

SEMINOLE HIGH EASY VICTOR IN OPENING GAME

Red Devils Of Winter Garden Fall Under 25 To 0 Score Here

By PETER SCHAAL

Coach Leonard McLucas 1932 captain of a Seminole High School football eleven, opening its season at Municipal Park yesterday afternoon before a large crowd of fans, scored an unimpressive 25 to 0 victory over a light Winter Garden eleven that at no time offered a serious threat.

Outstanding in the victory however, and indicative of real action was the opposition becomes heavier and more clean-cut in its play, was the fine backfield performance of George McClelland and Wilson Smith, the day's greatest ground gainers. McClelland, upon whom has been entrusted the string fullback honors, indicated that he knows his football thoroughly and that this will be his best season. Smith, one of the smallest backfield men Coach McLucas has had in years, quickly drew the favor of the fans by his great speed and forceful drive, and promises to be one of the outstanding backs on the eleven before the season grows much older.

Coach McLucas chose to call on every man on his squad before the game was concluded and as a result it was a comparatively slow affair, what with substitutions and penalties coming frequently. At the game was unique in that a player was injured in any noticeable manner, and only two time-outs were called for as rest periods.

The coach started his first eleven and before three minutes had passed a touchdown had been scored by young Vincent, with Courier's try for point going wrong. The team took the ball on its own 36 yard line and in five downs, featured by McClelland's punts of 18 and 15 yards right straight through the Winter Garden line, the ball was handed by Vincent, who scored the 1932 season's first touchdown.

The visitors were given a chance after the kickoff but two line thrusts, an incomplete pass, and they punted to Courier who signaled for a freetack which was disregarded by a Winter Garden boy who made a tackle. The visitors drew a 15-yard penalty to place the ball on their own 30 yard line.

McClelland and Vincent gained eight yards and Vincent another 5 only to have the play called back and Sanford penalized 15 yards as Smith used his hands illegally. A pass, McClelland to Vincent failed so McClelland punted to Berly who returned the ball four yards to his own 12 yard line.

The Red Devils could make no headway either through the air or at the line, but they did gain when Sanford fumbled a high punt that was recovered on the Winter Garden 30 yard line. Line bucks and attempted end runs were spoiled completely by Riser and Brannan who broke through the line on almost every play in which they participated.

After the punt, the locals started another drive down the field from the Winter Garden 44 yard line. McClelland reeled off 10 yards in two tries, with Smith running beautiful interference. Smith then stalked his way through the line for two 11 yard gains. Just as the whistle blew to end the quarter Smith was stopped for no gain at center but Preston was offside and the quarter ended with the ball on the Winter Garden 15 yard line. McLucas sent in a new backfield of Waits, Hughes, Knight and Williams, who carried the ball 15 yards off tackle for a touchdown on the first play of the second quarter. Williams the point after touchdown by a line buck.

Feds, Islanders Will Resume Play Sunday

By PETER SCHAAL

Although interesting baseball game is in the offing tomorrow because of the announcement today that young Lib Jones, the Celeryfeds' brilliant right-hander will take the mound at Daytona Beach where the Feds and crippled Islanders will engage in the third game of the Central Florida Baseball League's post-season series.

Not the least bit disheartened because the breaks of the game have gone against them, the Feds ball but it was recovered by Coleman for a first down. Smith scored six yards and then stepped two yards for the last touchdown.

After that score, the game was a series of ineffectual line bucks and incomplete passes with neither team flashing anything brilliant. It can be said that every member of the squad played about as was expected of him, with Smith, McClelland, Riser and Coleman appearing to share most of the glory of the victory. The opposition was such that it was almost impossible to tell just what the team will do under real competition, but there were enough signs to indicate that the Feds will give a good account of themselves before the season has ended.

scribed the Mid-West as "the sore spot."

"In New England, we have 100,000 textile workers on the job who were not working two months ago," Harriman said. "The electric power business is a good indication, and September will show more business there than in the same period last year."

"Texas is happier and Southern California is doing more business than heretofore. For the first time in two years, sales of real estate are picking up in Southern California. The Mid-West is the sore spot but that will get better, too."

Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the committee formed by representatives of the various federal reserve districts to ease credit, said as a member of the chamber's board.

Approving the shortened work week to increase employment, the board limited the time it would be operative under its plan to "the tonight are confident of a victory tomorrow, confident that they will take the measure of Olin Hutto, and thus even the series at one-all."

Just what changes have been made in the Islander line-up now that O'Brien has been forced out because of that fractured wrist, are unknown. It is probable that Cracker Graham will be shifted to the outfield and that Wally Shannon will take the first base position.

As announced recently, tomorrow's game and all others that follow will start at 3:00 o'clock instead of 3:30 o'clock. Plans are on foot to eliminate Tuesday games because of that fact that not all the fans can get away from work. Definite announcement in this regard will be made on Monday.

BIBLE VERSES FOR TODAY

PERFECT PEACE—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26:3.

Georgia farmers are not appealing to the federal government for aid. When it doesn't pay them to sell their produce they don't sell it. That's one way to take care of yourself.

France maintains the sanctity of treaties, refusing to recognize the new state of Manchukuo, because she must insist that the Versailles treaty forbidding the arming of Germany also be maintained. It is rumored that France would like to recognize Manchukuo. It would help her foreign trade. But she must be content.

Clermont, with a tax millage of 266 last year, goes to a new high this year, with a levy of 460 mills, the Orlando Sentinel reports. If the rate is left at that level and assessed valuations are as much as half the real value there can be only one result. Clermont, with the highest rate in the state, will collect the least in taxes.—Miami Daily News. As Clermont goes so goes the state!

Many nations have abandoned the gold standard but none has lost its passion for the precious metal. When the liner Egypt sank off Brest in 1923, she carried to the bottom 'of the sea' $50,000,000 in gold bullion stored in her strongroom. Since then four attempts have been made to retrieve this fortune, fifteen lives have been lost, and $3,250,000 has actually been recovered. Gold is no good only at the bottom of the sea.

A new move in the bond trouble of St. Petersburg which is just one step ahead of Sanford, may have an interesting outcome. There the city council appropriated $7,300,000 for debt service when a Supreme Court writ of mandamus called for but $1,700,000. Attorneys for the bondholders have appealed to the Supreme Court that this action of the city is in defiance of the Supreme Court and should be held accountable to it.

President Papworth of the Chamber of Commerce is continuing his energetic activities in behalf of citrus growers who incurred damages during the fruit fly eradication campaign. Recently he has written Mark Wilcox, one of Florida's new congressmen, urging prompt reimbursement by the federal government for these damages. Mr. Wilcox replies, "I have this as one of my first objectives and would greatly appreciate any detailed information that might be of assistance in securing relief for the people who sustained the damage. . . . Just as soon as I get to Washington, I expect to take this matter up and present it as rapidly as possible."

No country in the world is having greater trouble with its financial obligations than Cuba. Practically the entire island is owned or obligated to foreigners. The native habit, every revolutionary attempt to overthrow the government is to the aid of the yoke of the foreigner. Now comes the government's habit of a proposition which sends Cuba to the aid of the foreigner. In exchange for liquidation of all Cuban obligations, a large sum of money, of substantial value, is to be offered to the island government to be expended on the island. A very large sum of money is to be offered to the island government to be expended on the island. A very large sum of money is to be offered to the island government to be expended on the island.

The Bonus in Politics

That persistent demands of the American Legion for immediate bonus payment delay recovery is an opinion frequently voiced of late by learned economists as well as industrial leaders. There is a pronounced feeling among business men that this issue should be definitely removed from politics and settled once and for all by a positive statement from presidential candidates as to their use of the veto power in the event such a bill is presented to them by the next Congress.

President Hoover is already committed beyond any possibility of change. He not only promises to veto the bonus bill but has already exercised this power in previous opposition to similar veterans' legislation. Norman Thomas, the socialist candidate for president, has also expressed his opposition to the immediate payment of the bonus, declaring that any such federal funds which the Treasury might have available should be distributed equally among everyone in need whether he be a veteran or not. Only William Foster, Communist candidate, supports the bonus.

Franklin Roosevelt, Democratic and we may say leading candidate for the presidency, has so far maintained a discreet silence on this subject. It is not to be supposed, however, that a man of Gov. Roosevelt's reputation for fair and honest dealings, will allow his position on this matter to remain in doubt for long, or that he will expect voters to go to the polls in November without knowing beyond all question of doubt exactly where he stands on so important an issue.

Already political writers are beginning to predict what Gov. Roosevelt's position on the bonus will be. There are some who say that the support being accorded him by the veterans would preclude any possibility of his opposition to the bonus. Also the backing of twenty-six Hearst newspapers, ardent bonus-payment advocates, might be expected to influence Roosevelt in favor of veteran legislation. However, the conservative New York Times is supporting Roosevelt and is opposed to the bonus. So are likewise many conservative business men.

Recently an unidentified spokesman for Gov. Roosevelt was quoted as saying that the Democratic candidate would probably favor a compromise of the bonus question. Instead of the appropriation of some $2,300,000,000 to pay the bonus in full, he would recommend an appropriation of $300,000,000 for the purpose of paying bonuses to those veterans only who are actually in need. It is a well known fact that many veterans are employed and do not actually need the cash for any pressing emergency which they are now seeking from the government. Gov. Roosevelt's plan, according to his spokesman, would restrict bonus payments to those who are actually destitute.

The 1928 Vote

A recent discussion between the Jasper News, Caldwell paper, and the Tampa Times, has brought out some interesting figures relative to the vote polled in 1928 by Messrs. Carlton and Howey. It seems that Carlton received some 148,456 votes in 1928 while the Republicans polled 95,018, giving a Democratic majority of not less than 53,437. Other combinations of figures are equally as illuminating.

If the Jasper News has fault to find with the geographical groupings or designations used in the article referred to, says the Tampa Times, "its complaint is against state Democratic headquarters, not against this paper. It is difficult to see why the News, a Democratic newspaper, should want to pick a fuss with Democratic headquarters. Surely it agrees with the headquarters statement that 'obviously the Republican candidate is endeavoring to build up a psychological strength which has no basis in fact. In other words, Mr. Howey hopes to create the impression in west Florida that all he needs to win the governorship is to carry west Florida, because the rest of the state is in his pocket. . . . Mr. Howey did not carry south Florida in 1928 and he will not carry it in 1932. Nor will he carry west Florida, where in 1928 he polled only about 5,000 votes in the twenty-six counties west of Duval.'"

AN END TO FREIGHT
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

A New York bank circular has recently warned the public that the "credit factor will not be permanent in determining the permanence of the recovery." The warning is well timed. Credit such as is now being pumped out from Washington in lieu of, perhaps, one should say, in default of private credit is destined solely to halt that distress liquidation which, like a snowball rolling downhill, was gathering both weight and momentum.

But the warning need not blind one to the incalculable service that the United States Government credit agencies have performed and are still performing. So far the help they have extended has been concentrated mainly on the banks and the railroads. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for example, has aided some 5,000 banking institutions, chiefly those of small capital. If the strong right arm of the government had not been provided, they would probably have had to close their doors. Whole communities would consequently have had their deposits tied up, and what is more important, would have given themselves over still more to the paralyzing influence of fear.

The R. F. C. has saved also many railroads from going into receivership. It has done this by helping them to meet their obligations as they came due and by financing further improvements at a time when they could not raise private capital. The government investment in the railroads in this way has topped the $250,000,000 mark.

National C Of C To Fight Government Business Rivalry

A specific recommendation of the committee was: "The Federal government should not engage in any form of business or service except for purposes limited to those clearly necessary in the proper administration of government functions which are pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution."

Less governmental regulation of railroads was also proposed to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as a new national transportation policy designed to strengthen the carriers' economic foundation.

Urging that railroad management be given back much of the responsibility of which they have been divested by law and regulation, the committee said: "The fact of the matter is that wise, economical and efficient management is not advanced but hindered by a rigid reputation."

The wisest, most economical and efficient management, with railroads as well as other business organizations, is where the responsibility for the operation and the earnings of a property rest upon the management, whose responsibility may not be shifted to some regulation commission.

Specifically, the committee proposed stabilization of railroad credit by allowing the carriers greater flexibility in earnings, according to business conditions; a revision of the rule of rate making and repeal of the recapture clause of the Interstate Commerce Act which compels the roads to turn into the Federal Treasury all of their net earnings above 6 percent; the adoption of measures which would enable the roads to adapt their organizations and operations to economic conditions and give them "fair opportunity to meet the competition of other forms of transportation."

Indiana Faces Chance Of General Sales Tax As Result Of Ruling

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—The ruling of Attorney General James H. Ogden that the state tax rate cannot be more than 15 cents paves the way for passage of a general sales tax at the next session of the Indiana State Legislature, which begins in January.

That was the statement yesterday of Philip Zoercher, member of the State Tax Board. Zoercher said that only through passage of a sales tax at the next legislative session can the state raise sufficient money to defray its expenditures because of the Ogden ruling.

ROOSEVELT IS ON WAY HOME SURE OF VOTES

oming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California and Arizona.

He has made numerous back platform appearances and speeches, the outstanding of the latter having been his farm relief declaration at Topeka, that on railroads at Salt Lake City, on public utilities at Portland and on the relationship of government to business at San Francisco.

Another of the speeches which he has described as major ones of this trip is to be made at Sioux City Iowa, next week. The Democratic candidate on several occasions has highly praised independent Republicans, particularly Senators Norris, of Nebraska, and Johnson, of California.

During the next week Norris is to introduce Roosevelt to the citizens of McCook, Neb., his home town. Johnson responded to the praise the New York governor gave him at Sacramento last week with a statement that there was a great difference between the view that Roosevelt took of "progressives and progressivism" and that with which President Hoover looked upon them.

Florida May Get 3 New Postoffices Under Federal Act

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the Treasury, also a member of the interdepartmental committee on public building projects, yesterday informed Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher that the selection of places throughout the country for buildings to cost not less than $100,000 would probably be announced next Wednesday. It said also that consideration was being given the desirability of selecting Lake Worth, Leesburg and Quincy as the only remaining cities in Florida heretofore recommended by the committee, where leases for post-offices expire in or before July 1, 1934, not included in previous announcements of the committee.

The secretary of the Treasury and the postmaster general on Feb. 21, 1931, submitted to the House of Representatives a report of the interdepartmental committee which recommended that funds be "allocated" to construct certain public buildings throughout the United States of which 17 were in Florida. Later provisions of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, the sum of $100,000,000 was made available for acquisition of sites and construction of buildings at these places or at other places where government facilities are housed in rental buildings under leases which expire in or before July 1, 1934.

Miss Lillian Thornley has returned from Daytona Beach where she spent a few days with Mrs. Sue O'Brien. Miss O'Brien is planning her home to be a guest for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ashton and son have gone to Hospital, Ill. to make their home after spending about six weeks here with Mrs. Ashton's mother, Mrs. Vera B. Fay.

AT MILANE WEDNESDAY

Flashes of 1933, big-time vaudeville opening at the Milane Wednesday, will be one of the best stage affairs presented locally this season, according to vaudeville reports.
A cast of 18 artists will appear. Above are shown two of the featured dancers, and a chorus of eight steppers, ensemble dance group of the Flashes.
With the fan to the left in the picture, appears Miss Helen McFarland, Public Perfect Girl, who for years has been an outstanding feature of Public Stage Shows. Miss McFarland was a late feature also of the John Murray Anderson production High Lights, which enjoyed a sold-out two-year run on Broadway. She has been co-starring with Rudy Vallee at the New York Paramount, and with Paul Ash, at the Public Oriental theatre in Chicago.
The dance on top is a Eddie-girl from Zigfeld's Glorious Girls.
Act Misses Ray Price and Cliff Swort are among the better-known multi-member of the presenting cast.
Appearances will be at 8:30, 7 and 9 P. M. in conjunction with the regular vaudeville offering.
