well as Japan to a lesser degree, are placing credits at the disposal of enterprises in Russia; France will provide railroad material; Italy will help by inland water transports, and all will participate in an international consortium.

The sub-commission on Russian affairs has already adopted article one of the document, which is directed against propaganda by the Bolsheviks or attempts to change the existing frontiers. This has chief reference to Bessarabia, now annexed by Rumania. An arrangement was also reached on the momentous question of the nationalization of private property.

Apparently some compromise on the project has been devised by the Justists whereby the Soviets are able to adhere to their great doctrine of nationalization and simultaneously satisfy the foreign governments and peoples by granting the use of the property, instead of admitting actual ownership. The text of this article has been kept secret, but it will come up again today for consideration.

MORTON PLOW DEMONSTRATION YESTERDAY

Messrs. Morton and Mattocks were here yesterday from Williston, demonstrating the Morton plow a new invention in the agricultural line. They attach to the Fordson Tractor only and a tractor was taken to the golf links yesterday where a demonstration was made in the presence of several Sanford men and several dealers. The Morton plow is a circular disk plow that fits in the center of the tractor and is said to be the largest capacity single disc plow manufactured, has fewer bolts and parts, can be backed into the fence corners, plowing the small garden as well as the largest field, it is not necessary to remove the plow while harrowing and has many other good points. Some of the Sanford dealers will no doubt take the agency for the plow which is the invention of a Williston boy in Levy county, this state.

Strangers to the city on Sunday say that Seminole Cafe puts up one of the best chicken dinners to be obtained anywhere for the price. The price? It is only 75 cents. You can't get up one at home for that. 29-1tc

STOLE DR. MARSHAL'S PISTOL

Dr. C. J. Marshal had a fine pistol stolen out of his car several days ago and left word with the hardware stores to keep their eyes open for anyone buying ammunition of that size. Last night Harry Wilson, of the Ball Hardware Co., waited upon a negro boy who wanted cartridges of the same size as the pistol and upon being questioned said a negro man on Sanford avenue wanted the cartridges. Going over to the place the officers were satisfied they had the man who stole the pistol and after he had produced the pistol it had Dr. Marshal's name on the handle. The negro will probably work the roads for a while.

There are many things that enter into a real Sunday dinner. First you must know and feel that the place is clean, that the kitchen is clean and sanitary, that the chef knows his business, that the service is efficient. We have all of these requisites at the Seminole Cafe. Ask any one. 29-1tc

Which means "blue Monday" sure enough.

But even if the bill collector does come around it looks like rain and that is worth something.

You can ship stuff to the flood sufferers over the lines of the American Express for nothing. The express companies have a heart when catastrophes appear and their action is to be commended.

The churches of Orlando are protesting against the establishment of a moving picture studio in that city. They could have saved their breath.

There is as much chance of starting a moving picture studio in a Florida city the size of Orlando as there is starting an ice factory in Hades.

The horticulturists meet in Lake-land tomorrow and it will be one of the most important meetings of the year. One of the principal addresses be the "correlation of sunspots and Florida freezes" which should be interesting to the growers who have been watching the sunspots and also the rainspots for some time.

Twenty-seven new subscriptions to the daily Herald during the past week without any soliciting shows that the Daily Herald is gaining friends and gaining ground every day. We told you to stick with us and we would stick with you and sticking together will make Sanford and Seminole county the greatest sections of the earth. The Daily Herald gives you all the news that's fit to print and this is as much as any of the big ones can boast.

CROSS-COUNTRY RAILROADS

The newspapers of Miami and West Palm Beach are urging the building of a cross-country railroad. Of course there is division of opinion as to which of these two cities should be the seaboard terminal. Be that as it may, there is great need of a railroad across the lower peninsula of Florida. But it is hardly likely that any existing railroad company will build such. The railroads of today are so organized that there is no longer competition between them, and they figure that present lines will get the business anyway. Nor is it exactly clear that it would be desirable for the present companies to build this cross-country road. There is capital enough in South Florida to build that road and keep it in the hands of shippers and thus get a real benefit. It ought to be built by Florida people for Florida interests instead of eastern capitalists.

There is very substantial evidence that there will be a cross-country road from Orlando to the sea, and perhaps its western terminus will eventually be some point on the west coast. The movement is taking form and the character of the men back of the movement give confidence to the project.

That which Florida growers need is more direct access to the sea and then boats owned by the growers of this section of the state. California growers have already organized and put in their own feeding lines to the ocean and have their own refrigerating ships for carrying their fruits. This is the proper procedure. It is too easy for railroads to control the steamship lines under present organization, and thus furnish no relief to shippers.

South Florida is rapidly developing into the richest producing section in the United States. Its mines, its mills, its fruit groves and its gardens is the great store house of America. But excessive railroad charges for transportation has discouraged development of the natural resources of the state and have retarded progress. Notwithstanding the handicap of discriminating and unjust railroad rates, Florida fruit and vegetable growers have been able to accumulate neat fortunes. Under past conditions, California has had every advantage over Florida in the matter of railroad service and rates. But that day is rapidly passing.

The opportunities and the possibilities of Florida have induced many men of means and experience to invest here, and growers and planters are getting well organized for marketing as well as growing. Florida has assumed an importance of the world's production that is attracting world-wide attention and no longer will her transportation facilities be hampered as in the past.

There is a demand for three cross-country railroads in South Florida and they ought to be built by Florida capital and managed by Florida citizens. The Orlando-Ocean to Ocean railroad is one of the accomplishments of the near future.—Reporter-Star.

REMOVING UNSIGHTLY SIGNS

Lake County has been the pioneer in preserving the natural scenery along her highways, through inauguration of a campaign more than a year ago by county engineer George E. Heller to remove unsightly advertising signs on county property. The Lake County Chamber of Commerce has actively furthered the movement, and the improvement in appearance of their highways has been so noticeable that the officials in Orange county have ordered the removal of all advertising signs within confines of Orange county roads.

Florida highways in other sections of the state are littered from one end to the other with rusty (and dilapidated) old signs of every description, which mar the natural beauty of the landscape.

The Florida Development Board requests the co-operation of civic organizations and county officials in all the other counties to help make Florida more attractive for residents and tourists by discouraging the use of public highways for display of advertising. Any one has as much legal right to smear signs all over a court house or other county buildings as to tack the signs on trees within the limits of the county highways.

THE LONG GREEN FOR THE SHORT HAUL.

The most persistent effort is being made by those opposed to water transportation to show that the government-operated Warrior River barge line cannot operate at a profit either under government or private control. It is being heralded that even now the barge line is losing money.

As they say up in Michigan, "There's a reason." Let's look for it. The Mobile Register, which is published in the city at the gulf terminus of the Warrior River canal barge line, says:

If the Warrior barge line does not operate at a profit, it will be discontinued. That is the verdict that is pronounced in Washington. At the same time conditions are so arranged that the barge line cannot make a profit. The manager of the service illustrated this recently by showing that the barge rate on sugar from New Orleans is 43 cents per hundred pounds. The cargo must be trans-shipped at Tuscaloosa by rail to Birmingham, and the railroads charge 38 cents per hundred pounds for this fifty mile haulage. The 38 cents comes out of the 43 cents the barge line gets for the entire haul, leaving the barge line five cents for carrying the one hundred pounds from New Orleans to Tuscaloosa! In other words, the railroad rate makes it impossible to operate the Warrior barge line business to Birmingham at a profit, and nullifies all that has been done for the improvement of the rivers and the establishment of what is known as Post Birmingham. The railroad rate does it. The cost on a hundred pounds of sugar from New Orleans to Birmingham, about 350 miles of gulf, river and canal mileage, plus 52 miles of rail from Tuscaloosa to Birmingham, is 43 cents. For that 53-mile rail haul the railroads take 38 cents and force the barge line to the acceptance of a nickel for its work covering 350 miles!

And the Interstate Commerce Commission allows that and thinks it a fair division!—Tampa Tribune.

YOU AND YOUR CITY

Do you owe your city anything? If you do, pay it. You may have paid your taxes, your house rent, your water bills and your church assessment, and in doing so you may think you have liquidated all claims there are against you; but there are others that need your attention. Is your city thrifty? Are the streets clean, well paved and well lighted? Is there a systematic effort to make your city beautiful? What about your park and its shrubbery? Are your houses neatly painted, the lawns well-kept, the alleys free from litter and refuse, and are the people contented and happy? If they are not, and if the surroundings are not as clean and beautiful as they should be, your debt to your city has not been paid; for you have neglected to raise your voice for a better and higher standard of municipal economy. Think it over, fellow citizens. We all owe it to ourselves and our city to make our environment as beautiful and sanitary as possible, not only for our own good, but for the benefit of the city in which we live and raise our families.—Covington News.

THE ANONYMOUS IDIOT

The most hopeless idiot on the face of the earth is the one who asks a favor and accompanies his request with an insult to the man whom he asks it. Referring to a case of this kind the Irons-wick Banner says:

We received a communication the other day, criticizing a city official and stating that we would print it if not afraid to do so. As usual the letter was unsigned. Isn't it strange to note some peoples idea of fear? Perhaps if we could hide this plant away down in some dark cave and camouflage it with invisible decorations, and fix it so no one could know who the editor was, or who the anything else was, we could print a lot of these communications and then sit back with the authors and chuckle at the telling blows we had driven home for right and justice.

The Times-Union receives many communications, ninety-nine per cent of them anonymous, accompanied with the statement "you will not dare to publish this." Why any man should be an ass enough to think we will do what he wishes done more readily if he accuses us of cowardice than if he makes his request courteously we cannot understand. Of course a communication that comes with that insult is thrown in the waste basket while if it had come unattended with the insult it might have been published.

But such communications are practically all anonymous and it seems strange that one who is afraid to disclose his own identity should reflect on the courage of another. But as a matter of fact a newspaper in refusing to publish an anonymous contribution is generally afraid—not afraid as a coward would be—but afraid as a just man would be—afraid of doing an injustice. If any attack is made on a public official or any discussion of a public question is sent to a newspaper office with no signature to indicate whence it came it is apt to be unjust and is probably malicious. When men hide there is a reason for their hiding. A man who is doing a public service has no reason for concealment, he should be and generally is proud to acknowledge his work. The fact that he hides himself is a sign that is almost a proof that he is trying to get someone else to father the falsehood that he is telling. When a newspaper makes a charge it desires to know that it is true. Behind the newspaper there is a man who is not essentially different from other men and any honorable man would be unwilling to bring charge against another without knowing it was true. And yet day by day men will continue to expect newspapers do what they are afraid to do, expect them to take the word of a man without knowing who he is, and on that word to make charges that will damage a fellow man. What folks these mortals be.—Times-Union.

NOT A NEW INDUSTRY BUT A GOOD ONE

The Tampa Times under the head, "A New Industry for Florida" tells about the gladioli business and while it is a good one it is not exactly a new one since for many years in this city Messrs. Ross & Stewart raised gladioli for the market shipping them all over the north and doing a fine business in this line. The Tampa Times tells the story of a Tampa man in the following:

"The infinite possibilities of Florida soil and sunshine in the production of articles of use and beauty, are very far from being exhausted as yet. The state's pre-eminence in the growing of citrus fruits is conceded whenever our product is placed in competition with that from other parts of the world. But citrus is only one of a long list of fruits which thrive to perfection in the soil of Florida. We have avocados, mangoes, guavas, persimmons and pineapples, and many sub-tropical and tropical fruits, which our climate enables us to grow. In winter gardening we have no effective competition. We send thousands of carloads of delicious vegetables to the frozen north every winter, loaded with pretty nearly everything in that line, from strawberries and celery, to potatoes and peppers. The state would seem to be a natural field for intelligent effort, backed by a modicum of industry, to command success. Nevertheless some few men come down here, and make an earnest effort to succeed, but owing to the inability to comprehend the changed conditions of southern farming, they fail, and go back north disheartened and disgusted with Florida. But there are other men, who come here under the most discouraging conditions and make brilliant successes.

One such has recently come to our notice, and we are glad to chronicle it, because it shows what can be done in Florida, by intelligent application of known principles, backed by industry and ambition. A little more than four months ago, Harry R. Mack came to Florida, with little money in his pockets, but a practical knowledge of floriculture in his brain, and the spirit of willing work in his hands. He went in debt for a little piece of land, and the clearing of same in the Seminole Heights region. We suspect that his own personal efforts had much to do with the clearing of the land, and its careful preparation for crops. At any rate the ground was made ready, and bulbs of gladioli, ordered by the hundred thousand from northern florists, were inserted in the raw Florida soil. It looked like a risky venture to his neighbors and friends, and predictions of failure were not wanting. But Mr. Mack knew what he was doing and went steadily on his way, giving his gladioli the maximum of watchful care and tending, but using little fertilizer. The plants grew and thrived under the stimulating influence of Florida sunshine and rains. When bloom time came they rewarded Mr. Mack with 100,000 of the finest blossoms that ever gladdened the eyes of a lover of flowers. They reared their lovely heads on long sturdy stalks, showing the perfect adaptation of soil and climate. Mr. Mack leaped at once to fame and affluence. The "Gladioli Farm" became the resort of numbers of flower lovers. Florists all over the country heard of his gladioli, and were arid buyers. He was not worried about finding a market. Exorbitant freight rates bothered him not at all, and he never worried about water transportation. The fastest express carried his flowers to distant cities, and the mail brought him orders for more. Simply to see the gorgeous blooms was to fill one with an irresistible desire to buy.

Better than all else he had initiated a new and profitable industry that is attractive in every phase, for what can afford greater pleasure and satisfaction than adding beauty and charm to this work-a-day world. It is unnecessary to wish him success, for he is the kind of man that commands it."

SOME FARM HINTS FOR MAY

May is said to be the farmer's busiest month. In speaking of things that demand urgent attention on the farm at this time, Professor J. M. Scott, of the Florida Experiment Station, says: "May is a time when all growing crops need attention. It is usually the dry time of the the season. Hence all growing crops need constant and thorough cultivation which is necessary to conserve moisture. Then, too, during this dry month is an excellent time to kill grass and weeds that take both plant food and moisture from the soil.

"If crops are not growing well, due it seems, to lack of plant food, give a top dressing of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia at the rate of 150 pounds to the acre.

"If your peanut crop is not planted, ground should be prepared and the crop planted at once.

"Sweet potatoes, one of our important crops, should be planted not later than this month. Some advise not to plant until June or July. However, you will find that sweet potatoes planted in May will yield a much larger crop than if planting later.

"Do not forget the home garden. This should supply the vegetables for the family table. Every farm table should be abundantly supplied with vegetables from its own home garden. "What about the hay crop for the coming year? Now is a good time to plant May crops, such as beggarweeds, cow peas and crab grass. Break the land well and leave it leveled so that the mower will run over it later without any trouble.

CHILDREN IN SPRING TIME

Mrs. C. Osborn, 7812 Hillside Rd., Cleveland, O., writes: "My granddaughter was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. She took Foley's Honey and Tar and her cough is now gone. It loosened the phlegm so she could raise it easily." Foley's Honey and Tar is just what children should have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles," and tight, wheezy breathing. Be sure to get Foley's. It checks croup and whooping cough, too. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Florida Now Recognized as Summer Playground for the U. S.

And Cheap Summer Rates Will Bring Them Here.

Florida is now recognized by most of the railroad passenger officials in the United States as one of the nation's summer play grounds. Since the meeting of the Southeastern Passenger Association in Atlanta on March 30th, which also was attended by A. A. Coult, secretary of the Florida Development Board, at which summer tourist rates from waterways and intervening points in the Southeastern territory to Florida points were adopted and tender of rates for basing purposes made to all other passenger associations, meetings of these associations have been held to consider adoption of the rates.

Under date of April 27th, Mr. W. H. Howard, chairman of the Southeastern Passenger Association, wrote to the Florida Development Board as follows:

DECLARE WAR ON THE FLAPPER IN BUSINESS

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, April 29.—A war on the flapper in business is to be declared by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Richmond, which is starting a state wide campaign to reform the dress of women.

"We are not interested in what women wear on the streets, at parties or in their homes, or how much they decorate themselves or bob their hair," declared Mrs. J. K. Bowman, president of the club, "but we are solidly behind the movement to get office girls to change their mode of attire where it conflicts with the best interests of business."

The Elementary Teachers' Association is also behind the edict that the flapper must go—must go from the realm of business at least—and has joined with the Business and Professional Women's Club in the movement.

PROMINENT FLORIDA WOMEN IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 29.(Special)—A delegation of the Florida League of Women Voters, composed of Mrs. J. B. O'Hare of Lake Worth, president; Miss Elizabeth Skinner, Dunedin; Miss Katherine McClellan and Mrs. A. S. Emley, Sarasota; Mrs. C. S. Waterman, Sanford; Mrs. Katherine Tippetts, Mrs. Tom Payne and Mrs. Elizabeth Coats of St. Petersburg, came over from Baltimore today, where they have been attending a meeting of the National League of Women Voters for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with and discussing matters of public interest with the members of the Florida delegation in congress.

It is understood that the ladies spent a pleasant and profitable hour with Senator Fletcher and Representative Drans, but were disappointed not to have had the pleasure of meeting the other members of the Florida delegation, which was due to the fact that Senator Trammell and Representatives Sears and Smithwick are in Florida for the purpose of mending their political fences.

The ladies are to attend several receptions while in the city, including the one to be tendered members of the National League by former President and Mrs. Wilson.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT
WEEK MAY 1 TO MAY 6

Postal improvement week is from May 1 to May 6 and on these days an intensive campaign will be conducted in every post-office in the United States.

Co-operation of the patrons of the post-office everywhere is necessary in order that it be successful. The people are the post-office, for without them no postoffice could be possible. An intimate knowledge of the post-office and its workings are necessary. Education is power.

A letter is a message from one to another. If this message is worth sending, then the proper care should be exercised that this letter should be addressed properly, sealed, stamped correctly and mailed so as to catch the best mail out.

Carelessness in mailing letters and cards, etc., is a modern tendency and few people realize how hard this makes it for the post-office employees to insure the correct delivery of these letters when an incorrect or insufficient address is given.

In a recent interview with the postmaster of this city, the reporter was shown dozens of letters and cards, improperly addressed or not addressed at all. The majority of these had no return address, and some had only the name of the person to whom the letter was intended, some the name, street and number, but the city was omitted and some had no address whatever. Many were without stamps or had a one-cent stamp instead of a two-cent stamp placed on the letter. Now if the public would each and everyone stop to think how hard it is to even get these letters to their destination and how much extra help and money it is costing the post-office department every year to employ extra employees for the purpose of trying to take care of all these improperly mailed letters and cards they would take time and care to address every bit of their mailing matter correctly before placing them in the mail-box. For the money spent in this way is indirectly out of the people's pocket as the majority of it is raised by taxation.

Now the proper way to address a letter correctly for mailing is as follows: First the name either in full or with the initials of the person to whom it is to be sent as: Mr. John H. Jones, or Mr. J. H. Jones, not Mr. Jones; Second, the street and number, as 46 West Rich avenue; third, the city and state, as Deland, Fla. Never address a letter to city, for suppose the mullage on the stamp or flap of another letter was not thoroughly dry, when these letters are run through the canceling machine and are stamped by the office, your letter addressed to city might get stuck to one going to New York City, now when it arrived there and the post-office employee went to distribute this packet of mail he would find these letters stuck together, but where could he send the city addressed to city too, for how would he know to what city it was intended? Or for another example suppose you address a letter to City, and carry it around and either give to some one else to mail, or mail it yourself without thinking, when you are leaving on the train, how would the mail clerk on the train know at which city you got on and to what city he should send the letter? Now after addressing the letter properly to the person to whom it is to be sent, always place your own return address correctly written in the upper left hand corner of the envelope. This is necessary for perhaps the person to whom you are sending your letter has gone to another town and has left a forwarding address with the post-office. In this case your letter should and could be returned to you if your return address was on it. Last but not least be sure that your letter is sealed and the correct amount of postage is placed on the right hand corner of the envelope, as insufficient postage causes much delay in the delivery of the letter and much added work and expense on the part of the post-office.

A letter delayed or not reaching its destination can cause extreme hardship in the business world and much grief often-times in the social world, so eliminate this from your life and the lives of your correspondents by co-operating with the post-office and always take the time and care to address your letters properly before mailing.

ROUGH HANDLING OF TOMATOES IS COSTING GROWERS MUCH MONEY

Growers are, it is said, losing money they should have for tomatoes because of improper handling from the field to the packing-houses. In some instances tomatoes have been placed in sacks or bags and hauled to the packing-house with driver and others sitting on the sacks. Such handling, of course, is ruinous to a large percentage of tomatoes transported under such conditions and it has resulted in buyers using extraordinary caution in inspecting product in such cases. Others have been hauling tomatoes in sacks piled high on wagons and trucks, thus damaging a considerable part of the tomatoes hauled in that fashion.

When asked concerning the best method of getting tomatoes from field to packing-house, R. W. Burch, one of the largest operators in this territory, said last night that ordinary field crates offers about as much protection as can be expected. Use of the open field crate, said Mr. Burch, protects the tomatoes, provided they are not piled too high, in which case crushing is certain to result. Mr. Burch said, in reply to a question, that damage as high as ten per cent of a car has been reported on tomatoes shipped from Plant City in past years, and that losses run to five per cent or more on nearly all cars where the tomatoes are not handled from field to packing house in field crates or other container which affords protection from damage by crushing.

"It is difficult to detect a tomato that has been damaged by crushing before it leaves the packing-house," remarked a buyer. "This is due to the fact that a tomato may be damaged but exhibit no outward sign of it until the entire inner part has gone to pieces by decay, which usually occurs within two or three days after it is packed. Then it is too late to cull it out, and the decay of one or two tomatoes may cause a whole crate or an entire car to sell for much lower prices than conditions warrant. Much of this loss can be prevented by careful and proper handling of the tomatoes," said the shipper, who added that he was interested not only for his own welfare, but wants to see the grower get the best price possible. The crop may be seriously affected as to yield by the drought and it will be to the interest of all to co-operate to secure the best return to be had from the crop.—Plant City Courier.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR HEAD-ACHE TROUBLES YOU

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

WHEN MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT BRINGS BACK ITS BEAUTIFUL LUSTRE AT ONCE.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

Daylight Saving Began Yesterday in Many Cities

Principally on Atlantic Coast and All Eastern Cities

NEW YORK, May 1.—Daylight saving began at 2:00 a. m. Sunday in more than 500 of the nation's largest cities, in about 200 smaller cities or rural communities, and in every nook or corner of several states, notably on the Atlantic seaboard.

Railroads will operate on standard time, unless a bill now before Congress, which would give them permission to use daylight saving timetables is passed. But banks and stock exchanges and business radiating out of New York and four of five great cities along the coast will be on daylight saving time.

New York state, after an active year of organized farm opposition, is not following the footsteps of its large cities. New York, Albany and Buffalo will be on daylight time, but such places as Syracuse and Rochester, agricultural as well as industrial centers, have repealed local ordinances and will continue to live by the old clock during the summer.

Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland and New Jersey, however, will be on daylight time on a practically state-wide basis. Where local ordinances govern conditions, action has been unanimous to "save an hour."

In New York City, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Washington and Chicago the clocks will go ahead an hour at midnight or shortly after. And in all these cities action by the local councils was unanimous, where state laws took care of the change.

Connecticut last year passed a law providing for daylight saving only by local ordinances. New London and New Haven alone adopted such ordinances, but this year Hartford has joined their ranks, and daylight saving will become almost state wide by action in cities and rural districts all over the state.

Rhode Island joined Massachusetts in a state law for saving daylight at the last session. All of Maine's large cities will save the hour, but most of New Hampshire will leave it to its clocks alone.

Chicago is the center of a middle west belt which will have daylight time. The city decided last year to change its clocks by a vote of the people and the ordinance has not been attacked since.

THREE ARE HELD FOR SMUGGLING IN 29 CHINESE

TAMPA, May 1.—After hearing five hours of testimony by Captain William Hood, of the auxiliary schooner Etta Mildred, who turned state's evidence on promise of immunity, United States Commissioner J. W. Cone Saturday bound the three alleged ringleaders in the smuggling of twenty-nine Chinamen into Tampa, April 22, Jackson Palmer, Howard Thompson and Ezra Atkinson, over to federal court under bonds of $2,000 each.

Hood was held as a material witness under $2,000 bond, and the five members of his crew, Cubans and negroes, were held under bonds of $700 each.

In his testimony Hood told how he had made arrangements with Palmer whom he knew as the owner of the vessel, the go/ta Cardenas, Cuba, for the Chinamen, and how he brought the cargo into Tampa Bay and turned the Asiatics over to Atkinson, whom he knew as Palmer's friend. He said he and the crew were to receive $2,500 for the trip. He also testified as to conversations with Thompson, who employed him, and with Palmer, and arrangements to smuggle liquor between Cuba and the United States. The only reason this smuggling plot was not carried through, he said, was that Thompson failed to meet him in Cuba at the specified time.

Hood was the only witness at the preliminary hearing. Government attorneys said afterward they would depend on documentary evidence they had obtained to substantiate his testimony in the trial in federal court.

The Etta Mildred was detained by the Government, the crew and other three men arrested April 22, after an inspection of the boat by customs officers showed evidences of smuggling. Confessions by the members of the crew and Hood led to the arrest of the other three men. Palmer Saturday said he was an attorney from Longwood, Mass. Thompson said he was an automobile mechanic from Boston, Mass., and Atkinson said he was an automobile mechanic from Los Angeles, California.

RICHARD CROKER FORMERLY TAMMANY HALL LEADER DEAD

(By The Associated Press)
DUBLIN, May 1.—Richard Croker, formerly leader of Tammany Hall, New York, died at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Glencairn Castle, Sandy Ford, a few miles from Dublin. His wife was at the bedside.

The former political leader spent the better part of the last ten or twelve years in Ireland, where he owned extensive estates, making occasional visits to the United States. The last of these visits was in the spring of 1921 when he went to New York in connection with the legal proceedings instituted by his sons to prove him incapable of managing his own affairs.

Shortly after he returned to his home at Glencairn Castle he became seriously ill and his condition was described as so bad that it would be impossible for him to leave his bed. But he soon showed signs of improvement and early this year he was reported to have regained his health and spirits.

Croker took a keen interest in the negotiations between Ireland and England looking to a settlement of the age-long controversy over freedom for Ireland. When the treaty providing for the free state was signed he gave it as his opinion that by the pact Ireland gained practically everything fought for in the last 700 years. He believed 98 per cent of the people in America were in favor of the treaty.
